A "polite defiance" was delivered to Charles C. Levey, secretary of the local, at a meeting late last week between the union's representatives and circuit operators. The circuit conferees took the stand that theatres in New York are doing all that is required of them under the Motion Picture Code's provisions and, in some instances, are paying 40 to 50 per cent more than the minimum wages prescribed in the code, in addition to employing additional help to care for the shorter hours it specifies.

Mr. Levey said he disagreed completely with their interpretation of the National Recovery Act and that he was of the opinion that "it permits opening of negotiations for new wages regardless of code provisions."

"The Recovery Act stipulates that employers must deal with the chosen representatives of their employees," Mr. Levey said. "It is not for the employers to say who that representative shall be."

Will Go to Labor Board

Mr. Levey declared he would take the entire matter to the National Labor Board at Washington.

The refusal of Paramount to re-employ 17 striking ushers and other unskilled labor at the Stapleton, S. I., Paramount, was made on the grounds that the walkout constituted an infraction of a code provision under which labor agrees to submit its dispute to arbitration before calling a strike. Mr. Levey said this week he would petition the Regional Labor Board for relief.

The secretary of the local will call a meeting of all Local 118 members for February 26 to vote on a strike against all New York circuits. Strike orders will be issued only if mediation of the Regional Labor or National Labor Board fails to obtain recognition of the union, he said.

Thus far the Roxy theatre is the only large first-run New York theatre which has signed an agreement recognizing the union.

"We are very happy indeed to give full and tangible recognition to this union," said Howard S. Cullman, operating receiver. "It is only fair that all workers be represented through legitimate organizations of their own choosing."

Among the circuit executives who met with Mr. Levey last week were Major L. E. Thompson, RKO; Charles Moskowitz, Loew's; Charles L. O'Reilly, TOCC; Harry Brandt, ITOA; Jack Bannon, Paramount; George Skouras, Skouras Theatres; Harry Buckley, United Artists; Sam Rinzler, Randforce Circuit, and others.

Code Labor Report Ready March 5

With the general meeting of all Code Authorities to start in Washington March 5, the motion picture Code Authority is preparing a report on the industry's labor situation, including the amount of re-employment and higher wage scales.

The wage scales asked in their contract by Local 118 are: for head janitors or watchmen, 75 cents an hour; 60 cents for janitors, head ushers, ticket takers, stage doormen and fire prevention workers; 50 cents for assistant chief ushers, and 45 cents for ushers and matrons.

In St. Louis, Dr. William G. Patton, neutral arbiter in the wage dispute between IATSE motion picture projectionists and theatre owners, this week decided in favor of the projectionists, making his ruling retroactive to September 1, despite the fact the code did not become effective until December 7.

Under his decision the wages of two operators in various classifications in 32 independent theatres are raised as follows: From $60 to $75; from $56.50 to $66.50; from $42.50 to $47.50, and from $40 to $45 a week. The total involved if the back pay ruling is allowed to stand was estimated at $14,575.

Spaeth, Others Are Cast For "Frankie and Johnny"

Numerous additions have been made to the cast of "Frankie and Johnny," which Chester Erskin is producing and directing at the Biograph studio in New York for All Star Productions. The screen version is the work of Moss Hart, while the adaptation is by Mr. Erskin.

The cast additions include Sigmund Spaeth, radio "tune detective;" Frederic Worlock, legitimate player; Cora Witherspoon, stage and screen character actress, and Sam Wren, stage and radio player.

Dismisses Patent Suits

Judge William P. Nields in the United States district court at Wilmington last week dismissed the patent infringement suits brought by John M. Miller against NBC and RCA Communications. Involved were the Piezo electric oscillation generator patents granted Mr. Miller April 22, 1930.

Columbia Adds Two

Columbia has increased the exploitation staff working outside of New York on "It Happened One Night" from eight to 10.

Coast Independent Producers Elected

Completion of election of officers, and a definite decision to assess dues to the members on the basis of $5 per negative reel, was the business completed at the recent meeting in Hollywood of the Independent Motion Picture Producers Association, at which Trem Carr, newly elected head of the group, presided.

Officers elected to complete the slate were I. E. Chadwick, of Chadwick Productions, and J. Boyce-Smith, of Anglo-American Films, vice-presidents; and William Berke, of Berke Productions, and Jack Nelson, of Nelson Productions, directors.

The meeting was the first held with the increased membership brought about by the merger with the producers' branch of the Federation of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors.

A $5 charge on negative reels was agreed upon as member assessment instead of the former $50 a month dues.

Officers elected at the previous meeting were: Trem Carr, Monogram Productions, president; Ken Goldsmith, Goldsmith Productions, and M. H. Hoffman, Liberty Productions, vice-presidents; and Larry Darmour and Nat Levine, re-elected as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Frank Rembusch Suit Against MPPDA Starts

Subsequent to the taking of preliminary testimony last week, trial of the $2,000,000 anti-trust suit brought against the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., by Frank Rembusch, former Indianapolis exhibitor, got underway in U. S. district court, New York, on Monday. Will H. Hays may be called to testify. Among Monday's witnesses were Felix Jenkins, Sidney Samuelson, Ivan Abramson.

Witnesses during the preliminary testimony included Willard McKay of Universal, Paul O'Brien of United Artists, Felix Jacobs of RKO, Harold Bareford of Warners, E. C. Grainger of Fox, and Leon Netter of Paramount. Adolph Zukor testified Tuesday that Paramount loaned United Artists $3,000,000 at one time but the transaction concerned no interest in the company.

Beatty Lion-Tiger Fight In New Mascot Serial

While there was no camera on hand to witness the recent fight to the death by two lions at a rehearsal of Clyde Beatty's annual act appearing in Cleveland, a battle between lions and tigers that took place in Peru, Ind., was caught by an alert cameraman and is being incorporated by Nat Levine into Mascot's forthcoming serial, "The Lost Jungle," in which Mr. Beatty and his "cats" are starred.

Motion Picture Herald is receiving many letters from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. All communications immediately are answered directly. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted will, in the future, be published as a regular service for all readers. They contain many explanatory points pertinent to the business as its conduct is prescribed by the Code.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with legal authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

NO. 1—OHIO

THROWAWAYS, LOTTERIES

QUESTION—I am attaching herewith a throwaway, which we have been using from time to time in connection with a local bakery as per the explanation on the bottom of the throwaway. ('This card will be honored as a single admission if Number at the top ends in 25-50-75-00"). And would appreciate it if you will advise me whether or not same is in violation of the code.

The bakery inserts one of these in each loaf of bread that goes out. The cost is split between the theatre and the bakery.

ANSWER—This is a violation of the code both as a throwaway and as a lottery, both of which are prohibited under Article V, Division E, Part 3, Section 1. It is a lottery because it involves lucky numbers. Specifically, this clause of the code says: No exhibitor shall lower the admission prices publicly announced or advertised for his theatre by giving rebates in the form of lotteries, reduced script books, coupons, throwaways, or two-for-one admissions and which are unfair to competition.

▽ ▽ ▽

NO. 2—NEW YORK

LABOR CONDITIONS FOR "UTILITY" MAN

QUESTION—I should like to know, with reference to a "utility" man as implied in the code (for theatres), the maximum hours, the minimum salary, and the maximum working days (six or seven) allowed such employee.

ANSWER—The Code Authority, so far as is known, has not yet defined the phrase in the theatre labor provisions pertaining to "employees whose duties are of a general utilitarian character." While setting a maximum work week of forty hours for theatre employees, other than managers and executives receiving $35 or more per week, the code says that such maximum hours shall not apply to employees whose duties are of a general utilitarian character. It is believed, however, that such reference to "utilitarian" employees is intended to embrace those employees whose duties are of no specific nature, but who during the course of a day's work are engaged in various duties, such as filling-in as a cashier and a ticket taker and as an usher, and the like, and the maximum work of forty hours shall not apply. Also included in the category of "utilitarian" theatre employees are those whose duties are only occasional.

The minimum wage specified in the code for theatre employees not otherwise provided for is forty cents per hour.

The theatre labor provisions of the code do not stipulate the number of working days.

▽ ▽ ▽

NO. 3—NORTH CAROLINA

FORCING THE DISTRIBUTOR TO SELL FILM

QUESTION—Please advise if the code will force the distributor to offer pictures to an independent theatre in a town where there is also a chain theatre.

I understand that the pictures will be sold to the chain for the whole circuit and the independent will not even have a chance to buy the product.

ANSWER—The code does not say in any part to which theatre in a town a distributor must sell his motion pictures. However, to prevent a competitive circuit theatre, or other competitive theatre, from tying up product away from an independent exhibitor by overbuying, the code says that no theatre shall contract for more motion pictures than such theatre reasonably requires for exhibition at that theatre with the intent and effect of depriving a competing exhibitor from such excess number of pictures. This means, then, that any distributor may select the theatre to which he shall sell his product; but, no theatre shall overbuy product with the intent and effect of depriving a competing exhibitor of the product.

▽ ▽ ▽

NO. 4—TEXAS

TWO-FOR-ONES WHEN NO COMPETITION

QUESTION—We are within the radius of an average of twenty-five miles to the nearest towns, and on Wednesday nights for the past few years we have had a two-for-one family night, and would like to know whether or not this would interfere with the code since we have no near opposition as outlined above.

ANSWER—If a theatre is not in actual competition with another and is so thoroughly isolated that rebates cannot be construed to be unfair to a competing exhibitor, then the theatre is permitted to continue the practice of such two-for-one tickets for one admission on so-called family nights or on any other nights, unless the actual admission is thereby reduced below the minimum agreed to in the exhibition contract, by such two-for-one ticket. The code clause which ordinarily outlaws two-for-one admissions is intended to stop such a practice only when it exists in probable or possible competition with another theatre and when such competition is considered an unfair trade practice. Obviously, the practice is not unfair if no other exhibitor is affected thereby.

Columbia, United Artists End Foreign Sales Contract

At the conclusion of the current season, Columbia will terminate its five-year agreement with United Artists for foreign distribution of Columbia product. Columbia has recently established its own exchanges in England, Spain, Denmark and Brazil. United Artists has refused to renew for Columbia distribution in India, and J. H. Seidleman, foreign general sales manager, now in Europe, is expected to make a new deal for Indian sales.

Earl Kramer has resigned as United Artists manager in Japan, because of the death of his father. Sidney Albright has already succeeded Mr. Kramer in Tokio. At Dover, Del., Columbia has chartered Columbia Pictures of Brazil, Inc., and United Artists has incorporated United Artists Corporation of Colombia, both for South American distribution.

Bowers Plans Comedy Series with Thomas

Charley Bowers, with Harold Muller as his chief cameraman, is engaged in the production of the first of a series of comedies with Lowell Thomas, radio "voice" and author, and his "Tall Stories." Nine editions of the stories have been published, and this fact, plus the membership of the "Lowell Thomas Tall Story Club," in various parts of the country, are to be used in exploitation of the series.

United Artists Has Option On FitzPatrick Shorts

United Artists has taken a 30-day option on two series of shorts to be produced by James A. FitzPatrick. Conclusion of the deal is dependent on the approval of all United Artists unit producers.

The subjects, if taken, will be distributed only in foreign countries, and will consist of 10 "Musical Romances," and 10 "Rambles and Rhythm." Domestic distribution of the series has not yet been arranged.

Court Requires Digest Of Quittner Case Record

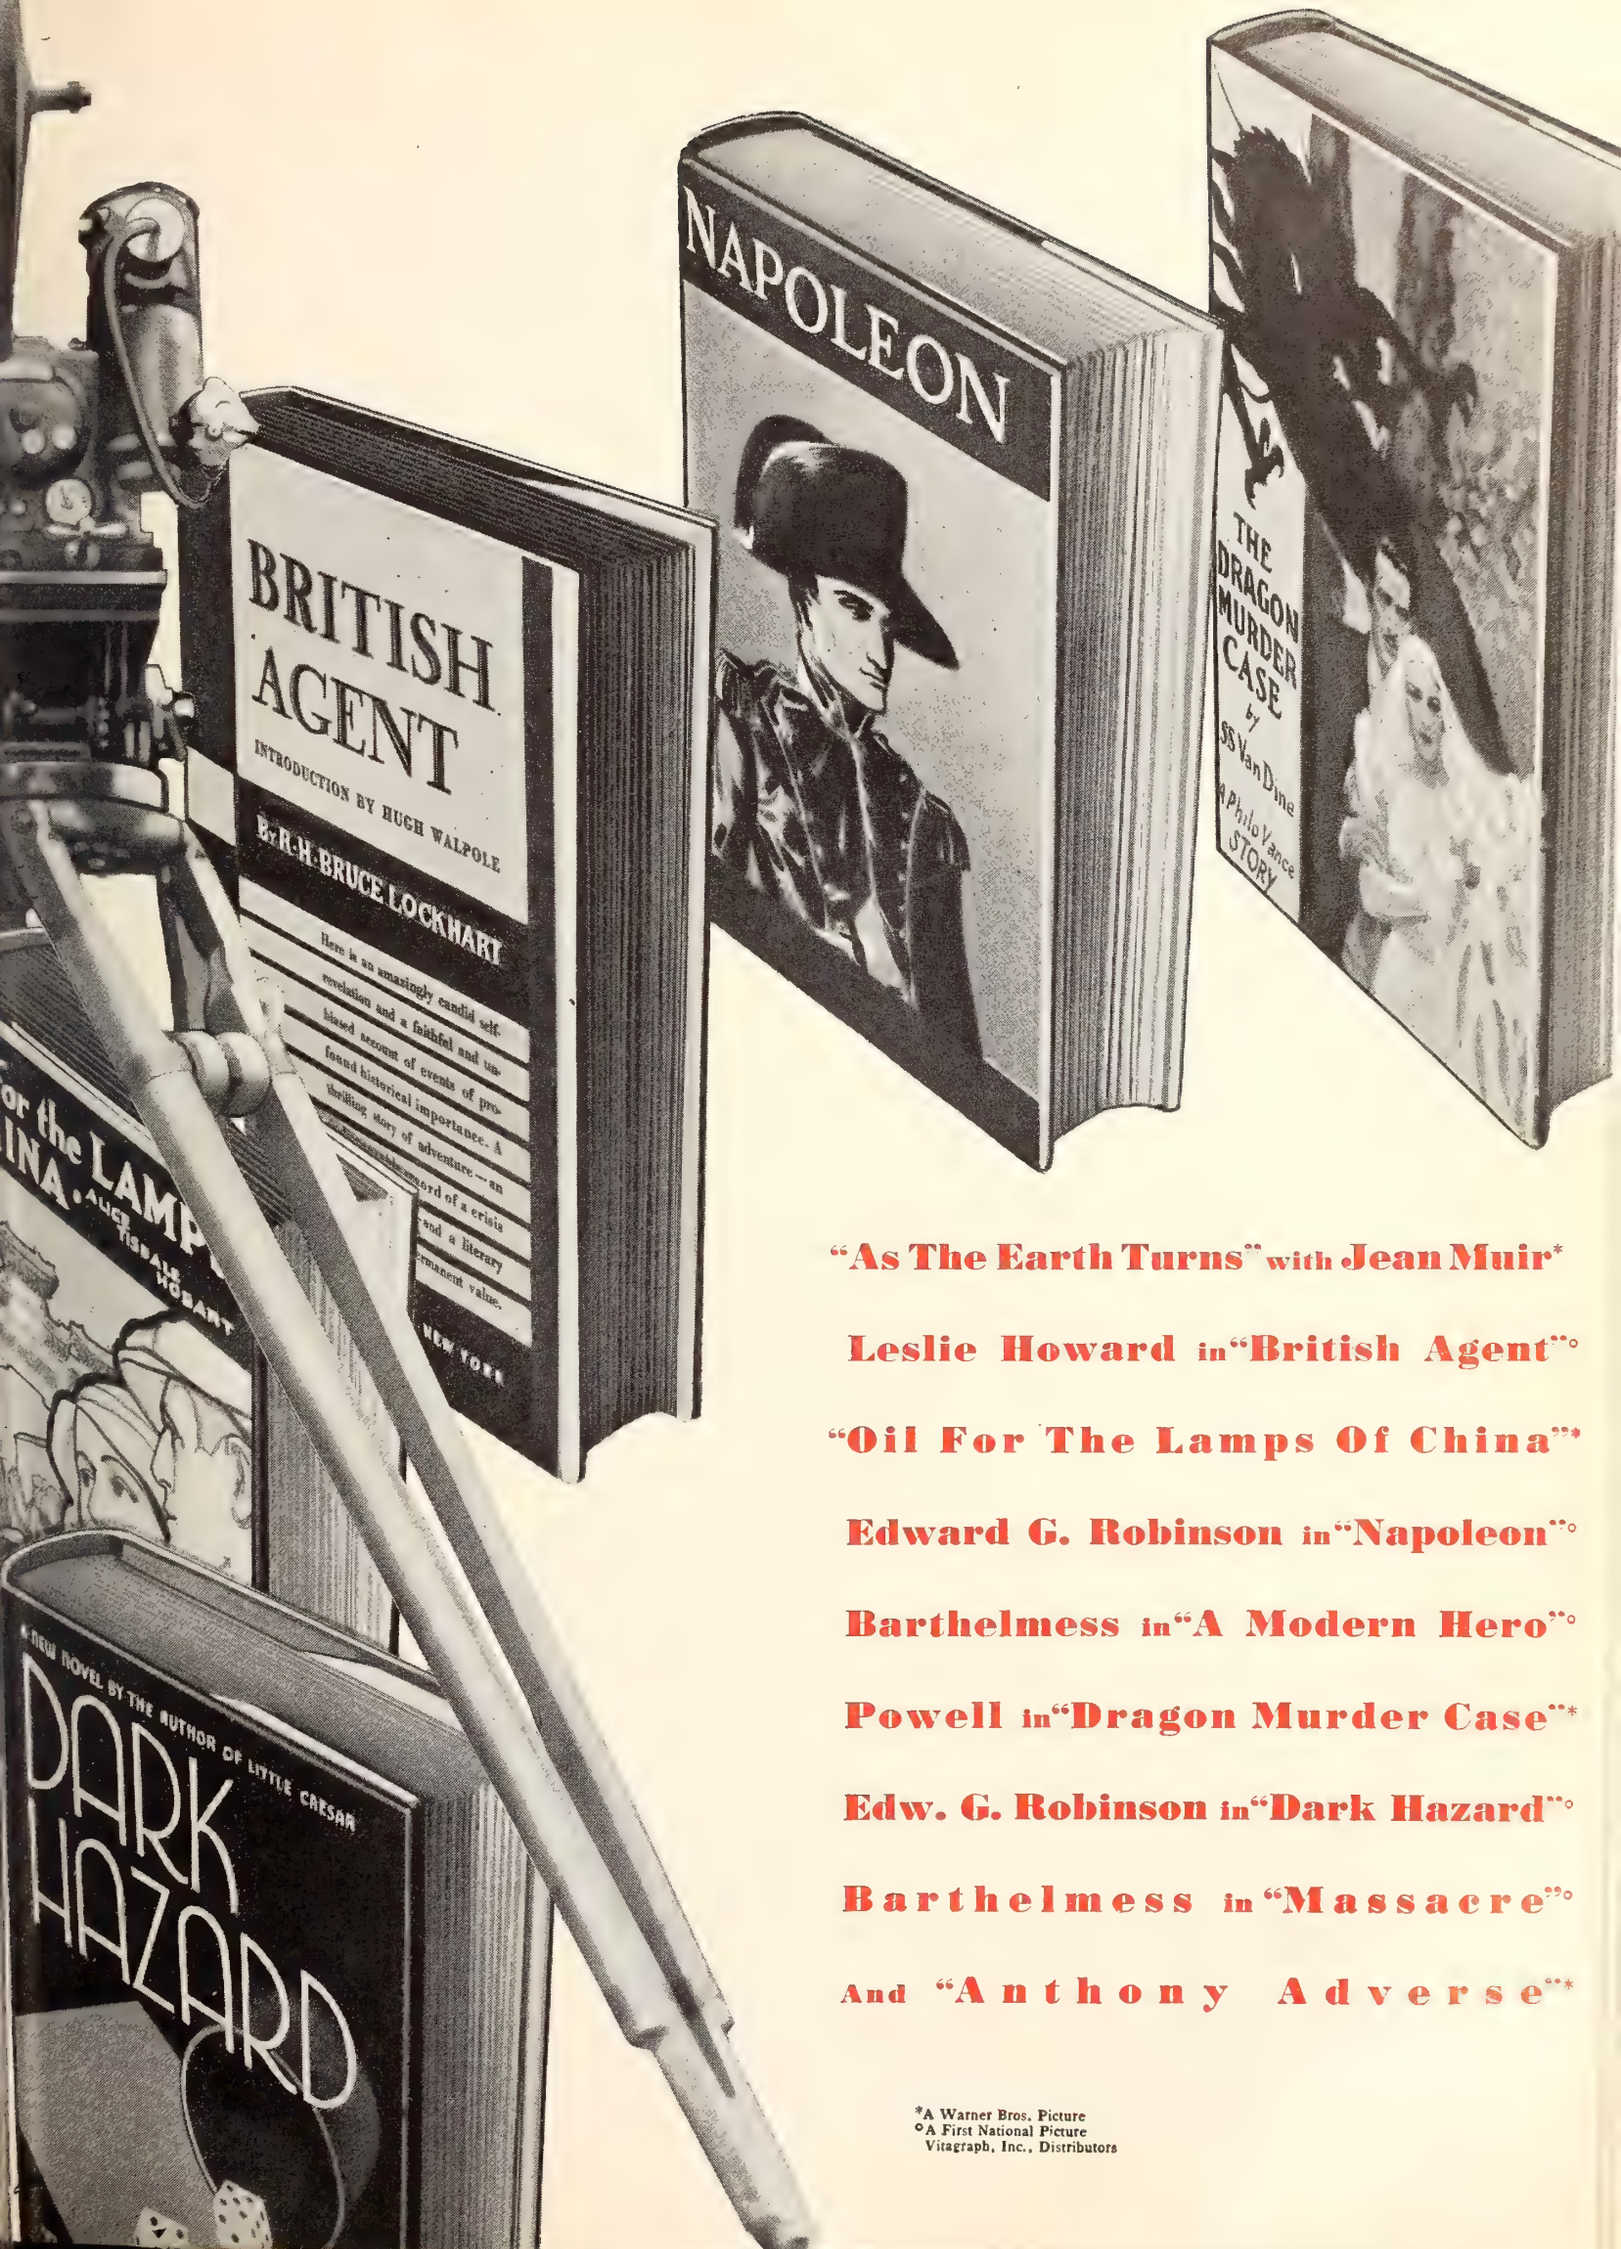
Federal Judge Francis Caffey handed down an opinion late last week requiring that the record in the Edward Quittner monopoly suit against major companies be digested prior to carrying the case to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The court also ruled that Mr. Quittner may make application to appeal his case as a pauper in either the district court or the circuit court of appeals. If the application is granted he may go to the higher court without having the record printed.

Amateur Theatre Groups Are Meeting in Seattle

Delegates from five Pacific northwest states are at the Edmond Meany Hotel, Seattle, for the first annual meeting of the Pacific northwest region of National Theatre conferences. Those attending are affiliated with educational institutions, civic theatres, "little" theatre movements and similar groups, almost entirely amateur in nature. The civic theatre, amateur theatre ventures, play production and technical production work are among the subjects being discussed.

Marie Dressler Re-signed



Marie Dressler has signed a new long term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. George Hill, director, has also been signed.

BECAUSE BOOKS MAKE THE BEST STORY BUYS FOR PICTURES

WARNER BROS. HAVE CORNERED THE BEST-SELLER MARKET!

Best-seller sales help your ticket sales. Their nation-wide reputation benefits every showman in the country—not just a few key-city houses. That's why Warners have concentrated on famous fiction vehicles. That's why we've captured most of the best best-sellers for our 1934 program! . . . These 9 great titles include the outstanding sensations of the literary world. Buy Warner—and get the benefit of the hundreds of dollars worth of free publicity that has been given them in your town.

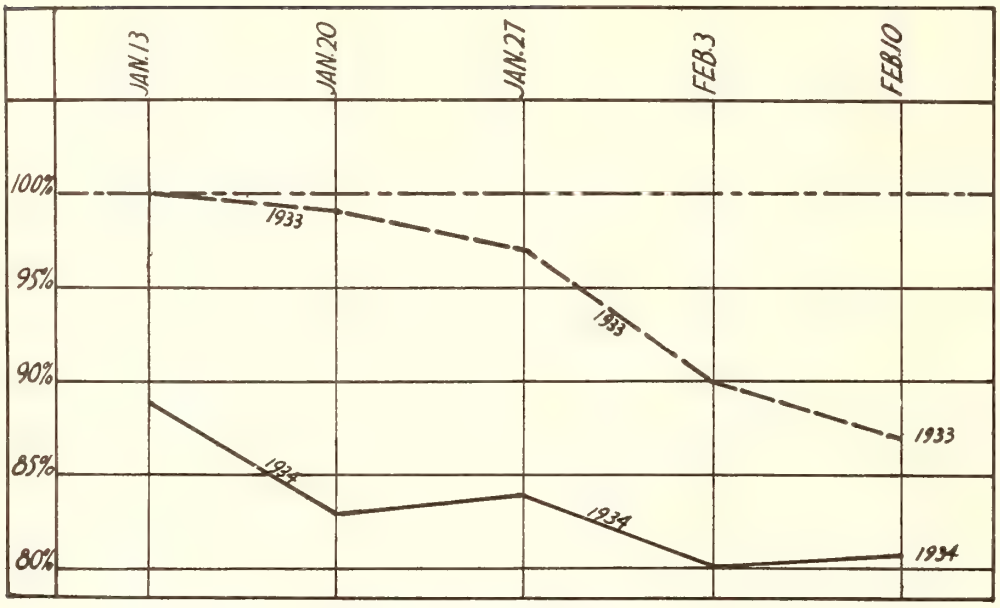
"As The Earth Turns" with Jean Muir*

Leslie Howard in "British Agent"°

"Oil For The Lamps Of China"*

Edward G. Robinson in "Napoleon"°

Barthelmess in "A Modern Hero"°



Powell in "Dragon Murder Case"*

Edw. G. Robinson in "Dark Hazard"°

Barthelmess in "Massacre"°

And "Anthony Adverse"*

*A Warner Bros. Picture
°A First National Picture
Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's weekly compilation of box office grosses, compares the business done in twelve key cities during the five-weeks period from January 13 to February 10, 1934, with the receipts from the same cities for the same period in 1933. The gross from the cities for the first week in the 1933 period is taken as 100 per cent. The cities used are Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Hollywood, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New York, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Portland, Ore., and San Francisco.

Hearing Set on Bill to Restrict Importing Talent

By FRANCIS L. BURT
Washington Correspondent

Legislation placing foreign actors imported into the United States under the contract labor provisions of the immigration law, permitting entry only to talent of outstanding merit or to actors for roles for which native talent cannot be found, introduced by Representative Dickstein of New York last year, is pending before the immigration committee of the House of Representatives, which had a hearing Tuesday.

A further hearing will be held February 26, at which time it is expected representatives of the motion picture industry will be heard.

Denying that his measure would impose onerous restrictions upon producers needing foreign talent, Congressman Dickstein declared the legislation is necessary for the protection of American artists, and it was claimed that the producers will be aided, since their applications for permission to import talent will be passed upon directly by the Department of Labor. At present consuls abroad make the decision.

The legislation provides that no alien actor shall be considered a "professional" actor, an "artist" or a "singer" unless of distinguished merit and ability as an actor and his professional engagements in this country are of a character requiring superior talent.

Although representatives of the film interests were not heard February 20, the hearing did not get by without attacks upon the industry. Representatives Schulte of Indiana and Weideman of Michigan, urging enactment of the bill, laid the blame for the present situation of the legitimate theatre to motion pictures.

Mr. Schulte said only the film industry is opposed to the Dickstein bill. Charging the film producers with selfishness and greed and a desire to use foreign actors in the making of pictures to be sold abroad, he declared the film industry is throwing "millions of people" out of work in the legitimate theatre.

Hays Board Upholds Fox Title Protest

In response to a protest by Fox Film Corporation against the use by Warner Bros. of the word "Follies," which had been inserted in the title of their picture, "Fashions of 1934," after its release, the committee on title registration of the MPPDA, sitting as a board of arbitration, this week ruled that Warner Bros. must discontinue use of the word forthwith.

The board's ruling declared that Warner Bros. "did not register the title 'Fashion Follies of 1934,' which we condemn as a flagrant violation of the first rule of the association that all titles must be registered." Furthermore, the board found that the use of the word "Follies" by Warner created a "distinct conflict detrimental to Fox's well-known annual production, 'Movietone Follies of ——,' which has been duly registered and protected by Fox."

Federation To Appoint New Secretary This Week

The Federation of the Motion Picture Industry, New York organization of independent distributors, will appoint a new secretary late this week at an executive committee meeting, to succeed Alec Moss, who resigned to join Paramount. Organization finances and the double feature situation in Chicago and Milwaukee will also be discussed. It is expected decision will be made on a $10 charge on negative reels, plus a small tax on positive prints.

Horwitz Hits at Code in Address To Ohio Showmen

The fact that the motion picture code is part of President Roosevelt's national recovery program is the only reason it is deserving of consideration, M. B. Horwitz, Cleveland, treasurer of the newly organized Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, told members assembled in convention last week at Columbus.

At the session, in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, were 165 independent exhibitors, representing 345 of the 525 independent theatres in Ohio. Mr. Horwitz pointed out alleged unfairness in the code, and warned his hearers that unless, through concerted action, they are viligant, they can not hope to obtain the justice to which they are entitled.

Although the code provides that one member on the Zoning Board shall be a first run unaffiliated exhibitor, Mr. Horwitz stated that though the Allen theatre (independently operated) was one of the finest first run theatres in Cleveland, he prophesied that the first run unaffiliated exhibitor representative on the Zoning Board would be selected outside of Cleveland.

Touching on other prominent unaffiliated exhibitor members of the Code Authority, he warned the exhibitors not to expect any material aid, assistance or consideration from Mr. Kuykendall, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, or Charles O'Reilly, president of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce of New York, as "there is no doubt in any man's mind as to Mr. Kuykendall's leanings." Nor is there any question of Mr. O'Reilly's interests, "whose main business is candy vending machines extensively used in theatres. So, gentlemen, use your own judgment."

In closing, Mr. Horwitz said: "I urge that all of you give every one a square deal. In return, demand the same thing. If it is not forthcoming, then this organization will fight to the utmost for its members, the independent exhibitors."

Mary Pickford at Christening Of Remodeled Biograph Studios

Mary Pickford, most noted of the original Biograph stars, this week arrived in New York to christen the modernized Biograph Studios on February 23. D. W. Griffith and the Gish sisters also will attend.

Myers Postpones Trip

Abram F. Myers, general counsel for the Allied States Association, scheduled to be in New York this week, postponed his visit until late next week, at which time he will confer with Sidney E. Samuelson, Allied president, on the appointment of six regional vice-presidents and general organization policies.

Technicolor Reports Loss

Technicolor, Inc., and subsidiaries report a loss of $249,396 for 1933, after taxes, depreciation, amortization of patents and other charges. The 1932 loss was $235,503.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

Besides the Cafe de Paree, Mr. Aylesworth's Music Hall, the Ghetto, Grant's Tomb and the Statue of Liberty, New York offers another sight that simply must be seen: Samuel Lionel Rothafel's new 16-cylinder, chromium-plated, streamlined, specially-built Marmon automobile. It has the "Roxy" signature in his wide, flourishing style, painted on both sides, and a special kind of heating system and a cooling plant, a radio that sounds like the reproducers in the Radio City theatres, and almost every other kind of gadget imaginable—except hot and cold water, and who knows but that when business gets better, maybe Roxy will install a plumbing system to take care of that, too.

▽

On the day, recently, when temperatures varying from 14 degrees below zero (in New York City) to 60 below zero (up-state) sent the mercury in New York thermometers to a 60-year low, Mr. Scott Leslie, of Florida, sat down at his desk in Tampa and composed a long letter of complaint about the cold in that sector having a threatening influence on theatre business. It was so chilly along Tampa's East Broadway, he said, that metal drums had to be rigged up as fire boxes on the main floor of the Star Lite, operated by B. Rask. As an afterthought, Scott advised that the Star Lite is an airdrome, and the sky is the roof.

▽

A bit belated, perhaps, but, regardless, our attention has just been called to another case which further verifies the fact that Hollywood is the great influencing factor guiding the style of clothes. Bound for the studio city to investigate conditions for the code, Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt wore a very dark business suit and other conservative apparel which might be found on any lawyer intent on serious business. On his return trip, after spending about ten days going hither and yon in the movie sector, Mr. Rosenblatt was magnificently attired in black-and-white checked sport coat, brown checked trousers and two-tone grey shoes that would easily distinguish any ambitious college sophomore.

Maybe it's the climate.

▽

And Morris Legendre, the assistant to Division Administrator Sol Rosenblatt, calls block booking: buying in "clusters!" That places pictures in the same category with scallions.

▽

That widely discussed advertising campaign staged the other week in New York by United Artists, for the Music Hall introduction of Anna Sten in "Nana," cost a neat $47,000 in cash, of which Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, who is sponsoring the young Russian, paid $35,000, and the RKO theatre paid $12,000. The picture played two weeks and grossed $200,000.

▽

Urging a revolution against the highly concentrated monopolization of radio, Mr. Eddie Dowling estimates that the two dominating networks of today—RCA's National Broadcasting and Mr. William Paley's Columbia Broadcasting—have an annual income of some $40,000,000 from air advertisers and propaganda purveyors. That's about $110,000 daily for the two chains.

▽

Our good friend of Berkeley, Mr. James Van de Mark, noticed that in Walt Disney's "Giant Land" the giant who figures prominently in the action has two teeth in his upper gums and two in the lower. But when Mickey Mouse is inside the giant's mouth, there is pictured a part of a full set of both uppers and lowers.

Jim Alexander, manager of the Monogram exchange on Boulevard of the Allies in Pittsburgh, hung a three-foot sign over the entrance to the building, saying, "This Is the New Home of John Wayne," Mr. Wayne being the Monogram western star. Next day the following letter addressed to Wayne was received at the office:

ED. SCHWERIN
Men's Tailor
State Theatre Bldg.
Pittsburgh

Mr. John Wayne
Dear Mr. Wayne:

I am closing out some suitings at a very low price of $32.50.

These are suitings formerly got $50, but woolen house gave me a special price on same.

Only have a few and they won't last long so better get in Tuesday.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ED SCHWERIN.

▽

Hollywood's usually elaborate specifications for candidates in those "Search for Beauty" contests probably influenced the St. Louis business man who advertised for a French Creole blonde, young, good looking and "with innate sweetness of character," for $100 a month. Maybe he decided he could struggle along without the innate sweetness of character.

▽

General Motors' slogan for 1934 is "knee action," but Chrysler is going in big for curves. Mr. Chrysler's designers evidently have been impressed by the success of Mae West. "Knees" went out with Ann Pennington.

▽

If Frank Capra's older brother had not run away from home in Italy, some fifteen years before Frank's birth, he might never have reached Hollywood and Columbia's studios. Frank's brother, after running away, had been sold into slavery in the far Pacific—but finally escaped to California. Word reached the family in Italy one day that their long-lost son had been recognized. They sold their possessions and came to America to reclaim the wanderer.

▽

Two Chicago youngsters of sixteen chopped away 150 feet of cable along the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks a mile north of the Chicago Terminal. Result: Thirty-two communication lines used by the railroad and by Western Union were interrupted. Reason: "We wanted to take our girls to a movie, and so we got an ax and cut away the cable, hauling it in a little wagon to a junk yard where we sold it for $1.25. We bought new neckties and new handkerchiefs and took the girls to a show." That's high financing.

▽

Edward Crabbe, father of Paramount's Buster Crabbe, visiting in Hollywood, was introduced to Mack ("The Killer") Gray, George Raft's bodyguard, as a big pineapple man.

"You from Chicago?" inquired "The Killer" blandly.

"No, from Honolulu," answered the puzzled plantation owner.

▽

Mr. Cecil Blount DeMille reminds us that he was responsible for the method of presenting the names of players, directors, writers and others as screen credits. Some twenty years ago, DeMille related, "I rigged up a screen and cut holes in it through which the players stuck their heads. Above their heads I had painted the character names, and underneath, the names of the players. We took one shot of the whole thing."

Some time ago this pillar recorded the fact that when General Charles Clyde Pettijohn was in the employ of Select Pictures, the late Lewis J. Selznick, who was president, insured General Charlie's life for $100,000. The other day we learned that when Mr. Pettijohn left Mr. Selznick's employ, in 1922, to go with Hays, Mr. Selznick gave him that policy, and Charlie still has it, "two more payments and it's his," meaning that in two more years it will be paid up for life. Never say anything but the best about the late Selznick when Charlie is around.

▽

This being open season for investigations, Jack C. Moffitt, writing in the Kansas City Star, has set out to determine:

1. Why the pictures of Mae West taken by the Los Angeles courthouse cameramen look so different from those taken by the studio photographers. (Maybe the Paramount studio retouchers should have been subpoenaed, too.)

2. How George Arliss has managed to get by all these years without breaking a single monocle.

3. Why Greta Garbo, who avoids the press, the public and publicity, poses for several hundred still pictures a year. (Howard Dietz and Si Seadler know the answer to that one.)

4. What portion of her salary Lilyan Tashman uses to maintain the unofficial title of "The Most Glamorously Dressed Woman," and how much the score or so of ermine coats she recently admitted owning, in an unguarded moment, set her back.

▽

Slow motion pictures show that when a bullet is shot at a pane of glass the compressed air traveling in front of the projectile obligingly pierces a hole in the glass before the bullet arrives.

▽

Said George Burns to Gracie Allen, while on the Paramount lot: "Gracie, don't you think we ought to take out some fire insurance?"

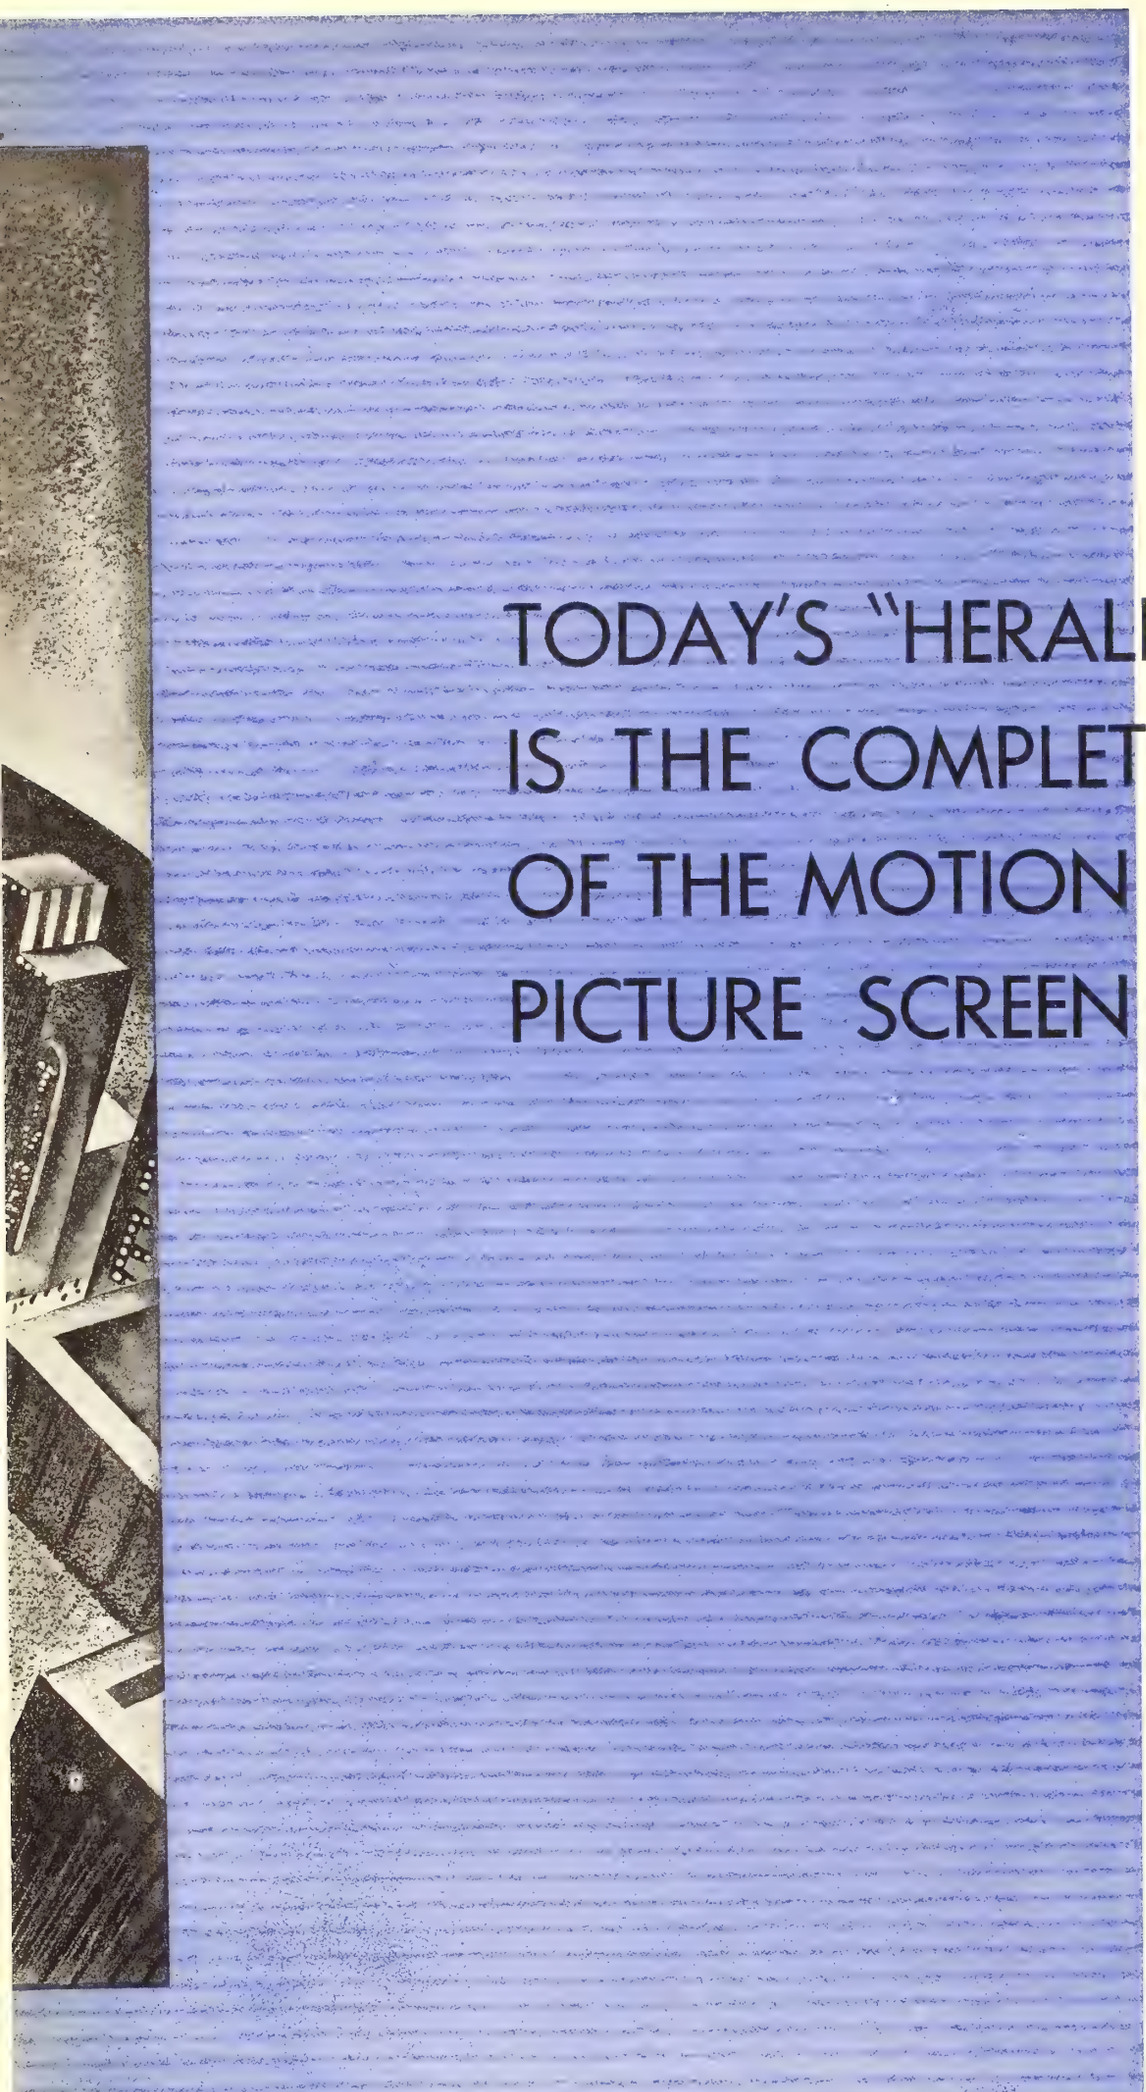
Replied Gracie: "Heavens, George, why? We've got contracts. They can't fire us."

▽

"Movie Mother," by Mrs. Helen Schermerhorn Young, in the Delineator, of February, is all about daughter Elizabeth arriving on the Gold Coast for a movie career. Parts of it are richly entertaining, especially the portion which tells about young Miss Young's encounter with the dressmakers on the Paramount lot.

'Oh, Mummy!" gurgles Elizabeth, "you should see the clothes I am to wear in the picture! And they made the funniest thing on me today. It was like a union-suit of heavy canvas with short panties—from my neck to my knees—with a zipper up the back. They fitted it over me skin-tight—I could hardly breathe. Then they pulled the zipper and I stepped out. And there was my figure! Before I left, they had sewed it up and it was stuffed out, and there I stood, headless, with 'Young' in big letters across my chest. They fit everything over it." Geniuses in the anatomical art, those Paramount dressmakers.

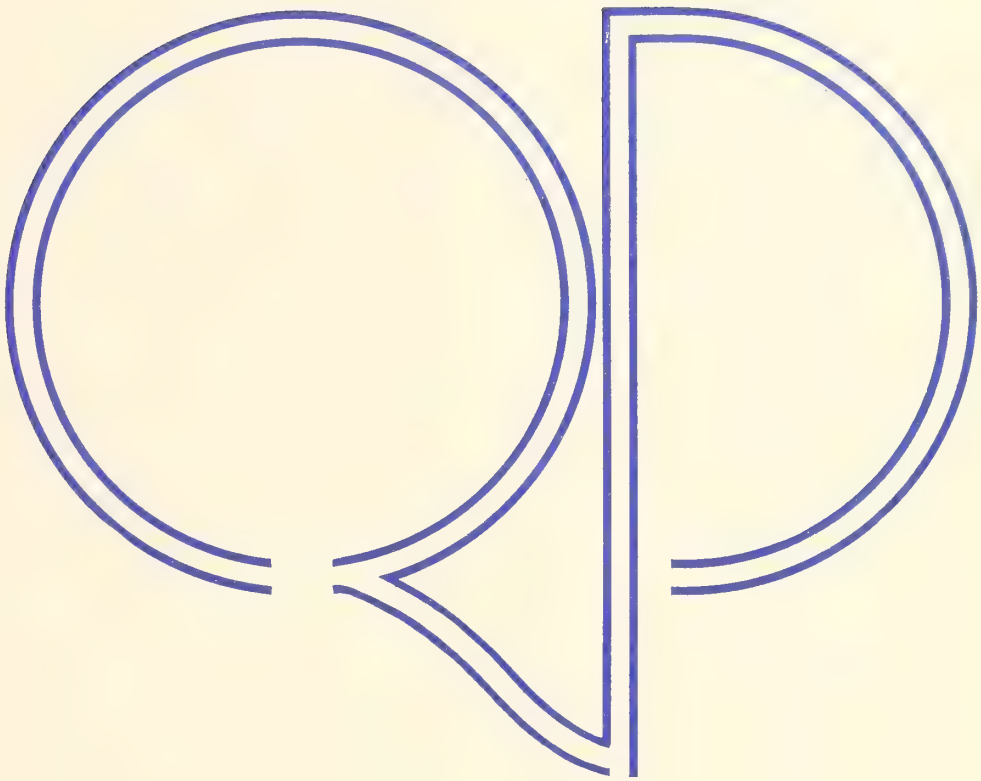
▽



Julius Caesar was killed because he was too ambitious. Johnny Morrell, Warner studio office boy, was fired the other day for the same reason. When the four Mills Brothers appeared on the lot in a picture, Johnny stood at the sound stage door and collected twenty-five centavos from some 31 customers who wished to hear the crooners croon..

HERALD SQUARE

This industry was born with its opening night, 37 years ago, on the screen at Koster & Bial's Music Hall in Herald Square, where Thirty-fourth Street crosses Broadway. In the years between, amusement centers have moved on and the industry which began that night has spread to dominance over all the world. With it and a part of it, Motion Picture Herald has grown, too, so that today all the motion picture world, again—and still—is centered on the new "Herald Square" of today which covers the world.



N PICTURE
ERALD
DATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS HIGHER AND

TODAY'S "HERALD SQUARE" IS THE COMPLETE DOMAIN OF THE MOTION PICTURE SCREEN

MOTION PICTURE

. . . Motion Picture Herald's coverage begins at the production stages from Hollywood to Elstree and extends across the exhibition map wherever pictures are played. . . . Motion Picture Herald, the center of that great "Herald Square" which is the motion picture world of today, is a product and an achievement growing out of the great sum total of motion picture experience. The pages of this institution of publication and all its pioneering components have continuously recorded and presented the products and triumphs of the screen from the days of the dawn of the nickelodeon, growing in scope, in power and in service as the screen has grown. Motion Picture Herald today represents a continuity of effort in a single institution and in application of a single policy of service that is older that any other institution now operating in the motion picture industry.

ROSENBLATT IS FINAL AUTHORITY

(Continued from page 9)

by reason of unavoidable delay in establishing such Local Clearance and Zoning Boards, and

"Whereas, the selling season of the industry is but a short time off and it is necessary to simplify and expedite the functions of such Boards and direct their activities and qualify their procedure, now on motion by Mr. Harold S. Bareford (Warner Brothers), seconded by Mr. Nathan Yamins (Allied), it is unanimously

"Resolved that Local Clearance and Zoning Boards shall perform and discharge their duties by receiving any and all protests from members of the industry against any existing clearance and zoning as to their respective theatres alleging that such clearance and zoning is unreasonable in length and/or area, and that such Boards shall decide the issue raised by such protests after notice and hearing of the parties affected; and that with respect to the time of making of decisions and the procedure, thereafter, the provisions of the code shall govern."

It appears, then, that it is the intention of the Code Authority to have the Local Clearance and Zoning Boards use the present schedules of clearance and zoning for new schedules, with complaints and suggestions for improvements resulting in necessary changes, where the Local Boards so decide.

There will not be separate boards for New Jersey, Jacksonville or Louisville, as originally discussed. New Jersey activities will be divided between New York and Philadelphia.

Board Selections Meet Favor

While most of the local boards are expected to establish headquarters in the principal film building along "Film Row" in each exchange city, the membership of the boards will be asked by John C. Flinn, Code Authority secretary, to submit their recommendations for offices to the Authority.

Although the Code Authority in New York received scores of congratulatory telegrams from the field on its selection for the local boards already announced, Nathan Yamins, of Allied, and a Code Authority member, filed formal complaint with the Authority protesting that independent exhibitors do not have sufficient representation on the boards.

Mr. Yamins' brief suggested that a distinct division be drawn between exhibitor members of the boards who are members of the MPTOA and exhibitor members of the boards who are so-called "independents." He said that MPTOA members are affiliated exhibitors, and, therefore, the posts on the boards that are occupied by them should be filled by "qualified" independents.

A decision of importance made by the Washington headquarters of the National Recovery Administration established Sol A. Rosenblatt, Division Administrator in charge of amusement codes, as the final and official NRA source for defining and interpreting clauses of the code.

In official circles this was taken as an indication that Mr. Rosenblatt's recent decision whereby the ten per cent cancellation privilege accorded exhibitors in the code was made retroactive on pictures released after December 7th, but contracted for before that date, would remain in effect.

The NRA made clear its position and the status of Mr. Rosenblatt as the official code definer in a communication to the Code Authority, addressed to the secretary, Mr. Flinn. The communication said:

"The Code Authority for the motion picture industry asked who is to have the final authority on interpretations of the code. The question is covered by recent Office Order No. 60 (NRA), the pertinent provisions of which follow:

"'Procedure To Be Followed by All Divisions in Ruling on Interpretations, Exceptions and Exemptions or Modifications to Approved Codes:'

"I. DEFINITIONS

"A. INTERPRETATIONS

"1. This term includes all rulings on the meaning of the language of a code where the intent of that language is in doubt; i.e., where a knowledge of the surrounding circumstances and of the general policies of NRA on the part of the person making the rulings fails to remove the necessity for a decision on which reasonable men, equally well informed, might differ. Where no decision is required on which reasonable men, equally well informed, might differ, the ruling is not an interpretation but merely an explanation.

"II. The promulgation of a final ruling on any of the above matters has the same effect as the promulgation of an approved code, and, therefore, it should be given the same balanced consideration which was given to the promulgation of the code. No final rulings on these matters may be made except by the Division Administrators, subject to the disapproval of the Administrator; and, in the case of modifications, they must be signed by the Administrator.

"In order to preserve uniformity in the rulings made in the various divisions the following procedure will be followed:

"1—All requests for rulings will be referred to the Administration member of the Code Authority (Sol A. Rosenblatt) for the findings and recommendations of the Code Authority.

"2—The Administration member (Mr. Rosenblatt) will forward the findings and recommendations of the Code Authority (with appropriate comments) to the Deputy Administrator. (In the case of the Motion Picture Code the Division Administrator is the Administration Member—Mr. Rosenblatt.)

"3—The Deputy Administrator (Mr. Rosenblatt) will obtain the recommendations of his legal adviser and of his labor, industrial and consumer advisers to the extent that the subject matter is within their purview of interest.

"4—The Deputy (Mr. Rosenblatt) will submit the file including all recommendations to the Division Administrator who will approve, disapprove or modify the ruling.

"5—The Division Administrator's (Mr. Rosenblatt's) will be final, subject only to the ultimate disapproval of the Administrator provided, however, that no modification shall be effective without the signature of the Administrator.

. . . . . .

"By decision of the Administrator:

Alvin Brown.

"In the case of the Motion Picture Code the Division Administrator is the Administration Member of the Code Authority, therefore the intervening steps between the Administration Member and the Division Administrator are eliminated.

"Very truly yours,

"(Signed) William P. Farnsworth, Deputy Administrator, Amusement Section."

Unqualified code acceptance blanks received from producers, distributors and exhibitors up to press time had reached 7,600. The last date for signing the assent blanks in order to be protected against unfair competition under the code is midnight of February 28th. A postponement to a later deadline appears highly improbable. Signed acceptance blanks are being received at the headquarters of the Code Authority in New York. The Authority's offices were established permanently late last week in the RKO Building, at 6th Avenue and 50th Street, Radio City, New York.

Charles Ulrich, pioneer publicity and newspaperman, this week joined the Code Authority staff under Mr. John Flinn. Mr. Ulrich was a correspondent for newspapers and traveled extensively with President Theodore Roosevelt. At one time he was associated with Pathe, Producers' Distributing and later with Paramount.

The suit against the Code Authority sponsored by Allied through the Congress Theatre, of Newark, N. J., was again postponed on Tuesday until March 1, when Judge Bondy in U. S. District Court, New York, will preside.

Code Situation in Hollywood

Selection of code representatives by various creative branches, and an approaching climax to the general Hollywood labor situation were the principal code developments during the week on the western front.

At a meeting in Hollywood, the Actors' Guild—independent—elected 14 candidates to be presented to Division Administrator Rosenblatt, and from which he will select actors' representatives for two code committees. Offered for the agents-players' committee were: Adolphe Menjou, Spencer Tracy and Berton Churchill. For the actors-producers' committee the following were nominated: Ann Harding, Ralph Morgan, James Cagney, Kenneth Thomson, Richard Tucker, Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery, Claude King, Mary Astor, Pat O'Brien and Paul Muni.

The directors also nominated 14 of their colleagues from whom Mr. Rosenblatt will select six for directors' representatives on the agents and on the producers' committees. The 14 nominees were: Lloyd Bacon, Clarence Brown, David Butler, Frank Capra, John Cromwell, Cecil B. DeMille, Alfred Green, E. H. Griffith, William K. Howard, Henry King, Robert Z. Leonard, W. S. Van Dyke, Frank Lloyd and King Vidor.

Also involving certain classes of Hollywood talent, but with the scene of action centered in New York was the drafting of a uniform contract for agents representing talent, which was provided for in the code of ethics submitted for inclusion in the film code by the National Association of Theatrical Artists' Representatives. Action on including the document in the film code will be taken by the Code Authority at its next meeting, February 26.

The agents' code also provides for arbitration of all disputes between agent and artist. It stipulates that charges of misconduct against any agent member of the association must be made in writing and the charges will be heard by the association's board of directors and penalties imposed by a majority of the board. Expulsion of an agent from the association renders his contracts with talent null and void.

Free performances of artists under contract to the association's members are prohibited under the code without approval of a board named to investigate the cause for which the performance is to be given.

Returning to the Hollywood scene, it appeared that the NRA would soon "crack down" on studios with severe penalties to be imposed, if floods of code studio labor complaints unearthed violations.

George Creel, California head of the NRA, arrived on the coast on Monday to go into a huddle with Charles Cunningham, local NRA chief, and Judge Ben Lindsey, recently elected as a special Labor Compliance officer to investigate organized union labor problems as they affect the industry in Hollywood.

FILM, STAGE AND EQUITY ATTACK PRACTICES OF RADIO INDUSTRY

Representatives of Three Trades To Meet Rosenblatt on Free Broadcast Problem; Prohibition in Code Proposed

Code authorities of the motion picture and legitimate theatre industries this week allied themselves in taking initial steps to rid both branches of unfair competition of free radio broadcasting performances.

Following a formal complaint by the legitimate theatre group, the motion picture Code Authority on Friday proposed appointment of three representatives from the governing NRA groups of the motion picture, theatre and radio fields to confer on the matter. The nine representatives will meet with Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt at a date to be set either in New York or in Washington. It was said this week that Mr. Rosenblatt would try to call the meeting before March 5, at which time the Code Authorities of all industries operating under NRA codes meet in Washington with General Hugh S. Johnson, national administrator.

Called Increasing Menace

In his complaint to the motion picture Code Authority, Marcus Heiman, chairman of the legitimate group's committee on radio broadcasting, characterized the free admission to radio stations and theatres operated by broadcasters as an "increasing menace to motion picture attendance and to legitimate theatre attendance." The number of free admissions to radio broadcasts has grown to alarming proportions the last few months, he said.

"The practice of advertising agencies distributing free admission tickets to auditoriums located either in radio stations or in theatres and public halls wired for radio broadcasts comprises, in the opinion of the Code Authority of the legitimate theatre, a form of such unfair competition that we solicit the assistance of the motion picture industry's Code Authority to formulate a plan of united action against this rapidly growing deterrent to our business and its thousands of employees," Mr. Heiman's statement read.

"Buildings in large cities, heretofore devoted exclusively to theatrical entertainment, have been converted into free public halls. Thus the employees of these theatres, numbering from 30 to twice that amount, including the artists appearing in attractions for which the theatres were constructed, are thrown out of employment and are replaced by a mere handful of temporary employees, engaged solely for one or two evenings of free broadcasting," he said this week.

Mr. Heiman declared that as a result of a nationwide survey he estimated that more than 85,000 persons weekly are attending such free broadcasts in only 18 cities.

"It requires no great stretch of imagination to project this figure into many hundreds of thousands of people, considering that there are more than 700 radio broadcasting stations in the country."

"Radio is entertainment for the home—it is not a visual entertainment," he said, "and the efforts of advertising agencies to encroach upon legitimate and motion picture fields should be met with vigorous protests."

Mr. Heiman said the moot point of the tri-cornered discussions with Mr. Rosenblatt would be to have a clause inserted in the radio code prohibiting, without exception, free radio admissions as an unfair trade practice.

The personnel of the motion picture committee on radio broadcasting is comprised of Charles L. O'Reilly, Ed Kuykendall and Sidney R. Kent. The legitimate theatre's committee includes, beside Mr. Heiman, Frank Gillmore, Actors' Equity president, and William C. Elliott of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees. The personnel of the group to represent the radio interests had not been made public up to press time.

John J. Shubert, assistant general manager of Select Theatres Corporation, advanced the theory that persons could not be expected to pay money to see star performers in a theatre when they can see them gratis in a broadcasting theatre.

Sees Great Harm in Future

"The practice should be abolished because it not only is hurting the theatre now, but will do much harm in the future," Mr. Shubert said.

On the other hand, Edward T. Goodman, manager of the Gaiety theatre, felt that once people have gone to a free radio show the novelty wears off and that, in any case, these individuals form only a small percentage of regular theatre-goers.

"If you have a show that the public wants to see, people will come regardless of free attractions," he declared.

Joseph Keith, manager of the Joe Leblang ticket agency, said that the practice of free radio broadcasts could not help having a detrimental effect on box offices.

"Such a practice takes away many potential ticket buyers," he pointed out. "We have estimated that 5,000 people go to these free theatres every day in the week in New York City alone. If the box offices could get but half, or 20 per cent of this number, the legitimate theatre would be helped a lot."

Although a factor in bringing the radio competition situation to a head is the recent acquisition by the Columbia Broadcasting System of the Hudson theatre in New York for free radio shows, sporadic agitation against the practice has been going on for some months.

25,000 Attend Weekly in New York

Exhibitors for three years have protested against film star radio broadcasts open to the public. At first they were only in the studios and with a limited audience capacity. The demand for admission assumed such proportions that expansion was regarded as the only solution. This has been especially true of New York until now, it is estimated, between 25,000 and 30,000 persons weekly attend free radio shows.

New York and Chicago lead the nation in the total number of free admissions to such broadcasts with the weekly total approximating forty thousand.

The Code Authority groups have not been alone in their protests. The MPTOA went directly to 35 key radio stations with the warning that unless immediate relief was granted, the exhibitor body would take its complaints to the radio Code Authority. This it now has done.

MPTOA members have reported the situation in the field is proportionately as bad as it is in New York and other large eastern cities, with thousands of free tickets to broadcasts being handed out each week.

Actors Equity Charges Broadcasters Exploit Performers in Auditions, Declares Relations "Careless and Haphazard"

Charging exploitation of acting talent by radio broadcasters, specifically in auditions, the Actors Equity Association this week accused the radio industry of "careless and haphazard relations between employers and employed." The protests first were filed at the radio code hearings.

560 Questionnaires Distributed

Accordingly Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt asked Equity to supply facts and figures, particularly with regard to auditions, rehearsals and pay for performers in radio. A total of 560 questionnaires was sent to representative actors and actresses engaged in broadcasting.

"The conduct of auditions and of pay for them is a conclusive picture of the careless and haphazard relations between employers and employed in radio, which stands fully in need of corrective organization," said "Equity," house organ of the association, in the second of its series of surveys of the radio field.

What usually happens, "Equity" pointed out, is this:

"Auditions were given in the expectation of pay because previous auditions had been paid," one actor testified in the questionnaire. "They involved three auditions with all-day rehearsals and recording for the client. I was not paid anything."

Says CBS Dropped Payments

According to the house organ, the National Broadcasting Company is generally reported as paying for auditions—$12.50 for auditions for sustaining programs and $25 for clients' auditions. Columbia Broadcasting System, which used to pay approximately that amount, the organ stated, discontinued its payments apparently without warning.

"Equity" further charged that at N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising agency, an employee of that firm informed one actor that he had been set to listen to auditions although he acknowledged that he was not qualified by training or experience to judge either voices or dramatic ability. When slips with reports on performances were handed in to his superiors, according to the house organ, he was advised to throw them in the wastebasket. When the employee of the advertising firm asked his employers what value auditions had under those circumstances, he was said to have been informed that they helped to "keep actors in an expectant mood and well disposed toward the agency."

"Equity" also said that all actors protest the Artists' or Concert Bureau of the NBC collects a 10 per cent commission from practically all actors appearing on the company's sustaining programs, whether they are called by the Bureau, by the director of the program, or by the sponsor. The same dissatisfaction was expressed over the conduct of the same type of bureau at the Columbia Broadcasting System, which, the house organ said, made a profit of $105,000 in 1933 from commissions thus collected.

BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS: January

(1) Produced by David O. Selznick. Directed by George Cukor. From the stage play by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. Screen play by Frances Marion and Herman J. Mankiewicz. Additional dialogue by Donald Ogden Stewart. Photographed by William Daniels. Cast: Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Jean Hersholt, Karen Morley, Louise Closser Hale, Phillips Holmes, May Robson, Grant Mitchell, Phoebe Foster, Elizabeth Patterson, Hilda Vaughn, Harry Beresford, Edwin Maxwell, John Davidson, Edward Woods, George Baxter, Herman Bing, Anna Duncan. Released January 12, 1934.

DINNER AT EIGHT — M G M

(2) Directed by Thornton Freeland. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Associate producer, Lou Brock. Associate director, George Nicholls, Jr. Screen play by Cyril Hume, H. W. Hanemann and Erwin Gelsey. From a play by Anne Caldwell. Based on an original story by Lou Brock. Music by Vincent Youmans. Musical director, Max Steiner. Lyrics by Edward Elisen and Gus Kahn. Dance director, Dave Gould. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Carroll Clark. Photographed by J. Roy Hunt. Photographic effects by Vernon Walker. Sound recorded, P. J. Faulkner. Sound cutter, George Marsh. Film editor, Jack Kitchin. Costumes by Walter Plunkett. Cast: Gene Raymond, Dolores Del Rio, Paul Roulien, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire. Released December 29, 1933.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO — RKO Radio

(3) Directed by Ernst Lubitsch. Original by Noel Coward. Screen play by Ben Hecht. Art director, Hans Dreier. Photographed by Victor Milner. Sound engineer, M. M. Paggi. Cast: Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins, Edward Everett Horton, Franklin Pangborn, Isabel Jewell, Harry Dunkinson, Helena Phillips, James Donlin, Vernon Steele, Thomas Braidon, Jane Darwell, Armand Kaliz, Adrienne d'Ambricourt, Wyndham Standing, Emile Chautard, Nora Cecil. Released December 29, 1933.

DESIGN FOR LIVING — Paramount

¶ The first of 1934's Champions are six, named by the box offices of the nation's key theatres during January. Of these, two—"Roman Scandals" and "Dancing Lady"—were also Champions for December. Of January's six, two were tied for third place, and two for fourth.

(3) Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Directed by Frank Tuttle. Screen play by William Anthony McGuire, from an original story by George S. Kaufman and Robert Sherwood. Additional dialogue and material by George Oppenheimer, Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin. Songs by Al Dubin and Harry Warren. Dances and production numbers directed by Busby Berkeley. Art director: Richard Day. Musical director: Alfred Newman. Photography of the numbers by Gregg Toland, photography of the story by Ray June. Film editor: Stuart Heisler. Sound recorded: Vinton Vernon. Cast: Eddie Cantor, Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart, David Manners, Verree Teasdale, Edward Arnold, Alan Mowbray, Grace Poggi, Charles C. Wilson, Harry Holman, Lee Kohlmar. Released Dec. 29, 1933.

ROMAN SCANDALS — United Artists

(4) Directed by Robert Z. Leonard. David O. Selznick, executive producer. John W. Considine, Jr., associate producer. Screen play by Allen Rivkin and P. J. Wolfson, from the book by James Warner Bellah. Photographed by Oliver T. Marsh. Cast: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable, Franchot Tone, May Robson, Winnie Lightner, Fred Astaire, Robert Benchley, Ted Healy, Floria Foy, Art Jarrett, Grant Mitchell, Maynard Holmes, Nelson Eddy, Sterling Holloway, Moe Howard, Jerry Howard, Larry Fine. Released November 24, 1933.

DANCING LADY — M G M

(4) Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Associate producer, Julius Bernheim. Directed by James Whale. From the play by Seigfried Geyer. Adaptation and continuity by Hans Kraly, F. Hugh Herbert and Ruth Cummings. Additional dialogue by Karen de Wolf. Musical score by W. Francke Harling. Photographed by John Mescall. Film editor, David Berg. Art director, Charles D. Hall. Editorial supervision by Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision by Gilbert Kurland. Cast: Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas, Nils Asther, Dorothy Revier, Lawrence Grant, Esther Ralston, Warburton Gamble, Lois January. Released December 18, 1933.

BY CANDLELIGHT — Universal

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Spitfire

(RKO Radio)

Drama

This character drama is far off the beaten path of current production trends. Whether it will be accepted as entertainment by class and mass alike depends solely upon the understanding exhibitors have of the picture's character and unusual personality, theme and moral values. In the Cutting room advance analysis (Nov. 18), it was remarked "Here's a story right down Katharine Hepburn's alley." It's all of that. She's practically the whole show. She contributes an impressive, sometimes inspired performance and there are moments when she tops any of her previous screen efforts.

On the whole, the picture is pitched to a moody key, yet there are brilliant dashes of surprising comedy and the romantic angle is tinged with a finely hinted sex suggestion. This treatment has definitely shunted romance from its usual theatric turn. In its place is presented a simple but powerful heart appeal that deals more with an odd combination of spiritual character and wordly reactions than with sex. Perhaps this strange homely style of entertainment will be difficult to publicize and exploit to its maximum possibilities. Thus the suggestion of a thorough understanding, which means a complete absorption of all informative material distributed by the company, as sincerity, sometimes approaching awesome solemnity, is the keynote with which to impress minds and hearts of the intelligentsia and ordinary folk alike.

Located in the grim mountain country of the South, the picture treats of a faith and people that the rest of the world knows little about. Trigger, with an unquenchable faith in the Supreme Being's beneficence, is all that the show's title implies. A rock-throwing firebrand, she is both feared and misunderstood by her almost illiterate neighbors. A strange creature, she mixes Biblical quotations with profanity, talks of Christ with a daring familiarity, and though her neighbors are amazed, she feels that she knows and is close to God. Not a faith healer, she prays for those whom she would punish, and as Granny dies, she prays that the woman be restored to life. When the miracle is accomplished, the simple superstitious mountain folk believe a witch is among them.

Contrasting comedy sequences intervening, with Etta Dawson featured, strange romance comes to Trigger through association with Stafford, inflaming the girl's heart with something she never knew before. But the appearance of Mrs. Stafford shatters the girl's dream. A baby dies. Illiterate superstition would drive Trigger from the mountains, but Fleetwood, mystically drawn to the fascinating girl, convinces the mountain folk they should not harm her. Trigger, once disillusioned by earthly love, refuses Fleetwood's marriage offer, prays again over the dead baby and as she departs her rude cabin under the promise to return again some day to Fleetwood, another miracle is accomplished as the baby lives again.

The real problem is stirring up mass interest in a picture of people whose passions run almost entirely to superstition and religious hallelujahs in preference to romantic beauty. There is nothing pretentious about this picture; no gaudy sets, no pretty clothes, no stunning effects—only the poverty of primitive mountain folk and their curious customs and beliefs and Trigger's moving character. One before, a picture, "Tol'able David," was produced in such an atmosphere. It made a star and it's still talked about. By no stretch of the imagination is "Spitfire" similar in theme, but the values are there, with intelligent selling to make them known.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper, Associate producer, Pandro S. Berman. Directed by John Cromwell. Original story by Lula Volimer. Screen play by Jane Murfin and Lula Volimer. Photographed by Edward Cronjager. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Carroll Clark. Musical director, Max Steiner. Sound recorder, Clem Portman. Film editor, William M. Morgan. Running time, 84 minutes at first showing. Release date, March 30, 1934.

CAST

Trigger	Katharine Hepburn
J. Stafford	Robert Young
G. Fleetwood	Ralph Bellamy
Eleanor Stafford	Martha Sleeper
Bill Grayson	Louis Mason
Etta Dawson	Sara Haden
Granny Raines	Virginia Howell
Mr. Sawyer	Sidney Toler
West Fry	High Ghere
Jake Hawkins	John Beck
Mrs. Sawyer	Therese Wittler

The Cat and the Fiddle

(MGM)

Romantic Light Operetta

Romance in a light operetta atmosphere, this show holds definite entertainment values for the ordinary theatre-goer and should be more than ordinarily attractive to those who appreciate semi-classical music. Adapted from the successful stage play, those who saw it as such will detect differences, but as all the motivating features and the charming Jerome Kern-Otto Harbach melodies are retained, its merit as screen entertainment is in no wise weakened. Clean and wholesome throughout, the picture, skipping the lavish spectacle specialties common to the current musical trend, depends upon the dramatic and romantic story values, plus the Jeannette MacDonald and Ramon Novarro singing to put over its punches. It does adapt one unusual and good showmanship tack in that the climatic sequence is presented in color.

Given a Continental atmosphere, the story action is centered in Brussels and Paris. In situations that permit light as well as belly-laugh comedy, Victor, traditionally poor but ambitious composer, is attracted to Shirley, who knows that the real money is in popular ballads. Realizing that life will be easier if she tolerates this odd creature, rather than having him continually pester her, they get together. With Charles meandering in and around in typical Butterworth fashion, Victor, who has hocked his score for taxi fare, must recover it for an audition before the Professor. Daudet, who is present, considers the classical stuff worthless, but is muchly impressed by the ability and beauty of Shirley. Promoting her for romantic and financial reasons, he publishes her numbers and puts lots of ballyhoo into their selling.

Moving to Paris, working under Shirley's charity, the affair between her and Daudet is too much for Victor and as his prospective backer runs out on him when Odette (his wife) becomes too amorously inclined, Victor returns alone to his Brussels garret to put the finishing touches on his operetta. Finished, he returns to Paris and plans to stage the show alone. The no money tragedy is complicated by the prima donna getting plastered on opening night, and it looks like failure until Shirley, hearkening to the call of old love, steps into the leading role and sings Victor's composition to an artistic and commercial success.

There's real romance and good music to sell in this show. On top of that is the prestige of the two singing stars, Miss MacDonald and Novarro, well known on the screen and concert stage, to whet the interest of the casual theatre goer who attends only when something different is offered. The straightaway romantic elements should prove satisfactory to the ordinary picture fan, but there's a better return to shoot at by directing a special campaign at the music lovers. Miss MacDonald's singing alone should assure them their money's worth.

On the whole, where class elements predominate, an introductory campaign that most effectively welds the advantages of both will be necessary in most cases.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release. William K. Howard production. Directed by William K. Howard. Screen play by Bella and Samuel Spewack. From the play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Musical director, Herbert Stothart. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Alexander Toluboff. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Gowns by Adrian. Photographed by Harold Rosson and Charles Clarke. Film editor, Frank Hull. Running time, 78 minutes. Release date, Feb. 16, 1934.

CAST

Victor	Ramon Novarro
Shirley	Jeanette MacDonald
Daudet	Frank Morgan
Charles	Charles Butterworth
Professor	Jean Hersholt
Odette	Vivienne Segal
Theatre Owner	Frank Conroy
Taxi Driver	Henry Armetta
Concierge	Adrienne D'Ambricourt
Rudy	Joseph Cawthorn

She Made Her Bed

(Paramount Rogers)

Melodrama

There's a wide variety of showmanship elements in this picture, any one of which can be adapted as the principal selling angle. It's a romance with two kinds of love interest. It's a "melo" melodrama, spattered with menace, thrill, terror. Almost paradoxically, because of the strange amalgamation of realism and imagination stretching unreality, it also provokes laughter to such an extent that it could be legitimately tabbed a comedy. Occasional crisp and pointed dialogue, the sense of which never can be misinterpreted, together with intimate sequence action, gives it a hue that in some localities may add a censorship cry. The title, even though it is hardly relevant, is unusual and has strong value. Cast names are satisfactory and the presentation of Arlen's own baby as the central figure in the climax is a unique selling point that no alert exhibitor should overlook.

Located in an auto camp and with a county fair atmosphere, the opening scenes give no indication of the picture's character. Tempo picks up with the arrival of the vampish Eve. Lura's husband, Duke, with a phobia for wild cats and wild women, becomes excited over the alluring package. With comedy provided by the camp's two hired hands, Santa Fe and Joe, there appears Wild Bill, snake oil medicine peddler, and romance is on between him and Lura as he sympathizes with her anent the antics of her philandering husband. Horse trotting county fair atmosphere introduced, Wild Bill inveigles Duke into buying a tiger, a cat that the super-egoist would make a kitten, only to barely escape having his head chewed off. However, as Duke's yen for Eve brings Lura to the point of leaving him, the double-standard exponent blames Bill for all his troubles and sets out to get him. Missing him in town, during which time Eve extracts the bullets from his gun, he returns to camp to find the place in panic—the tiger has broken out of his cage and is roaming the restaurant. Lura has stuck baby Ron in the ice box, safe from the tiger menace. Drunk but cocky Duke, confident that the power of his eye can still the raging beast, enters the room and to the accompaniment of menacing thrill, excitement and terror, faces the cat. A lamp tipped over starts a conflagration that destroys the building, the tiger and Duke with it. Lura, recovering her senses, dashes into the flames and lifts the crying baby from the ice box. Then the happiness fadeout as Wild Bill's caravan takes to the open road with two more passengers aboard.

While the sophisticates and intelligensia may consider the picture a lot of impossible hokum, preview audience reactions furnished ample indication that it holds plenty of exciting entertainment. Present it as such, with an advance campaign that suggests an abundance of slambang, if at times illogical entertainment.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

A Paramount release. Produced by Charles R. Rogers. Directed by Ralph Murphy. Original, "Baby in the Ice-Box," by James M. Cain. Screen play, Casey Robinson and Frank R. Adams. Photographed by Milton Krasner. Art Director, David Garber. Sound, Earl Hayman.

CAST

Wild Bill Smith.....Richard Arlen
Lura Gordon .....Sally Eilers
Duke Gordon .....Robert Armstrong
Eve Richards .....Grace Bradley
Sante Fe .....Roscoe Ates
Joe Olsen .....Charley Grapewin
Ron .....Richard Arlen, Jr.

Beggars in Ermine

(Monogram)

Romantic Drama

Meaty entertainment, convincingly presented in a manner that makes the most of standby elements and introduces a stirring realistic fantasy touch, this picture has a punch. Keyed to a dramatic pitch, there is contrasting romance, but in that angle the romance of human interest predominates over heart interest. As the picture starts there is no hint as to the unusual novel treatment that is to follow. Consequently, audiences will find the fantastic twist all the more surprising. Yet the change from the ordinary to the different is so logically handled that understanding and appreciation naturally follow.

While the cast offers no outstanding names, the various players fit so nicely into their roles that story and production values assume an importantance more than making up for the personality shortage. Direction has taken full advantage of the individuals' talents and characters.

The plot is both simple and startling. Dawson, steel mill owner and friend of his employees, is framed into an unfavorable merger by his associate, Marley. As an attempt on his life is made in the mill, a flood of molten steel sends him to the hospital, where his conniving wife and Marley wrest control from him. A legless cripple, broke, alone, Dawson joins the army of almost repulsive beggars who roam the country. Organized by him into a crime prevention unit, aides rather than foes of the law, they pool their meagre funds and after a period of nearly fifteen years have enough money to regain control of Dawson's company. Marley, having killed Dawson's unfaithful wife years ago, is crushed in the battle for supremacy, and with Dawson again the boss the way is paved for the marriage of his daughter, Joyce, to Lee Marley. As the actual life drama and realistic fantasy occupy the central attention, this boy and girl love affair serves as the romantic contrast.

Neither lack of outstanding cast names nor the rather incongruous title tone should prove a handicap. The acting, production and emotion-stirring story telling values are there. Full advantage should be taken of the unusual merits available, with ad and publicity copy forcefully and intriguingly prepared.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Trem Carr, vice-president in charge of production. Supervised by William T. Lackey. Directed by Phil Rosen. Adapted by Tristram Tupper. From the novel by Esther Lynd Day. Photographed by Gilbert Warrenton. Edited by Jack Ogilvie. Recorded by John A. Stransky, Jr. Running time, 72 minutes. Release date, Feb. 22, 1934.

CAST

John Dawson .....Lionel Atwill
Marchant .....H. B. Walthall
Joyce .....Betty Furness
James Marley .....Jameson Thomas
Lee Marley .....James Bush
Vivian .....Astrid Allyn
Joe Wilson .....George Hayes
Scott Taggart .....Stephen Gross
Enright .....Sam Godfrey
Joe Swanson .....Lee Phelps
Mike the Mute.....Clinton Lyle
Davis .....Sidney deGrey
Nurse .....Myrtle Stedman
Police Captain .....Gordon deMaine

The Road to Ruin

(First Division)

Drama

Once again the screen takes it upon itself to indicate to young people the dangers that lurk in the path of young girls, and to point out to parents the necessity of telling their growing daughters the facts of life. This time it is an independent production by Willis Kent, with Mrs. Wallace Reid credited with the story and a share in the direction.

The film points its moral without any pretense at evasion. There it is, and let that be a lesson, it declaims emphatically. What the exhibitor might be able to do with the picture is rather best left to his own judgment. He should know his patronage and their probable reactions to such films as these.

Helen Foster, in this case, has the role of the young girl who learned her lesson at the supreme cost.

Richard Tucker is the girl's father, and Mae Busch is the mother of the girl's best friend. Other names will be quite unknown. These two give really finished performances.

Miss Foster is attracted to young Glen Boles, schoolmate, after an introduction by her very knowing friend, Nell O'Day. The trouble for attractive little Miss Foster begins. She accidentally meets, (falls into the clutches of) Paul Page, man about town who sees in her a welcome addition to his list. She succumbs, afer a few cat-and-mouse sequences, and her mother finally learns the truth when Miss Foster is arrested with a group of other young people on the complaint of neighbors after a particularly lively evening.

She accepts one more invitation from Page, to meet a certain wealthy client of his at a small party, with the proposed outcome perfectly obvious. The following scene, which finds Miss Foster, desperately ill, facing the "client" in the dressing room and seeing her father, might well have been altered in the interests of good taste. We are given to understand that the girl dies as the film ends.

That is the picture and that is the story. —Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Willis Kent. Distributed by First Division. Story by Mrs. Wallace Reid. Directed by Mrs. Wallace Reid and Melville Shyer. Photographed by James Diamond. Release date, May 15, 1934. Running time, 58 minutes.

CAST

Ann Dixon .....Helen Foster
Eve Munroe .....Nell O'Day
Tommy .....Glen Boles
Ed .....Bobby Quirk
Ralph Bennett .....Paul Page
Mrs. Dixon .....Virginia True Boardman
Mr. Dixon .....Richard Tucker
Mrs. Munroe .....Mae Busch

Harold Teen

(Warner Bros.)

Comedy

Using the characters of the Carl Ed comic strip, "Harold Teen" emerges as an attraction with values primarily for the high school and juvenile trade. Geared to click with those groups, adults and sophisticated moderns will find in the picture romance, comedy, light drama, excitement and color.

Diverting from the staccato tempo of the funny page idea, a distinct story including the necessary theatric values has been written around the cartoon characters. Naturally much of the hilarious sock is lost as humans interpret the sketch action and dialogue the bubbles. In its stead is offered a story of youthful enthusiasm, its hopes, ambitions, little love affairs, petty jealousies, semi-tragedies and surprising developments.

Of course Harold is in love with Lillums and has the familiar Lilacs, Shadow, Pop, Pa and Ma Lovewell to contend with. A cub reporter, he takes a pretty serious outlook on his future, which brings him into association with banker Snatcher, who evinces a more than paternal interest in Lillums. The arrival of Mimi, Snatcher's daughter, who can't see Lillums as a step-mother complicates the situation and brings on the Junior League amateur theatricals, which star Lillums, and through a Jimmy Cagney Shanghai Lil entrance presents Harold as a great tap dancer, thus making possible a career on the stage that guarantees the future happiness of him and Lillums.

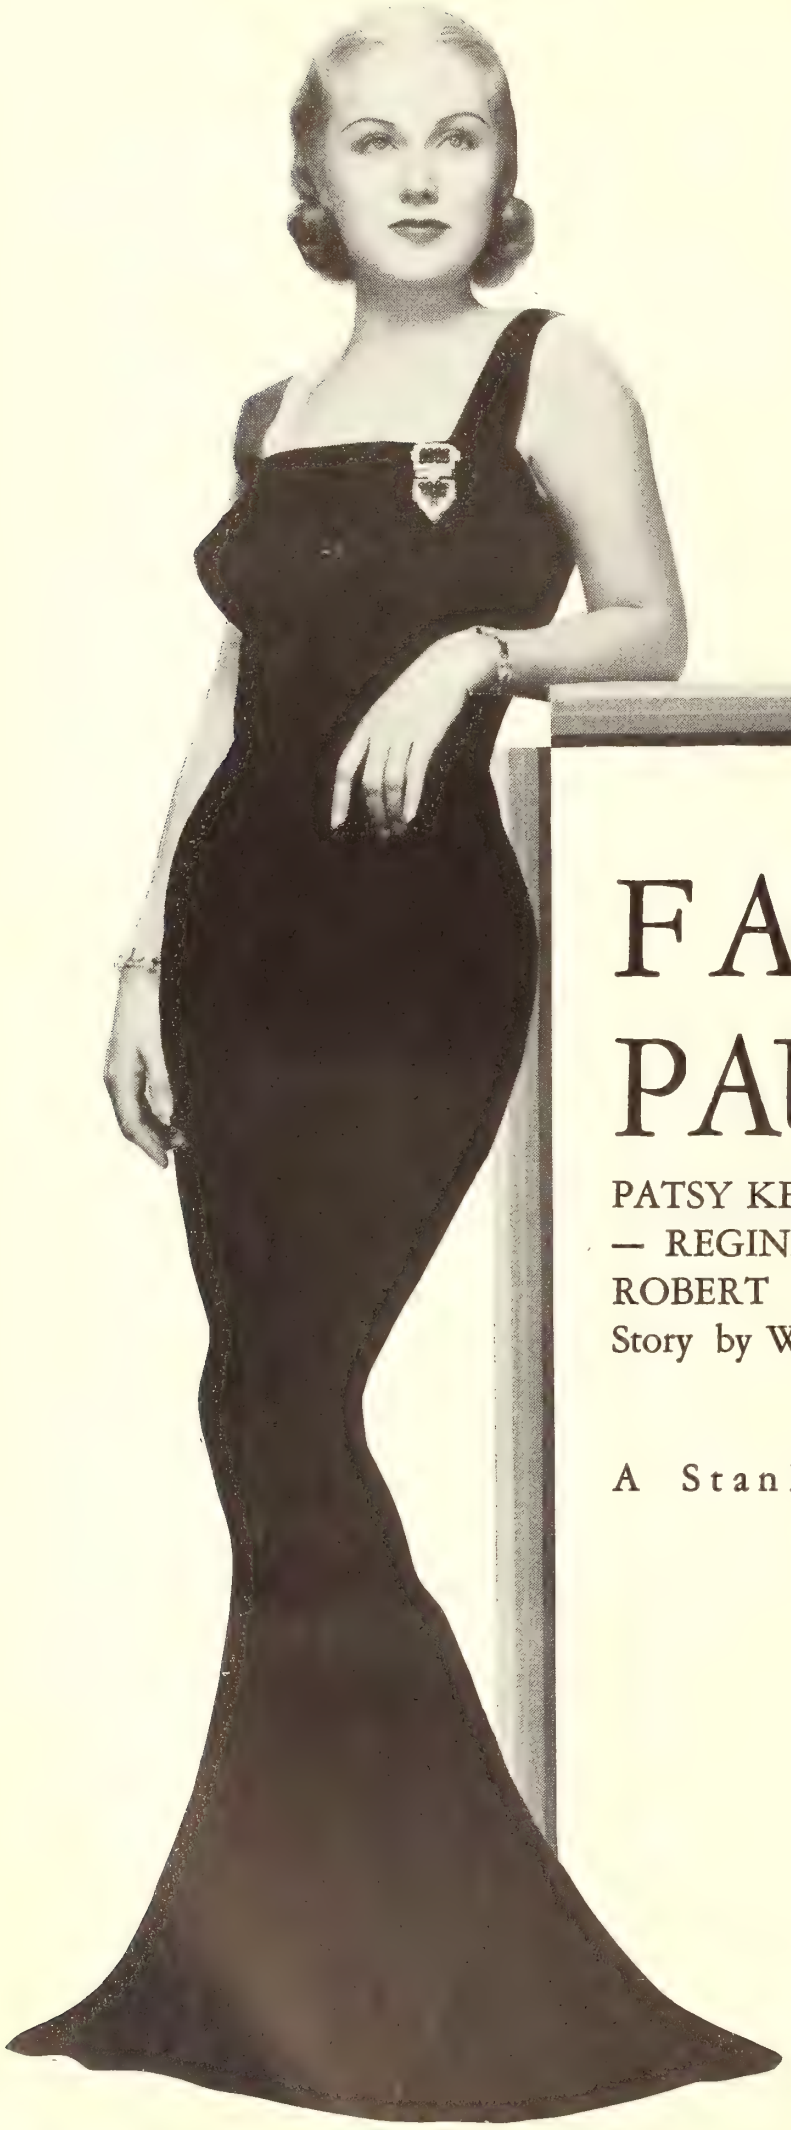
Showmanship that takes full advantage of the angles suggested by the cartoon feature and aims at arousing the interest of the scholastic gang seems to be the most adequate selling medium. As the picture marks the screen debut of Hal LeRoy, juvenile looking but noted dancer, there's the new personality angle to use. While LeRoy has but one number and that in the finale, it's a hit that won enthusiastic applause.

However, as is common with pictures of this type, where there are so many available exploitation angles possible, care should be taken that the show is not built up too highly. —McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. From the comic strip by Carl Ed. Screen play by Paul Gerard Smith and Al Cohn. Music and Lyrics by Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain. Directed by Murray Roth. Photography by Arthur Todd. Film Editor, Terry Morse. Supervisor, James Seymour. Art director, John Hughes. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Vitaphone Orchestra conducted by Leo Forbstein. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, April 7, 1934.

CAST

Harold .....Hal LeRoy
Lillums .....Rochelle Hudson
Mimi .....Patricia Ellis
Pa Lovewell .....Guy Kibbe
Rathburn .....Hugh Herbert
Pop .....Hobart Cavanaugh
Lilacs .....Chic Chandler
Shadow .....Eddie Tamblyn
Snatcher .....Douglas Dumbrille
Ma Lovewell .....Clara Blandick
Sally .....Mayo Methot
Parmalee .....Richard Carle
McKinsey .....Charles Wilson



Mandalay

(First National)

Drama

A drama of a woman who wages her battle for regeneration, and wins, in a tropical setting, "Mandalay" offers first and foremost for the exhibitor a group of selling names. The story has been done before, many times. The names are those of Kay Francis, who can be counted upon for patron interest, Lyle Talbot and Ricardo Cortez, while Warner Oland, Ruth Donnelly and Lucien Littlefield, in minor roles, are familiar and salable names.

The tropical setting opens the way for lobby and marquee decoration in keeping, which should attract a measure of pedestrian attention and lend a certain amount of glamour. It would also do no harm to take full note of —another

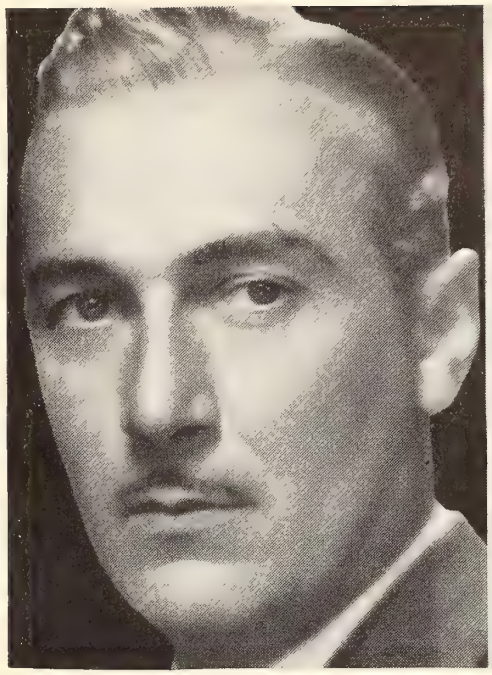
CLASS COMEDY ROMANCE



FAY WRAY
PAUL LUKAS

PATSY KELLY—PAUL PAGE—CARMEL MYERS — REGINALD OWEN — JOHN SHEEHAN — ROBERT McWADE — RICHARD TUCKER.
Story by Walter Fleisch. Directed by Karl Freund.
Presented by Carl Laemmle.

•

A Stanley Bergerman Production.

from
UNIVERSAL

SHE was only a movie extra girl — oh, so beautiful . . . and oh, so broke! She was working on the Monte Cristo set . . . They fitted her out with furs, clothes, swell car, bags and baggage . . . She stepped on the gas and drove right off the set—into the grandest and funniest adventures you ever heard of. Without a penny to her name she had become "The Countess of Monte Cristo" in real life! . . . What happened thereafter is going to keep your crowds highly entertained for an hour or more! Book it!

COUNTESS OF MONTE CRISTO

the clothes Miss Francis wears, and the manner in which she wears them, making an effort to arrange tieups with local women's shops along those lines.

The theme, of the woman who strives hard for happiness, meets defeat, and then pulls herself up into respectability by her own bootstraps, so to speak, carrying a man with her, opens the way for selling copy lines which should have their appeal, especially to the feminine element. The fact that Cortez and Miss Francis, in the opening sequences, are living together, without benefit of clergy, perhaps may better be left without any undue emphasis, for fear of objections.

Cortez is a gun runner and smuggler, plying his trade in tropical waters, Miss Francis with him and deeply in love with him. On shore she meets Oland, who finances Cortez in his activity and operates the largest cafe and gambling hall. Oland comes to the conclusion that Miss Francis would be a distinct selling asset to his business and offers Cortez the proposition of either losing his boat and a large order, or giving up Miss Francis. It is arranged and the girl is left stranded in Oland's place, given no choice but to work for him. She quickly learns how to make the most of men, her figure and appearances.

Reaching a point of notoriety where her name is known far and wide, and she has the local government officer practically in the hollow of her hand, she decides on a vacation in Mandalay, and takes ship. Aboard she falls in love with Talbot, young physician, in disgrace and pursued by a conscience, who is bound for the center of a fever epidemic. Together they find mutual comfort and hope for regeneration, which meets a sharp obstacle when Cortez suddenly appears on board. Pursued by police, he feigns suicide, and hides in the hold, coming out when the coast is clear. Miss Francis, driven to the act, poisons his drink, and he falls overboard, making reality of what had been a clever ruse. No one the wiser, Talbot and Miss Francis head for the fever country and a new start, together.

The story has been done before, but in this case it makes for good melodramatic drama, with a capable as well as highly salable cast. It warrants an active campaign.—AARONSON, New York.

A First National Production. Distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Story by Paul Hervey Fox. Adapted by Austin Parker and Charles Kenyon. Photographed by Tony Gaudio. Film editor, Thomas Pratt. Release date, February 10, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Tanya	Kay Francis
Dr. Gregory Burton	Lyle Talbot
Tony Evans	Ricardo Cortez
Nick	Warner Oland
Mrs. Peters	Ruth Donnelly
Mr. Peters	Lucien Littlefield
Police Captain	Reginald Owen
Captain	David Torrence
Countess	Rafaela Ottiano
Col. Dawson Ames	Halliwell Hobbes
Mr. Abernathie	Etienne Girardot
Mrs. Kleinschmidt	Bodil Rosing
Mr. Kleinschmidt	Herman Bing

The Trail Drive

(Universal)

Western

This falls into the category of the usual type of western feature, with the best selling angle the name of Ken Maynard for all it may be worth in any particular community. The exhibitor can promise a lively picture of its kind. Maynard can ride and his horse, Tarzan, is an asset to the production.

The cast has Cecelia Parker, in this case a fragile kind of feminine lead, opposite Maynard, and such western familiars as Jack Rockwell and Lafe McKee. Comedy is injected with effectiveness by Frank Rice, aided and abetted by Fern Emmett.

It will have to be sold in the conventional fashion for pictures of this type. There is pictorial effectiveness in several sequences, with a bit of action thrill added in a stampede of steers, driving covered wagons and fast-moving riders ahead of it. A rough and tumble scrap or two, with a conspicuous absence of pulled punches, are the high spots of the action.

The assembled ranchers are in difficulty as the film opens, since there suddenly appears to be no market for the cattle they have driven to market. There is no indication of the reason for the lack of buyers, and the ranchers are looking for trouble. It is quickly apparent that William Gould, pleasantly known as Honest John, respected of the ranchers and incidentally owner of most of the town, is behind the situation. John agrees to issue script, redeemable at all his stores, in return for the cattle, which are to be driven across the Texas border into New Mexico. The ranchers accept the proposition when Maynard accepts responsibility.

The cattle are started toward the border, Maynard leading the accompanying ranchers, when it is discovered that John is perpetrating a perfect double-cross. A posse, headed by the marshal, sets out at full speed after the cattle, in an attempt to get to them before they cross the border, where they are to be turned over to the men to whom John has sold them, for money, not script. John's men start at the same time to force the cattle across the border, and the action takes place at John's headquarters in the town across the line. The cattle are stampeded across, the marshal comes up too late, and Maynard saves the day by capturing John, bringing him to the camp and forcing him to disgorge the money he has obtained for the sale of the cattle. Miss Parker, who accompanied the drive, and the vindicated Maynard, do the expected at the finish.

The picture is for the weekend action spot. —AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Story, dialogue and direction by Alan James. Photographed by Ted McCord. Release date, September 4, 1933. Running time, 60 minutes.

CAST

Ken	Ken Maynard
Virginia	Cecelia Parker
Honest John	William Gould
Thirsty	Frank Rice
Blake	Bob Kortman
Aunt Marthe	Fern Emmett
Marshal	Jack Rockwell
Jameson	Lafe McKee
Tarzan	Himself

Le Frochard at les Deux Orphelines

The Two Orphans

(Blue Ribbon Photoplays)

Drama

The almost perennial drama of the two waifs, "The Two Orphans," which attained such heights of success on the American stage and screen, is here filmed for the first time in the French, from which it originally came. The use of superimposed subtitles in English makes for ready understanding of the story, though the same would be true were subtitles and dialogue as well entirely omitted.

This French version, including in its cast numerous members of the French Comedie Française, also presents in a talking picture debut the brilliant Yvette Guilbert, famous French character actress, in the role of La Frochard, Fagan-like "protector" of the blind orphan. The others of the cast are excellent, though all French and unknown here.

The film is excellently executed as a whole and handsomely mounted. The handicaps which naturally obtain in the exhibition of a French or other foreign language film in the regular run theatre are present here, but this is offset to an extent by the quality of the film and the fact that the subject matter is so familiar. For the "intimate" type of theatre in the large metropolitan center, and for the house calling upon a definitely discriminating patronage, the film has decided selling possibilities. A school tieup, with reference to the French dialogue, is obvious.

The 18th Century story no wise varies from earlier versions in content. There is the separation of the two orphans, one blind, on their way to Paris. One is kidnaped by a lecherous nobleman, is aided in escape, and a millinery establishment is opened by a young nobleman with whom she falls in love. The blind child is taken in by La Frochard, elderly slattern, who forces the child to sing and beg in the streets. The crippled son of the old woman, deeply affected by the blind girl, assists her.

The uncle of the milliner's fiance casts her into jail, but through the kindly assistance of a visiting doctor, her release is obtained and she succeeds in finding her blind companion. A fight in La Frochard's hovel ends when the crippled boy kill his elder ruffian brother, when he attempts to hold the blind girl. The doctor also obtains a pardon for the jailed girl from the uncle, who consents to the marriage of his nephew, and befriends the blind girl, revealed as the daughter of his wife, abandoned years before.

It is the long familiar heavy melodrama, but excellently done, and may be effectively sold where it will be appreciated in spite of the foreign dialogue.—AARONSON, New York.

A Pathe-Cinema Production. Distributed by Blue Ribbon Photoplays, Inc. Directed by Maurice Tourneur. Adapted by Rene Pujol from the play by D'Ennery and Cormon. Release date, February 6, 1934. Running time, 92 minutes.

CAST

La Frochard	Yvette Guilbert
Jacques, her older son	Gabriel Gabrio
Pierre, her younger son	Jean Francey
Louise	Rosine Derean
Henriette	Renee Saint-Cyr.
The Count de Linieres	Pierre Magnier
The Countess de Linieres	Emmy Lynn
Roger de Vaudrey, their nephew	Jean Martinelli
The Marquis de Presles	Emile Saulieu
Lafleur	Morton
The Doctor	Camille Bert
The Superintendent	Martha Mellot
Marest	Liabel

Long Lost Father

(RKO Radio)

Drama

The selling value of the name of John Barrymore is the exhibitor's medium in this picture. The other names are not of particularly outstanding marquee value, and the story has the nature of a stage play lifted bodily from stage to screen and so falling short in dramatic action and punch.

The film is confined largely to the characterization of Barrymore, and its ramifications, relying upon dialogue. Barrymore is his accustomed capable self, in his role of the smooth-tongued, aging father. The others are Helen Chandler as the daughter, Donald Cook as her fiance, poor but honest; Alan Mowbray as the unsportsmanlike English gentleman of the "horsey" type.

The repentant father theme is the best selling angle.

Barrymore is the manager and engaging (to feminine patrons of the place) manager of a London restaurant. It is understood that he has something of a checkered past, very few regrets, and a daughter whom he has not seen for many years. The girl is ambitious as a dancer, and cold to the suitoring of the young American doctor, Cook, though she is quite fond of him. The father and daughter accidentally meet at the offices of a lawyer, who called them to hear read the will of her aunt. The worthy aunt cuts them off with practically nothing, one for being such a fool as to go on the stage, the other for making such a mess of his and other people's lives.

Mowbray, who owns the restaurant, insists on hiring Miss Chandler for a new floor show, despite Barrymore's protestations. She is a success, and success goes to her head. She runs around with a silly English crowd—an amusing sequence pictures a "treasure hunt" all over London in the early hours. Mowbray loses some money, and accuses Miss Chandler. The police inspector's long memory connects Barrymore with an Australian confidence game. Barrymore, with the aid of an old accomplice, succeeds in saving his daughter from an embarrassing situation, brings the two young people together, and passes out of the picture and the impending clutch of the law.

The fact that the film was adapted from a novel by the notable G. B. Stern may carry some weight in the selling. The film will have to be sold on the basis of a characterization by Barrymore with concentration on the parental element of the patronage.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Associate producer, Kenneth MacGowan. Directed by Ernest B. Schoedsack. From the novel by G. B. Stern. Screen play by Dwight Taylor. Musical director, Max Steiner. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Al Herman. Photographed by Nick Musuraca. Sound recorder, Paul F. Wiser. Film editor, Paul Weatherwax. Release date, January 19, 1934. Running time, 63 minutes.

CAST

Carl Bellaire ..... John Barrymore
Lindsey Lane ..... Helen Chandler
Bill Strong ..... Donald Cook
Tony Gelding ..... Alan Mowbray
Inspector ..... Claude King
Lord Vivyan ..... Reginald Sharland
Lawyer ..... Ferdinand Gottschalk
Phylis Mersey-Royds ..... Phyllis Barry
Flower Woman ..... Tempe Piggot
Bishop ..... Herbert Bunston

Found Alive

(Ideal Pictures)

Jungle Story

Settings bring this picture within the jungle cycle but the showman should note that the running time is only 56 minutes. The picture has more dramatic story content than the usual feature of that type, which should present more thematic selling angles, if not as much in the nature of ballyhoo. Performance values, however, fall short, particularly among the principals.

The theme concerns a divorced wife, who virtually kidnaps the child of whom she is denied possession by the court, and lives with the child and a man servant for apparently many years in a clearing of the jungle country which borders the Rio Grande in Mexico. The father finally finds them after years of diligent search, through the cupidity of a member of a passing hunting party, and the expected three-cornered reconciliation concludes the story.

The audience is treated, also as expected, to several of the jungle scenes in the accustomed manner, of cats stalking through the undergrowth, and of the pursuits of the hunting party which seems to have as its object the capture alive of as many animals as possible, with particular attention to reptiles. The manner in which the feminine members of the party, especially, seem to derive their greatest pleasure in wrapping snakes of all varieties and sizes about their necks may not awaken echoes of jealousy and longing in the hearts of the women of the audience, but it may occasion respect for their fearlessness.

The small group of principals would seem equally unfamiliar to the patronage.

The picture warrants a fair amount of exploitation. It perhaps should be played somewhere in a midweek position.—AARONSON, New York.

Distributed by Ideal Pictures Corp. Directed by Charles Hutchison. Story by Captain Jacob Conn. Continuity and dialogue by Adrian Johnson. Release date, February 10, 1934. Running time, 56 minutes.

CAST

Mrs. Roberts ..... Barbara Bedford
Bobby Roberts ..... Maurice Murphy
Mr. Roberts ..... Robert Frazer
Brooks ..... Harry Griffith

County Fair

(Universal)

Amusing

There is a fair amount of animated amusement in this cartoon, in which Oswald, the Rabbit, finds a youngster crying, after having been spanked by his father, and takes him to the fair. The guest turns out to be a practical joker, with Oswald the unwilling object of his humor. He returns the compliment, but only in part.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Davey Jones' Locker

(MGM)

Good

In this, the first of the Willie Whopper cartoon series, produced by Ub Iwerks in Cinecolor for Celebrity and released by MGM, there is very effective use of color and a few minutes of entertainment, especially for the youngsters. Willie and his sweetheart, fishing, land Father Neptune, and he pulls them to the floor of the sea. When Willie's girl is captured, our hero goes into battle, defeating Davey Jones and rescuing his victim.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Strange As It Seems No. 36

(Universal)

Fairly Interesting

Running the range of unusual activities around the world, from the Siwash Indians' health baths—a combination of steaming in a hut and bathing through a hole cut in the river ice—to the hunt of the Mexicans for the platapus, undermud creature and rare table delicacy, and shots of the Bali natives, there is much to interest many classes of patronage in this number of the John Hix camera studies.—Running time, 11 minutes.

Let's You and Him Fight

(Paramount)

Amusing

One of the Popeye the Sailor cartoons, this number is entertaining and amusing, as is the rest of the series. Popeye, the spinach-eating sailor man, has the grand ring set-to with the man mountain, and is in a bad way until the repentant Olive Oyl brings him his spinach, when he goes into action. The youngsters—and oldsters—should find it entertaining.—Running time, 6 minutes.

The Good Bad Man

(Educational)

Fair

The big Mexican bandit chief, who has a flair for a pretty face and a desire for doing away with those he doesn't like, forms the substance of this comedy, done in a fashion not particularly new and not particularly amusing. Tom Patricola and Charles Judels have the leads and do their best with material which is not especially conducive to many laughs. The bandit chief tries to fool a New York hoofer, but she is too smart for him and walks off with the jewels he had been proudly displaying.—Running time, 19 minutes.

Croon Crazy

(RKO Radio)

Fair

A fair cartoon, in which Cubby Bear, on the air, has to substitute for several performers who failed to arrive. He and the announcer go through various calisthenics in playing innumerable instruments at the same time, and the announcer approaches hysterics waiting for the clock to permit him to strike the gong at the end of the program. A fair number.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Static

(Educational)

Good

Tom Howard is definitely entertaining and amusing in this, with his disastrous experiences after the purchase of a radio store, in which the usable sets are conspicuous by their absence. When a feminine customer comes in, Howard's partner sings behind the set, but the woman's child discovers the ruse at home when they demonstrate. They finally get rid of the store, after a run-in with gangster "protectionists." It is a good comedy, with Howard the reason for it.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Just An Echo

(Paramount)

Fair

For those among the motion picture audience who have a fondness for Bing Crosby, of the radio and screen voice, this may be found reasonably effective as comedy with music. Rather unfortunately Mr. Crosby, in the role of a state trooper, is several times astride a horse. To say the least, he does not ride in a manner comparable to our better western stars. In fact, he is occasionally laughable. The music has its moments, however, and the comedy is at least fair.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Goofytone News Reel No. 4

(Universal)

Renegg Ambassador Is Good

There is a lot of fun in the idea of the Goofytones in burlesquing the newsreels, but there is also a danger of crossing the line into monotony by excessive footage and dialogue to a subject, as with the toupee demonstration, part of this issue. The Ambassador from Renegg, with his richly-brogued platitudes on world questions, is the highlight of the series.—Running time, 9 minutes.

The Curio Shop

(Columbia)

A Fair Cartoon

The animated Krazy Kat and his girl friend stop before a curio shop and when the serpent wound around a vase uncoils, the antics of the little Chinese boy and girl take the screen. The little suitor finally wins the girl away from the cruel mandarin father to end the subject with a return to the curio shop. An average cartoon.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Nervous Hands

(Vitaphone)

Fair Comedy

Ben Blue of the uncontrollable hands and large feet draws a few laughs in this comedy, close to the slapstick, in which he is pursued by an irate husband. Billy Halligan finds him hanging clothes on the aerial, then finds him, minus trousers, in his apartment with his wife. Blue is taken to the hospital by mistake as a lunatic and the surgeon is Halligan. His rush to escape ends in a throwing contest in the anesthetic room, with bottles of ether as ammunition. Rates as a fair comedy.—Running time, 20 minutes.

British Guiana

(MGM)

Interesting

A subject in the FitzPatrick travel series, this number presents an interesting word and photographic picture of the South American English possession, British Guiana, wherein peace reigns supreme and industry appears to be much of a watchword. The subject's highlight is the great falls of Guina, far surpassing in majesty and height the famed Niagara, and falling hundreds of feet into a rocky gorge. The scenery is fascinating. An interesting subject.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Picture Palace

(Vitaphone)

Good Dancing

When Hal LeRoy's dancing feet begin to twinkle one finds it hard to believe there is a man's poundage above them to be supported. Perhaps the best evidence of the picture's value is the impatience one feels at the background action that from time to time stills those dancing shoes. Dawn O'Day is LeRoy's partner in this Broadway Brevity.—Running time, 21 minutes.

We have ENLARGED and

The story and exploitation possibilities of "Legal Holiday" have grown so enormously with the development of the script that we simply cannot do justice to the picture and release it before next fall.

"LEGAL

Will be the First of Six Big Exploitation Specials.

EXPANDED our Program!

Every exhibitor's letter we received approved our policy of fewer and better pictures. They want big stories with "built-in" exploitation. Showmen the country over have encouraged us to enlarge and expand our plan for big pictures produced and sold individually.

"HOLIDAY"

Release beginning next September.

(Signed) J. D. WILLIAMS

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION

11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. Williams, Night Address
Edison Hotel, 47th Street, West of B'way

PETTIJOHN ATTACKS AGITATORS' MESSING

Says Professional Agitators Join Those Who Have "Muscled In," Screening Censorship Aims by Fire on Block Booking

Professional agitators, both within and without, who have "muscled in" on the motion picture, are falsely conveying to the public the idea that the socalled block booking "evil" offers no alternative to an exhibitor, but to show any and all types of pictures on his theatre screen, in the opinion of Charles Clyde Pettijohn, general counsel of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America and head of the Film Boards of Trade. Mr. Pettijohn told the New Haven Bar Association on Monday that not a single exhibitor has cancelled a Mae West feature, but, on the other hand, many pictures of other types remained unplayed or were cancelled extensively in every distribution territory in the country. Mr. Pettijohn spoke to the Connecticut lawyers at the Yale Law School in New Haven.

These professional agitators, he charged, are working behind a nationwide smoke-screen to hide their attempts to impose political censorship upon the industry, and this smoke-screen "is the alleged evil of block booking, a business practice passed upon by the courts, accepted with proper limitations in the industry code approved under the NRA—a method of distributing and selling pictures which has helped to maintain the price of screen entertainment at a universally popular scale."

Charges Collusion of Agitators

"Nevertheless," continued Mr. Pettijohn, "professional agitators without the remotest idea of the business needs or business practices of a highly organized industry—professional organizers of campaigns to discover 'scientifically' what's wrong with the movies—have joined hands with agitators who have muscled-in the business, to cry from the housetops that block booking blocks the lily white pictures which they say the public demands. It required the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars for salaries and fees, years of alleged psychological research, the study of emotional stresses of adolescent youth, galvanometers (not to mention hypnographs) sneaked under the beds of wayward children, study of heart-beats and decreased motility, the posing by investigators of such questions as these: 'Would you rather be a college professor than an actor?' to come to what conclusion? That what's really wrong with the motion picture industry is the method by which it distributes its product."

"The pity of it is," said Mr. Pettijohn, "that many splendid community groups have been led to believe by the reams of publicity spread by such agitators that what these groups call 'bad' pictures are forced upon the unwilling exhibitor through the practice of block-booking. These community groups have made clear that they are heart and soul behind such really fine pictures as 'Abraham Lincoln,' 'Cavalcade,' 'Alice in Wonderland,' 'Cradle Song,' 'Voltaire,' 'Alexander Hamilton,' 'Taming of the Shrew,' 'Berkeley Square,' 'Pilgrimage,' 'Evangeline,' 'Power and Glory' and 'Silver Cord.'

"What they have not been told is that these fine pictures are the very features most often cancelled under the cancellation privileges included in block-booking by the exhibitors who shout loudest against the alleged evils of this method of wholesaling pictures in block."

A survey conducted for the industry in the past week, Mr. Pettijohn revealed, showed not a single cancellation of a Mae West picture in the entire United States. On the other hand, many pictures listed in the previous group remained unplayed or were cancelled extensively in every distribution territory in the United States.

Not Over 20% of Sales

Mr. Pettijohn pointed out that not more than 20 per cent of the sales of any distributing company are made for its entire list of pictures.

He said: "A salesman sells all he can for as much as he can, and the theatre owner tries to pick what he considers only the best and pay as little as he can. A picture which proves a good box-office attraction reaches several times as many theatres in the United States as a less popular picture sold and distributed by the same sales organization. There is no difference between this manner of wholesaling pictures and the purchase of a club of magazines or a group of magazines from one salesman. The motives prompting such purchase in each instance are economy and convenience."

A Fallacious Assumption

"Those who advocate legislation against block-booking as a panacea which will automatically insure the exhibition of socially valuable pictures," he added, "are assuming that the local theatre manager would book only such pictures if he were selecting them one by one. The fact is, and it cannot be denied, the local theatre manager does select only those pictures which in his opinion would bring the greatest box-office return in proportion to their cost.

"The racketeers within the industry who feed upon selfish interest and litigation, agitate on subjects having to do with motion picture trade practices, have helped to build up misunderstanding and agitation outside of the industry because it is either profitable or they hope to make it profitable. Most of them do not have a single dollar invested in the industry. They are self-appointed leaders and their racket is for personal profit only.

"The motion picture industry cannot be helped by more governmental regulation or censorship. The best and most effective formula to follow is one of self-regulation. There is no denying that the trend of the screen and quality of production has increased to an amazing degree. The quality and type of motion picture production depends on public taste."

Titles of Remainder of Universal's 36 Announced

Carl Laemmle, Jr., leaving New York this week after studying Broadway plays, announced that the pictures starting with the March 3 release which will complete the 36 scheduled for the year will be these: "The Crosby Case," "Love Birds," "The Countess of Monte Cristo," "Let's Be Ritzy," "Glamour," "Little Man, What Now?", "I'll Tell the World," "Uncertain Lady," "The Black Cat," "I Give My Love," "Affairs of a Gentleman," "The Humbug," "Alias the Deacon," "Imitation of Life," Edmund Lowe in a play still being negotiated, "The Practical Joker," "The Human Side," "The Love Life of a Sailor" and "One Glamorous Night."

TRAVELERS . . .

JEANETTE MACDONALD arrived in New York from Hollywood after signing with MGM.
LEO CARROLL left New York to join Metro in Culver City.
PEGGY WOOD arrived in New York from London and left for the Coast to join Fox.
RAMON NOVARRO left New York for personal appearances at Washington.
CARL LAEMMLE, Universal president, arrived at Universal City from New York.
WILLIAM LINDERMAN, of RCA Victor, returned to Buenos Aires.
MARGARET SULLAVAN returned from New York to Universal City.
JAMES WHALE, Universal director, left New York for the Coast.
CARY GRANT and his bride, Virginia Cherrill, arrived in New York from Europe, en route to Hollywood to resume at Paramount.
BUDD ROGERS, Liberty Pictures' sales manager, was in the Midwest.
GRADWELL SEARS, Warners' southern sales executive, was in Atlanta.
CARL LESSERMAN, Warner sales official, left New York for the Midwest.
CLIFF EDWARDS arrived in New York from Hollywood.
ARTHUR LOEW and JOE VOGEL, executives of Loew-MGM, returned to New York from Far Eastern tour.
ANDRE CHALUS, Radio sales official in Europe, returned to Paris.
S. L. ROTHAFEL returned to New York from Florida.
JAMES R. GRAINGER, Universal sales head, left New York for West Indies.
J. H. HOFFBERG returned to New York from Cuba.
IRVING CAESAR, song writer, returned to New York from Fox Coast studio.
M. ACHARD arrived in New York from Paris, en route to Culver City to write dialogue for Metro.
GEORGE J. SCHAEFER, Paramount executive, left New York for Florida.
PETER COLLI, Warners' Cuban manager, arrived in New York.
JANET BEECHER left New York for the Coast to work for 20th Century.
RUBY KEELER arrived in New York to visit her husband, AL JOLSON.
PAUL MUNI, after two months abroad, returned to New York.
HARRY ROSENQUEST, assistant to NORMAN H. MORAY at Vitaphone, returned to New York from a trip into Canadian and Upstate New York territory.
ELMER C. RHODEN is vacationing in Florida.
HARRY C. ARTHUR returned to New York from a tour of the mid-West.

Announce Changes in Warner Theatres Staff

Ben Kalmenson, manager of the Warner exchange in Pittsburgh, has been appointed to the Warner theatre department in charge of booking and film buying. He succeeds Frank Damis, recently transferred to New Jersey as assistant zone manager. Charles Rich has succeeded Mr. Kalmenson in Pittsburgh.

Dick Hill, former assistant zone manager at Newark, has succeeded Cameron Dooley as district manager. Mr. Dooley becomes manager of the Fabian theatre.

Universal Signs Zeidman

B. F. Zeidman has signed again with Universal, whereby he will make four features this year. His former contract called for two, the last of which, "Glamour," he is completing. Vicki Baum's "I Give My Love" will be the first under the new arrangement.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

INDEPENDENT EXHIBITORS ENDORSE CODE. Members of the Independent Theatre Owners of Arkansas lined up for the camera of Harry E. Nichols, Herald field representative, while in convention at the Marion Hotel in Little Rock. The meeting went on record in favor of supporting the film code. The convention also marked the growth of the organization to 54 members.

FEMININE LEAD. (Above) The deep-dimpled Eileen Cook, Educational comedienne, who has the principle feminine role in Tom Howard's "The Big Meow."

REFLECTIONS (Left) Two deftly contrived glimpses of Kay Francis, as the Warner star rested during First National's "Mandalay."

BROADWAY OPENING. (Right) Estelle Taylor among celebrities present at premiere of United Artists' London Film production, "Catherine the Great," at the Astor theatre.

AT END OF RECORD TRIP. Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker at Newark airport after flight he directed across continent in 13 hours. He is shown with scroll carried, commemorating first year of 20th Century Pictures.

TO BE THE WIDOW. (Below) Jeanette MacDonald, who will portray the gay relic herself in MGM's "The Merry Widow." Maurice Chevalier co-stars.

MARRIED. Busby Berkeley, Warner dance director, and Merna Kennedy, player, posing as man and wife, which indeed they are following their marriage on February 10, which itself followed their work together on "Wonder Bar."

SPRING TIDINGS. Carried in this new hat, a 1934 Easter creation worn here by Una Merkel, now appearing on the nation's screens in MGM's "This Side of Heaven."

CO-STARRED. Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, opposite each other as they are in Columbia's "It Happened One Night," which is the current attraction at Radio City Music Hall.

BEHIND THE SCENES. Indicating what it takes beyond cinematography itself to make a motion picture these days. This imposing array of equipment with its technicians was being used, when the still camera clicked, to create spectacular lighting effects for a single scene of Warner Brothers' musical extravaganza, "Wonder Bar," which stars Al Jolson in one of his stage successes.

BRITAIN SEEKING OWN FILM CODE ON BUYER AND SELLER RELATIONS

Exhibitor Sees Danger in Possible Demand of Renter That His Share of the Proceeds Must Be Banked Separately

By BERNARD CHARMAN
London Correspondent

The British film industry is in search of a Code of its own—inspired, no doubt, by the NRA. But this one will not affect the producers; it is purely a matter for agreement between renters and exhibitors.

Its official title is the Standard Sound Contract, and is intended to represent the basis of all film hire. The existing draft, drawn up by the Kinematograph Renters Society (about as near an equivalent to the MPPDA as we have over here), has come up for criticism by the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association, which is at variance with a number of its principles. Certain of the criticism is harsh, other more moderate. I have heard it called "iniquitous."

Agree Standard Is Needed

But whatever individual opinion may be, there is more or less universal agreement that some such standard is needed. Relations between buyer and seller hitherto have been somewhat loosely defined, with the result that many an unwary exhibitor has found himself in an awkward position.

Under the Standard Contract, however, the showman will be able to decide for himself whether he is on a workable proposition or whether his best move would be to sell the whole show to the renter and get out of the business altogether.

It is good to know that, in spite of the difference of perspective between the KRS and the CEA, so far the parties have avoided anything in the nature of a rumpus. CEA has drawn up a list of the clauses to which it raises objection, complete with its arguments relating to each, and proposes approaching the renters with a view to submitting the proposed contract to independent arbitration.

The chief point on which the Association joins issue with the KRS is a clause reading as follows: "The renter's share of the receipts shall be deemed to belong to the renter, as the same are received at the pay boxes, and the renter may, if he thinks fit, appoint a money taker or money takers to collect the renter's said share as the same shall be received. The renter shall be entitled to take any reasonable steps to satisfy himself that all matters pertaining to the admission to the exhibitor's theatre are regularly conducted."

Exhibitors See Pitfalls

Arguments from the exhibitor's standpoint are that the renter could demand that his share of the takings should be banked separately, and that failure to do so by the exhibitor might involve him in serious risk; that if the principle were admitted, creditors who are secure in priority to ordinary traders would object to losing their priority and might institute similar conditions; that the right of the renter to send an agent to pick up the renter's share at the box office as the patron hands it through is unreasonable; that if the exhibitor suffered a trading loss the renter might be in a position to sue him for misappropriation.

The CEA objects to another clause which demands that the exhibitor must produce vouchers for all recognized disbursements which he is entitled to deduct from the renter's share of the takings.

They disagree with a proposal that prior runs may be at any number of theatres and for any number of days. It has been the established practice in the trade for a number of years that prior runs may take place at only one theatre and for not more than six days, unless any variation were disclosed at the time of making the contract.

Disagree on Substitutes

A further divergence of view is on a condition which prohibits an exhibitor from obtaining alternative program material in the event of his scrapping the picture for which he had contracted, even when he pays for the film not used.

And there are other points.

Opinion has been divided at branch meetings of the CEA, but while it is conceded that a standard contract is a necessity, it is generally felt that the proposed draft is weighted heavily on the side of the renter.

If that is so, united action by the exhibitors can insure a more reasonable interpretation of their rights.

On the other hand, as far as matters now stand, the renter is justified in standing out for the best conditions he can get. He has his point of view, naturally. The renter is legitimately entitled to safeguard himself against any who endeavor to take liberties.

It is by no means certain that a literal interpretation of the standard contract would be called for in most cases, but it would be a disturbing thought for any exhibitor that the screw could be applied at any moment.

That is the principle of the thing that is the most worrying to the exhibitor.

▽

Seeking U. S. Players

BIP have issued a list of Hollywood players for whom they have been in negotiation. It is interesting reading.

Among those who may work at Elstree in the near future are such well known screen personalities as: Charles Farrell, Joel McCrea, Carole Lombard, James Dunn, Marion Nixon, Joan Bennett. Fay Wray, Bette Davis, Nancy Carroll and Frances Dee. In addition, Marion Marsh and David Manners have been signed lately, each to appear in one British subject.

Among Hollywood stars who already have appeared in British International films are: Bebe Daniels, Sally Eilers, Thelma Todd. Charles Bickford, Constance Cummings, Ben Lyon, Greta Nissen, Raquel Torres, Sally Blane, Don Alvarado, Victor Varconi.

▽

CEA is in dispute with a London trade paper, declaring it has participated in moves inimical to the exhibitor; a boycott is being promoted. . . . Greta Nissen broadcast over the BBC system in an American radio hour. . . . Proposal by a member of Parliament to impose an ad valorem duty on incoming films was quickly negatived by the Chancellor of the Exchequer. . . . GB have tried out special film shows for blind audiences; natural dialogue and sound effects accompanied by a commentary on the action; the experiment is said to have been a success. . . . "Sorrell and Son," was hailed as a great picture after a London preview, H. B. Warner turning in a great performance in B & D's talkie version of the famous silent film.

▽

No Suffering for Animals

A bill is to be introduced into Parliament calling for prohibition of films in the production of which suffering is or may have been caused to animals, or any film depicting the suffering of animals which is brought about by any means whatsoever (by natural or artificial means or by faking).

Is this a reaction to the successful release of "King Kong?"

▽

These Gaumont-British folk are getting themselves interested in a diversity of activities. Following recent consolidation of their renter interests, the company now announces formation of new units to handle (a) trailers, (b) publicity and advertising reels, (c) educational films.

They will do this through new companies, titled G.B. Screen Services, Ltd., and G.B. Instructional, Ltd. At the head of G. B. Screen Services will be Mark Ostrer and C. M. Woolf, and G.B. Instructional will be governed by Maurice Ostrer. Thus the group gets a grip on all branches of the business.

It is understood that the G.B. theme song is soon likely to be: "I Cover the Wardourfront."

▽

Expected fireworks failed to pop at the B & D meeting, when stockholders met to discuss proposed reorganization of the company's finances, entailing writing off 75 per cent of the capital.

Under the plan capital will stand at about £75,000, but a new issue is to be floated and existing share basis readjusted, making capital of £500,000, divided into two million shares of five shillings a go.

Hubert T. Marsh, the chairman, was not present, as he is recuperating from a breakdown, but his speech was read for him. He stressed the fact that British films must be made primarily for the British market, and only secondly for overseas.

MEXICO'S PATRONS LED BY U. S. FILM PRESS

Foreign film exhibitors in Mexico City have found that American pictures which draw best in their houses are those that are given the most publicity in United States motion picture fan and trade journals. Mexican exhibitors in the Mexican capital agree with them. American picture periodicals are avidly read by all Mexicans interested in motion pictures and they in turn exert a great influence upon Mexicans who like the cinemas but don't understand English.

British International Is Seeking U. S. Players; Bill Would Bar Films Showing Suffering by Animals; B & D Finance Plan

GOVERNMENT INTERVENES TO BAR FILM HOSTILITIES IN AUSTRALIA

Business Man Is Named to Investigate Every Phase of the Business When Theatre Building Project Is Announced

By CLIFF HOLT
Sydney Correspondent

Hostilities in what threatened to be the most bitter film dispute ever waged in Australia were abruptly interrupted by the intervention of the New South Wales Government. Forced to action by a fortnight of propaganda that shrieked from the news pages of the metroplitan dailies, the Government called a halt and appointed an investigator to study every phase of the business.

The investigator appointed is one C. W. Marks, Sydney business man and a director of several companies. Marks has conducted a number of inquiries for the Government, and recently was the chairman and consumers' representative on the meat industry advisory council. Having but a scant knowledge of the film industry, he comes to the inquiry with an open mind and must draw his conclusions purely from the evidence placed before him.

The story behind the "film war"—as the newspapers have termed it—is new only in some respects. A few weeks ago three distributing organizations—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount and Warner-First National—circularized exhibitors to the effect that they would not sell film to independents through agencies or pools, unless those agencies or pools had a substantial interest in the independent house for which they were buying.

This was a direct hit at General Theatres Corporation, Hoyts Theatres, Ltd., and the theatres represented in the Union group. It had been the practice of these circuits to buy on behalf of a number of independents and smaller circuits at the beginning of each season, both for the welfare of the independent and in order to increase their buying power to a point where it might be a leverage toward lower rentals.

It was this factor which partly enabled General Theatres Corporation and its affiliated companies to get the better of the tussle with the distributors at the beginning of 1933. The distributors, evidently, were determined that they were not to have that advantage again. But in answer to the distributors' dictum in respect to the selling of independents through agencies or pools, a special meeting of exhibitors allied with Hoyts was held in Melbourne, and practically every member present resolved to stick by Hoyts during the coming twelve months. In other words, unless an exchange sold to them through Hoyts, they weren't interested in that exchange's product.

N. B. Freeman, MGM's managing director here caused a sensation by announcing that his company was preparing plans to erect three new theatres—one in Sydney, one in Melbourne, and another in Brisbane. The reason for this investment, he said, was that the combination of circuits existing in Australia had the market tied up, and he was unable to obtain an outlet for his product at reasonable terms. To this, Hoyts replied with evidence to show that they wished to block no distributor, but that they refused to function as a beneficiary to foreign distributors, and neither would nor could pay such terms as 50 per cent of the gross receipts from the first pound sterling for "Dinner At Eight," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. And so the argument went on—until the Government asked for silence, and appointed Mr. Marks to go into the whole matter.

> "Words do not express the value of your publication, and it is with extreme pleasure that we are able to renew our subscription again."—JAMES O'CONNELL, McDonald Theatre, Eugene, Ore.

Both Sides Gratified

By this time, both sides expressed gratification that the Government had intervened, though some declared that a state inquiry was a waste of time, and that a royal commission was the only expedient. They were wrong. A royal commission would have become a federal matter, and as it was found after the royal commission of 1927-8, the federal government has no film powers apart from those exercised over tariffs and censorship.

The states share practically complete jurisdiction over the motion picture industry, and in the past have resolutely refused to cede this jurisdiction to the Commonwealth. Accordingly, no matter what recommendations the royal commission might have made, they could not have been put into effect, and a considerable amount of the taxpayers' money would have been thrown in the air.

Would Have Repercussions

With a state inquiry, the position is entirely different. As New South Wales is the hub of the industry of the whole of Australia, any legislation affecting Sydney and the companies operating there must have its repercussions in other states. And the important point is that the inquiry is not limited to residents of New South Wales but to every person or company conducting his business in New South Wales, whether he resides in Victoria, South Australia, Westralia, Tasmania or New Zealand.

While the main issue of the inquiry as far as the distributors and General Theatres Corporation is concerned is the restriction of theatre licenses, a vast range of subjects is to be covered by the inquiry, as a perusal of the agenda shows:

(a) Any undesirable features associated with the Film Industry in New South Wales;
(b) The advantages and disadvantages of the quota system;
(c) The advantages and disadvantages of block booking;
(d) The advantages and disadvantages of "blind" booking;
(e) The contract in use by film distributors;
(f) Whether the exhibitor should be entitled to reject a percentage of films in every contract;
(g) The requirements in Sydney or elsewhere in the State of New South Wales for further picture theatres;
(h) Whether licenses for any further picture theatres in New South Wales should be restricted to British subjects;
(i) The contractual relations between exhibitors and the proprietors of sound equipment with regard to the use of sound equipment.

Three Large Distributors Have Threatened to Cease Selling to Independents Through Pools But Exhibitors Stand Pat

General Theatres Corporation is plainly anxious that no new theatres should be built. The Australian cities became heavily overseated four or five years ago, it is claimed on the corporation's behalf, when keen competition between the then rival circuits, Hoyts and Union Theatres, resulted in the erection of expensive and ultra-modern theatres for which there was no real need.

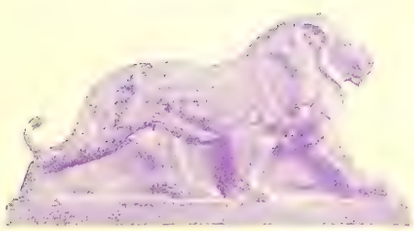
Nevertheless, David N. Martin, a well-known executive of Universal's Australian office for many years, has leased the Rialto theatre, Sydney, which up till now has been operated by Hoyts, and announces his intention of proceeding with plans to build a New Liberty theatre in Sydney, along ambitious lines. A company styled Liberty Theatres, Ltd., is in process of formation to put this purpose into effect. With those two theatres operating in competition with General Theatres Corporation, in addition to the proposed MGM house, the theatre situation here will become alive with possibilities, though one may wonder where the patronage is coming from to keep them all in business.

Schenck, Mayer on Bank Board

Joseph M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer have been retained as directors of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association in San Francisco. The board was cut from 50 to 25. A. P. Giannini remains as board chairman and Dr. A. H. Giannini as chairman of the general executive committee.

Sigmund Weltner Dead

Sigmund Weltner, 72, father of George Weltner, assistant to John W. Hicks, vice president of Paramount International, died last week in New York of a fractured skull, following a fall on the ice. He was a friend of Adolph Zukor.



SOON

Norma SHEARER

To every exhibitor in the world . . . to every patron who patiently waits and wonders. Magic words . . . SOON NORMA SHEARER in "RIP TIDE." Magic, because all the months of waiting intensify the thrill of the glorious attraction she has just completed. Sinners in silks are the chosen rich of her romantic story . . . their lives, loves, heart-aches . . . their drama pulsating across continents and oceans . . . Manhattan, St. Moritz, the Riviera, London . . . and Norma Shearer exceeding the beauty and allure of her "Divorcee" and "Strangers May Kiss" fame! Proudly M-G-M brings back to your theatre the First Lady of The Screen!

Produced by THALBERG

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Chesterfield

RAINBOW OVER BROADWAY: Joan Marsh, Frank Albertson—Fair patronage. The play was good and it had a fair cast. The weather was cold here or we would have done better. Joan Marsh was the one who put over this play. She had the vim that people liked. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Jan. 23-24.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell, Dorothy Wilson—A nice airplane picture showing the danger of cameramen and their risks. Had several comments which showed it pleased. Three days showing held up extra good.—M. D. Uterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

CIRCUS QUEEN MURDER, THE: Greta Nissen, Adolphe Menjou, Donald Cook—Exciting murder drama recommended for Friday-Saturday playdate. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

DANGEROUS CROSSROADS: "Chic" Sale—Excellent railroad story for Saturday patronage. Good for children and grownups. Clean. Played Feb. 3.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

FIGHTING CODE, THE: Buck Jones—A good action picture for Saturday. Played Jan. 27.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

HOLD THE PRESS: Tim McCoy, Shirley Grey—As nice a picture as one could want. Clean as a whistle, plenty of action and one that you can stand behind. Didn't do any business on it, but it wasn't the picture's fault as we couldn't sell a five-ring circus for ten cents here at the present. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 10.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: Rex—You can step on this one. A thriller from start to finish. Pleased our western fans and others that saw it. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 1-2.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—This is supposed to be one of Columbia's masterpieces, but what a flop of a story. Acting good. That's all I can say for this one. Pleased about 40 per cent. Running time, 75 minutes. Played an. 29-30.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MY WOMAN: Helen Twelvetrees, Wallace Ford, Victory Jory—A real nice picture with a radio background that seemed to please 100 per cent. Helen Twelvetrees has always gone over here in this town, and she has wonderful support in the two male stars. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Jan. 14.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Fay Wray, Walter Connolly, Ralph Bellamy—Another picture of the hospital type, but a very good picture and holds interest well. Played Feb. 3-4-5.—Claud Thorpe, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

POLICE CAR 17: Tim McCoy—A story of the modern radio patrol and there is plenty of thrilling action in this picture. One of the best police pictures I have ever seen. Pleased our western fans and all that saw it. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Jan. 5-6.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

STRAIGHTAWAY: Tim McCoy—This is the kind of play that makes a hit. Action from start to finish. We had bad weather but made a good run in spite of it. People like plays like this. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Jan. 30-31.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

STRAIGHTAWAY: Tim McCoy—One of the best automobile racing pictures of all time. Plenty of real speed. Will please. Played Feb. 2-3.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt, Genevieve Tobin, George E. Stone—Good Friday-Saturday picture. A good story and some action. George E. Stone stands out in this picture for his work as the human equation for good. He is a nice actor in his Jewish part and the audience liked him very much. He supplied what comedy there was in the picture.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

First National

BIG SHAKEDOWN, THE: Charles Farrell, Bette Davis—From some unknown reason this picture pulled like a house on fire. Best business on Wednesday and Thursday of any picture this winter. A gangster picture in a way but no one got their throat cut and only one man killed. It seemed to give satisfaction. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 6-7.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—What a picture. The best yet from Joe. It's just one long scream of laughter. A money maker for every exhibitor, large and small. Get it quick and tell the people you have the best comedy of the year. Played Feb. 2-3.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—A very good picture and has good drawing power. Played Jan. 20-21.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—Extra good for your Bargain Night. A picture that appeals to everybody. Running time, seven reels. Played Jan. 31-Feb. 1.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Dorothy Coonan, Frankie Darro—Very fine picture and pleased all that saw it.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—A good picture. No business, but a jam up good picture and will please well. Played Jan. 27-28-29.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—In my opinion the finest picture put out in some years. True, it did not draw well. But put that to the title. Titles have more to do with drawing power than even the stars, as far as I can see.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

Fox

AS HUSBANDS GO: Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson—Good entertainment. Little slow in places; recording not so good in spots. Our patrons liked it and told me so. Played Feb. 1-2.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

CONGORILLA: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson—Excellent for educational value. Played on family night to good attendance. Patrons seemed to enjoy it. A wonderful picture of its kind. Played Feb. 7.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN WEST: George O'Brien—George O'Brien westerns are always good. This one was no exception. Played Jan. 24.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Better picture than expected to better than average business. Not a Sunday school picture but had no kicks.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien—Zane Grey stories are what put such pictures as these on top. None of them have failed to do excellent business and what's more, they please. I don't believe it makes any difference as to who stars in his stories. It's Zane Grey's name which really means something. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Jan. 26-27.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

MAD GAME: Spencer Tracy—Gangster stuff with the new "kidnap racket" twist. Be sure the folks know what the "mad game" is and if the kidnaping will get you the rental, then okay. We ran on Saturday instead of usual western, and serial helped hold up the gross, but personally, for the family trade, I believe that kidnaping isn't a screen subject. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 3.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey—Play "My Weakness" first. "My Lips Betray" is too Viennese, but it's good, and El Brendel and John Boles will help put it over. Did better second night with basketball opposition even, but Harvey isn't well known as yet. Running time, 80 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Received more favorable comments after showing this one than any other picture that we have shown in weeks. Janet Gaynor pleases them all. Played Feb. 3-4.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

STATE FAIR: Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor—Was very disappointed. Expected big business and they failed to come out. Picture okay and satisfied the few that ventured out. That's something. Played Jan. 27-28.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

MGM

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—An excellent program with two of the screen's outstanding stars contributing very good performances. Did below average business. Running time, 79 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—This picture will do for the whole family. When the patrons come out, they'll tell you it was good, if they know anything about pictures, which, of course, you already knew or you wouldn't be there when they came out. Played Feb. 2.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Madge Evans, Una Merkel, Mae Robson, Alice Brady—We ran this picture on the weekend and I was agreeably surprised to hear the favorable comments from the regular Thursday-Friday crowd. They praised it plenty and pulled us out of a deep hole Saturday night. Even our western fans liked it enough to say so as they left the theatre. Played Jan. 25.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—A good picture. Moves rapidly; all people well cast and do great work. You don't have to be afraid of this one. Played Feb. 4-5.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—Great audience picture. Good story, splendid acting, good sound and photography, and good business. This is what they want right now. Play it as soon as possible, and make yourself some money. Lavish sets and beautiful girls. I wish they had given our old friend Winnie Lightner a break. She is one of the best stars in Hollywood, and gets more laughs per minute than all the rest put together. They didn't give her much of a part, but she surely had them laughing every time she appeared. Clark Gable redeemed himself in this, and the ladies all fell in love with him once more. Joan don't wear many clothes, but with a shape like she has, she don't have to wear 'em. Take it from me, this is a good show. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Jean Harlow, Billie Burke—Failed to draw as well as expected. A little better than average business, however. Picture pleased.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: Jean Harlow, Marie Dressler, John and Lionel Barrymore—The best socalled special MGM has put out for many moons. All players have prominent parts and they handle it as you would expect them to. It is not as great as MGM would have you think, but it's excellent entertainment. Played Jan. 28-29.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—This picture backs up all

Metro has claimed for it. It's big in every way and gave complete satisfaction. A fine picture for a tie-up with the schools. For me it failed to do the business expected, but no fault of the picture. The picture is educational, and at the same time has a very good story. Get back of it and you will make yourself some real money. Running time, 12 reels. Played Jan. 28-29.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery—Another one of MGM's outstanding pictures of the past season and an excellent one at that. Interesting besides being educational. Did very good business and it pleased the majority. Running time, 105 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—Perfect picture in every respect—cast, photography, etc., the only drawback being the rather too dramatic and unduly depressing story.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery—One of the poorest pictures this year. Just a line-up of wasted talent. Business fair. Running time, 91 minutes. Played Feb. 4-6.—Aylce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Myrna Loy, Warner Baxter—Promise them most satisfactory entertainment when they see "Penthouse." It's fine. Will please all classes, and any day of week.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—Here is a real picture. Caused plenty of talk. Business built up on the run. It pleased the women.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Cargenie, Okla. Small town patronage.

REUNION IN VIENNA: John Barrymore—Not as bad as some exhibitors have reported it to be, but why oh why must some misguided director insert a shirt-tail parade? I can conceive of no picture, be it drama, comedy drama or tragedy, where such scenes are necessary. I'd be willing to bet half of my entire wealth (a car load of thousand dollar bills) that not one patron out of a thousand wants them, then why, why, why? Or was the director looking out of the window?—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—Patrons enjoyed this picture better than any one I have shown all winter. It drew fine and everyone pleased. Class this as the best from these two stars. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 4-5.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan, Russell Hardie, Franchot Tone—A nice picture for any situation. Played Jan. 20.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Nils Asther, Kay Francis—This is a good dramatic romance. It is a war story, but that is very subordinate. It is the usual love triangle and with a good music score that practically put the picture over. It will hold interest from the beginning to end and should please the average theatregoer. We played this one day to a good business, as Kay Francis has a great box-office appeal in our town. Running time, 82 minutes. Played February 9.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins—A good picture which is especially good for a small town. Clean and very entertaining. Lionel Barrymore again gives an excellent performance. Did average business and it seemed to please very well. Running time, 89 minutes. Played Jan. 23-24.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—One good picture with the one star who always draws, Marie Dressler, and another of the screen's outstanding, Wallace Beery. It seemed to please 100 per cent. Running time, 88 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Great. Marie always goes with bang. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Jan. 27-28.—H. M. Johnson, Unique Theatre, Bricelyn, Minn. Small town-rural patronage.

WHITE SISTER, THE: Helen Hayes, Clark Gable—One of the best pictures of the past year and two stars who have very outstanding drawing power at the box-office. A beautiful and tragic picture. Did very good business and despite the unhappy ending it seemed to please at least 90 per cent. Running time, 101 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

Monogram

BROKEN DREAMS: Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper—A very nice show with several comments on it and no kicks. I advertised it. Not the biggest cast in the world and it didn't cost a million dollars to make but I told them "I guarantee you'll like it or will refund your money." And no one asked for their money back. Played Jan. 28-29-30.—M. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

FOUR MORE JOIN REPORTING CORPS

From the West and the Northwest come four new contributors to "What the Picture Did for Me" this week. Read the reports of the following:

E. D. Luna, Cozy theatre, Wagoner, Okla.; J. B. Shearer, New State theatre, Huron, S. D.; E. M. Johnson, Unique theatre, Bricelyn, Minn., and M. D. Utterback, of the Lyric at Wellington, Kan.

RIDERS OF DESTINY: John Wayne—Good average western with plenty of action, thrills and laughs. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Jan. 12-13.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI, THE: Mary Carlisle, Buster Crabbe—The snappiest bunch of youngsters grouped in a picture in a long time and this is the usual college life story done as well as any of them, and will prove fair entertainment for young patrons. Less than average business four days.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Not so hot, although several came to see it twice, and most folks came to see it out of curiosity. Some said it was good and other said ???.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—This play was all right for the kids but our adult trade did not like it. This play was acted just like we thought it would be. We don't want any more like this for 50 years. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Jan. 27-28.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—As adult entertainment this picture is a complete failure. For children it's a box-office natural. Think I had just about every child in town to see it. One kid rushed up to the window and said, "I've got the measles but I'm going to see it if it kills me."—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—Boy, oh boy, what a headache. They walked out in bunches. I hid out. Don't know if there was anyone left at the end of the second show or not. Ran it one day and was I glad.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—This is only fair entertainment of the comedy variety. Paramount calls it a super special, but in our town it was a "super-flop." The entire picture is entirely too sloppy, and our patrons were all displeased. The independents can do better than this. Business poor. Running time, 80 minutes. Played February 5-6.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE: Fredric March, Cary Grant, Jack Oakie—Against war propaganda but most interesting and entertaining. Fredric March does the best acting in the picture and the climax when he renounces war is to my notion the best work individually in the movies for 1933. Business better than average last half of week.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Douglass Montgomery, Dorothy Wilson—This was a good play but they named it wrong. The title failed to impress the public and that is important. The acting throughout the play was wonderful. The old story of a good girl gone bad. Show-going folks want to see shows that make them laff, not cry. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Feb. 3-4.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Dorothy Wilson—Paramount slipped me a nice little picture here. Fine acting by the whole cast and story very interesting. Good for your best playing dates. Running time, eight reels. Played Jan. 30-31.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

FAREWELL TO ARMS: Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper, Adolphe Menjou—Helen Hayes, Gary Cooper, Adolphe Menjou are wonderful. I wish they would balk at all stories that lead up to babies being born. The public is fed up on baby stuff in pictures. I hope the censors will force it cut out, the sooner the better for the picture business. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Feb. 7-8.—J. M. Ensor, Crescent Theatre, Little Rock, Ark. General patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Marguerite Churchill, Charles Farrell—Very good comedy that made the house roar. Farrell, Churchill and Charles Ruggles good. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 5-6.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Marguerite Churchill—Just another picture. Charles Ruggles is the whole show. Played Feb. 1.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Genevieve Tobin—This is one of the best pictures Paramount has made this season. Nothing big about it, but a very good program picture, and will please any patrons that see it. It is fundamentally a farm story, combined with the familiar grain market, and should appeal to everyone. It has a sweet love story that is very entertaining. Good, clean amusement for the whole family. Business good. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 7.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Roland Young, Lillian Gish—This play pleased some of our patrons and others said it was poor. Now Roland Young goes over big here so that is the reason some people liked the play. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 6-7.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—She's elegant. Thought this picture was good and Mae West draws the sugar to the box-office. This is dandy entertainment and our patrons had a good time, although a few wouldn't admit it. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Jan. 1-2.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West, Cary Grant—Boy, this is a wonderful play. Paramount found a jewel among jewels when they found Mae West. Did an extra good business and am sure that any theatre that runs this play will do the same. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Jan. 20-21.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Cooper, Addison Richards, Lila Lee—Paramount committed an error as far as the box-office was concerned in putting Cooper's name at the head of the cast. While he is a good actor for a kid, with him heading the cast the adults evidently thought that it was just another kid picture. They had Addison Richards, who can ride and rope with the best of them—that is, if he really did the stuff—and he is very good in his role. Then again, there is too much sob stuff for a western. Of course they had to have Jackie tear the hearts out of the people. Paramount is trying to bring this boy along too fast. He is not yet ready to head a cast and expect to get business from the adult patronage.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN: Dorothea Wieck, Baby Le Roy—Very, very good. Starts a little slow, but builds up all the time with a wonderful climax. I notice most of the advertising gives the cast as Dorothea Wieck and Baby Le Roy, but Alice Brady steals the show. Miss Brady and the boy Spanky do some great work, and should be billed above Miss Wieck. For some unknown reason Miss Wieck is given this part, and speaks badly broken English. I call this good entertainment and the picture will please most everywhere. Played Feb. 2-3.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MURDERS IN THE ZOO: Charles Ruggles, Lionel Atwill—Opened on Sunday with this one against "Mr. Skitch" and had the biggest Sunday business in three months. The picture deals with wild animals and science in an interesting and entertaining manner.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—A good picture well liked. You cannot afford not to run it. We are trying to get it again. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Feb. 4-6.—J. M. Ensor, Crescent Theatre, Little Rock, Ark. General patronage.

SIGN OF THE CROSS: Fredric March, Elissa Landi, Claudette Colbert, Charles Laughton—This is a fine Biblical picture but is horrifying. You have to have good nerves to stay with this one, but the good book tells us these things happened. We had a few patrons that had to leave. This is another outstanding Cecil B. DeMille production. Running time, 102 minutes. Played Jan. 8-9.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—A riot. One of the best comedies I ever played. Just one long continued round of laughter. All six of these actors are good, and it's hard to tell who to give the honors to. By all means play it, and advertise it big. Some of the most comical situations ever put into pictures. The dialogue is spicy and the picture is not without thrills. The scene where Mary Boland falls over the embankment into the Grand Canyon and is hanging on a limb of a tree with two thousand feet of canyon below just leaves you weak. The picture has more laughs than the old Harold Lloyd "Safety Last." It's real box-office, too. Paramount could do no better than to cast these six in a few more pictures. It's just what we all need right now.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen, Harry Green—This picture will please 100 per BUCK LASSOS MAN-EATER!

In his great picture "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Frank Buck gave spell-bound audiences their first sight of the jungle at war with itself, with its thrilling fights and survival of the strongest. In "Wild Cargo," his latest adventure, he now shows the jungle at war with Man. Not the war of guns and cruelty but the battle of wits between Man and his cunning antagonists. There are thrills aplenty in this new film and wildly exciting surprises, such as the time when Buck had to saw off the tree limb on which a black panther perched and another time when after trapping a tiger found that he had to descend into the pit and lasso the man-eater. Nature, it seems, conspired to save her biggest thrills for

FRANK BUCK'S "WILD CARGO"

Van Beuren Production . . . . . RKO Radio Picture

Directed by Armand Denis

COMING SOON!

The above graphic drawing is one of a series of scenes from "Wild Cargo", sketched from an actual "frame" of the film by the famous artist J. Clinton Shepherd. There's no time for "stills" in a world full of thrills!

cent. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Jan. 25-27.—Bob Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields—What a surprise we got. This is really a good comedy. Good clean fun. Nothing big, but good. Pleased our patrons. Played Jan. 17-18.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—A very pleasing feature. Plenty of good old belly laughs. Can always get a buzz out of the old juggler.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Bing, supported by Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and Judith Allen, succeeded in making of this a very enjoyable performance. Not quite as elaborate as "Gold Diggers" or "Footlight Parade," but a good one, nevertheless. The patrons seemed to enjoy it. The box-office had no sob story to tell. Of course, Paramount didn't exactly give this to me, but the net was large enough to buy me a couple of cigars. As I don't smoke, you can easily see that I saved a little. Played Feb. 4-5.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Not as good as "College Humor" but had very good business on this one and pleased most everyone. Got a little above average business. Running time, nine reels. Played Jan. 21-22-23.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

Principal

TARZAN THE FEARLESS: Buster Crabbe—Started serial on January 4th on a run of three days as it opens with the first four episodes. I played another feature with it. "The Iron Master." These two features together make a very fine opening. We played to an SRO crowd on all three days. Our Mickey Mouse Club has increased one-third. This serial not only interests the child, but our adult patrons gave an increase of over 25 per cent. This is one serial that brings them in and keeps them coming and don't bend in the middle as most serials do. If you never have run a serial, get this one and make yourself some extra money. I wish it was 20 chapters instead of 12. I am now on my eighth chapter and waited until I was almost through before I sent in a report as I figured it wouldn't stand up, but it's a money-getter and if you pass it up you are just passing up one of the best serials and box office attractions you ever ran. Don't be afraid to spend a little extra on advertising as it will come back on your run.—J. B. Shearer, New State Theatre, Huron, S. D. General patronage.

RKO

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN: Charles Farrell, Wynne Gibson—To me this was a very ordinary picture, but our patrons seemed to like it, as it did satisfactory business, and far be it from me to complain of any picture that will do this. Weather conditions, too, were unfavorable, cold with snow on the ground. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 5-6.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong and Ralph Bellamy—This is double bill stuff. Its length, 60 minutes, is a relief. We used it on "Cash Night." Too many so-so pictures like this from RKO. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 7.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HOORAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—Wheeler and Woolsey are too silly for my women trade but the men like them. Yet this picture presents plenty of chance to tie up with beauty shops and drug stores, and maybe the women folks will go. Wheeler and Woolsey and the Marx Brothers have about hit bottom although "Hips, Hips, Hooray!" is pretty good entertainment. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—This one sure brings out the people. If you want to make some money, play it. Pleased the women and children, and most of the men. One of the cleanest pictures I have ever seen. Running time, 114 minutes. Played Feb. 2-5.—Bob Schwall, State Theatre, Ipswich, S.D. Small town patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness—A nice, clean picture, well done throughout and carrying a real moral. Such pictures build business. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 10.—E. E. Warner, Opera House, Augusta, Wis. Small town and rural patronage.

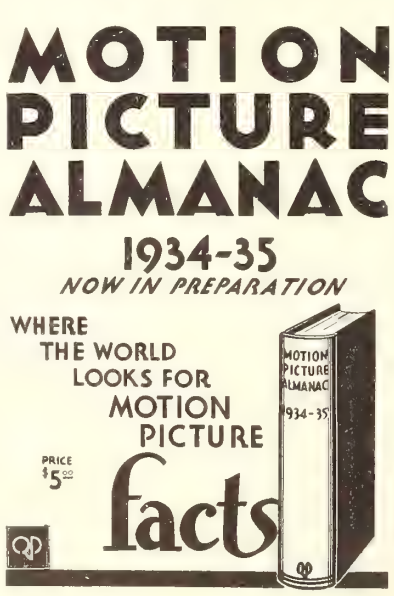
MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot—A very ordinary program picture. Business better than expected. Played Jan. 20-21.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Not a motion picture but a photographed stage play with excellent performance by K. Hepburn. Motion picture audiences want motion pictures. This is why this one did not please and did very little business. Personally I thought it fine, but the box office said not. To D. Fairbanks, Jr., should go the laurels for the best motion picture performance. His work as such was fine. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Jan. 31-Feb. 1.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—Better than the usual Richard Dix pictures, but did only fair business. One night is about all it can stand. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Jan. 16-17.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Lionel is a decided favorite here with all classes and both sexes and he did not disappoint us this time. No star, with the possible exception of Marie Dressler, can take you right into his problems to such an extent that you almost feel as if they were your own too. We merely have to state that Lionel is the star or featured player and the title could just as well be "Who Killed Billy Patterson?" That's the way we feel about him here. I don't know what they pay him, but it's not too much. No, I've never seen him personally, never expect to have the pleasure of meeting him, that's my hard luck. But here's to Lionel Barrymore. May he live long and prosper. Played Jan. 1-2.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Rain on the first night cut receipts down. Otherwise, business would have been satisfactory, for this is a good picture. A pity it did not have more comedy relief and some said too many hospital scenes. Yet it is good entertainment because of the fine performance of entire cast. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Jan. 22-23.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.



RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—Ginger is a comer and her work in "Sitting Pretty" two weeks previous helped the draw on this one. It's not big by any means but it will get by nicely with the younger element, especially with plenty of good shorts. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 1-2.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

SON OF THE BORDER: Tom Keene—Good. Keene always means fine entertainment. Running time, 55 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

United Artists

CYNARA: Ronald Colman—Prominent barrister—wife goes to Italy for a spell—barrister picks up shop girl and does her wrong—wife returns—shop girl takes poison and dies, due to loss of her barrister. Inquest judge gives barrister hell for ruining shop girl—wife quits barrister and the fadeout shows wife having a change of heart, joining husband for balance of life. Took a lot of smart thinking to construct this intricate plot, and how we all loved it—not!—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY VIII, THE: Charles Laughton. Strictly a class picture. Not for the small towns. No doubt it's a great show from a historical standpoint. Costumes and makeup wonderful. Produced on a big scale, and for highclass audience okay, but like "Cavalcade," it will die in the small towns. Where does the trade press get the idea that this belongs in the class with the ten best? I would like every small town exhibitor to report on this and similar pictures as to how they got over. This column is for the exhibitor's benefit, and more should report both for the good of producer and exhibitor. Tell the truth, and don't knock the picture if it's good just because it does not always make money. The recording on "The Private Life of Henry VIII" is very bad, and the English cast are hard to understand. England is still far behind in recording, and as for me and my patrons, we like 100 per cent good old U. S. A. films. Played Feb. 7-8.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

Universal

BY CANDLELIGHT: Elissa Landi, Nils Asther, Paul Lukas—This is a clever comedy but it is a class picture, if there is such a thing. We have a mixed clientele but they accepted it as good entertainment. Just a little hard to follow the picture if they did not see the start. Better Sunday-Monday picture for us than any other spot. Landi is good in her role in this one. The cleverest direction that we have seen in some time. Everything clicked at the right time.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore—Just a fair picture. Did not draw. Very weak story. Entire picture filmed in the offices of Barrymore. We expected this picture to be a good one from the advance publicity but were disappointed. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Jan. 15-16.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels—Very good. It is highly dramatic and it was very well liked. Barrymore and Bebe Daniels are good in this one but the same organization took us to town with "Myrt and Marge" last week, so their batting average is not so good. It is the mistakes that they make that cost in the long run. You can't show them one or two outstanding pictures and three or four mediocre and get any place in this day of shopping for entertainment.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres—Here is something different, but guess there is a cycle of these on the way also. Fast moving, lots of action, a unique plot, a murder and what have you. It is better than average entertainment, but best in mid-week or Friday or Saturday. Played Feb. 6-7-8.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Just as the name implies. One long horselaugh all the way through. Seemed to please our patrons. Business below average, probably due to weather. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Jan. 24-25.—H. M. Johnson, Unique Theatre, Bricelyn, Minn. Small town-rural patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris—This will be classed as one of the better pictures of the year. Pleased all. Running time, eight reels. Played Feb. 12-13.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

MYRT AND MARGE: Myrtle Dale, Donna Damerell—I thought this was a very weak picture and so did our patrons. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 3-4.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MYRT AND MARGE: Myrtle Dale, Donna Damerell—Well, well, I had this one canceled off my contract. After seeing so many reports from exhibs in the Herald about it doing additional business, I set it on a Friday and Saturday. Friday was the best Friday gross in three months, and Saturday matinee best in nearly six months and Saturday eve held strong. It gets them in, but I still say the picture is poor. However, it will make you money if you sell them Myrt and Marge. It is too bad when a person does extra business these times that the picture doesn't satisfy them. Played Feb. 8-10.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

RUSTLER'S ROUNDUP: Tom Mix—Good western with some nice rodeo shots. Played Feb. 9-10.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—Excellent football romance. Seemed to please the majority. Sound reproduction very good. Played Jan. 31.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—Just another football story, same angle, poor cast. Fair business. Played Feb. 4-6.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams—A good football picture of the gangster type. Something new in football. Played Jan. 26-27.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Gloria Stuart, Onslow Stevens, Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas—The best murder mystery we have shown in many a day and you don't know who the murderer is until the very end. Pleased all that saw it. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Jan. 10-11.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque, Gibson Gowland—A wonderful picture. Universal seems to have the product this year. Running time, seven reels.

PYTHON CAPTURES BUCK!

The "man bites dog" story of newspaper tradition gets a new twist in the jungle when a 30-foot python attacks and captures Frank Buck, wrapping the man who brings 'em back alive in his death-dealing coils. Emergencies like this, however, are all in the day's work for this daring adventurer whose occupation is at once the most hazardous and fascinating of any man alive, for it seems that regardless of how many men penetrate the unknown world Nature saves her biggest thrills for Frank Buck.

The above drawing is one of a series by the famous artist J. Clinton Shepherd, sketched from an actual "frame" in the film "Wild Cargo" There's no time for "stills" in a world full of thrills!

FRANK BUCK'S "WILD CARGO"

Van Beuren Production . . . . . RKO Radio Picture

Directed by Armand Denis

COMING SOON!

Played Feb. 5-6.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod LaRocque, Gibson Gowland—It pleased as a whole, although there were one or two walkouts. Secure the recommendation of the teachers when playing this one because of the wonderful scenes of icebergs, glaciers and Eskimos. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Jan. 20-21.—H. M. Johnson, Unique Theatre, Bricelyn, Minn. Small town-rural patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard—Good. Way above the average westerns and what a horse fight. Have never seen anything like it. The Strawberry Roan and Pinto fight like two mad bulldogs. It's a thriller. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Dec. 29-30.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

Warner

BIG STAMPEDE, THE: John Wayne—A very good western that pleased well. This picture ran into stormy weather, snow on Friday very cold Saturday, otherwise I think business would have been satisfactory. Running time, 53 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—Not much to this one. Failed to gross average business. Don't see why they don't give Miss Stanwyck a good story. Think she is a wonderful actress but never gets a break. Running time, eight reels. Played Feb. 11-12.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Dick Powell, Joan Blondell—If you are looking for a deep, deep plot or heavy drama, lay off. But if you enjoy the relaxation of real entertainment, take this one on. The patrons won't scold you, the boxoffice will not disappoint you. What more do you want? Played Jan. 14-15.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: Joan Blondell, James Cagney, Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—Went over big and a wonderful production. The first eight reels rather tiresome but the last three reels make up for it. Beat "Gold Diggers of 1933" by a small margin. Running time, 11 reels. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

FROM HEADQUARTERS: George Brent, Margaret Lindsay—This is very good entertainment of the mystery type, and should please all that come to see it. Practically the entire picture is filmed at police headquarters, solving a murder case. It is interesting and full of action and thrills from start to finish. The Warner trailer sold the show in advance for us and practically put the picture over. Business good on one day's run. Running time, 63 minutes. Played February 8.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MARY STEVENS, M.D.: Kay Francis—Story strictly for sophisticates. Slow story of two doctors (Kay Francis and Lyle Talbot) who love, have a baby, but do not marry. Running time, 72 minutes.—E. E. Warner, Opera House, Augusta, Wis. Small town and rural patronage.

PARACHUTE JUMPER: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Good entertainment, thrilling air stunts. Comedy running through entire picture helped to make it entertaining. Give us more comedy in our program pictures and business will improve. Did fair business the first night. Ran into heavy snowstorm second night. This cut receipts, otherwise think business would have been satisfactory. Have had bad and very cold weather for a long run. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 7-8.—Mrs. R. D. Carter, Fairfax Theatre, Kilmarnock, Va. Town and country patronage.

PICTURE SNATCHER: James Cagney—A very good picture with plenty of action and a guy who can put it over. Did average business and a very suitable picture for Friday and Saturday. Dialogue very good. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Jan. 19-20.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BILL POSTER, THE: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Good enough for any spot in any program. Good music accompaniment. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS CAN'T BE WRONG: Smith and Dale—Just another two-reel comedy, not good, not bad. A great deal of hokum about banking. This is only fair entertainment and if you must play it, one day will be enough. Brought a few laughs from our audience, especially the bankers. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOLD YOUR TEMPER: Leon Errol—Errol is a good comedian and his comedies are well liked by our patrons. This one is above the average in entertainment. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

ONLY WAY TO GET RELIABLE VALUES

The following is from S. H. Rich, that Idaho old potato, who has been a faithful and consistent reporter to this department:

"I wonder why more exhibitors do not write for 'What the Picture Did for Me.' It's the only way we can find out in a reliable way the value of a picture. Some of the boys say that they are afraid, that if they report the big picture, the exchange gives them a raise next season, and if they knock the picture the exchange may sell the opposition. My opinion is that we should report in an honest way just what the picture did.

"Surely a distributor will not be small enough to paralyze an exhibitor for telling him what the public thinks of his pictures. Let's hear from more of you fellows out in the sticks, as well as from big towns or cities.

"Glad to see J. C. Jenkins' column back again. Here's wishing you good health, Jaysee."—S. H. RICH, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho.

MICKEY'S TOUCHDOWN: Mickey McGuire—Very, very good. But "Hot Daze," same producer, was a knockout, with the writer on the receiving end. In short we didn't like it. No one did.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

MICKEY'S TOUCHDOWN: Mickey McGuire—This is a dandy comedy with Mickey and his Gang. Running time, 18 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

ROAMIN' THROUGH THE ROSES: Art Jarrett—A good musical comedy. Running time, 18 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

SCREEN SNAPSHOTS (No. 1): An interesting snapshot of former stars in action. Really enjoyable. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford Ark. Small town patronage.

UM-PA: Jack Osterman—Poor. The second reel could get by if it wasn't for the first with Osterman running around yelling "Um-Pa." Even the kids booed it. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

Educational

BIG SQUEAL, THE: Andy Clyde—This one sure was poor. No laughs at all.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

for Owners and Managers

Motion Picture Theatre Accounting

Tells all the facts about your business each week — receipts, film costs, advertising, depreciation, taxes, insurance, etc.

Lasts a full year and you do not need to be a bookkeeper to use it.

A complete, concise aid to profits at the cost of a blank book.

$3.00 QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N. Y.

BLUE BLACKBIRDS: Moran and Mack—A very good mystery comedy which adults and children alike enjoy. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

DAY DREAMS: Treasure Chest—The "Treasure Chests" are sometimes good, sometimes bad. This one is all about a little girl's dream of Santa's coming, and bored most people to death. Should be run only on kid program or near Christmas. No talking—just trick photography with fair musical score. Running time, 11 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

TIED FOR LIFE: Harry Langdon—This one was very well received.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

MGM

CRACKED ICEMAN: Charley Chase—Not up to his standard.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrisson, Ark. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE: Musical Revues—A very satisfactory colortone musical that was spoiled by some bird trying to imitate Ed Wynn and Jimmy Durante. I can't understand any director thinking this fellow funny, and the majority of my patrons seemed to feel the same way. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

ME AND MY PAL: Laurel and Hardy—Seemed to be well enjoyed. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

MENU: Oddities—Very good, all because Pat Smith knows his duck in color. Pat tells the housewife how to cook a duck. Housewife, Una Merkel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER COMEDIES: We seldom see a two-reel comedy from MGM that is not real entertainment. I would place this company at the head of the class in this line.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

SOILERS, THE: Zasu Pitts and Thelma Todd—These two always make good comedies and usually please my patrons. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TOWED IN A HOLE: Laurel and Hardy—A good comedy with these two up with their usual situations. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TWIN SCREWS: All-Star Series—Not much. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Paramount

COLD TURKEY: Fair slapstick comedy. Running time 18 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

DUCKY DEAR: Sidney Toler—One of the unfunniest comedies I ever screened. Some producers think that slapstick means a dish busting contest.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

JUST AN ECHO: Bing Crosby—Not bad. Nothing to rave about. Two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

OLD BUGLER, THE: "Chic" Sale—This is a pretty good comedy. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (No. 2): A good single reeler. I believe it a good idea when exhibs make reports on these Pictorials or Universal's Mentones or any short made in series, it would be a good idea to give number so the others will know which one of the series is meant.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

SHE WRONGED HIM RIGHT: Betty Boop Cartoons—Fair—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SING, BABIES, SING: Baby Rose Marie—Excellent. Both singing and cartoon above par.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SOCK-A-BYE, BABY: Popeye the Sailor—Another Popeye cartoon and do they get business. A short that draws and pleases.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

Principal

SEA KILLERS: An adventure of deep sea diving and catching of large fish. Good for sport fishermen but had several walkouts. However, had a school tieup and special matinee for school children which helped.—M. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

RKO

ART IN THE RAW: Edgar Kennedy—One of the worst comedies I have had the pleasure of showing. It is beyond my knowledge what it was all about.

RAGING RHINO RUNS RIOT!

The rarest of animals and most dangerous when aroused is the armor-plated Indian Rhino. Only two are known to captivity, both females. Frank Buck had an order to bring back alive a male. Months of search were finally rewarded with a noble specimen, five tons of ferocity, armored like a war tank. Plans were laid for his capture. Fifty natives manned the steel-wire net. Suddenly the Rhino turned and charged directly at Buck! Had he sensed this man among the many was his enemy come to rob him of his lush jungle? Once! Twice! He charged! Death on the prong of that single brute horn! A moment's pause and Buck beckoned the boys to fall behind in a half circle, then he stationed himself, a living target for the thunderous charge. Nature always saves her biggest thrills for him and you'll see them all in

FRANK BUCK'S "WILD CARGO"

Van Beuren Production . . . . . RKO Radio Picture

Directed by Armand Denis

COMING SOON!

There's no time for "stills" in a world of thrills, so this drawing, one of a series of scenes from "Wild Cargo", was sketched from an actual "frame" of the film by the famous artist J. Clinton Shepherd.

WHAT THE REPORTS DID FOR REYNOLDS

Here's what the exhibitors reporting to "What the Picture Did for Me" did for E. A. Reynolds of the Strand theatre at Princeton, Minn.:

"I had this one ["Myrt and Marge"] canceled off my contract. After seeing so many reports from exhibs in the HERALD about it doing additional business, I set it on Friday and Saturday. Friday was the best Friday gross in three months, and Saturday matinee the best in nearly six months, and Saturday eve held strong."

Running time, 18 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark and McCullough—They don't come any worse than this one and we have seen some bad ones in our experience. But this caps all that we have run for being just no good.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark and McCullough—No good for our town. Played on Friday and Saturday and had several say they didn't like it. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

United Artists

LULLABY LAND: Silly Symphonies—Better than the "Three Little Pigs" in every way. Coloring was beautiful. Had many favorable comments on it.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

OLD KING COLE: Silly Symphonies—This is another good cartoon all in colors, and it pleased all of our patrons. Not as good as some of this series but I think that the color put it over. Here's hoping we will get more pictures and shorts in color. Running time, 8 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TRADER MICKEY: Mickey Mouse—Extra good cartoon in black and white. Running time, eight minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

Universal

ALL AT SEA: Mentone No. 2—Not as good as previous Mentone Musicals but better than the average two-reel comedy anyway. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

BIG CASINO, THE: Mentone No. 4—Fair. Not so hot.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

CANDY HOUSE, THE: Oswald Cartoons—This cartoon is okay. Piano in background is real good. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

CONFIDENCE: Oswald Cartoons—This is a knockout. Plenty good. Running time, eight minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

FIVE AND DIME: Oswald Cartoons—This is a very fine short. Best we've had recently. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

STUNG AGAIN: Louise Fazenda—Two couples on a camping trip. Give quite a few laughs. This comedy will go better this spring and summer. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

CRASHING THE GATE: Ruth Etting—This is very weak. Ruth Etting good but the lawyer ruined this one. Running time, 18 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

DOUBLE-CROSSING OF COLUMBUS, THE: Broadway Brevities—Very good. Has a heap of laughs with some fine songs and dance numbers.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

EDDIE DUCHIN AND BAND: Melody Masters—This is one of the best one-reel musicals that has been produced in many years. With Eddie Duchin and his band furnishing the music and Sylvia Froos singing and the skating trio doing a specialty, it is wonderful. Play it and be satisfied. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HERE COMES FLOSSIE: Ben Blue—A slapstick comedy that gets some good laughs. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

MERRY MELODIES: About the best one-reeler in the market. They are real entertainment plus.—Peter Bylsma, Victory Theatre, Napoleonville, La. Small town patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Broadway Brevities—Very good but not as good as some of the other ones we have played. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

SKY SYMPHONY: Broadway Brevities — These musical comedies always please my patrons and they are all very good. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

TURKEY IN THE RAW: Gus Shy—This is only a fair two-reel comedy from Vitaphone of the Big V comedies. Entirely too much hokum and only a few of our patrons laughed. Here's hoping this series will get better as the season goes on. Vitaphone should do better than this. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WAY OF ALL FRESHMAN, THE: Hal Le Roy, Mitzi Mayfair—This is an outstanding musical comedy. Lots of pretty girls and plenty good dancing. Running time, 18 minutes.—Hammond Green, Princess Theatre, Albertville, Ala. Small town patronage.

Serials

Mascot

WHISPERING SHADOW: Bela Lugosi—I don't believe they had a director in this one. If so he died of disappointment after the first chapter. It's terrific. Running time, 18 minutes per episode.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Universal

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones—Just finished showing episode two. So far it looks okay. Sound excellent.—Marion F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy—This serial has held up the best of any serial we have played. It is a very good serial and if your patrons like Buck Jones don't fail to play it. We play our serial on Wednesday and Thursday, our Bargain Nights, and find it holds our attendance well. Running time, two reels each chapter.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

With Sperry Company

J. J. Ferretti, former eastern representative of the United States Air Conditioning Corporation, is now associated with the Kooler-Aire division of the Sperry Products Company, as sales manager in charge of theatres.

Issue Supplies Catalog

A new catalog on brushes and other supplies, designed for theatre managers and lobby artists, and for use in the preparation of advertising matter, has been issued by the Dick Blick Company, Galesburg, Ill.

Changes at Fox Studio

William Crawford, former legal and story adviser for Fox on the Coast, has resigned. Edward Butcher, studio manager, has been named assistant to Winfield Sheehan. Charles Woolstenhulme, Fox unit manager and assistant director, succeeds Mr. Butcher.

Brunner at Rivoli

Frank E. Brunner, who has been handling publicity in connection with the recent personal appearances of Mary Pickford, has joined the Rivoli theatre on Broadway in charge of publicity, succeeding J. H. McFarland.

Gartner with Paramount

Charles L. Gartner has been named publicity manager in the foreign field for Paramount. Albert Deane continues as director of advertising and publicity for Paramount International Corporation.

SIGNED . . .

All Star Productions

Walter Kingsford, Lilyan Tashman and group of Chester Hale girls engaged for "Frankie and Johnny." . . .

▽

Columbia

Ethel Hill and Adele Buffington, scenarists, and Donald Cook, player, awarded contracts . . . Walter Connolly added to "Whom the Gods Destroy." . . .

▽

Educational

Bob Hope engaged for a two reel comedy. . . . Junior Coghlan and Shirley Temple assigned leads in "Managed Money," Charles Lamont directing. . . .

▽

Fox

Werner Richard Heymen preparing songs for "Gypsy Melody" (Spanish) . . . Henry Stephenson signed for "All Men Are Enemies" . . . Lila Lee cast for "Fox Follies" . . .

▽

MGM

Lupe Velez loaned to RKO for feminine leading role in "Strictly Dynamite" . . . Ted Healy and Stooges, Jimmy Durante, Elizabeth Allan, Frank Morgan and Marie Dressler awarded new contracts . . .

▽

Monogram

Ed Lowry, Verna Hillie, John Sheehan and Brandon Hurst added to "The Curse of Kali," William Nigh directing . . .

▽

Paramount

Marion Gering to direct Mary Boland and Lanny Ross in "Her Master's Voice" (B. P. Schulberg) . . . Bing Crosby given lead in "She Loves Me Not," with Dorothy Dell and Larry "Buster" Crabbe . . .

▽

Principal

Frank Melford engaged to act as production manager for "Peck's Bad Boy." . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Sterling Holloway joins "Strictly Dynamite" . . . Leslie Howard and Bette Davis given leads in "Of Human Bondage" . . .

▽

Tower

Judith Allen, John Mack Brown, Bert Roach and Gladys Blake sign for "Marrying Widows."

▽

United Artists

George Arliss assigned to "Head of the Family" (20th Century) . . . Guinn "Big Boy" Williams in "Palooka" (Reliance) . . . Charles Butterworth engaged for "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" (20th Century) . . .

▽

Universal

Wynne Gibson chosen for "I Give My Love" . . . Lee Tracy to star in "I'll Tell the World" . . . Edward Everett Horton and Genevieve Tobin cast for "Bachelor Wife" . . .

▽

Warner-First National

Edward G. Robinson to star in "Dark Tower" . . . Victor Jory joins "Without Honor" . . . Mary Astor to be heroine of "The Return of the Terror" . .

The LITTLE RED HEN

Another
P. A. POWERS

ComiColor CARTOON
IN CINECOLOR

Produced by
UB IWERKS

In Gorgeous Colorings

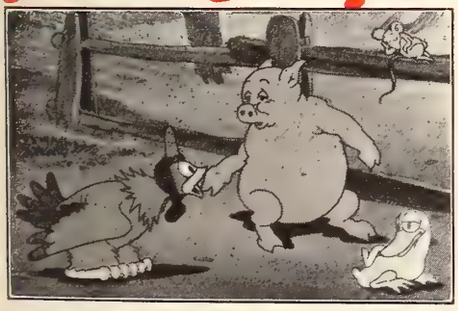
With a CAPTIVATING Theme Melody



Says the Hen:
"WHO WILL HELP ME SOW MY WHEAT?"

REFRAIN

Says the Pig:
"NOT I, – I'M MUCH TOO FAT"

Says the Duck:
"NOT I – MY FEET ARE FLAT"

Says the Mouse:
"NOT I – GO ASK THE CAT."

The World Famous Fairy Tale
Known and Loved by Countless Millions

REPORTS From Exhibitors Playing "Jack and the Beanstalk" SAY:

"Jack and the Beanstalk" tops anything on the market — splendid for children and even better, if possible, for grown-ups.

MILTON OVERMAN
Westland Theatres
Greeley, Colo.

"It's a Wiz — Comments from patrons 100%—They are sending their children back to see it over again."

CHARLES DECKER
Mesa Theatre
Grand Junction, Colo.

COMICOLOR CARTOONS ARE GREAT

DAY and NIGHT HEADLINE ATTRACTION

An irresistible magnet for Juveniles
A piece de resistance for Grown-up!

Coming! "THE BRAVE TIN SOLDIER"
Another Famous Fantasy
With a Splendid Theme Song

Territorially Distributed by

CELEBRITY PRODUCTIONS

723 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK CITY Cable Address "CELEBRITY"

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

"Every day in every way we are getting better and better." We hope this is true, not only personally, but in all lines of business.

We gather from reports from here, there and all around, especially from theatremen, that business is on the upgrade and we are slowly, but surely working back to normal. We don't know whether this is permanent or temporary, but anyhow when we are hungry one good feed helps a whole lot even though we go hungry the balance of the time.

▽

We can remember away back when we got our first pair of long pants and high-topped boots and took a girl home from spelling-school for the first time and we got the notion in our gourd that we stood a little bit higher, and were a little bit better, than any other young sapling in the universe. We intimated this to a neighbor boy who was of a different opinion and he proceeded to take this all out of us, since which time we have concluded that one man is just about as good as another as long as he keeps on his side of the road. Our opinion has generally been that if you didn't live under the Stars and Stripes you were out in the cold with no mother to guide you. But recently we received a letter from a friend in London, England, a friend we hadn't known personally, which has changed our notion altogether, and now we believe that there are as good people living under the Union Jack as there are under the Stars and Stripes. And why shouldn't there be, we are all brothers, although living under separate governments.

This letter comes from Mr. W. G. Faulkner, publisher of Weekly Review, Daily Reports, Special Reports, The Film Digest, Film News Agency, Publicity Service and Advertising Service, all having to do with the motion picture industry. He is also film editor of the Evening News of London. Among a lot of other nice things he says, "It may cheer you to know that your Colyum has always been a source of much enjoyment to me, not because of the great humor in which it abounds, but because I see in it a great human kindness, a tolerance of the weaknesses of human nature, and a great warm hearted good will to everybody. You have sown well and truly. May you reap in abundance the harvest you have sown."

There, how's that, coming from a stranger away off in London? Does that make a man's head swell up? Well, you tell 'em. They will have to make our hats especially for us now. He says a lot of other nice things about us which we haven't room to repeat here, but we are truly thankful to Mr. Faulkner for his nice letter and it will be an incentive to us to urge us on to better things. We thank you, Mr. Faulkner, and we wish for you all the good things of life.

▽

Lettuce vs. Mallards?

We are told that Harold Dunn of the Jewell theatre at Valentine, Nebraska, has been put on a strict diet of lettuce and fruit. We'll bet you that his wife had something to do with this. We hope there is nothing seriously wrong with him and that he will soon be back on a regular feed of mallards, grouse and bass, with which the country abounds, and for which he has had a wonderful appetite. Harold is a good friend of ours and we hope he stops making goo goo eyes at those Sioux squaws and keeping the Indian nation in a turmoil all the while.

▽

A man confined to the house is not in the best condition to write interesting stuff. So if you want this Colyum edited you better get busy and send us some letters with news of conditions as you find them, good, bad or indifferent. What might appear to you as unimportant might be interesting to others. Looking at the ceiling and wallpaper is not conducive to journalistic thought. Have you got writer's cramp?

▽

From away up at Whitney, Nebraska, comes a nice letter from our esteemed friend, H. J. Hetrick, who until recently operated the theatre there. He writes us that he is now without a political party. He says that two years ago the Republicans closed his theatre and that a year ago the Democrats closed his bank. Well, that's tough. We are sorry to learn this, but listen brother. If both parties don't combine to close the streets and all roads to your town you will be in great luck. You want to remember that this is a "free country" where the people don't have anything to say about it.

▽

Road Maps to Reno

Out in the movie colony at Hollywood everybody is supplied with road maps showing the best route to Reno. There is nothing that builds prestige like a mutual divorce, a change of pasture, as it were.

▽

F. K. Haskell of the Northwest News Service of Portland, Oregon, writes us that our good friend, "Chic" Sale, is soon to appear on one of Portland's stages in person. Portland has something to look forward to. When "Chic" comes everything else stops. We had our picture taken with "Chic" and visited him at his home a couple of times when we were in Hollywood a couple of years ago, and we know him to be a mighty swell fellow. We hope Mr. Haskell gives him our best regards and we thank Mr. Haskell for his nice letter.

▽

This is February 17th, as this is being written, and the anniversary of our birth comes on the 28th of this month, and Mr. E. B. Conant of the Charkarohen theatre, at Lincoln, New Hampshire, sends us a very nice birthday greeting for which we are thankful and for which we extend to Mr. Conant our best wishes. This proves that everybody, no matter his condition, has a friend somewhere.

▽

It has been stated that one person out of every four in this country is on the government payroll. We don't know that this is true; we doubt it, but if it is, we will promise you that that guy won't get any sowbelly and beans from us until after we have been filled up.

▽

Nebraska for Mild Weather

Out here in Nebraska the mercury has been chasing itself from 28 to 60 above all winter with the exception of a short spell when it went to 4 below zero. The boys have been playing golf about all winter and there is, and has been, no snow to more than whiten the ground this season. We call that a record, although that kind of winter weather is quite common here. This is very much different from the reports we hear from back east. Back there in some places it is said that they have had the most severe winter known.

▽

Joe E. Brown in "A Sailor's Son" played the Moone theatre here recently. We are told that the picture gave excellent satisfaction. We wouldn't expect it to do otherwise with Joe in it. If they will just give Joe something to do, he'll do it. This is said to be one of his best comedies.

▽

We have had 'em give April Shower a bath, scrub her up good, give her a simonizing and a coat of wax, had her wheels painted a dark green with a silver stripe and now she looks like a roast turkey to a hungry tramp. Should we be able to go out with her in the spring you can hear the girls say "Ah" and the boys will take their hats off when they see us coming. That's the kind of a combination we will be, and it takes that kind of a combination to properly represent the HERALD. Further than that the balance of this will be up to Ernie, for this is as far as we are able to go at this time.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

INCOME TAX DAY
NO TIME TO BANQUET

Academy Awards Banquet was first scheduled for March 15th, date for payment of the first installment of the 1934 Federal Income Tax, that is, up to 12 P. M.

Banquet date has now been shifted to March 16th, a day later.

Cleveland Variety Club is Organized

A Cleveland Variety Club was organized recently by John Harris, James G. Balmer and J. T. McGreevey of the national Variety Club at a meeting in the Hotel Statler.

Officers elected to the new group were: J. E. Fontaine, president; H. M. Addison, first vice-president; F. D. Drew, second vice-president; I. J. Schmertz, secretary; M. B. Horwitz, treasurer. Directors named were George Roberts, Nat Holt, Nat Wolf, E. C. Flanigon, Harry Howlett and Fred Meyers.

Guild Cooperation Seen An Aid to Coast Academy

Cooperation of the Screen Actors' Guild is expected to help in the rejuvenation of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on the Coast, which producers have declared they will support. Kenneth Thomson's recent visit to Eddie Cantor, president of the Guild, in New York, is believed to have been concerned with the situation, though Mr. Cantor refused to discuss Mr. Thomson's visit.

Bachmann Closes Office

J. G. Bachmann, who returned to the Coast last week to recover from illness, has closed the New York office of Preferred Pictures for six to eight weeks. When he returns to New York he will select a sales manager to handle the 12 planned productions.

Heads Junior Actors' Guild

Lee Phelps has been elected president of the Junior Actors' Guild on the Coast. Other officers are: Tom O'Grady, Margaret Morgan, first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Joe Novak, secretary; Eddie Baker, treasurer.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

B. N. Judell, Inc., in a deal closed this week again becomes the Majestic franchise holder in the Chicago territory. Majestic offices and equipment were moved into the Judell headquarters on the sixth floor at 845 South Wabash. Mike Kahn, who has been the Majestic branch manager, joins the Judell organization in charge of Majestic product. Through the move Mr. Judell acquires nine feature productions, two three-reel subjects and one one-reel picture with the remainder of the Majestic product as it is released. Judell announced that he shortly will seek larger quarters to accommodate his expansion program. In addition to Max Mazur, sales manager, and Mike Kahn, the Judell local sales staff now includes William Weinshanker, Maurice Hellman, Clyde Elliott and Charles Lindau.

▽

Abe Blumstein, Columbia short subject sales manager, who was seriously ill with bronchial pneumonia, is reported on the road to recovery, although it will be several weeks before he will be able to assume his duties again.

Henry Herbel, Universal branch manager, left for a vacation in Florida last week.

▽

Fred Sliter, formerly with Metro, has joined the local Fox branch in the sales department.

▽

A regional sales meeting of Universal branch managers last week at the Drake hotel brought together E. T. Gomersall, western division sales manager; George Levine, Milwaukee; Frank Mantake, Minneapolis; Manny Gottlieb, Detroit; Floyd Brown, Indianapolis, and Henry Herbel, Chicago.

▽

Bill Gehring, Fox branch manager at Cincinnati, has been transferred to the local branch as sales manager and is due to arrive here March 1.

▽

Morrie Salkin is reopening the Franklin theatre on Thirty-first street.

▽

R. H. Goold has opened the NIRA theatre at Pontiac, Ill.

▽

Cresson Smith, western sales manager, and Walter Branson, district manager, presided at a meeting of RKO Middlewest managers at the Drake hotel Monday and Tuesday.

HOLQUIST

Universal's Kansas City Managers Hear Gomersall

Universal will deliver its full program of 36 features promised for this year, it was announced by E. T. Gomersall, western division manager, at a meeting of district and branch managers at Kansas City early this week. The meeting was called to discuss the rest of the program for this season.

Among those present at the session were: W. J. Heinemann, west coast division manager; Harry Graham, southwest division manager, and the following branch managers: William Benjamin, Kansas City; Louis Patz, Des Moines; J. J. Spandau, Omaha; J. E. Garrison, St. Louis; R. I. Payne, Oklahoma City; Edward S. Olsmith, Dallas, and E. E. Gruenberg, Sioux Falls.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of February 17

ASTOR
Life of Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky ..... FitzPatrick

CRITERION
Feeding the Angels..... Jewel
Treacherous Waters..... Jewel

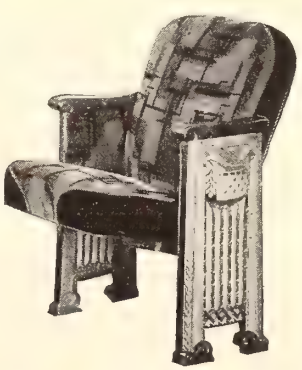
MAYFAIR
Washington ..... Beverly Hills
Vaudeville on Parade..... Universal
Pie for Two..... Universal

PARAMOUNT
Up and Down..... Paramount
Flying Bodies..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
Expectant Father..... Educational
Candy House..... Universal
Roaming the Netherlands.. Fox

RIALTO
Just an Echo..... Paramount
Let's You and Him Fight... Paramount
Flying Bodies..... Paramount

RIVOLI
Cracked Iceman..... MGM
Gem of the Sea..... Fox



ROXY
Trimmed in Fur..... Educational County Fair..... Universal
Fairest Eden..... Capital

STRAND
Come to Dinner..... Vitaphone
Phil Spitalny and Orchestra. Vitaphone
Mushrooms ..... Vitaphone

WOULD YOU BUY A CAR THAT HAD NO SPRINGS ?

● If your seats are hard, lumpy, and uncomfortable, you've just about as much chance of getting and holding patronage as a manufacturer who turns out a springless car. Get the jump on your competition by reseating with comfortable, upholstered chairs.

Ask Us,
"How can I reseat and pay for new chairs conveniently?"

American Seating Company

Makers of Dependable Seating for Theatres and Auditoriums
General Offices: Grand Rapids, Michigan BRANCHES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 212.—(A) Just what optical elements has a projection lens? (B) Why are the two front lenses cemented together and what is used to cement them? (C) Is it possible that the cement used between the two front lenses may melt and run out? (D) What would you do if it did? (E) Is it possible to correct screen image distortion due to angular projection by specially ground lenses? Explain.

Answer to Question No. 206

Bluebook School Question No. 206 was: (A) In ordering projection lenses, what data would you consider it necessary to supply? (B) Approximately what percentage of light is lost through reflection from or at each polished glass surface the light passes through? (C) What effect has an unclean lens surface on reflection losses? (D) What effect has angle of incidence upon reflection losses?

We have a goodly list of passable answers, also some that are excellent. (Answer of Evans and Rau to Question 204 has been found and is correct. Also a delayed answer by D. Calladine to Question 205 is correct.) The following made good on Question 206:

G. E. Doe; C. Rau and S. Evans; H. Edwards; D. Danielson; T. Van Vaulkenburg; H. Menefee; J. Wentworth; R. De Totto; B. S. Englander; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; P. Gaeth, Jr.; P. Felt; J. J. Richmond; D. Caladine; J. Arntson; C. B. and L. N. Traxler; A. F. Sprafke; J. G. Paulson; W. Broadbent; K. Griener; L. R. Spooner and G. Johnson; F. Sims and O. L. Davis; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; H. R. Baldwin; T. T. Golley; S. N. Tailer; P. H. Cupero; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; J. J. Richmond; R. and K. Wells; T. M. Vinson; B. J. Lyons and G. R. Squires; U. L. Danielson; D. D. Davis and L. Thomas; T. Turk; T. Malleby, J. Williams and O. Alibright; J. L. and F. Hanson; D. L. Sinklow; F. Ferguson and D. Lally; K. L. Hess; B. R. Walker; F. L. Benton and A. L. Dodson; R. S. Fiedler, D. Sanders, J. Turner and L. Condon; Nic Granby; F. G. Klar, L. Klar and T. H. Morton; R. Schuler and M. R. Davidson; F. L. Sanderson; D. U. Granger; J. Hendershot; B. L. Cooper; D. Jurts and D. Howard; J. Turner and C. Haugan; D. Singleton and M. Henderson; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; L. D. Rubin; B. H. Sanders, J. Jansen, D. L. Lode and K. Y. Spencer; R. Geddings and L. Grant; G. Thompson; L. G. Gregeson; F. Harlor and G. Harrison; L. Jones and B. L. Banning; G. Lathrope and N. L. Tomlinson; L. M. Richards; K. L. Knight and M. Henderson; T. Granger and T. Wythe; F. L Granby; J. Lansing and R. D. Oberleigh; B. R. Hanson; F. H. and P. Dalbey; L. B. and D. H. Palmer; M. U. Sampson; M. F. Fallon; D. Breaston and D. Haber; L. R. Doty.

On Section A, we will "listen" to the excellent answer of J. J. Richmond. He says: "In ordering projection lenses, the following data is necessary:

"1. The throw or distance from the projector aperture to the screen. If the projectors are much above the level of the screen, measure the throw from the aperture to a point midway between the top and bottom of the screen.

"2. The exact desired width of the picture.

"3. The exact width of the projector aperture. This is necessary because the use of the 'standard' aperture is not yet universal.

"4. The diameter you desire in your lenses, at the same time remembering that any diameter greater than that actually needed to carry the image-bearing beam is a very undesirable feature. The diameter of a lens is limited by two factors: (1) The inability of manufacturers to make a lens having a diameter greater than one-half of the focal length; (2) the width of the master blade of the rotating shutter.

"5. The make of projector.

"6. The type of lens jackets wanted.

"Any additional data such as extreme angles of projection, either laterally or vertical, and type of light source should be included."

(B) Dale Danielson says "The reflection loss for a clean polished surface varies with the angle of incidence and the refractive index. However, the variation from zero degree to 30 degrees is very slight, and as these are usually close to the extremes of angles encountered in projection, the angle loss may be taken as constant. It will average approximately four to five per cent per surface, the difference being due to the refractive index difference or optical density variation. The percentage of loss usually decreases slightly for each successive surface transversed."

(C) G. E. Doe says: "Since dust or dirt is either opaque or semi-opaque, it follows that an added amount of light will either be reflected or be absorbed by dust or dirt on a lens surface, the amount of loss being of course in proportion to the amount of dirt and its character. The Bluebook, page 141, volume 1, mentions 15 percent added loss, with possibility of even more through the use of soiled lens surfaces. This, however, might be very largely exceeded if the lens surface be quite well covered with dust, or the coating that polished surfaces get from the air."

(D) T. VanVaulkenburg says, "Reflection losses increase rapidly as the angle of incidence is increased."

In addition to which, I append the answer of J. G. Paulson of Ventura, Calif., as a most excellent example of covering various subjects well with relatively few words. I sincerely trust Brother Paulson will remain with us indefinitely. He says:

"(A) In ordering lenses the following data is necessary—width of picture wanted, width of aperture used (disc or track projection), distance from lens to screen center, type and make of projector (in order that proper adaptor may be supplied). If two or more lenses are to be used in pairs or groups (as in two and three-projector installations) such intentions should be stated in order that the several lenses may be matched.

"(B) The light loss due to reflection from polished surfaces of lens or glass plates (such as are used in projection ports) amounts to between four percent and five percent for each surface; thus making the total loss for each lens between eight percent and ten percent.

"(C) Dirt on the lens surface will run the loss of light by repection up to as high as 15 percent for each surface (in extreme cases I imagine it runs still higher). In addition to the light loss due to reflection is also the serious matter of poor definition of the screen image and halation effect.

"(D) Light encountering the surface of a lens at the perpendicular will be reflected the least. As the angle of encounter varies from the perpendicular the light loss by reflection becomes correspondingly greater."

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

A VERY HONORABLE GUY

Warner—First National

A different kind of comedy for Joe E. Brown. There is just as much interest in the story as there is in the star's antics. The picture is based on the published story by Damon Runyon, whose "Lady for a Day" is a guarantee of what to expect in this modern, wise-cracking, gambling world tinged comedy drama. The screen play is by Earl Baldwin, remembered for "Wild Boys of the Road," "Life Begins," "Dr. X" and a previous Brown vehicle, "The Tenderfoot." Ray Enright, previously associated with Brown in "Fireman Save My Child" and "The Tenderfoot," directed.

The cast is composed of a familiar group of Warner players with Alice White in the leading feminine role and Robert Barrat, Hobart Cavanaugh, Alan Dinehart, Harold Huber, Arthur Vinton and Ann Brody in the principal supporting spots. An interesting sidelight is the appearance of Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who wrote the lyrics and music for "Footlight Parade" and "Wonder Bar," doing their stuff in the Broadway night-life, sporting-world sequences that the Runyon short stories have made so familiar to Collier magazine readers.

Modernly timed and localed in New York, the yarn deals with a small time gambler (Brown), a very honorable guy who always pays up. Meeting a run of tough luck, including a fracas with a cop, he becomes obligated to a racketeer for $500. Still broke, knowing that it's pay up or else, Brown sells his body to a scientist for $1,000. Then his luck changes. He wins on everything and rolls in wealth. The menace of the gangster is accentuated by sweetheart troubles and Brown discovers that the medic gave him the $1,000 in order that he could have the girl for himself. Figuring to outwit the racketeer, Brown bundles his girl into an armored car only to be kidnaped by the mobsters, with an exciting finish landing the lovers in front of a chicken farm, the spot they have always yearned for.

Breezy dialogue and fast moving action are combined in a picture that looks to have plenty of available novel showmanship in addition to the Joe E. Brown name.

THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD

United Artists—20th Century

An historical romance drama has been selected for George Arliss' first 20th Century-Zanuck picture. The man who created a renewed interest in this classification of screen entertainment through "Disraeli," "Alexander Hamilton" and "Voltaire" is presented in a story that portrays the career of one of the world's most renowned financial and political families, the Rothschilds, during the Napoleonic Wars from the early 1800's to Waterloo.

The picture is based on a stage play by George Westley. The screen play was written by Nunnally Johnson, noted short story writer identified with the screen through "Moulin Rouge" and other pictures. Direction is by Alfred Werker. Much time has been devoted to research and to counterbalancing properly authentic fact and necessary legendary fiction to assure unusual entertainment.

While the story itself, and Arliss, are the outstanding showmanship qualities, the cast lists the imposing array of name values that 20th Century has essayed to date with Boris Karloff, Loretta Young, Robert Young (now in "Carolina"), C. Aubrey Smith, Arthur Byron, Reginald Owen, Helen Westley, Alan Mowbray, Holmes Herbert, Paul Harvey, Noel Madison, Murray Kinnell, Oscar Apfel and Lumsden Hare among the most notable of the cast.

Obviously a costume picture, the production except in relating technique attempts no modernism; on the contrary, it sticks closely to the personalities and events of the time with which it deals. Mainly, it traces the influence of the Rothschilds, who zoomed to mighty influence by providing the finances to rehabilitate France as Napoleon was exiled to Elba. As this principal motivation is colored by romance between Arliss' daughter, Loretta Young, and Robert Young, the picture takes a social-philosophic twist, showing how peoples turn on the Jewish race, as exemplified by Nathan Rothschild (Arliss), and persecute them, only to seek their favors again when danger threatens.

LOUISIANA

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

This picture relates a romantic story against a melodramatic background. Type of story, action and locale suggest some exceptional showmanship applications, but the teaming of Jean Parker and Robert Young as the picture's sweethearts seems to be the most valuable. Because of recent appearances—Miss Parker in "Little Women" and Young in "Carolina" with Janet Gaynor and "Spitfire" with Katharine Hepburn—both are very much in the public eye. In support of the youthful pair is a list of familiar screen names including C. Henry Gordon, Ted Healy but none of his stooges, Nat Pendleton, who scored heavily in "Penthouse" and "I'm No Angel," Maude Eburne, Raymond Hatton and the veteran Joseph Cawthorn currently in "The Cat and the Fiddle"; as well as the screen newcomers, Irene Franklin, erstwhile vaudville headliner, and Ruth Channing.

The original story and screen play is by Lucien Hubbard, MGM producer of "Fugitive Lovers," "Old Hannibal" and "Beauty for Sale," among others, and also a number of Warner Brothers' successes including "Silver Dollar," "The Star Witness" and "42nd Street." Direction is by George Seitz, who is credited with a long list of productions for major and independent companies.

Major locale is the picturesque Louisiana bayous. Moving to the tempo of exciting drama, action, mystery, hokum comedy and good old fashioned ten-twenty-thirty cent melodrama, Young and his pardoned jailbird pals, Healy and Pendleton, move in to do a little safe cracking. But Young falls in love with Jean Parker, daughter of the woman he would rob while Healy and Pendleton cross swords with the heavy of the piece, the Chinese smuggling, land grabbing C. Henry Gordon, with a side dish of Irene Franklin comedy for good measure. There are safe-cracking, double-crossing, intrigue, mysterious disappearances, the mortgage is paid off with the villain's money and the old reliable U. S. Coast Guard comes up to write finis to Gordon's smuggling career and pave the way for happiness for Jean and Young, whom his two pals rescue.

As the story reads, as well as from other information gleaned, the picture looks like a modernization of the romantic melodrama so popular in the silent screen era which old line showmen should know how to handle.

1934 SUPER KOOLER-AIRE
Acclaimed By Exhibitors!

New and important features are embodied in the new Super KOOLER-AIRE. It is more powerful than ever —it "drags down the thermometer" on hottest summer days. Simple and extremely economical to operate. These are reasons theatre owners—circuits and independents—are installing KOOLER-AIRE.

HEALTHFUL Kooler-Aire NATURE'S REFRIGERATION

The demand for KOOLER-AIRE is greater than ever this year. Don't wait for the Summer to catch you unprepared. THINK about cooling YOUR theatre now. Write for information.

KOOLER-AIRE DIVISION
United States Air Conditioning Corp.
N. W. TERMINAL MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended February 17, 1934, from 116 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,191,611, an increase of $47,466 over the total for the preceding calendar week, ended February 10, when 113 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,144,145.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"The Poor Rich" (U.)	17,500	"Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio)	19,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Massacre" (F. N.) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	8,000	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "Easy to Love" (W. B.)	8,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio)	17,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	18,500	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	18,000	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	18,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Carolina" (Fox)	32,000	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	34,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Massacre" (F. N.) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	8,500	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "Easy to Love" (W. B.)	9,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Convention City" (F. N.)	14,700	"Carolina" (Fox)	22,000	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	4,600	"The Chief" (MGM) and "White Woman" (Para.)	5,500	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	9,800	"Mr. Skitch" (Fox) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	8,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	8,900	"Female" (F. N.)	9,200	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"King for a Night" (U.) and "Fury of the Jungle" (Col.)	5,100	"Bombay Mail" (U.) and "Horseplay" (U.)	6,400	High 12-20 "Counsellor at Law"	15,200
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	36,000	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	35,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	15,000	"Madame Spy" (U.)	6,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	16,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week)	26,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Beloved" (U.)	18,000	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio)	22,500	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"The Last Roundup" (Para.)	8,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	7,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"From Headquarters" (W. B.)	15,000	"Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	16,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Nana" (U. A.) (2nd week)	16,000	"Nana" (U. A.) (1st week)	26,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio)	2,700	"Madame Spy" (U.)	2,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	7,000	"Carolina" (Fox) (2nd week)	8,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							High 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	20,000	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	15,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	26,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	8,500	"All of Me" (Para.)	7,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) and "Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic)	3,500	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) and "Before Midnight" (Col.)	3,400	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) and "Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield) (30c-40c)	2,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	1,500	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	3,250	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.)	3,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	5,000	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	7,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks" "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	7,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	8,000	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	19,500	"Carolina" (Fox)	16,500	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Women in His Life" (MGM) (3 days)	1,200	"Aces of Aces" (Radio) (3 days)	2,100	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"From Headquarters" (W. B.) (4 days)	1,800	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) (4 days)	1,900	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and "Above the Clouds" (Col.)	4,300	"Carolina" (Fox)	7,200	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	5,100	"Beloved" (U.)	4,100	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	16,500	"If I Were Free" (Radio)	22,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM)	15,200	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	17,300	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM)	5,100	"Madame Spy" (U.)	4,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
					(15c-40c)		Low 1-13-34 "Blood Money"	3,200
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Massacre" (F. N.)	6,500	"Eskimo" (MGM)	8,100	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.10	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	22,323			High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	3,065	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	5,900	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 2-17-34 "I Like It That Way"	3,065
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.)	11,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Carolina" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,500	"Carolina" (Fox) (1st week)	5,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 1-20-34 "Frontier Marshal"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Good Dame" (Para.)	4,000	"Convention City" (F. N.)	3,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.)	4,500	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) and "Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	4,500	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 1-27-34 "Son of Kong" and "Easy to Love"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"The Last Roundup" (Para.)	5,000	"Madame Spy" (U.)	6,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	5,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (20c-40c)	5,500	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-60c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	17,000	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	13,500	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	9,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Search for Beauty" (Para.) (6 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,500	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	7,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	2,500	"Carolina" (Fox) (9 days)	6,400	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Song You Gave Me" (Col.) and "Once to Every Woman" (Col.)	1,850	"Angkor" (Warner and Purdon) (3rd week-5 days)	1,485	High 12-2 "Elysia"	12,000
							Low 1-20-34 "Road to Ruin"	1,800
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Beloved" (U.)	2,100	"I Was a Spy" (Fox) (2nd week)	1,104	High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Eskimo" (MGM) (3rd week)	5,170	"Eskimo" (MGM) (2nd week)	6,000
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Carolina" (Fox)	15,270	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (2nd week)	12,800	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	19,785	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	23,850	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,100	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (1st week)	5,520	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.)	7,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,500	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	9,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	7,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	2,000	"The Last Roundup" (Para.)	2,000	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"All of Me" (Para.)	8,000	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	8,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	7,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	6,600	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	7,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"By Candlelight" (U.) (3rd week)	3,000	"By Candlelight" (U.) (2nd week)	2,500	High 1-27-34 "Waltz Time" (2nd week)	3,500
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	11,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	10,500	High 12-2 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
His Majesty's	1,494	15c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Bitter Sweet" (U. A.)	4,500			High 2-18 "Cavalcade"	13,000
							Low 9-16 "Hearts of the World"	3,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"Les Bleus du Ciel" (French) and "La Fille du Regiment" (French)	2,000	"Fanny" (French) (3rd week)	1,500	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	11,500	"Women in His Life" (MGM)	11,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	9,000	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram)	8,500	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 2-10-34 "Sons of the Desert" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Falling for You" (British) and "The Man from Toronto" (British)	6,500	"Gallant Lady" (U.A.) and "Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (2nd week)	5,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.)	18,200			High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	36,500	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM)	15,500	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady" (8 days)	66,653
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) (11 days)	16,500	"Frontier Marshall" (Fox) (2nd week-2½ days)	2,600	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	10,400	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	10,400	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	30,000	"All of Me" (Para.)	34,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,500
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	23,000	"The Ghoul" (Gaumont-British) and "Ross-Petrolle Fight" (Garden) (2nd week-5 days)	8,000	High 2-17-34 "Devil Tiger"	23,000
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	33,930	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (3rd week-4 days)	8,300	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
New York (Continued)
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (4 days) "Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (3 days)	10,700	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (4 days) "Cross Country Cruise" (U.) (3 days)	11,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
RKO Music Hall.	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Nana" (U. A.) (2nd week)	71,000	"Nana" (U. A.) (1st week)	103,000	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Madame Spy" (U.)	21,500	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.).	24,000	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,006
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.) (2nd week)	14,318	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.) (1st week)	23,686	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	3,000	"Convention City" (F. N.)	3,500	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	4,200	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U.A.)	7,000	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	1,700	"Blood Money" (U. A.) (4 days)	1,200	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
					"Bedside" (F. N.) (3 days)	900	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	2,800	"Carolina" (Fox)	6,500	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
Warner	1,900	20c-75c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	9,000			Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-60c	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	8,500	"Convention City" (F. N.) and "Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) (25c-35c)	4,250	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-35c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) and "Women in His Life" (MGM) (25c-40c)	8,250	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox) and "Madame Spy" (U.)	7,000	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,000	"Carolina" (Fox)	7,500	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-40c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	4,750	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	4,500	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (6 days)	11,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (3rd week-4 days)	3,800	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"White Woman" (Para.) (5 days)	1,700	"Dancing Lady" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	2,200	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Mandalay" (F. N.) (6 days)	10,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (2nd week-2 days)	3,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) (6 days)	14,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) (6 days)	17,000	High 1-20-34 "Bombay Mail"	33,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-65c	"Ever Since Eve" (Fox) (6 days)	14,000	"Carolina" (Fox) (2nd week-6 days)	14,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) (6 days)	3,200	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (6 days)	3,700	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Charming Deceiver" (Majestic) (6 days)	7,000	"Rainbow Over Broadway (Chesterfield) (6 days)	6,500	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	12,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week-6 days)	21,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.) (6 days)	6,500	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) (6 days)	7,500	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Beloved" (U.) and "Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	7,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.) and "The Big Shot" (F. N.)	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-35c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W.B.)	3,500	"By Candlelight" (U.)	4,000	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Easy to Love" (W.B.) and "The Big Shakedown" (F.N.)	2,500	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.) and "If I Were Free" (Radio)	3,200	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	25c-35c	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "Sing, Sinner, Sing" (Majestic) (15c-25c)	1,900	"Before Midnight" (Col.) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic)	1,800	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 2-10-34 "Before Midnight" and "You Made Me Love You"	1,800
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Carolina" (Fox) and "His Double Life" (Para.)	6,500	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	6,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	5,000	"Eskimo" (MGM)	5,800	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"The Morning After" (Majestic) and "Beggars in Ermine" (Monogram)	10,400	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) and "Woman Unafraid" (Ind.)	11,500	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio)	16,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	13,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) and "The Last Roundup" (Para.)	6,000	"Search for Beauty" (Para.) and "From Headquarters" (W. B.)	5,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Massacre" (F. N.)	10,000	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox) and "All of Me" (Para.)	9,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
President	1,600	15c-50c	"Streets of Sorrow" (Ind.)	1,500	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (2nd week)	2,000
Strand	1,400	25c-50c	"Narcotic" (Ind.) (2nd week)	3,500	"Narcotic" (Ind.) (1st week)	6,500	High 2-10-34 "Narcotic"	6,500
							Low 1-6-34 "Thunder Over Mexico"	2,200
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	12,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Carolina" (Fox)	21,500	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	22,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	7,500	"By Candlelight" (U.)	3,750	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	7,500	"Design for Living" (Para.)	6,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Fury of the Jungle" (Col.) and "Straightaway" (Col.)	3,500	"King of Wild Horses" (Col.) and "Midnight" (U.)	3,500	High 7-19 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	"Gallant Lady" (U.A.) (2nd week)	5,500	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	6,000	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox) and "Massacre" (F. N.) (6 days)	6,000	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days)	9,000
							Low 1-27-34 "His Double Life" and "The Big Shakedown"	4,500
Paramount	3,050	20c-30c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	6,250	"Women in His Life" (MGM)	7,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000
Roxy	2,275	15c-25c	"The Poor Rich" (U.) and "Once to Every Woman" (Col.)	3,500	"Cradle Song" (Para.) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	5,000	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
							Low 2-17-34 "The Poor Rich" and "Once to Every Woman"	3,500

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

NO DUES TO PAY

No, there are no dues to pay. There are absolutely no costs attached to joining the Managers' Round Table Club.

This is stated again for the express benefit of all theatremen, especially those who have written in recently requesting information on Club memberships. Applications from showmen everywhere are invited for enrollment in this, the only organization of its kind, with over 4,000 leading showmen in all parts of the world proudly displaying their Club certificates.

No dues and no other costs, but there is only one obligation which members take upon themselves, and that is: A not too infrequent report to Club headquarters of their advertising and exploitation activities which are chronicled in the Round Table section for the benefit and information of the entire membership.

That's not too much to request in exchange for the manifold returns hundreds of Round Tablers tell us they receive from these pages, is it? Decidedly not!

So welcome, new members, from every spot in this wide, interesting world, and join the evergrowing list of thousands who regard the study of these pages as one of the most important and enjoyable of their weekly duties.

▽ ▽ ▽

AUDIENCE CONTROL

We toiled, years ago, under an old-time theatreman who was wont to say and, watching us, said it frequently:

"Judge a man by the way he handles his standing room. Any usher can stand 'em up. But it takes a real manager to sit 'em down."

Sage words, indeed, and they were recalled only a short time ago while attending a popular Broadway neighborhood house. The picture was one of the bigger features and the theatre was packed to the walls with standees who were running wild. Not even a half-hearted attempt was made to regulate the seating of those who came first or last. Ushers were conspicuous by their absence, the manager was nonexistent, and the doorman kept announcing "standing room for a short time only," with at least 45 minutes to the next break.

Who was to blame for the awful mixup is neither here nor there. Suffice it to say, the callous handling of the credulous patrons will not help this theatre's future grosses, for the remarks passed by the thoroughly aroused audience indicated no encouragement for the box office.

The employment of experienced and capable personnel at respectable salaries should be adopted immediately as a vital precaution against future catastrophes of this kind. For they are catastrophes, and the hiring of cheap help is one certain method of guaranteeing their recurrence.

▽ ▽ ▽

THE WASHINGTON PARTY

It is with pardonable pride that we point to the recent Round Table Club "Get-Together" in Washington as being the first one held in the Capital City where all branches of the industry were so well represented. And that was due only to the untiring efforts of the committee of good fellows and loyal Round Tablers to whom we here publicly voice our deepfelt appreciation.

Well done, gentlemen!

To the members and their friends who gathered from Washington, Maryland and Virginia, the party was an occasion for a highly enjoyable evening. To Kenneth Grimes, Quigley Award winner, it must have been doubly so, for attending as the guest of the Motion Picture Herald, he was honored in receiving his prize from the hands of Mr. Stephen Early—an honor, may we say, that befalls few showmen.

To your chairman, the capacity attendance was yet another indication that managers are not only enthusiastic about such events, but are even willing to drive miles after the day's work to join in the Round Table festivities.

Heartened by this demonstration, we pledge our utmost cooperation in putting on similar Club gatherings in other spots, and interested members are invited to communicate with us for this purpose.

We'd be tickled pink to come.

▽ ▽ ▽

BOX-OFFICE "BESTS"

In this issue is presented a number of box-office ideas reported by members as being their "best", judging from actual returns, put over in 1933. These selling angles rate careful study and filing for future use. With others to be run in the next issue, they comprise a collection of exploitation slants that should prove of inestimable value to interested theatremen in most every situation.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Leave it to Wally to sense the ladies' reactions even to displays!

Dick Moss Quick Hit In New Location

Members have read of the many ace campaigns put over by Round Tabler Dick Moss while he was stationed in Los Angeles, and we are now pleased to present his first report from his new post, the United Artists Theatre, Long Beach, Cal., on "Smoky."

Dick tied in with the city's leading riding academy, contacting the members to come to the theatre on horseback. The stunt went over well, with both morning and afternoon dailies carrying two column shots and stories. In addition, Moss invited the newsboys to sit in on the show, and the youngsters whooped it up with a parade to the house.

All branches of the local library distributed bookmarks which carried theatre credits, and the book stores also got behind the picture, carrying special cards in their windows. Boy Scout organizations were also tied into the campaign, by having them at the theatre to listen to a radio address by the President.

Moss praised the picture in an endorsement ad, had four girls phoning to private homes and offices, and placed announcement cards on hotels, restaurants, depots and other prominent spots.

The biggest kind of a success in the new spot, Dick!

Work for a Quigley Award!

THEATRE MANAGERS
SAVE 10 to 50 Per Cent!
ON YOUR BRUSHES and SUPPLIES

Send Today for Blick's
FREE CATALOG
of everything for the Sign and Poster Artist
DICK E. BLICK CO., Galesburg, Illinois, Box 43
Please mail your 80-page FREE CATALOG.
Name .....
Address .....
City .....

Lynch Reports On Recent Campaigns

From Manager Edgar Lynch, Cameo, Bridgeport, Conn., comes a report on some of his activities on various attractions, one of the most recent being a well rounded campaign on "Little Women."

On Saturday morning before his opening Edgar ran a special preview to which were invited ministers, educators, civic officials, P. T. A. leaders and other local prominents, the invitations in themselves nicely plugging the picture. The local school superintendent was also contacted, this authority sending letters to all the high schools, requesting that theatre bulletins be posted together with the special school one sheet.

Lynch's Nautical Staff

Lynch made up quite an effective lobby flash for "Footlight Parade" by planting full sized cutout figures of the different stars on all his lobby doors, these being highlighted to be seen from afar.

The house ushers and cashier went completely nautical to help advertise "Son of a Sailor" by donning sailor garb in advance of and during the run. The accompanying photo shows the crew at inspection, with Edgar himself, but not in uniform.

Perhaps the reason for Lynch not being in character is that he is an old time regular army man and loyal to that arm of the service. Right, Ed?

Window Tie-in on "Catherine"

U. A. Delivers Ace "Catherine" Opening

United Artists went two a day for the opening date on the British-made "Catherine the Great," which that company is handling on this side, and Hal Horne's ad crew turned in a high exploitation score on a well rounded campaign for the New York opening at the Astor Theatre.

Following a widely planted newspaper publicity campaign, a series of effective teaser ads were run three days in advance (one of these reproduced in issue of Feb. 10), followed by a number of 600 line ads that helped further in selling the story and stars.

The theatre was decorated with a typical "Astor front," the huge electric sign atop the marquee devoted to the title and the lobby decorated with paintings of the leading players by the well known artists, Christy, Hayden, Rockwell, Crandall and Flato. A further lobby gag was two guards dressed in Russian cossack uniforms who paraded in front of the house, and a department store tieup resulted in a number of models wearing new cossack styled evening gowns, recommended for tired eyes.

Book and other window displays were also utilized, one being a tiein with the Hammer Galleries, which decorated a prominent window with stills and posters on the picture against the background of many authentic imperial treasures of the old Russian regime (see photo).

All local public, high schools and colleges were circularized stressing the historical importance of the picture, and a special broadcast was arranged which introduced many of the celebrities who attended the opening, including the Honorable Gerald Campbell, British Counsul General.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Utterback Recommends This

Playing the second run of the serial "Devil Horse," M. D. Utterback, Lyric, Wellington, Kan., put on the 12 chapters of the serial for an entire show of 3½ hours, twice daily for three days with reserved seats at no advance in prices. He not only played to capacity but says he turned away as many as he played to and broke all house records at the same time.

This member further states the idea went over so well that he is going to repeat it on other serials, and recommends it for the consideration of interested showmen. Sounds like he has something.

Takes Over Paper For "Dinner" Plug

Buying up the entire advertising rights of one issue of his local paper to plug "Dinner at Eight" was accomplished successfully by Manager Ted Pence, Messner, Attica, Ind., who not only sold plenty of advertising to put over the idea, but also made enough to pay all other advertising expenses of the engagement.

The regular circulation of the paper is approximately 1,200 copies and for the big issue, Ted increased this to 5,000 which amount he guaranteed to all advertisers, putting a copy in every home within a 20-mile area, that included a house to house distribution in ten surrounding towns, and naturally while the paper carried more treatre advertising than usual, nevertheless the regular news was not neglected.

Pence put over a number of other angles to sell the picture which included spotting a 24 at the Paul Dresser Memorial Bridge, a 30-foot canvas banner extending from the roof of the theatre and a thorough posting of the entire area with one sheets and window cards.

The aggressiveness this Round Tabler displayed in buying up the paper's advertising rights to put over his attraction can be recommended as an excellent example of what can be done with some extra effort and courage. It was a swell job.

Work for a Quigley Award!

"Devil Tiger" Ideas Aid New York Showing

Bucking sub-zero weather and a taxi strike, the ad staff of the Rialto, New York, under the supervision of Arthur L. Mayer, managing director, put on a number of ticket-selling stunts for the opening of "Devil Tiger."

Ten days in advance, sign painters began working on a mammoth sign that covered the entire third floor front of the theatre, staggering their work so as to keep the crowds guessing in regard to what they were doing. Portions of the sign were painted in daily, with the title lettered in last two days befor the opening.

In the alley alongside the theatre was installed a jungle and animal exhibit with native foliage and stills from the picture. A 16 mm. silent trailer was a part of the exhibit and was shown to the accompaniment of a sound record that included the calls and cries of many of the beasts shown in the picture. A highly colorful lobby front was also installed with enlargements of photos actually taken in the jungle against background of native setting. A marquee display of cutout animals and jungle decorations added further to the effect and a rotating sign of animals in mortal combat was another crowd stopper.

A radio tieup on a prominent children's hour was also promoted and a special morning performance was put on for 1,500 youngsters who sent in letters in response to the broadcast, icecream and other souvenirs being given the children, obtained through cooperation with other national advertisers.

The highlights on this date are contained in the special broadside gotten out by Fox on the picture, and together with the press book ideas should give showmen playing the picture ammunition for a good campaign.

FEBRUARY JUDGES

In a few short weeks, the judging for the February Quigley Award will take place, and so it behooves every manager who intends sending a campaign to prepare his entry at the earliest possible moment and forward it without delay. The deadline for the February campaigns has been set—March 7, which should allow plenty of time for all entries to reach Quigley Committee Headquarters.

As in January, the judges for the second month represent three different industry branches—distribution, advertising, and exhibition. They are as follows:

A. W. SMITH, General Sales Manager, Warner Brothers Pictures.

SI SEADLER, Advertising Manager, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

DAN MICHALOVE, Assistant to S. R. Kent, Fox Film Corporation.

These well-known picture executives will convene early in March, and it is expected that their decision for the February Award will be made known in the Motion Picture Herald, issue of March 17.

Enthusiasm for these Awards grows daily. There is plenty of glory and honor for the winners. Read in this issue how the January winner, Kenneth Grimes, was acclaimed at Washington, and how he received his Award from Stephen Early. It was an occasion he will always treasure.

Every manager is eligible to enter campaigns on any product, on any picture played in February. Get in on it now!

Stern's Campaign Has Lines Waiting in Rain

That patrons will wait on line even in the rain to see a good picture that has been well publicized (see photo) is proven by the campaign sent in by Bert Stern, publicity head, Criterion, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Besides a bigger than usual newspaper and posting campaign, the largest department store in town was tied in for a number of prominent window displays, which were plugged over the store's radio hour. This cooperation was also obtained from other leading merchants, including newspaper advertising of a smart woman's shop in which a head of Hepburn and theatre credits were run to tie in an announcement of "Little Women" styles.

A special preview was held to which were invited, as Bert says, "people who count."

Stern's S. R. O. Business

Brown Obtains School Support on "Little Women"

A well rounded campaign on "Little Women" which had the very active support of the superintendents of the county and city schools is reported by City Manager Gilbert C. Brown, as put over at the Paramount, Kankakee, Ill. Immediately after booking the picture, the two school heads were invited to Chicago to see the picture then running there and returned with great enthusiasm and plans for publicizing it.

This was done by placing quarter sheet cards on the bulletin boards of every local and nearby rural school, and it was further arranged to omit classes for a half day so that the children could attend, the classes being staggered so that separate groups could be handled at various times.

Letters were also addressed to all school teachers by the superintendents, insisting that they see the picture and at the bottom was left a blank space for the teacher to fill in with the number of pupils who would attend. Further, the principals of every school were called upon for a definite report on how many of their pupils would come to see the picture, and it was arranged that each child would bring ten cents to be turned over to the teachers who would bring them to the theatre in a body.

The buses and autos that brought the children from all sections were bannered with theatre copy and so successful was the event that local papers carried a special story, Brown reporting that this was the first time in the history of the city that such a tieup had been effected.

THE FIRST WINNER

THE FIRST AWARD

District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia were represented among the 125 Round Tablers and their friends who gathered at the Club Michel, Washington, in first zone Club "Get-Together". Guests of honor included: Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's secretary (standing, seventh from left), NRA Deputy Administrator William Farnsworth, assistant to Sol Rosenblatt; Deputy Administrators E. N. Frensdorf and Ayber Cater; W. H. Doherty, radio code aide; J. Bradish Carroll, NRA paymaster, and Thomas McGuire, code adviser. A. J. Brylawski, president, Washington MPTO, and toastmaster, is at extreme right, third row from front.

WASHINGTON ROUND TABLERS MEET; EARLY PRESENTS QUIGLEY AWARD

Capital City District Members Celebrate First Club Party; President's Secretary Makes January Plaque Presentation

Initial "Get-Together" Endorsed by Capacity Attendance from All Industry Branches; Guests Include High NRA Officials

By A-MIKE VOGEL

The first successful local event of its kind, and in the opinion of all attending, one of the most enjoyable, was celebrated in Washington on Feb. 17 when over 125 Round Tablers and their friends came together at the Club Michel, starting at 11 p. m. to feast, drink, renew friendships and make merry.

Not only from the District of Columbia, but from far away points in Maryland and Virginia, showmen from independent and circuit houses, film exchange managers and salesmen, representatives of other industry departments and allied branches filled every corner of the private dining rooms and contributed to the gaiety of the party, made possible by the hard work of the following committee of Round Tablers:

Walter Morris, Metropolitan Theatre, Washington, chairman; Frank Boucher, City Manager, Warner Theatres, Hagerstown, Md.; Carter Barron, City Manager, Loew Theatres, Washington; Harry Hunter, Washington branch manager, Paramount Pictures; Frank LaFalce, Washington zone Warner Theatres ad chief and his aides, Maurice Blouin and Bill Ewing; Lou Brown, Washington Loew Theatres ad head; and Guy Wonders, Washington Warner Theatres production head, among others.

There was much to celebrate. First the "get-together" itself which climaxed weeks of strenuous efforts on the part of the committee, and secondly, one of the features of the gathering, wherein Stephen Early, Roosevelt secretary and guest of honor, presented on behalf of Martin Quigley, the January Quigley Award to Manager Kenneth Grimes, Warner Theatre, Morgantown, W. Va. Ken was brought to Washington as a guest of the MOTION PICTURE HERALD, by permission of his zone chief, Harry Kalmine, to be honored by this personal presentation by the White House executive.

Not the least of the committee efforts was the inclusion of the above and other party details in stories that were carried in advance in all Washington papers wherein the Managers' Round Table Club was prominently mentioned.

The guests were greeted as they arrived by the Committee and your Chairman, and checked in by Round Tablers Maurice Blouin and Nelson Smith. The next stop was the comfortable bar, where plenty of smooth brew and appetizers were available, made possible by Carter Barron. Incidentally, Guy Wonders acted as head bar man and did a great job. The beer was donated by Abner Drury, Jr., Brewery and Philip Morris Cigarettes by Al Retler. Thanks, gentlemen.

Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's secretary, makes presentation of January Quigley Award to Manager Kenneth Grimes of Warner Theatre, Morgantown, W. Va., at Washington zone Managers' Round Table Club Party.

With the majority of the guests seated, more solid food was brought in, and while the Round Tablers ate, the entertainment started, introduced by A. J. Brylawski, Washington MPTO president, and toastmaster of the evening—and a corker, too. Headlined was the internationally known team of Yorke and King, who with their Greenwich Village Follies, from Loew's Fox, through the courtesy of Carter Barron, put on an ace show of numerous individual and ensemble acts, that included talented artists sponsored by the popular Jimmy Lake. Next was Jimmy himself who kept the crowd in roars with his famous stories.

Then came another highlight of the party with the introduction of Stephen Early, who did the honors of presenting the January Quigley Award to Kenneth Grimes (see photo) and spoke of the purposes of this competition in encouraging the efforts of theatre managers everywhere.

After Ken responded in a few well chosen words, the toastmaster presented the

(Continued on page 75)

SOME 'BEST' 1933 BOX-OFFICE IDEAS

IVAN ACKERY
Capitol, Victoria, B. C.

First "Hollywood Premiere"

"Crimson Paradise" was produced in Victoria and being the first all-talking Canadian-made feature, a real Hollywood premiere was put on to introduce it. The event which took place after the regular show at night was very gala, with all the local celebs attending in formal wear. Floods lighted the building and spots picked out the guests as they alighted from their cars.

The papers went for it big, and the guests included the Premier of British Columbia in addition to all the civic officials. Used for a first time locally, the "Hollywood opening" was a big help in rolling up an out of the ordinary gross.

CHARLES S. BASSIN
Oriental, Mattapan, Mass.

Outdoor Promenade Garden

This idea was put into effect in the rear of the theatre during July and August, on property belonging to the house, and unused previously. Over $3,000 in material and labor was promoted to decorate the promenade, full details of which were carried on page 79, issue July 22, 1934.

A regular intermission in the program was set aside, during which time, ushers passed out cigarettes and soft drinks free of charge. It proved highly popular, patrons coming from quite a ways to enjoy the extra comforts on the house.

BILLINGS BOOTH
Jefferson, Springfield, Mass.

Bargain Days for Unemployed

This was put on Wednesdays and Thursdays for the benefit of over 3,500 families dependent on public welfare, and to keep them in the theatre habit until they again had money. The price on these nights was cut to 15 cents from 25 cents, the receipts about doubling, also making plenty of new friends for Booth, who now working, come to the theatre regularly and pay the regular prices on other days. Billings reports that though the reduced admissions set back his playdates on much product for the bargain nights, he built up his shows with good shorts.

Another "best" idea endorsed by this manager, was his series of benefit shows, publicized in the Club section, issue Dec. 16.

HARRY BOTWICK
Paramount, Rutland, Vt.

Baby Popularity Contest

This campaign was run in detail on page 97, issue of July 15, 1933, and for those who do not have that copy on hand,

MANAGERS REPORT STANDOUT STUNTS

We queried a number of the members in various sections of the United States and Canada asking them to give us the details of the exploitation ideas actually put over on any picture or institutional campaign in 1933 that produced the best box-office results. On these two pages are set down the meat of some of the replies in alphabetical order, with others to follow in the next issue.—MIKE.

Botwick's idea was his second annual contest of this nature, that ran five weeks, entries from one to five years. Babies judged from photos, taken free by theatre in tieup with photographer, and print placed in lobby, winners decided by votes.

Entry blanks obtainable only at theatre, and 10 merchants co-operated each giving votes to adults with every sale, stores also coming in for two co-op pages, one at beginning of contest, other at close.

CHARLIE BRENNAN
Poli, Hartford, Conn.

Selling "Jones" and "Pigs"

Having "Emperor Jones" and "3 Little Pigs" on one bill, Brennan figured he had something to sell to the masses as well as the classes. For the former, he went for hot newspaper ads and litho heralds with high pressure copy. For the class patronage, Charlie sent out a strong endorsement letter signed by himself to select lists secured from his leading newspaper and the concert bureau handling this kind of patronage.

Because of this thorough coverage, Brennan reports that the program scored far better on this date than in other spots in the territory, and the idea rates consideration from other members faced with similar program setups.

WILLIAM BROWN
Marboro, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Free Beer Tieup

This was put on to advertise Bill's date on "What! No Beer?" and was publicized in the Round Table issue of April 15, 1933. Although free beer tieups have been put over extensively since then, Brown had a tough time promoting the bar and dispensing accessories, as at that time brewers were working overtime in anticipation of the early passage of the beer bill.

Nevertheless, this member put it over splendidly and states that it got him the most at the box office. He also reports big returns from his campaigns on "Silver Dollar" detailed in the May 13 issue and "Rasputin and the Empress," described in the issue of July 1.

LOUIS CHARNINSKY
Capitol, Dallas, Tex.

Children's "Tarzan" Club

Louis' very good club idea was thoroughly publicized in the issue of Nov. 11, and he rates it as the best gag of the year. Children up to 14 were eligible to membership, the idea helping to make the first week's gross terrific, and holding up the following instalments. Children who had not been regular patrons joined this club, in many cases bringing their fathers and mothers. Institutionally as well, Charninsky reports this stunt as being very beneficial.

The exploitation of 1933 campaign that this member rates "tops" was on "Gold Diggers" in which a regular floor show was put on in the lobby of the theatre, the gals handing out stamped brass coins as an orchestra played the song hits.

BEN M. COHEN
College, New Haven, Conn.

"42nd St." Silk Fashion Show

Cheney Brothers silks were used in the production of "42 St.", screen mention being made of this, and at the time he played the picture, Ben was managing the State, in Manchester, Conn., the home of this silk company's mills. Cohen therefore sold the idea of having the mill girls who actually weaved the silk for the costumes worn in the picture, to really wear these original costumes in a fashion show at the theatre.

These gowns were on the level, as they were being displayed in the New York Cheney showrooms, and were loaned to Ben for the night. The result was that normal business was tripled.

E. S. C. COPPOCK
Paramount, Stapleton, S. I., N. Y.

Better Films Council

Sedge is active in the United Parents Association activities, and also assisted in the formation of the Staten Island Better Films Council. This co-operation has directed the thoughts of these people away from censorship, as the group includes representatives of every club, fraternal organization, federation, school, college, etc., on the Island. A bi-weekly photoplay guide is published each week that comprehensively criticises the pictures without knocking.

Another branch of this is motion picture study groups in high schools and colleges, with Sedge having spoken before 30 different schools on this subject. These addresses made a lot of new contacts for Coppock which lead to the box office, as he has been able to answer all questions regarding the theatre and pictures, at the same time adopting a few of the suggestions offered.

FROM ACTUAL CAMPAIGNS IN FIELD

The entire setup gives Coppock a lot of standing on the Island, as his personal endorsement of pictures in newspaper ads carries much more weight, his bookings are circulated in every classroom, and the theatre has become more of a community enterprise, allowing most any kind of an exploitation break through the cooperation of the schools.

VOGEL GETTIER

Liberty, Sedalia, Mo.

"Br'er Fox" Club

This children's organization, started early in 1933, has an enrollment of over 1,200 members, from six to 16 years of age, with an average Saturday attendance of 600, juniors and seniors. The proceedings are along the lines of other youngsters' clubs, with the exception that the P.T.A. was not contacted.

A drum and bugle corps was then formed of boys and girls, from 10 to 16, many of the members being on parole for misdemeanors of one sort or another, Vogel's idea on this being to help the underprivileged children, securing the names of the children from the various local courts and welfare organizations. These youngsters are under military discipline, being trained by Gettier's assistant, John Whaley, who has had previous military training. Infractions of rules are punished with dismissal from the corps and a return to probation.

A local auto dealer sponsors this corps for the advertising value, and the club functions along the sane lines of birthday cards each week to individual members with privilege of attending the show free of charge with a friend, and in addition, honor cards good for free admissions are given to all grammar school teachers each week to be awarded to the best boy and girl students during that time, cards distributed on Fridays for the following day's show.

High schools are also contacted with "Pep Nights" and "Hi-Nites" on Thursdays, and with all these special events, no effort is made to pick special juvenile programs, as Vogel has the confidence of the various organizations in town who realize the difficulty of selecting pictures that the children will spend money on to see. The P.T.A., school board and faculties are with him, as are the churches, for whom a number of profitable benefits have been put across.

One of the highlights of the club activities was the raising of $750 locally last summer to send the drum and bugle corps to the Chicago World's Fair, being entertained by Governor Parks on Missouri Day, and parading through the grounds.

REFER TO THE BACK ISSUES

Although quite a few of the ideas publicized on these pages are described for the first time, a number of them have been fully detailed in previous issues during 1933. These instances have been noted and the dates indicated for the information of showmen who are interested in learning how they were put over.—MIKE.

P. D. EGAN

Palace, Calgary, Alta., Can.

Animal Bally-Bridge Tieup

Pete reports a number of "bests" from which we select two that sound very effective. The first was a series of window displays and a street bally in which rare animals were exhibited, as a tieup on "The Big Cage." Spider monkeys, baboons, macaws and an Australian phalangar were some of the species making up the show, and being the first Calgary showing of these specimens, drew enormous crowds. As it is considered very lucky in Australia to touch a phalanger, Pete distributed cards conveying this information, which resulted in long lines in front of the animal cage.

In conjunction with his showing of "Grand Slam," Pete put on a citywide bridge tournament between teams from almost every local organization a week before the opening with the finals taking place during the three nights of the picture. The papers carried full daily accounts, handsome prizes were given to the winners and runnersup, and province-wide interest was created to the extent that other cities wrote for particulars to duplicate it on other showings of the picture.

S. A. GILMAN

Parkway, Baltimore, Md.

Chariot Bally

Not being able to obtain a chariot locally for his bally on "Roman Scandals," Gilman built one and did a mighty attractive job. The sides and front were of beaver board, shellaced a number of times to give firmness, the floor was solid wood and the wheels borrowed from a local wagon works. The Roman costumes were obtained locally and the team of horses were promoted at a cost of $5. A photo of this stunt will be run soon.

MICKEY GROSS

Orpheum, Sioux City, Ia.

Selling a Stage Show

Having dated the tabloid version of George White's "Scandals," Mickey obtained citywide cooperation that guaranteed capacity for his opening matinees, by pointing out to the various clubs and associations that it was necessary to put this over to obtain other shows of the same calibre. It was decided therefore that the theatre would get out special full price matinee tickets for the use of members of the various organizations, the secretaries writing to each member impressing the necessity of attendance at the opening show.

The result was a complete sell-out, and the theatre obtained further city wide publicity as the activities of all the civic clubs and Chamber of Commerce to put over the show were front-paged.

H. L. LAURENCE

Capitol, Paris, Tenn.

Free Passes

Due to closing of many industrial plants and low prices for farm produce, many of "H. L.'s" former good patrons had stopped attending. To keep them in the theatre habit, "H. L." distributed a number of passes each week where they would do the most good, and the resultant word-of-mouth advertising helped the grosses when conditions improved, as those who had been favored with passes are now reported to be on line early with most every change.

LOUIS LAMM

Capitol, Elyria, O.

Hair Style Revue

Leading local beauty parlor cooperated on this by aiding Louis in his selection of 12 girls resembling the best known woman stars, the locals, having their hair dressed according to the style worn by the stars they impersonated, these hair styles being duplicated from those shown in various press books. A local dress shop also furnished evening gowns for each model.

Girls dressed as pages preceded the model parade across the stage carrying credit signs, and as each model appeared upon the stage, the organist played a tune from a recent picture in which the star she was impersonating appeared, the master of ceremonies announcing the name of the model and the star she represented. Lamm states that the only extra expense to the theatre was the organist.

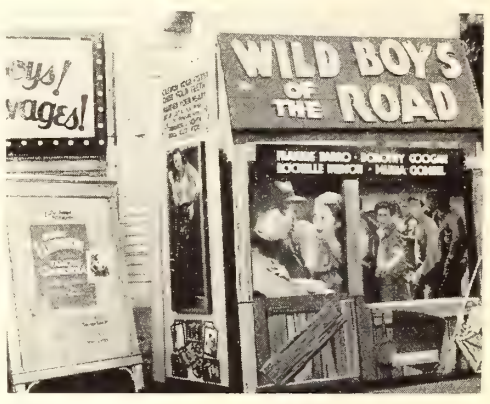
ACE ANGLES THAT SOLD TICKETS

Brown's "Eskimo" Exhibit

(Left) TOM BROWN, manager, Garde, New London, Conn., is responsible for this crowd-stopping lobby display on his showing of "Eskimo." Tom certainly dug up enough authentic Arctic stuff to interest his patrons, including the effective poster message on the right from Freuchen.

(Right) SID GRAUMAN delighted these Los Angeles orphans with a party to see "Little Women" at his Chinese Theatre. The youngsters had a corking good time with Sid himself acting as host and Pert Kelton, Radio star, playing hostess. You see them both in the center of the picture.

Sid's "Little Women" Party



▽ ▽ ▽

Meyers' Lobby Stopped 'Em

(Left) STAN MEYERS created this attractive lobby panel to bring 'em in on "Only Yesterday" at the Alhambra, Milwaukee. The unqualified endorsement of General Manager FRED MEYER, carried as copy in the "book" to right, helped to create the big demand at the box office on this one.

(Right) IRVING BLUMBERG did a right nice job on selling "Wild Boys of the Road" with this sock front at the Philadelphia Stanton. It was built out from the front wall, and returned plenty of attention, at the same time not blocking up the lobby. Nice work Irving.

Blumberg Builds a Shack

▽ ▽ ▽

Steele's Bike and Flivver Gag

(Left) FRED L. STEELE went a step further in his street ballyhoo on "The Bowery" by digging up an old time high wheel bike in addition to the ancient two-wheeler and flivver for the date at the Grandin, Roanoke, Va. The folks putting on the stunt seem to be having an enjoyable time.

(Right) MAYNARD JOINER promoted this window in Vancouver, British Columbia's most prominent store to sell "House on 56th Street." The display took the form of a movie set, with wax models taking the parts of cameraman, director, and players. The dresses came from the studio.

Joiner's Wax Model Studio

▽ ▽ ▽

Ed Hart's Porker Party

(Left) E. M. HART, Plainfield, N. J., City Manager for Reade's Theatres, went for the young porker gag in his lobby display on "Three Little Pigs," at the Strand. Ed built the visitors a nice house to rest themselves when they tired of entertaining the crowds with their table manners.

(Right) GEORGE F. SHARPE, skipper of the Fox Wilson, Fresno, Cal., put across this swell street flash on "I'm No Angel." Letters were glittered on black background with blue and white flags as further decoration, all lighted with floods. Photo was taken early in the morning.

Sharpe "Done Him Right"

personalities

DAVID RICHARDS
manager of the Fox U. C. theatre at Berkeley, Cal., has been made manager of the Fox Campus, Berkeley.

▽

CHARLES ERNST
formerly manager of theatres for Foxwesco has been made general manager of J. J. Goodstein's Colorado houses.

▽

L. W. FARRAR
previously in charge of publicity for Loew's Ohio and Broad at Columbus, Ohio, has been made manager at Loew's Canton, succeeding GEORGE KRASKA, who has been appointed to a position in the East.

▽

W. D. FULTON
manager of the Southtown and Colonial Theatres, Kansas City, Mo., has been appointed skipper of the newly opened La Salle Theatre, in addition to his other theatres.

▽

F. R. PETERSON
formerly manager of Publix houses in Des Moines, has been named skipper of the Rialto Theatre, Clinton, Ia., for Central States Theatre Corp.

▽

JOE GEORGE
has reopened the Rio Theatre at Idaho Falls, Ida.

▽

J. W. PECK
live-wire skipper of the American Theatre, Sylacauga, Ala., has made several improvements to make his theatre strictly modern and up-to-date.

▽

W. M. SHIELDES
has reopened his new Liberty Theatre at Tyler, Tex.

▽

GEORGE WYNN
has acquired the Alamo Theatre in Newnan, Ga.

▽

DAVID DALLAS
formerly located at Roswell, N. M., has opened the New Paramount Theatre at Borger, Texas.

▽

L. M. ASH
has reopened the Liberty Theatre, New Orleans, with a subsequent run feature.

▽

CLYDE BROWN
is at the helm of the Katherine Theatre at Monticello, Fla.

▽

J. R. RESLEY
has purchased the Imperial and Universal Theatres at Lenoir, N. C.

▽

HAROLD RUBEN
is the new owner of the remodeled Granada Theatre in Sioux Falls, S. D.

LOU GOLDEN replaced JOSEPH C. GREENFIELD as manager of the Franklin Theatre, New York City.

▽

IRWIN WEISS
recently in Philly with Warners has been named manager of the Harris in Donora, Pa., replacing BILL DECKER, promoted to city manager of Warner houses in Johnstown.

MORE ABOUT THE "GET-TOGETHER"

(Continued from page 71)

other guests of honor, important NRA members of the Administration in various divisions, who were as follows: NRA Deputy Administrator Wm. Farnsworth, assistant to Sol Rosenblatt; Deputy Administrators E. N. Frensdorf and Ayber Cater; W. H. Doherty, radio code aide; J. Bradish Carroll, NRA Paymaster, and Thos. McGuire, Code Adviser. Many of the outstanding showmen attending were introduced and telegrams read from Mort Blumenstock, Warner Theatres ad chief; Colvin Brown, Vice-Pres. Quigley Publications; Senator Neeley; Gertrude Merriam, Secretary of the Managers' Round Table Club, among others.

The formalities thus observed, the party continued gaily and merrily far, far into the night, and before it broke up, the members began making plans to put on another Club affair in the Spring, more of which later.

Among those present were:

Alan Bachrach
Thomas Baldridge
Carter Barron
Raymond Bell
R. Berger
Maurice Blouin
Franck Boucher
Lou Brown
A. J. Brylawski
Stanley Burlup
Elmer Burnett
J. Bradish Carroll
Walter Cersley
Ayber Cater
Stanley Chase
J. W. Cleveland
Joe Cohen
Rodney Collier
Henry Coons
Guy Darrett
Clark Davis
W. H. Doherty
Maurice Davis
Bob Denton
Roscoe Drissell
Stephen Early
Robert Etris
William Ewing
Joe Fedder
Wm. Farnsworth
Leo Fields
William Fisher
William Fletcher
E. N. Frensdorf
George Gill
David Ginsberg
H. C. Given
Joe Grand
Kenneth Grimes
W. P. Herbst
Harry Hunter
Paul Hurney
J. A. Johnson
Lamar Keene
James Kelly
Roy Knight
Lou Kusner
Frank LaFalce
George Lloyd
H. E. Lohmeyer
Sidney Lust
John Mallon
Thomas McGuire
Hardie Meakin
Joe Morgan
I. L. Morton
James Newman
Tom Oulihan
C. H. Olive
George Payette
George Peters
Benj. T. Pitts
Angie Ratto
Al Retler
Dan Reynolds
James Root
George Shepp
Nelson Smith
Nate Stieffel
Sam Wheeler
Guy Wonders and others

Work for a Quigley Award!

LYLE TRENCHARD has been named manager of the Wilmington-Delaware district Philadelphia Zone of Stanley-Warner.

▽

CHARLES WUERZ
has taken over the management of the Fullerton, Fullerton, Cal., replacing EDDIE GRAHAM, who will do publicity for the State in Long Beach.

▽

FRED SAAR
has been transferred to Erie, Pa., where he will manage the Columbia.

▽

ROY SLENTZ
succeeded DAVE McKAY as assistant at the State, Minneapolis, Minn.

▽

GERALD WHITNEY
is managing the Mayan in Denver, Colo., and FRED GLASS may now be found at the Rialto in Sterling.

▽

CHARLES ERNST
formerly with Fox, has been named general manager of the J. J. Goodstein string of theatres in Colorado.

▽

GERALD GALLAGHER
recently at the California in San Diego, replaced by AL HAYNIE, assigned to manage the Paramount in Portland.

▽

E. E. WHITAKER
former manager of the Fox in Atlanta, has been made City manager for Lucas & Jenkins in Atlanta and will have charge of the Fox, Paramount, Georgia and Capitol.

▽

CARL MILLER
is at the Criterion in Santa Monica, Cal. He replaced J. A. G. SCHILLER, who went to the United Artists at Whittier.

▽

JOHN VAINIKE
transferred from the Lyric, Huntington Park, Cal., to the Strand, in Fullerton, and DAN CALBOS, formerly of the Strand, went to the Lyric.

▽

ED KANE
has been switched from the Millburn, in Millburn, N. J., to the Cranford, in Cranford. MIKE WESCHNER, formerly at the Fabian, in Hoboken, now at the Hawthorne, in Hawthorne, and M. BRENNER goes from the Hawthorne to the Millburn, in Millburn.

▽

KEITH CHAMBERS
has been promoted from assistant manager of the Palace, in Canton, Ohio, to resident manager there; and RALPH KEMPER has been made manager of the State in East Liverpool.

MAKE IT A BANNER YEAR—JOIN NOW

JOHN D. SHULTZ
is with the Wilby Circuit in Atlanta, Ga., where he is the assistant at the Georgia. John certainly has a background, he studied law for two years and then went into the theatre game as usher and was then promoted to his present position. Between you and your chief, we certainly ought to know what's going on at the Georgia, right?

▽

N. T. HOWARD
handles publicity for Ulman's & New Theatres in Salisbury, Md., and he tells us that Miss Helen Ulman manages both houses. Well, "N. T.," we bid you welcome and hope you'll be an active contributor to these pages. How about geeting Miss Ulman to join, we're always glad to welcome showwomen to our midst.

▽

JAMES T. LACKEY
manages the Westwood Theatre in Westwood, Cal., and he certainly ought to know this business because he has produced and written plays since 1918; has been associated with several motion picture producing companies. He says, also, that he has made a thorough study of the business from production to exhibition and in his spare time he is personnel manager of the Red River Lumber Co., which sounds like enough to keep any two men busy, but not too busy, we hope, to keep us informed of his doings.

▽

PEDRO GONZALEZ
is the assistant manager of the San Jose, Santurce, Porto Rico. Pedro was proposed for membership by one of our oldest members, Pedro Gelabert. Incidentally, Mr. Gelabert, promises to visit headquarters this summer and we're looking forward to the visit, so convey our regards to him and see that you keep in touch with us from Santurce.

▽

F. G. ROBERTS
manages the Del Rio, Rialto and Rex Theatres in Clinton, Oklahoma. Sounds like a man's size job, doesn't it? Well, there are about four thousand other members who would like to know how you keep the shekels coming into the cash box, so suppose you take a few minutes off and tell us all about it.

▽

THOMAS BOLSTRIDGE
is the general manager of the Alexandra Theatre in Coventry, Warwickshire, England. As usual we extend a cordial welcome to our foreign membership. Tom is the second member to join us recently from the fair city of Coventry and we hope there'll be plenty more. Remember us to Sid Hobbs and between the two of you we shall sit back in anticipation of the receipt of many excellent campaigns.

RAY MARTIN
is the advertising and publicity manager of the Palace Theatre in Lockport, N. Y., one of the Reliance Theatres Chain. Ray has had an interesting career having been on the legitimate stage at the advent of talking pictures, at which time he associated with a "picture house." He has also done newspaper work and has no thought of leaving showbusiness to go into any other. The Palace has been represented on our pages by another member, Ray, so we're hopeful of hearing more from there again.

▽

TED PENCE
is the manager of the Messner Theatre in Attica, Indiana, and in joining tells us that he likes the idea of our Quigley Awards; well, Ted, how about working for one, the competition is pretty keen, but everybody stands a show at it and there are still eleven more months to go at the rate of one a month and then the Grand Award. Ted has been with his circuit for nine years which certainly is a record that speaks for itself. Let's hear from you often.

▽

SAM MANDELBAUM
is out in Brooklyn, N. Y., managing the Halsey Theatre and in that thicky populated neighborhood where his house is located, we know he has to be on his toes every minute. We guess you could close your eyes and walk into most any theatre round your neighborhood, Sam, and find a brother member at the helm, so if you see any of our friends, say howdy to them for us and be sure to stop in at the Club.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

NAME _____

POSITION _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

DATE OF BIRTH _____

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

A. MILAM WILSON is the owner and manager of the Rex Theatre, in Wewoka, Okla., and the Liberty Theatre, in Sasakawa, Okla. In addition to these two jobs, he is a partner in a law firm in Wewoka. What do you do in your spare time, Milam? This aggressive showman isn't even thirty years old yet, so we're willing to bet our last dollar that he's going to get places.

▽

EUGEN MOLL
is the manager of the Primus Palast, Berlin, Germany, and while recently we have had quite a few new members from Germany, there haven't been very many from Berlin proper, so we're hoping that Eugen will sort of take it upon himself to keep us informed of things around his territory. How about it, can we count on you?

▽

E. PORTA & N. WESTWOOD
Porta is the proprietor of the Embassy and Victoria Theatres, in Hankow, China, and while visiting in Shanghai he and NORMAN WESTWOOD got together and decided to send in their applications together. Norman is the general manager of Universal Pictures Corporation of China, with headquarters in Shanghai. We bid both of these members welcome and hope to hear from them again soon.

▽

HARRY BEENCKEN
manages the Capitol Theatre in Wesermunde-Lehe, Bremerhaven, Germany, and if he's been following our pages as closely as we imagine he has, he's noticed the cuts and captions we've run on stunts received from our foreign membership. How about contributing to this page, Harry?

▽

W. A. JOHANNSEN, JR.
has the manager's job at the Wonderland Theatre in Paullina, Iowa, and he's a twenty-year-old youngster who tells us that he entered showbusiness at the tender age of fourteen. His father bought a theatre and he became interested in it. Sort of sounds as though it were in the blood. He further adds that in addition to managing the house he works in the booth, which ought to keep two men busy, eh what?

▽

HENRY A. STEIBING
who is the manager of the Feeley, in Hazleton, Penna., joins the Club and sends along his subscription to the Herald for three years, which is certainly an auspicious beginning for anyone. The Feeley is the first house Henry has managed, having worked there as usher, assistant and finally his present job. Going straight on up, aren't you? More power to you and let's it on the stunts you are putting over at your house.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22,'34	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73	Feb. 17,'34
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5,'34	65
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25,'34	62

Coming Feature Attractions

Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67	Jan. 20,'34
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63	Jan. 20,'34
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26	64	Jan. 13,'34
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31,'34	69
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5,'34	62
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60	Jan. 27,'34
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Don't Fall in Love	Grace Moore
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Headed for Trouble	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Highway Patrol	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes	76. Feb. 10,'34
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Most Precious Thing in Life	Karen Morley-Richard Cromwell
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Party's Over, The
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore-Carole Lombard	84 Oct. 21
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15	62
Fantomas	Jean Gallard	Feb. 15,'34	59
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5,'34

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 13,'34 58

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64	Feb. 17,'34
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34	72	Nov. 25
Fashion Follies of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34	78	Jan. 13,'34
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34	65
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69	Jan. 27,'34
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	Frankie Darro-Dorothy Coonan	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Hit Me Again	Joan Blondell-Warren William
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10,'34
Modern Hero, A (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Richard Barthelmess	Apr. 28,'34
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 21,'34
Sawdust (Tent.)	Joe E. Brown
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis	90. Feb. 17,'34

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34	95.	Feb. 3,'34
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16,'34	60.	Feb. 17,'34
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34	72
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66.	Feb. 10,'34
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34	65
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85.	Jan. 27,'34
I Believed in You	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34	65.	Feb. 17,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy-Claire Trevor	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman - Marian Nixon - Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Sleepers East (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34	69
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 27,'34
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles	Apr. 13,'34
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9,'34 80. Jan. 27,'34
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23,'34
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34
Follies, The	(All Star Musical)	Mar. 30,'34
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Preston Foster	Apr. 6,'34
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer	95. Aug. 12
"Scandals" (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16,'34
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23,'34
Too Many Women	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 18,'34

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27,'34	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Aunt Sally	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang		69
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15,'34	85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Hensen		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		88
Love in Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67.	Oct. 15,'32
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
Quitter, The	Phillips Holmes-Leila Hyams
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74	Feb. 17,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Madora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold-John Miljan

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July 1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 8
Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16,'34	78
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19,'34	117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Mystery of Mr. X	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23,'34	85
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert	Feb. 9,'34	103	Dec. 30
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 10
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68	Jan. 20,'34
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2,'34	76	Jan. 27,'34
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76	Feb. 3,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26,'34	85	Feb. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Lady Mary's Lover	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall	Mar. 16,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez
Louisiana	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 2,'34
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy		75	Feb. 17,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone
Show-off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 23,'34
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa! (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Mar. 9,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5	54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22,'34	56	Jan. 27,'34
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July 25	55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15	56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58	Jan. 27,'34
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57	Feb. 10,'34
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15	65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb. 15,'34	55	Jan. 20,'34
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 7,'34	64	Jan. 27,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb. 22,'34	72
Blue Steel	John Wayne
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane
Derby Day
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar. 15,'34
Numbers of Monte Carlo
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22	75	Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19,'34	71	Jan. 13,'34
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug. 18	72	Aug. 5
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23,'34	80	Feb. 17,'34
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29	88	Nov. 25
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell	Dec. 8	75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1	68	Nov. 25
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLagen	Feb. 23,'34	72	Feb. 17,'34
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2,'34	75	Jan. 20,'34
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24	80	Dec. 2
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9,'34	65	Jan. 27,'34
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug. 11	92	July 1
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug. 25	82	July 29
Three-Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug. 4	72	Aug. 12
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Harry Wilcoxin
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23,'34
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30,'34	78	Jan. 20,'34
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West
Man Who Broke His Heart, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Preston Foster-Victor McLaglen	Mar. 16,'34
Melody in Spring (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Mar. 30,'34
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson-Victor McLaglen
Scarlet Empress, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9,'34	78
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft-Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Ethel Merman - Carole Lombard - Leon Errol
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan	Feb. 2,'34	55
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8	42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Desperate Trails	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug. 4	62	Oct. 21
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug. 18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29	53
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29	80	Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	66
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2,'34	68	Jan. 27,'34
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1	66	Dec. 23
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19,'34	63
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb. 16,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb. 9,'34	92	Jan. 20,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12,'34	62
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn-D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 11	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 18	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26,'34	74	Jan. 20,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Alien Corn	Ann Harding
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 6,'34
Dover Road	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	Mar. 23,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea	Apr. 27,'34
I Love an Actress	Gregory Ratoff	Apr. 20,'34
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	Apr. 13,'34
Sing and Like It	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	May 4,'34
Spitfire (See "Trigger," "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Katharine Hepburn	Mar. 30,'34	84
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante-Lupe Velez
Success Story	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar. 9,'34
Transient Love	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Mar. 16,'34
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15,'34	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62	Feb. 10,'34
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
St. Louis Woman		Mar. 15,'34
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood	Dec. 15	69	Feb. 17,'34
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3,'34
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts.	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan. 12,'34	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10,'34	56
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan. 27,'34	70	Feb. 10,'34
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		55	Jan. 20,'34
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts.	July 19	70	July 29
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		John W. Boyle		70	Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Feb. 16,'34	83	Jan. 27,'34
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Mar. 16,'34	91	Feb. 10,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March - Constance Bennett-Fay Wray
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9,'34	80	Feb. 3,'34
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2,'34	85	Jan. 13,'34
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Mar. 16,'34	99	Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	82	Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34	68	Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34	77	Jan. 27,'34
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34	68
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8,'34	70	Jan. 6,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29,'34	80
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug. 3	84	Sept. 2
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale -Donna Damerell-Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19,'34	64

Coming Feature Attractions

Countess of Monte Cristo (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas	Mar. 19,'34
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34	78
Elizabeth and Mary	Margaret Sullavan-Lowell Sherman - Mrs. Leslie Carter
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr. 2,'34
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard	Apr. 16,'34
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 26,'34
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	Apr. 30,'34
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12,'34
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Uncertain Lady	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr. - Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13,'34	61	Jan. 20,'34
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24,'34	68	Feb. 10,'34
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	76	Dec. 2
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr. 14,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fog Over Frisco (T.)	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon-Paul Kelly
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar. 31,'34
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr. 7,'34	65
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar. 3,'34	63
Hot Air	Dick Powell - Pat O'Brien - Ginger Rogers
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar. 17,'34
Key, The	Kay Francis - William Powell - Colin Clive
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
One Man's Woman	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor-Ginger Rogers
Without Honor	James Cagney-Joan Blondell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril McLaglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconneti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb. 8,'34	90	Feb. 17,'34
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6,'34	92
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilleton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz in A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Banker Buckeroos		2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
Elmer Steps Out		2 rls.
Walter Catlett
Hold Your Temper	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Radio-dough	Feb. 5,'34
Sidney and Murray
Ten Baby Fingers	Jan. 15,'34
Sidney and Murray
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Southern Exposure		1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Tom Thumb		1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	1 rl.
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—School for Romance	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Lou Holtz
No. 4—Love Detectives
Frank Albertson
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse		1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Language		1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9
Winter Thrills		1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Dawn to Dawn	Dec. 25	35
Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness
Lot in Sodom	Dec. 25	26
Frederic Haak
No Woman's Land		45
(Travelogue)

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17	2 rls.
Hello, Prosperity	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13	2 rls.
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16,'34	1 rl.
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3	2 rls.
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8	2 rls.
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34	2rls.
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6	2 rls.
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
What's To Do	Nov. 24	17
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25	2 rls.
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8	2 rls.
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18	2 rls.
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27	2 rls.
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15	24
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Helen Morgan
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
Trav'liing the Road	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16,'34
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.	1 rl.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8	1 rl.
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30	2 rls.
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11	2 rls.
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15	16
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22	16
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family in America		1 rl.
2. A Visit to West Point		1 rl.
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		1 rl.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Melodies of Love
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody in Black		1 rl.
Gary-Rawlinson-White
Wine, Woman and Song		1 rl.
Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer		2 rls.
Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17,'34	19
Next Week-End	Apr. 7,'34	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	2 rls.
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11	2 rls.
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Four Parts	Mar. 31,'34	18
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		1 rl.
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	1 rl.
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Paleface	Aug. 12	8
Soda Squirt		7
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
Perils of Arsenic Annie		1 rl.
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13,'34	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Jail Birds in Paradise	Feb. 24,'34	2 rls.
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	2 rls.
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
Roping Wild Bears	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	2 rls.
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10,'34	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31,'34	2 rls.
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker	Dec. 9	7
Hell's Fire	Jan. 6,'34	7
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1	1 rl.
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1,'34	1 rl.
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1,'34	1 rl.
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1,'34	1 rl.
6. Jungle Bound	May 1,'34	1 rl.
7. The Last Resort	June 1,'34	1 rl.
8. Mother Ganges	July 1,'34	1 rl.
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1,'34	1 rl.
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1,'34	1 rl.
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1,'34	1 rl.
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1,'34	1 rl.
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1,'34	1 rl.

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
I Heard	Sept. 1	7
Don Redmond
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6	7
Rubinoff
Old Man of the Mountains	Aug. 4	7
Cab Calloway
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	7
HEADLINERS
Broadway Knight	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Yacht Club Boys
Bundle of Blues, A	Sept. 1	10
Duke Ellington
Captain Henry's Radio Show	Aug. 11	11
Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27	11
Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24	11
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Rumba Rhythm	Sept. 29	6
Vincent Lopez
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	10
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	10
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	11
No. 8	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
No. 10	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	11
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
No. 8—	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
Can You Take It	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	6
Seek-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10	10
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12,'34	10
Gertrude Niesen
Lazy Bones	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	8
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15	9
Baby Rose Marie
Stoopnocracy	Aug. 18	7
Stoopnagle and Budd
Tune Up and Sing	Mar 9,'34	1 rl.
Lanny Ross
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba	Sept. 16	7
Mills Bros.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 8	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	11
No. 8—Horse Power	Feb. 16,'34	11

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23,'34.	10....
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13,'34.	1 rl..
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo Harry Langdon	Feb. 16,'34.	21....
Cold Turkey Joseph Cawthorn	Dec. 1	19....
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19....
Gold Nuggets Walter Catlett	Feb. 2,'34.	18....
Just an Echo Bing Crosby	Jan. 19,'34.	20....
Marriage Humor Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19....
Meet the Champ Eugene Pallette- Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21....
New Dealers, The Pallette-Catlett	Apr. 6,'34.	2 rls.
No More Bridge Leon Errol	Mar. 16,'34.	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5,'34.	20....
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21....
One Awful Night Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21....
Please Bing Crosby	Dec. 15	22....
Roaming Romeo, A Harry Langdon	Dec. 29	21....
Sailors, Beware Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18....
Three Little Swigs Leon Errol	Nov. 10	21....
Up and Down Franklin Pangborn	Mar. 2,'34.	2 rls.

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7....
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14,'34.	7....
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19....
Cuba	Sept. 27	21....
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7....
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34.	7....
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20....
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	8....
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34.	7....
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27....
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20	9....
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7....
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32....

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34.	1 rl..
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34.	11....
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9,'34.	21....
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20....
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19....
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissue)
The Cure	Aug. 19	20....
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21....
The Count	Nov. 17	21....
The Immigrant	Jan. 19,'34.	21....
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½..
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34.	2 rls.
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20....
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2,'34.	21....
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19....
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20....
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	1 rl..
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7....
Cubby's World Flight	Aug. 25	7....
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl..
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl..
Good Knight	Feb. 23,'34.	7½..
Nut Factory	Aug. 11	1 rl..
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34.	1 rl..
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19....
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19....
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20....
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21....
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34.	2 rls.
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20....
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½..
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½..
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21....
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over Ethel Waters	Jan. 5,'34.	20....
Henry the Ape Bert Lahr	Jan. 26,'34.	2 rls.
Hizzoner Bert Lahr	Nov. 17	21½..
Knife of the Party Lillian Miles	Feb. 16,'34.	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy Cliff Edwards	Dec. 8	21½..
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½..
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½..
Torch Tango	Feb. 23,'34.	21....
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Elv Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17....
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21....
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29	21....
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15....
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21....
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20....
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7....
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34.	7....
Jolly Good Fellows	Feb. 16,'34.	1 rl..
Marching Along	Oct. 27	7....
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7....
Pals		1 rl..
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34.	28....
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8	10½..
Cuba	Nov. 10	10½..
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean
Holy Land	Feb. 16,'34.	10....
Madeira, Land of Wine
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34.	10....

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26....
Killing to Live		17....
Kino Displays		18....
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23....
Terrors of the Amazon		29....
CELEBRITY
Jack and the Beanstalk		6....
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10....
My Side of the Story David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10....
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23....
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9....
Evolution		28....
Goofy Games		8....
Mystic East, The		10....
Next War, The		26....
We're on Our Way		9....
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30....
INVINCIBLE
Snowman		10....
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8....
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8....
Glimpses of Germany		8....
Green Heart of Germany, The		20....
Springtime on the Rhine		7....
The Mosel		8....
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6....
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10....
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl..
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl..

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7....
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6....
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7....
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steepie Chase	Sept. 1	7....
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22	8....
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7....
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34.	7....
3. Playful Pluto
4. Camping Out	Feb. 16,'34.	7....
SILLY SYMPHONIES
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8....
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8....
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8....
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7....
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7....
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8....
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34.	8....
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 15,'34.	8....

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8....
No. 2	Oct. 1	10....
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl..
No. 4	Jan. 29,'34.	1 rl..
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34.	1 rl..
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34.	8½..
County Fair	Feb. 5,'34.	1 rl..
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8....
Gingerbread Boy	Mar. 12,'34.	1 rl..
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7....
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8....
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7....
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19,'34.	1 rl..
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl..
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9....
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7....
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers Louis Sobol—No. 3		21....
Peeping Tom Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17....
Boswell Sisters, The Nick Kenny—No. 4	Dec. 6	21....
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19....
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9....
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl..
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9....
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9....
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10....
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34.	1 rl..
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26,'34.	1 rl..
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21....
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21....
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21....
Born April First Sterling Holloway	Mar. 14,'34.	2 rls.
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34.	2 rls.
Full Coverage Henry Armetta	Feb. 28,'34.	2 rls.
Meeting Mazie Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20	20....
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3,'34.	18....
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	20....
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19....
Open Sesame Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20....
Out of Gas Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	21....
Paisie Walsie Henry Armetta	Jan. 31,'34.	20....
Pie for Two James Gleason	Dec. 13	21....
Stung Again Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18....
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18....
Trifle Backward, A Vince Barnett	Jan. 17,'34.	19½..
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34.	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19....
Where's Elmer? Vince Barnett	Feb. 7,'34.	20....

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19....
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy Jack Haley	Sept. 16	21....
No. 2—Close Relations Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30	20....
No. 3—Gobs of Fun George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21	21....
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy	Nov. 4	21....
No. 5—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25	22....
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie Ben Blue	Dec. 9	18....
No. 7—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30	21....
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34.	18....
No. 9—Nervous Hands Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34.	21....
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34.	21....
No. 11—Mushrooms Harry Gribbon	Feb. 14,'34.	2 rls.
No. 12—Foiled Again Ben Blue	Mar. 24,'34.	2 rls.
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34.	2 rls.
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34.	2 rls.
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34.	2 rls.
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19....
No. 26—The "No" Man Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19....
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2	18....
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President Ethel Waters	Sept. 9	20....
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23	20....
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. Gusy Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7	21....
No. 5—Operator's Opera Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14	21....
No. 6—'Tis Spring Patricia Ellis- Allen Jenkins (Technicolor)	Oct. 28	19....
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast Tom Patricola	Nov. 11	20....
No. 8—The Mild West Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18	23....
No. 9—Girl Trouble Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2	23....
No. 10—Around the Clock Norma Terris- Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16	29....
No. 11—Plane Crazy Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23	22....
No. 12—Kissing Time Jane Froman- Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16	22....
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34.	29....
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine Frank McHugh- Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27,'34.	21....
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34.	21....
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34.	10....
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure	Mar. 3,'34.	2 rls.
No. 18—Silver Living Dorothy Stone	Mar. 17,'34.	2 rls.
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office Jean Sargent	Mar. 31,'34.	2 rls.
No. 20—Story Conference Lillian Roth	Apr. 7,'34.	2 rls.
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21,'34.	2 rls.
No. 22—Private Lessons Hal LeRoy	June 5,'34.	22....
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8	1 rl..
No. 5—Impact	July 15	1 rl..
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10....
LOONEY TUNES
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7....
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man		7....
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7....
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show		7....
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	8....
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7....
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	May 12,'34.	7....
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34.	1 rl..
No. 5—Buddy and Towser		1 rl..
No. 6—Buddy's Garage		1 rl..
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9....
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20....
No. 13—A Castilian Garden Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9....
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10....
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues Claude Hopkins and Band		9....
No. 3—Rubinoff and Orchestra		10....
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10....
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10....
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10....
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10....
No. 8—Isham Jones	Mar. 17,'34.	1 rl..
No. 9—Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34.	1 rl..
No. 10—Vincent Lopez	May 12,'34.	1 rl..
No. 11—Tin Hat Harmony Abe Lyman	May 12,'34.	1 rl..
No. 12—B. A. Wolfe	July 7,'34.	1 rl..
No. 13—D. Mendoza and Vitaphone Band	Aug. 4,'34.	1 rl..
MERRY MELODIES
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7....
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7....
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7....
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7....
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7....
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7....
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7....
No. 13—We're in the Money		7....
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7....
No. 2—Sitting on a Back Yard Fence		1 rl..
No. 3—Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27,'34.	1 rl..
No. 4—Honeymoon Hotel	Feb. 17,'34.	7....
PEPPER POT
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10....
No. 2—Admission 5c		10....
No. 3—Rock-a-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell		11....
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8....
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8....
No. 6—Harry Warren		10....
No. 7—Easy Aces		10....
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10....
No. 9—Movie Memories		9....
No. 10—The Tune Detective Sigmund Spaeth		9....
No. 11—Mississippi Suite		9....
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail Block and Sully		10....
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11....
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2		1 rl..
No. 15—Pure Feud		1 rl..
No. 16—Radio Ramblers		1 rl..
No. 17—Lulu McConnell		1 rl..
No. 18—Good Old Days		1 rl..
No. 19—Radio Reels Jessel—Van		1 rl..
No. 20—Charles Ahearn		1 rl..
No. 21—Little Jack Little		1 rl..
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2		1 rl..
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby		1 rl..
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD ADVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl..
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl..
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10....
No. 13—Top of the World		10....
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl..
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl..
No. 3—Heart of Paris		10....
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		11....
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl..
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl..
No. 7—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl..
No. 8—Picturesque Siam		1 rl..
No. 9—Slackers of the Jungle		1 rl..
No. 10—East Indies		1 rl..
No. 11—Central America		1 rl..
No. 12—Dark Africa		1 rl..
No. 13—South Sea Islands		1 rl..

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown- Noah Beery	July 6 (each)	20....
Lost Jungle, The Clyde Beatty	Apr. 1,'34. (each)	20....
Mystery Squadron, The Bob Steele	Dec. 23 (each)	20....
Three Musketeers, The John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls.
Lost World Clyde Beatty		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11 (each)	20....
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14 (each)	20....
Perils of Pauline Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6 (each)	20....
Phantom of the Air Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22 (each)	20....
Pirate Treasure Richard Talmadge- Lucille Lund	Jan. 29,'34. (each)	20....
Vanishing Shadow, The Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23,'34. (each)	20....

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

ONE PAIR REFLECTOR ARCS, $150.00; 5 HORSE, single phase motor, $50.00. BOX 445, GLASGOW, KY.

BARGAIN: COMPLETE REBUILT SIMPLEX projectors and low intensity lamps. Also 75 to 150 ampere Hertner generator, good as new. JOE GOLDBERG, Inc., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

HOLMES PROJECTOR, WEBER SOUND track, amplifier, speaker, complete $250.00. DION, 78 Amber St., Buffalo, N. Y.

600 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS CHEAP. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY SALE—BUY AT YOUR own figure. Standard brands — Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio, Sacrifice prices. Lists mailed. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

USED THEATRE CHAIRS. LOWEST PRICES. largest stock, all kinds, parts for all chairs. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston St., Chicago.

PATRONIZE MONARCH'S SPECIAL BARGAIN counter: Rebuilt projectors, generators, rectifiers, reflector arc lamps, Mazda lamphouses, screens, chairs, lenses, portables, amplifiers, sound heads. All theatre equipment. Satisfactory trades completed. Expert projector repairing and service. Established 25 years. Free list. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

POSITIONS WANTED

YOUNG MAN, ASSISTANT MANAGER, DESIRES position. Will invest. BOX 367, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

UNION PROJECTIONIST EIGHTEEN YEARS' experience — 5 years' sound — married — references. GEORGE GODLEY, Pollock St., New Bern, N. C.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

NEW EQUIPMENT

CONVERT YOUR OBSOLETE SOUND SYSTEM to Wide Range brand new heads for Simplex and Powers from $83.00 up. Investigate our other items at special prices. Consulting engineering services gratis. Let us advise you. NEW ENGLAND MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENT CORP., 356 Worthington St., Springfield, Mass.

TRAILER REEL, A NECESSITY APPRECIATED by all operators, $1.00; main driving gear for Simplex, $4.00—a spare gear is invaluable in every theatre; exciter lamps, 6—$3.00 guaranteed; bargain beauty baby spots, new factory seconds, $4.75—251 watt bulb, $1.35. Get your supply. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

TRADE WITH "OLD RELIABLE MONARCH." Established 25 years. Most complete stock theatre equipment, sound accessories, supplies. Money saving prices. Our central location assures snappy service. Catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

THEATRE PROGRAMS

THE LARGEST PROGRAM PRINTERS IN THE Middle West now offer four-page two-color programs on enamel paper folded and delivered in the Central States at the following prices: 5,000, $8.75; 3,000, $6.75; 2,000, $5.75; 1,000, $5.00. THEATRE PRINTING CO., 720 So. Dearborn St., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT FRANCHISE HOLDERS IN EVERY state in U. S. to handle distribution of theatrical and non-theatrical pictures. Catholic feature now ready for release. Don't answer unless able to finance franchise and post bond for territory. Send complete data in first letter. BOX 347A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED PIPE ORGAN. NO AUTOMATICS. State particulars and price wanted in first letter. Cash. HODGSON ORGAN CO., 608 Duke St., Norfolk, Va.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

OLD GOLD ISN'T MORE VALUABLE — LOOK around—we'll take old equipment for cash or trade. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.25 F.O.B. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

NEARGRAVURE—125 2-COLOR LETTERHEADS, 125 envelopes, $1.89 prepaid. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Indiana.

THEATRES WANTED

LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, MINIMUM POPULation 15,000, in the East or Middle West. BOX 370, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO BUY OR LEASE THEATRE IN Ohio, Indiana or Illinois. BOX 368, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

"FEEL QUITE CONTENT WITH S. O. S.!" says Meladen, Merida, Yuc.—You can have S. O. S. Wide Fidelity, too, from $179.70. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

COMPLETE BOOTH EQUIPMENT AND SOUND equipment. New and rebuilt. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

TWO POWERS 6B PROJECTORS LOW INtensity lamps, rectifiers, complete $300.00. 602 Phillips Ave., Toledo, Ohio

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

Coming: A Fourth Year of ACHIEVEMENT

SINCE Eastman Super-sensitive Panchromatic Negative was introduced early in 1931, its revolutionary qualities have fulfilled every hope and prediction of its sponsors. It has helped cameramen and producers so tremendously... it has affected the motion picture art so profoundly...it has contributed to so many cinematic triumphs, that a further prediction can now be made: In its fourth year, as heretofore, this Eastman film will be an important factor in the most conspicuous motion picture achievements. Eastman Kodak Company. (J.E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-sensitive Panchromatic Negative

GEORGE RAFT

BOLERO

with CAROLE LOMBARD SALLY RAND the fan dancer FRANCES DRAKE

A Paramount Picture . . . Directed by Wesley Ruggles

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD
A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

CODE ASSENT DEADLINE POSTPONED TO MARCH 10

Code Authority Sets Back Date When Allied Withdraws Suit After NRA Rules That Signing of Assent Blanks Upholds Legal Rights

EXECUTIVES' SALARIES AS REPORTED TO SENATE

A Listing of Bonuses and Salaries of Film Leaders as Submitted by Federal Trade Commission and Compared with Those of Other Businesses

KEY CITY EXHIBITORS ARGUE TRADE PRACTICES

Methods of Merchandising Reawaken "Trade War" in Kansas City; Illinois Votes Out Double Featuring; New Scales for Detroit Theatres

...E-CODING THE CODE: PRODUCTION TRADE PRACTICES

...ol. 114, No. 10 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879 ... lished Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 ... March 3, 1934

CREAM OF TODAY'S NEWS!

1—"CAT AND THE FIDDLE" opening engagements packing them in. (Novarro and Jeanette Mac Donald's love songs captivate audiences.)

2—"MYSTERY OF MR. X" rated swell entertainment, wins unanimous praise of New York critics. (Bob Montgomery's handsomest starring role and a perfect exploitation picture.)

3— GARBO in "Secret Loves of QUEEN CHRISTINA" continues happy box-office career.

4— M-G-M execs in California get first glimpse of SHEARER in "Rip Tide". Oh boy! Just wait!

5— VIVA VILLA! VIVA VILLA! VIVA VILLA! That's what the whole world will be shouting. (And Wallace Beery tops his best in it!)

America's showmen are GOING TO TOWN

March 6th

for the big

National Trade Exhibit of Spring Product to be held by

WARNER BROS.

In All Warner Exchange Cities

"Exhibitors can do so much more in the selling and exploiting of pictures that they have seen than with those they simply have to take for granted . . . that they should take advantage of every opportunity to see as many pictures as they possibly can before booking them . . . It will pay dividends". . . Take this hot tip from the February 24th issue of "Box-Office" and see —

"Wonder Bar"°

Chatterton in "Journal of a Crime"°

"As the Earth Turns"*

Stanwyck in "Gambling Lady"*

Cagney in "Jimmy the Gent"*

Hal LeRoy in "Harold Teen"*

Last call for the big round-up of ace exhibitors! Tuesday's the date. Don't let anything or anybody keep you away!

ner Bros. Picture National Picture
ph, Inc., Distributors

WARNER BROS.' NEW STARS ARE NEWS!

JEAN MUIR SCORES TRIUMPH IN "AS THE EARTH TURNS"

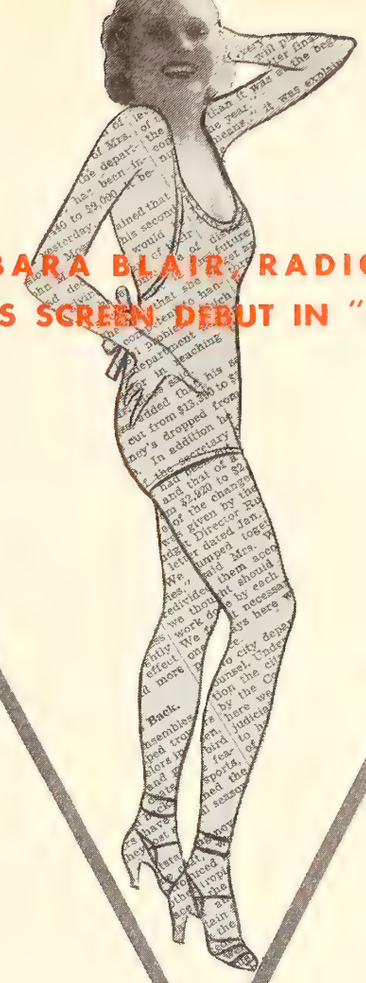
"RHYTHM IN THE AIR" MARKS DICK POWELL'S RISE TO STARDOM

DS BRILLIANT
G OVER 'FRISCO"

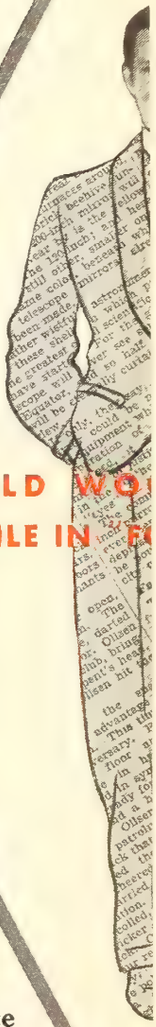
VERREE TEASDA
SATION, REPEAT

ALINE MACMAHON CLICKS AS STAR IN "WOMAN IN HER THIRTIES"

WATCH FOR "DAMES," FIRST KEELER-POWELL STAR-TEAM VEHICLE



HAL LEROY HAILED BY TRADE PRESS IN "HAROLD TEEN"



"FASHIONS" SEN-
"MODERN HERO"

EDNA BEST, FAMED STAGE STAR, SIGNED FOR "THE KEY"

BARBARA BLAIR, RADIO ACE, MAKES SCREEN DEBUT IN "DAMES"

DONALD WO
JUVENILE IN "F

PAT O'BRIEN WINS BIG STARRING CHANCE IN "ONE-MAN WOMAN"

Yet these powerful box-office personalities are just a few of the latest additions to the lavish Warner star list which provides you with one or more of these great name attractions every week in the year—

Kay Francis . . . Leslie Howard
William Powell . . . Paul Muni
James Cagney . . R. Barthelmess
Joe E. Brown . . . . Al Jolson
Barbara Stanwyck . Ricardo Cortez
Edw. G. Robinson . Warren William
Ruth Chatterton . . Mary Astor
Joan Blondell . . . Ann Dvorak
Bette Davis . . Adolphe Menjou

Virile!

NICK FORAN

Typical of clean, young American manhood ... carefree, confident, with a thoroughly engaging smile. Six-feet three of red-headed vigor ... 200 pounds of lithe-limbed muscle. His, too, is a brilliant baritone voice ... rich, powerful, true. "Fox Follies" marks his first motion picture appearance. His performance fully justifies the fine plans FOX is making for him.

TEN MORE BOARDS NAMED; CONTRACT RULING FOUGHT

Distributors Refuse to Accept Retroactive 10 Per Cent Elimination Provision Despite Decision of NRA Legal Staff

Further development of the physical machinery for administering the code in the field by the establishment of ten more local boards, and an open refusal by large distributors to agree with Sol A. Rosenblatt's recent decision making the 10 per cent elimination clause retroactive, were the code highlights involving distributors and exhibitors during the week, which also witnessed another postponement for filing code acceptances, this time to March 10. Events which brought about the fourth postponement of the assent deadline, including Allied's withdrawal of its suit against the Code Authority, and a ruling by the NRA on qualified assents, are reported in detail on page 19.

At New York, sub-committees of the Code Authority were completing a manual of procedure for the local boards and a plan for collecting assessments for code administration from every industry member.

At Washington, General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, made public a 12-point program for effecting wide revisions in all codes in order to meet the Administration's desire for code uniformity and adequate protection of minority groups.

Ten More Local Boards Named

Following a meeting in New York on Monday, and adding to the 42 boards announced last week (see MOTION PICTURE HERALD of February 24, page 10, for names), the Code Authority made public the personnel structure of ten more boards, bringing the completed total to date to 26 Local Grievance and 26 Local Clearance Boards.

Five more boards of each type are still to be named, and these from New York, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Washington, D. C. The Code Authority's sub-committee on board selections continued meeting to pick the personnel of these boards. Obstacles to selections exist in practically each of these instances.

Boards, Grievance and Clearance, announced this week, are for Albany, Atlanta, Chicago, Cleveland and Milwaukee.

Boards announced last week will operate code machinery at Buffalo, Charlotte, Cincinnati, Dallas, Denver, Des Moines, Detroit, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Memphis, Minneapolis, New Haven, New Orleans, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Pittsburgh, Portland, Ore., St. Louis, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Name Some "Impartial" Members

Members of both Local Grievance and Local Clearance Boards are divided equally among large and independent distributors and affiliated and unaffiliated exhibitors. Also, each board shall have one non-industry members as the direct representative of the Code Authority. Appointments of such "impartial" non-industry members to ten of the boards announced last week were made public at this week's meeting of the Code Authority, subject to the approval of the Division Administration, as follows:

BUFFALO

On Grievance Board: MILTON GUGGENHEIMER, retired merchant.

Clearance Board: DR. PETER C. CORNELL, physician.

DENVER

Grievance Board: J. GLEN DONALDSON, of state Attorney General's staff.

Clearance Board: CLARENCE K. GOULD, lumber man and identified with First National Bank of Denver.

PITTSBURGH

Grievance Board: AARON M. JAFFE, attorney.

Clearance Board: SAMUEL J. HORVITZ.

PORTLAND, ORE.

Grievance Board: JUDGE ASHBY DICKSON.

Clearance Board. BERT HANEY, Chairman, Portland Port Commission.

SALT LAKE CITY

Grievance Board: SAMUEL POWELL, President, Utah Bar Association.

Clearance Board: JOSEPH H. RAYBURN, Assistant State Director, CWA.

Personnel Selected for Five Key Cities' Local Clearance and Grievance Groups, Also Non-Industry Members Elsewhere

Monday's meeting of the Code Authority in New York brought forth from Warner Brothers, Paramount, Fox, RKO and MGM an open refusal to accept a previous ruling by Division Administrator Rosenblatt that the code's 10 per cent elimination privilege must apply to pictures played or released after December 7—the effective date of the code—even though such pictures were contracted for before December 7.

The distributors contend that neither Mr. Rosenblatt nor the NRA has any right under the code to disturb contracts which existed prior to December 7, and it has been indicated frequently in distribution circles that any attempt to effect such a ruling would result in the distributors bringing the matter to the courts.

Since Mr. Rosenblatt's decision, which was made independent of the Code Authority, the NRA legal department at Washington has ruled that interpretations of code provisions by a deputy or division administrator shall prevail. Thus, Division Administrator Rosenblatt's decision officially was sustained by the NRA.

Distributors Seek Clarification

However, it is pointed out that Mr. Rosenblatt's interpretation requires clarification from the standpoint of the effective date iself, but also fails to specify a clear application of the ruling to different kinds of contracts and to pictures eligible for cancellation. It is maintained that there is no definition to show whether the 10 per cent cancellation applies on the total number of pictures contracted for months ago but undelivered on December 7, or only on the pictures which remained unplayed on that date. The definition also is held not to indicate whether it applies to pictures contracted for but not released on December 7, or only to contracts made on or after that date, regardless of whether the contracts themselves provided for a 10 per cent cancellation.

It is expected that decision will come when controversy over an individual case formally reaches the Code Authority. Exhibitor representatives on the Code Authority—Nathan Yamins, Charles L. O'Reilly and Ed Kuykendall—were not recorded as making any statement on the NRA ruling. W. Ray Johnston, independent distributor representative, was not

WEEK'S CODE DEVELOPMENTS

Important developments this week in the motion picture code situation affecting the procedure of making and showing motion pictures, follow:

1. GENERAL On This Page

(a) Code Authority named Grievance and Zoning Boards at Albany, Atlanta, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, and named "impartial" non-industry authority representatives for both types of boards at Buffalo, Denver, Pittsburgh, Portland, Salt Lake City.

(b) Large distributors openly admitted refusal to agree with NRA decision making ten per cent cancellation privilege retroactive.

(c) Code Authority was completing plans for assessing industry members for code administration expenses and for manual of procedure for local boards.

NEW ASSENT DEADLINE See Page 19

(a) Deadline for filing code assents postponed to March 10.

(b) Allied withdrew suit against Code Authority and then attacked "propagandists."

(c) NRA ruled on qualified code assents, saying signatures to assents do not cancel rights of signees to protest against code provisions, legally or otherwise.

(d) Code Authority had 9,200 code assents on hand.

TRADE PRACTICE BATTLES See Page 15

(a) Several trade practice conflicts in the field, between distributors and exhibitors and among competing exhibitors, were awaiting adjustment by local boards.

UNIONS AND THE CODE See Page 18

(a) First actual test in exhibition on right of labor to organize and bargain collectively occurs in New York as unskilled workers vote to strike.

DECODING THE CODE See Page 43

Sixth and final article, and third of the series on production: Explaining and Translating Code Provisions Affecting Production Trade Practices.

MEMBERS OF TEN MORE BOARDS aligned with the non-consenters and is understood to favor the ruling.

Attending Monday's meeting of the Code Authority were Charles Moskowitz, alternating for Nicholas M. Schenck, Loew's MGM; Neil Agnew, alternating for George Schaefer, Paramount; Major Leslie Thompson, alternate for M. H. Aylesworth, RKO; John D. Clark, alternating for Sidney R. Kent, Fox, and Harold S. Bareford, alternating for Harry M. Warner.

Code Assessments Due

When the Code Authority meets next in New York, probably on Monday, March 12th, its finance committee is expected to present for approval a schedule of amounts to be assessed against each industry member for code administrative expenses, in accordance with a provision in the code. There will also be presented a method for collecting such assessments, which, according to the NRA, must be "reasonable," and must be used for code administration only.

Coincidental with the withdrawal of Allied's suit over qualified code assents, and in which the Code Authority members were made defendants individually (see page 19), the NRA at Washington is planning to incorporate into the code of each industry a new provision which would relieve members of the Code Authorities from responsibility or legal liability of their fellow Authority members.

However, each Code Authority official would still be liable for his "own wilful mis-feasance or non-feasance."

Broad in its scope, and intended to relieve Code Authority members from just such suits as that filed by Allied, the NRA legal department's new code clause provides that "nothing contained in this code shall constitute the members of the Code Authority partners for any purpose, nor shall any member of the Code Authority be liable in any manner to any one for any act of any other member, official, agent or employee of the Code Authority, nor shall any member of the Code Authority, or agent thereof, exercising reasonable diligence in the conduct of his duties hereunder, be liable to anyone for any action or omission to act under this code, except for his own wilful mis-feasance or non-feasance."

Johnson Proposes Code Changes

A 12-point program for effecting necessary code changes was outlined by General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, at Washington on Tuesday, at the opening of a series of round-table discussions of codes of all industries with the code representatives and Code Authorities of each industry.

Opening the first conference, at which representatives of industry and the public were invited to voice their criticisms of the National Recovery Act and its administration, General Johnson beat the critics to the draw when he candidly admitted the existence of many weaknesses in both codes and compliance with codes. He promised that if any constructive suggestions resulted from the discussions, which will last until March 5, when President Roosevelt will address the gathering, such constructive suggestions would be incorporated in the program he has drafted.

A progress report will be made by the motion picture Code Authority at the Washington meetings. Scheduled to attend are S. R. Kent, J. Robert Rubin, Ed Kuykendall, C. L. O'Reilly, Nathan Yamins, W. Ray Johnston, George Schaefer and John C. Flinn.

Four Allied leaders—Abram Myers, Mr. Yamins, Sidney Samuelson and W. A. Steffes—were to appear Thursday before two divisions of the NRA meeting to criticize the effect of the code on independents.

Proposals for amendments of codes as a

(Continued on page 22)

KEY TO LISTINGS OF LOCAL BOARDS

In identifying the distribution or exhibition class represented by the members of the five new Local Grievance Boards and five new Local Clearance Boards, as announced on Monday by the Code Authority, the following key should be used:

CLEARANCE - ZONING BOARDS

1. Distributor representative with theatre affiliation.
2. Distributor without theatre affiliation.
3. Affiliated first-run theatre.
4. Independent first-run.
5 and 6. Independent subsequent runs.

GRIEVANCE BOARDS

1. Distributor with theatre affiliation.
2. Distributor without theatre affiliation.
3. Affiliated theatre.
4. Independent exhibitor.

ALBANY

Grievance Board

1. R. C. Halligan, RKO.
2. Charles Johnson, Columbia.
3. Lou Lazar, Warner Theatres.
4. Abe Stone, Albany.

Impartial Member—Shepard Z. Baum, Albany attorney.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. Ralph Pielow, M-G-M.
2. Nate Sauber, Universal.
3. Charles W. Koerner, RKO.
4. William Benton, Saratoga.
5. Charles Wilson, Troy.
6. Fred Mausert, Glens Falls.

Impartial Member—Judge David Wanger, Albany.

▽

ATLANTA

Grievance Board

1. Dave Prince, Paramount.
2. A. C. Bromberg, Monogram.
3. Lionel H. Keane, Loew's.
4. Nat M. Williams, Thomasville, Ga.

Impartial Member—Roy Le Craw, Atlanta. He is connected with State Life Insurance Co. of Indiana.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. J. H. Hamlin, M-G-M.
2. W. S. Anderson, Columbia.
3. R. B. Wilby, Paramount.
4. Oscar C. Lam, Rome.
5. Mitchell Wolfson, Miami.
6. Willis J. Davis, Atlanta.

Impartial Member—Alvin G. Maxwell, Atlanta. He is vice-president of the Citizens' and Southern National Bank.

▽

CHICAGO

Grievance Board

1. Charles Reagan, Paramount.
2. Irving W. Mandel, Security Pictures (Monogram).
3. James Coston, Warners.
4. Nate Wolf, Chicago.

Impartial Member—Lowell B. Mason, recommended by Chicago Chamber of Commerce.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. Felix Mendelssohn, M-G-M.
2. Henry Herbel, Universal.
3. Walter Immerman, B. & K.
4. Jack Rose, Chicago.
5. Jack Miller, Chicago Exhibitors Ass'n of Chicago.
6. Aaron Saperstein, Allied Theatres of Chicago.

Impartial Member—Judge Hugo Friend, circuit court.

▽

CLEVELAND

Grievance Board

1. Edwin J. Fontaine, Paramount.
2. H. C. Bissell, Columbia.
3. Nat Wolf, Warner Theatres
4. J. D. Kalafat, Cleveland.

Impartial Member—Judge Joseph H. Ackermann.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. Frank Drew, M-G-M.
2. Nat Lefton, Monogram.
3. Nat Holt, RKO Theatres.
4. John Huebner, Marion, O.
5. Martin G. Smith, Toledo.
6. Frank Gross, Cleveland.

Impartial Member—Jerome M. Friedlander.

▽

MILWAUKEE

Grievance Board

1. Sam Shurman, M-G-M.
2. George Ross, Columbia.
3. David E. Weshner, Warner Theatres.
4. Fred S. Meyer, president, M. P. T. O. of Wisconsin.

Impartial Member—Pierce Bitker, secretary, Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. R. T. Smith, Warner.
2. George L. Levine, Universal.
3. H. J. Fitzgerald, Fox Midwesco.
4. Tom Saxe, Madison.
5. William Ainsworth, Fond du Lac.
6. George Fisher, Milwaukee.

Impartial Member—Joseph G. Rhode.

Paramount Opposes Anti-Trust Awards

Paramount will file motions in Boston to have sections of Auditor Elias Field's report awarding E. M. Loew and nine associated companies $45,000 damages eliminated when the local exhibitors' anti-trust suit goes to trial in United States district court, Boston, in two weeks.

Following an earlier order authorizing Chase National Bank as trustee under a $13,717,819 Paramount bond indenture of August 1, 1930, to file claims against Paramount for the difference between the full amount of the indenture and the amount of valid claims filed by individual bondholders, Referee Davis Wednesday denied a petition of the Paramount trustees to have the Chase claim disallowed and expunged.

Individual claims aggregating $33,000 filed against Paramount Publix by 12 holders of Paramount Broadway bonds, and seven Allied Owners Corp. claims for $36,500 were disallowed and expunged Tuesday in New York by Referee Henry K. Davis when the claimants failed to appear at a hearing on objections to the claims.

FILM EXECUTIVES' PAY IS HIGHEST IN INDUSTRIES, COMMISSION FINDS

Motion Picture Remuneration Compared with That in Other Businesses; Bonuses Boost Figures in Many Instances

The Federal Trade Commission's story of huge salaries and bonuses paid to executives of nearly 1,000 corporations from 1928 through 1933 was released to the nation Monday when that body laid its findings before the United States Senate. The report revealed that salaries and "other compensations" of motion picture executives during the past five years averaged far in excess of practically every other major industry covered in the investigation.

Disclosures by the commission that many corporations paid hundreds of thousands of dollars to officers and directors through a combination of salaries and bonuses, on Wednesday led to the writing by Senator Gore of Oklahoma of an amendment to the pending tax bill imposing a tax of 80 per cent upon all compensation in excess of $75,000 received by any individual. It is provided that compensation shall be defined as including "salaries, commissions, emoluments and rewards and any other reward or bonus by whatever name known."

Figures on 101 major industrial concerns, including seven motion picture companies and the Radio Corporation of America, were made available immediately by the Commission and with but one or two exceptions the average motion picture salary plus bonus stood at the top of the list of the 101 industries.

Two exceptions included the salary and bonus details of E. G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, whose salary for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930 was only $12,000, but whose bonuses for that period totaled $3,470,789. Those were the boom years. Mr. Grace received no bonus after 1931 but his salary for 1932 and 1933 totaled $360,000.

The commission in its report disclosed the total salary and other compensation paid executives by a number of companies, including the following film concerns:

	1928		1932
	Cash Salary	Other compensation	Cash Salary	Other compensation
Columbia	$218,000	None	$298,883	None
Fox	135,500	$700	626,967	$2,850
Loew's	442,000	296,161	526,317	218,724
MGM	719,400	1,060,848	757,393	922,141
Paramount	990,630	930,410	636,975	95,000
RKO	262,709	1,200	315,043	6,160
Warner Bros.	998,119	8,805	758,623	121,920
Universal	327,030	660	302,535	None

Highest motion picture salaries and bonuses for individuals were attained in 1929 when Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky each received salaries of $130,000 and bonuses of $757,500, totaling $887,500. In 1932, Mr. Zukor received a salary of $96,031 from Paramount, while Mr. Lasky, who is now producing independently for Fox, was not listed. According to the commission's report, the highest individual motion picture salary received in 1933 went to Winfield Sheehan—$250,000. In 1929, Mr. Sheehan's salary was $129,727, in addition to a bonus for the year amounting to $20. He received no bonus in 1933.

One outstanding disclosure of the Commission's report was the fact that many companies, including motion picture concerns, dispensed higher compensation in 1932 at the height of the depression than they did during 1929, the last of the boom years.

The Commission also reported that Nicholas M. Schenck stood well up in the first ranks of high salaried industrial chieftains with a 1929 salary amounting to $92,000 and a bonus of $183,132. In 1930, however, Mr. Schenck's total compensations came to $449,538, and even in 1931, when depression's grip had made itself felt on every other industry—including Bethlehem Steel—Mr. Schenck's remunerations did not fall below $366,404.

Other Figures

Other figures on the motion picture industry showed Jack Leo, former Fox executive, with compensation of $37,640 in 1928, and $516,000 in 1930; Robert H. Cochrane, $35,000 in 1929 and $26,000 in 1932; Carl Laemmle, $132,000 in 1929 and $156,000 in 1932; Adolph Zukor, $372,389 in 1928 and $96,031 in 1932. In 1929, Sam Katz made $710,000 and in 1932 he was forced to do with but $78,392.

Arbitrarily selecting the salaries and bonuses of leaders in other industries, the following comparison with those of film executives is made:

G. W. Hill (American Tobacco)

	Salary	Bonus
1928	$ 75,000	$280,203
1929	144,500	461,113
1933	120,000	none listed

Nicholas M. Schenck

	Salary	Bonus
1928	$ 92,000	$183,132
1929	92,000	270,202
1933	59,800	none listed

R. P. Lamont (Amer. Steel)

1928	$ 60,000	$105,000

Sam Katz

1928	$104,000	$193,911

E. G. Grace (Bethlehem Steel)

1929	$ 12,000	$1,623,753
1930	12,000	1,015,591
1933	180,000	none listed

Sidney R. Kent

1929	$104,000	$603,000
1930	104,000	183 091
1933	60,060	none listed

The salaries of Messrs. Hill, Lamont and Grace are not the average remuneration for men in their position in the majority of large industrials, even for the period they were given, while the motion picture figures were. Compared with the average executive compensation for other industries, the comparison of the same film salaries would look something like this:

Nicholas M. Schenck

	Salary	Bonus
1928	$ 92,000	$183,132
1929	92,000	270,202
1933	59,800	none listed

George Eastman (Eastman Kodak)

	Salary	Bonus
1928	$ 50,000	none listed
1929	50,000	"
1932	11,538	"

Sam Katz

1928	$104,000	$193,911

Lamont Du Pont (E. I. Du Pont De Nemours)

1928	$ 99,999	none listed

Sidney R. Kent

1929	$104,000	$603,000
1930	104,000	183,091
1933	60,060	none listed

Harry F. Sinclair (Consolidated Oil Corp.)

1930	$130,000	$ 774
1933	106,310

Following is a breakdown of motion picture executives' salaries as made public on Monday by the Federal Trade Commission at Washington:

▽

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION

Harry Cohn:	Salary	Bonus	Total
1929	$127,000	$ 13,333	$140,333
1930	141,166	none listed	141,166
1931	189,333	"	189,333
1932	142,800	"	142,800
1933	145,600	"	145,600
Joe Brandt:
1930	103,916	none listed	103,916

▽

CONSOLIDATED FILM, INC.

H. J. Yates (P. & D.):	Salary	Bonus	Total
1928	$ 52,083	none listed	$ 52,083
1929	81,249	"	81,249
1930	75,000	"	75,000
1931	75,000	"	75,000
1932	75,000	"	75,000
1933	67,500	"	67,500

▽

FOX FILM CORPORATION

Winfield Sheehan:
1929	$129,727	$ 20	$129,747
1930	209,615	250,050	459,665
1931	269,647	100	269,747
1932	162,014	none listed	162,014
1933	250,000	"	250,000
Jack G. Leo:
1928	$ 37,640	none listed	$ 37,640
1930	16,000	$500,000	516,000
Sidney R. Kent:
1933	$ 60,060	none listed	$ 60,060

▽

LOEW'S, INC., and METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Nicholas M. Schenck:
1928	$ 92,000	$183,132	$275,132
1929	92,000	270,202	362,202
1930	92,000	357,538	449,538
1931	92,000	274,404	366,404
1932	87,725	133,328	221,053
1933	59,800	none listed	59,800
David Bernstein:
1928	$ 81,600	$109,879	$191,479
1929	94,400	162,121	256,521
1930	94,400	214,523	308,923
1931	94,400	164,642	259,042
1932	90,720	79,996	170,716
1933	59,800	none listed	59,800
Arthur M. Loew:
1928	$ 70,000	none listed	$ 70,000
1929	78,000	"	78,000
1930	78,000	"	78,000
1931	78,000	"	78,000
1932	113,000	"	113,000
1933	155,500	"	155,500
J. Robert Rubin:
1928	$ 88,400	none listed	$ 88,400
1929	88,400	"	88,400
1930	88,400	"	88,400
1931	88,400	"	88,400
1932	88,810	"	88,810
1933	57,460	"	57,460

(Continued on following page)

Gore Proposes Amendment to Pending Tax Bill Imposing 80% Assessment on All Compensation Exceeding $75,000

ON FILM EXECUTIVES' PAY CHECKS

(Continued from preceding page)

	Salary	Bonus	Total
David L. Loew:
1931	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
1932	51,250	"	51,250
1933	52,000	"	52,000
Leopold Friedman:
1931	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
1932	51,250	"	51,250
Felix F. Feist:
1933	$ 55,125	none listed	$ 55,125
Louis B. Mayer:
1933	$ 84,500	none listed	$ 84,500
Irving Thalberg:
1933	$135,200	none listed	$135,200

▽

PARAMOUNT PUBLIX CORPORATION

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Adolph Zukor:
1928	$130,000	$242,389	$372,389
1929	130,000	757,500	887,500
1930	130,000	228,614	358,614
1931	112,618	1,000	113,618
1932	96,031	none listed	96,031
Jesse L. Lasky:
1928	$130,000	$242,389	$372,389
1929	130,000	757,500	887,500
1930	130,000	228,614	358,614
1931	112,618	1,000	113,618
Elek John Ludvigh:
1928	$ 78,000	none listed	$ 78,000
1929	78,000	"	78,000
1930	78,000	"	78,000
1931	68,000	"	68,000
Sidney R. Kent:
1928	$104,000	$193,911	$297,911
1929	104,000	603,000	707,000
1930	104,000	183,091	287,091
1931	90,368	1,000	91,368
Ralph A. Kohn:
1928	$ 45,500	$ 57,800	$103,300
1929	52,000	303,000	355,000
1930	52,000	92,045	144,045
Emil E. Shauer:
1928	$ 65,000	none listed	$ 65,000
1929	65,000	"	65,000
1930	48,750	"	48,750
Albert A. Kaufman:
1928	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
1929	52,000	"	52,000
1930	65,000	"	65,000
1931	56,993	"	56,993
Sam Katz:
1928	$104,000	$193,911	$297,911
1929	104,000	606,000	710,000
1930	104,000	183,001	287,001
1931	90,368	1,000	91,368
1932	78,392	none listed	78,392
Herman Wobber:
1928	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
1929	52,000	"	52,000
1930	52,000	"	52,000
Harry M. Goetz:
1930	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
Emanuel Cohen:
1932	$173,142	none listed	$173,142
John Hertz:
1932	$ 97,055	none listed	$ 97,055

N.B.—No Paramount salaries were listed for 1933, the report having stated that "due to bankruptcy no salary payments are being made out of funds of Paramount Publix Corp."

▽

RADIO-KEITH-ORPHEUM CORPORATION

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Hiram S. Brown:
1929	$ 75,000	$ 60,826	$135,826
1930	75,000	97,697	172,697
1931	100,000	520	100,520
1932	80,000	440	80,440

NOTIFICATIONS BY TRADE PRESS

Notification of appointments to the various local clearance and zoning and grievance boards will reach members in the field only through the columns of the trade press. The Code Authority has sent no official notification to any appointees, nor does it intend to do so.

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Harold B. Franklin:
1933	$ 60,420	none listed	$ 60,420
B. B. Kahane:
1933	$ 46,858	none listed	$ 46,858

▽

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA

	Salary	Bonus	Total
James G. Harbord:
1928	$ 48,167	$ 48,755	$ 96,922
1929	60,000	73,540	133,540
1930	60,000	45,440	105,440
1931	42,000	2,220	44,220
1932	48,000	2,320	50,320
1933	48,000	none listed	48,000
David Sarnoff:
1928	$ 55,000	$ 41,115	$ 96,115
1929	105,000	103,693	208,693
1930	110,000	93,478	203,478
1931	110,000	1,840	111,840
1932	92,625	2,240	94,865
1933	51,250	none listed	51,250

▽

UNIVERSAL PICTURES, INC.

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Carl Laemmle:
1928	$132,000	none listed	$132,000
1929	181,500	none listed	181,500
1931	156,000	"	156,000
1932	156,000	"	156,000
1933	146,000	"	146,000
R. H. Cochrane:
1929	$ 35,000	none listed	$ 35,000
1932	26,000	"	26,000

▽

WARNER BROTHERS

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Renraw, Inc.:*
1929	$520,000	none listed	$520,000
1930	520,000	10,000	530,000
1931	486,916	465,000	951,916
1932	376,497	120,000	496,497
1933	280,575	none listed	280,575

*By agreement dated Sept. 1, 1928, with Renraw, Inc., the partnership composed of the three Warner brothers, Harry M., Jack L., and Albert M., the services of the three brothers were engaged for a period of six years at $10,000 annually, and the agreement further provided that the three brothers would not directly or indirectly engage in any competitive business during that period of time, and in consideration of the foregoing given 15,000 shares of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., common stock outright and 75,000 shares per year, provided they lived.

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Sam E. Morris:
1929	$ 49,000	$ 2,000	$ 51,000
1930	73,500	3,240	76,740
1931	89,138	240	89,378
1932	76,199	160	76,359
1933*	70,249	none listed	70,249

*Annual salary in effect Sept. 1, 1933, $72,335.

	Salary	Bonus	Total
I. D. Rossheim:
1929	$ 92,089	$ 240	$ 92,329
1930	1,923	131,009	132,932
A. C. Thomas:
1930	$ 65,000	$ 1,490	$ 66,490
1931	77,250	240	77,690
1932	81,681	160	81,841
1933	130,000	none listed	130,000
H. Starr:
1930	$ 52,000	$ 2,000	$ 54,000
Harold S. Bareford:
1933	$ 19,685	none listed	$ 19,685
S. P. Friedman:
1930	$ 52,000	$ 1,000	$ 53,000
1931	49,138	240	49,378

"New Deal" for N.Y.M.P. Club

Through the efforts of Will H. Hays and Louis Nizer, motion picture attorney, some of the leading figures of the industry in New York have taken an active interest in the rehabilitation of the Motion Picture Club.

New directors who have agreed to serve are Adolph Zukor, Jules E. Brulator, Jack Cohn, Mr. Hays, Carl Laemmle, Sr., Al Lichtman and Herbert J. Yates.

Under the proposed new set-up dues will be reduced to $75. Plans will be discussed Thursday at a luncheon.

Ohio Legislators Hit Film Salaries; Pettijohn

Declaring that members of the Ohio State Legislature had expressed wonder over the expectation of receiving tax relief when the salaries and bonuses described in Samuel Goldwyn's recent Saturday Evening Post article were being paid, Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel to the MPPDA, addressed a joint session of the legislative committee of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio and affiliated theatre representatives in Columbus on Tuesday.

Mr. Pettijohn declared the outlook for repeal of the admission tax in Ohio looked bright, but sentiment in the sector indicated that if there is an unfavorable reaction to proposed tax relief measures the Ohio exhibitors will blame the allegedly injurious publicity given to stars' and executives' salaries.

Warners Denies Coca-Cola "Plug"

Warner Bros. this week denied the assertion made in a printed "special bulletin" alleged to have been anonymously circulated among newspapers of the country that the company had agreed to "plug" Coca-Cola in its feature films for a monetary consideration.

The company stated it had entered into an agreement with the soft drink firm allowing it the privilege "to use the likenesses and names of the stars employed by us in its advertising."

"It is not our intention or policy to incorporate advertising in our productions." the statement said.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

GUESTS OF ADVERTISERS. Joan Lowell and Paul Hollister at AMPA luncheon in New York, shown with John C. Flinn, Code Authority secretary, and head of AMPA (extreme right), and Rutgers Neilson, vice president. Miss Lowell recently returned from Guatemala, where she aided in filming an adventure picture for RKO release. Mr. Hollister is vice president of Macy's, New York department store.

COOL. And glad of it. Because she, Patricia Ellis, is shown here (below) at Catalina, far from the blizzards that gripped sections of the States. Her latest Warner picture is "Harold Teen."

HONEYMOON ENDED. By production schedule. Zasu Pitts with her husband, John E. Woodall (to whom she was recently married while on location for RKO Radio's "Two Alone"), just before leaving New York to appear in a new RKO Radio picture.

HER FIRST LEAD. (Left) Astrid Allyn, previously seen in supporting roles, who has been engaged by Monogram for the principal feminine part in "Mystery Liner," adapted from a "thrill story" by Edgar Wallace.

THE PAPERS. Previously announced—but now official. For here are Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald shown having a jolly time signing the contracts that made them co-stars in MGM's production of "The Merry Widow," operetta of another day. Witnesseth by Irving Thalberg, MGM production executive (left), and Ernst Lubitsch, who will direct the screen's version of classic.

SAW REDS. A Deck-B view of Paul Muni, Warner star, and Mrs. Muni as the SS. Manhattan docked at New York, returning them from points trans-Atlantic, chiefly cities of Soviet Russia.

MET AT LAST. Fox brought them—Pat Paterson and Charles Boyer—to Hollywood from Europe. Strangers then. Fox cast them in "Bottoms Up." Now here they are, Mr. and Mrs. Boyer, at home.

SIGNED. Nick Foran, who has been placed under contract by Fox. He croons, they say, and will be in the Fox production, "The Follies."

HOPS WEST FOR FILM. Colin Clive, appearing with Katharine Hepburn in "The Lake" on Broadway, as he planed to Burbank to start "The Key" for Warner Brothers following close of the play.

REWARDED. A new study of Verree Teasdale, rather celebrating her acquisition of a long-term Warner contract as result of previous work. Next is "Dr. Monica."

COMIC TRIO IN SHORT. The Ritz Brothers, well known on the vaudeville stage, who have been signed by Al Christie to appear in an Educational Coronet on the Astoria studio production schedule.

TRADE PRACTICE BATTLES AWAITING SETTLEMENT BY GRIEVANCE BOARDS

Academy Awards Nominations Set

Members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences on the Coast will vote the sixth annual awards at the annual dinner on March 16, from among the following, nominated for the awards in the various divisions:

BEST PERFORMANCE. ACTRESS: Katharine Hepburn in "Morning Glory"; May Robson in "Lady for a Day," Diana Wynyard in "Cavalcade."

BEST PERFORMANCE, ACTOR: Leslie Howard in "Berkeley Square," Charles Laughton in "Henry the VIII," Paul Muni in "I'm a Fugitive from a Chain Gang."

BEST DIRECTION: Frank Capra for "Lady for a Day," George Cukor for "Little Women," Frank Lloyd for "Cavalcade."

BEST PRODUCTION: "Farewell to Arms" (Paramount), "Cavalcade" (Fox), "42nd Street" (Warners), "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" (Warners), "Lady for a Day" (Columbia), "Little Women" (Radio), "She Done Him Wrong" (Paramount), "Smilin' Thru" (M-G-M), "State Fair" (Fox), and "Henry the VIII" (London Films-United Artists).

BEST ORIGINAL STORY: "One Way Passage," by Robert Lord; "The Prizefighter and the Lady," by Frances Marion; "Rasputin and the Empress," by Charles MacArthur.

BEST ADAPTATION: "Lady for a Day," by Robert Riskin; "Little Women," by Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman; "State Fair," by Paul Green and Sonya Levien.

BEST CINEMATOGRAPHY: Charles Lange for "Farewell to Arms," George Folsey, Jr., for "Reunion in Vienna," Karl Struss for "The Sign of the Cross."

BEST ART DIRECTION: "Farewell to Arms," "Cavalcade" and "When Ladies Meet." Authentic credits are being worked out.

BEST SOUND: "Farewell to Arms," "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang."

More than 20 short subject producers will meet late this week to review shorts submitted by each producer for nomination in the best subject division of the awards. It is proposed also to make special awards for the best consistent work during the year one to each studio.

T. J. Reed, Academy president, has announced the appointment of Samuel J. Briskin as chairman and Nathan Levinson as vice chairman of the research council. A meeting will be held shortly to hear reports of various subcommittees on nine projects connected with technical advancement.

The Academy late last week compiled a list of names to be submitted to Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt for places on code committees. Included were:

Lionel Atwill, Warner Baxter, Lionel Belmore, Alice Brady, Laura Hope Crews, William B. Davidson, Marie Dressler, Irene Dunne, Raymond Hatton, Helen Hayes, Dell Henderson, Katharine Hepburn, Jean Hersholt, Walter Huston, George Irving, DeWitt Jennings, Henry Kolker, J. Farrell MacDonald, Thomas Meighan, Warner Oland, Nance O'Neill, Elizabeth Patterson, Lewis Stone, Henry Walthall and Helen Ware.

Kansas City Admission Price Truce Broken; Newman Theatre Shows Doubles at 25 Cents; Singles for Allied of Illinois

Exhibitors in the field this week were awaiting the actual start of Local Grievance Board functioning under the Code Authority as "trade wars" over merchandising methods took on a wider significance in some sections. Allegedly unfair trade practices have led, in some instances, to threats of court battle.

Particularly has this been true of the Midwest, where price cutting the last two weeks threatened to put suburban theatres out of business. In Kansas City, especially, second-run and suburban houses have felt the possible repercussion of severe admission slashing by first-run theatres. The first-runs, notably Paramount and Loew's, had instituted drastic reductions in their top admission prices as a means to end the use of premiums, giveaways, two-for-ones, lotteries and other methods designed to draw prospective patrons into suburban theatres, some of which practices are specifically prohibited under the code, and would be matters for Local Grievance Boards.

Await Grievance Board Action

For a time it appeared that the Kansas City "war" had reached at least an armistice pending functioning of the Local Grievance Board. This week, however, the armistice summarily was broken with talk of lawsuits, not only against the first-run houses, but against major distributor companies as well.

Equitable adjustment awaited smooth running of the Local Grievance Board mechanism, expected within the next month, and it was pointed out that exhibitors may receive far greater satisfaction from these boards than they might get in a court of law.

Local Grievance Boards are now being set up in the field as machinery for the adjustment of just such complaints as these, where exhibitors or other branches of the industry charging unfair trade practices will be heard.

The Code Authority in New York, and many of the NRA's Local Compliance Boards in the field, are understood already to have received dozens of complaints from exhibitors charging unfair trade practices of competitors. These will be turned over to the Local Grievance Boards for adjudication immediately when they begin functioning.

It is generally felt that once the Local Grievance Boards start actual operations, many of the unfair trade practices will be eliminated, especially in those sections where violations under the code have been rampant.

The Kansas City disturbance is said to be the culmination of several years of experimentation with price cutting to end the so-called "ruinous competition" of smaller theatres through premiums. In January, 1933, every first-run theatre in Kansas City engaged in a drastic admission price cut, officially attributed to the depression at that time, but it since has been agreed by major theatre operators in New York that their Kansas City houses had been suffering not so much from the depression as from the premium practices of the suburban theatres.

Price Agreement Defeated

Late last week the proposed agreement to regulate admission prices in the Missouri city and to curb giveaways was pronounced a failure as the result of opposition by three or four dissenters. This meant that the suburbans again would let down the bars to unregulated price cutting, and Jay Means, president of the Independent Theatre Owners, who had done much toward effecting a truce two weeks ago, declared 10-cent admissions would become the order of the day.

On Sunday, many Kansas City suburbans openly were discussing carrying the matter to the courts, while others were planning appeals to the Code Authority and NRA Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt. On Monday Mr. Means instructed the ITO counsel to consider the advisability of taking legal action against Loew's, Paramount and other major distributors.

Meanwhile the Newman, Paramount first-run theatre, fired the first gun in the price war by opening on Sunday with a double bill and a 25-cent top admission. Both the grievance and clearance and zoning boards for Kansas City are complete except for their impartial, non-industry members. It was said this week that Mr. Rosenblatt might name these immediately, in view of the situation there.

Illinois Allied Votes Singles

Among the features of the current trade practice situations was the vote of 75 Illinois Allied members Friday as being definitely opposed to double billing.

The Independent Motion Picture Theatre Owners' Association of Delaware and Eastern Shore of Maryland announced it would "take some action" against block booking at the next meeting. A. Joseph De Fiore, president, said a number of local organizations had subjected the association and other theatres to considerable criticism for the showing of certain types of pictures. Mr. De Fiore declared these organizations were not aware the houses "are compelled to buy the pictures under block booking."

In Detroit it was reported that 71 theatres had signed a new admissions and protection schedule for the territory which will result in a general rise in admission prices for every theatre involved in the agreement but one, which already is above the minimum required under the agreement.

It is understood that as a result a minimum price of 10 cents is set for any theatre, for either children or adults at any time, and that double bills are outlawed in houses having stage shows or vaudeville presentation.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREED TO BY CIRCUITS

Whereupon Voted Strike of Unskilled Labor in Theatres Is Canceled; Organizers in Kansas City Are Dropped

BULLETIN

The voted strike of unskilled labor in motion picture theatres was canceled late Wednesday when New York's major circuit operators agreed to enter upon collective bargaining with chosen representatives of the Theatre and Amusement Employees Union, local 118.

The right of labor to organize and bargain collectively, under the code, is about to be tested in New York for the first time in exhibition. Refusal of large theatre interests in the metropolitan area to bargain with a new union of theatre service workers—principally ushers, doormen, ticket sellers and takers—resulted late Tuesday in an almost unanimous decision of the unskilled theatre labor members of Theatre and Amusement Employees' Union, Local 118, to go out on general strike, according to Charles C. Levey, secretary.

The strike, however, was held in abeyance pending outcome of a conciliation conference called by the Regional Labor Board for late Wednesday. Ben Golden and Mrs. Elinore Herrick, of the Labor Board, were to hear both sides, the circuit operators being represented by Major Leslie Thompson of Radio-Keith-Orpheum.

Union Recognition Chief Demand

Union recognition is the principal item in the union's demands, with union members taking their stand under Section 7A of the National Recovery Act, and Section 1 of Article III of the code, both of which establish the right of collective bargaining.

"We hope a strike will be averted," Mr. Levey said Wednesday, "but unless we get a square deal on hours, wages and union recognition, we are determined to fight."

Unionized unskilled motion picture theatre workers in Greater New York now exceed 4,000 members, Mr. Levey asserted, with members in many RKO, Paramount and Loew houses.

Discrimination Charged

Serious opposition to unionization was reflected recently when Paramount Publix dismissed 17 employees from a Staten Island theatre. They were reinstated at the request of the Labor Board. Eighteen additional complaints were filed by the local late last week charging that Paramount, RKO, Skouras and Loew's circuits discriminated against employees engaged in unionization. At that time, Mr. Levey had a conference with Mrs. Herrick, after which he said that if the strike were called, all union crafts affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, of which the local is a member, would be asked to boycott the houses affected.

On Friday, Charles Moskowitz, general manager of the Loew circuit, declared that the motion picture theatres "have a code and are living up to it." He denied any discrimination had been shown against union employees, but said the theatres would not replace present employees with union members. In most instances, he declared, circuit operators are paying salaries higher than the code minimum.

Compliance Is Board Interest

Ben Golden of the Regional Labor Board said Wednesday that that body's sole interest in the dispute lay in the certainty that the theatres involved are complying with the provisions of Article 7A of the NRA.

"If we find they are not," he said, "then we will order them to do so immediately."

It has been estimated that 20,000 of such unskilled theatre workers in the New York area might be affected if the strike is formally called.

The vote taken Tuesday showed 1,576 members in favor of a strike and only 19 against. Many members were unable to attend because of the weather, Mr. Levey said.

Attempts to organize employees in downtown Kansas City first-runs were frustrated this week when managers dismissed the would-be organizers. Two ushers lost their jobs after they had started what was described as an "abortive movement to unionize fellow ushers, doormen and other employees."

Some of the ushers in the territory are said to be complaining because the code provides a minimum salary lower than that they have been getting. They charge major circuit theatres with ousting ushers in order to employ new men at the code minimum.

AMPA Constitution To Be Changed Soon

Changes in the constitution of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers will be decided upon at a closed meeting of the group in New York late this week. Included in the proposed changes is a suggestion to hold annual elections on the third Thursday in April instead of the second Thursday in September.

John Terry Dead

John C. Terry, brother of Paul Terry, died at Coral Gables, Fla., Tuesday. The brothers were both animated cartoon pioneers. John created the comic strip, "Scorchy," now being syndicated, and Paul is the producer of the Terry-Toons for Educational.

Stanley Hawkins to Coast

Stanley Hawkins, assistant to Keith Glennon of Eastern Service studios, New York, leaves on Friday for Hollywood to become studio manager at General Service studios. Both are Erpi subsidiaries.

Films and Stage Discuss Radio

A joint meeting of committees from the Code Authorities of the motion picture and legitimate theatrical industries met in New York this week to agree on uniform complaints and proposals to be brought before the radio industry in regard to the alleged unfair competition offered by free radio broadcasts.

Following the meeting the film and stage committees announced they would meet with a similar group appointed by the radio Code Authority, in Washington on March 5, to work out a relief plan. Thus far the personnel of the radio group has not been made public. The group appointed by the motion picture Code Authority comprises Ed Kuykendall, Charles L. O'Reilly and Sidney R. Kent, while the representatives of the legitimate theatre are Marcus Heiman, Frank Gillmore and William C. Elliott.

Zukor Finds Greater Hollywood Cooperation

Declaring that he was not sure whether the industry's NRA code was responsible for "an awakening sense of realization that the industry goes best as its component parts go," Adolph Zukor said this week that all production factors in Hollywood today are cooperating with each other as never before.

"There is much more interest in what is going on elsewhere in the business," he stated. "There is much less of the insular and more of the national in Hollywood's point of view."

M. P. Federation Decides On $10 Per Reel Dues

The Federation of the Motion Picture Industry this week voted to assess its member independents $10 a negative reel plus a further small assessment on each positive reel. The revenue is expected to meet an annual budget of $50,000.

It was announced that a secretary of the organization to replace Alec Moss, who resigned to join Paramount, would not be named for several days.

Mary Pickford "Christens" Remodeled Biograph Studio

Mary Pickford on Friday officially "christened" the reopened Biograph Studio in New York's Bronx. Miss Pickford was the guest of the studio officials and the cast of Chester Erskine's production of "Frankie and Johnnie," now in production. At the "christening" ceremony Miss Pickford turned a camera crank. In the cast of "Frankie and Johnnie" are Helen Morgan, Chester Morris and William Harrigan.

SMPE Detroit Meeting

The Mid-West section of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers has set March 3 as the date for its next meeting, to be held in Detroit at the Industrial Film Center. The meeting will be followed by a dinner. Industrial applications of 16 mm. and 35 mm. film, with demonstrations by various manufacturers, are among the subjects for discussion.

The Hollywood Scene

"ROTHSCHILD" PREVIEW A BULLS-EYE ACTORS' FINANCIER, A NEW SERVICE LESSER, INDEPENDENT INDEPENDENT MR. MAIN STREET ASKS QUESTIONS

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

The preview of "The House of Rothschild," George Arliss' first Twentieth Century picture, easily topped the week's headline honors. Fred Rappaport's Westwood Village theatre patrons impressively placed their stamp of approval upon star and subject matter, a valid demonstration reflected on the faces of Messrs. Joe Schenck, Al Lichtman and Darryl Zanuck. Trade and daily press reviewers conned dictionaries for superlatives and the picture seems earmarked as solid gold entertainment merchandise, ready to open at the Chinese here, following Garbo's "Queen Christina."

All in all, it's been a stirring week. Mr. Irving Thalberg finally brought his "Rip Tide" under the wire and the grapevine already has it that it's stamped with the "IT," conveyed by the initials of Irving Thalberg, and the quality that is his. In fact, so enthusiastic are the MGM gentry that they're planning to drop the Norma from Shearer's name and henceforth have her known as Shearer, a la Caruso, Garbo, La Gallienne, Bernhardt, Duse and such worthies.

▽

Production Pace Steady

General production pace held steady as nine features went on the stages and six moved into the cutting rooms. With three new pictures, Fox is out front. Most important is "The World Moves On," reputed to be a "Cavalcade" of all nations, a John Ford directed opus, which features Franchot Tone, the newcoming English Madeleine Carroll and Louise Dresser, to be produced on lavish scale. The other two are "World Is Ours" and "Springtime for Henry."

▽

Warner lowered the barrier for "Dr. Monica," based on a Polish play with a title a hectic collection of vowels and consonants, but which Kay Francis, Veree Teasdale and Jean Muir will pronounce into entertainment for Park Avenue as well as Main Street.

Ronald Colman donned topper and tails for "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back" at Twentieth Century and another eminent Britisher, Leslie Howard, started "Human Bondage" at Radio with the assistance of Bette Davis, Reginald Denny and Alan Hale among others; under the direction of John Cromwell.

With Howard Hawks directing, Columbia launched John Barrymore and Carole Lombard in "Twentieth Century" and Ken Goldsmith capped the starting list with "I Hate Women," which certainly is title as is title.

According to one who should know, a requisite of an associate producer, and we quote him verbatim, is "one able to read two consecutive sentences in the English language."

Al Cohn, Collector of the Port of Los Angeles, who parcels out red and green lights for harbor traffic lanes, who controls tide rights and fishing privileges, who even regulates the waves, was recently invited to attend the Harbor Yacht races by a well known editor and publisher.

The collector, thinking it was a gag, which it wasn't, inquired "When and where are these yacht races to be held?"

Now at the crucial moment, when Hollywood will see how much is left on the cutting room floor, are six completed pictures. Awaiting preview judgment are two Monograms, "Manhattan Love Song," with Robert Armstrong and Dixie Lee, and "Loud Speaker." The tropical detective mystery thriller, "Murder in Trinidad" checks in from Fox and Columbia wrote finis on two, Jack Holt's "Whirlpool" and Tim McCoy's "Highway Patrol," as Chesterfield called curtain on "Stolen Sweets," in which Sally Blane and Charles Starrett head a lengthy cast.

▽

A New Profession Blooms

Since the stock market collapse in 1929, a new profession, that of personal business management of artists' finances, has bloomed in Hollywood.

The idea of taking care of the monies of screen personalities originated with one gentleman, who it later developed, worked various rackets on stars in higher brackets, until John Law caught up with the gent and he absconded before the irate hail and barrage became too uncomfortable.

Today, however, handling the financial affairs of film personalities is an honorable calling, run in the majority of cases along business lines, with principle and ethics uppermost. On the ground, about thirty different individuals or organizations are ready to serve stars, directors, producer and others with their sundry money problems.

Financial agents are not to be confused with artists' agents. Each is a separate tribe.

▽

They Vary Their Labels

Varied are the names these managers ascribe to their activities. Their labels range from Personal Managers, Financial Counsel, Business Managers, to Service Corporations, Management Companies or Personal Service Auditors.

The scope of the service rendered covers a wide field. Some take the personality's weekly pay check and from it allot the household expenses, receive personal bills and make payments, balance income with outgo, set a certain percentage aside for savings, annuities or other profitable ventures.

Consultants often suggest investments, prepare income taxes, arrange for interior decorators, suggest architects, insurance agents, doctors and lawyers. Some even list preferred shops where purchases may be made at discount. One manager prepares a budget for his clients, allowing so much for rent, so much for entertainment, so much for spending money, books, insurance, advertising, education and liquor. Demands for money by the client, over the budgeted amount, call for a huddle, even if it be for a tennis racket.

Some financial agents assume all the money worries of the client, from banking to buying baby-carriages, so the money-maker may direct his or her energies into the creative channels from which the money spouts.

Banks in the colony, local or statewide, which have established trust departments or custody accounts, have not been able to secure much of the personal management business either due to apathy, competition, cost of handling the service or because of limitations imposed upon them by state or federal authorities.

▽

Loss Percentage Forgotten

Fees exacted by confidential "Counsellors of Coin" range from 10 per cent down, according to service rendered. Special advisors who serve by suggesting stock market speculations, ofttimes make their deals on percentage of the profits. Percentage of the losses is the forgotten plan.

Personal Service Managers, or corporations, are not banded together in any known association for mutual benefit or protection.

A few artists' agents and a few lawyers render complete financial service for their clients, aside from taking care of their screen contracts or legal contracts.

Some of the biggest electric light stars subscribe to some sort of financial management. List of financial agencies' clientele is kept secret. The backers of these investment organizations are also kept confidential, but many important names are alleged to be sponsoring and supporting their activities.

▽

A new record for retaking a single scene

(Continued on following page, column 1)

A high priced writer, asked by his studio chief why he couldn't come to the studio to do his writing, stated the naked truth was, he did his best scribing unfettered by clothes. Writer then asked studio head if he wished him to write at the studio in the nude.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

(Continued from preceding page)

was established recently when a genius director with a penchant for filming stars' legs shot one particular scene, without the star's legs, exactly seventy-nine (79) times. After the seventy-ninth take, he ordered the cameraman: "print number four."

Cost of production, with two extra weeks of added scenes, will be close to, or over, a million dollars when completed.

▽

Contrary to NRA

In line with their new duties of reading all scripts before they go into production, Will Hayes' Production Code Committee sent back a certain script to a producer with suggested spots for revision.

Shortly after receipt of script, producer telephoned the Hays office to inform them that hereafter he thought it best that his company quit the producing business and allow the Hays organization to make the pictures.

"Might not be a bad idea," said the Hays spokesman, "but if we produce pictures, there wouldn't be any need for the Production Code Committee here, or for your production staff there. If both staffs are eliminated, it would be contrary to President Roosevelt's employment policy."

Producer called up later and apologized. He's still making pictures. Production Code Committee is visa-ing scripts.

▽

More of Lesser

Sol Lesser, redoubtable pioneer, is at it again.

Today his concerto is production, not only as an independent, but somewhat more fortissimo, an independent independent, placing his bankroll on "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Chandu."

Few personalities, before or behind the screen, have had so colorful and romantic a career as Sol.

On the ashes of the San Francisco fire, he exhibited his first pictures in a tent. Showman of the Golden Gate, he started a small circuit which mushroomed all over the state and blossomed as West Coast Theatres. Even while expanding, he found time to produce features a la "Oliver Twist," for First National, also scientific shorts, adventure films, besides dabbling in first editions, assembling a library of Lincolnia, raise a family and collect a million dollars as his share of the West Coast sale to Fox. Then he travelled around the world to play.

Owner of the Harold Bell Wright novels for the screen, Sol has a few new rabbits yet to be pulled out of his hat. Among his plans are the blueprints for distributing and mayhap exhibiting narrow gauge (16 mm.) film in a big gauge manner. Another rabbit concerns his foreign interests. Still another deals with airplanes, and another with film printing, said to revolutionize that mechanical device.

In his present production venture, which includes Jackie Cooper as lead of "Peck's Bad Boy" and Gayne Whitman in "Chandu," Sol goes it alone. Riding by himself, he finances himself, takes the complete picture gamble, from script to screen, to win or lose all. Independent of majors or minors, he is the screen's first real independent independent.

▽

The list of screen credits on Fox's production of "George White's Scandals," in its super-extended length, includes those credited for (1) direction of musical numbers, (2) story direction, (3) story, (4) screen play, (5) dialogue, (6) additional dialogue, (7) music and lyrics, (8) dance direction, (9) musical direction, etc.

The final title credit of the picture reads: "Entire Production Conceived, Created, and Directed by George White."

▽

Main Street—and Hollywood

Hollywood has its star-spangled boulevard. New York its bright Broadway. Canyon City lights up Main Street.

Came to Hollywood last week a vacationer who is part of Hollywood, linked with Broadway, but all "salted down" in the good earth of Canon City.

He is a theatre owner showman on the Colorado slope of some mountains which suggest the contours of the hills behind Hollywood and the perpendicular cliffs of Broadway.

But B. P. McCormick of the McCormick Theatres of Colorado is different somehow from most of his contemporaries and kinfolk in the motion picture industry.

For one thing, this visitor to Hollywood didn't begin by saying, "Do you know what's the matter with this business? Well, I'll tell you!" He just asked questions, and said "No" a few times. Quite an unusual fellow.

Here are some of the questions and answers in his personally-conducted Q. and A. department:

Q.—"Why did they make 'The Story of Temple Drake'?"

A.—(A helpless gesture, a shrug.)

Q.—"Does anybody really think a nudist picture will draw once-a-week Saturday nighters?"

A.—"Well, some people in Hollywood liked it."

Q.—"Does Hollywood think I like to pay for a picture like 'Penthouse' when I can't show it?"

A.—"Sorry, old man."

Q.—"Can Hollywood remember when the church opposition was so strong that I couldn't open on Sunday?"

A.—"Three or four persons, anyway."

Q.—"Do you suppose some people buy and read Bibles? That best-sellers about illicit love have to be hidden under back steps in my country?"

A.—(A raised eyebrow.)

Q.—"Do you know that double-billing is going to murder my business if it gets there?"

A.—"Yes, but——"

And then Mr. McCormick chatted along about some of the people who live way out there in Colorado. Seems that it's a pretty place to live a normal, healthful and cheerful life. One year's business is very much like the last. But people have been known to get rich there.

Citizens in Canon City like the kind of roots Mr. McCormick has planted in their community. In fact, they elected him president of the Chamber of Commerce while he was on his way to the Coast by automobile.

For twenty years McCormick has been whittling a living and a niche in his home town.

"Guess I'll be able to make a little profit again this year, but I'd like to tell Will Rogers that I don't need any bedroom scenes in his pictures. I live in one of those 'tank towns'."

▽

Reported going to England together are Dave Selznick and Howard Estabrook, to secure first hand source material for the film, by MGM, of "David Copperfield."

Besides questing for elusive fact and fancy in London, with which to embroider the Dickens classic, producer and writer will make jaunts to Canterbury and Dover, eye-minded for settings, possible players and local color.

Leaving in a week or so, they will be away for about a month.

Joe Cunningham, Broadway's noted wit and latest addition to the Fox writing staff, asked Rudy Vallee if he'd be kind enough to send a Christmas card to his mother in Philadelphia, who is about eighty years of age.

Rudy sent the card with personal greetings as requested.

Thrilled, Joe's mother wrote Joe about receiving Vallee's personal greetings, adding a note of warning to Joe, "for goodness sake, don't tell Fay Webb! ! ! !"

A producer wandering on a set came upon a beautiful redhead, dressed in cellophane, leaning against a pillar. He had never seen her before.

Eying her appraisingly, in his best poetic manner, he said "You look exactly like a Venetian frieze."

"You're not so hot either," said the gal.

A director, on salary for eleven weeks without a story jelling, was asked by his studio chief to take a layoff without pay, during which time the story might be worked out by him.

"Of course you understand," said the director, "that I just can't think unless I'm getting my check."

FOX PERSONALITIES

WILL MAKE THIS YOUR Greatest SPRING

● With theatre business definitely on the upswing . . . FOX is ready with EIGHT OUTSTANDING pictures . . . embracing the most brilliant assemblage of box office personalities ever offered by FOX . . . or anyone else.

● Brightest names from every field of showdom . . . in pictures ablaze with every show appeal . . . whose profit possibilities are LIMITLESS.

● Not in any year . . . nor in any season . . . have you had such a parade of mighty entertainments as FOX is releasing this spring!

..THE FOX PERSONALITIES PARADE

LEW AYRES

ROSEMARY AMES

HEATHER ANGEL

WARNER BAXTER

JOHN BOLES

CHARLES BOYER

LIONEL BARRYMORE

MONA BARRIE

NIGEL BRUCE

WALTER CONNOLLY

HENRIETTA CROSMAN

JIMMY DURANTE

JACK DURANT

JAMES DUNN

SALLY EILERS

PEGGY FEARS

SYLVIA FROOS

ALICE FAYE

STEPIN FETCHIT

CHARLES FARRELL

NORMAN FOSTER

A COMMAND PERFORMANCE!

America's biggest male box office star as
America's best-loved fiction character

• The millions who chuckled over the story classic demanded our Will in the movie . . . so that millions more could chortle • Picture him (said they to FOX) as the shrewd but chivalrous . . . keen but kindly horse trader . . . swapping wisecracks as he drives sharp bargains . . . breeding thoroughbreds while he fosters romance • And when he drives his prize trotter to a hairbreadth win . . . it's laughs, thrills and heart-throbs all in a split second • Another "State Fair" for box office!

Will ROGERS
DAVID HARUM

Louise Dresser • Evelyn Venable
Kent Taylor • Stepin Fetchit

From the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott

Directed by James Cruze

Produced by
WINFIELD SHEEHAN

THE SHOW OF 1,001 WONDERS!

Produced with a magnificence, magnitude and imagination unapproached in show history. Dazzling beauties . . . blazing splendor . . . amazing novelty... myriad surprises... laughs, songs, drama, thrills, wonder, romance, tears ... and every emotion known to human kind.

FOX FOLLIES

WARNER BAXTER

MADGE EVANS • SYLVIA FROOS
JOHN BOLES • JAMES DUNN
"AUNT JEMIMA" • SHIRLEY TEMPLE
ARTHUR BYRON • RALPH MORGAN
NIGEL BRUCE • "SKINS" MILLER
LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD • NICK FORAN
MITCHELL & DURANT • STEPIN FETCHIT

Produced by WINFIELD SHEEHAN

Associate Producer and Collaborator on Story and Dialogue: Lew Brown. Director: Hamilton McFadden. Lyrics: Lew Brown. Music: Lew Brown and Jay Gorney. Dances Staged by: Sammy Lee. Dialogue: Ralph Spence. Story Idea Suggested by: Will Rogers and Philip Klein.

1,000 DAZZLING GIRLS! 5 BANDS OF MUSIC!
VOCAL CHORUS OF 500! 4,891 COSTUMES!
1,200 WILD ANIMALS! 1,000 PLAYERS!
335 SCENES! 2,730 TECHNICAL WORKERS!

5 Breathless Spectacles!	5 Song Hits!
1. INTRODUCTION OF LOVELINESS!	1. "Our Last Night Together"
2. REVIVAL OF LAUGHTER!	2. "Baby Take a Bow"
3. GARDEN OF BEAUTY!	3. "I'm Laughing"
4. THE MAGIC TRANSFORMATION!	4. "Broadway's Gone Hill Billy"
5. MARCH OF PROSPERITY!	5. "Out of the Red"

IT SOARS TO IMMORTALITY ON WINGS OF ETERNAL ROMANCE!

● Richard Aldington's international best-seller ... a rapturous, impassioned, sensitive romance ... depicting a man ... fettered by routine's restraints ... restlessly, endlessly groping for the one love that was all loves in one. It will bring untold glory to its cast ... unstinted profits to your theatre.

All men are Enemies

HUGH WILLIAMS
HELEN TWELVETREES
MONA BARRIE
HERBERT MUNDIN

Story by Richard Aldington
Directed by George Fitzmaurice

Produced by Al Rockett

and they do it to music...

THREE JOVIAL ROGUES AND A BEAUTIFUL GIRL out-bluff Hollywood and step into a fortune

MARKED FOR BIG MONEY EVERYWHERE! Tantalizing girls and tunes . . . musical spectacle . . . a super show in themselves. PLUS a rollicking frolic of laughter and romance. Three down-and-out pals team up with an up-and-coming Corn Belt cutie . . . pose as nobility . . . impose on movie aristocracy . . . scheming . . . kidding, hoping, winning. The girl gets her dream man . . . the trio land in clover. JUST WAIT TILL YOU HEAR THOSE SONG SENSATIONS!

Bottoms Up

Guaranteed hit by the team which made "Sunny Side Up": B. G. DeSylva, David Butler.

SPENCER TRACY

JOHN BOLES

PAT PATERSON

HERBERT MUNDIN • SID SILVERS

HARRY GREEN • THELMA TODD

Story and screen play: B. G. DeSylva, David Butler, Sid Silvers. Songs by Harold Adamson and Burton Lane, also Richard A. Whiting and Gus Kahn.

Directed by DAVID BUTLER

A B. G. DeSYLVA PRODUCTION

Reunited!

America's Favorite Star Team

News to gladden every exhibitor's heart . . . a master-stroke of FOX showmanship . . . re-joining the greatest star team of the screen in a great picture. Your marquee will swell with pride!

JANET GAYNOR

CHARLES FARRELL

in

IN LOVE WITH LIFE

(Temporary Title)

JAMES DUNN

GINGER ROGERS

From the story "Manhattan Love Song" by KATHLEEN NORRIS

PRODUCED BY WINFIELD SHEEHAN

AS AUDIENCES LIKE HIM BEST

Dashing, debonair, wealthy, romantic . . . he has a way with women . . . always his own way . . . and with too many women for his own good. Faced with a charge of MURDER . . . he has to choose between being a gentleman . . . and exposing a lady!

And two new FOX personalities go far toward stardom!

WARNER BAXTER
Too Many Women

with

ROSEMARY AMES
ROCHELLE HUDSON
HENRIETTA CROSMAN
HERBERT MUNDIN

From Vera Caspary's story "Odd Thursday"
Directed by James Flood
An AL ROCKETT Production

It begins where the world-famous $10 Broadway Show left off

● Surpassing George White's greatest successes. More romance . . . bigger stars . . . greater spectacle . . . more catching melodies . . . faster fun . . . peppier dancing . . . more dazzling girls—including a trainload of 300 genuine George White Scan-dolls from Broadway. With George White, himself . . . on the screen . . . putting on his show of shows. Gentlemen, IT'S TREMENDOUS!

RUDY VALLEE
radio's heart-throb voice
with
ALICE FAYE
singing, bewitching beauty. . . an overnight star.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

RUDY VALLEE • JIMMY DURANTE
ALICE FAYE • ADRIENNE AMES
GREGORY RATOFF • CLIFF EDWARDS
DIXIE DUNBAR • GERTRUDE MICHAEL
RICHARD CARLE • WARREN HYMER and GEORGE WHITE

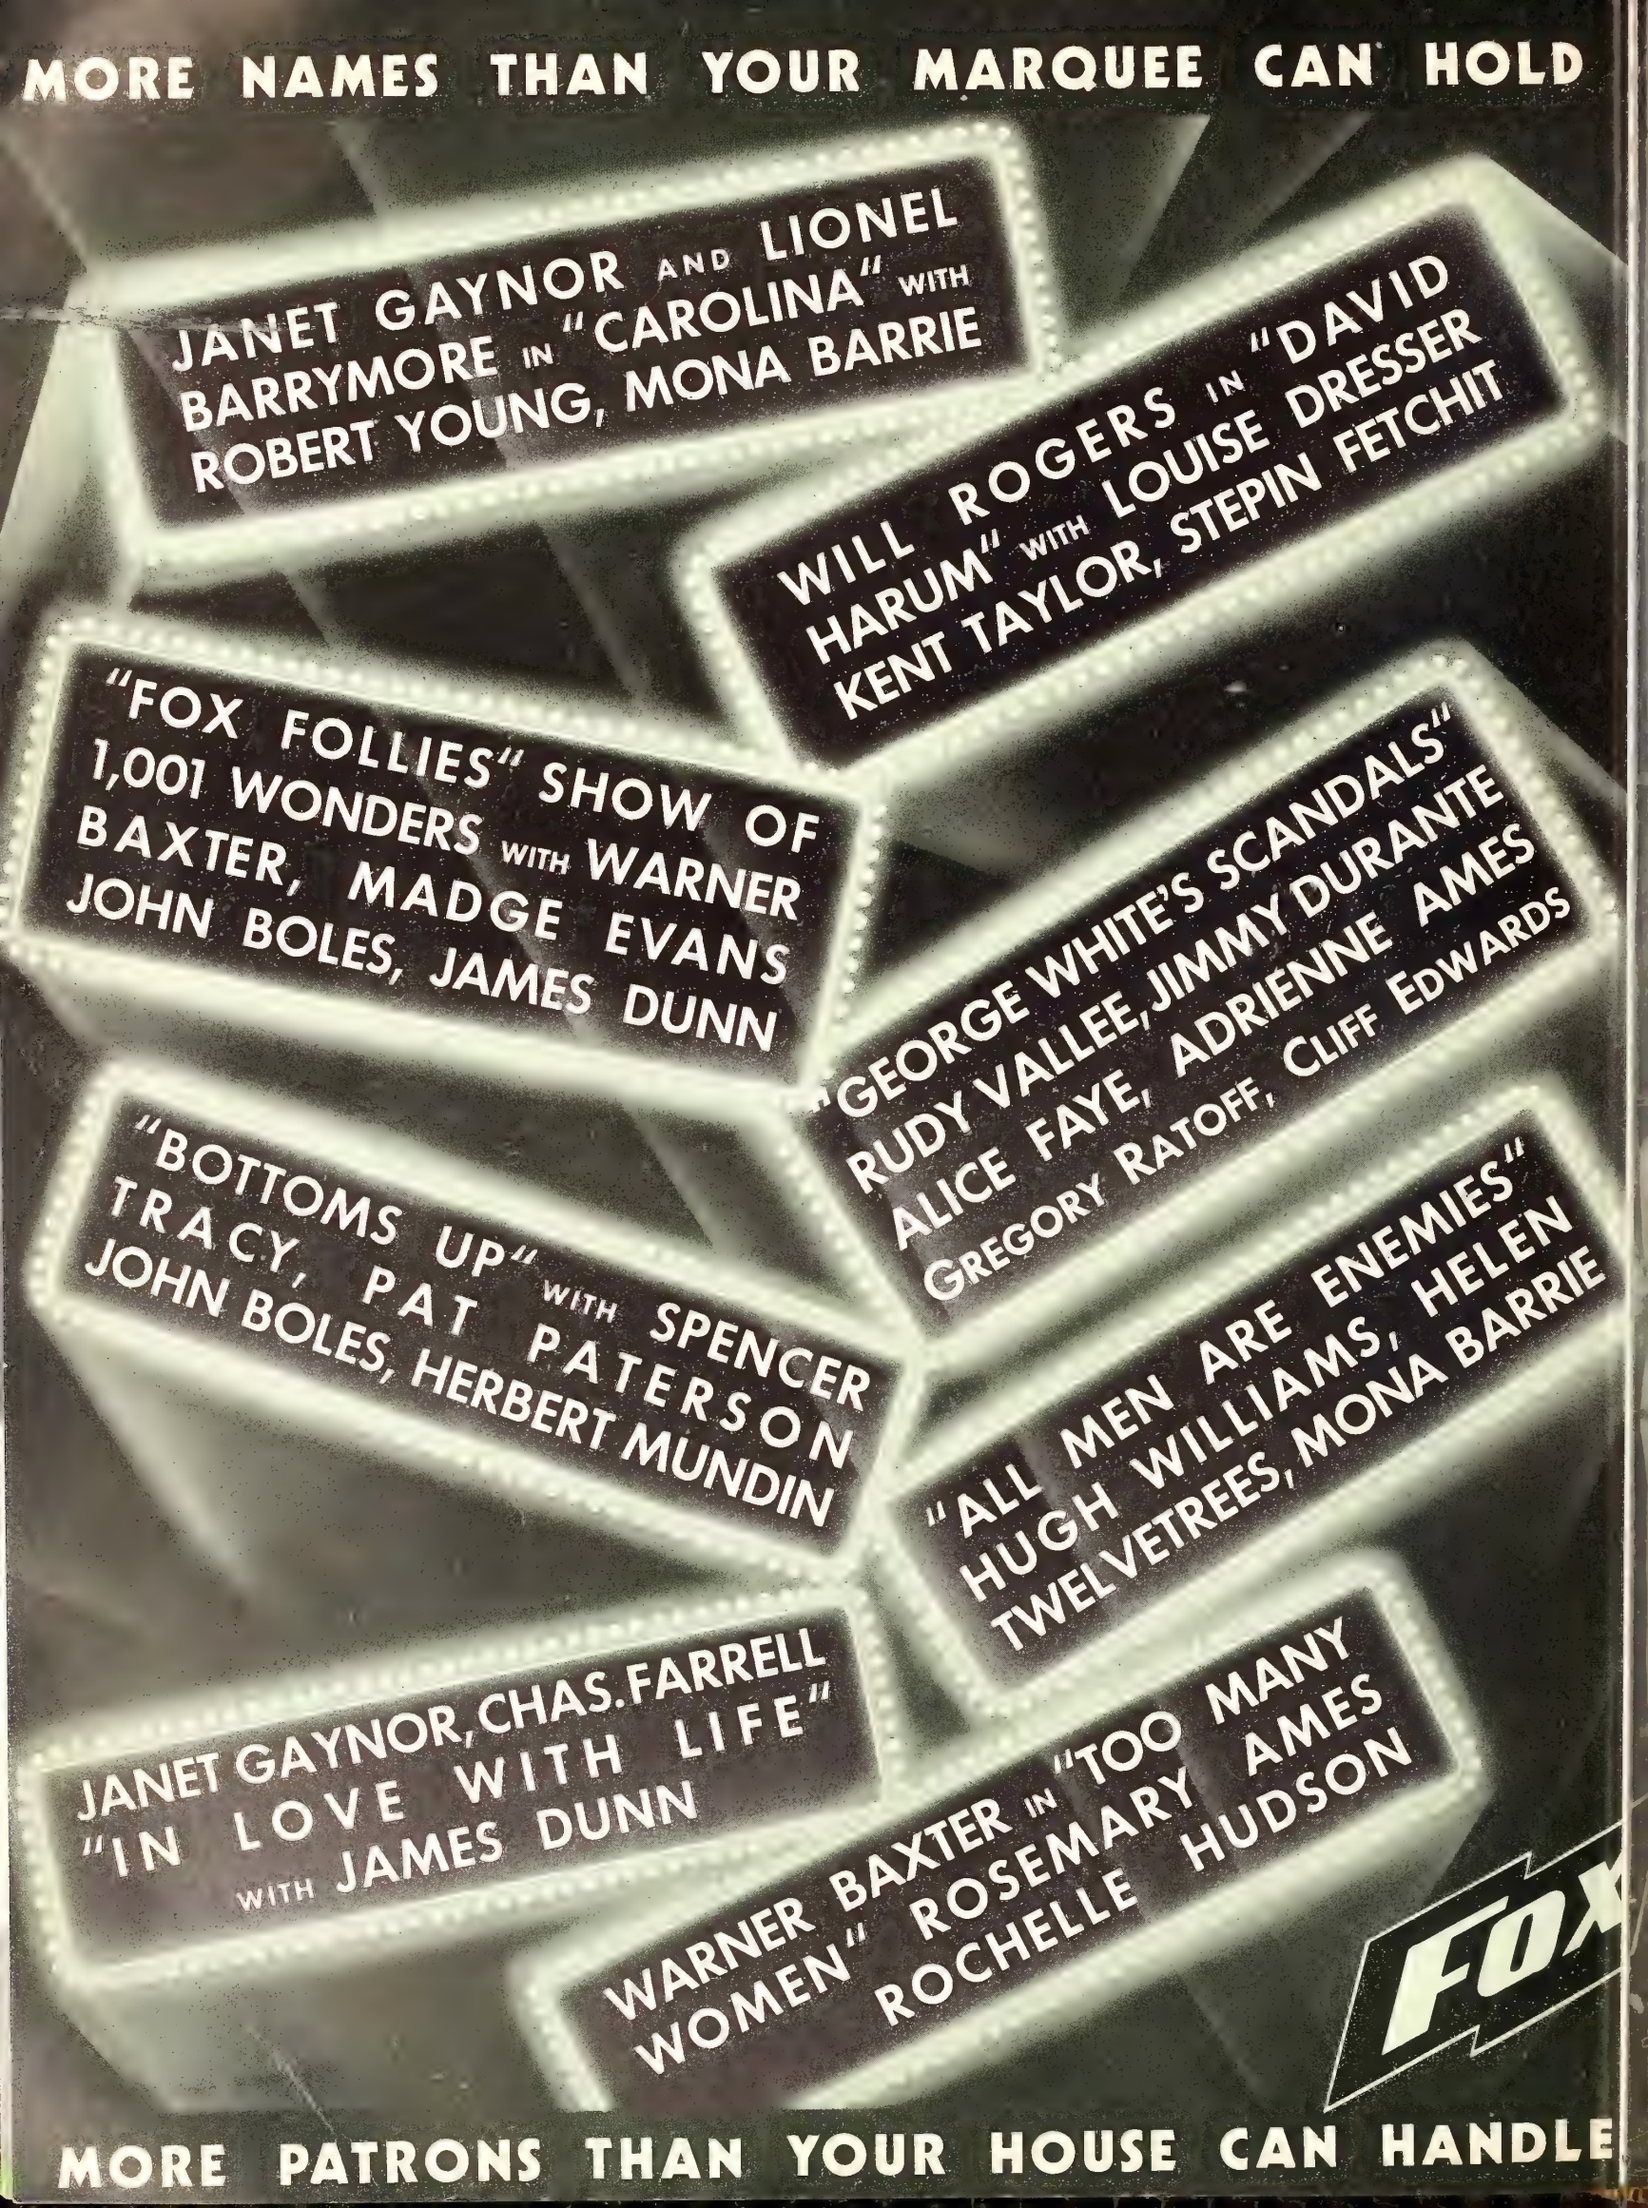
Entire Production Conceived, Created and Directed by George White



Musical Numbers direction of Harry Lachman

Story direction by Thornton Freeland

Music and Lyrics by Ray Henderson, Jack Yellen and Irving Caesar

Executive Producer, Robert T. Kane

MORE NAMES THAN YOUR MARQUEE CAN HOLD
JANET GAYNOR AND LIONEL BARRYMORE IN "CAROLINA" WITH ROBERT YOUNG, MONA BARRIE WILL ROGERS IN "DAVID HARUM" WITH LOUISE DRESSER KENT TAYLOR, STEPIN FETCHIT
"FOX FOLLIES" SHOW OF 1,001 WONDERS WITH WARNER BAXTER, MADGE EVANS JOHN BOLES, JAMES DUNN
"GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS" RUDY VALLEE, JIMMY DURANTE ALICE FAYE, ADRIENNE AMES GREGORY RATOFF, CLIFF EDWARDS
"BOTTOMS UP" WITH SPENCER TRACY, PAT PATERSON JOHN BOLES, HERBERT MUNDIN
"ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES" HUGH WILLIAMS, HELEN TWELVETREES, MONA BARRIE
JANET GAYNOR, CHAS. FARRELL "IN LOVE WITH LIFE" WITH JAMES DUNN
WARNER BAXTER IN "TOO MANY WOMEN" ROSEMARY AMES ROCHELLE HUDSON
FOX
MORE PATRONS THAN YOUR HOUSE CAN HANDLE

CODE ASSENT DEADLINE MARCH 10; NRA RULES ON RIGHTS OF SIGNERS

Code Authority for Fourth Time Postpones Date for Filing Assent Blanks; Allied Withdraws Suit Against the Authority

Midnight of March 10 is the new deadline for filing signed blanks of acceptance of the motion picture code, which will enable exhibitors and distributors so assenting to file complaints or charges of unfair competition with the Local Grievance Boards or with the Local Clearance Boards in the field.

Marking the fourth postponement of the deadline, successively from January 10, January 31 and February 28, the Code Authority in New York acted over the weekend following the straightening out of a difficult situation with Allied States Association which claimed that theatre owners had the right to sign with reservations.

Allied Withdraws Test Suit

When the NRA at Washington, late last week, issued a ruling that any member of the industry who signs a code assent blank shall not be prevented thereby from seeking amendments to or modifications of the code, legally or otherwise, Allied States withdrew its suit against Code Authority, and, at the same time, sent forth from Allied headquarters at the Capital a rather heated epistle in which it was said that "the independent exhibitors will not tolerate an extension of the motion picture code," and "they will strive unceasingly for changes in the code until it has been purged of its iniquities and dangers and has been made to serve its true purpose of driving out unfair trade practices."

The Code Authority had received some 9,300 code assent blanks up to press time Wednesday, and it was expected that as a result of the extension of the deadline to March 10, several hundred Allied assents will be forthcoming immediately. It was indicated that the extension of the date for filing assents had been granted in order to give Allied members, who have been holding back their assents pending outcome of the suit, sufficient time to file with reservations.

Some 1,500 assents were filed early in the week for as many Warner and Paramount theatres. Previously, other large circuits had filed individual assents for their theatre properties.

Formal withdrawal of the Allied suit, filed by the Congress theatre, of Newark, and challenging the right of Allied members to sign assent blanks with reservations, was made last Friday at a hearing before Federal Judge John C. Knox, in United States district court in New York. Members of the Code Authority had each been named a defendant.

NRA Rules on Qualified Assents

Allied withdrew the suit against the Code Authority when the NRA, through Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and NRA Counsel Donald Richberg, made public an interpretation of the effect of assent to the code with respect to the form of assent prescribed by and distributed to the industry by the Code Authority.

The NRA interpretation said that it is not the intent of the code that any member of the industry assenting on the forms prescribed by the Code Authority shall thereby waive or be estopped from seteing up any right which such member of the industry may possess under general or statutory law against any arbitrary, oppressive, injurious and unreasonable action by any administrative official or agency under the industry's code.

Nor is it the intention or purpose of the code that any member so assenting shall be precluded or estopped from seeking amendments to or modifications of the code, explained the NRA ruling.

Both of the foregoing parts of the Government's ruling obviously refer to the legal rights of an industry member signing a code assent.

In any event, the ruling explained further that members of the industry not assenting to the code on the forms prescribed by the Code Authority cannot be denied any of the rights and remedies afforded by the code, save only that they will not enjoy the right to file complaints and/or grievance before the administrative agencies of the code—which in distribution and exhibition in the field are the Local Grievance Boards and Local Clearance Boards.

Explains Assessments

Upon acceptance of any of the code's benefits or advantages, continued the ruling, such members accepting may be assessed a reasonable amount, which amount of assessment shall be subject to the approval of the Administrator, to help defray the expenses of administering the code. Such assessments shall not be used otherwise than in administering the code, the ruling emphasized.

"While assent on the (prescribed) form is necessary to enable a member of the industry to lodge protests with Clearance and Zoning Boards and to make use of the facilities of the Local Grievance Boards, nevertheless such assent is not essential to enable any member of the industry to interpose his defense before any such board if he so desires in any matter affecting his interest, and, thereafter, to prosecute any and all appeals therefrom to the same extent and in the same manner as a member assenting on the (prescribed) form."

This part of the ruling means that an exhibitor must sign the assent in order to lodge a complaint either with the Local Grievance or Local Clearance Boards, but where the exhibitor has not signed the assent he may defend himself in any matter affecting him, and thereafter to prosecute any and all appeals. Basically, non-assenters are not deprived of their rights at law, and whether or not they sign the assent they may always legally fight for their rights.

In explaining that while the Allied-Congress suit alleged many facts and circumstances in connection with the writing and approval of the entire code, Allied said this week that the basic objective was to establish the right of exhibitors desiring to subscribe to the code to file qualified assents.

"Objective of Suit Accomplished"

"This object was fully accomplished by the official ruling of General Johnson and Mr. Richberg," said Allied. "These gentlemen, clothed with full authority, took a short-cut to the solution of the controversy by ruling that it was not the intent or purpose of the provision of the code that exhibitors so assenting should

Allied Says It Will Strive for Changes in Code "Until It Has Been Purged of Iniquities"; 9,200 Assent Blanks Filed thereby waive or be estopped from setting up any rights which they possess under the general or statutory law.

"Not only that, but the ruling expressly provides that all assents heretofore or hereafter executed will be deemed to have been executed in the light of the foregoing ruling."

"Thus," continued the Allied statement, "there is written into every assent the condition and understanding that the execution thereof does not constitute a waiver of any rights."

Allied Interprets Status

At this point in the Allied statement from Washington, its leaders launched into a rather lengthy interpretation of the Johnson-Richberg ruling, which, it said, "goes beyond the issue of the Congress Theatre case and defines with greater clarity the rights and liabilities of assenters and non-assenters to the code."

Taking the opportunity to attack the "propagandists," Allied said:

"Spokesmen for the major producers and other propagandists, in an effort to stampede exhibitors into assenting to the code regardless of legal consequences, seized upon the broad language of Section 8, Part 2, Article VI of the code as justification for the claim that exhibitors could not file any complaints under the code unless they assented thereto. Allied in its printed analysis of the code held that this provision referred only to the right to file complaints before the Local Clearance and Grievance Boards, and that the exhibitors have the right, regardless of assents, to complain of code violations to the NRA, the Federal Trade Commission, the United States district attorneys and the regional compliance boards."

Allied said that its position in this respect "is fully sustained by the ruling of the Administrator who holds that members of the industry not assenting to the code can not be denied any of the rights and remedies afforded by the code save only the privilege of filing complaints before the administrative agencies provided for in the code."

"Certain of the propagandists have made themselves ridiculous by contending that these boards (Grievance and Clearance) could enter orders against non-assenters without even giving them a hearing. These persons are either unfamiliar with the due process clause of the Constitution or have deliberately misrepresented the situation. It is probable, however, that an exhibitor who has not assented to the code will ignore the proceedings of the boards and rely on the courts to protect his interests if the boards take any action affecting him adversely," Allied predicted.

"Power They Dare Not Use"

"The code proceedings have been unmasked as a bold attempt to confer on the major producers and their affiliated theatres legal authority to engage in all of the oppressive and monopolistic practices from which they had been prevented by the Attorney General and the courts," charged Allied.

"By the code, and more especially by domination of the Code Authority and the other administrative agencies the major producers were given the power to injure, oppress and crush every independent exhibitor who incurred the ill-will of any of them.

ALLIED ATTACKS "PROPAGANDISTS"

"Due to the dogged resistance of Allied and her loyal leaders and members it is now quite apparent that the tremendous power conferred on the major producers will never be exercised to the injury of the independent exhibitors.

Will Sue as Occasion Arises

"Allied has been criticized for bringing the Congress theatre case by those who had no conception of the real purpose of the action. By this suit has been established the right of the exhibitors to sue the Code Authority and the local boards for any arbitrary, oppressive, injurious and unreasonable action they may take.

"Allied's critics may rest assured that this valuable right will be exercised whenever occasion requires. Under the code as drawn by Mr. Rosenblatt the right to sue, which has now been gained, is even more important than the right to buy, which was denied.

Says Code Must Be Changed

"Every fair-minded lawyer, business man or public official to whom Allied leaders have submitted the motion picture code for an expression of opinion has pronounced it an unfair and dangerous document. Under the limitation in the Recovery Act the code will end on June 16, 1935. General Johnson already is toying with ideas of making the NRA permanent.

"The independent exhibitors will not tolerate an extension of the motion picture code in its present form. Moreover, they will strive unceasingly for changes in the code until it has been purged of its iniquities and dangers and has been made to serve its true purpose of driving out unfair trade practices.

"Under the Johnson-Richberg ruling exhibitors concede nothing to the code by assenting to it. It remains their privilege (as it is certainly their duty) to work for a different code and a different administrative set-up. In future contests the exhibitors will not be handicapped by false leaders appointed by Rosenblatt to represent them on the various Code Committees and who cringe before and lick the boots of the representatives of the major producers."

Should Exhibitors Now Assent."

"While the Johnson-Richberg interpretations lessen the hazards of assenting to the code, they also make execution less important from the standpoint of the exhibitors.

"The benefit to be derived is narrowed down to one item, namely, the right to file complaints before the local boards.

"To the extent that such complaints relate to alleged violations of the code it would appear that there is more to be gained by complaining to the appropriate government agencies than to the producer-dominated boards. There is a clear majority against the subsequent-run theatres on the Clearance and Zoning Boards, and against the independent exhibitors on the Grievance Boards; and if any of these should enter an order in favor of an independent exhibitor and against a distributor or affiliated theatre, there would be a right of appeal to the Code Authority where the majority against the independent exhibitor would be even greater than on the boards—at least 7 to 3 and probably 9 to 1.

"It becomes important, therefore, to inquire whether there are any cases not involving direct violations of the code in which Grievance Boards could afford relief to an assenting exhibitor. Section 1, Part 2, Article VI of the code enumerates certain complaints having to do with overbuying which are committed to the determination of the Grievance Boards. But overbuying is prohibited by Part 2, of Division E of Article V and complaints against this practice can be lodged directly with public authority.

Flays Code Authority

"And while considering the Code Authority it might be worth while to point out that this body of the generals of the industry has degenerated into a detachment of corporals and privates, virtually all of the producer members having designated sales managers and attorneys to serve as alternates. This has been reflected in the acts and policies of the Code Authority which are in no sense characteristic of big men. These acts and policies are defeating the supposed purpose of the code that the representatives of the several branches of the industry on the local boards shall be truly representative. The minority report filed by Mr. Yamins is conclusive that the producer-alternates are insisting on the right to appoint not only the representatives of their own branch, but also the representatives of the exhibitors.

"A final point (of the NRA ruling) relates to assessments to defray the cost of administering the code. Under Section 10 (b) of Article II any person assenting to the code is thereby made liable to such assessments. Under the Johnson-Richberg ruling anyone accepting any of the benefits of the code is also liable. There is apparently no limitation on the amount that may be assessed against one who assents to the code; that is left to the discretion of the Code Authority. The amounts which may be assessed against one who does not assent but accepts benefits under the code must be reasonable and are subject to the approval of the Administrator. If a non-assenter concludes that the code offers no benefits that mean anything to him, he can not be assessed any amount whatever for defraying the expenses of the code.

"In view of the foregoing it is difficult to see why any independent exhibitor should want to assent to the code; but the dangers incident to such assent have been removed and if any exhibitor thinks there is anything to be gained in his particular situation by assenting he can now do so without forfeiting his right to work for improvements in the code or waiving his right to protect himself against oppressive action on the part of those charged with the enforcement of the code."

New Virginia Company

The Virginia Theatre Management Corporation, Maryland corporation, has been granted authority to engage in the amusement and theatre business in Virginia. Headquarters will be in Salem.

Globe to Produce 12

Globe Pictures, Inc., newly formed in Hollywood by Larry Darmour, in association with H. C. Hopper, plans 12 features, starting April 1. The company will handle its own exchanges.

Goldsmith Moves

Ken Goldsmith, independent, has moved his production unit from the Beachwood studios to Talisman in Hollywood. The first picture there will be "I Hate Women."

President Urges Communications And Radio Board

Plans of President Roosevelt, reported last December, for establishment of monopolies in the radio and wire communications fields, under the strictest kind of governmental regulation, as an alternative for government ownership or the present lack of a permament government policy in those fields, finally took form this week when the President sent a special message to Congress urging creation of a Federal Communications Commission to take authority over wires, cables and radio, except broadcasting.

Would Have Investigatory Power

"The new body should, in addition, be given full power to investigate and study the business of existing companies and make recommendations to the Congress for additional legislation at the next session," said the President.

The new commission would take over the present authority held by the Federal Radio Commission and by the Interstate Commerce Commission in these fields, and in the combined structure would represent an authority over radio, wires and cable communications much in the same manner that transportation is governed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the power industry is governed by the Federal Power Commission.

Mr. Roosevelt feels the relationship of the federal government to certain services known as utilities should be divided into three fields: transportation, power and communication.

Not into Film Field

In first reporting on the Presidential plan, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, on December 23rd, 1933, said:

"Any program undertaken by the Government with respect to communications will be confined to that field alone and will not extend into the field of motion pictures or broadcasting. To this extent, the communication operations of the Radio Corporation of America and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company—both of which have broad interests in the film and broadcasting industries—will be segregated from all other activities.

However, it is generally conceded successful development of monopolies in the communications industry would be followed by the building up of cartels in other industries.

"The Radio Corporation of America is somewhat of an important producer-distributor and exhibitor of motion pictures through its various Radio-Keith-Orpheum subsidiaries.

"The American Telephone and Telegraph Company is interested in the operations of some thousands of the most important theatres through its Western Electric Sound System installed in these theatres and for which exhibitors pay to Western Electric, weekly service charges. Also, Western Electric has its producer recording licenses in practically all of Hollywood's studios and frequently finances production.

Universal Ball April 14

The Universal Club of New York will hold its annual easter ball at the Hotel Lismore, on April 14.

"SOMETHING SUPERB FOR THE SCREEN"

Is the Characterization of "Richard of Bordeaux," Says DeCasseres, but No Hollywood Player Could Equal Dennis King; Possibilities in "Shining Hour"

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

THE SHINING HOUR

This play, by Keith Winter, a young Englishman, with a nearly all-English cast —heavily adenoidal—made a hit. And, in the main, it deserved to. For it poses the old triangle problem in a subtle, smooth, unusual style. It is trick-padded here and there and sometimes swims along on dialogue. Here and there also it just skims the sublime.

There is a fine picture in it for a director and a cast that can handle nuances and subtleties competently enough to get it over to our not too analytical-minded picture audiences.

It was perfectly acted by Adrianne Allen, Marjorie Fielding, Cyril Raymond, Derek Williams, Gladys Cooper and Raymond Massey, with high honors to Miss Allen as the self-sacrificing wife and Marjorie Fielding as an old maid.

Gladys Cooper, a newcomer to these shores, was much-heralded, but we have a half-dozen of our own breed who could have put more subtlety and shadow into her fine role.

Locale (which ought to be changed to America in the picture version), a middle-class dude farm in Yorkshire. Household: David Linden (Massey), his wife, Judy (Miss Allen), an old-maid sister, Hannah (Marjorie Fielding), and a younger brother, Mickey, horsey, fresh.

Comes from India another brother, Henry Linden, with his new wife, Mariella. This Mariella, through no fault of her own, begins the work of destruction in the simple lives of the Lindens. David falls in love with her. His wife Judy knows—superb scene in the second act between Judy and Mariella, where Judy urges Mariella to elope with her husband—"love above all."

The old-maid sister hates Mariella. Even young Mickey tries caveman tactics on Mariella (who is not the vamp type at all—she is simply beautiful and enticing, one of those women that Nature has made for tragic troubles).

Judy throws herself into a burning barn, freeing David for Mariella, whose husband, a typical, English thick-head, hasn't the slightest notion of what's going on. At the last curtain David and Judy are going away together.

The atmosphere of this fine play is grave and tensely dramatic, shot through with humor. It rises progressively and naturally from homespun gayety to tragic levels.

Picture value, 85 per cent.

RICHARD OF BORDEAUX

Richard of Bordeaux—no less a person than Richard II—is the latest distinguished costume arrival on Broadway. And I believe he will not stay long, not because Gordon Daviot's play in eleven scenes is not good—on the contrary "Richard of Bordeaux" is one of the finest plays of the season—but because it has no bedsports, hard stage fighting or eminent female clothes-horse to recommend it at the swanky Empire.

You see, Dicky the Second was a gentleman; he loved peace; he was a patron of the arts; something, in his youth, of an idealist; didn't go to bed with his boots on; never seduced a girl (in public), and actually believed in noblesse oblige! So terhell with such a king, says the ermine-and-monocle set.

Dennis King is Richard to the life (according to the authorities). He does the greatest acting of his career. He is, in fact, in one leap a great actor.

In this play—mainly of war, intrigue and incisive characterizations, written in a blunt, unornamental style—we see the evolution of Richard from early idealism to hard-boiled statecraft. He is gaudy, passionate, human and somewhat effeminate.

In a word, here is a living, breathing vital creation—something superb for the screen. But I know of no male in Hollywood who could equal Dennis King.

A long line of notables stream across the stage to the final scene of Richard's forced abdication and imprisonment in the Tower. For a female lead there is Anne of Bohemia, the Queen, an exquisite creature who dies of the Black Plague—a Helen Hayes part, for who could die of the plague like Our Helen?

Picture value, 80 per cent.

PLAYS AS RATED FOR THE SCREEN

Examining, with an eye to screen possibilities, various of the current stage offerings, Benjamin DeCasseres, noted critic and essayist, gives the following percentage evaluations of several plays, as analyzed in this issue:

"The Shining Hour"—85 per cent.
"Richard of Bordeaux"–80 per cent.
"Broomsticks, Amen!"–80 per cent.
"Queer People"—8 per cent.

BROOMSTICKS, AMEN!

The editor of the MOTION PICTURE HERALD lately wrote a pregnant sentence that should be placarded all over Hollywood:

"The producer who will set about discovering America will find a land of opportunity."

This country, historically and actually, is brimming with great picture stuff; but, instead, we are entirely surrounded by Henry the Eighth, Catherine the Great, Napoleon, Voltaire, Queen Christina, and, soon, Mary of Scotland, Richard II, and everybody down, no doubt, to the late Sandjack of Baloney. I do not believe our picture patrons are interested in these historical dummies. It is forced stuff.

Here's a splendid folk story of the Pennsylvania Dutch, for instance, in "Broomsticks, Amen!" by Elmer Greensfelder. It has all the elements of a profoundly interesting American-type picture; romance, humor, drama and vivid characterization. Besides, there is the curiously funny dialect and sayings of these Pennsylvanians, with their centuries-old superstititions.

The gist of the story is here: a hex-lifting witch-doctor, pious, honest, dignified, is in conflict with his daughter and his blind son, who are modern-minded. They tolerate the old man because he commands respect. He is also fighting a for-revenue-only pow-wower.

First crime in his eyes is that the daughter is going to have a "before-time baby." All the worse as her lover is a real doctor, whom the hex-artist hates. This is, however, temporarily patched up.

The young folks get married, and after a year the baby is ill. A conflict takes place between the husband and his father-in-law about treatments, the old man insisting on pow-wow. He shoots his son-in-law in the arm and his treatment results in the baby's death. He is arrested at the last curtain.

Many other characters afford comic relief. A splendid bit of unusual Americana, warm and vivid.

Picture value, 80 per cent.

QUEER PEOPLE

Maybe I'm a boob, but I do not believe a word of it. I have lived in Hollywood, and I say this play—"Queer People"—by John Floyd from the Carroll and Garrett Graham book is not the city I lived in nor the persons I met there who are in the Big Business.

And I do not believe Nita Naldi, Hal Skelly and others of the picture-world who acted in this smelly bit of sliced alley-dog believe a word of it either. There may be persons like these characters out there, but they are not peculiar to Hollywood. I have even met them in Camden, N. J.

Hal, of course, is great clowning. He plays "Whitey," a newspaper man who is whiskey-soaked to the panache. He is mixed up in all kinds of rackets—a tough, human, mocking guy. But, mates, it's all wet. It's strained till it crumbles to pulverized punk.

And so are the other thirty-seven (by actual count) characters—all wet. They make pathetic attempts to seem alive; but they are all re-galvanized dummies. They've been done over and over in the White Way crook dramas.

Of course, there is a possibility that there is something here for Cagney; but as it stands now I say emphatically

Picture value, 8 per cent.

17 Theatres Are Withdrawn in Rembusch Suit

Frank Rembusch Enterprises, principal complainant in the $2,000,000 anti-trust suit against the large companies, which is now being heard in New York, withdrew as a plaintiff late Tuesday. The case will continue before Judge Alfred Coxe in United States district court. Capitol Amusement Company, controlled by H. H. Woodsmall and Frank Rembusch, is now the only complainant.

Withdrawal of Rembusch Enterprises lessens the number of Indiana theatres involved by 17, there remaining only three houses participating, those of Capitol Amusement.

The suit is an outgrowth of charges of monopoly against the MPPDA and its large producer-distributor members, and the theatre interests, all located in Indiana, brought the suit to the New York courts.

During the week, the third of the trial, Leo Brecher, independent exhibitor, and Joseph Quittner, also an independent, and both of New York, testified for the plaintiffs. Mr. Rembusch's Indianapolis broker, Charles Turson, likewise testified.

Late last week, Will H. Hays, president of the MPPDA, said on the stand that his organization was interested only "indirectly" in the Film Boards of Trade. Mr. Hays said he was not familiar with the functions of the Film Boards, which are headed by Charles C. Pettijohn, except in a general way, and when he was shown a copy of what was purported to be a report on Film Board activities, which allegedly had been submitted to the MPPDA directors, Mr. Hays explained that his members kept in touch with Film Board activities.

12-Point Program To Improve Codes

(Continued from page 10)

whole to meet the Administration's desire for uniformity and adequate protection of minorities—both employers and employees in the minority—will be submitted next week to the general conference of Code Authorities. John C. Flinn secretary of the motion picture Code Authority, and a committee of four or five of its members, will represent the industry at the Code Authority conference for all businesses.

General Johnson told the delegates of industry on Tuesday that his program for effecting code uniformity and adequate protection of minorities included 12 points, as follows:

1. Adequate labor and consumer representation in advisory capacities on Code Authorities of all industries which are codified.

2. Uniform government representation on all Code Authorities. (Sol A. Rosenblatt is at present the government's representative on the motion picture Code Authority.)

3. An improved method for securing prompt and effective compliance.

4. Wider use within code groups of mechanisms for settling labor disputes.

5. A safe method of financing code administration in each industry without "racketeering" and abuse. (The film Code Authority is now formulating a plan for financing code administration by assessing each industry member.)

6. Certainty of protection against monopoly control and oppression of small enterprises, and the inclusion in codes of adequate buying, as well as selling, provisions to guard against oppression of small businesses. (The motion picture code now makes it an unfair trade practice, subject to penalties, for one theatre to overbuy pictures with the intent of keeping such excess number from a competing theatre.)

7. Elimination of inconsistent or conflicting provisions among the various codes. (These would principally be among the trade practice provisions).

8. Further reduction in maximum working hours and further increase in hourly wages. (Maximum working hours for most production workers are now set at 36 per week and for most theatre workers at 40 weekly, excepting, in both cases, executive classes, among others.) General Johnson is said to be in favor of a 36-hour maximum working week for all employees whose maximum is now set under a code, whereas a movement is reported to be under way in Congress for a thirty-hour maximum.

9. Uniform classification of areas for the purpose of the North-South differentials.

10. A more effective rule on costs for the purpose of maintaining rules against sales below cost of production.

11. A more uniform and equitable rule of national price stabilization where necessary, to maintain wages against the certain results of predatory and cut-throat competition.

12. Uniformity of wages and hourly rates in competitive industries.

While application of the 12 points outlined by General Johnson would require broad revision of practically every code, the extent of such revision to the motion picture code is speculative, because the hours of labor in the motion picture code are, in most instances, far below those prevailing in most industries; wages are considered adequate, as a general rule; compliance provisions are broad and the machinery for dealing with controversies, grievances and compliance is believed adequate.

In any event, any revisions of any codes under General Johnson's 12-point program will be done by Executive Order of Mr. Roosevelt, because it is felt that such procedure is quicker and less difficult than the formal NRA method of holding public hearings.

General Johnson told the delegates of industry that 90 per cent of all American industry is codified, and that "the Blue Eagle is just beginning to function." For chiselers, he added, the NRA was just "too terrifyingly simple."

In further defense of the codes, General Johnson told the gathering that they had put 2,750,000 men back to work and had increased the nation's annual payroll by $3,000,000,000.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD, on February 17, outlined the procedure for next week's Code Authority meetings of some 22 industries at Washington, which included various types of complaints against individual codes which may be filed at the meetings either by an industry's Code Authority or by any code committees of any trade associations of an industry.

60 New York Theatres Sue Erpi, W. E., A. T. & T.

Interests representing approximately 60 houses in the New York area affiliated with the Independent Theatre Owners Association filed suit in the United States district court Wednesday against A. T. & T., Western Electric and Erpi, charging restraint of trade. The plaintiffs claim they were compelled to lease their sound equipment from the defendants at exorbitant prices, or find themselves in danger of being forced out of business, as a result of contracts with producers forbidding them to sell pictures to exhibitors not using Erpi equipment. Plaintiffs demand their contracts be abrogated, and the return of all payments in excess of the cost of installation, as well as the refund of all alleged excessive service charges.

Western Electric Reports Net Loss Of $13,772,504

Western Electric Company, a branch of the American Telephone system, reported late Wednesday a net loss for 1933 of $13,772,504, including operations of subsidiaries, of which Electrical Research Products is an important division. Western Electric manufactures, among other things, motion picture sound recorders for studios and sound reproducers for theatres, which are marketed by Erpi.

Edgar S. Bloom, president of Western Electric, in reporting to stockholders the financial condition as of December 31, said: "During 1933 the business of this company, in common with that of other manufacturers of capital goods, continued the decline of the previous three years. Sales amounted to $69,511,000, which is but 16.9 per cent of the volume attained in the peak year of 1929, and the lowest for any year since 1915."

Comparative Sales by W. E.

Sales by Western Electric for the past 10 years were as follows:

1924	$246,944,000	1929	$410,950,000
1925	239,531,000	1930	361,478,000
1926	263,105,000	1931	228,956,000
1927	253,724,000	1932	117,850,000
1928	287,931,000	1933	69,511,000

Surplus at December 31, 1933, amounted to $18,283,604, a decrease for the year of $11,925,344.

Interest bearing indebtedness was reduced during the year $2,804,007, and at December 31, 1933, amounted to $72,332,150 as follows:

Debenture bonds, 5s, 1944	$35,000,000
Notes sold to Trustee of Pension Fund	34,999,166
Other notes payable	2,332,984
Total	$72,332,150

Assets as of December 31 totaled $325,000,000, of which land, buildings and service equipment were worth $161,161,000, at cost; advances to and investments in subsidiaries and affiliates were listed at $69,000,000, and accounts receivable and marketable securities were valued at $94,371,000. Cash on hand totaled $3,500,000.

Earnings of Western Electric for the year ending December 31, 1933, were:

Sales	$69,510,882
Cost of sales, including depreciation on plant of $5,754,729	81,905,161
Net loss on sales	$12,394,279
Sundry income (net), including profit from subsidiary and associated companies of $420,899	1,903,628
Loss before interest charges	$10,490,651
Interest charges	3,281,853
Loss, carried to surplus	$13,772,504

CHANGES IN EARNED SURPLUS

Balance as at December 31, 1932		$30,208,948
Deduct—
Loss for 1933	$13,772,504
Revaluation of all marketable securities of the company and its subsidiaries to cost or market, whichever is the lower	1,847,160
Net deduction for 1933		11,925,344
Balance as at December 31, 1933		$18,283,604

GREAT NEWS FOR SHORT LOVERS

right this way • • •

"HONEYMOON HOTEL," LATEST MERRIE MELODY, MARKS INTRODUCTION OF FULL COLOR IN VITAPHONE CARTOONS

SIGNING OF B. A. ROLFE, BILL ROBINSON, FREDDIE RICH, OTHERS, INCREASES VITAPHONE'S LEAD IN STAR NAMES

VITAPHONE SALES TOP LAST SEASON'S RECORD FIGURES BY MORE THAN FIFTY PER CENT!

WATCH FOR "MOROCCO NIGHTS," LATEST AND GREATEST TECHNICOLOR, WITH BUZ BERKELEY GIRLS

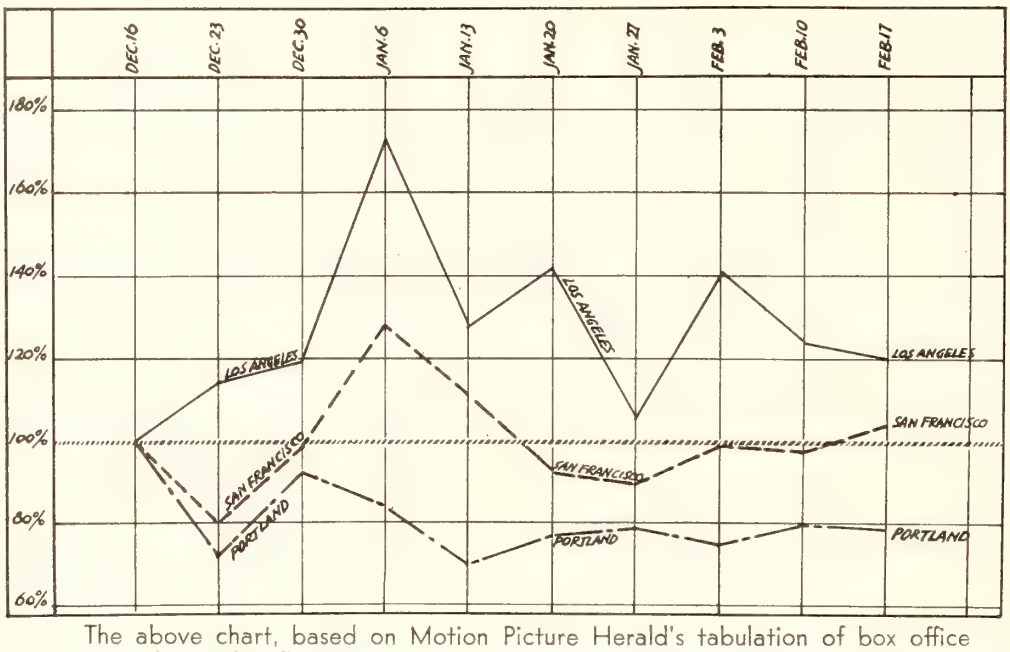
BEN BLUE HAILED AS LEADING "SHORT" COMIC IN HIS FIRST THREE VITAPHONE RELEASES

GEORGE JESSEL, NOTED AIR STAR, ADDED TO FAMOUS NAMES IN VITAPHONE'S "RADIO ROW" SERIES

DOROTHY STONE, GUS SHY, COMING SOON IN 3-REEL "LOOK FOR THE SILVER LINING," FROM "SALLY

30% INCREASE IN STUDIO BUDGET BRINGS REDOUBLED TRADE RAVES FOR VITAPHONE'S PRODUCTION QUALITY

VITAPHONE



IS MAKING "THE BEST SHORTS" BETTER IN 1934

CANVAS OF KEY HOUSES PROVES SUPERIOR SELLING POWER OF VITAPHONE'S PRODUCER-MADE TRAILERS

VITAPHONE PRODUCT FOR CURRENT SEASON 80% COM PLETED, WITH 37 READY FOR RELEASE BY APRIL 30TH

The above chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, shows the fluctuation in business done in three western key cities—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland—during the ten-weeks period from December 16, 1933, to February 17, 1934. The receipts in each city for the week of December 16 are taken as 100 per cent.

McDonough Aims Higher Efficiency

Elimination of all waste motion and personnel, in addition to keeping a weather eye on overhead and other production matters, will be important among the duties of J. R. McDonough, recently elevated to the presidency of Radio Pictures Corporation, said B. B. Kahane, president of Radio Studios, upon his arrival in New York from the Coast this week.

Mr. Kahane explained that Mr. McDonough now is in the best position possible to effect greater efficiency throughout the entire production structure through quick decisions made on the spot which heretofore have demanded attention in New York.

Mr. Kahane denied rumors to the effect that he would resign his recently appointed post with the remark that "after all I made the suggestion, so why should I resign?"

All appointments and changes announced by M. H. Aylesworth ten days ago on the Coast are subject to approval by the board.

United Artists Shifts Foreign Sales Managers

Walter Gould, former general manager in Latin America, has been named divisional manager for United Artists over Central and South America. He is en route to Havana to survey the territory. Edward Ugast has been named assistant to Tom Mulrooney, foreign sales manager, with headquarters in New York. Charles H. Gore has succeeded Mr. Ugast at Manila, Philippine Islands.

The United Artists Continental Corporation, described by Arthur W. Kelly, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution, as an "unimportant subsidiary" in the foreign field, has been chartered at Wilmington, Del.

Fox West Coast To Spend $100,000

Trustees of Fox West Coast, in Hollywood, have agreed to an expenditure of $100,000 during the next six months on various types of alterations and improvements, including new seats and marquees for numerous of the circuit's theatres in Southern California.

Under the new deal covering the Hollywood Pantages, a new company known as the Hollywood Pantages Theatre Corporation is to be formed, giving Mr. Pantages 50 per cent of the stock with West Coast holding the rest and dictating policy. A loss of $48,000, advanced by Fox West Coast to Mr. Pantages since the former joined the present operators, will be written off as part of the Pantages claim of $200,000 against the bankrupt Fox West Coast organization. The new lease on the Pantages which goes with the new operating company calls for a monthly rental of $3,000 for nine months and $2,500 plus five per cent of the gross monthly thereafter.

New Actors' Federation To Receive Union Charter

The recent formation of the American Federation of Actors will result in the transfer of the American Federation of Labor charter held by the American Actors' and Artistes' Association to the new organization, according to Ralph Whitehead, secretary.

Officers of the Federation are: Eddie Cantor, honorary president; Fred Keating, president; Joe Laurie, Jr., first vice-president; Victor Moore, second vice-president; Pat Rooney, third vice-president; Guy Magley, fourth vice-president; Charles Mosconi, treasurer; Mr. Whitehead, secretary. The A. F. of L. charter includes various phases of entertainment other than the legitimate theatre and the motion picture.

Payton, A Symbol Of A Stage Era, Dead in New York

Corse Payton, virtually a symbol of a vanishing, or a vanished era in the American theatre, is dead, at the age of 66.

In a sense Corse Payton was the 10-20-30 stock melodrama of that distant day before the motion picture gave something new, something different, and something inexpensive to an ever novelty-hungry public. He was a producer of stock in the hinterland, he was known, and noted, on and about Broadway, he was a matinee idol of no mean proportions—yet he literally gloried in the appellation, "America's best bad actor."

In Greenpoint Hospital, Brooklyn, where he lately made his home, Corse Payton died late last week of pneumonia and heart disease. The pneumonia was thought beaten a week before, but an ailing heart collapsed under the strain.

There is considerable significance in the termination of his last stock company venture. At the Carlton theatre in Jamaica, on Long Island, he set up a company. There for some time they played revivals, until, last September, the house was leased—as a motion picture theatre. At the last, the film was too much competition for stock, but nowhere is it recorded that Mr. Payton ever complained.

He was born in Centreville, Iowa, where he will be buried, and in Centreville he made his stage debut. The play was "Dora, or a Farmer's Iron Will," and the cast was local talent. For a number of years he toured the Middlewest, sometimes with his own company, and in 1900, he landed in Brooklyn and a theatre of his own, which he bought for $5,000 and named Payton's Lee Avenue. For 15 years, with the old and symbolic 10-20-30 cent price scale, he stayed and played.

It was the heyday of the stock melodrama, when audiences were enthusiastically responsive, particularly with respect to their heroines—and eggs were very cheap. The wit for which he was famous is nowhere better indicated than in the curtain speech with which he introduced each season, and called attention to the small admission scale with words to this effect:

"Here I give you plays, ancient and modern, with a competent cast of 30 actors—count 'em, 30 from left to right—for 30 cents admission. Thirty actors for 30 cents; a cent an actor, and you can throw me in as a premium."

He so delighted in his "bad acting" that he used it in his billing, and when the novelty evaporated, dubbed himself a "sugar-coated ham" and still later he said, "Now I just tell them I'm a lousy actor and they like it."

Corse Payton was an actor, first, last and all the time, on the stage and off, whether he was playing the stern villain or regaling the crowd at the old Knickerbocker bar, adjacent to Broadway. He was definitely a symbol of an American entertainment era, which just as definitely the screen has supplanted, but from which the screen inherited its first, and best audience.

Fox West Coast Trustees Get Allowance

Individual allowances amounting to $14,529.90 each on account against a fee of $2,500 a week from July 29 for the three Fox West Coast trustees were allowed last week by Referee S. W. McNabb. Attorneys were given $43,000 on account against $2,500 weekly for the same period.

In New York, Ernest Niver, chairman of the committee on reorganization of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, said in U. S. district court late last week that reorganization plans for the circuit will be presented to the court "any day now." The receivership was extended for another six months subject to earlier termination by the court.

Plan Variety Club For Kansas City

The Kansas City amusement industry is perfecting plans for the formation of a local Variety Club. At an initial meeting attended by 32 theatre and exchange representatives, temporary committees were named. Charles Shafer, Fox Midwest auditor, is credited with the initiative in planning the organization. A charter membership of 50 is intended, the ultimate goal being 100 resident and 25 non-resident members.

Allan Moritz, manager of the Columbia exchange in Cincinnati, has been elected president of the Variety Club there, to succeed William C. Gehring. Manny Shure and Marc Wolf remain as vice presidents.

Lange Heads Paramount Distribution in Europe

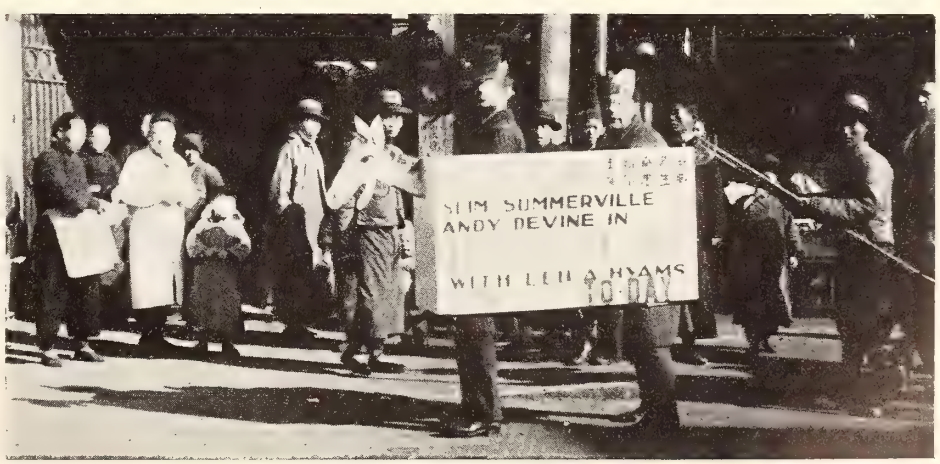
Fred W. Lange, for the past seven years managing director for Paramount in Argentina, this week assumes his duties in Paris as general manager of Paramount distribution in Continental Europe, succeeding I. Blumenthal, resigned. John B. Nathan, recently general manager in Central America and the northern South American countries, will go to Argentina. Jerome Sussman has succeeded Mr. Nathan. Gare Schwartz, in charge of the laboratory at Paramount's Joinville studio near Paris, has resigned.

A. T. & T. Net Income for 1933 Is $7.37 Per Share

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has reported a net income for 1933 of $137,456,776, equal to $7.37 per share earned on 18,662,275 shares of stock, which compares with $145,906,909, or $7.82 per share earned in 1932. The deficit, after dividends of $9 per share, was $30,503,699, comparing with $22,047,695 in the previous year. Western Electric, a subsidiary of A. T. & T., manufactures motion picture theatre sound equipment, through its subsidiary Electrical Research Products, Inc.

Consolidated Film Announces Dividend

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., last week declared a 50-cent dividend on its preferred stock, payable April 2 to stockholders of record March 9. This marks the first dividend the company has declared since April, 1932.



FOURTEEN YEARS IN CHINA

By way of celebrating the establishment in 1920 of Universal's own exchange in Shanghai, Norman Westwood, then and ever since Universal's general manager for China, sends these pictures of the long-ago and now. Of the long-ago is that above, showing leading film executives in 1922, most of whom have passed to other work or worlds. But in 1922 Mr. Boyles (1) represented United Artists; T. J. Holt (2) managed the Isis theatre in Shanghai; D. P. Howells (3) represented First National; Mr. Westwood (4) had begun his present work; Mr. Moffitt (5) was a theatre official; G. M. Weiss (6) managed Pathe-Orient; S. G. Hertzberg (7) operated the Shanghai Apollo; H. T. Clarke (8) represented First National; H. D. Tsung (9) headed the Isis theatre management; George Mooser (10) represented United Artists; A. Ramos (11) headed a theatre circuit; and H. W. Ray (12) was a Hong Kong showman.

Above Mr. Westwood is shown in front of Universal's Shanghai headquarters, while below is a Shanghai gesture toward the American (?) art of ballyhoo.

AUSTRALIA'S BUSINESS IMPROVES; GOVERNMENT PRIZES FOR PICTURES

Federal Awards Will Go to Producers of the Three Best Films and to Best Scenario, to Boost Its Local Product

By CLIFF HOLT
Sydney Correspondent

The Federal Government has set aside £4,750 a year for the next two years as prize money to be divided among the producers of the three best pictures made in Australia or its territories. The idea is to encourage local production.

The producer of what is adjudged the best picture will receive £2,500. Second and third prize money amounts to £1,250 and £750, and the remaining £250 will go to the writer of the best scenario.

The plan follows the same lines as those obtaining when the Government prizes of £10,000 were awarded in 1929. At that time the £10,000 was awarded for annual competition among Australian producing companies, but the idea proved such a fiasco that it was dropped after the first year. Only one picture was considered good enough to earn a prize, and then it received only the third money of £1,500.

Though they are less than half the value of those made in 1929, producers here welcome the new awards.

Business Improving

It's convention time in Sydney, and as I write, the principal distributors have called together their interstate executives and sales representatives from all parts of Australia and New Zealand for their annual parleys.

Among the delegates exists a pronounced spirit of optimism; everybody is unanimous in the belief that the year ahead will prove the most prosperous since the boom days. Indeed, it might be said that in a general way the remarks made by N. Bernard Freeman, in his inaugural address to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer conventioneers, summarize the impressions of the whole.

"Business is improving steadily," he said. "Waste and extravagance have, or should have been, eliminated from theatre management. Studio reorganization has worked wonders.

"During the world depression in which Australia shared, and which happily now seems to be making its exit bow, this industry played its part in maintaining the morale of the country, as probably did no other set of influences. It simply refused to be depressed. Comedy after comedy and gloom-dispelling entertainment came along in steady line to combat the panic at times so near the surface. The picture business kept on laughing—sometimes, it must be admitted, with tears in its eyes; nevertheless, it kept on laughing, and the public came and laughed with it."

Mr. Freeman drew attention to some figures that may be of interest to foreign film men who have scant knowledge of the Australian market. In the Commonwealth alone more than 25,000 are employed in the motion picture and allied industries. Their average weekly wages amount to £3/5-, or £5,000,000 per annum. There are in all 1,286 motion picture theatres in Australia, 1,076 of which are equipped for sound or dialogue picture presentation. The remaining 210 theatres, it is anticipated, will all be equipped within the very near future.

"Compared with the United States or the British Isles, it is not, of course, a vast market; but in the days of plenty, American renting houses were inclined to grumble if they couldn't lift £30,000 and more in grosses with their roadshows," he said.

▽

Williamson Shows Profit

Show business in this country certainly seems to be getting out of the red at last. Recently I referred to the fact that Hoyts Theatres, Ltd., had returned a net profit of £25,283 for the 12 months ended last July, as against a loss of £11,039 for the previous year. Now comes the annual report of J. C. Williamson, Ltd., the leading legitimate theatre company in Australia. After a succession of losses since 1929, J. C. Williamson this year showed a profit of £3,580, comparing with a deficit of £4,759 in 1931-2, and a severe setback of £32,930 in 1930-1.

The directors comment on the difficult trading year, the dearth of suitable attractions and excessive taxation; but the small profit leads them to hope for better results in the future. In this connection, it is interesting to note that "The Firm"—as J. C. Williamson is best known here—has sold the Theatre Royal, Melbourne, and set aside £60,000 to rebuild His Majesty's, which was partially destroyed by fire two or three years ago.

Seek Copyright Reduction

Though the Federal Government spent £10,000 on a Royal Commission to inquire into the activities of the Australian Performing Right Association, and the Commissioner heard evidence from witnesses drawn from every quarter of the Commonwealth, it is now improbable that legislation will be brought down, giving effect to the Commissioner's recommendations. It has been said in Parliament that there is every prospect that the more urgent questions will be solved by agreement between the parties concerned.

Nevertheless, exhibitors who complain of excessive A.P.R.A. fees, and for twelve months agitated for the Royal Commission, would appreciate a definite assurance that drastic reductions are imminent.

▽

More Censor Vagaries

Another contribution for the giggle colyum—and the British Board of Film Censors is again the culprit.

'Pears they took objection to one of the Warner cartoon shorts "King Klunk" it is called and it burlesques "King Kong." So they gave it an "Adults only" certificate and listed it as a "horrific" film, meaning that exhibitors would have to hang a notice on the theatre front to let patrons know it was a horror!

The trade is now scratching its head, wondering how long it will be before Mickey Mouse is entered in the same class.

ROACH SCENARIST TO TRAIN WRITERS

Frank Butler, head of the Roach scenario department on the Coast, is developing what he calls the junior writing department for persons between the ages of eighteen and thirty who will receive a salary while going through a period of training to develop story ideas for Roach comedies. Mr. Butler hopes, through this medium, to build and develop comedy writers for future promotion at the studio. At present the personnel list of the junior department numbers six people.

Conventions Reflect Cheerier Outlook, With Reduction of Waste and Studio Reorganizing; Williamson Shows Profit

To Handle Liberty Films

Budd Rogers, general sales manager of Liberty Pictures, has closed a deal with Jack Bellman whereby the Hollywood Film Exchanges will distribute Liberty's 1934-35 product in New York, Albany, Buffalo, Washington and Philadelphia territories.

Magna Signs Grinde

Magna Pictures has signed Nick Grinde, former MGM director, to make a series of shorts with Bert Lahr and Harry Richman. The company releases through RKO, and plans a feature to start June 1.

52 Theatre Fires in 1933

There were 52 theatre fires in New York in 1933, according to the annual report of Fire Commissioner McElligott. Of the total 38 were in film theatres.

El Reno Rebuilds Theatre

El Reno Theatres of Oklahoma is rebuilding the Criterion, at El Reno, which was destroyed by fire last year. The new house will seat 750. Reconstruction will cost about $35,000.

Du World Moves Offices

Du World Pictures, Inc., recently formed by Archie Mayers and Irwin Shapiro, has moved its New York offices to the 17th floor of the Godfrey Building.

BUCK FACES DEATH!

After months of perilous adventure in the jungle, Frank Buck had his "WILD CARGO" ready to bring back alive to America, when bedlam broke loose in the thatched shelter room of the stockade where the animals were crated and caged. Monkeys screamed! Roars and cries pierced the air! King Cobra was loose! The hissing, spitting demon of the crawling world in whose fangs lurked certain death! Unarmed, his back to the wire and picket wall, his exit blocked by the hooded giant, coiled and ready to strike, Frank Buck ripped off his coat and like a matador baiting an enraged bull waited for the perilous moment when he or the Cobra would strike first. Why is it Nature saves her biggest thrills for Buck?

FRANK BUCK'S "WILD CARGO"

Van Beuren Production . . . RKO Radio Picture

Directed by Armand Denis

COMING SOON!

The above drawing, one of a series of scenes from "Wild Cargo", was sketched from an actual "frame" of the film by the famous artist J. Clinton Shepherd. There's no time for "stills" in a world full of thrills!

SPITFIRE

DIRECTED BY JOHN CROMWELL
FROM THE PLAY "TRIGGER"
BY LULA VOLLMER
WITH ROBERT YOUNG
RALPH BELLAMY
MARTHA SLEEPER
A PANDRO S. BERMAN
PRODUCTION
MERIAN C. COOPER
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

RKO Radio Pictures

SUPERB!

...AS THE THIEVING, LYING, PRAYING HELL-CAT OF THE HILLS WHOSE LOVE SET FIRE TO THE MOUNTAINS.

.....an inspired performance by the amazing HEPBURN!

HEPBURN

AMERICAN FILMS GAIN GROUND IN GERMANY

Hollywood Product Leads All Others, Despite Strict Government Supervision; None Reported from Great Britain

Despite the stringent censorship and import regulations placed by the Hitler government upon foreign motion pictures in Germany, the United States again led the import field to that country during 1933 with a total of 65 feature films, while France ranked second with only 10. The American total for 1933 was an increase of 11 over 1932 and a decrease of 15 from 1931. French imports to Germany fell from 32 in 1931. No British feature pictures reached Germany either in 1933 or 1932.

Following the Hitler-National Socialist party's acquisition of political control over Germany in February, 1933, the motion picture industry, together with all industrial, commercial and professional units were affected by a new Nazi plan establishing them as separate Staende, or estates, on vertical lines for the primary purpose of self-regulation under official surveillance. The German film industry was one of the first which was made to conform to this direction, because of its propaganda potentialities.

Thus, in place of the former Spitzenorganisation der Deutschen Filmindustrie, which represented a head trade organization of the different branches of the German industry, there came into existence the Reichsfilmkammer, or German Film Chamber, a quasi-official body heading up directly to the Film Department of the newly created Ministry of Public Enlightenment and Propaganda, with virtual controlling power over the industry on behalf of the Hitler regime.

According to the annual report on the German industry during 1933, made public this week, and submitted by U. S. Trade Commissioner George R. Canty, all of the different elements of the German film industry were brought into a single fold, properly segregated under labor divisions prescribed by the Film Chamber, and instructed to cooperate with the directing members of the chamber with a view to the elimination of "waste and lost motion, unqualified and otherwise undesirable elements in the trade, and to a general regeneration of the industry, which, from past experience, appeared badly needed."

According to the report, a preponderant number of high positions in the German film industry were occupied by persons of the Jewish faith, and whether as company executives, production managers, directors, sales managers, players or musicians, it became increasingly apparent that, with the few exceptions of those with outstanding war records or foreign citizenship, Jews were no longer desired in places of importance, and emigration to other countries, or removal from their places in the industry "in some other way," quickly followed. Jews, therefore, no longer occupy positions of prominence in the German industry.

However, the availability of foreign product and a successful turning out of a number of program pictures during the early months of the 1933-34 season, together with a shortening of domestic consumption by the institution of single feature bills, did considerable to overcome this gap. The present market supply in Germany is said to be ample for exhibitor needs, but it is said that the calibre of domestic product is certainly not as good as in years past.

German producing companies turned out 121 features during 1933, with Ufa (Universum - Film - Aktiengesellschaft) heading the list with 20. T. K. and Aco came second with six each; Bavaria Films, 5; AAFA, 4, while seven other companies released three each. Eleven companies, in addition to these, released two each and 37 firms produced one each.

During 1933 the German market adhered closely to the minimum consumptive capacity of feature films, as more or less arbitrarily set up by the Government in the regulations administering the Film Kontingent Law. Thus, according to official sources, Mr. Canty declares, 213 features were passed by the board of censorship during 1933, as compared with 210 in 1932 and 282 in 1931. The foreign supply in 1933 totaled 92 features, as against 83 in 1932 and 138 in 1931.

The Board of Censorship rejected 17 feature films during the year, six of which were subsequently approved upon second examination and some cutting.

The Theatre Situation in Germany

The prevailing depression and unsettled political conditions early in 1932 prevented any new theatre construction in Germany, so, with the exception of some of the smaller cinemas that were forced out of existence through inability to keep pace with the competition, the 1932 statistics may be accepted as indicative of the present situation. It is reported that there are 5,050 cinemas in Germany with a seating capacity of 1,900,000, or an average of 30 seats per thousand inhabitants. There are, it is estimated, about 1,750 cinemas seating up to 300 each; 1,750 seating from 300 to 600; 465 from 600 to 1,000, and 185 seating more than 1,000 each. Nearly 75 per cent of all German cinemas are wired for sound.

HOW AMERICAN FILMS COMPARED IN GERMANY

The following compilation, which was submitted to the Department of Commerce by U. S. Trade Commissioner George R. Canty, of Berlin, shows the total number of films on the German market since 1924, giving the German and American share for each year. It illustrates comprehensively the gradually reduced market brought about by official quota restrictions. The spread between 1929 and 1930 was occasioned by the advent of sound. The reduction in 1932 from the totals of 1930 and 1931 was the direct consequence of the Kontingent (quota law), which, in effect, restricts sales opportunities for foreign product:

Year	Total Number	German product	Percent of total
1924	560	220	39
1925	518	212	41
1926	487	185	38
1927	526	242	46
1928	517	224	43
1929	416	183	44
1930	284	146	51
1931	278	144	52
1932	210	127	60
1933	213	121	57

Year	American product	Percent of Total
1924	186	33
1925	216	42
1926	216	44
1927	190	36
1928	199	38
1929	142	34
1930	79	29
1931	85	31
1932	54	26
1933	65	31

Gulf States Association To Seek Membership of 150

Predicting great success for the newly formed Gulf States Theatre Owners' Association on the strength of demonstrated enthusiasm, Harry S. McLeod of the St. Charles theatre, New Orleans, this week declared that the organization "will conform to the highest ethics of the motion picture code."

Plans were announced to seek a membership of 150 exhibitors in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. A board of directors was appointed and is composed of Phillip Sliman, of the Sliman Circuit, Evangeline, La.; E. J. Myrice, New Orleans; Joseph Alsina, New Orleans, and A. Higginbotham and Joseph Barcelona of Baton Rouge.

Move On To Abolish Portland Censor Board

After a number of years of turmoil both within and without the ranks of the Portland Motion Picture Censor Board, indications now point to the early abolishment of the group, according to reports from the Oregon city this week. The board has been in existence for more than 10 years and was originally created as an advisory body for the city council.

National Screen Service Reports $107,010 Profit

National Screen Service Corporation shows a profit of $107,010 for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1933, according to a statement from the company this week. This figure compares with a profit of $94,556 for the fiscal year of 1932, according to Toby Gruen, vice president and treasurer.

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

THREE ON A HONEYMOON

Fox

Behind this intriguing title is a comedy romance story frequently spotted with light drama which has its locales on a transatlantic liner, the exotic atmosphere of semi-oriental Algerian cafes and near desert hide-aways and on the home bound boat again. Adapted from the novel "Promenade Deck" by Ishbel Ross, the story was transformed for the screen by Edward Lowe, credited with many successful scenarios, and Raymond Van Sickle. It was directed by James Tinling.

Sally Eilers, the "Bad Girl," currently starring in "She Made Her Bed," (Paramount—C. R. Rogers Production) tops the cast, and the outstanding supporting cast features Zasu Pitts, Henrietta Crosman, popular with theatregoers from "Royal Family of Broadway" to "Carolina"; Charles Starrett, recently in "Mr. Skitch," one of the younger Fox players; Irene Hervey, Johnny Mack Brown, Russell Simpson and Cornelius Keefe.

As an almost episodic treatment prevails, the complicated romantic theme awakens new loves as well as reawakens those which those concerned wish were buried in the forgotten past lest their present states be disrupted. Sally Eilers, setting her cap for Starrett, but willing to dabble romantically anywhere, has that worthy, prodded by Grosman, weakening as the ship sails on and a festive ball is held. In Algiers the romance blossoms and as the boat sails home, the blackmailing menace to Irene Hervey is taken in hand by Sally who gets herself into a compromising situation that first chills Starrett's ardor and then has her suspected of murder. But the truth will out and as the thrill-seeking Sally plunges into a swimming pool that doesn't happen to be full of water, there is a convalescing finale which finds Starrett again the ardent swain and the comedy reliefs, Zasu Pitts and Simpson announcing that they also are going to be married.

It is a bouncing, hectic yarn that looks to have plenty of merit and should be ripe for a novel, curiosity-whetting showmanship attractive to both men and women and the older young folks.

MURDER IN TRINIDAD

Fox

Melodramatic mystery and thrill detective stuff in wierd and bizarre locales and carrying a typical romantic contrast. It was adapted from John Vandercook's novel of the same title, which was selected as the Crime Club story of the year, by Seton I. Miller, particularly adept in putting punch and sock in this type of picture, as witness "Scarface" and "The Last Mile."

Setting its action in the hitherto unpictured wild tropical Caroni swamp on the Island of Trinidad, the story deals with a detective's dangerous adventures in tracking down a menacing gang of diamond smugglers, which brings about one of those mysterious unsolvable murders ordinarily highly interesting to most classes of theatregoers save those afflicted with weak hearts. Into this fabric is woven the necessary romantic angle which provides the easing contrast and permits the selling of something other than puzzling, nerve-jingling mystery.

Directed by Louis King, who lately did "Life In the Raw" for Fox, the story presents the British actor Nigel Bruce, the butler in "Coming Out Party" in the leading role as the Scotland Yard detective. Heather Angel ("Berkeley Square," "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case") is the sole bit of femininity in the cast, and about whom the Douglas Walton romance rotates. As the story unfolds, the others, Victor Jory, Pat Somerset, Claude King, Francis Ford, J. Carrol Naish and John Davidson, are either honest business men, officials or smugglers. Which is which and which is the murderer of Murray Kinnell and menace to Bruce, Miss Angel and Walton is something that will give audiences ample opportunity to use their imaginations.

The picture looks like a real treat for the mystery-thrill fans, yet possesses enough contrasting entertainment in a novel style to permit a provocative advance build-up calculated to arouse general interest.

IT'S VALUABLE IN SINGAPORE ALSO

From Singapore, Straits Settlement, writes Joe Fisher of Amalgamated Theatres, Ltd.:

"As usual, I continue to enjoy the Motion Picture Herald, and 'What the Picture Did for Me' is extremely interesting to us in this part of the world in comparing the relative values of productions."

FINISHING SCHOOL

RKO Radio

Both an expose of life in an exclusive girls' finishing school and a dramatic romance, "Finishing School" has the appearance of being modern, lively and novel entertainment. The original story is by David Hempstead. Beside collaborating with Laird Doyle, who did the screen play on "Phantom Express," on the adaptation, Wanda Tuchock, who scenarioed "Little Women," co-directed with George Nichols, Jr., director of "Ann Vickers."

As in "Maedchen In Uniform" and "Eight Girls In a Boat," girls dominate the cast which Frances Dee, Ginger Rogers, Billie Burke and Beulah Bondi head. These well known screen names are supported by the newcomers Marjorie Lyttel, Rose Coghlan and Adylin Doyle, erstwhile Hepburn stand-in, as well as by the more experienced Sarah Padden and now adolescent Mitzi Green and Ann Cameron, sister of Dorothy Jordan. The lone important man, menace to the plans of mother Burke and Principal Bondi, and romantic, dramatic pivot of Frances Dee's love urge, is Bruce Cabot.

Modernly timed and localed, given the benefit of striking production values, the story rips the veil of hypocritical sham from socalled smart schools where girls of wealth can break all the rules and get away with it as long as the tuition is forthcoming. Lonely, love-starved Dee, sponsored by high-flying Ginger Rogers, meets struggling medical student Cabot, and the result is the usual outcome of clandestine affairs under the moonlight. Saved from tragedy by her lover, who braves the rage of the Misses Burke and Bondi, Miss Dee finds reputation-saving happiness in marriage to Cabot.

It looks like a picture with strong appeal to the Junior League, stenographer, shop girl and modern young lady trade. Likewise, one to which can be adapted the well proved old "mother-do-you-know-your-daughter" brand of showmanship.

THE CRIME DOCTOR

RKO Radio

The melodramatic story of a perfect crime, "The Crime Doctor," is adapted from Israel Zangwill's book "The Big Bow Mystery." The screen play was prepared by Jane Murfin, recently credited with "Ann Vickers" and "After Tonight" and Norma Shearer's last picture "Smilin' Through." John Robertson, who handled "Little Orphan Annie" and "One Man's Journey" for Radio during the past year, directed.

The cast is headed by the currently popular Otto Kruger, with Karen Morley, last seen in "Dinner at Eight," but remembered for "Phantom of Crestwood" and "Washington Masquerade," in the feminine lead. Nils Asther, newly familiar because of "Right to Romance" and "By Candlelight," and the lately re-discovered Judith Wood, assume the more important supporting roles.

The story, which hinges on a series of tense situations, has Kruger, noted criminologist, because of marital difficulties, seeking to trap his wife (Karen Morley) and her lover, Asther. Killing the adventuress plant, Judith Wood, with a gun from Asther's collection when she attempts double-crossing blackmail, Kruger does not interfere, but permits pinning of the crime on Asther. The audience is in on Kruger's plot as officers and prosecutors are confounded by the chain of circumstantial evidence convicting Asther. The wife's plea after conviction brings about an unusual climax to amaze amateur crime sleuths and results in an unanticipated semi-blackout to the melodramatic yarn.

A new type of melodramatic mystery yarn, essayed previously with a comedy twist by Paramount in "Guilty as Hell," the story appears to have plenty of unusual showmanship angles to support the cast power as well as the general appeal usually accruing to this class of picture.

To Reissue "All Quiet"

Universal is preparing to reissue "All Quiet on the Western Front," with a new prologue citing the horrors of war. The film was released originally in 1930.

Sunday Bill Loses in Virginia

A bill to permit Sunday showings in Virginia was defeated by a vote of 62 to 28 in the House at Richmond last week.

Columbia Ball March 10

Columbia Pictures will hold its fourth annual ball at the Hotel Waldorf Astoria in New York on March 10.

First Profit In Year Reported By Radio Corporation

Showing a net profit of $1,211,277 for the final quarter of 1933—the first profit earned since early in 1932—the Radio Corporation of America this week made public its annual report to the stockholders. For the entire year of 1933 there was a net loss of $582,093, after taxes, interest, depreciation and amortization of patents, comparing with a net loss of $1,133,585 in 1932. The profit of $1,211,277 for the final quarter of 1933 compares with a net loss for the same period of 1932 amounting to $540,863.

The report embraced all RCA subsidiaries, including RKO, NBC and others.

Gross income for 1933 was $62,333,496, and while this figure represents a decrease of 7.5 per cent as compared with the gross income of the preceding year, the cost of doing business in 1933 was reduced 8.1 per cent as compared with 1932.

After providing for fixed charges of $4,237,378, to cover interest, depreciation and amortization of patents, the net loss for 1933 amounted to approximately half the loss of the previous year, notwithstanding a decline of $5,027,646 in gross income.

The 1933 balance sheet shows a ratio of current assets to current liabilities of 5.2 to 1. The reduction in net current assets is principally accounted for by the final payment of $2,925,329, which was due on the subscription for Radio - Keith - Orpheum Corp. debentures. This payment was made in January, 1933, and was referred to in the annual report to stockholders for the year 1932.

The auditors in a statement certifying the accounts of RCA report that the audit of RKO and its subsidiaries for 1933 by the public accountants for that corporation has not been completed. They added: "We are advised by officers of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp. that the consolidated statement of operations for the year 1933, will show a loss of $3,341,714, compared with a loss of $10,695,503 for the year 1932."

The report to the RCA stockholders stated that the management of RCA has given full cooperation during the year to the receiver of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corp., and to the management of the operating subsidiaries of that company.

"Substantial progress has been made," the report notes, "in improving the operations of that company (RKO) and its subsidiaries, which suffered severely from the falling off of receipts and theatre attendance that affected the entire motion picture industry. During the year substantial economies were made in the costs of motion picture productions and the costs of operating theatres.

"The results of operations during the year have enabled RKO to attain a better position in the motion picture and theatre industry. It is hoped that during the present year conditions may warrant the development of plans for a reorganization of RKO and a discontinuance of the receivership."

The statement was signed by James G. Harbord, chairman, and David Sarnoff, president, of RCA.

Gilbert Saunders Dead

Gilbert A. Saunders, 61, owner of the Colonial, at South Hill, Va., and the Lincoln Hotel, at Case City, died last week in a Richmond hospital from blood poisoning.

RCA Deficit Reduced Nearly $1,000,000 During 1933

The comparative consolidated income account of the Radio Corporation of America, including subsidiaries, (RKO companies, NBC and others), for the four years, 1930 to 1933, inclusive, shows a reduction in deficit for 1933 of close to $1,000,000 from that reported for 1932. The comparative consolidated income account follows:

	1933	1932	1931	1930
Income from operations	$61,561,110	$66,168,756	$100,124,847	$132,261,908
Other income	772,386	1,192,386	2,520,573	4,775,688
Total income all sources	$62,333,496	$67,361,142	$102,645,420	$137,037,596
Costs and expenses	58,678,211	62,285,241	91,099,218	122,115,230
Balance	$3,655,285	$5,075,901	$11,546,202	$14,922,366
Interest	242,445	1,206,633	1,469,181	1,524,321
Provision for exchange loss	.....	.....	965,206	.....
Depreciation	3,394,933	4,402,823	7,842,912	6,632,557
Amortization of patents	600,000	600,000	400,000	939,195
Federal tax provisions	.....	.....	100,000	300,000
Net loss	$582,093	$1,133,585	*$768,903	†$5,526,293
Preferred A dividends	.....	343,019	1,373,907	1,373,300
Preferred B dividends	.....	.....	2,876,972	3,832,700
Deficit	$582,093	$1,476,604	$3,481,976	‡$320,293

*Profit before inventory adjustments, etc. †Net profit. ‡Surplus.

▽ ▽ ▽

The consolidated balance sheet of RCA and its various subsidiaries as of December 31, compares as follows for the last three years:

Assets

	1933	1932	1931
*Plant and property account	$ 31,977,523	$ 31,164,480	$ 39,379,256
*Patents, contracts, etc.	8,468,443	5,317,467	4,863,363
Inventory and advertising associated companies	32,302,928	31,818,322	26,760,893
Cash	13,149,483	25,555,458	23,916,408
Marketable securities	7,396,273	274,679	613,457
Notes and accounts receivable	8,233,939	7,971,615	12,591,567
Inventories	6,603,336	4,514,901	8,294,269
Deferred charges	633,134	551,117	641,943
Total	$108,765,059	$107,168,039	$117,061,156

Liabilities

†Preferred A stock	$24,779,870	$24,779,870	$19,779,870
Preferred B stock	16,430,709	16,430,709	16,430,709
‡Common stock	26,261,380	26,261,380	26,261,380
Debentures	4,255,000	4,255,000	.....
Mortgages payable	3,703,000	3,740,000	3,925,000
Notes payable	1,184,599	1,154,951	677,650
Accounts payable and accruals	6,765,763	4,651,897	6,585,903
Due associated companies	.....	.....	17,729,719
Dividends payable	.....	.....	346,005
General reserve	12,931,764	12,931,764	9,823,854
Contingent reserve	2,547,084	3,111,284	4,173,277
Reserve for each fluctuation	636,799	.....	.....
Earned surplus	9,269,091	9,851,184	11,327,789
Total	$108,765,059	$107,168,039	$117,061,156

*After reserves. †Par $50. ‡Represented by 13,130,690 no-par shares.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

The Mystery of Mr. X

(MGM)

Mystery Romance

Mystery, wrapped up in fun and tied together with romance, is the material of which this picture is made. Never a terror picture, suspense that marks the drama, romance and mystery contrast engenders a definite thrill that assures continual interest as the conflicting comedy situations preclude anticipation of the picture's climax. Aiming solely at providing novel and different amusement that shuns the prosaic, the picture so combines its various assets that it should prove substantial popular entertainment.

As many theatrical elements are welded coherently into the story, exhibitors have romance for the crowd that demands love interest; comedy for the fun devotees; melodramatic mystery for the amateur crime sleuths and all around good entertainment for the ordinary patron who likes a neat amalgamation of all, with an extra accent on hokum.

Localed in London, with the whole cast in the right spirit, the story plunges right into its melodrama as a series of police murders by a mysterious Mr. X puts Scotland Yard on the spot. The Raffles-like Revel, stealing a famous diamond, stumbles over the body of a murdered bobby while making his getaway. The crime coincidence convinces the press-bedeviled Commissioner Frensham and astute detective Connor that the gem thief is Mr. X. Comedy sequences between Revel and his frightened henchmen, Palmer and Hutchinson, are interludes before an officer with whom nobleman Marche was horseplaying is slain and the plot becomes complicated as that worthy, engaged to Frensham's daughter, Jane, is arrested on suspicion. However, Mr. Revel and his hilarious aide, Palmer, concoct an alibi for Marche which amazes the suspect even more than the police and opens the door to a triangle romance as Revel visions Jane as worth his attention. Analatical Connor is not so easily fooled and sets his men to dogging Revel and his minions.

Romance between him and Jane becoming the predominant feature, Revel is a clever adversary of the smart Connor. But as inability to dispose of the gem enlivens matters, Revel has to capture this Mr. X, or else. Through a process of geographic deduction on the map of London, he figures that the maniac is drawing a gigantic X and decides upon the spot where the next bobby will be rapiered. Disguised as a bobby, he walks past a horde of raiding officers into a socking up-and-down-the-elevator-well encounter with Mr. X, which had everybody on the edge of the seat and the more impressionable vocally expressing their enthusiastic approval. There is an all's well that ends well finish for everybody but Connor, who still thinks he should have pinched Revel for the theft job anyway. But there is nothing he can do about it with the murdering maniac dead by Revel's hand and his chief's daughter very much in love with the audacious young man.

Good standard entertainment appears to be the best selling feature in this show. As it doesn't hesitate to resort to the technique of silent pictures in putting across its punches and building up the solution defying suspense, it moves with that action that pleased so many in other days. Additionally it gives you the stuff to sell in a way that will interest adults and youngsters of both sexes, together with cast names of proved value and story situations that suggest their own ballyhoo and exploitation, and which should insure plenty of patron interest.—McCarthy, Hollywood .

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by Edgar Selwyn. Producer, Lawrence Weingarten. From the novel, "Mystery of the Dead Police," by Philip MacDonald. Screen play by Howard Emmett Rogers. Adaptation by Philip MacDonald. Additional dialogue by Monckton Hoffe. Art director, Merrill Pye. Photographed by Oliver T. Marsh. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Film editor, Hugh Wynn. Release date, February 23, 1934. Running time, 85 minutes.

CAST

Revel	Robert Montgomery
Jane	Elizabeth Allan
Connor	Lewis Stone
Marche	Ralph Forbes
Frensham	Henry Stephenson
Palmer	Forrester Harvey
Hutchinson	Ivan Simpson
Mr. X.	Leonard Mudie
Judge Malpas	Alec B. Francis
Willis	Charles Irwin

David Harum

(Fox-Sheehan)

Comedy-Drama

This is no ordinary Will Rogers picture. It is grand screen merchandise, carrying the values in every phase that should make it unusual entertainment for the big deluxers, and by the same token, a homey, human, humorous audience-pleaser so well appreciated by the neighborhood and smaller town houses. Clean, wholesome, natural, maintaining continually a family type intimacy, it has a wealth of showmanship values from which aggressive showmen may readily derive unusual results.

Not since the days of "Connecticut Yankee" has there been such a Will Rogers. Where frequency of appearance may have lessened his drawing power, "David Harum" is the kind of film that should easily make possible a recreation of the Rogers popularity. This, in itself, is an asset that should not be overlooked; rather, it should be stressed to the limit. It is evident that Rogers' enthusiasm for his role had an inspiring effect on the supporting cast as topnotch performances, reflecting the real spirit of the "David Harum" story, are contributed all the way down the line.

All the color that made "David Harum" an American literary classic is preserved in the picture. Honest realism, which attunes the dramatic, romantic, comic and human interest essentials to finely balanced action and dialogue endows the show with an interest that should be equally effective upon sophisticates and others. Opening in the nineties, at a time when business conditions were similar to the present, Harum's al lib philosophical analogies create an up-to-date impression.

Then, as the rural New England story unfolds, the audience has a close understanding of what is happening. Harum's slick "hoss" trades with the Deacon; his hardscrabble small town banking practices; his home life with sister Polly, are all lively. The romance he builds for Ann and John is sincere and full of heart appeal. As laughs predominate, there is a sentimental sequence as he cancels the Widow's mortgage, after outwitting the land-grabbing Deacon. The thrill of action is in a fistic melee which he and John wage all over the inside of the bank and on the sidewalk with Edwards and Elwin, familiar homeliness in the Christmas dinner scenes that inspire both gayety and pathos, and exciting punch to the trotting horse race won by Harum's nag as the entire county fair attendance sings "Down Went McGinty" and "Ta-ra-boom-de-ay." A Horatio Alger touch is there as Harum takes John into partnership and assures his marriage to Ann. Then a surprise climax that is a gale of laughter.

"David Harum" is the kind of show you can put your personal endorsement on. It is full of good old fashioned showmanship ballyhoo and exploitation ideas. The kind of show that shouts for special effort, it easily warrants any additional expense undertaken to get over the impression that it is big and worthy of support. Even taken in stride, word-of-mouth advertising may be counted upon to help sell the picture.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Directed by James Cruize. From the story by Edward Noyes Westcott. Screen play by Walter Woods. Musical director, Luis De Francisco. Photographed by Hal Mohr. Release date, March 2, 1934. Running time, 80 minutes.

CAST

David Harum	Will Rogers
Polly	Louise Dresser
Ann	Evelyn Venable
John	Kent Taylor
Sylvester	Stepin Fetchit
Woolsey	Noah Beery
Edwards	Roger Imhoff
Elwin	Frank Melton
Deacon	Charles Middleton
Widow	Sarah Padden
Sary	Lillian Stewart

The Show-Off

(MGM)

Comedy Drama

Adaptation of this stage play results in the picturization of a show that was unusually popular several years ago. Essentially a comedy, colored with romance and tinged with domestic drama, the picture moves in the spirit of its leading character, an apparently half baked, smart-alecky wise guy who says and does the wrong thing at the right time. Dialogue predominating to such an extent that it almost serves as a detriment to action, interest is continually focused on Spencer Tracy, through whom the picture's entertainment is developed.

Successful audience interesting advance campaigns can be concocted more readily from the title meaning and story character than from any other elements. Exploitation that takes advantage of the many angles suggested by "The Show-Off" idea, the nutty idiosyncrasies of the super egomaniac, J. Aubrey Piper, who brazenly hesitates at nothing to convince his wife, in-laws, bosses and the world at large that he is a keen-minded, brilliant big shot rather than a deluded dumbell, may stir up a patron interest that will get the folks into the proper mood to appreciate the picture.

There are many laughs in the picture, here and there considerable erratic excitement and occasional sequences that arouse human interest and sympathy, but unless audiences are properly prepared as to what to expect, they may fail to grasp the picture's significance.

As the story is modernized, the accidental

Let the Critics Rave!

- Far and away the funniest and breeziest film that has come this way in many a blue moon! It threw its first morning audiences into a commotion of hysteria. Jimmy Durante is at his hilarious best! — William Boehnel
  World-Telegram

- A rousing comedy...a series of howls! The dialogue is inspired, particularly those mad lines which are delivered by Jimmy Durante. He has never been funnier, and he has never had more able clowns co-operating in his daffy antics. The concluding sequence introduces a gag which is worth the price of admission.
  — Bland Johaneson
  Daily Mirror

- Hilariously goofy. The film is packed with laughs, songs, love, amusing dialogue, speedy tempo and an expert cast. — Rose Pelswick
  Evening Journal

- Durante is at his loudest, funniest and most coherent. It's not a picture for chuckling. Its reponse is guffaws, loud bursts of laughter. The audience is nearly as noisy as the picture. It's one of those half-mad, almost slaptick comedies that will find receptive audiences waiting for it. — Eileen Creelman
  New York Sun

- A rowdy, lusty comedy full of vim, vigor and vitality. — Kate Cameron
  Daily News

- Laughter — studded comedy, embroidered with gags and giggles, and strengthened by a lineup of names! Jimmy Durante turns in a swell performance as the triple-crossing manager, and there's plenty of praise too for Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez, Robert Armstrong, Marjorie Rambeau and the others. The production is fast, and the fun is unstinted.
  — Regina Crewe
  N. Y. American

- Hilariously rowdy adventure. Audience packed the theatre for an early showing!
  — Mordaunt Hall
  N. Y. Times

- Rich, riotous and gorgeously low! The liveliest fare that has come to the screen in a long, long time! — Thornton Delahanty
  Evening Post

WE'RE GIVING YOU THE BUSINESS!

NEW YORK — Packs Rivoli since opening Tuesday despite zero weather and record snowstorm!

BOSTON — Doubles gross of previous week!

WASHINGTON — Beats previous week 30% despite blizzard!

BALTIMORE — "Heavy attendance ups sugary gross" reports Variety!

AKRON — Biggest week since house re-opened last summer!

BINGHAMTON — Smashes all records! Audiences wild with enthusiasm!

PALOOKA

by HAM FISHER

with JIMMY DURANTE

LUPE VELEZ • STUART ERWIN

MARJORIE RAMBEAU • ROBERT ARMSTRONG

MARY CARLISLE • WILLIAM CAGNEY

THELMA TODD

Directed by Benjamin Stoloff • Presented by Reliance Pictures

PRODUCED BY EDWARD SMALL

Released thru

UNITED ARTISTS

hero, Piper, calling himself a railroad mogul, wins Amy's affections. But he fails to go over with Ma Fisher. Double-playing himself out of his clerk's job and out of the Fisher home where his spending beyond his income proclivities have landed him, Aubrey skids down the ladder until he is the inside man of a sandwich board ad. Meeting Joe, who has a deal on for his patent, Mr. Piper, trying to hypo the patent attorney, chills the deal and conscience-stricken, hies himself to the ever-trusting Amy. Then, out of a clear sky, come the breaks that make him the far-seeing, analytical genius he always thought himself as Joe gets Aubrey's asking price for the patent; the bad deal he made for the railroad company proves a bonanza to win him a real job and as he and the impressionable Amy plan new worlds to conquor, Ma Fisher wonders what new foolishness she will have to endure.

Specialized and localized exploitation appear to be this picture's best selling medium. Alert, business building exhibitors will find much material with which to sell the show. The almost endless possibilities of the "Show-Off" exploitation stunts and the harassed domestic atmosphere which is familiar to practically every family open the way for lively selling.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced ind distributed by MGM. Producer, Lucien Hubbard. Directed by Charles F. Riesner. From the play by George Kelly. Screen play by Herman J. Mankiewicz. Cameraman, James Wong Howe. Editor, William S. Gray. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, David Townsend. Release date, March 23, 1934. Running time, 80 minutes.

CAST:

Aubrey Piper ..... Spencer Tracy
Amy ..... Madge Evans
Joe ..... Henry Wadsworth
Clara ..... Lois Wilson
Pa Fisher ..... Grant Mitchell
Ma Fisher ..... Clara Blandick
Frank ..... Alan Edward
J. B. Preston ..... Claude Gillingwater

Countess of Monte Cristo

(Universal)

Comedy-Drama

This one is quite apt to prove a surprise. Premised on a not unique idea, the story is so treated, acted and presented that there is plenty of novel entertainment from hokum comedy to semi-mystery drama, with two love interest angles holding the yarn together. Laugh creating situations is the keynote and each one develops its own surprise in either action, dialogue or result. The title sounds as though the picture might be an historical costume affair, but it actually is a modern, mistaken identity story. Shunning any attempts at pretentiousness save in atmospheric background, the film is geared to the family type entertainment tempo and depends upon story and acting effects to put over its punches in an intriguing but understandable way.

Its idea carefully masked, the picture opens with a gangster menace suggestion. Succeeding sequences create the impression that although located in Vienna, the show is an inside lowdown on Hollywood movie making; then as Janet and Mimi, extra girls, flee in a high powered motor, the picture moves into its mistaken identity phase. This brings about the international hotel looting angle and to the tune of Mimi's amazed comedy, Janet's affair with Rumowski puts her almost under the sponsorship of the clever crook, the Baron. Charmed but frightened by Rumowski, actually terrified by the Baron, she is on the verge of being arrested as a co-worker of the crooks, when the many aliased and much sought Rumowski surrenders to the police, and Janet, getting in touch with her reporter sweetheart, Stefan, furnishes the story that makes her sensational disappearance a headline news event from which she emerges a highly publicized star with a grand contract.

There seems to be a lot of sleeper quality to this picture. As it covers a lot of ground in telling its story, the whole of which is entertainingly logical, it can be approached in several different ways. The surprising twists and turns it takes are so unexpected, yet still so amusing that much that should create interest can be done by either announcing it as a novel slant on the inside story of picture star making, or as a comedy tinged, semi-mystery drama.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. A Stanley Bergerman production. Directed by Karl Freund. Original story by Walter Fleisch. Screen play by Karen deWolf. Dialogue by Slady Unger. Dialogue director, Gene Lewis. Photographed by Charles Stumar. Film editor, Phillip Cahn. Art director, Stanley Fleisher. Editorial supervision, Maurice Pivar. Sound, Gilbert Kurland. Release date, March 19, 1934. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Janet ..... Fay Wray
Rumowski ..... Paul Lukas
The Baron ..... Reginald Owen
Mimi ..... Patsy Kelly
Stefan ..... Paul Page
Sterner ..... John Sheehan
Flower Girl ..... Carmel Myers
Hotel Manager ..... Robert McWade
Police Commissioner ..... Frank Reicher
Picture Director ..... Richard Tucker
Rumowski's Valet ..... Matthew Betz
Hotel Valet ..... Bobby Watson
Proprietor of Exchange ..... Dewey Robinson
Stefan's Friend ..... A. S. Byron
Newspaper Editor ..... Harvey Clark

It Happened One Night

(Columbia)

Comedy-Drama

Light, fast-moving comedy drama, with dialogue which sparkles, a pair of stars who do full justice to their opportunity, and a set of situations which give rise to almost continual laughter veering from the chuckle to the hearty cackle, this film is highly engaging entertainment, and should offer an excellent showmanship opportunity for the exhibitor.

With able support, especially by Walter Connolly, Roscoe Karns and Alan Hale, Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert form a starring combination which can be and should be sold with considerable fanfare and trumpets. The feminine appeal of Gable is obvious and should be capitalized. Miss Colbert is popular, and together they should be something to sell. Gable turns up a new side to his character in a role considerably lighter than any he has so far attempted, and as the fast-thinking reporter, gives additional evidence of acting ability and personal charm.

Revolving about the runaway rich girl who is willingly "shanghaied" by the reporter to keep his "beat" entirely exclusive, the two bus-riding, hitch-hiking and bumming their way from Miami to New York, the story opens the way for lively, attractive exploitation. Possible is the use of bus tieups, and copy which indicates the amusing situations, romance and the abounding comedy of the yarn. The fact that the film was adapted from a short story by Samuel Hopkins Adams, which appeared in Cosmopolitan Magazine, is worth noting, since many will have read the story there, and the film is a faithful transplantation to the screen.

Miss Colbert, escaping from her millionaire father, Walter Connolly, starts for New York incognito to join her hastily acquired husband, Jameson Thomas. Newspaper headlines scream her escape and the reward for her return. On the bus from Miami, she runs into Gable, reporter just fired and also bound for New York. When they are stranded in a southern city she becomes less distant toward Gable, her fate being in his hands, when she discovers he knows her. He offers to get her to New York safely if she will give him the exclusive story of their adventure.

They begin their journey anew, very short of money. From that point the film has one laugh situation on the heels of another. The fact that they pose as man and wife, much to her annoyance, should not be found too objectionable, since it is done with such good humor, while the use of a blanket across a line strung in their tourist cabin as they progress north is done in amusing fashion. Their money gone, they steal a flivver, camp in the straw, wade rivers, and Gable's purely "business" interest in his charming charge ripens into a love which is reciprocated. He leaves her in a cabin to rush to New York for money; she is turned out, and believing he has deserted her, plans to officially marry Thomas, with father's consent. At the end, through papa's good detecting, she rushes from the alter into the arms of Gable, leaving Thomas overwhelmed, the guests stunned and Connolly chuckling.

It is lively, amusing, rapid of situation and dialogue, varied as to setting, and performed by two able, and definitely salable "name" players. As light comedy drama, handled with a fine touch by Frank Capra, who directed "Lady for a Day," the film is excellent entertainment, and should be sold as such.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Frank Capra. From the Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Samuel Hopkins Adams. Screen play by Robert Riskin. Assistant director, C. C. Coleman. Photographed by Joseph Walker. Sound engineer, E. L. Bernds. Film editor, Gene Havlick. Release date, February 23, 1934. Running time, 105 minutes.

CAST

Peter ..... Clark Gable
Ellie ..... Claudette Colbert
Alexander Andrews ..... Walter Connolly
Shapeley ..... Roscoe Karns
King Westley ..... Jameson Thomas
Danker ..... Alan Hale
Bus Dviver ..... Ward Bond
Bus Driver ..... Eddie Chandler
Lovington ..... Wallis Clark
Henderson ..... Harry Bradley
Reporter ..... Charlie Brown
3rd Auto Camp Owner ..... Harry Holman
His Wife ..... Maidel Turner
Zeke ..... Arthur Hoyt
Zeke's Wife ..... Blanche Frederici
Station Attendant ..... Irving Bacon
Gordon ..... Charles C. Wilson
Flagman ..... Harry Todd

Shadows of Sing Sing

(Columbia)

Drama

Drama, built about the romance of a young assistant district attorney and the sister of a racketeer boss in the big city, and having the additional action element of a murder which becomes a fairly plausible mystery, plus a good courtroom scene, "Shadows of Sing Sing" is satisfactory entertainment if not outstanding.

The fact that the young attorney, apprehended on the spot, is accused of the murder, is the excuse for the title, one which has comparatively little significance, especially since there is no single prison sequence in the film, outside of the attorney's momentary incarceration during his trial. Since stress on the title may, therefore, create something of a wrong impression of the story's content, it might better be avoided.

Though the names may not be particularly valuable for the purpose of attracting patronage to the box office, the players are familiar, and capable. Bruce Cabot and Mary Brian, who share the lead, are two of the younger players who are developing rapidly, while Grant Mitchell is an old hand who knows his job.

The gangster theme is placed in a somewhat different light, with the romantic situation as it is, and the racketeer element in the film is at the same time considerably overshadowed as a plot motif by the murder mystery and the rather clever deduction which uncovers the real culprit at the usual critical final moment. Incidental comedy is supplied by Irving Bacon and Dewey Robinson, the gangster's bodyguard.

Cabot, whose father, Mitchell, is head of the police identification bureau, is proud of his son's appointment as an assistant district attorney, but hardly overjoyed when he learns the young man's fiancee, Miss Brian, is the sister of the notorious racketeer, played by Harry Woods. When the two attempt an elopement, Woods follows, slugs Cabot and locks Miss Brian in her apartment, under guard.

Cabot goes to Woods' office, but meanwhile Bradley Page, aiming for Woods' top spot, arranges his murder with an unknown, who does the job, almost bumping into the arriving Cabot on the way out. Cabot is found beside the body, his father's revolver on the floor, and is held for murder. Mitchell, believing his son innocent, leaves no stone unturned to save his son from the chair, but can get nowhere, until an idea takes form. Cabot had been unable to identify the murderer from rogues' gallery portraits, but his father sets him to work picking out individual features similar to those of the man he had seen. A composite photograph is made, and in the courtroom, when the case looks blackest, the murderer is revealed as Miss Brian's maid, in masculine dress, who had long been gunning for Woods. The romantic conclusion is as expected.

The picture is to be sold as somewhat melodramatic mystery drama, with a slightly diferent romantic twist, and as motion picture material, the rather unique method of crime detection which is the use of the composite photograph. The film, perhaps played in a midweek position, should be found entertaining.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Phil Rosen. Story by Katherine Scola and Doris Malloy. Screen play by Albert DeMond. Assistant director, Wilbur McGaugh. Photographer by Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, Edward Dernds. Film editor, John Rawlins. Release date, December 3, 1933. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Muriel ..... Mary Brian
Bob Martel ..... Brice Cabot
Joe Martel ..... Grant Mitchell
Rossi ..... Harry Woods
Angela ..... Claire DuBrey
Slick ..... Bradley Page
Highbrow ..... Irving Bamon
Dumpy ..... Dewey Robinson
Murphy ..... Fred Kelsey

Aunt Sally

(Gaumont-British)

Comedy, Spectacle, Music

This is Britain's first real essay into the field of "musicals," and though it has been conceived on a less pretentious scale than your "Forty-second Streets" and "Gold Diggers" it comes out as a very entertaining piece. Its spectacle makes no pretense at extravagance, but achieves its effect by the manner in which it has made the most of a small chorus and a limited supply of properties, and in the result a number of effective groupings have been achieved. For the rest, the melodies are delightful stuff, especially the big number, "Riding on a Rainbow," and "Sally," and even a critical American audience should not be able to complain of the film's musical content.

Whether the picture will sell to your patrons depends on their reaction to Britain's comedy queen Cicely Courtneidge, who, in this reviewer's humble opinion is one of the funniest things in skirts on the screen. Maybe some of you have already had the opportunity to test that reaction in pictures like "Jack's the Boy," "The Ghost Train" and several others, but even if you haven't it may assist you to mention that she specializes in knockabout stuff and glories in any situation that gives her a chance to make herself look ridiculous. She has, it might be considered, the sort of appeal that an Eskimo could appreciate just as quickly as a "limey."

For a side-kick there's that capable old trouper, Sam Hardy, in a part cut perfectly to his shape, and his adventures with a slightly burlesqued pair of New York gangsters should make the grade where laughs are expected. The film also has some pretty girls, a logical enough story, and its spectacle is neatly interpolated through the piece instead of being jammed together at the end. The picture is about a London night club, rehearsals for a forthcoming cabaret show, the unwelcome attentions of a couple of gangsters out to split the takings with their old friend Mike Kelly, and how his pseudo Continental star routs 'em in the end and makes the hard-boiled Mike come all over goofy.

There's a welcome slickness about the show, and, in a modest way, plenty to please the customer who comes to be lightly entertained. In addition there are sufficient angles for judicious exploitation, with the song and dance aspect that the public is supposed to fall for. It should certainly be a riot in Canadian halls and should be well received in American houses where they will accept British product on its merits.—CHARMAN, London.

Produced by Gainsborough Pictures. Written and directed by Tim Whelan. Screen play by Guy Bolton. Adaptation and additional dialogue by Austin Melford and A. R. Rawlinson. Music by Harry Woods. Dances by Edward Royce. Unit production manager, Herbert Mason. Photographed by C. van Enger. Art direction by A. Vetchinsky. Edited by D. Twist. Recorded by H. Hand. Costumes by Gordon Conway. Running time, 82 minutes.

CAST

Sally Bird / Mademoiselle Zaza ..... Cicely Courtneidge
Mike Kelly ..... Sam Hardy
Queenie ..... Phillis Clare
Billy ..... Billy Milton
Gloves Clarke ..... Hartley Power
Casino ..... Ben Weldon
Little Joey ..... Enrico Naldi
Joan ..... Ann Hope
Madison ..... Ivor McLaren
Percy ..... Rex Evans
Tubby ..... Tubby Cipen

The China Shop

(United Artists)

Excellent

Fully matching the expected Walt Disney standard among the Silly Symphonies, in cleverness, entertainment and color work, is this latest number. It should be equally a delight to children and adults. When the elderly owner of the china shop leaves for the night, things begin to happen, the climax coming in the capture of a diminutive dancer from her partner by the china devil, and her rescue. The owner, next morning, finds everything broken, and changes his sign to read "antiques."—Running time, 8 minutes.

Frozen Assets

(Educational)

Amusing

There is a measure of real entertainment and amusement in this comedy, featuring the capable Andy Clyde in the role of the small town storekeeper, who is overwhelmed at the arrival of a supposed Hollywood director. He mortgages his store and turns over his savings for the production of a film story he has written, of Antony and Cleopatra, with himself as Antony. He is saved from ruin when the man from whom he had borrowed returns his money rather than have his wife see him in the role of Caesar. It is amusing comedy. —Running time, 20 minutes.

March of the Years

(Columbia)

Of Interest

Something of an improvement over earlier subjects of the series is this, Number 3, in which is recounted the brief history of the famous Crippon case, in which a murderer-husband, who fled England, was finally apprehended through the first police usage of the then new Marconi wireless telegraphy from shore to ship. As a novelty subject, it should be found of interest by the audience—Running time, 10 minutes.

Polynesian Follies

(Principal)

Interesting

In a cinematic travel, conducted via the voice of its producer, Deane H. Dickason, the audience is taken among the Maoris of New Zealand, where the stalwart native inhabitants, though obviously still retaining many of the traits of their aborigine ancestors, live a peaceful life of industry and have a definite tendency to tend strictly to their own affairs. They display a marked proficiency in the art of wood carving, and are understood to be perhaps the most intelligent of the many groups of natives of the Antipodes. The men frequently indulge in routine exercises which are the last word in calisthenics. Lengthy, it is yet an interesting travel subject. Running time, 27 minutes.

Morning, Noon and Night

(Paramount)

Lots of Fun

With Rubinoff and his orchestra lending a very important hand in the background music, and Betty Boop appearing at intervals, a delightfully interesting and actionful cartoon comedy has been achieved. It's birds, chicks and villain cats. One of the chicks runs afoul of a quartet of tough alley cats, but when they set out after him what a succession of surprises they run into from the chick's compatriots.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Dance Parade

(Capital)

Novel Entertainment

There is novelty and lively entertainment in this subject, with an extremely "foot-loose" and talented group of youngsters doing their bit or bits on the stage to the accompaniment of an orchestra, also of children. There are half-a-dozen dance routines of the chorus variety, all neatly executed, and numerous specialties, as several of the youngsters exhibit their skill at tap dancing and in popular song.—Running time, 17 minutes.

Phil Spitalny

(Vitaphone)

Entertaining

Phil Spitalny, orchestra leader, conducts his band in a composition meant to express the mood of cosmopolitan New York City, with its diverse nationalities in various parts of the town, each with its highly indicative and distinctive music. A young girl, member of the ochestra, renders several numbers effectively, in the guise of an immigrant wandering the city, until she hits upon a restaurant where her native Russian music is being played. A good number.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Trimmed in Furs

(Educational)

Fair

When hubby cannot quite come around to the idea of buying his wife an expensive fur coat, and decides to go ahunting by himself, things begin to happen. The result is a fair comedy, with a few laughs. A temperamental film star, in search of absolute quiet, arrives at the same hunting lodge, and of course, pandemonium breaks loose. When the wife arrives, hubby definitely gets the worst of it. On the whole a fair comedy.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Oswald in the Candy House

(Universal)

Good

There's lots of fun, and particularly for the youngsters, in this cartoon of Hansel and Gretel, though the hag may be a bit of a deterrent to their good night's sleep. The tots, taken to the woods by their wicked grandmother to be deserted, leave sunflower seeds for a back-trail, but the birds eat up the trail. They come to the candy house, are trapped by the witch, but make it hot for her, very literally so. Running time, 9 minutes.

Isham Jones and His Orchestra

(Vitaphone)

Effective

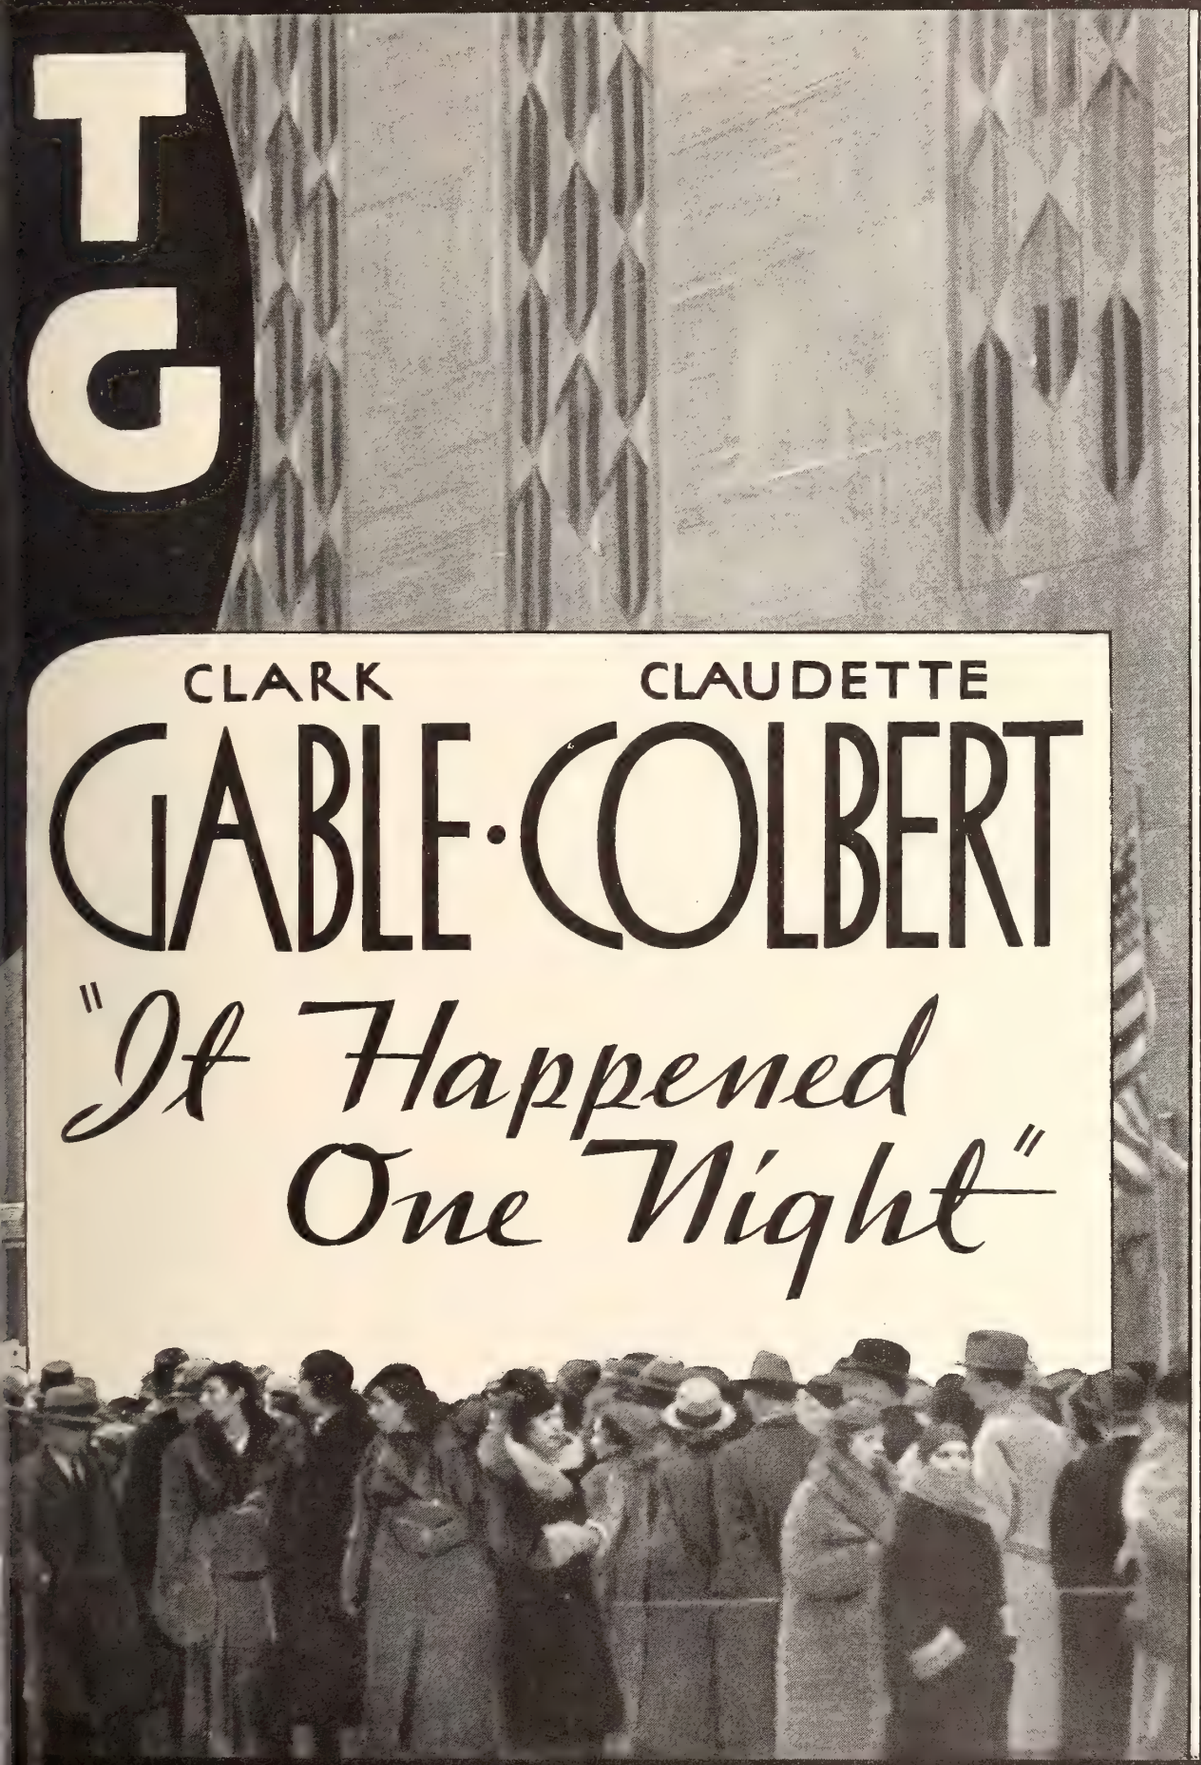
This number of the Melody Masters series is reasonably effective in a musical fashion as Isham Jones is seen directing his orchestra in a broadcasting studio. The scene fades to the Toyland Club, where the Boylans, a dance team, go through an eccentric routine. Gypsy Nina sings two numbers, accompanying herself on the accordion. Rendition of Rachmaninoff's "Prelude" ends the subject. It is entertaining. —Running time, 10 minutes.

STAGG

BIGGES OPENIN DAY

IN THE HISTORY OF

RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL



A FRANK CAPRA Production

Directed by the man who created "LADY FOR A DAY"

A COLUM

E R I N G !

T G

CLARK GABLE · CLAUDETTE COLBERT

"It Happened One Night"

BROKE RECORD
Keith's Theatre
WASHINGTON, D. C.

•

BROKE RECORD
Bijou Theatre
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

•

BROKE 2 YEAR RECORD
Liberty Theatre
SEATTLE, WASH.

•

DOUBLED BUSINESS
Loew's Theatre
HARTFORD, CONN.

•

BREAKING RECORDS
Keith's Theatre
SYRACUSE, N. Y.

•

SENSATIONAL BUSINESS
Keith's Theatre
BOSTON, MASS.

•

TREMENDOUS BUSINESS
Palace Theatre
CINCINNATI, OHIO

•

YEAR'S BIGGEST Fox Theatre
DETROIT, MICH.

•

HELD OVER
Orpheum Theatre
ST. PAUL, MINN.

•

HELD OVER
Orpheum Theatre
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

•

LINES ALL DAY
Golden Gate Theatre
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

•

TERRIFIC BUSINESS
Stanley Theatre
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BIA PICTURE

with WALTER CONNOLLY—ROSCOE KARNS
Story by Samuel Hopkins Adams
Screen Play by ROBERT RISKIN

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
CHESTERFIELD
"Stolen Sweets"	Original story by Karl Brown. Director: Richard Thorpe.	Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, Polly Ann Young, Johnny Harron, Jameson Thomas.	Shooting
FOX
"Free Gold"	Screen play by Lester Cole and Henry Johnson. Director: George Marshall.	John Boles, Claire Trevor, Roger Imhof, Harry Green, Monroe Owsley, Ruth Gillette.	Shooting
"The World Is Ours"	Story by Kathleen Norris. Director: John Blystone.	Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Ginger Rogers, James Dunn, Beryl Mercer, Roger Imhof.	Shooting
"The World Moves On"	Story by Reginald Berkeley. Director: John Ford.	Madeleine Carroll, Franchot Tone, Raul Roulien, Reginald Denny, Nigel Bruce, Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, Barry Norton, Halliwell Hobbes, Ivan Simpson.	Shooting
"Too Many Women"	Story by Vera Caspary. Director: James Flood.	Warner Baxter, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson, Herbert Mundin, Henrietta Crosman.	Shooting
HAROLD LLOYD CO.
"The Catspaw"	Story by Clarence Budington Kelland. Director: Sam Taylor.	Harold Lloyd, Una Merkel, Nat Pendleton, George Barbier, Grant Mitchell, Alan Dinehart, Warren Hymer.	Shooting
LIBERTY
"No Ransom"	Based on a story by Damon Runyon. Director: Fred Newmeyer.	Leila Hyams, Phillips Holmes, Jack LaRue, Robert McWade, Hedda Hopper, Eddie Nugent, Vince Barnett.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Sadie McKee"	Story by Vina Delmar. Director: Clarence Brown.	Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Esther Ralston, Jean Dixon, Edward Arnold.	Shooting
"Lady Mary's Lover"	Story by Charles MacArthur. Director: Edmund Goulding.	Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, Lilyan Tashman, Ralph Forbes, Mrs. Patrick Campbell.	Shooting
"Operator 13"	Original story by Robert W. Chambers. Director: Raoul Walsh.	Marion Davies, Gary Cooper, Mae Clarke.	Shooting
MONOGRAM
"Manhattan Love Song"	Story by Cornell Woolrich. Director: Leonard Fields.	Robert Armstrong, Dixie Lee, Helen Flint, Nydia Westman, Franklin Pangborn.	Shooting
"The Loudspeaker"	Director: Joseph Santley.	Ray Walker, Jacqueline Wells, Noel Francis, Charles Grapewin, Spencer Charters, Mary Carr, Wilbur Mack.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"Murder at the Vanities"	Original by Earl Carroll and Rufus King. Director: Mitchell Leisen.	Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, Paul Gerrits, Toby Wing, Gertrude Michael, Gail Patrick, Lona Andre, Donald Meek, Barbara Fritchie.	Shooting
"Come On, Marines"	Original story by Philip Wylie. Director: Henry Hathaway.	Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino, William Frawley, Dorothy Dell, Toby Wing, Leo Chalzell.	Shooting
"The Trumpet Blows"	Adaptation by Wallace Smith. Director: Stephen Roberts.	George Raft, Adolphe Menjou, Frances Drake, Katharine DeMille.	Shooting
"We're Not Dressing"	Original story by Walter Hall Smith. Director: Norman Taurog.	Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Carole Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Raymond Milland, Jay Henry, Leon Errol.	Shooting
"You're Telling Me"	Screen play by Paul Jones and J. P. McEvoy. Director: Erle Kenton.	W. C. Fields, Joan Marsh, Larry "Buster" Crabbe, Adrienne Ames, Louise Carter.	Shooting
RKO RADIO
"Of Human Bondage"	Story by W. Somerset Maugham. Director: John Cromwell.	Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, Reginald Denny, Alan Hale.	Shooting
"Strictly Dynamite"	Screen play by Maurine Watkins and Ralph Spence. Director: Elliott Nugent.	Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Marian Nixon, William Gargan, Four Mills Bros., Norman Foster, Eugene Pallette, Ruth Etting.	Shooting
"Stingaree"	Original by E. W. Hornung. Director: William Wellman.	Richard Dix, Irene Dunne, Mary Boland, Conway Tearle, Snub Pollard, Andy Devine, Una O'Connor.	Shooting
"Dover Road"	Original by A. A. Milne. Director: J. Walter Ruben.	Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray.	Shooting
TWENTIETH CENTURY
"Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back"	Story by H. C. McNeile. Director: Roy Del Ruth.	Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Una Merkel, Charles Butterworth, C. Aubrey Smith, Warner Oland.	Shooting
"The Firebrand"	Director: Gregory LaCava.	Fredric March, Constance Bennett, Frank Morgan, Fay Wray, Vincent Barnett, Louis Calhern.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"Glamour"	Story by Edna Ferber. Director: William Wyler.	Constance Cummings, Paul Lukas, Philip Reed, Joseph Cawthorne, Doris Lloyd.	Shooting
"I'll Tell the World"	Original story by Lincoln Quarberg. Director: Edward Sedgwick.	Lee Tracy, Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor, Onslow Stevens, Dorothy Granger, Herman Bing.	Shooting
"Uncertain Lady"	Story by Harry Segall. Director: Karl Freund.	Edward Everett Horton, Genevieve Tobin, Paul Cavanagh, Mary Nash, George Meeker, Dorothy Peterson.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Doctor Monica"	Based on the play by Marja M. Szczepkowska. Director: William Keighley.	Kay Francis, Jean Muir, Verree Teasdale, Warren William.	Shooting
"Fog Over Frisco"	Story by George Dyer. Director: William Dieterle.	Donald Woods, Bette Davis, Lyle Talbot, Margaret Lindsay, Henry O'Neill, Robert Barrat, Hugh Herbert, Douglas Dumbrille, Gordon Westcott.	Shooting
"Happy Family"	Original story and screen play by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola. Director: Al Green.	Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Hugh Herbert, Helen Lowell, Joan Wheeler, Frankie Darro.	Shooting
"The Key"	Based on the play by R. Gore-Browne and J. L. Hardy. Director: Michael Curtiz.	William Powell, Edna Best, Colin Clive.	Shooting
"Return of the Terror"	From "The Terror" by Edgar Wallace. Director: Howard Bretherton.	Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor, John Halliday, Frank McHugh, Irving Pichel, Robert Barrat, George E. Stone.	Shooting
"Sawdust" (Tent.)	Screen play by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby. Director: Ray Enright.	Joe E. Brown, Patricia Ellis, Dorothy Burgess, Donald Dillaway.	Shooting
"Without Honor"	Based on an original story by Robert Lord. Director: Lloyd Bacon.	James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Frank Craven, Victor Jory, Sarah Padden, Harold Huber, Russell Hopton, Ralfe Harolde	Shooting
"One Man's Woman"	Based on a story by Gene Towne and C. Graham Baker. Director: Alan Crosland.	Pat O'Brien, Glenda Farrell, Claire Dodd, Russell Hopton, Henry O'Neill.	Shooting

DE-CODING THE FILM CODE

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

This is the third and final article in this series of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S translations of the code as the code pertains to production provisions. Distribution and exhibition were translated together previously, in three articles.

The subjects treated in this third production article are: (1) Provisions for creating fair competition among producers and studios; (2) Provisions for governing trade practice relations between producers or studios and employees, principally of the creative talent classes; and (3) Provisions governing trade practice relations between producers or studios and agents or agencies.

These translation articles of the code were not intended to interpret the legal meaning of any clause or code provision. The Code Authority and the NRA are the code's legal interpreters, no one else.

1. PREAMBLE—TRADE PRACTICES FOR PRODUCTION

This is the sixth and last article of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S series translating the entire motion picture code from its complex legal phraseology into a clear and comprehensive working language for the industry; also, it is the third article pertaining to the production clauses of the code. The subjects treated in this final installment are: (1) Provisions for creating fair competitive relations among producers and studios and film laboratories; and (2) Provisions for creating fair competitive relations between producers and employees, such as writers, directors, dramatists, players, free-lance and "extra" actors, technicians and the like; and (3) Provisions for creating fair competitive relations between agents or agencies and producers and talent clients of such agents or agencies.

In the field of production, the Code Authority will determine directly those complaints of unfair trade practices which would not ordinarily come directly under the supervision of any of the various standing committees appointed by the Code Authority to administer the code in production (such as Standing Committees for Actors, "Extra" Players, "Free-Lance" Players, Agents and Agencies), or which would not come under the supervision of any of the special committees appointed by the Code Authority or by the Administrator or by Division Administrator Sol Rosenblatt.

The trade practice provisions of the production section of the motion picture code deal extensively with trade practices as they govern the relations between producers or studios and agents and agencies, directors, actors, "free-lance" players, writers, "extra" players, technicians and writers.

Any producer or studio or film laboratory which does not sign the official code acceptance blank as prescribed by the Code Authority, shall not be entitled to protection against unfair competition or against unfair trade practices as outlined in the code. However, and regardless of whether or not they sign the acceptance blank, everyone in production is bound under the code, and a producer or studio or film laboratory may be made a defendant in a case brought before any of the code boards or committees in production even though it did not sign the official acceptance blank.

The producer's or studio's or film laboratory's executive employee who wilfully and intentially, directly or indirectly, violates any of the trade practice provisions of the code while dealing with other producers or studios or film laboratories or while dealing with the classes of employees enumerated in the trade practice provisions, is liable under the code, as is his employer, and may be fined $500 for each day's violation of any trade practice clauses.

The specific trade practice provisions for production which are treated in this article are as follows:

Defamation or Disparagement of Characters; Libel.
Threats of Legal Proceedings.
Securing Confidential Information By Unfair Means.
Payment of Excessive Salaries.
Inducing "Legit" Talent Away from Employer.
Conspiring to Block Independent Producers from Renting Studio Space.
Employing Relatives As "Extra" Players.
Trade Practices Governing Agents and Agencies.
Trade Practices Governing Relations Between Producers or Studios with Writers, Directors, Technicians and Players ("Extra" Players and "Free-Lance" Players Excepted).
Trade Practices for "Extra" and "Free-Lance" Players.
Negotiating With Creative Talent or Executives Prior to the Expiration of Their Contract With Another Producer.
Trade Practices Governing Producers of Cartoons.
Violating Release Date for Showing Pictures Based on A Stage Play.
Interfering with Relations of "Outside" Producer.
Proper Moral Standards in Motion Pictures.
Proper Moral Standards in Advertising.

Together with the various committees previously mentioned, the Code Authority shall administer the motion picture code, in many cases subject to approval of the Administrator and/or Division Administrator (Sol Rosenblatt). On page 57 of the February 3rd issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, appeared a detailed analysis of the Code Authority as it relates to production and as it relates to the administration of the code in production.

In the first two articles pertaining to production (appearing in the issues of February 3rd and February 17th), subjects treated embraced all phases of the various boards and committees for administering the code in production; and labor and employee provisions, wage scales and working hour schedules.

Must Pay Yearly Assessment

As previously stated in this series, each company or firm or studio in production must, in addition to signing the official code acceptance blanks, pays to the Code Authority whatever assessment is made by the Code Authority for the expense of administering the code. A method of collecting such assessment, and the amount of such assessment, will shortly be made known to the industry by the Code Authority.

The Code Authority may, after notice and hearing, and with the approval of the NRA Administrator and the President, add such additional trade practices to the code as it sees fit. Or, it may modify any existing provisions as changes in circumstances or experience may indicate.

Proposals for modifications, eliminations or supplementary provisions to the code trade practice provisions shall be submitted to the Code Authority, which, after a hearing on the proposal, shall report to the Administrator such additional regulations or trade practices as they recommend for the approval of the Administrator and of the President.

The provisions of the code are separable, so that if a court decision invalidates one clause such decision in no way affects the validity of other provisions.

Nothing in the code shall apply to 16mm or non-theatrical or television companies, except when such companies are operating as unfair competition to regular theatres, and after the Code Auhority or any of its committees establishes that such unfair competition exists, then such company shall be made subject to the code.

Basically, the trade practices for production as discussed in this article are the laws and rules and regulations for the governing of relations among producers or studios and between producers or studios and the certain classes of employes which are enumerated in subsequent sections of this article.

2. DEFINITIONS OF TERMS

In order that each member of the production branch of the motion picture industry shall have a more thorough knowledge of the application of the production provisions of the code, a study of the following general definitions of the code that are applicable to production should be made:

1. "MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY" shall be deemed to include, without limitation, the production, distribution or exhibition of motion pictures and all activities normally related thereto, except as specifically excepted from the operation of the code, as in the cases of uncompetitive non-theatrical and 9mm or 16mm motion pictures, television, and the like.

2. "PRODUCER" shall include, without

Exhibitors who write me

I want to hear from Exhibitors—I want to KNOW what they think about my plan for a company to handle only 6 BIG "BUILT-IN" EXPLOITATION SPECIALS A YEAR—individually produced and individually sold. No Production Unit to make over 2 a year.

I WANT TO HEAR FROM the "1934 MINDED" showmen, the live wires who STILL BELIEVE motion pictures is the GREATEST BUSINESS in the world, the men who are THINKING of the FUTURE, and how to make the MOST money with their theatres, the LONG-RANGE, constructive THINKERS.

I want THEM to write me if they would play "LEGAL HOLIDAY" on a FAIR percentage basis WITH the understanding THAT the contract gives them an option for the FIRST REFUSAL of our No. 2 picture, AND IF they book No. 2 it carries a first-refusal option on No. 3—AND SO ON. Under this plan we STICK with the exhibitors who STICK with us—so long as our product MAKES GOOD at their theatres.

I KNOW my plan of FEWER and BIGGER pictures is the NEXT turn to the right—as RIGHT as Roosevelt!—as SURE TO WIN as stream-lined cars.

What I want to KNOW IS—how many exhibitors are AWAKE and ALIVE to the BENEFITS of my plan to THEM and their theatres. I CAN SEE IT—I want to know HOW MANY theatre owners can see it.

This is IMPORTANT to exhibitors. The man in show business who SEES STRAIGHT ahead—who ANTICIPATES the future AHEAD of his competitors is THE SHOWMAN WHO WINS.

(Signed) J. D. WILLIAMS

WRITE ME TODAY—FOR FURTHER DETAILS

which we prefer to give only to interested exhibitors who have theatres that play Big Attractions.

get FIRST CHANCE at

"LEGAL HOLIDAY"

The Exploitation Special of the Year 1934 A. D.*

After Depression*

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION

11 West 42nd Street, New York

J. D. WILLIAMS, Night Address
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of B'way.

EXECUTIVES MUST NOT VIOLATE CODE

limitation, any persons, partnerships, associations, firms, companies and corporations who shall engage in or contract to engage in the production of motion pictures.

3. "LEGITIMATE PRODUCTION" shall be deemed to refer to theatrical performances of dramatic and musical plays performed on the stage by living persons.

4. "OUTSIDE OR ASSOCIATED PRODUCER" shall be deemed to refer to a producer of motion pictures, including features, short subjects, and/or cartoons, and which producer operates his or its own production unit independently of, though in conjunction with, another producer or distributor under whose trade name or trade mark the productions of said outside or associated producer are released and distributed.

5. "ADMINISTRATOR" shall be deemed to mean the National Recovery Administrator (General Hugh S. Johnson).

6. "AGENT" as used in the production provisions of the code shall apply to any person—including firms, companies, associations, corporations or partnerships—who, directly or indirectly for a fee or other valuable consideration of any nature, procures, promises or undertakes to procure employment for any person for or in connection with the production of motion pictures.

7. "CONTRACT" as used in the provisions pertaining to contractual relations between creative talent and producers or studios, shall be deemed to mean and include not only any subsisting contract with any producer, but also any prior contract with such producer, or with any parent company or subsidiary or predecessor corporation of such producer, provided that the employment under such prior contract is continuous.

8. "EMPLOYEE" shall be deemed to refer to and include every person employed by any producer, studio, laboratory, partnership or company engaged in production.

9. "LABOR," although not described specifically in the code, shall be used for purposes of this translation to include those 40 classes of studio mechanics and 16 classes of laboratory workers whose wage scales and working hour schedules are established under the code.

10. "PROFESSIONALS" or "CREATIVE TALENT," although not described specifically in the code, shall be intended for purposes of this translation to include stars and players (except extras and free-lance players earning less than $150 weekly), directors, writers, authors, scenarists, contract talent other than those mentioned herein, and certain of the higher grades of technicians, cameramen and the like.

11. "EXECUTIVES WHO ARE EMPLOYEES," although not described specifically in the code, shall be intended for purposes of this translation to include executive employees, managers, department heads, supervisors, business managers, producers and the like.

12. "EXTRAS" shall be deemed to include extra players, atmosphere people, crowd players and the like, all of whom do not speak any dialogue in their parts, and when such players do speak some dialogue, regardless of how little, they shall be known as "BIT PLAYERS."

13. "FREE-LANCE" PLAYERS shall be deemed to include players who are not included in the extra class as described in the paragraph next above, and who are not classified as contract talent and who receive less than $150 per week.

3. EMPLOYEES, LABOR AND THE TRADE PRACTICES

Those classes of production employees in positions of a clerical or service nature or the skilled or unskilled mechanics of studios and film laboratories to which groups the code's maximum hours and minimum wage scales are applicable, and none of which groups belong to any of the executive-managerial-supervisory classes, have absolutely no responsibilities under any of the clauses or provisions of fair competition and trade practices in the code.

However, the executive employees, department heads, supervisory officials and such have a very definite responsibility under the code, and while they themselves are not affected by the requirements for wage scales and working hours for producers' employees, such executive employees, department heads, and supervisory officials shall not wilfully violate any of the provisions of the code. And, if they do violate any of the code's provisions while performing their regular duties, and if such violation is proven to be wilful, they are liable to a fine of $500 for each day of violation.

In addition, the production section of the code specifically regulates such executive employees, producer employees, department heads, managers, supervisory officials and the like with regards their interest in any agent or agency for creative talent, and says that no such executives shall hold such an interest in an agency without meeting certain requirements. These are explained later in this article.

It is definite, then, that no producer's employee who is an executive, department head or supervisory official, shall, during the performance of his duties, or otherwise, violate any of the production clauses of the code, whether they affect labor or trade practice provisions, or others.

In addition to providing for the creation of special or permanent committees to govern the relations between producer or studio employers and professionals, or socalled "creative talent," such as stars and players (other than extras or free-lance players receiving less than $150 weekly), directors, writers, technicians and the like, the code also creates similar committees for extras and free-lance players for similar purposes.

Some clauses in the trade practice division of the production section of the code specifically mention certain things which professionals shall do and shall not do, and these trade practices are detailed later in this article.

Obviously, when a producer employer or studio employer or film laboratory employer is solely responsible for the wilful violation of any code provision, such employer's executive employee, department head, supervisory official or manager is in no way liable.

4. TRADE PRACTICES FOR PRODUCTION

WHAT PRODUCERS AND STUDIOS AND FILM LABORATORIES MUST DO OR MUST NOT DO

DEFAMATION OR DISPARAGEMENT OF CHARACTER; LIBEL

(Article V—A, Part 1)

A producer or studio or film laboratory must not defame competitors by falsely imputing to any of them dishonorable conduct or inability to perform contracts or questionable credit standing, or by false representations or by falsely disparaging the grade or quality of their motion pictures or theatres. This does not, however, prohibit a fair appraisal of a producer's pictures in comparison with those of other producers.

THREATS OF LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

(Article V-A, Part 2)

Producers and studios and film laboratories must not publish or circularize threats of suits or any other legal proceedings not in good faith in order to harass or intimidate other producers or studios or film laboratories. This is specifically declared to be an unfair trade practice subject to the penalty for violation of the code.

SECURING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION BY UNFAIR MEANS

(Article V-A, Part 3)

Commercial espionage is prohibited under the code, and this means that the securing of confidential information concerning the business of a competitor by false or misleading statement or representations, by a false impersonation of one in authority, by bribery, or by any other unfair method, shall be deemed to be unfair.

PAYMENT OF EXCESSIVE SALARIES

(Article V-A, Part 4)

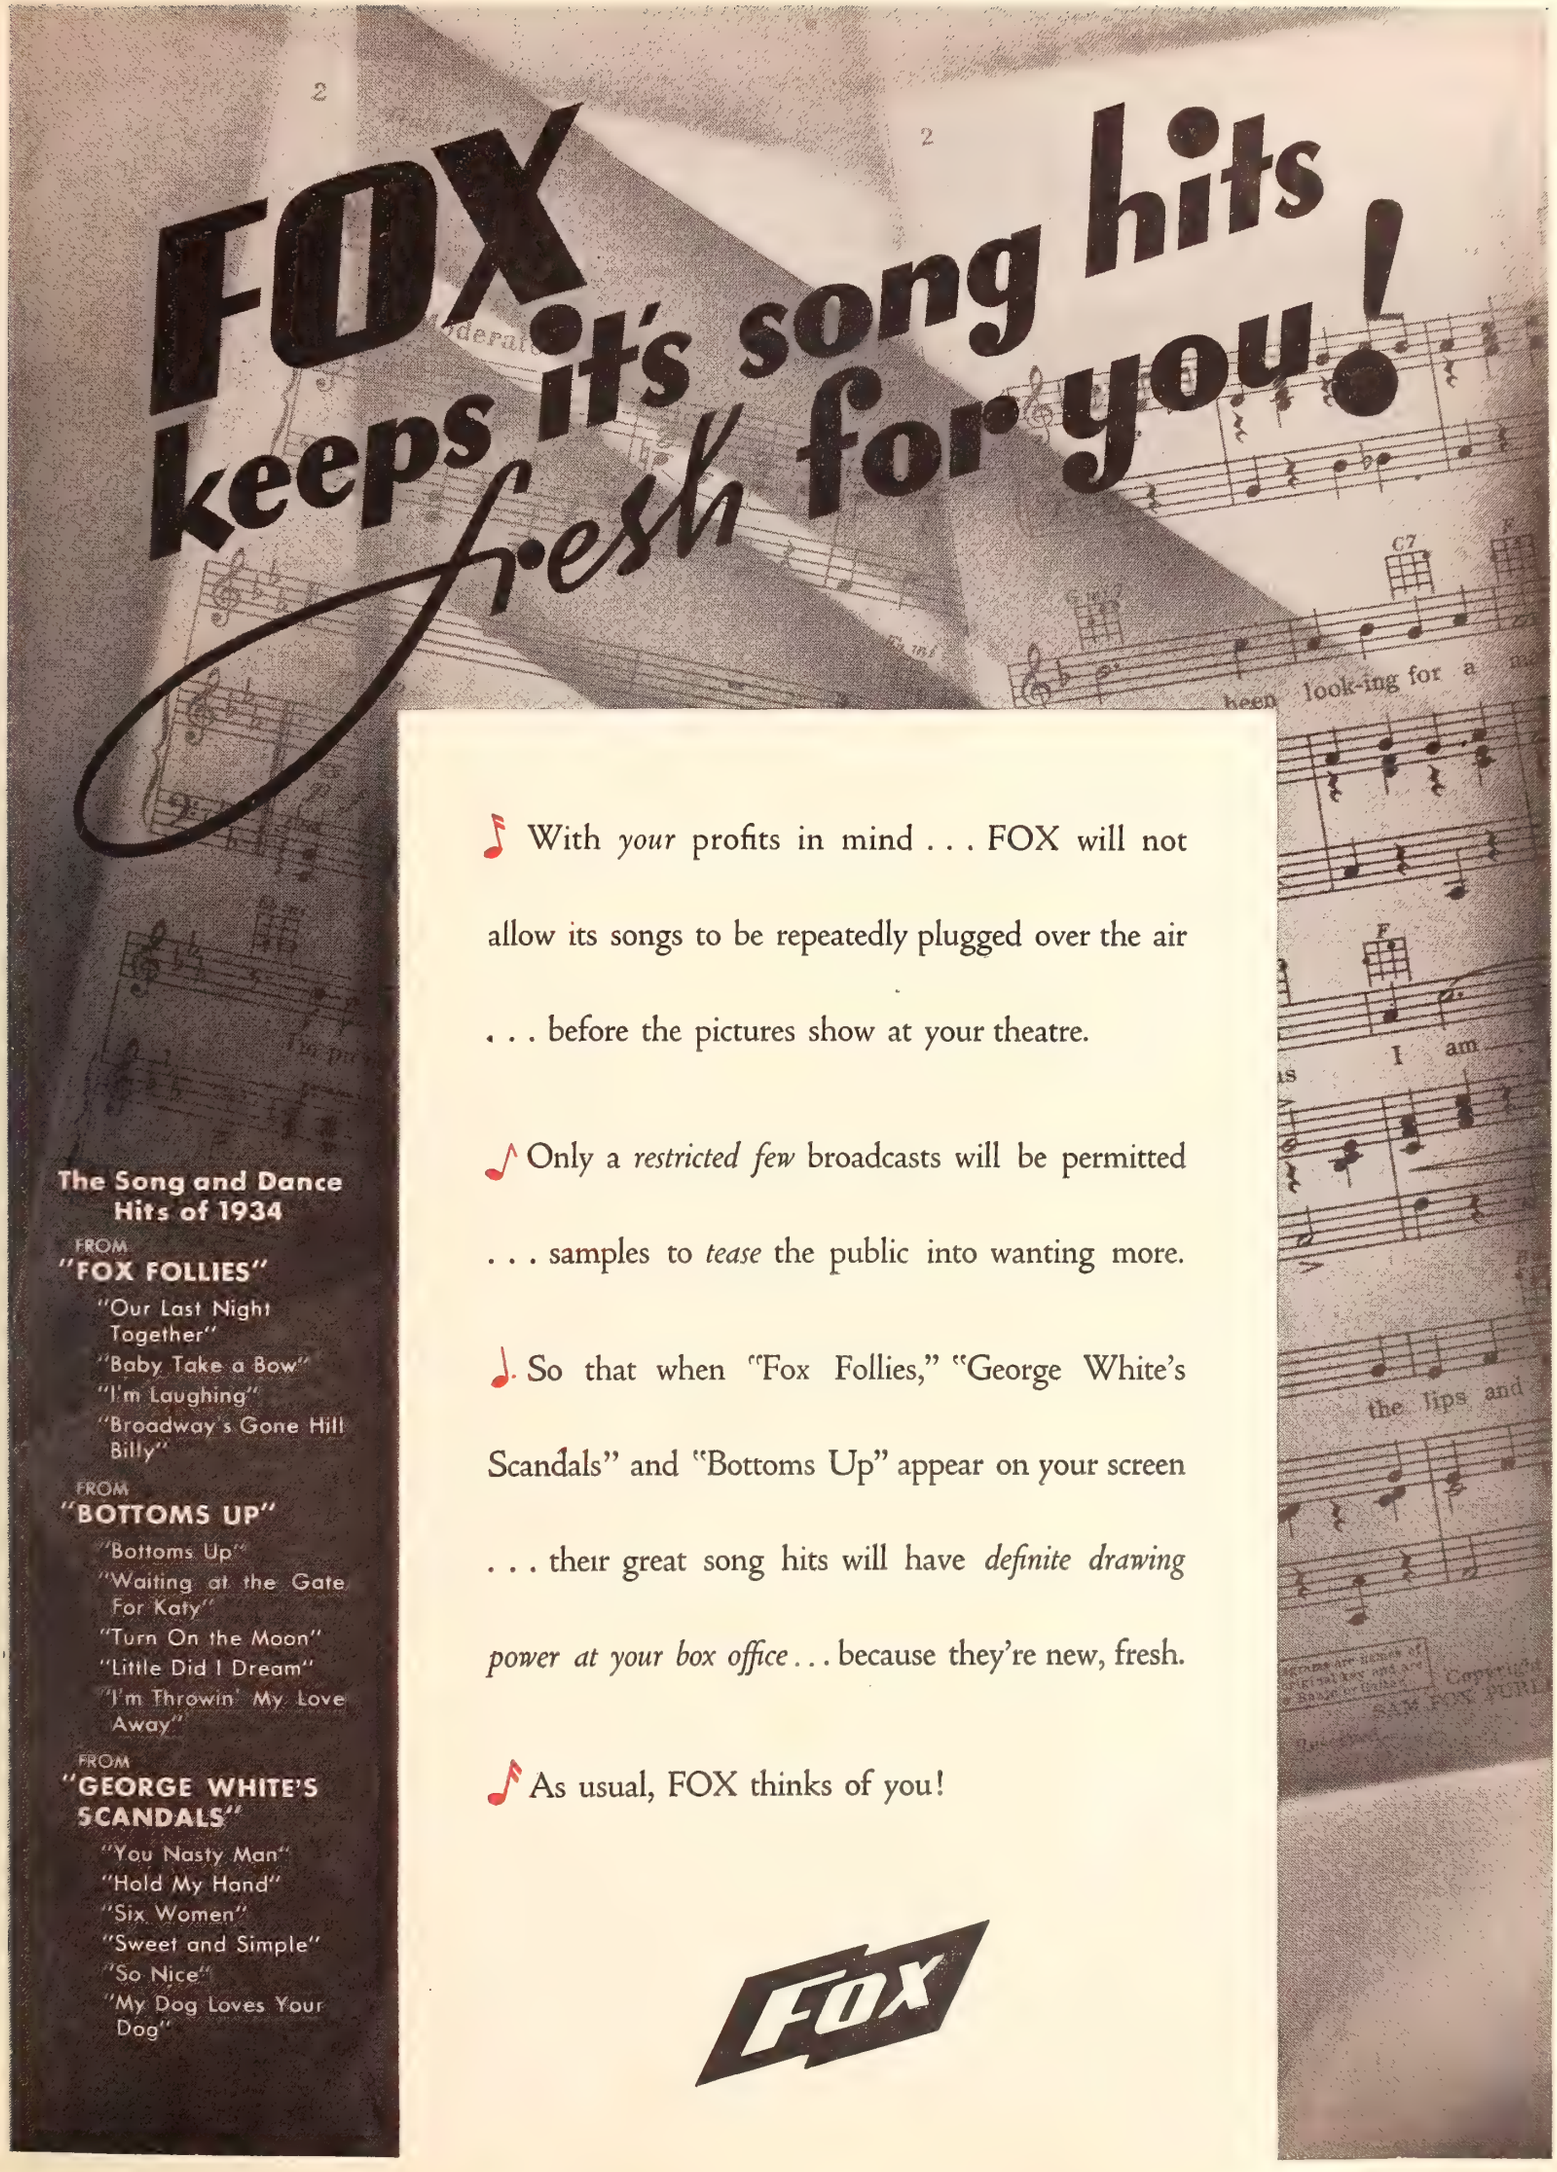
Pending an investigation, which was recently conducted by the Administrator, through the medium of questionnaires sent to companies in the business, and by personal investigation made in Hollywood by Sol Rosenblatt, a special Presidential order which accompanied the approved code, postponed indefinitely this clause of the code, which was intended to stop the practice (especially in Hollywood), of paying excessive salaries and bonuses for the services of anyone. As a result of this investigation, the government (NRA) will decide whether the clause shall become effective, or whether it should be suspended permanently, or modified or altered.

In its present form, any producer or studio or film laboratory which pays an unreasonably excessive inducement in excess of a fair value of the personal services to get an employee away from another company, would be fined up to the amount of the unreasonable excessive payment to such person, not, however, to exceed the sum of $10,000. Even though found guilty, however, and made to pay a fine, the decision shall not interfere with the continued contractual or working arrangement between the employer so fined and the employee.



INDUCING "LEGIT" TALENT AWAY FROM EMPLOYER

(Article V-B, Part 1)

It shall be an unfair trade practice for any motion picture producer or studio to aid, abet, or assist in the voluntary release or dismissal of any author, dramatist, or actor employed exclusively in connection with the production of a "legitimate" drama or musical comedy for the purposes of securing the services of such author, dramatist, or actor for motion picture work. This clause was intended to stop talent "raiding" of the stage by motion picture producers.

(Continued on page 48, column 1)

FOX keeps it's song hits fresh for you!

With your profits in mind . . . FOX will not allow its songs to be repeatedly plugged over the air . . . before the pictures show at your theatre.

Only a restricted few broadcasts will be permitted . . . samples to tease the public into wanting more.

So that when "Fox Follies," "George White's Scandals" and "Bottoms Up" appear on your screen . . . their great song hits will have definite drawing power at your box office . . . because they're new, fresh.

As usual, FOX thinks of you!

FOX

The Song and Dance Hits of 1934

FROM
"FOX FOLLIES"

"Our Last Night Together"
"Baby Take a Bow"
"I'm Laughing"
"Broadway's Gone Hill Billy"

FROM
"BOTTOMS UP"

"Bottoms Up"
"Waiting at the Gate For Katy"
"Turn On the Moon"
"Little Did I Dream"
"I'm Throwin' My Love Away"

FROM
"GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS"

"You Nasty Man"
"Hold My Hand"
"Six Women"
"Sweet and Simple"
"So Nice"
"My Dog Loves Your Dog"

TRADE PRACTICES FOR PRODUCTION

CONSPIRING TO BLOCK INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS FROM RENTING STUDIO SPACE

(Article V-B, Part 2)

It shall be an unfair trade practice for any number of motion picture producers, who, in the usual and ordinary course of business, rent their respective studios, or studio space, or studio facilities to producers (other than their affiliated companies), to conspire, agree or take joint action to prevent any responsible producer or producers from renting such studios or studio facilities. This clause was intended to prevent a combination of Hollywood producers from jointly conspiring to prevent independent producers from renting space at their studios.

EMPLOYING RELATIVES AS "EXTRA" PLAYERS

(Article V-B, Part 3)

It shall be an unfair trade practice for a producer to knowingly employ as an "extra" player any member of the immediate family of any employee or person who is not obliged to depend upon "extra" work as a means of livelihood, unless the necessities of production require an exception to be made. It is the intention of this clause to spread "extras" employment among those who are legitimately of the "extras" ranks.

TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING AGENTS AND AGENCIES

(Article V-B, Part 4, Sections 1 to 10, inc.)

No producer, directly or indirectly, shall transact any business relating to the production of motion pictures with any agent or agency who under the procedure hereinafter set forth shall be found by the Agency Committee hereinafter described to have violated any part of such procedure.

(The following code clauses which pertain to the conduct of agents and agencies and their relations with producers and their talent clients, is reprinted from the second code translation article on production, which appeared in Motion Picture Herald, February 3rd, commencing on page 61):

The Agency Committee shall consist of ten members, five of whom shall be producers or producers' representatives, to be appointed by the Code Authority, and the other five to consist of one agent, one actor, one writer, one director and one technician, and this second group of five is to be selected by the Administrator from nominations submitted for each of the classes named, respectively, by the agents, the actors, writers, directors and technicians, and these nominations are to be made by these individual classes in such equitable manner as may be prescribed by the Administrator.

The Agency Committee is intended basically to create fair trade practices among agents or agencies and for agents or agencies in their relations with the producers or studios and in their relations with their clients: actors, writers, directors, technicians, and, in this connection, the code specifically mentions certain trade practices which shall govern agencies, and, in addition, gives the committee power to draft additional rules and regulations and trade practices as the necessity arises.

Trade practices specifically mentioned in the code for agents total five, and any producer who, directly or indirectly, transacts any business relating in any form to the production of motion pictures with any agent or agency who,

(Continued on page 50)

Translating the Film Code—Production

Being a translation of the complex legal phraseology of the PRODUCTION sections of the motion picture code into a working language of the industry.

In previous articles, a translation was made of the code's provisions which pertain to distribution and exhibition, which two branches were treated together. These distribution-exhibition translations appeared in the following issues of MOTION PICTURE HERALD: December 23, January 7, January 20.

The production section of the motion picture code was also translated in three articles. A summary of articles on Production follow:

First Article, Appeared in February 3rd Issue

PRODUCTION—GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the Application of the Code to Production.
(2) DEFINITIONS OF TECHNICAL TERMS Used in the Production Section.
(3) ADMINISTRATION of the Production Parts of the Code:
Purposes, Personnel, Procedure, Jurisdiction, Duties of the Following:

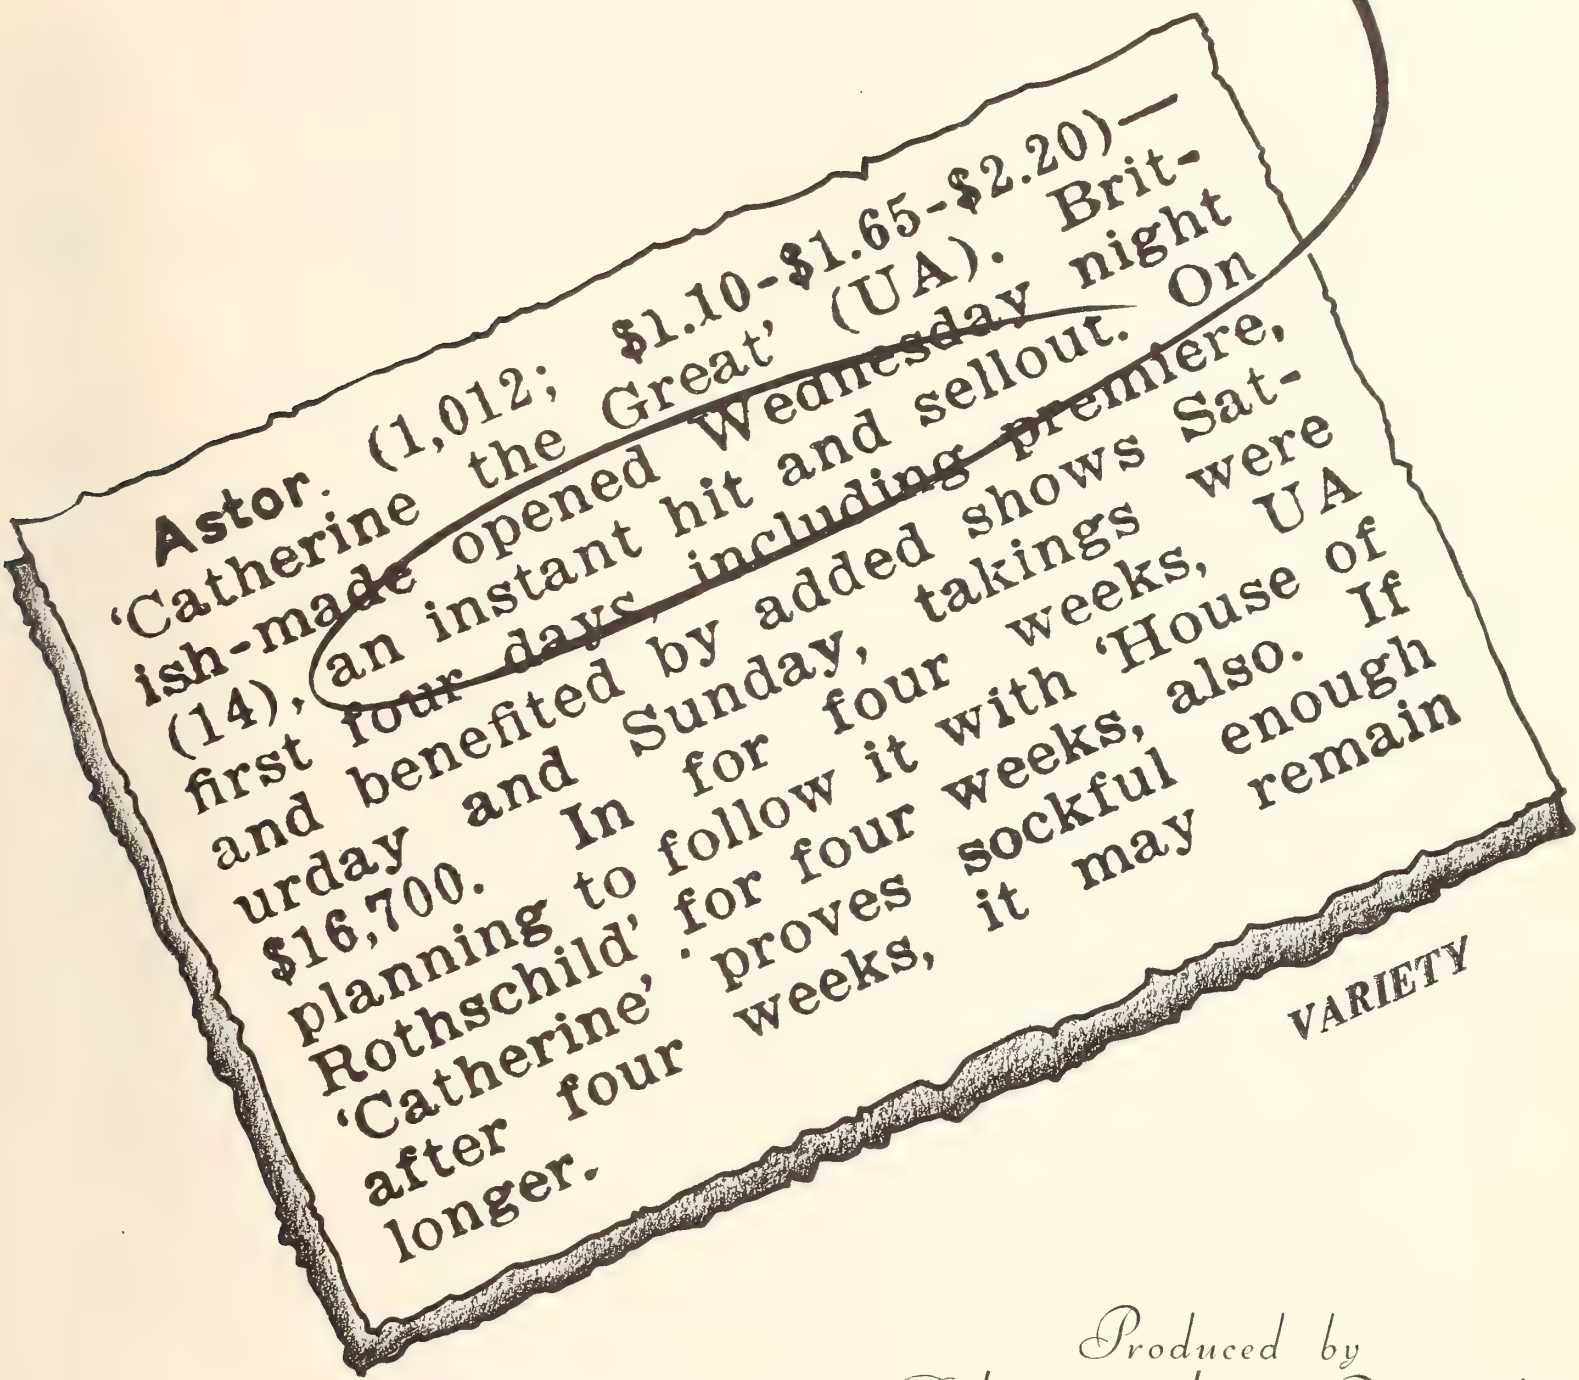
(a) Code Authority; (b) Special Committee For Actors; (c) Standing Committee For Agents and Agencies; (d) Standing Committee For Determining Offers To Contract Talent; (e) Special Committee For Directors; (f) Standing Committee For Extra Players; (g) Standing Committee For Free-Lance Players; (h) Special Committee For Technicians; (i) Special Committee For Writers.

△ △ △

Second Article, Appeared in February 17th Issue

PRODUCTION—LABOR AND EMPLOYEES AND TALENT

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Labor and Employee Sections of the Code to Production.
(2) DEFINITIONS OF TECHNICAL TERMS Used in Production Labor Sections.
(3) RELATION OF LABOR AND EMPLOYEES IN PRODUCTION TO THE PROVISIONS OF FAIR COMPETITION AND TRADE PRACTICES.
(4) THE CODE AUTHORITY and Its Relation to Labor and Employees.
(5) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT IN PRODUCTION:
(a) General Maximum for Unclassified Workers. (b) Forty-hour Maximum for Clerical, Office and Certain Service Workers. (c) Thirty-six Hour Maximum for Studio and Film Laboratory Mechanics and Skilled and Unskilled Labor. (d) Forty-four Hour Maximum for Certain Cartoon Workers. (e) Maximum Hours for Cameramen and Soundmen in Newsreel Production. (f) Exceptions and Exemptions to Maximum Hours; Other Stipulations on Hours in Production.
(6) WAGE SCALES FOR PRODUCTION WORKERS:
(a) General Minimum for Unclassified Workers. (b) Minimum Wages for Clerical, Office and Certain Service Workers. (c) Minimum Wages for Studio Mechanics and Skilled and Unskilled Workers. (d) Minimum Wages for Film Laboratory Mechanics and Skilled and Unskilled Workers. (e) Exceptions and Exemptions to Minimum Wage Provisions.
(7) WORKING CONDITIONS FOR EXTRA PLAYERS.
(8) WORKING CONDITIONS FOR FREE-LANCE PLAYERS.



△ △ △

Third Article, This Issue

PRODUCTION—TRADE PRACTICES

(1) PREAMBLE—Being a Translation of the General Application of the Trade Practice Provisions of the Production Sections of the Code.
(2) DEFINITIONS OF TECHNICAL TERMS Used in Production Trade Practice Sections.
(3) EMPLOYEES, LABOR AND THE TRADE PRACTICE PROVISIONS IN PRODUCTION.
(4) TRADE PRACTICES FOR PRODUCTION.
(5) ADMINISTRATION OF THE TRADE PRACTICE PROVISIONS IN PRODUCTION.

"An Instant Hit and Sellout!"

Produced by Alexander Korda

with

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR.

and

ELIZABETH BERGNER

Directed by Paul Czinner

Released thru

UNITED ARTISTS

FLASH!

"CATHERINE THE GREAT" smashes "Henry VIII" records by 25% in Rochester despite sub-zero blizzard!

SIXTEEN STUDIO TRADE PRACTICES

under the procedure hereinafter set forth shall be found by the Agency Committee to have violated any one of the five provisions, then such producer shall be in violation of the code. All agents and agencies in motion picture production shall be found under these five provisions, or any others which may be added from time to time in the prescribed manner. The five agency provisions now in the code are as follows:

1. No agent or agency shall give, offer or promise to any employee of any motion picture producer any gift or money or gratuity to influence the action of such employee in relation to the business of his employing producer or studio. This is intended to prevent payment by an agent to a production executive of any sum for the securing of special privileges or a contract or a film engagement for the actor, writer, director or technician client of the agent, in the company or the studio of such production executive.

2. No agent or agency shall alienate or entice, or shall attempt to alienate or attempt to entice, any employee under written contract of employment, from such employment, or to try to induce or advise without justification any employee to do any act or thing in conflict with such employee's obligation to perform in good faith any contract of employment with any purchaser or studio, whether such contract or obligation to the producer or studio be oral or written.

3. No agent or agency shall knowingly make any materially false representation to any producer or studio in negotiations with such producer or studio for or affecting the employment or contemplated employment of any actor, director, writer or technician represented by such agent.

4. No agent or agency shall violate or evade or shall attempt to violate or attempt to evade, directly, or indirectly, any provision in this section, or any provision in Part 5 of Article V of the code, which has to do with the socalled practice of "talent raiding" (Note: Pending further investigation, this Part 5 of Article V was suspended by order of the President when he signed the code last November.)

5. No agent or agency shall fail or refuse to register as an agent, in the event and when such registration is decided upon by the Agency Committee, and no agent or agency shall transact business as an agent or agency after his resignation shall have been revoked, canceled or suspended, in the event that such registration procedure is decided upon by the Agency Committee.

Another provision in the film code, affecting both producers or production executives and agents or agencies, says that it shall be an unfair trade practice, and, therefore a violation of the code, for any producer, or any employee of a producer, directly or indirectly, to engage in, carry on, or in any way be financially interested in or connected with the business of an agent or agency, without making known such fact to the Agency Committee within twenty days from the effective date of this codfe—December 7—or if such interest is acquired following December 7, then such producer or producer's employee shall make known such fact to the Agency Committee within ten days after the acquisition of such interest.

The Agency Committee shall require after the acquisition of such interest that public disclosure of such acquisition of interest be made in a manner as it may deem advisable. Also, the Agency Committee shall make such further rules in connection with this section of the code as it sees fit, and such further rules shall be subject to the approval of the Administrator before finally effectuated.

EXECUTIVES LIABLE UNDER THE CODE

A production executive or official who wilfully violates any of the trade practice provisions of the code in his relations with another producer or studio or with employees is liable under the code and if the violation is upheld such executive or official is liable to a fine of $500 for each day's violation.

With regards further trade practices for agents or agencies which shall be necessary from time to time, the code specifically says that the Agency Committee may, after due notice and hearing, and with the approval of the Administrator, set up rules and fair trade practices governing agents.

Also, the Agency Committee is empowered to set up rules and fair trade practices governing relations between producers and agents, writers, actors, directors and technicians. The Agency Committee must give notice of such impending additions or changes, and a hearing must be held, and such additions or changes must be approved by the Administrator.

The operation of this Agency Committee shall not be superseded by the Code Authority. It appears, then, that the work of this committee would take precedence over the Code Authority in the specific matters of governing relations between agents and producers, actors, directors, writers and technicians.

In order to effectuate this part of the code pertaining to agents or agencies and their relaform terms and conditions for all agents and and technicians, the Agency Committee has the power to recommend to the Administrator uniform terms and conditions for all agents and an appropriate procedure for the registration of all agents and agencies with whom producers may transact business relating to the production of motion pictures, and the Agency Committee may also recommend to the Administrator uniform terms and conditions for the suspension, revocation, or cancellation of any such registration ("license").

Such recommendations of the Agency Committee, together with the recommendations of each or any indicidual Committee members, shall be submitted in writing, together, to the Administrator. And then the Administrator, after such notice and hearing as the Administrator may prescribe, may approve or reject or modify such recommendations. Upon approval by the Administrator, such recommendations shall have full force and effect as provisions of the code and any violation of such approved recommendations shall constitute a violation of the code.

No agent shall be deprived of the right of registration without affording such agent a full and fair opportunity to be heard, and no agent shall be deprived of the right to register even after having been heard by the Agency Committee without the approval of the Administrator.

Should the Agency Committee decide at any time to provide for the registration of agents, as described in the foregoing, then all persons regularly transacting business as agents at such time shall be entitled to registration as a matter of course, provided, however, application is made for registration to the Agency Committee within thirty days after the Agency Committee decides upon effecting registration of such agents.

The Agency Committee shall have power and authority to prescribe reasonable rules of procedure for the determination by it of all matters of dispute or controversy which may properly arise before the committee, such as disputes or controversies among agents or between agents and a producer, actor, director, writer or technician.

The Agency Committee shall make findings of fact concerning any dispute or any matter coming before it pertaining to the relations of agents among themselves or pertaining to the relations of agents and producers, actors, directors, writers and technicians. And the Agency Committee shall make such recommendations to the Administrator as it may deem proper if the Committee is unanimous, and if the Committee is not unanimous in its recommendations, then separate recommendations of any number of members may be submitted to the Administrator, together with a report that the Committee has disagreed.

No hearing or proceeding of any nature, in this connection, shall be conducted by the Agency Committee without due notice and a full and fair opportunity shall have been given to all interested parties to appear and be heard.

A complete transcript of all testimony and all arguments of all hearings and all procedure shall be made by the Agency Committee and such transcript shall be certified by the Agency Committee, and the Committee shall also certify the recommendations of the members of the Committee, and such transcript and such recommendations shall then be sent to the Administrator. The Administrator shall approve, reject or modify such recommendations, or any of them, and the Administrator may conduct such further investigations and hearings as to him may seem necessary or advisable.

The order of the Administrator shall be final.

The Agency Committee, subject to the approval of the Administrator, shall have authority to require all producers to furnish such information as may be desired to effectuate the provisions of this part.

The term "agent" or "agency" as used in the foregoing shall apply to any person, including firms, companies, partnerships, corporations or associations, who, directly or indirectly, for a fee or for other valuable considerations, procures, promises to procure, or undertakes to procure employment for any persons for or in connection with the production of motion pictures.

TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING RELATIONS BETWEEN PRODUCERS OR STUDIOS AND WRITERS, DIRECTORS, TECHNICIANS AND PLAYERS (EXCEPT "FREE-LANCE" OR "EXTRA" PLAYERS)

(Article V-B, Part 4A)

Should the Administrator (or Division Administrator Rosenblatt) determine at any time upon a fair showing, and after giving notice, that a set of fair trade practices should be adopted as governing relations between producers or studios and any one of the following classes of creative talent: writers, directors, technicians and actors ("extra" players and "free-lance" players are provided for elsewhere, as described later in this article), then a special committee shall be appointed for that purpose. The producers or studios and the class interested in such trade practices in each instance

The timeliest picture you can book!

AIRMAIL

Cash in immediately on the tremendous current interest in airmail—on the thousands of front-page headlines! . . . . Get in touch with your Universal Exchange TODAY for a quick run on the picture that gives the inside dope on . . . . "AIRMAIL!"

PRACTICES CITED FOR TALENT CLASS

shall be entitled to equal representation on such committee.

The committee members in each instance shall be appointed in the manner and its proceedings and those of the Administrator shall be the same, as above provided in the case of the Agency Committee.

At the same time that the findings or report of the committee shall be sent to the Administrator, the same shall be made public in such manner as may be determined by the Administrator.

In the second translation article for production, appearing in Motion Picture Herald on February 3rd, 1934, and starting on Page 61, detailed analysis was made of the purposes, personnel structure, procedure, jurisdiction and duties of the special committees mentioned above for actors, directors, technicians and writers, and which would govern trade practices and relations between producers or studios and the several classes of employees enumerated above.

TRADE PRACTICES FOR "EXTRA" PLAYERS AND "FREE-LANCE" PLAYERS

In the second translation article for production, appearing in Motion Picture Herald on February 3rd, on pages 63 and 64, respectively, there appeared an explanation of the code's provisions governing trade practices for producers as they pertain to their relations with "extra" players and with "free-lance" players receiving 150 or less per week.

NEGOTIATING WITH CREATIVE TALENT PRIOR TO THE EXPIRATION OF THEIR CONTRACT WITH ANOTHER PRODUCER

(Article V-B, Part 5, Sections 1 to 8, inc.)

This clause is in eight sections. Because the President believes that further investigation is required with respect to problems generally affecting unfair competitive methods for securing the services of creative classes of producers rendering services of an artistic, interpretative, technical, supervisory or executive nature, the provisions of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 of this article are temporarily suspended from operation and shall not become effective pending further report from the Administrator (or Division Administrator Rosenblatt), after investigation (already concluded by Mr. Rosenblatt), as to whether such provisions should be indefinitely suspended, or modified, altered or changed, or shall become effective.

The five sections so temporarily suspended (Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6) would forbid negotiations with such creative and executive employees described above, prior to thirty days before the expiration of the period of employment with another producer or studio. Any offers made during such last thirty days must, if the clause becomes effective, be communicated to the then employing producer if he has made a bona fide offer for the continuance of an employee in his employ. The proposal further contemplates that with respect to certain employees receiving a stipulated sum per week, and following the expiration of the period of employment, the former employing producer shall have notice for three or six months, as the case may be, of offers made for the services of such former employee. (Writers, authors and dramatists are not meant to be included in this clause.)

Meanwhile, Sections 5, 7 and 8 of this part of the code are now in effect. Section 5 says that no producer shall violate or aid or abet in the violation of this part of the code, and, in addition, it specifically says that it shall be an unfair trade practice for any producer to use coercion to prevent offers being made to any employee by other producers.

Section 7 of this part says that, if the Code Authority, or any committee appointed by it, after giving notice and holding a hearing, shall find that any employee of any producer has refused without just cause to render services under any contract of employment with such producer, then the Code Authority shall have full power and authority, with the approval of the Administrator (or Division Administrator Rosenblatt), to order all other producers to refrain from employing any such person in connection with the business of producing motion pictures for such period of time as may be designated by the Code Authority and it shall be an unfair trade practice for any producer to employ such person in violation of such order of the Administrator, or for any distributor or exhibitor, respectively, to distribute or exhibit any picture produced during the period described by the Code Authority by or with the aid of such person.

This clause is intended to punish creative employees under contract to a producer for "walking out" on such producer during the period of such contractual employment, either during production or otherwise. And if any contract employee does walk off the studio lot, without just cause, and the Code Authority or any of its committees find that such a "walk-off" was made without just cause, then, after notice and hearing, the Administrator or Division Administrator shall order that such guilty contract employee be "blackballed" by all other producers for a period to be prescribed by the Administrator. And, if such guilty contract employee works in or on a motion picture during the period when they are "blackballed," then no distributor shall distribute nor exhibitor shall exhibit such motion picture, under penalty of violating the code.

A complete transcript of all testimony and arguments, together with the findings and order of the Code Authority, or its committee, shall be made and certified to the Administrator, or Division Administrator, who may approve, reject or modify such order, and in such connection the Administrator, or Division Administrator, may conduct any further investigations and hearings as to him may seem necessary or advisable. The order of the Administrator, or of the Division Administrator shall be final.

Section 8 of this part says that if any producer, deliberately, willfully, or persistently violates any of the provisions of this part and the Code Authority so finds, and such finding is upheld by the Administrator or the Division Administrator, then the Code Authority, with the approval of the Administrator or of the Division Administrator, shall have the power to impose such restrictions, prohibitions, or conditions as it may deem proper upon the distribution or exhibition of motion pictures produced by any such offending producer. Due notice of any such ruling by the Code Authority, as approved by the Administrator or by the Division Administrator, shall be published in such manner as the Code Authority prescribes.

TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING PRODUCERS OF CARTOONS

(Article V-B, Part 6)

No cartoon producer shall employ any person during such time as he is employed full time by another.

No cartoon producer shall make any offer, directly or indirectly, of any money inducement or advantage, or inducement of any kind to any employee of any other cartoon producer in an effort to entice, persuade, or induce such employee to leave or become dissatisfied or to breach any contract covering his employment with another cartoon producer.

No cartoon producer shall adapt a cartoon character of another in such manner that the use of the adapted character shall constitute an appropriation by him of the goodwill of the creator.

VIOLATING RELEASE DATE FOR SHOWING PICTURE BASED ON A STAGE PLAY

(Article V-C, Part 1)

Where any contract granting the motion picture rights in any dramatic or dramatico-musical work specifies a date prior to which no motion picture based upon such work may be publicly exhibited, it shall be deemed to be an unfair trade practice for any producer to permit the public exhibition of such motion picture prior to such date.

INTERFERING WITH RELATIONS OF "OUTSIDE" PRODUCER

(Article V-C, Part 2)

No producer, or producer's employee, or producer's agent, shall knowingly and intentionally, directly or indirectly, interfere with existing relations between an outside or associated producer and another producer or distributor which

CODE AUTHORITY AND STUDIO COMMITTEES

The motion picture industry's Code Authority is the administrative and interpretative governing board of the code in the industry, and, in addition, is charged with effecting compliance of all those in the industry with the code's provisions.

It has no police powers, but shall report wilful violations of the code's labor violations to the NRA and the NRA will then attempt to end the violations, and, in case it is unsuccessful in this connection, the NRA has the power to bring the matter to the courts to settle.

In order to administer the code provisions governing relations between producers and creative talent employees, such as writers, directors, technicians, contract players, extras and free-lance players, the code creates special or standing committees for each of these classes, and each class shall have equal representation on such committee. The structure and modus operandi of these committees were the subjects of the first article on the translation of production provisions of the code, appearing in Motion Picture Herald, issue of February 3.

STUDIO AND ADVERTISING STANDARDS is releasing the motion picture product of such outside producer, nor shall any one do anything to alienate or entice any such outside producer away from the other producer or distributor, nor shall any one do anything to create discord or strife between such outside producer and another producer or distributor, for the purpose of inducing such outside producer to breach or attempt to breach any existing contract between the outside producer and another producer or distributor releasing such outside producer's pictures, or to secure a change in the terms and conditions of any existing contract between any such outside producer and another producer or distributor.

To effectuate this clause, no producer or distributor shall negotiate with or make any offer for or to any such outside producer at any time prior to sixty days before the termination of any existing agreement between such outside producer and the producer or distributor which is releasing such outside producer's product, nor shall another producer or distributor make any offer to such outside producer prior to sixty days before the date when the outside producer shall fulfill its delivery commitment to the producer or distributor with whom it has contractual obligations, which ever date is earlier.

PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN MOTION PICTURES

(Article VII, Part 1)

Every one in distribution, exhibition and production is pledged and bound under the code to give their combined strength to maintain the best standards of morals in motion pictures. And, to that end the industry and every one in it is pledged and bound to adhere to the regulations promulgated by and within the industry to assure the attainment of such purpose.

The Hays code of production morals standards is that established set of regulations promulgated by and within the industry to attain such right moral standards.

PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN ADVERTISING

(Article VII, Part 2)

Every one in distribution, exhibition and production is pledged and bound under the code to maintain the best standards of morals in advertising motion pictures in the trade and to the public. And, to that end the industry and every one in it is pledged and bound to adhere to the regulations promulgated by and within the industry to assure the attainment of such purpose.

The Hays (Advertising Advisory Council under J. J. McCarthy) code of advertising morals are the established regulations promulgated by and within the industry to attain such right moral standards in advertising.

If a producer, or another, is in doubt about the propriety of the morals of any piece of advertising or publicity or still, he may submit it voluntarily to the Advertising Advisory Council, at No. 28 West 44th Street, New York, or to the west coast branch in the offices of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, in Hollywood, and at either place they will be advised as to the propriety of such piece of advertising or publicity or still photograph. In any event, each individual producer or studio company is responsible for its own advertising under this clause.

5. ADMINISTRATION OF PRODUCTION PRACTICES

In the field of production, the Code Authority, or any committees appointed by it, shall determine directly those complaints of unfair trade practices which would not ordinarily come directly under the supervision of any of the various standing committees appointed by the Authority to administer the code in production (such as Standing Committees for Actors, "Extra" Players, "Free-Lance" Players, Agents and Agencies), or which would not come under the supervision of any special committees appointed by the Authority or by the Administrator or Division Administrator Sol Rosenblatt.

The administration of the production parts of the code, through the mediums of the Code Authority, Administrator, the certain specified committees and other committees was the subject of the first code translation article for production, which appeared in Motion Picture Herald on February 3, starting on page 54.

Theatres Stand to Win By NRA, Says C. L. Hyde

Motion picture theatres stand to reap the greatest benefits of the NRA principle, through more hours of leisure for the public because of reduced working hours and through more spending ability because of higher wages, Charles Lee Hyde of the Grand theatre at Pierre, S. D., advised exhibitors in a circular he sent out recently to all theatre men in his state.

Mr. Hyde commended the leadership of the South Dakota Theatre Men's Association for reaching all the objectives it has marked out to date and for having money in the treasury. The officers serve without pay.

COULDN'T GET BY WITHOUT HERALD

"I don't want to miss an issue. If I was a farmer I would want the Herald. But this is the only magazine I would care so much about," writes M. D. Utterback, Lyric theatre, Wellington, Kan., whose first reports appeared in a recent issue.

"I don't see how any exhibitor can get by without it, as I go through every Herald I have every week and look for the length of pictures, when released, the cast and, most important of all, 'What the Picture Did for Me.' This alone is well worth the price of the magazine.

"And if the exhibitors will study this column and more exhibitors will take time and send in what they think of a picture and the audience reaction on the pictures, it can be much improved.

"The Round Table column is wonderful. It gives an exhibitor an idea of how to play his show before he shows it. I find all of these stunts are good. The exhibitor wouldn't take the time to send them in if they weren't a success. He passes them on so someone else can profit by his successful experiments.

"We all are looking for new stunts that will bring them in without spending too much money."

Hearings on Alien Talent Continue

Declaring that the motion picture industry is international in scope and that the industry's pre-eminent position abroad cannot be maintained without foreign talent, Mrs. Irene C. Crisp appeared Monday for the MPPDA as the hearing on the Dickstein bill to bar alien actors was resumed.

Speaking before the committee on immigration and naturalization, Mrs. Crisp declared that "personalities make motion pictures, and any restriction on development of new talent, either foreign or native, places a handicap on the industry."

Ohio Owners Group Plans Series of Regional Sessions

The Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio plans a series of regional meetings for members, designed to acquaint them with the policies of the organization. The sessions will be addressed by various officers, including P. J. Wood, secretary, and will be held during the first two weeks of March at Toledo, Lima, Dayton, Zanesville, Akron, Youngstown and Steubenville.

The seven points of the announced policy include a membership drive, to be statewide; repeal of the admission tax; abolition of unfair percentage and preferred playing time; protection of members' interests at Code board meetings in Cincinnati and Cleveland; protection from unfair legislation; protection in sound equipment patent litigation, and abolition of the score charge and music tax.

Sewell Collins, Producer, Dies Suddenly in London

Sewell Collins, American cartoonist and theatrical producer, died last week in London at the age of 57. He was well known in the United States, having produced "The Left Bank" in New York. Margaret Moffat, his wife, heard the news of her husband's sudden death shortly before curtain time at a London play. Since no understudy was available, the actress went on and played her comedy part. Mr. Collins was at one time a writer and illustrator for several American magazines.

To Handle Monogram Films

Al Aronson, former MGM general manager in Europe, and Max Ehrenreich, former manager in South America for United Artists and Columbia, have concluded an agreement with Ritchey Export Corporation to handle all Monogram pictures in Australia and New Zealand.

Theatre Receiver Asked

The appointment of a receiver for the Capitol theatre, Wheeling, W. Va., has been asked in a petition in equity filed in the Ohio County circuit court, Wheeling, by the Cleveland Trust Company, Cleveland, through Rudolph A. Malm, trustee. Default on bonds is cited in the petition.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 213.—(A) What care should the interior of the projection lens barrel have? (B) What effect may be set up if paint on the interior of the lens barrel be permitted to wear off? (C) With what should the lens barrel interior be coated? (D) In reassembling individual lenses of a projection lens, how should they be clamped in their mounts? (E) Just what is the effect upon the screen image of a dust covered projection lens surface?

Answer to Question No. 207

Bluebook School Question No. 207 was: (A) Disregarding condition of surface as to cleanliness, upon what three elements does the amount of light reflected from a surface, or transmitted by it, depend? (B) Were a sheet of chemically pure water a foot thick, and a sheet of highgrade glass laid side by side, from which would the greater amount of light be reflected; in the interior of which would the illumination be highest, and why? (C) What is meant by "angle of incidence?" By "refractive index"?

The following sent in acceptable answers: S. Evans and C. Rau; G. E. Doe; D. Danielson; B. S. Englander; T. Van Vaulkenburg; R. DeTotto; J. Wentworth; H. Edwards; W. Lemke; H. H. Menefee; P. Gaeth, Jr.; R. J. Arntson; J. G. Paulson; D. Ferguson; B. Duglah and P. Jackson; G. A. Artley; A. Sprafke; J. Morton; D. C. Coates; M. C. Mellinger and H. Pitchkey; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; D. Holler and D. R. Peters; L. F. Evans and P. T. Jones; J. T. Ballinger and D. L. Mason; T. R. Richards and H. Schontz; T. H. and J. N. Williams; H. C. Lake; L. Biello and R. K. Hart; S. Jacobs; T. Kelley and C. Cummings; S. L. Holmes; E. L. Conners; L. Leroy and T. L. Albert; O. L. Evans; D. L. Howard; W. and S. F. Love; R. S. Conrad; S. Fletcher; G. S. Bowers; T. M. Orichson and Son; F. Daris and F. T. Thompson; T. L. Turk and R. O. Davis; D. L. Sinklow; H. C. Lake; P. S. Mitchell, M. Gerst, J. Hemmelstene and R. Marteniz; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; R. S. Allen and N. Williams; P. M. Wheeler and M. Scully; D. N. Anderson, L. H. Anderson and H. May; H. D. Schofield; B. Doe; C. D. Carmody; D. Forman; R. Dorfel and J. E. Smith; H. E. Daniels; S. L. Jones and P. L. Sanborn; D. L. Smith, S. T. Carter and H. Pedulla; B. L. Stephens; C. F. Davis and P. Conforti; R. Wheeler and R. Suler; P. R. Dual; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; P. L. Lathrope; G. Tinlin; D. H. Samuels; T. L. Edwards; S. Carberry; G. L. Emrich; C. Abrams and E. F. Griffin; L. N. Haynes and A. Richardson; D. M. Davidson; C. Greene.

I have credited many with making acceptable answers, but this I did for the reason that they have apparently misread the question. Of you all, only one man seems to have read it correctly—G. E. Doe. He says, "The three elements upon which the amount or proportion of incident light that will be reflected from, or transmitted through, any given (lens) surface are (1) the angle at which the surface is met, reflection increasing rapidly as angle of incidence is increased; (2) refractive index of the glass, the greater the difference in refractive index as between air and glass the greater amount of light will be reflected at any angle; (3) the perfection of polish of the glass surface, poor polish serving to transmit less light than superior polish."

(B) I think we will listen to R. J. Arntson and W. and S. F. Love. We will then hear from the optical experts and so have two viewpoints and finally the really correct answer. Brother Arntson says:

"The greater amount of light would be reflected from the glass because of its more polished surface, if I may use that term with regard to difference in surfaces of water and glass. That is to say, its surface presents more of a plane than water. The interior of the water would be illuminated the most because its refractive index is higher and therefore offers more resistance to the flow of light. It appears to me the internal reflection is greater, because of a different molecular structure, the light being broken up and refracted or reflected by each individual molecule."

W. and S. F. Love say, "Glass would reflect the greater percentage of incident light for the reason that its refraction index is higher, and the higher the refractive index, other things being equal, the higher the reflective power. Which medium would be illuminated to the greatest extent by passage of light through it, is a poser. As we understand matters, a transparent medium passes all light through except that 'absorbed' by the body of the transmitting medium. If that be true, how then, can there be illumination of, or in, the body itself, since the 'absorption' percentage is (again, as we understand it) transformed entirely into heat?"

(C) R. DeTotto answers this one as follows: "Refractive index may be defined as the ratio between the lines of the angle of incidence and the angle of refraction, when the light is passing obliquely from one medium to another of different density. It may less technically be defined as meaning the density of the glass material upon which the lens action depends."

Now for the several problems brought forward in answering this question, with answers generously supplied by the Scientific Bureau of Bausch & Lomb Company.

1. Is it true that a highly polished lens surface will reflect less of the incident light at all angles than will one less well polished?

Answer: Yes.

2. Assuming two light beams, one pure white and one slightly with color: Would not the discolored light have a tendency to reflect in higher proportion from a lens surface than the pure white beam? Answer: No, we do not believe so. Any difference there might be would be small.

3. Assuming light to enter a block of polished-surface glass one foot thick, and a clean, chemically pure water in a tank having totally non-reflective bottom and sides: Which body would have its interior most highly illuminated by the light? Answer: The glass. Good glass absorbs two per cent per centimeter; water about one and a half to two per cent of the visible light.

4. A transmitting medium absorbs a certain amount of light per centimeter of distance. Does the absorbed energy appear as light, heat, or both? Answer: Mostly heat.

All too many of the correspondents are taking great delight in telling me about Brother Englander's Bluebook School answer in the issue of February 3. In putting into type the sentence referring to five-tenths per cent for absorption, the printer-man should have made it .5—but ran out of periods.

Revolution IN COMEDY MAKING

E. W. Hammons PRESENTS

BOB HOPE and LEAH RAY IN "going Spanish"

A Musical Comedy

An AL CHRISTIE Production

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Distributed in U.S.A. by
FOX Film Corporation

The old rule in comedy making is dethroned. Two-reel comedies as Educational makes them in 1934 must have not only all the laughs of old, but much more besides. They have big box-office names; they have romance and music, more lavish settings and finer stories. It is this rare new combination of entertainment and ticket selling values that makes such pictures as "GOING SPANISH" so important for you to play and exploit.

* *

"Classy . . . A very pretentious two-reel musical comedy featuring Bob Hope and Leah Ray. Two very promising newcomers to the screen . . . Hope is a real comedian, and the girl looks like a sure bet . . . Three good song numbers . . . Produced by Al Christie with a lot of originality and fine kidding humor that is refreshingly different."

—Film Daily.

* *

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

According to press reports Old Man Winter and the eastern states are putting on quite a battle. It is reported that back there they have two feet of snow and the mercury is down to 15 degrees below zero. That's what they get for living back there. Out here the boys have played golf all winter with the exception of one short spell when the mercury got to flirting with 10 above and enough snow fell to cover the ground, but only for three or four days.

We woke up this morning to find the ground covered with two inches of snow, just a nice rabbit snow, and the boys are going out after the bunnies. They have promised to bring us some rabbits because we are unable to get out, and we expect to have rabbits enough to do us all season.

▽

Will Rogers and Zasu Pitts were playing at the Moon theatre recently in "Mr. Skitch," and since we have never missed seeing these delightful folks, we persuaded our daughter to get out her car and drive us down to the show, a thing we probably should not have done.

In some ways Will reminds us very much of Uncle 'Leazer Biggs, except that Uncle 'Leaser is a tall, slim, bony, hungry looking individual, but they both claim to be from Missouri. Uncle 'Leaser was the best judge of mules there was in our entire neighborhood, and at the school meetings he used to say "Well, gentlemen, I hain't much on readin, ritin and rithmetick, but I'm sure enough hell on mules."

Whenever Aunt Polly wanted to go to town Uncle 'Leaser would hitch up the mules to his democratic wagon and away they would go.

Uncle 'Leaser hung tenaciously to his mules, democratic wagon and the fundamental principles of his party. That is why we always liked Uncle 'Leaser. We like fellows who have principles and stick to them.

"Mr. Skitch" is a charming picture if you don't pay any attention to the discrepancies in it. After the mortgagee had cleaned Bill of his property he loaded Zasu (who was his wife) and their three children into a flivver and they were headed for California.

Geography Course Needed

The director took them first to the Yellowstone National Park, where they saw "Old Faithful" do his stuff, and visited other points of interest. Then on their way to California he brought them back to the Grand Canyon in Colorado, a distance of one thousand miles out of their way and here he made Bill a guide for the tourists. As a matter of fact, the Grand Canyon does not require a guide; it speaks for itself. The mountains on either side are so high and steep that a mountain goat couldn't climb them. To the average audience these discrepancies won't mean a thing, but to those of us who are familiar with both places they stand out like a sore thumb on a woodchopper.

In misdirection these scenes remind us somewhat of one scene in "The Covered Wagon" wherein the director had the caravan ford the Platte river. As a matter of fact, the Platte river is not fordable except in a very few spots on account of the rapid current and the treacherous quicksands (many hunters have met their death there trying to wade the river to recover dead ducks), but he used a small, shallow placid lake to represent the Platte river which looked about as much like the Platte as Lake Michigan looks like a swimming pool in the Lincoln Park.

As we understand it, Mr. Cruse directed both pictures, and if our understanding is correct (which it may not be) the Fox organization should instruct him to take a course in geography.

To some people Zasu Pitts may not be listed as handsome, but to us she looks like Cleopatra looked to Marc Antony, and if we were to go to Hollywood to step out for a few evenings, we would sooner have Zasu for a trotting mate than any other we know of, for she impresses us as a regular fellow. The husbands of Louise Fazenda and Winnie Lightner are responsible for not including those two, for we never like to mix with husbands. We tangled with one once and the hospital took all our spare change.

If you exhibitors haven't already played this picture you have missed something, and if you don't play it you will miss something again. You won't list it as a special, but your audience will list it as mighty fine entertainment, unless we don't know pictures and audiences, and sometimes we think we don't.

[Since J. C. wrote this Zasu stepped out and got married. Too bad, Colonel!—Ed.]

If this colyum appears rather dry and insipid to you exhibitors, just remember that it is your own fault for not writing us and helping us to edit it, for you know that, being confined to a room with four walls and a ceiling, a radio, a piano, a library, a fireplace, etc., etc., is not the best spot in the world to get the muse to do its stuff. So stop your kicking and grab that typewriter.

▽

Ohio Should Be Proud

We presume that most of you fellows know Fred S. Meyer of Milwaukee, Wis. Fred at one time was a contestant in that exhibitors' beauty contest which ran in the HERALD some time back, and we never could understand why Fred didn't win first place, but he didn't.

Fred used to operate a theatre in Hamilton, Ohio, and at one time we made some remark about Ohio that he didn't like and he came back and informed us that "Ohio is the mother of presidents." He said "is" instead of "was." Well, Ohio has something else to brag about: she has Isabella Cheney Byerly, who operates the Rainbow theatre, and Mrs. Byerly has just written us a very lovely letter and expresses a hope that we will soon be out again and sends us an invitation to come to the Byerly home and sample her cooking. That kind of an invitation always appealed to us. Mrs. Byerly hails from Mechanicsburg, a town we visited some years ago, where we met what is now her husband, but we don't recall meeting her, which is our loss and her gain. We have put Mechanicsburg on our list and Mrs. Byerly in particular, because her letter indicates that she is a lady of character and one worth going miles to meet. Thanks, Mrs. Byerly, for your letter and invitation, and will you please remember us to your husband, and be assured of our best wishes always.

▽

George Was Quite a Guy

As we are writing this it is February 22, the two hundred and second anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and, as we recall it now, George was quite a guy. We often wonder where we would be in this country had George never been born. Had he not have been in such a hurry, and waited six more days, we could have celebrated two very important events at one time, but George was a fellow who didn't wait for anybody. Had he not been born we would probably have had more cherry trees and less hatchets, but then our cherry trees all died anyhow and we haven't any use for hatchets, since the Indians are about all gone.

▽

In seven more days spring will be here and we will have forgotten that we had any winter. And with spring will come snow and rain squalls and robins and angleworms, and it will be our annual time to take a bath and change our underwear, so until then we will say Auf-wiedersehen, and leave the rest up to the Printer's Devil.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Fox Prepares Six

Peggy Wood, playing opposite Will Rogers, the reuniting of James Dunn and Sally Eilers and the appearance of Mitchell and Durant will feature the six films Fox is putting into immediate production to conclude the 1933-34 schedule. The six are "Merry Andrew," "Gold Rush of 1934," "Always Honest," "Call It Luck," "Charlie Chan's Courage," "On the High Seas."

Plan Cincinnati Film Ball

The first annual film ball in Cincinnati will be held in the Netherland Plaza Hall of Mirrors early in April, according to arrangements completed by the committee, consisting of Willis Vance, Harold Bernstein, Charles Fine and Elmer Shard.

Superior To Start Series

Superior Talking Pictures, Inc., is about to begin production on the first of a new series of 12 featurettes. The first will be "Tarzan, the Police Dog."

Universal Promotes Dermody

James R. Grainger, in charge of Universal distribution, has appointed J. F. Dermody district manager in New England and the Albany territory, with headquarters in Boston.

Warren Joins Allied

Frank Warren, formerly manager of the Garden, Princeton, N. J., has joined Allied of New Jersey as contact man in a membership drive.

Amity Has Seattle Office

Amity Pictures has opened a new exchange in Seattle, under the name of Metropolitan Film Exchange, Inc., and under the direction of D. C. Millward.

Kathryn Daugherty Hurt

Kathryn Daugherty, editor of Photoplay, was slightly injured in Hollywood early this week when the car in which she was riding overturned.

With Seat Company

Ed Dawson has been named to the New York sales staff of the International Seat Corporation, marketing the New U 16 theatre chair. J. George Feinberg, vice-president, is in charge of sales.

New General Register Machine

General Register Corporation has announced its new Model "C" ticket issuing machine, designed especially for small theatres, fairs and the like.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell, Robert Armstrong—Not so hot. Might do on a double bill, but did not mean a thing here. Played Jan. 13.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell—Good program picture. Enjoyed by all. It's clean. Running time, 68 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

BEFORE MIDNIGHT: Ralph Bellamy—Pretty good mystery drama. Enjoyed by all. It's clean. Running time, 61 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

COCKTAIL HOUR: Bebe Daniels—This picture is just fair. Double it if you play it. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 27.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

HOLD THE PRESS: Tim McCoy—A very good action picture, but they are used to seeing this star in westerns and don't kid yourself, the old horse opera is played, out in the sticks. They are very popular and when these western actors get out of them they don't make out so good and McCoy was popular in westerns.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: William Janney, Dorothy Appleby, Rex—A fair western with extra pretty shots. A good small town Saturday night show. Did not draw here for some reason. Played Feb. 3.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: William Janney, Dorothy Appleby, Rex—Played this on my western night to extra business. Western fans will go wild over this one. Plenty of action. Columbia deserves credit on this.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell—Fell below ordinary business for me. Can't figure it out as the picture deserved better patronage. Columbia has good pictures, but you very seldom make any money on them. Played Jan. 27.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—A fine picture that pleased and drew in a few extra cents. Played Jan. 25.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy—A flop at the box-office. As far as the picture and story was concerned, they were pretty good. Running time, 78 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—This is a swell picture. Will go on your best nights. Spencer Tracy-Loretta Young at their best. Columbia deserves credit on this.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHADOWS OF SING SING: Bruce Cabot, Mary Brian—A very weak program picture. Did not draw worth a hoot. Played Jan. 16.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

STRAIGHTAWAY: Tim McCoy—A good Saturday night picture. Plenty of clean, fast action and McCoy was as good in this as any of his westerns. Played Jan. 20.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

SUNDOWN RIDERS: Buck Jones—One of the best Jones' I've ever played. It has action, thrills and everything that goes with a good western. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Jan. 22-23.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE: Willard Mack, Minna Gombell—I played this one day and should have played it two days because it went over better than I expected, although it's just a picture. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 24.—Louis' Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

WHEN STRANGERS MARRY: Jack Holt—This picture is just fair. Double it if you play it. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 27.—Louis Peretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

First National

BIG SHAKEDOWN, THE: Charles Farrell, Ricardo Cortez, Bette Davis—A very good little program picture. Pleased well and business was good; should please all classes fairly well. Played Jan. 23-24.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee—A nice little picture, somewhat spicy in spots. McHugh drunk all through entire show. No good for children. Running time, seven reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis—A well done picture. Should get over in any house. Robinson great in his part. Kay Francis miscast as an opera singer, in my opinion, but good. Running time, eight reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—A swell show that brought out a good crowd. Very funny all the way through. Give us more like it. Played Jan. 11.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—A real laugh panic. I thought this to be his best picture for a long time. Box-office results okay.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Swell comedy. Clean as a hound's tooth, pleasing as a spring breeze and as funny as a barrel of monkeys. Next to "Fireman, Save My Child," is the best of Brown's pictures. Business very good and held up well for three days. Played Jan. 21-22-23.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—This picture was interesting and went over good.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—A nice picture that did not have any pulling power here at all. Played Jan. 28.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

Fox

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—Good Rogers picture. Did a fair business. Running time, 77 minutes. —W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

HOLD THAT GIRL: James Dunn, Claire Trevor—This picture is a good deal better than the average that Fox has turned out to date. James Dunn has a role that he can do in this one, ably assisted by Claire Trevor, who, I think, if they get some intelligence in their pictures and she gets the breaks, is a comer. She threw everything that she had in this picture and was well liked by the audience.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

I AM SUZANNE: Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond—Very good entertainment. Good for children on account of marionettes. Adults will like them as well. If Fox makes more like this—well, here's hoping they do. Hats off to Rowland Lee for great direction and Lee Garmes for better photography. Running time, 101 minutes.—Perry L. Lessy, Diamond Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa. Neighborhood patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien—The kind of picture that the small town will go for. Good picture and good business. Running time, 60 minutes.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers and Zasu Pitts—Fine biz. What a wonderful and rare treat it is to get a picture with human motives, without criminals and gangsters, without dirty, filthy sex scenes, without decadence, but with laughter and innocent love, which after all is the only kind of attraction between sexes worthy of the name love. A picture where half the cast is not killed off. A picture with the happy ending that contrasts with real life in trust-ridden Wall Street-owned America.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—A honey for small towns, and elsewhere for that matter. Bill this one heavy and you'll get them in. Every one went out with smiles all over their faces. Many good comedy situations in this picture. Skitch's "silent partner," Harry Green, as Cohen, is good. Running time, 70 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y.

OLSON'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel—Goofy. Played Feb. 3-4.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

ORIENT EXPRESS: Heather Angel, Norman Foster—Good Saturday or pal night picture. Holds interest throughout and is different. Played Feb. 6-7.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy—It has plenty of action which makes a good Saturday picture. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 29-30.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy—Only fair. P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SLEEPERS EAST: Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster—Just about as shoddy a piece of material to make a picture out of that we have seen in some time. Just another reason why they sit by the radio and stay there. Not worth running. Flopped the worst of the year.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

MGM

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—This is a good comedy drama. Nothing big about it, just a good program picture that should do a good business anywhere. The story is very simple. A mother's instinct to keep her son closer to her than to his wife. This is good entertainment and should draw a good business due to the fact that Robert Montgomery and Helen Hayes star in it. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Feb. 14.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Madge Evans, Otto Kruger—Nice, interesting picture. It pleased.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Had a few walkouts, but think it pleased about 98 per cent. Believe it or not, that kind of picture is what the patrons want. Acting good, sound good. Good picture to a good crowd. Leo has been giving us some mighty good pictures lately. Running time, 98 minutes. Played Feb. 10-11.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—Good picture. Business below average.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford—Personally thought this a very good show, but failed to click as expected. Every one who came seemed satisfied, but Crawford's last two pictures seemed to hurt her a lot. Ought to do better from now on.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix, Madge Evans, Stuart Erwin—Pleased all who saw it. Story a little too sad, but has plenty of action and excellent acting. Una Merkel is becoming very popular with my patrons. Just another very satisfactory picture from Metro. Played Jan. 27-28.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—This is a very different picture than any we ever played. Lots of entertainment and a lot of good comedy. Ted Healy was there. You will have to see it to appreciate it. All here that saw it liked the picture. The stars fine and a big story. Played Feb. 13-14.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN):

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

1790 Broadway, New York

Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Not the usual hit. It did not seem to be quite as big a picture as it would seem it should. Too much cast, not enough story. Played Feb. 4-5.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Spring, Neb. General patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Here is another great picture from Metro with two of the screen's best stars. Some wonderful acting, perfect direction and good settings. It is a drama with comedy and good clean entertainment for the whole family. However, this one did not draw near the business "Tugboat Annie" did. But it pleased all that saw it and that is what we want to do. Business two days only fair. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 19-20.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, John and Lionel Barrymore—A great picture. Pleased patrons that I thought could not be pleased. Some wonderful scenery and the acting is perfect. A little sad, but certainly pleased my Saturday and Sunday patrons. The young folks enjoyed the airplane shots. A good bet for any night. Played Feb. 3-4.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

QUEEN CRISTINA: Greta Garbo, John Gilbert, Lewis Stone—Hats off to Metro for one of the greatest pictures of all time. This is a very delightful historical drama with romance. It is fine entertainment with perfect direction, wonderful acting and gorgeous settings. Personally, I think this is the best picture of Garbo's career. It is a costume picture, opening in the 17th century. What I could say here would not justify the picture. You must see it to fully appreciate its brilliancy. In the powerful supporting cast are John Gilbert, Ian Keith, Lewis Stone and C. Aubrey Smith, who play their roles beautifully. If you have not played this one, advertise it and let your patrons know that this is the best thing that Garbo has made. Played two days to a fairly good business. Pleased 100 per cent. Running time, 103 minutes. Played Feb. 12-13.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SONS OF THE DESSERT: Laurel and Hardy—One of the best for this pair. A funny picture, but failed to gross as it should. The press sheets put out by the producers grow in size until they will soon be printed on 24-sheet stands. The most of the effort and expense of these things goes into seven color lithos on the front page and not available to exhibitors to resell the picture. Too much general sales manager atmosphere in this business, too little sense. —Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Showed to more kiddies than adults and I doubt if even the kiddies liked it as much as they thought they would. This might go in some towns, but a total flop here.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Excellent. Well produced. Every one should know what they are going to see. Advertise through your schools and women's clubs and you will benefit. No reason why you should not do a good business if you will do that. Played Feb. 8-9.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—I was warned, but would not listen. Paramount should be ashamed to take money under such pretenses. Even the kids walked out. Have never seen it tied in the past 20 years and they have made some putrid ones. Played Jan. 14-15.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

ALL OF ME: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft—Very good, but not as good as "Eight Girls in a Boat." Good sound, good directing, a good picture. Running time, eight reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

ALL OF ME: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft—Good program picture, well done, very sophisticated. Not for family nights, good business, due to star power. Played Feb. 16-17.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

BIG EXECUTIVE: Ricardo Cortez, Elizabeth Young —Just a picture. You should keep it in the can if possible. I am sure no one wants to see it.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—A genuine cleanup if you have many Catholics in your territory. Ran it on a Wednesday and Thursday at increased admission and outgrossed any picture within the past two years. Wednesday night was bigger than the previous Sunday, Monday and Tuesday on "Dancing Lady." A mop-up in the right spots.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Miriam Hopkins, Gary Cooper, Fredric March—A sophisticated picture that seemed to please. A little draggy and some of my patrons said it did not follow the stage play at all. Took out too much spice they said. Should get by on the top price spot.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Elliwood, Kan. General patronage.

THREE MORE RALLY TO THE DEPARTMENT

Adding their bit to the wealth of valuable exhibitor experience, this week three new showmen are welcomed into the ranks of "What the Picture Did for Me" contributors. Two from the South and one from the West, they are:

Walter Beymer, Lido theatre, Providence, Ky.; Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland theatre, White Castle, La.; R. M. Rector, Columbia theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Read their reports in this issue.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Miriam Hopkins, Fredric March, Gary Cooper—Do not know why this did not draw better than it did, and have had quite a little favorable comment since showing. Different and good entertainment. Played Feb. 11-12.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, Gary Cooper—A very smart sophisticated dialogue. While it should fare well in a city, completely out of place in a small town. A bit too highbrow and too much dialogue. Business only fair and majority dissatisfied. Played Jan. 28.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—I'm afraid these boys are washed up. Failed to do one-half the gross that their last one did. After seeing about two pictures of these stars, the public is satisfied and do not crave any more of the same old stuff.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Picture pleased and did a little extra business. Running time, 65 minutes.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—It was Duck Soup for me. Silly, disgusting; nothing more to say. —R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Kay Johnson, Dorothy Wilson—One of the sweetest pictures I've ever had the pleasure of seeing. Girls must see this. Running time, nine reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Douglas Montgomery, Dorothy Wilson—This would have been a good picture, but for the way in which it is handled. It deals with a very delicate subject which does not make good entertainment. This picture dwells entirely too much on the subject of a girl having a baby. The scenery, sound and story are very good. This is more of a woman's picture. Played one day to a good business. Played Feb. 16.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, N. C. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Chester Morris, Richard Arlen—A dandy Friday and Saturday picture. The farmers ate this up.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—Good story with water front locale. Poor title. Played Feb. 2-3.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Roland Young, Lillian Gish—Nice clean picture, but no good for preview. Too slow. Good for the mothers over 60 years. Just a picture. Running time, eight reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Very good picture, plenty hot. Could have done big business had the picture not been shown in every town within 50 miles of me before I could get it. It was just another picture for me. No increase in business.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—Very good western. Freak box-office, business more than double, and patrons well entertained. Played Feb. 7-8.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Ginger Rogers, Jack Oakie, Jack Haley—Good musical comedy. Very nice song hits and splendid dance number to the hit "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking." Played Feb. 4-5.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie—This picture showed the lack of time and money spent on it. A couple of knockout tunes saved the picture. Ginger Rogers is swell, as usual. This picture is okay for average business.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, Jack Haley—Our people liked it. The last reel contains a fan dance and chorus that's beautiful, a grand finale, and had it been in color would have added greatly. Good entertainment for your best days. Played Feb. 4-5.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, Mary Boland, Burns and Allen—Ran this preview only. Satisfied perfectly. All good. Funny. Just the kind for preview. They won't go to sleep. Running time, eight reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—Not a special. Only a pretty good program picture. Not much at the box office. Running time, 75 minutes. —P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—This picture went over very good. It is a worth-while picture.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston, Jack LaRue, Buster Crabbe—One of the best westerns I have ever seen. A genuine Zane Grey story where everybody except the hero and heroine get killed. Plenty of fighting, riding, action and thrills enough to please any audience. With Zane Grey as the author and an excellent cast, this should be a big business getter. We played this one day, Saturday, to capacity business and pleased every one. Played Feb. 17.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie —The show pleased most of the patrons, though it is not primarily a Saturday night performance. Business not as good as might have been expected with the change from sub-zero to nearly normal weather. Played Feb. 10.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Fair musical, but did not draw.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Quite a nice picture that the women were strong for. We took it off the third day, for it failed to draw and I don't know why, for it was good.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert — Picture pleased. Running time, 72 minutes.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix—Very good for midweek business. Pleased about 90 per cent. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Jan. 26.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett, Gilbert Roland—A good picture that did not draw film rental. All are sour on this war stuff and just won't come and see it. Don't make any difference how popular the star is, or how big the story.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett—A very good picture for the kind, but my patrons are tired of wars and rumors of wars. Acting is good and it pleased about 40 per cent. Not enough comedy to go over. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Jan. 31, Feb. 1.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN: Charles Farrell, Wynne Gibson—Very nice program picture from RKO. Novel twist with comedy. Will go on a double feature program, and should do at least average. Running time, 68 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne, Walter Huston—This feature was substituted and I did not have time to advertise it as I should have done. Was panned by the more conservative, but seemed to go over pretty well with theatre goers. Fine acting and good photography. Held the interest to the last reel. I consider it a very good production and with a little longer time to advertise it, would have gone over big. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Jan. 24-25.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—Certainly did not draw here, but it pleased those that came. Played Jan. 31.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Dolores Del Rio—One of the best musicals of the year. Pleased 100 per cent. Sub-zero weather and high winds took toll at box-office; otherwise we would have had a record. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Jan. 28-29.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. Small town patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan—This is nothing to write home about. Played on a double bill with another picture and they got the quantity if quality was not there. I call it just a picture.—

Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HIPS, HIPS, HORRAY!: Wheeler and Woolsey—A very good production which may bring back these comedians a popularity ruined by their two previous pictures. Used to be one of our best bets at the box-office and can be again if they put out this class of picture. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Brought a few old men and quite a few old ladies. People who rarely have entered our portals. But the rest stayed away. Did not click in this theatre despite popularity of the book and our campaigns. Running time, 113 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Fine woman's picture. Did a wonderful business for four days in a small town. However, RKO and the newspapers got all the profit. We were no better off after paying the percentage and extra advertising cost together with other expense than would have been running an ordinary program picture. When they have a good one they just won't give the exhibitor a break, regardless of the raps we take on the filth and trashy ones. If you can buy it right you should make some money on it. Wish you better luck than we had from a standpoint of net returns. Played Feb. 5-6-7-8.—Thomas E. Orr, Liberty, Attalla, Ala. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Excellent. A picture for the whole family. Entertaining from start to finish. Clean in every respect. Every theatre should play this picture. RKO surely deserves a big credit mark for producing such a wonderful picture. This is my estimation is the best picture of the year. When it comes to clean and wholesome story and box-office attraction RKO surely has the picture this year. Played Jan. 12.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN OF TWO WORLDS: Francis Lederer, Elissa Landi—An unusual picture hard to sell to the public because of new star, but the production is interesting and when Lederer becomes known he should draw well. Running time, 92 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. Small town patronage.

MEANEST GAL IN TOWN, THE: Zasu Pitts, El Brendel—Good picture. Plenty of laughs supplied by Pert Kelton and El Brendel. Pleased 80 per cent. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 9.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea—This is a very true portrayal of the small town doctor. It is sincerely done and Barrymore is fine in his role. Many of us old-timers remember just such a man as this picture portrays and the picture was well received.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore, May Robson, Frances Dee—More serious type picture. Splendid work by Barrymore and supporting cast. Story of a country doctor. Played Feb. 11-12.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—A very good picture. Absolutely nothing to it. I don't think it pleased five per cent of my patrons. Lay low on this if you don't want to get stung. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 19.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—Nice little comedy drama. Running time, 73 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE: Ann Harding, Robert Young—An excellent picture. Ann Harding is, in my opinion, the best actress there is and she has very good support from all the cast. This picture is clean but interesting and received a good many favorable comments on the show. Running time, 71 minutees. Played Feb. 7-8.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE: Ann Harding—A modern love story. Ann Harding a surgeon, but practices very little in this picture. She seeks solace elsewhere. Drags a bit in spots. But loveliness of clothes, settings, airplaning in the moonlight will offset slowness of action. Did average business. Running time, 70 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

SCARLET RIVER: Tom Keene—This is a very good western picture that is full of action, fighting and comedy. Roscoe Ates practically stole the show with his famous stuttering and supplied the picture with plenty of comedy. If you want a good western show, by all means play this one. We played this to capacity Saturday business and pleased every one. Let's have more like this one. Running time, 57 minutes. Played Feb. 10.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—A flop both ways. No draw, not much entertainment and they had the nerve to sell me this on a percentage. Played Jan. 23.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

United Artists

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Paul Kelly—If you have not played it, don't fail to step on it when you do. Good for any size town or patronage, perfect entertainment, not a dull moment in it, has everything but strong box-office attraction. It's up to you to get them in, and they will tell the world, when they leave. Should hold up three days anywhere. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Paul Kelly, Russ Columbo—A good entertaining picture. Gave general satisfaction. Played Feb. 4-5.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ROMAN SCANDALS: Eddie Cantor—Samuel Goldwyn has done it again. The big New Year's present from U. A. It's a great show and will please every man, woman and child. The song, "Keep Young and Beautiful," together with the magnificent sets, beautiful girls and excellent recording has never been exceeded in pictures. These Goldwyn girls have Ziegfeld backed off the map, and I mean just that. More beautiful girls have never been put in pictures. The chariot race gives one a thrill they will never forget. I'm sorry to say I never saw the MGM feature "Ben Hur," but if the chariot race in that picture was more thrilling than this new Eddie Cantor film I surely missed something. There was plenty of dough spent in making this picture, and it's worth it. My advice to every exhibitor everywhere is to buy "Roman Scandals" and "give it the works." Go the limit, and the picture will back you up. If part of the picture had been made in color, it would have rivaled "Whoopee" in beauty. For some reason color is not being used, and everybody is asking for it. Some smart producer will make a big all color feature some of these days and watch him make a million. The big draw on Silly Symphonies is the beautiful natural colors, and if put into features it just doubles the value of the picture. Who is going to be the first to make that million dollars out of a big all color musical? Played Feb. 11-12-13.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

YES, MR. BROWN: Jack Buchanan—This one is not so hot. If you play it, double it. I doubled it with Buck Jones in "Sundown Riders" and made it pay. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Jan. 22-23.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

KEYED TO THE SPEED of the INDUSTRY—
RAILWAY EXPRESS

The motion picture industry moves at a rapid pace. Booking dates follow each other closely, and films must frequently be rushed to cities hundreds of miles away. That's where you need a swift, efficient shipping service like Railway Express. Your films travel at passenger train speed when you use this modern method, and are quickly delivered on arrival in all important cities and towns. Coast to coast and intermediate Air Express service also available.

Railway Express has an enviable record for safe handling and sure delivery. Rates for films, projectors, and other equipment are moderate. Get all the facts from your local Railway Expressman, and use Railway Express whenever speed is essential.

The best there is in transportation

RAILWAY EXPRESS
AGENCY, Inc.

SERVING THE NATION FOR 95 YEARS • NATION-WIDE SERVICE

Universal

AIR MAIL: Ralph Bellamy—This one is a little old, but still good. Business was little better than average, although the picture is great. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Jan. 25-26.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

BY CANDLELIGHT: Paul Lukas, Nils Asther, Elissa Landi—Too sophisticated for small towns. Clever acting and clever dialogue, but not enough action for small towns. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Jan. 23.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. Small town patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe, Shirley Grey—The poorest picture that Edmund Lowe ever made. No punch to the mystery. Rest of cast okay, but lack of punch. A flop for me.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—Very good, indeed. Has a novel twist and pleased my congregation and that's sumphin.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore—Did not draw at all and did not please over 50 per cent. Too much talk. Played Feb. 4.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, June Knight—Just a splendid, fast running audience picture that is sure to please nearly all of them, young and old. Step on this one. It will bring good results and pleased patrons.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, June Knight—One of the cleverest pictures this year. Don't be afraid of this. Better than most of the alleged higher pictures. Played Jan. 14-15. Running time, seven reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, June Knight—This picture drags to some extent. The producers are having a yen for one scene picture, "Bombay Mail," "Cross Country Cruise" and "Fugitive Lovers." "Cross Country Cruise" will get by, but it is not a knockout by any means. Some action, some comedy and some romance; that's the gist of it. The Greyhound Bus Co. should have paid for part of the production or else paid the exhibitor to run it. If there ever was a plug for them it is in this picture. The trade mark runs all through the picture on the buses.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Not as good as some of Summerville's others, but pleased a few. Played Jan. 18.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Leila Hyams—Good slapstick comedy drama, locale shifting from Montana to London. Played Feb. 9-10. —P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Leila Hyams—Comedy that will get by. There are plenty of laughs, but there also is some stilted English dialect that goes with the picture that is not so hot. Andy Devine is a drawback with his squeaky voice, but there is one lady, and I think that her name is Beatty, as the titled lady that gets just a little boiled that is a knockout. The lady is clever.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart—Well made, very unusual and the novelty makes it quite entertaining. One nice feature, they left out the horror and gruesome stuff that generally flows in this type of picture. Kids eat it up and grown-ups are glad they took the children. Business above average.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris, Helen Twelvetrees—Very good program picture with a good cast. Morris did some splendid acting in this one. Ending a little too sad to please some. Pleased about 90 per cent. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Jan. 21.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

MYRT AND MARGE: Myrtle Dale, Donna Damerell—Satisfactory performance from these radio stars and fairly good business. Played Jan. 27.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—This is a high-class picture and will take some exploiting. Margaret Sullavan is all they say of her as a dramatic actress. It is she who carries the picture all the way. As with every high-class picture, we find in the small towns that it is necessary to keep constant supervision over the house during the runs to control the unnecessary comments that so often are made; in other words, razzing if they do not like the picture. But as soon as we catch up with them we eject them and we find that it has a salutary effect after some are taken out. I think that every house in the small towns has this to contend with, but we will not allow disturbance of any kind and you soon have the general public with you in this struggle to let them enjoy pictures in a quiet house. The usual blizzard caught up with us on Sunday, as it does on good pictures such as this one.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles—Personally I think this is one of the best pictures of the year. Yet the gross receipts were low. Those who saw it liked it. Running time, 100 minutes. Played Jan. 31-Feb. 1. —Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—They just don't make any better entertainment than this one. It pleased them all and some came back the second night. I say 100 per cent satisfaction. This star is certainly different and people in this town are asking when do we have another picture with her. The whole cast was fine. If you haven't bought it get it and your patrons will okay this. Played Feb. 11-12.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—A honey. The best picture we have run lately. Good for whole family. Step on this. It backs up anything you say about it. Running time, 11 reels.—R. M. Rector, Columbia Theatre, Anadarko, Okla. Small town patronage.

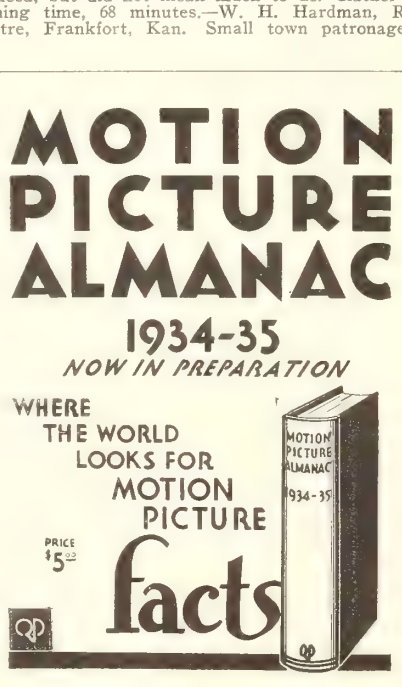
S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque, Gibson Gowland—Do not let any one talk you into using this as a program. It is not a picture worth anybody's time to sit through. It has some marvelous snow shots, but nothing different than we have already had in pictures similar to this one. The thing just tires you out to sit through it. I tried to bolster it up with shorts when showing it here, but I am here to tell you this thing cannot be bolstered up. Leave it alone.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque, Gibson Gowland—Despite the sub-zero weather of week preceding the showing, a better than average audience was on hand, practically all of whom were well satisfied with the picture. Played Feb. 17.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

TRAIL DRIVE, THE: Ken Maynard—The weather, which was severe, may have been to blame for the fact that not so many as usual of the Maynard western fans showed up. Played Feb. 3.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

Warner

COLLEGE COACH: Ann Dvorak, Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell, Lyle Talbot—A mighty good program picture. Football and lots of it. Good story, well acted and gave good satisfaction. Played Feb. 9.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.



COLLEGE COACH: Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell—A dandy football picture. Did not draw. No fault of picture.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

EASY TO LOVE: Adolph Menjou—This picture was a flop for us. It is not the kind for small towns. —W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—This is a very fine picture with Miss Stanwyck at her best. Don't fail to show this one. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 29-30.—Louie Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—A very good picture that pleased most of my patrons. Played Jan. 7.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—Well produced, but did not mean much to us. Rather sad. Running time, 68 minutes.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—Comments seemed to come in that the picture got off to a very slow start, but finished in grand style. Played Feb. 11-12.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell, James Cagney—Wonderful picture. Did extra business.—W. R. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

FROM HEADQUARTERS: George Brent, Margaret Lindsay—A very good program picture. Lots of action and entertaining. Very educational. Pleased them all we got to see it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FROM HEADQUARTERS: George Brent—Another good one that did not draw, but pleased those that were out to see it. Played Jan. 9.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

FROM HEADQUARTERS: George Brent—Good picture with plenty of action.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell—Fast moving comedy that pleased. Running time, 62 minutes.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

HOUSE ON 56TH STREET, THE: Kay Francis, Gene Raymond, Ricardo Cortez—This is a very good picture, interesting and entertaining from beginning to end. It is a melodramatic drama of the late 19th century and should appeal to every one. This one will stand any two days of the week and do better than many of the specials. The Warner trailer sold the picture for us and will do the same for all other exhibitors. Played one day to best business in months. Played Feb. 15.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOUSE ON 56TH STREET, THE: Kay Francis Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond—A good picture with good drawing power. Pleased all the fair sex and some of the men. Played Feb. 1.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

HOUSE ON 56TH STREET, THE: Kay Francis—This picture has class and it pleased.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

KENNEL MURDER CASE: William Powell—A better than average draw. Picture was not outstanding, but pleased the mystery fans. Too many of this type on the market. Played Jan. 14.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

KENNELL MURDER CASE: William Powell—A good mystery story; Powell very good. We can use these from time to time. Played Feb. 9-10.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

TELEGRAPH TRAIL, THE: John Wayne—Stacked them in on a Saturday night. Much better gross than the following Sunday. A very good western with plenty of action and that is what it takes to get them in. Ideal for one day showing on Saturday. Running time, 59 minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BROTHER, COULD YOU SPARE A MILLION? Ken Murray—Another fairly good two-reel comedy from Columbia. Plenty of hokum and wisecracks in this one and brought many laughs from the audience. Practically all of our patrons liked this short. Come on, Columbia; I knew you could make good two-reelers. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

KRAZY SPOOKS: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Good. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MICKEY'S TOUCHDOWN: Mickey McGuire—Pretty good. Running time, 18 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MOVIE STRUCK: Scrappy Cartoons—One of the best Scrappy Cartoons. Running time, eight minutes. —Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

OUT OF THE ETHER: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Best Kat cartoon ever made. In it you see Arthur Tracy, Paul Whiteman, Boswell Sisters, Rudy Vallee, Kate Smith, Eddie Cantor, Rubinoff, all in cartoon effect. Advertise it. Running time, eight minutes.—Perry L. Lessy, Diamond Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa. Neighborhood patronage.

SANDMAN TALES: Scrappy Cartoons—Another good Scrappy Cartoon. Running time, eight minutes. —Louis Yerretta, Crescent Theatre, Mohaningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Educational

GIT ALONG, LITTLE WIFIE: Coronet Comedies—If this is comedy, they left out the laughs. They don't come any worse than this one and I have seen some bad ones in my time.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

LITTLE BOY BLUE: Terry-Toon—It's okay for a filler.—D. E. Fitton, Lvric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MGM

BEDTIME WORRIES: Our Gang—Excellent anywhere, any time. Will go over with old and young alike.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BEDTIME WORRIES: Our Gang—A very funny comedy. Will build up any program.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BONE CRUSHERS: Sport Champions—This is a very interesting one-reeler showing scenes of a wrestler and a wrestling match. Very good entertainment and pleased most of our patrons, especially the men. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BULLONEY: Flip the Frog—This is a good cartoon showing Flip as a bull fighter, and how he fights the bulls. This brought many laughs from our patrons and seemed to please all. Here's hoping the rest are as good as this one. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DIRTY WORK: Laurel and Hardy—Good. Plenty of laughs. The punishment Hardy takes gives the cash customers a good time. Running time, 17 minutes.—Perry L. Lessy, Diamond Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa. Neighborhood patronage.

DIRTY WORK: Laurel and Hardy—One of the funniest two-reel comedies ever made. A regular classic.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HELLO, POP! Colortone Musical Revues—Fair; they can do better, but the color scenes and the musical numbers are good. Running time, 17 minutes.—Perry L. Lessy, Diamond Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa. Neighborhood patronage.

LUNCHEON AT TWELVE: Charley Chase—It's a "pip" of a comedy. Right up to the top of the laugh ladder. It's original, and the supporting cast are just as clever as Charley. When you want a good hearty laugh, book this comedy. While I am writing on short subjects, let me urge my exhibitor friends to report on "What the Picture Did for Me." Every small town exhibitor reads these reports, and you should be willing to help. I only see two or three reports from the entire state of Idaho. If you Idaho exhibitors don't want to say anything about the picture tell them about our wonderful potatoes. Maybe some producer will come out here and make a picture half as good as our Idaho "spuds."—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MAIDS A LA MODE: Pitts-Todd—Another good short from Zasu and Thelma. They always give us a lot of laughs. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

NATURE IN THE WRONG: Charley Chase, Muriel Evans—This is one of the best shorts that Chase has ever made. Plenty of laughs and a very good story for a two-reeler. If all of the others are as good as this one, we want them all. Play this and let your patrons tell you how good it is. Running time, 20 minutes—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NATURE IN THE WRONG: Charley Chase—What I consider Charley's best short. Some fine wild animal shots. Went over big. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PLANE NUTS: Ted Healy and his stooges and pretty girls—Excellent musical revue (not in color).—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TECHNO-CRACKED: Flip the Frog—Here is a very good cartoon comedy of Flip. He makes a mechanical man and creates quite a lot of trouble. This is sure to please every one, especially the kids. We have many laughs on this one and pleased all that saw it. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WILD POSIES: Our Gang—A very funny comedy. Will build up any program.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—One of the best cartoons we have played. It got a lot of laughs.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Duke Ellington—Good music. Some singing and dancing. Running time, one reel.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Duke Ellington—Fair.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

I HEARD: Betty Boop—Pretty good. Running time, seven minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

JUST AN ECHO: Bing Crosby—Another good Crosby number. He seems to be the only crooner that can get by. Well liked by every one. Running time, 20 minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST, THE: Donald Novis, Arthur Tracy, Mills Bros. Vincent Lopez, Roy Atwell—The base of this subject is very good, but they have Atwell as a master of ceremonies that stutters and is on the radio at times that is a plain pain in the neck. He bored the audience to death with his silly line.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (No. 2): Good. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SEASIN'S GREETINKS: Popeye the Sailor—Popeye cartoon. Very good. Running time, one reel.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SEASIN'S GREETINKS: Popeye the Sailor—Not quite as good as previous Popeye cartoons, but still better than many others. Running time, seven minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

SING, BABIES, SING: Baby Rose Marie—A fairly good Screen Song that will get by as a filler. Nothing to shout about. Running time, eight minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

WILD ELEPHINKS: Popeye the Sailor—Popeye a great favorite here. This cartoon is about as good as any he has made. They are short but sweet. Running time, eight minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

RKO

DRUGGIST'S DILEMMA, THE: Clark and McCullough—Not a very good comedy. Just a filler.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

MERCHANT OF MENACE, THE: Edgar Kennedy—Just a fair piece of junk.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

PATHE REVIEW (No. 4): Have not had a good review from RKO for so long that I have given up hope.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

SUITS TO NUTS: Gribbon-Kennedy—Not a laugh in a carload and they call them comedies.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

WALKING BACK HOME: Blonde and Red Head Series—Another socalled comedy. Just a bunch of cheese.—Alvin A. Hables, Reel Joy Theatre, King City, Cal. Small town patronage.

United Artists

LULLABY LAND: Silly Symphonies—Another good cartoon comedy all in beautiful color. This is as good as any of the others of this series and the color practically adds 100 per cent to the entertainment. Go on, Mr. Disney, show the other producers something they should have. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PIED PIPER: Silly Symphonies—Good. All these subjects are excellent. After one has run "Three Little Pigs" and "Lullaby Land" they naturally expect every subject to be equally as good, but they can't make a smash every time. "Pied Piper" is not in the class with the two mentioned, but it still is very good.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

YE OLDEN DAYS: Mickey Mouse—This is only a fair cartoon comedy from United Artists. Not as good as some of this series. Mickey Mouse seems to be losing out in cartoons. There are many more on the market better than these. Give me the Silly Symphonies every time. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

for Owners and Managers

Motion Picture Theatre Accounting

Tells all the facts about your business each week — receipts, film costs, advertising, depreciation, taxes, insurance, etc.

Lasts a full year and you do not need to be a bookkeeper to use it.

A complete, concise aid to profits at the cost of a blank book.

$3.00 QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N. Y.

Universal

BIG BENEFIT, THE: Mentone No. 3—Very clever comedy. Kids give a benefit show, and start each number, and then grownups fade into act. Running time, two reels.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

FIVE AND DIME: Oswald Cartoons.—A very good cartoon with some good music. My patrons liked this one immensely. Running time, eight minutesr.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

IN THE ZOO: Oswald Cartoons—This series has surely improved over last year, and are excellent for the kiddie trade on Saturday. Good enough for any spot. Running time, eight minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

PIE FOR TWO: James Gleason—A good comedy, lots of laughs.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

TOY SHOPPE, THE: Oswald Cartoons—Very good. It has catchy music that goes with the animation of the figures.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BORRAH MINNEVITCH AND HIS HARMONICA RASCALS: Melody Masters—A very novel and amusing short. It's good.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

BUDDY THE GOB: Looney Tunes—Another good Looney Tune. Well done. Running time, eight minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

BUDDY'S BEER GARDEN: Looney Tunes—A very good Looney Tune. Running time, eight minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

EDDIE DUCHIN AND BAND: Melody Masters—A swell number.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

GOBS OF FUN: Charles Judels—Lay off this one and refuse to book it. Another very terrible socalled comedy. The day of this type of comedy has passed. Nobody likes them, not even the kiddies. Running time, 20 minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

KING SALMON: Pepper Pot—Quite interesting. Running time, nine minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

NOT TONIGHT, JOSEPHINE: Frank McHugh—A good musical act all in color. Not as funny as I expected, but it is good entertainment. Running time, 20 minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

NOTHING BUT THE TOOTH: Jack Haley—A very funny two-reel comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PAUL REVERE, JR.: Broadway Brevities—This one with Gus Shy is not so bad. I've played a lot better ones. Running time, 20 minutes.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

PICTURE PALACE: Hal LeRoy, Dawn O'Day—A pretty good musical act with the usual good dancing. Mitzi Mayfair a much better dancer than Miss O'Day, his new partner. Recording not so good. Running time, 20 minutes.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

20,000 CHEERS FOR THE CHAIN GANG: Broadway Brevity—A very interesting two reels of comedy and music.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

YEAST IS YEAST: Broadway Brevities—Just fair.—W. H. Hardman, Royal Theatre, Frankfort, Kan. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones—This serial going over good, fine photography, story and recording.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

PERILS OF PAULINE: Evalyn Knapp, Robert Allen—I have played five chapters of this and my patrons are just eating this up. Best serial Universal has made in a long time.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended February 24, 1934, from 114 houses in 19 key cities of the country, reached $1,163,871, a decrease of $27,740 from the total for the previous calendar week, ended February 17, when 116 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,191,611.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	20,000	"The Poor Rich" (U.).....	17,500	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and..... "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	10,000	"Massacre" (F. N.) and..... "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	8,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	18,500	"Long Lost Father" (Radio).....	17,000	High 12-2 "Little Women".....	28,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"....	12,000
Loew's State.....	3,700	35c-50c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	19,500	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.).....	18,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude".....	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Good Dame" (Para.)	33,500	"Carolina" (Fox)	32,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel".....	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle".....	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and..... "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	10,500	"Massacre" (F. N.) and..... "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	8,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)..	13,600	"Convention City" (F. N.).....	14,700	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady".....	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	4,500	"From Headquarters" (W. B.) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	4,600	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Right to Romance" (Radio) and.. "Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	8,700	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.).....	9,800	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	9,500	"Should Ladies Behave?" (MGM)	8,900	Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
							High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	16,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men".. (Radio) and "Beloved" (U.)	6,500	"King for a Night" (U.) and.... "Fury of the Jungle" (Col.)	5,100	Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"....	5,100
							High 12-20 "Counsellor at Law".....	15,200
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge".....	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Carolina" (Fox)	38,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.).....	36,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.).....	12,500	"Eskimo" (MGM)	15,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole".....	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) ..... (3rd week)	11,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) ..... (2nd week)	16,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox).....	18,000	"Beloved" (U.)	18,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	9,000	"The Last Roundup" (Para.).....	8,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Before Midnight" (Col.).....	15,000	"From Headquarters" (W. B.)....	15,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love".....	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists....	1,700	30c-60c	"Nana" (U. A.) ..... (3rd week)	9,000	"Nana" (U. A.) ..... (2nd week)	16,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding".....	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"I Like It That Way" (U.).....	2,500	"Long Lost Father" (Radio).....	2,700	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)..... (6 days)	3,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.).....	7,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"....	30,000
RKO Palace.....	3,100	30c-75c	"Lost Patrol" (Radio).....	15,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....	20,000	High 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder".....	2,900
							High 12-2 "Little Women"	26,000
State	3,400	30c-44c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	12,500	"Search for Beauty" (Para.).....	8,500	Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
							High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie".....	26,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"You Can't Buy Everything" .... (MGM) and "Murder on the Campus" (Chesterfield)	3,100	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen"..... (Para.) and "Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic)	3,500	Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
							High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake...	800	25c-35c	"King of the Wild Horses" (Col.) and "Fog" (Col.)	2,000	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) and "Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield) (30c-40c)	2,000	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love".....	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"Right to Romance" (Radio).....	3,500	"After Tonight" (Radio).....	3,250	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.).....	6,500	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	5,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks" "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Queen Christina" (MGM).....	7,500	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.).....	7,000	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals".....	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes".....	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....,13,000		"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	19,500	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.).....	2,750	"Women in His Life" (MGM).... (3 days)	1,200	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
					"From Headquarters" (W. B.).... (4 days)	1,800	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"Orient Express" (Fox) and..... "Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	5,400	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and.. "Above the Clouds" (Col.)	4,300	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties".....	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	4,900	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	5,100	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Lost Patrol" (Radio)	17,200	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....	16,500	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing".....	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.).....	16,300	"You Can't Buy Everything" .... (MGM)	15,200	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"The Last Roundup" (Para.).....	3,200	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM).....	5,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)..	24,100
							Low 2-24-34 "The Last Roundup".....	3,200
United Artists...	2,000	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.).....	11,400	"Massacre" (F. N.)	6,500	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"....	4,100

Courtesy United Artists

EDITORIAL STANDARDS: To build—like the wisest of Walt Disney's justly celebrated little porkers—with bricks, the publisher begins with high editorial standards. They form the cornerstone of any genuine publishing structure, and therefore were laid down at the beginning as fundamental to the foundation of Quigley Publications. They are thus basically imposed upon Better Theatres. Rejected must be the sticks and the straw, because with them you can't build Reader-Interest, Reader-Confidence, Reader-Response, without which no journal can well serve those who use it to help build their own business structure.

DIRECT SERVICE: To its great family of responsive readers, Better Theatres is as warmly responsive. In its pages and by mail the theatre man's specific questions concerning the architecture, maintenance and operation of his property, are answered by experts of integrity.

INDUSTRY COVERAGE: This is important to reader and advertiser alike. Better Theatres' circulation (A. B. C. figures, not our own!) means journalistic responsibility to the broad interests of the motion picture. Better Theatres' arrival at practically every American motion picture theatre and its circulation abroad mean a vast market to the manufacturer of theatre goods. Mere claim of such circulation might prove a gold brick! But Better Theatres is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, which supplies the advertiser with facts.

INDUSTRY PRESTIGE: With advertising so important to its structure, a publication can do no less than reach the advertiser's market convincingly. This Better Theatres long has done, does now, will do. High editorial standards and sincere personal service, maintaining recognized leadership, assure conviction. No advertising message can have greater conviction than the publication in which it appears.

Better Theatres

• • •

the national journal devoted to the operation, maintenance, equipment and planning of motion picture theatres.
SPRING BUYERS' NUMBER APRIL 7

A QUIGLEY PUBLICATION, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.10	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	17,900	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week)	22,323	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	3,500	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	3,065	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 2-17-34 "I Like It That Way"	3,065
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	10,000	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.)	11,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	3,500	"Carolina" (Fox) (2nd week)	2,500	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 1-20-34 "Frontier Marshal"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	3,500	"Good Dame" (Para.)	4,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	7,000	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.)	4,500	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 1-27-34 "Son of Kong" and "Easy to Love"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	6,000	"The Last Roundup" (Para.)	5,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,000	"Eskimo" (MGM)	5,000	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-60c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.) (6 days and Sat. late show) (25c-40c)	5,800	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (7 days and Sat. late show)	17,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,900	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	13,500	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Good Dame" (Para.) (8 days and Sat. midnite show)	6,500	"Search for Beauty" (Para.) (6 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Royal	900	25c-35c	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (2nd week)	1,800	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (1st week)	2,800	.....
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Beloved" (U.)	3,200	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	2,500	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Beloved" (U.) (2nd week)	1,800	"Beloved" (U.)	2,100	High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Eskimo" (MGM) (4th week-4 days)	4,100	"Eskimo" (MGM) (3rd week)	5,170	.....
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Coming Out Party" (Fox)	4,870	"Carolina" (Fox)	15,270	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Good Dame" (Para.)	19,115	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	19,785	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Lost Patrol" (Radio)	13,500	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (2nd week)	3,100	High 2-24-34 "Lost Patrol"	13,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	12,000	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.)	7,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	9,000	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	2,000	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	2,000	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Carolina" (Fox)	8,500	"All of Me" (Para.)	8,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	5,000	"A Man's Castle" (Col.)	7,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	5,500	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"By Candlelight" (U.) (4th week)	3,000	"By Candlelight" (U.) (3rd week)	3,000	High 1-27-34 "Waltz Time" (2nd week)	3,500
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	13,500	"Flying Down to Rio" (Radio)	11,000	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
His Majesty's	1,494	15c-40c	"Broadway Through a Keyhole" (U.A.) and "Emperor Jones" (U.A.)	4,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Bitter Sweet" (U. A.)	4,500	High 2-18 "Cavalcade"	13,000
							Low 9-16 "Hearts of the World"	3,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"La Robe Rouge" (French) and "Mam'selle Josette, Ma Femme" (French)	1,800	"Les Bleus du Ciel" (French) and "La Fille du Regiment" (French)	2,000	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	10,000	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	11,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"All of Me" (Para.) and "By Candlelight" (U.)	9,000	"House on 56th Street" (W. B.) and "Disraeli" (W. B.)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 2-10-34 "Sons of the Desert" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Nana" (U.A.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio)	9,500	"Falling for You" (British) and "The Man from Toronto" (British)	6,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (2nd week)	17,600	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (1st week)	18,200	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	60,100	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	36,500	High 2-24-34 "The Cat and the Fiddle"	60,100
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.)	7,200	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) (11 days)	16,500	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"All of Me" (Para.)	10,100	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	10,400	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Bolero" (Para.)	43,000	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	30,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (2nd week)	13,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (1st week)	23,000	High 2-17-34 "Devil Tiger"	23,000
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	24,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week)	33,930	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
New York (Continued)
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (4 days) "Four Frightened People" (Para.) (3 days)	5,500	"I Am Suzanne" (Fox) (4 days) "Girl Without a Room" (Para.) (3 days)	10,700	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom" ... Low 2-24-34 "As Husbands Go" and "Four Frightened People"	71,267 5,500
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Carolina" (Fox)	75,265	"Nana" (U. A.) (2nd week)	71,000	High 11-25 "Little Women" ... Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	109,000 44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio)	19,300	"Madame Spy" (U.)	21,500	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man" ... Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	42,000 9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	19,221	"Hi, Nellie" (W. B.) (2nd week)	14,318	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade" ... Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	55,190 6,850
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	3,600	"As Husbands Go" (Fox)	3,000	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood" ... Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	4,100 1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	5,900	"Eskimo" (MGM)	4,200	High 11-18 "College Coach" ... Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	11,000 1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"By Candlelight" (U.) and "Ever Since Eve" (Fox)	1,900	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	1,700	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933" ... Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	3,900 1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)	6,200	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	2,800	High 2-25 "State Fair" ... Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	8,500 1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-60c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) (3 days) "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Son of Kong" (Radio) (4 days) (25c-35c)	3,500 2,500	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	8,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey" ... Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	10,750 3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "Rainbow Over Broadway" (Chesterfield)	7,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) and "Women in His Life" (MGM)	8,250	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday" .. Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	16,500 5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) (3 days) "Good Dame" (Para.) (4 days)	1,500 3,750	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,000	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933" ... Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	13,250 5,250
World	2,500	25c-40c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) and "His Double Life" (Para.) (25c-35c)	5,750	"Eskimo" (MGM)	4,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding" Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	7,500 4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	7,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week-6 days)	11,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" ... Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	18,000 4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) (5 days)	1,800	"White Woman" (Para.) (5 days)	1,700	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days) ... Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	6,500 1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"All of Me" (Para.) (6 days)	9,500	"Mandalay" (F. N.) (6 days)	10,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women" ... Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	30,000 8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) (6 days)	16,500	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) (6 days)	14,000	High 1-20-34 "Bombay Mail" ... Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	33,000 10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-65c	"I Believed in You" (Fox) (6 days)	15,000	"Ever Since Eve" (Fox) (6 days)	14,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade" ... Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	29,000 13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Madame Spy" (U.) (6 days)	3,000	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) (6 days)	3,200	High 4-8 "42nd Street" ... Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	7,700 2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Sensation Hunters" (Monogram) (5 days)	5,000	"Charming Deceiver" (Majestic) (6 days)	7,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense" ... Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	11,500 4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Eskimo" (MGM) (6 days)	11,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	12,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel" ... Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	32,500 9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (6 days)	7,000	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.) (6 days)	6,500	High 6-3 "The Little Giant" ... Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	10,000 4,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	6,000	"Beloved" (U.) and "Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	7,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny" ... Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	11,000 3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-35c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) (6 days) (25c-40c)	2,500	"Hi, Nellie!" (W.B.)	3,500	High 12-9 "Little Women" ... Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	14,000 1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Son of Kong" (Radio) and "Fatal to Women" (Ind.)	2,000	"Easy to Love" (W.B.) and "The Big Shakedown" (F.N.)	2,500	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance" ... Low 11-18 "College Coach"	14,000 1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"He Couldn't Take It" (Monogram) and "Wild Women of Borneo" (S. R.)	1,800	"Thunder Over Mexico" (Principal) and "Sing, Sinner, Sing" Majestic)	1,900	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day" ... Low 2-24-34 "He Couldn't Take It" and "Wild Women of Borneo"	10,200 1,800
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) and "All of Me" (Para.)	6,000	"Carolina" (Fox) and "His Double Life" (Para.)	6,500	High 11-18 "The Way to Love" ... Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	12,000 3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	5,800	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie" ... Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	8,500 1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Before Midnight" (Col.) and "Sleepless Nights" (S. R.)	10,500	"The Morning After" (Majestic) and "Beggars in Ermine" (Monogram)	10,400	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon" Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	15,500 7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"The Poor Rich" (U.)	12,000	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio)	16,000	High 2-11 "The Mummy" ... Low 10-21 "My Woman"	25,500 8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Madame Spy" (U.)	7,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) and "The Last Roundup" (Para.)	6,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love" ... Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	15,000 5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Massacre" (F. N.)	10,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel" ... Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	40,000 7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	9,500	.....	.....	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad" Low 11-11 "The Mad Game" and "S.O.S. Iceberg"	13,500 4,000
Strand	1,400	25c-50c	"Narcotic" (Ind.) (3rd week)	2,500	"Narcotic" (Ind.) (2nd week)	3,500	High 2-10-34 "Narcotic" ... Low 1-6-34 "Thunder Over Mexico"	6,500 2,200
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (2nd week)	9,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (1st week)	12,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" ... Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	17,000 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	17,000	"Carolina" (Fox)	21,500	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady" ... Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	26,000 10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (2nd week)	5,000	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (1st week)	7,500	High 12-9 "Little Women" ... Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	8,500 2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	7,500	"Eskimo" (MGM)	7,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie" ... Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	19,250 5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Carnival Lady" (Hollywood) and "Frontier Marshal" (Fox)	3,500	"Fury of the Jungle" (Col.) and "Straightaway" (Col.)	3,500	High 7-19 "What Price Innocence?" .. Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	5,500 3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	3,750	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade" ... Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	8,000 3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Mandalay" (F. N.) and "Easy to Love" (W. B.) (25c-35c)	4,500	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	6,000	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days) Low 2-24-34 "Mandalay" and "Easy to Love"	9,000 4,500
Paramount	3,050	20c-30c	"All of Me" (Para.)	5,500	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	6,250	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms" ... Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	9,500 4,000

TRAVELERS . . .

JULES LEVY, RKO's general sales manager, planned to leave New York for a trip to Hollywood the end of this week.

GREGORY RATOFF, Columbia featured player, arrived in New York for a brief personal appearance tour, prior to his departure for England, where he will appear in a Gaumont-British picture.

GRADWELL SEARS, Warner sales executive, is on a business trip through the South.

NATE BLUMBERG returned to New York from a brief jaunt to Bermuda.

WATTERSON R. ROTHACKER left for Florida.

HARRY H. THOMAS, president of First Division, returned to New York from a three-week Florida vacation.

HAL LE ROY started on a personal appearance tour from New York after the premiere of Warner's "Wonder Bar."

CLARK GABLE arrived in New York for a personal appearance tour at the Capitol.

M. S. TROP, president of Gem Pictures and Goofytone Newsreel, with G. S. GULLETTE and E. S. SHANBERGER returned to New York after a trip through the South.

AL FRIEDLANDER left New York for a tour of all First Division exchanges.

E. A. SCHILLER of Loew's is in Florida recuperating from an illness.

RUBY KEELER arrived in New York from Hollywood.

EDGAR SELWYN left New York for Culver City.

ABE MONTAGUE, Columbia sales executive, returned to New York from a Florida trip.

ABNER RUBIEN, IATSE counsel, returned to New York from Cuba.

WALTER HUSTON made his first stage appearance in New York in several years in "Dodsworth," which opened last week.

GENE RAYMOND returned to New York from Palm Beach.

JAMES WHALE arrived in New York from England and left immediately for the Coast.

ELIZABETH ALLAN left Hollywood for New York on Monday.

VIRGINIA CHERRILL and her husband, CARY GRANT, arrived in Hollywood.

SPYROS SKOURAS arrived in New York from Los Angeles.

FELIX F. FEIST, MGM sales director, returned to New York from a trip to Hollywood.

RUSSELL HOLMAN, Paramount eastern production executive, left New York for the Coast.

ZASU PITTS, on location for Radio Pictures, married JOHN E. WOODALL, Los Angeles broker.

AURIOL LEE, British stage director, and MAE MURRAY returned to New York from England.

DELBERT GOODMAN, manager for Fox in the Orient, is in Hollywood.

ROBERT F. GILLHAM, director of advertising and publicity for Paramount, returned to New York from Nassau and Florida.

B. B. KAHANE, president of Radio Studios, returns to Hollywood from New York the end of this week.

SOL A. ROSENBLATT returned to Washington after a Code Authority meeting in New York.

FRANK L. CLEMENTE, president of Latin-America Pictures, Inc., arrived in New York from Hollywood.

ComiColors on Dollar Boats

Allied Exchange of San Francisco has concluded a deal whereby the P. A. Powers ComiColor cartoons will be shown in each of the 15 ships of the Dollar Steamship Company.

Celebrity Pictures, producer of "The Little Red Hen" and other of the Comi-Color cartoons, has arranged for independent distribution of the series through various exchanges over the country, while Principal is distributing in New York state and northern New Jersey.

Van Beuren To Produce At New Biograph Studio

Van Beuren musical comedies, released by RKO Radio, which up to the present time have been produced at the New York studios of Fox Movietone, will henceforth be made at the recently reopened Biograph studios in the Bronx.

According to Meyer Davis, associate producer of the shorts, the necessity for more space brought about the move. Production on the first comedy, "No More West," will begin within two weeks. Bert Lahr, stage, screen and radio comedian, is featured.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of February 24

ASTOR
- Life of Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky ..... FitzPatrick

MAYFAIR
- Washington ..... Beverly Hills
- Vaudeville on Parade..... Universal
- Pie for Two..... Universal

PARAMOUNT
- The New Dealers..... Paramount
- Screen Souvenir No. 8..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
- The China Shop..... United Artists

RIALTO
- Paramount Pictorial No. 7.. Paramount
- Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing ..... Paramount
- Screen Souvenir No. 8..... Paramount

RIVOLI
- Cracked Iceman ..... MGM
- Gem of the Sea..... Fox

ROXY
- The Toy Shoppe..... Universal
- World's Greatest Thrills... Universal
- Jungle Bound ..... First Division

STRAND
- Come to Dinner..... Vitaphone
- Phil Spitalny and Orchestra. Vitaphone
- Mushrooms ..... Vitaphone

Christie To Make Five Comedies for Educational

Al Christie, short subject producer, will do a series of five new Educational comedies, at intervals of two weeks, starting early next month. Production will be at the Eastern Service Sound Studios, Astoria, Long Island. The first will be a musical comedy featuring the Ritz Brothers, followed by one with Bob Hope, another with Tom Howard, one starring Lillian Roth, and a special featuring Ernest Truex, stage star.

Edwin Ludwig with Audio

Edwin Ludwig, formerly with the late David Belasco, has been named musical director of Audio Productions, Inc. The company has moved its production headquarters in New York from the Bronx studios to the Fox studios at 56th street and Tenth avenue. John Foster and Alex Ganzell have been added to the staff.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Members of Allied Theatres of Illinois from the city and state met at the Covenant Club last Friday for their fifth annual convention and election of officers. As far as the election is concerned it was a great love feast with all officers being reelected by acclamation. The complete directorate ticket was also reelected—the only change being the addition of Van Nomokis to the board of directors to take the place of Steve Bennis as a result of the formation of the down state Allied unit recently.

▽

Aaron Saperstein, guiding spirit of the organization since its formation, took the opportunity to put squarely up to the membership their reaction to the return of double features. Without a dissenting vote those present ruled out dual bills as an Allied policy.

▽

D. H. Finke of Midwest Ticket Register Company has acquired for the west and middle west states the new Model N. American Silent Ticket Register manufactured by the National Ticket Register Company of New York.

▽

Phil Dunas of Columbia is enjoying a vacation in Florida.

▽

Sam Horowitz, who was married in New York last week to Sadie Feuerstein, secretary to Al Lichtman, has returned to Chicago. The United Artists branch manager and his bride will make their home here.

▽

Jack Thoma, central publicity director for Columbia, is bursting buttons on his vest telling of the great premiere which Minneapolis and St. Paul accorded "It Happened One Night" at the Orpheum theatre.

▽

Lester Simansky has acquired a half interest with Lou Kuttnauer in the Midwest Theatre Supply Company on the third floor at 910 S. Michigan Avenue. Business is booming, they say.

▽

Fred Sliter, formerly with Metro, has joined the Fox sales staff.

▽

Film row and theatre goers got a thrill last week when the Moulin Rouge caravan of handsomely silver plated automobiles arrived in town for the opening of the picture at the United Artists theatre. In the party were Roscoe Ates, John Hundley, Mary Carlisle, Antonio Moreno, Anna Q. Nilsson, Dorothy Dunbar, Ben Turpin, Jack Mulhall and Nancy Welford. The group, headed by G. P. Sully, Al Selig and Myer Beck, made a personal appearance at the 10 o'clock show at the United Artists theatre.

▽

The Rex Theatre at Oshkosh, Wis., has been leased by the Gregory circuit and will be operated by it, the lease having been negotiated by Albert Goldman.

HOLQUIST

Disney Contract Discussed

Al Lichtman, before leaving the Coast for New York last weekend, opened negotiations with Walt Disney for a three-year extension of the Disney distribution contract with United Artists, which has one more year to run.

To Handle Nazi Film

Bavarian Films, new company with offices at 489 Fifth avenue, will handle "S. A. Mann Brand," first of the Nazi importations, in this country.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

"SHOT IN THE ARM"

Definitely committed to strong exploitation is Merlin H. Aylesworth, RKO chief, who is quoted in the Motion Picture Daily as saying that "big exploitation is the answer to the question why mediocre productions develop into outstanding attractions at the box office."

Mr. Aylesworth gives utterance to a truth upon which many, but not too many showmen have long capitalized, but there is still too great a percentage of exhibitors endeavoring to make their profits on the buying of product and not on the selling of it at the box office.

Pictures being what they are, a sizeable number will always be turned out that require plenty of assistance in the form of skilful exploitation. In too few instances, unfortunately, is this skill apparent, and in still fewer instances are able showmen turned loose to save the pieces.

The motion picture industry must learn that infrequent "shot-in-the-arm" exploitation is an ineffectual cure for sick pictures. Life-giving grosses can be obtained only by the continuous application of exploitation from the brains and imaginations of those skilled in its uses.

▽ ▽ ▽

THEATRE MANNERS

In the main, today's audiences at motion picture theatres are well behaved and considerate of others. Flagrant breaches of courtesy are reported infrequently and cases requiring managerial intervention are happily few.

Of interest then is a letter published in a recent issue of the New York World-Telegram, in which a disgruntled patron voices disapproval of the manner in which a justifiable complaint was received. We quote from the letter:

"In a picture theatre a woman sat in front of me who wore a hat with a white chrysanthemum. This white flower threw a glare into my eyes and distracted me from seeing the movie, and as the theatre was crowded there was no other seat into which I could move. I asked the lady if she would remove her hat. She refused. I went to the manager of the theatre and told him I could not see the movie on account of the hat. He told me he could do nothing about it. He could only ask a gentleman to remove his hat and not a lady. The result was I stopped going to the movies for a long time.

"Formerly the theatres used to have a sign flashed on the screen before the performance, 'Ladies, Please Remove Your Hats.' I hope that theatre owners will do this again."

A public outburst of this nature is unnecessary, and indicates that the manager in this case was not doing his job properly. In these days of shrinking grosses, every extra effort must be made to satisfy patrons whose wishes are not out of line.

Anything that interferes with the comfortable enjoyment of the program should immediately be corrected if the box office is not to suffer.

▽ ▽ ▽

SHOWMEN PUBLISHERS

We question the stand-offish attitude taken by too many newspapers toward motion picture publicity. There are, unfortunately, more than a few publishers who extend little cooperation to managers striving to put over advertising ideas that might stimulate business in general as well as the box office.

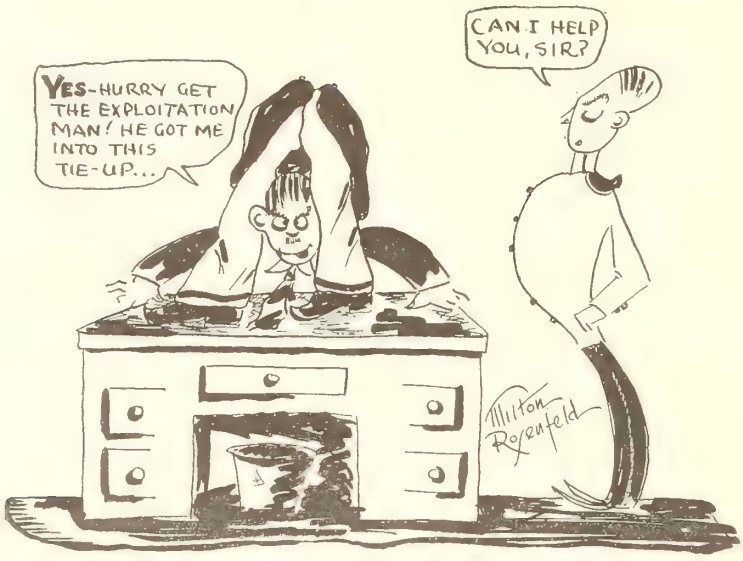
Happily, showmen in spots so afflicted refuse to take it on the chin and among these we cite the case of Manager Tom Simmons, Dunlap Theatre, Clarksville, Arkansas. Turned down by his local paper on a special section as part of a big campaign, Tom stepped right out and published his own four-page tabloid size sheet, rounding up enough outside advertising to cover all printing and distribution costs.

The response from readers was very encouraging, and, more important, brought such gratifying comment from the advertisers that further issues are contemplated.

Managers in similar situations should consider the adoption of this effective means to obtain the required publicity they are not now receiving. Such publications usually produce the desired results, for in most cases only a few issues are necessary to make "conservative" publishers see the light.

▽ ▽ ▽

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT"



From Tom Soriero, Fox West Coast Arizona division chief, comes a report, in these days worthy of the attention of Mr. Ripley.

Tom sends along newspaper clippings which tell of the arrest of Manager Bill Osborne on the charge of—believe it or not—overcrowding at the Phoenix Theatre, in Phoenix.

Our congratulations, gentlemen. It's nice to know there is prosperity in Arizona sufficient to call forth the majesty of the law. We know quite a number of other Round Tablers who would willingly serve time for the same offense.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Here's one tieup the manager can't get himself out of!

Crabill's Zone Scores On "Dinner at Eight"

Wally Allen, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the charter members of the Club, wasted little time in getting under way in his new assignment as Warner City Manager, Elmira, N. Y., in Ralph Crabill's zone, putting over an ace campaign on "Dinner at Eight" that did plenty at the box office of the Keeney, as a result.

Complete coverage was secured with a number of effective angles, not the least of which was a full-page co-op ad, in which the title was tied into the copy on eight different ads. Out of the ordinary was an additional news story run by the paper which mentioned the names of all the merchants taking space on the page.

Ushers dressed as chefs paraded the streets with signs reading "We're cooking up Dinner at Eight," etc., and a tieup was made whereby car cards were carried by each bus, advising the use of the buses to see the picture. These cards were also placed at all stations within a 50-mile radius.

The A. & P. and Coca Cola tieups were also effected whereby all dealers plugged the attraction and the stars in these hookups. Thousands of imprinted napkins and paper bags were distributed in restaurants and candy stores. Among the radio plugs used was one in which the biographies of some of the stars were broadcast, and the picture was also advertised during the regular theatre organ "hours."

Winter Garden Theatre
Jamestown, N. Y.

Manager F. M. Westfall, of Crabill's division, also did a handsome job on selling "Dinner at Eight," his newspaper campaign including ads in the Scandia and Italian papers of his district, plugging the picture attractively. Outdoor displays included tack cards on poles at street intersections and corners, and although this was objected to by the police department, the cards were left on display long enough to serve their purpose.

A number of prominent windows were secured in the towntown area, one of the more important being the entire center window of one of the leading department stores which included a six-sheet cutout of the heads of the complete cast and a life size figure of Jean Harlow. Large cutout title letters plus stills and theatre credits were also included.

The A. & P. tieup was also made with each of the stores in the district inserting a herald in every package leaving the store on the Saturday before the opening. Tie-in window cards were also used and these were also displayed on the coffee counter in each store.

The Ford motor dealer ran special 30-inch ads, the copy stressing the performance of Marie Dressler as compared to that of the new Ford model, a cut of Dressler being used in the ads which ran on two successive days. Counter cards were also planted in other stores and imprinted napkins distributed in the leading restaurants.

Personal letters were sent to all local physicians advising them to leave their seat numbers with the ushers while seeing the picture, and this service resulted in the attendance of over 50 doctors who took advantage of the offer.

Crabill's boys are doing a nice job in that Warner zone and these ideas are just a few in their line-up.

Work for a Quigley Award!

OUTSTANDING. H. M. Addison's Loew Theatre Cleveland ad crew report this out of the ordinary plug planted on lawn of prominent church. It's aces and will take a lot of topping from other Round Tablers

Collins Puts Over Good Will Builder

Realizing there are many residents in the smaller towns and rural districts who have never seen a talking picture, Manager L. V. Collins, Lindina Theatre, Edina, Mo., in cooperation with his local paper sponsored a free "talkie" show for adults and children in this classification.

The newspaper, a weekly, began publicizing this a month ahead with front page stories, each of which in addition carried copy on the current shows. Collins also advertised this on his screen and with the further cooperation of the county school superintendent, many pupils from the county schools were able to attend.

Edina has a population of 1,400, and the theatre a capacity of 311, but as a result of the strong campaign, the show played to capacity. As the attendance was restricted as above noted, this meant that additional hundreds of potential patrons were made by Collins' good will gesture, and he reports that quite a few of his guests at the show are now buying tickets.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Cohen Hits Hard from Various Angles

The "Fugitive Lovers" newspaper contest put over by Oscar Doob's staff on the New York engagement was adapted successfully by Manager Ben Cohen, College, New Haven, Conn., who tied the stunt in on a co-op page in which 12 merchants participated.

At the head of the page was a two-column box showing the backs of the two "Fugitive Lovers" and copy explaining that during the day they would be seen in the various stores advertised. Tickets were given to those who stopped them and said, "You are the Fugitive Lovers coming to the College Theatre on Thursday." To further aid the search, a detailed description of the "Lovers" was also printed.

Students Help "Mr. Skitch"

Cohen also put over a nice campaign on "Mr. Skitch," in which he featured an old car contest, with a parade of these vehicles on the opening day, the papers running pictures of the winners. Tying in with this, auto dealers took display space to advertise the durability of their cars, many of the entries being models of many years ago.

Working with some of the students at Yale, Ben organized a Rogers for Governor of California Club with undergraduates from that state holding a meeting on the stage of the theatre to advance the idea, which of course broke in all the papers.

This Round Tabler takes full advantage of the possibilities in tying in the college students in his city to many of his stunts, and members situated in college towns might be able to garner a few tips from his activities

Full Page "Suzanne" Ads

Al Boyd thought so much of the box office possibilities of "I Am Suzanne" that he took full-page ads to plug the date at his theatres in Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton, Pa. The copy announced the engagement as the first big hit of the year and praised the Fox studio for producing the picture.

Round Tablers Win Fox Contest Prizes

Six Round Tablers are included in the nine winners of the $600 in cash prizes offered by Fox in the advertising and exploitation contest on the coming "Fox Follies," "George White's Scandals" and "Bottoms Up," as announced by Charles E. McCarthy, head of advertising and publicity.

Barney Dobrans, Community, North Attleboro, Mass., receives $100 for the best complete campaign on "Fox Follies"; Jack L. Hobby, Inwood, Forest Hills, N. Y., wins $100 for the best complete campaign on "Bottoms Up," and Richard L. Moss, United Artists, Long Beach, Cal., $50 for the best newspaper advertising campaign on "George White's Scandals."

Arthur Swanke Saenger, Hope, Ark., $50 for the best newspaper advertising campaign on "Fox Follies"; T. Y. Walker, State, Granville, N. C., $50 for the best newspaper advertising campaign on "Bottoms Up," and Sonny Shepherd Mayfair, Miami, Fla., $50 for the best outdoor and exploitation campaign on "Fox Follies."

Other managers in on the money were Tom Schmidt, Plaza, Blackwell, Okla., $100 for the best complete campaign on "George White's Scandals"; C. H. Richelieu, Clearfield, Pa., $50 for the best outdoor and exploitation campaign on "Bottoms Up," and Louis Goodman, East Side, Detroit, Mich., $50 for the best outdoor and exploitation campaign on "George White's Scandals."

The contest opened early in January and closed February 17, and according to McCarthy, it was highly successful.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Goldstein Plants Mirror Series on "Unknown Blonde"

With the cooperation of the New York Mirror, E. H. Goldstein, executive vice-president Majestic Pictures, has inaugurated an advance campaign on "Unknown Blonde," which will have its New York premiere shortly. Titled, "I Was the Unknown Blonde in One Hundred Divorce Cases," the Mirror is already running a series of articles having to do with the actual experiences of the professional co-respondent who acted as special advisor while the picture was in production and also aided in preparing the articles.

These stories which have been used as the background of the theme of the picture purport to be the real lowdown on many cases of divorce collusion. During production, the Majestic publicity department planted an ad in the Los Angeles papers for a professional co-respondent who could act as technical advisor and the resultant publicity is reported to have sold the Mirror on the possibilities of the series.

Work for a Quigley Award!

McManus' Radio Contest

Tying in with his recent radio article is one of McManus' recent broadcasts on "Roman Scandals," in which, in addition to an extensive plug on the picture, tickets were offered to listeners-in sending in a picture of Cantor which appeared in newspaper ads together with the correct names of all the songs he sings in the picture, the prizes given to the five neatest and most original entries.

This is another instance of the work McManus is doing on the radio to sell Loew's Midland, Kansas City.

THIRD MONTH OF QUIGLEY AWARDS

March Competition Ushered In As February Campaigns Are Received By Committee; Deadline for Month is March 7

by A-MIKE VOGEL

The bell for the third lap has sounded, and managers are now preparing for their entries for the March Quigley Award. The grand finale of the January competition, described in last week's issue, has heightened the enthusiasm of showmen everywhere, and February campaigns are pouring into Committee Headquarters.

The deadline for the February entries is March 7. Competitors for the second month Award who have not as yet forwarded their campaigns are advised to keep this date in mind and to get those entries into the mail by Wednesday at the latest. Remember that evidence on all exploitation used, such as photos, heralds, tear sheets, etc., MUST accompany every entry. Please do not forget this important contest requirement.

ENTRIES FROM ALL THEATRES RECEIVE EQUAL CONSIDERATION FROM JUDGES

The January Award proves conclusively what has been maintained since the inception of the Quigley project, that the small town campaign has received, and will continue to receive, the very same consideration as those from the bigger spots. Final decisions will be influenced by how much was obtained for what was spent, thus giving the restricted advertising budget the same break as the unlimited bankroll. As has been stated before, "it's not how much, but how good."

This means that each individual effort will be judged purely on its merits, and the best one wins, from big town or small.

JANUARY AWARD WINNER IS HONORED BY SECRETARY EARLY IN WASHINGTON

In the issue of Dec. 16, 1933, your Chairman made the following statement:

"Winners of the prizes may well point with pride to their accomplishment, undoubtedly a most distinct mark of honor."

The presentation of the January Award has already borne this out. As the guest of the Motion Picture Herald, Kenneth Grimes was brought to Washington to receive his plaque from Roosevelt Secretary Stephen Early, who, before representatives of every branch of the industry, complimented the winner upon his showmanship, and also praised highly the Quigley project to encourage theatre exploitation.

Grimes also won the congratulations of his chief, Harry Kalmine; Mort Blumenstock, Warner Theatres ad head, and other executives of this organization, and the fact that he was so singled out, augurs well for the future of this showman, and, by the same token, the futures of the theatremen winning the Awards during the rest of the year.

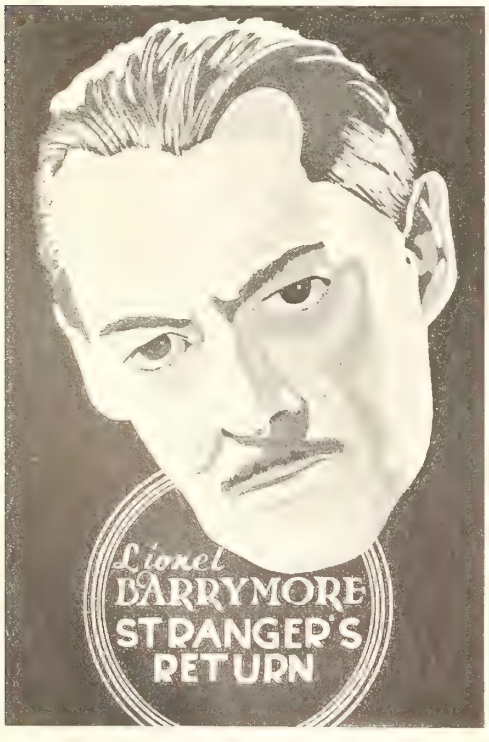
Every manager everywhere in the world is invited to try for the Quigley Awards, given one a month for the theatre exploitation campaign of that month possessing the highest merit, on any product, domestic or foreign.

Get in on it now. It's worthwhile winning.

OF WHAT VALUE IS LAYOUT?

Second of Series on Poster Art in Which This Round Tabler Discusses an Important Factor

by DONALD ANDORFER
Strand, Whitewater, Wis.



The most important factor in poster design is the layout, and in much of present-day art it seems to be disregarded. In my previous articles I have written of the use of color and lettering as contributing to a successful poster, but in this treatise I want to discuss the most important subject—the layout.

It is true that good color harmony and lettering design are necessary, but the best of advertising is wasted if the composition is unbalanced and out of sympathy. Without balanced layout we cannot expect to get undivided attention for our advertising.

In my travels, I have seen many examples of good and bad layout both in posters and newspaper advertising, and though it has been mentioned over and again in articles on poster art, I want to discuss the art of composition again. I do not believe it can be emphasized too strongly.

In our poster, we have exactly two elements to be balanced—art and copy. These should be so placed as to be pleasing and harmonious, one should be balanced against the other. There is nothing more distressing than to see a poster with the art, copy, and probably some stills, scattered all over the face of the poster with each element literally fighting for position. One likes to see a poster wherein only one element is emphasized and the remaining element pleasingly balanced or "tied in." It is rather difficult to give an example in just so many words and I don't want to take up too much space in the HERALD and inasmuch as one picture is the equal—well, compare illustration below left to illustration, right.

All the designs on the poster should lead the eye from one element to another in an uninterrupted imaginary line. Ofter this is accomplished by connecting two elements with a real line drawn, thus making the entire design a unity. This is advisable in posters of odd sizes which often present a serious obstacle to good layout. The most pleasing and easiest shape to compose is one with proportions of 1 to 1.68. This is the ideal in proportions and makes balanced composition an easy task.

"Emphasizing One Element"

"The Main Element"

The main element, which is usually a star's head, should be placed above and to the left of the exact center of the poster, this location is known as the optical center by the fact that it is the spot the human eye naturally seeks when it sees a panel. In perfect balance to the head the copy should be placed below and to the right of the exact center, the distance depending on the relative size of the lettering mass to the illustration. It is not wise to have both elements the same size, as this presents what might be called a "static" layout and is not as attractive as when both elements are of unequal size and shape. Personally, I like to "tie up" the art and copy by overlapping the illustration on the panel carrying the copy as in the poster reproduced below. Panels are usually a "life saver" when planning a layout. Incidentally, the poster below is balanced on an imaginary vertical line. A layout of this type is known as a vertical composition and differs from the other type in that elements are balanced one above the other instead of on each side of the vertical. This is the method most in use at this time by present day theatre artists.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Warner Issues Advance Broadside on "Wonder Bar"

To give managers sufficient ammunition to advertise "Wonder Bar" in advance, S. Charles Einfeld, Warner Bros.' ad chief, has just issued a four-page broadside in color containing a synopsis of the story, reproductions of stars and production stills available from the home office, underline ads for a three weeks' advance plug, and trailer copy, as well as special press stories. A complete radio sketch, blowups of ads and an illustrated fictionization of the story are also made available.

A number of radio tieups have already been effected over a number of stations on the Rye Crispies program which will continue up to and after the opening. Other broadcasting has been arranged whereby stations in all parts of the country are set to "etherize" the song hits of the picture.

Scattered Art Work

Swanke's Teaser Campaign Keeps Town Buzzing

Manager Arthur Swanke, Saenger, Hope, Ark., went about it thoroughly to find "The Meanest Gal in Town" when he played the picture of that name with a number of snappy gags which included a very effective newspaper teaser campaign. This started six days in advance with small two inch box ads scattered throughout the paper in which five dollars were offered for the name of the meanest gal in town, the ad signed by "James Gleason," and the post office box given was of course that of the theatre.

This opening shot was followed with a number of other teasers, all of which kept the town excited and in the dark, as Arthur took great care to make sure that there would be no leak from the theatre or newspaper. When he broke his theatre ads, the newspaper ran a good story about the campaign and further plugged the picture. Incidentally, Swanke states that he received over fifty replies including the names of seven local girls.

The two largest beauty shops were promoted to put out heralds tying into Arthur's teaser campaign and a resturant did likewise, all at the cost of a few passes. Downtown sidewalk corners were lettered three nights before the opening, old tire covers were repainted, the copy for these gags asking who was the meanest gal.

All in all, a very clever teaser campaign in which every angle was pointed to arouse a lot of ace box office publicity.

Work for a Quigley Award!

New "Christina" Furniture

A new trend in interior decoration is being inaugurated by Lord & Taylor, the New York department store, that might be of aid to managers playing "Queen Christina." Plans are now being made to adapt the Swedish inn bedroom furniture shown in the picture for modern usage. It is suggested that inquiries be made locally, for if these new furniture styles are available, they can be tied into advance campaigns.

Feinstein Puts On Ace First Run Campaign

His house a "last run" in the Boston territory, Manager Samuel Feinstein, Franklin Park, Dorchester, Mass., did not have much opportunity to spread his exploitation wings and therefore did a very nice job on a recent first run of the Jewish talking picture "The Wandering Jew," which brought in very sizeable grosses.

Contacting the leading Jewish newspaper people in New England, Sam put on a special preview which brought excellent editorial and first page publicity in the three language papers distributed in his section. This led to a second showing, to which were invited 100 members of the American Jewish Congress, leading rabbis and Hebrew school principals, this combination insuring plenty of word-of-mouth publicity in various quarters.

Hundreds of one sheets, window cards and special heralds were distributed to all prominent shops in the district and at the regular Sunday meeting of the Dorchester Open Forum. Book stores specializing in Jewish literature also distributed heralds and a special trailer in Jewish was also shown.

Feinstein also rubber stamped grocery bags with a message in both languages, plugged the date further with a P. A. system over his box office, had announcements made on the leading Jewish radio hour and also had two girls on the phone calling many private homes in the district.

This member reports that as a result of all this activity, the picture did a gratifying business, and he is to be commended for his first run efforts at his subsequent run house.

Yours—for Better Box Office Receipts

★ STAGE EQUIPMENT WITH A REPUTATION ★

A Step Behind— or a Step AHEAD?

Better theatre business is no longer in the future—it is here! What are YOU doing to encourage better attendance at YOUR theatre? Good pictures, of course. But beyond this?

Peter Clark, Inc., offers a free consulting service to all managers and owners who are interested in modernizing present equipment. Our 29 year experience as specialists in the theatre field is at your command. It will pay you to get our ideas.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

PETER CLARK, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1905
542 WEST 30th ST., NEW YORK

BUILDING GOOD-WILL!

The majority of Parent-Teachers Associations must operate practically without funds due to the fact that no provision is made for such purposes by local authorities. Which gives wide-awake managers a golden opportunity of getting these powerful organizations behind the theatre.

Meet your local association and offer to run a special Saturday morning show, giving them the full receipts, less your bare operating expenses. The best method is to let them sell the tickets for such shows.

This kind of cooperation nets the P-T Association some much needed funds and nets your theatre the good-will and aid of the organization in sponsoring particular pictures, etc. In working with them one hundred per cent you can also arrange previews to endorse some coming attraction which you want to plug in particular, besides opening up many other avenues for tying them into your various activities.

Many members have cited from time to time how valuuable this angle is to the theatre, and showmen who have never tried it or have failed to even give it any thought will soon learn that they have been passing up a great medium for spreading worthwhile propaganda for the theatre.

"Eskimo" Highlights From North and South

Showmanlike slants showing various angles of advertising and exploitation in "Eskimo" are being forwarded daily by members from the field and the following touch upon some of the many things done in different situations:

Palace, South Norwalk, Conn.

Manager Kugell used the unique stage presentation of a dated 24 sheet for a week in advance, this poster being shown before and after the show and during intermission, lighted only by a spotlight with the rest of the stage blacked out. Walls of the inner lobby were entirely covered by other posters of the regular paper with the box office decorated in keeping with the picture.

Loew's Grand, Atlanta, Ga.

Manager E. J. Melnicker, of Lionel Keene's division, hooked up a lot of attractive stuff that culminated in a brilliant opening night attended by many of the local prominents, with broadcast tiein, wherein the celebs spoke over a lobby mike (see photo).

A feature was the personal appearance of Captain Phifer with his now famous penguins, who also appeared at school assemblies and spoke over the air. Promotions were effected with local railroads, for special round trip rates, put into effect from nearby points during the week of the date, stations and trains carrying window cards to this effect.

A further plug was given the campaign by the arrival of the MGM traveling studio during the engagement, this being used as a street bally to advertise the picture.

State and Paradise, New York Valencia, Long Island City

These Loew Theatres in the metropolitan area made prominent use of the dog sled idea, in which local personalities were invited to guide the dog teams up and down the main streets. The bally was put on at the opening of the new Flushing, L. I., post office, where Postmaster General Farley in attendance was invited to ride in the sled.

Further arrangements were made by Oscar Doob's ad crew to use the sleds for delivery of newspapers on various routes, and another idea that brought attention was a race between a newsboy and the sled dogs to deliver 200 newspapers in the quickest time.

Parkway, Wilmington, Del.

Promoting the public libraries for the first time on a stunt of this kind, Manager George A. Jones was allowed to place 25 stills of the picture as exhibits in the various branches. A street bally that proved a traffic stopper was a bannered trolley car decorated with colorful colored signs (see photo) and special lighting that showed up brilliantly at night.

(Above) Atlanta's "Hollywood Premier" and (below) Bannered Car Bally, Wilmington

Click Air Announcement

W. K. Saxton, Loew's city manager, Baltimore, Md., put on a radio plug for "Roman Scandals" by promoting a tag announcement after the regular Eddie Cantor Sunday night broadcast that plugged the picture and included mention of theatre and date. This was done in advance and during the run.

The idea is being utilized in many spots where managers have occasion to tie in radio appearances of stars.

INCOME TAX WOE?

You can get all your tax data from one page in one minute if you have this simple system. All you have to know is how to add. Save yourself $100 worth of trouble and maybe a lawyer's bill by getting this set of 3 simple books. Money back if not satisfied. $10. Order now.

EASY METHOD LEDGER SYSTEM
Seymour, Indiana

ADDITIONAL BOX-OFFICE 'BESTS'

SID LAWRENCE
Avon, Watertown, N. Y.

Laundry Tieup

Cooperation was effected with local laundry wherein all trucks carried banners reading, "There are no Blue Mondays at the Avon," and this copy was also included in a four-page herald placed in each laundry package the back page carrying space for names and addresses of patrons who desired to have laundry trucks pick up bundles at their homes.

These filled-in heralds were left at the box office, and in return for this and a short trailer, the laundry printed and distributed over 50,000 of the heralds, which, of course, included copy on each change of program.

J. C. McKENNA
Paramount, Greenwood, Miss.

Hollywood Revue

Local girls were selected who most closely resembled the stars, each giving her conception of the star she impersonated in one of the pictures; for example, Joan Crawford, as Sadie Thompson in "Rain"; Clara Bow in "Call Her Savage," etc., etc. McKenna states that this went over so well that not only were receipts increased over 300 per cent, but the show had to be repeated.

JOHN McMANUS
Midland, Kansas City, Mo.

"Three Pigs" Bally

The stunt involved a Kansas City midget who had the trained pigs and fitted them with harnesses carrying small theatre banners. The midget himself was an added attraction, doing head and hand stands, and running the porkers through a routine of various stunts.

STAN MEYER
Alhambra, Milwaukee, Wis.

Christmas Week Program

"Counsellor at Law" and the "Merry Old Soul" cartoon were arranged for the holiday week showing and broke records with the following campaign highlights. A four page class mailing piece was sent to every lawyer in the city, the face of which carried this copy: "Will you defend your own case?" the inside pages devoted to a discussion of the picture in a letter signed by John Barrymore, in addition to some fine art of star and title.

The "Merry Old Soul" campaign was publicized on page 52, issue of Dec. 30, and the campaigns according to Meyer established a new high for publicity.

RICHARD L. MOSS
United Artists, Long Beach, Cal.

Radio Broadcasts

Dick spent 1933 at the RKO Hillstreet, Los Angeles, and reports that during that time he received the most value from a series of free broadcasts which were in the form of contests on various pictures. Listeners-in were invited to send answers in to such inquiries as "Why I Believe Ann Vickers Will Make a Great Picture," or "Why I Believe Katherine Hepburn Will Become a Great Star."

Moss says that an astonishing number of replies were received and in order to keep up interest different contest ideas were used. He further states that he believes radio to be a tremendous advertising factor, especially when a theatre can promote free time.

GRACE SEVERSON
Liberty, Wolf Point, Mont.

Trading for Tickets

Mrs. Severson's detailed explanation of how she effected a trading project with farmers, taking their products in exchange for theatre coupon books, was published on page 54, issue of Nov. 4, 1933. Since then, this Round Tabler states that immediately after the first letter to this effect was circulated on all rural mail routes, outside business almost doubled, and has continued to hold up since that time.

Inestimable good will was established by this campaign and actual box office benefits are proven by the fact that the weekend change of pictures now often outgrosses Sun-Monday receipts.

THOMAS D. SORIERO
WILLIAM OSBORNE
Phoenix, Phoenix, Ariz.

"Hoopla" Street Carnival

Convincing Phoenix civic officials that anything out of the ordinary which would bring people downtown would benefit business in general, Tom Soriero, Fox West Coast division manager, working with Manager William Osborne, secured permission to put on a street carnival in front of the theatre on "Hoopla."

Merchants cooperated with special windows, the street was roped off and a number of real carnival shows put in operation, with barkers, caliopes, etc. Many concessions were set up, the entire gross of these gains given to the police department which paraded daily and otherwise aided the campaign, with every patrol box and telegraph pole within 50 miles covered with placards. A photo of this stunt will be run in an early issue.

HARRY M. SUGARMAN
Egyptian, Los Angeles, Cal.

"State Fair" Lobby

The spacious forecourt of the theatre where Harry puts on those ace ballyhoos was transformed into a fair ground to plug "State Fair." Corrals were erected to house prize stock, such as cows, sheep, hogs, (the last featuring the well known "Blue Boy") and pony rides, hot dog stands, paddle games and all the other requisites of a fair were provided.

Sugarman states that this drew so many thousands of people that it actually marked the turning point in the theatre's fortunes, and since then he has kept up a continuous stream of lobby ballyhoos which have helped grosses immeasurably.

R. M. THOMASON
Crystal, Ellis, Kan.

School Price Reduction

Tied up with local schools allowing students a ten cent reduction on Wednesday or Thursday nights, these days not being up to the rest of the week in receipts. The deal was made on the provision that students came in a group of at least 100, but plan resulted in more than this number taking advantage of prices.

This member also includes his best single picture idea—a personal recommendation in the form of a special herald on "Stranger's Return," an overnight booking, which drew poorly on the first day. The personal plug pulled by Thomason for the first time helped on the rest of the date and brought the gross up to normal for that spot in the week.

ANNA BELL WARD
Phoenix Amusement Company
Lexington, Ky.

Three Stand-out Ideas

The highlight institutional event of 1933 was a special section which both leading papers ran on the reopening of the Kentucky and State Theatres in May, when the houses were taken back from the previous operators by the Phoenix Amusement Company of which Miss Ward is the assistant general manager.

The outstanding box office idea was included in this member's campaign on "I'm No Angel" publicized on page 69, issue of Dec. 16, 1933, in which Miss Ward put over the appointment of Mae West as a colonel on the staff of the Governor of Kentucky, story and pictures on this being carried by the Associated Press in papers all over the country.

The most novel idea was the Culbertson bridge "double truck" which ran for three successive days in December 1933 in one of the local papers and was also reproduced in the issue of Jan. 13.

Zimbalist Reports on St. Louis Ideas

From Al Zimbalist, zone advertising director, St. Louis Warner Theatres, skippered by Leto Hill, comes a number of campaigns put over in conjunction with some of the managers and district supervisors, the highlights of which we are pleased to publicize for the information of the members.

Hi-Pointe Theatre

Manager Harry Swan worked with Al on a very complete campaign on "Little Women" which started two weeks ahead featured by a six-sheet pasted on the lobby floor, and a number of panel boards and easels containing scene stills and cutouts. A week in advance, a 35-foot banner was placed over the canopy and was used during the run with "now playing" copy.

The special one-sheet was posted in a number of public and private schools, in colleges and high schools, with additional announcements made in all classes. The neighborhood newspaper, carried advance stories and cuts and to insure complete coverage heralds were distributed house to house.

Maplewood Theatre

A standout stunt on "Little Women" at this spot was an announcement carried prominently in the neighborhood paper under the signaturees of the superintendent of Maplewood schools and the principal of the high school which expressed complete approval of this feature, requesting all children of school age to see it. A further plug was given the date in the house program, the back page plugging the date.

West End Lyric Theatre

On the showing of "Alice in Wonderland" at this spot, Zimbalist, aided by District Manager William Hoppe, Jr., made an effective tieup with the National Refining Company, in which the cover of the "movie number" of that company's 20-page magazine was given over to a picture of Charlotte Henry, being given away at all filling stations handling the refiner's products.

For "One Sunday Afternoon" at this theatre, these boys put out an effective street bally wherein a young couple dressed in character paraded the main streets of the section and exhibited a lobby frame (see photo) which contained a number of old-time photos.

Lindell Theatre

District Manager Al Poos worked out the town crier gag illustrated in the accompanying photo which served to publicize "Torch Singer" at this spot. Dressed in colonial costume, ringing the regulation bell and carrying a sign on his back (see photo), the crier brought a lot of attention to the date in this out-of-the-ordinary manner.

Hoppe's Character Couple Parade

Poos' Colonial Street Bally

CONNECTICUT'S PARTY READY FOR MARCH 17

New Haven, Bridgeport, Hartford and Other New England Round Tablers Select New Haven for Their First Party

Next in the series of the Managers' Round Tabler Club "Get-Together" parties is announced by the members in the Eastern New England zone, to take place in New Haven, on Saturday, Mar. 17, starting at midnight, and continuing from then on. Chairmen Morris Rosenthal, of the Majestic, Bridgeport, and Walter Lloyd, of the Paramount, New Haven, state that the exact location of the gathering, in the rear of the Paramount Theatre, will be announced in time for the next issue.

The price is to be One ($1.00) Dollar, to include buffet luncheon, plenty of beer and entertainment, and members, as well as other managers, are advised to make immediate reservations by filling in the blank below.

A swell turnout is expected. Round Tablers and their friends will come from Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford; from New Britain, the Norwalks, and other Connecticut towns in the area; from Springfield, Worcester and additional Massachusetts situations.

With the lineup of members behind it, an ace evening of good food and drink, fun, frolic and good fellowship is expected, and few showmen who can make it will want to miss this grand party.

For a grand party it is going to be. At this writing, the program of entertainment has not been definitely set, but according to the committee, every effort is being made to round up a lot of good talent, and it all sounds like a flock of good talent, and it all sounds like a flock of fun.

At this writing the committee is as follows: from Bridgeport, Morris Rosenthal and Edgar Lynch; from New Haven, Walter Lloyd, Jack Sanson and Ben Cohen; from Hartford, George Landers, Lou Schaefer, Charlie Brennan and Jimmie Weist. Other will be announced.

The committee asks that those intending to be present, make their reservations immediately to Walter Lloyd, Paramount Theatre, New Haven, Conn., and for this purpose the blank below is provided.

Brennan Reports Features On Two Campaigns

Hartford, Conn., has one of those illuminated type ribbon displays on the order of the one on the New York Times building, and Charlie Brennan, of Poli's in the Insurance City promoted it for some copy on "Roman Scandals." He tied up a lot of other money angles, working the Chase and Sanborn coffee hookin for over 400 windows in and around the city, and did likewise with the Lux advertising.

On "Dinner at 8," Charlie mailed out special dinner invitations to a select list of 500, and went at the window idea for keeps by landing every one in his leading store with individual displays on gowns, furniture and dishes, also securing another ace display right next door in the most exclusive shop in town.

A number of other prominent spots were also tied in, including music, book shops, and an ace men's store, the last showing a complete line of dinner clothes. Restaurants distributed special menus with plenty of picture copy, and Brennan followed all this with a click spread of newspaper stories, posters, and a lot of other good angles that gathered in a heap of business.

WALTER LLOYD, Chairman of Reservations,
Paramount Theatre, New Haven, Conn.

Enclosed find $..... for ..... reservations ($1.00 per head) to the Managers' Round Table Club "Get-Together" to be held in New Haven, on Saturday, March 17, starting at midnight.

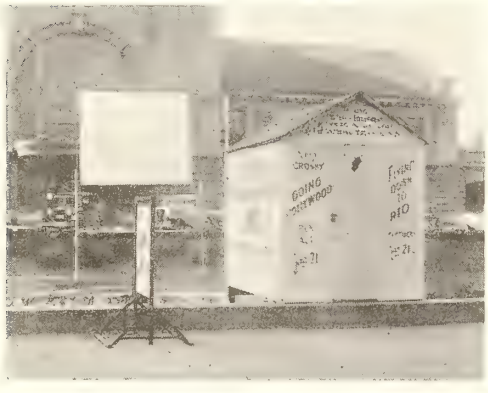
NAME .....

THEATRE .....

CITY and STATE .....

Ace Exploitation from Anna Bell Ward

Jumping the field by a wide margin, Anna Bell Ward, the able showwoman who does things down in Lexington, Ky., for the Phoenix Amusement Co., planted the life story of Mae West in one of her local papers and in eight others in surrounding towns as an advance buildup on the coming "It Ain't No Sin," the head carrying this copy—"As Presented by Anna Bell Ward With Special Permission of Mae West."



This member put on some ace stuff to plug "Flying Down to Rio" at the Kentucky, an outstander being a projection outfit placed in a specially built booth right out in front of the Union Station, with trailers being shown on a screen (see photo) placed so that it could be seen by everyone from blocks away. The booth carried plenty of picture copy on "Rio" and also "Going Hollywood" at the Ben Ali, a trailer on this feature also being shown.

The gag was further advertised cleverly by "passes" in the form of small throwaways calling attention to the premiere showing of the previews at the Union Station "Open Air" Theatre.

The stunt cracked the front page "Good Morning Column" on one of the papers wherein both features were mentioned by name, and Anna Bell says that this is a rare accomplishment, it being almost impossible for theatres to hit that covered space.

Other things that sold "Rio" in this stand were an art window display in one of the leading shops showing a gown worn by Del Rio, strong newspaper ads, cards in street cars and on 40 street cans.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Miss Ward's Projection Booth

Barrett Promotes Soup On "Duck Soup" Date

Due to conditions over which he had no control, a previous Marx Brothers picture did not do as well as he expected, but Manager Russell W. Barrett, Strand, Woburn, Mass., did not allow this to deter him from putting over a very successful campaign on "Duck Soup," which he reports stepped up the gross.

Russell had all the local restaurants giving away duck soup with all meals, and he followed this thought further by distributing duck soup recipe throwaways, house to house, and in all restaurants and stores selling canned soup. Grocery stores were further tied in on window displays of canned goods of various brands, tiein copy reading, "We have every brand but "Duck Soup" and that you can see at the Strand."

For a street gag, Barrett had some bannered live ducks led around the business district in advance and during the showing. These gags, in addition to a stronger newspaper and publicity campaign, did very well for this member, all of which clearly indicates that a good showman who won't be licked can't be licked.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Field Figures New Slant On Personal Endorsements

Manager Milton Field, Warners' Parker, Darby, Pa., has doped out a new slant on the personal letter to patrons idea that has a lot of meat to it, and should be of interest to other members. Here is how he handled it on "Only Yesterday."

A letter was sent out with every herald on the picture, but in printing them, Milt had a certain number run without his signature. Then every house employee made up a list of friends and acquaintances, and to these a copy of the endorsement was mailed with the individual signatures of the various house staff members, thus giving the gag a more authentic touch, and selling the show that much stronger.

In addition, Field contacted the heads of his different women's organizations, and they assisted him in sending out the endorsements to their memberships, at the same time making it possible for him to improve the theatre mailing list.

This member states that as a result, the picture clicked big, which it deserves if only for the smart manner the personnel plug was handled.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Richmond's Club Builds Up Saturday Grosses

In our recent Boston article, comment was made on the activities of Manager Louis W. Richmond, of the E. M. Loew National Theatre, who has put across a highly successful "Booster Club," a kid club idea that pays fine dividends at the box office. With conditions what they are, many of the members cannot dig up the necessary 10 cents to see the show, and for these Louis has made arrangements so they can attend free of charge, which has proved to be a profitable good will builder.

One of this Round Tabler's latest ideas was a special card distributed to his club to plug his "Tarzan the Fearless" serial, shown at the theatre on Mondays and Tuesdays. The card contains 12 Saturday dates and when the children bring these to the theatre on Saturdays, that date is stamped which allows the holders free admission after school on the following Tuesday to see the serial.

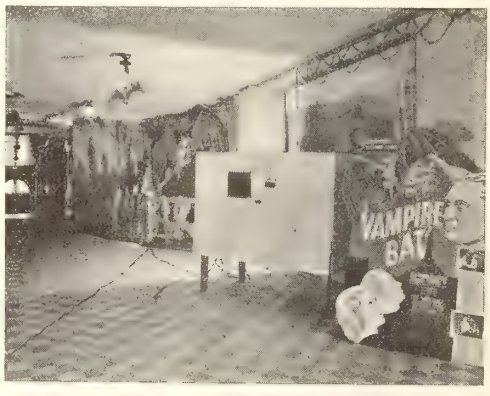
Richmond reports as a result that his Saturday business has increased considerably and recommends the idea to those seeking a way to stimulate children's attendance.

We have asked Lou to send us further details of his Booster Club which will be published shortly.

PLEASE NOTIFY YOUR CHAIRMAN OF ANY CHANGE IN ADDRESS

Golden's "Scare" Gags Click at Riverside

The campaign that Walter Golden, ad manager, Riverside, Jacksonville, Fla., put on for "The Vampire Bat" was frankly aimed to touch a new high in thrills and chills, and in this he succeeded.



Out of the ordinary was an advance stage presentation in which the house was blacked out and a scare announcement made over the house P. A. system while colored bats of different sizes were flashed on the walls and ceiling by a special projector. Coincident with this was a record of eerie music.

This presentation was put on ten days in advance during the run of a special feature produced by Ford Motors which bought the house for four days to show this picture free of charge. The attendance during that time was capacity, the house playing to over 12,000 people, and the stunt is reported to have gotten more comment than anything put on in quite some time.

A lobby teaser idea was next worked by placing a cabinet in the form of a large box in the foyer with small peep holes (see photo), the only copy on it reading, "Do you dare look?" and inside, illuminated dimly, was another "scare" scene that further sold the atmosphere of the picture. Other lobby decoration was of the same nature with cobwebs made of string and sprayed with aluminum bronze strung at every available point.

Manager M. M. Moore very generously gives all the credit to Golden for the hard work, and although a like "scare" campaign is not recommended for extensive duplication, nevertheless these showmen report no unfavorable reactions and very satisfactory grosses on the engagement.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Golden's Peep Hole Cabinet

Silver Puts Over Four Co-op Pages on "Dinner"

It takes quite a bit of effort to put over any kind of a co-op page in these days, and when a manager puts over two co-op pages on any one picture, he is doing his share of fast stepping.

But we believe that Manager Nat Silver, Strand, Lowell, Mass., is entitled to a flock of extra bows for landing four slick co-op pages in four different newspapers on succeeding days in advance of his showing on "Dinner at Eight."

Each of the pages was set differently and all sold the picture in an important manner, many of the ads carrying cuts on the stars. These tieups no doubt necessitated lots of hard work on Nat's part, but their effectiveness was clearly indicated at the box office.

personalities

HENRY HEBER
is the new skipper of the Plaza Theatre, Sacramento, Calif.

▽

FRANK GILBERTSON
is the new skipper of the Cozy Theatre, LeRoy, Minn., succeeding E. Eckstein.

▽

RUDOLPH ELMAN
has acquired the Star Theatre in East Des Moines, Ia., purchasing it from G. Mullenix.

▽

JOHN STILLE
is managing the Pantages Theatre, Portland, Ore.

▽

VIC MEYERS
is skippering the Orpheum Theatre, New Orleans. House recently celebrated its thirty-second birthday. Vic has been manager of this house many years.

▽

C. T. McINTYRE
formerly manager of the New Theatre, Berthold, S. D., has acquired the Rex Theatre at Bloomington Prairie, Minn.

▽

FRED GLEASON
has purchased the Fox Theatre from E. H. Anderson at Osseo, Wis.

▽

R. A. WALKER
has taken over the management of the Lyric Theatre, Garrison, Wyo., succeeding J. C. Burton, who has acquired the Lyric at Carazoza, N. M.

▽

A. P. SCHMIDT
has purchased the Rialto Theatre, St. Paul, from Barnet and Belmont.

▽

MRS. A. T. MITCHELL has taken over the helm of the Unique Theatre at Spokane, Wash.

▽

ED. PATTERSON
has taken over the skippership of the Baldwin Park Theatre, Los Angeles.

▽

JIMMY O'CONNELL
is skipper at the McDonald Theatre, Evergreen Corp. house at Eugene, Wash., and BARNEY KENTWORTHY is at the helm of the Rex.

▽

MORGAN WALSH and GEORGE MANN have acquired the Mission Theatre, San Francisco.

▽

DR. HOWARD BURT
has taken over the management of the Lanesboro Theatre, Lanesboro, N. D.

▽

ED. GLEASON
has succeeded J. W. Anderson as manager of the Fox Theatre at Osceola, Wis.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE!

STILL MORE EXAMPLES OF POSTER ART WORK DONE BY FRANK BONAIT. Poster Artist, Shea's Theatre, Erie, Pa., sends more of his decorative panels. The Marie Dressler face is flesh with brown eyes and reddish brown hair with yellow, orange highlights. Dress, cobalt blue, yellow and white. The background a light strawberry color; panel light yellow, medium yellow, dark yellow, etc., ending in red orange. Shearer's face was flesh with blue eyes and chestnut brown hair. Background a light vanilla with the dress a dark red with white, yellow and orange flowers. The panel pinkish light American vermilion and several shades of red.

DILLON and WARNER have taken over the Arlington Theatre, Suisun, Cal., and have reopened the house, which has been dark.

▽

ELWOOD P. LAWS
has taken a lease on the Ramona Theatre, Walnut Creek, Cal., and has reopened this following alterations, renaming it the Walnut Creek Theatre.

▽

E. E. POLLOCK
of Upper Lake, Cal., is planning to open a theatre at Ukiah.

▽

MARC BOWMAN
has been appointed city manager in Wenatchee for Evergreen State Amusement Corp. He will supervise the operation of the Liberty and Rialto Theatres.

▽

RONALD FAILS
formerly at the Kingsbridge is now managing the Ogden, Bronx, N. Y.

▽

OSCAR WEBBER
may now be found managing the Tuxedo in the Bronx, N. Y. Oscar was formerly at the Majestic.

▽

D. O'BRIEN
is holding down the managerial reins at the Uptown, a neighboring house there. He was formerly at the Midtown.

▽

SAM SAX
prominent Oregon exhibitor has taken over the Rex Theatre in Seattle, Wash.

CHARLES B. HANN, JR.
will continue the management of the Ponton Theatre in Crewe, Va. Theatre is affiliated with the new Carillon nearing completion in the West End of Virginia. Theatres are controlled by the Venetian Amusement Corp.

▽

MITCHELL CONERY
has been transferred from Mt. Vernon, O., to Bellefontaine, where he will manage the Holland. Mitch succeeds TOM OLSEN who was promoted to district manager with headquarters at Piqua.

▽

MAURY FOLDARE
recently in charge of the Evergreen State Theatres at Wenatchee, Wash., has been transferred to Portland to handle the Liberty.

▽

C. ELMER NOLTE has left the Grand, Highlandtown, Md., to go to the Patterson, Baltimore, while BILL MOORE was transferred from the Belnord to the Grand, Baltimore.

▽

BILL BIEMANN
has been transferred from the Edgewood, Baltimore, Md., to the Belnord and ROY MILLER from the Patterson to the Edgewood.

▽

H. L. JOHNSON
has been named skipper of the Capitol Theatre, Macon, Ga.

WE WANT YOUR IDEAS TOO; SIGN UP

JOHN E. FEENEY
manages the Gem Theatre in Tulsa, Okla. With a theatre bearing such a name, John, you doubtless have plenty to live up to, so suppose you sit down and tell us how you treat the folks out yonder in Tulsa? When you get around to it, you might also remember us to all our brother members there too.

▽

JAMES E. DELANEY
may be found up in Gananoque, Ontario, Canada, where he is managing the Delaney. We presume this is either his or his father's house, since it bears the same name. At any rate, Jimmy, tells us that he is joining in zero weather and he finds the pages interesting and useful and that he will submit something in the near future. Don't forget your promise, brother, we'll be waiting for something from you.

▽

DONALD J. O'BRIEN
is up at the Uptown Theatre, a New York City neighborhood house, and we shall drop in on him one of these nights and say "howdy." When Don joined the Club a few weeks ago, he was at the Midtown, so we'll take this opportunity to welcome him and wish him luck in his new assignment. Remember us to Sam Chernow when you see him, Don, and drop in here too; you know we like to see you boys.

▽

CHARLES B. HANN, JR.
applies for membership from Crewe, Virginia. Charlie is at the Ponton Theatre there and we wouldn't mind being there either now that the thermometer hovers around zero so playfully. You've got a task on your hands, boy, because you're the first member from Crewe to join us, so you'd better see that the rest of the membership knows about your town and what's going on down there.

▽

JOE JOEL
is the publicity director of the Greater Australasian Films, Ltd., in Sydney, Australia, and he says if distance is no object he'd like to join us. Well, Joe, we have 'em a durned sight further away from Sydney, which, incidentally, is very well represented in the club membership. Just keep us informed on your activities, Joe, and leave the rest to us.

▽

HAROLD P. MIDGLEY
is the assistant manager at the Ritz Theatre in Elizabeth, N. J., and he certainly comes well recommended by his superior, C. P. Murphy, who manages this Warner house. Hal started as doorman with a stock company and he likes show business so well that he expects to have a house of his own some day. Well we're rooting for you, Hal, just keep on striving and you'll have one some day.

J. S. HOSTETTER
is the owner of the Angleton Theatre in Angleton, Texas, and he joins the Club and subscribes to the Herald at the same time. That shows rare good judgment, "J. S." Texas is about one of the liveliest show towns in the United States and we're sure we won't go wrong in betting that the Angleton Theatre will be heard from frequently.

▽

HENRY H. ELSNICK
conducts the Y. M. C. A. Theatre in Jewell Ridge, Va., and apparently gets a lot of help from our pages in putting over his enterprise, so the only fair thing for him to do it to tell us some of his "tricks"; they may be applicable to some of the houses, Henry, what say?

▽

HAROLD J. SCHMIDLEY
is the assistant manager at the Jeffris Theatre in Janesville, Wis., where he helps Eaton Sizer. Well, Harold, you're getting your training under a good showman, so we'll expect to hear of you getting places and doing things. Don't disappoint us, we're rooting for you.

▽

DESMOND RUSHTON
is the publicity manager of the Savoy Cinema in Dublin, Irish Free State, and he joins at the same time Desmond Murphy does. Between the two of you men, if we don't hear things from Ireland, we're going to be mighty disappointed. Don't let us down, will you?

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

NAME _____

POSITION _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

DATE OF BIRTH _____

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

Y. L. BAIN
is the manager of the Star Cinema in Shanghai, China, joins and gets his Club pin at the same time. China is well represented in our pages, and as a matter of fact we have a Y. Y. Bain of Universal Films as a member. Any relative of yours Mr. Bain? Please let's hear from you, because our membership is always interested in what their foreign brothers are doing to put pictures over.

▽

DESMOND B. MURPHY
is the general manager of the Savoy Cinema in Dublin, Irish Free State, and judging from the number of houses you handle there ought to be plenty of material that you should be able to send us for use in our pages. We can't stress too often how much the boys on this side of the water enjoy hearing from our foreign membership, so please let's know what exploitation methods you are using.

▽

J. J. ROSENFIELD
manages the first run Orpheum Theatre in Omaha, Nebraska, and, while we are just welcoming Joe into the club in this formal fashion, he is one of the most active new members we have, and we know he is going to continue that way. Joe has had some pretty swell jobs, he was district manager for Publix in South Dakota and city manager of St. Paul. Well, old man, it's a poor day that doesn't bring a letter from Omaha, so let's hear from you.

▽

LAWRENCE P. COE
manages the Magee Theatre, in Magee, Miss. Apparently Larry started in at the bottom, because he tells us that when he was very young he delivered handbills and filled every position around the theatre. He has been house boy, billposter, usher, assistant cashier, relief operator and with the advent of talkies he saw his first through a port hole as chief operator. Well, I guess there's little we can tell you about running a house, so suppose you tell us.

▽

MORTON M. BRATTER
manages the Rex Theatre in Irvington, New Jersey, and the last time we saw him was at the Managers' get-together here in New York. Remember that memorable night, Mort? Do you have to wait for another party for you to come over to the Big City and stop in and say hello?

▽

ROBERT L. ALBERTS
can be found managing Skouras' Granada Theatre out in Corona, Long Island. A lot of our good friends and members from your town belong to and contribute regularly to the Club pages, and a little friendly competition wouldn't be a bad idea. Tell us about your latest campaign.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22,'34	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73	Feb. 17,'34
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5,'34	65
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25,'34	62

Coming Feature Attractions

Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67	Jan. 20,'34
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63	Jan. 20,'34
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23,'34	105
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26	64	Jan. 13,'34
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31,'34	69
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing (See "In the Cutting Room," Nov. 18.)	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5,'34	62
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60	Jan. 27,'34
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Don't Fall In Love	Grace Moore
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Highway Patrol	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes		76	Feb. 10,'34
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Most Precious Thing in Life	Karen Morley-Richard Cromwell
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Party's Over, The
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi		84	Oct. 21
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore-Carole Lombard
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15	62
Fantomas	Jean Gallard	Feb. 15,'34	59
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15,'34	60
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5,'34

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Colletta Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1,'34	84	May 27,'33
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15,'34	58	Feb. 24,'34

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64	Feb. 17,'34
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34	72	Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34	78	Jan. 13,'34
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34	65	Feb. 24,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69	Jan. 27,'34
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	Frankie Darro-Dorothy Coonan	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William
Hit Me Again	Joan Blondell-Warren William
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10,'34
Modern Hero, A (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Richard Barthelmess	Apr. 28,'34
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 21,'34
Sawdust (Tent.)	Joe E. Brown
Very Honorable Guy, A (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)	Joe E. Brown-Alice White
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis		90	Feb. 17,'34

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34	80
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16,'34	60	Feb. 17,'34
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34	72
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66	Feb. 10,'34
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34	65
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85	Jan. 27,'34
I Believed in You	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34	65	Feb. 17,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy-Claire Trevor	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Sleepers East (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34	69
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 27,'34
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles	Apr. 13,'34
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9,'34	80	Jan. 27,'34
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23,'34
Follies, The	(All Star Musical)	Mar. 30,'34
Free Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Preston Foster	Apr. 6,'34
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer		95	Aug. 12
"Scandals" (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16,'34
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23,'34
Too Many Women	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 18,'34
World Is Ours, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone
World Moves On, The	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27,'34	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Aunt Sally	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang		69
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15,'34	85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Hensen		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		88
Love in Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
No Ransom	Phillips Holmes-Leila Hyams
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74	Feb. 17,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold-John Miljan

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 8
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19,'34	117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Lazy River (See "Louisiana," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 2,'34	75
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Mystery of Mr. X	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23,'34	85
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert	Feb. 9,'34	103	Dec. 30
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 10
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68	Jan. 20,'34
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2,'34	76	Jan. 27,'34
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76	Feb. 3,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26,'34	85	Feb. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Lady Mary's Lover	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery-Herbert Marshall	Mar. 16,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy		75	Feb. 17,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone
Show-off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 23,'34
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Viva Villa! (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Mar. 9,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb. 22,'34	72	Feb. 24,'34
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5	54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22,'34	56	Jan. 27,'34
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15	56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58	Jan. 27,'34
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57	Feb. 10,'34
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15	65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct 14
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb. 15,'34	55	Jan. 20,'34
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 7,'34	64	Jan. 27,'34

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Steel	John Wayne
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane	Apr. 15,'34
Derby Day
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	Mar. 30,'34
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar. 15,'34
Numbers of Monte Carlo
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22	75	Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19,'34	71	Jan. 13,'34
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23,'34	80	Feb. 17,'34
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29	88	Nov. 25
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell	Dec. 8	75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1	68	Nov. 25
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLagen	Feb. 23,'34	72	Feb. 17,'34
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2,'34	75	Jan. 20,'34
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24	80	Dec. 2
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9,'34	65	Jan. 27,'34
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Harry Wilcoxin-Warren William
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23,'34
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30,'34	78	Jan. 20,'34
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West-George Raft
Melody in Spring (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Mar. 30,'34
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson-Victor McLaglen
Scarlet Empress, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft-Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Ethel Merman - Carole Lombard - Leon Errol
Wharf Angel (See "Man Who Broke His Heart," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16,'34
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan	Feb. 2,'34	55
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8	42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Desperate Trails	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29	53
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29	80	Dec. 16
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	67½
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2,'34	68	Jan. 27,'34
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1	66	Dec. 23
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19,'34	63	Feb. 24,'34
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb. 16,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb. 9,'34	92	Jan. 20,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12,'34	62
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26,'34	74	Jan. 20,'34
Coming Feature Attractions
Alien Corn	Ann Harding	May 25,'34
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 20,'34
Dover Road	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May 11,'34
Finishing School	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	Apr. 27,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea
I Love an Actress	Gregory Ratoff
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June 1,'34
Sing and Like It	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 13,'34
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar. 30,'34	84	Feb. 24,'34
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May 18,'34
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante-Lupe Velez	May 4,'34
Success Story	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar. 9,'34	77
Transient Love	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr. 6,'34
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Mar. 16,'34

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15,'34	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62	Feb. 10,'34
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16
Coming Feature Attractions
Golden Head
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Mar. 15,'34
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood	Dec. 15	69	Feb. 17,'34
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3,'34
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts.	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan. 12,'34	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10,'34	56	Feb. 24,'34
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan. 27,'34	70	Feb. 10,'34
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		55	Jan. 20,'34
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts.	July 19	70	July 29
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		John W. Boyle		70	Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2,'34	85	Jan. 13,'34
Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Feb. 16,'34	83	Jan. 27,'34
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9
Coming Feature Attractions
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Mar. 16,'34	91	Feb. 10,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March - Constance Bennett-Fay Wray
House of Rothschild, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)	George Arliss
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9,'34	80	Feb. 3,'34
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Mar. 16,'34	99	Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	82	Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34	68	Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34	78
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34	77	Jan. 27,'34
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34	68
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8,'34	70	Jan. 6,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29,'34	80
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale -Donna Damerell-Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60	Feb. 24,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19,'34	64
Coming Feature Attractions
Countess of Monte Cristo (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas	Mar. 19,'34	70
Elizabeth and Mary	Margaret Sullavan-Lowell Sherman - Mrs. Leslie Carter
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr. 2,'34
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard	Apr. 16,'34
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 26,'34
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	Apr. 30,'34
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12,'34
Uncertain Lady	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13,'34	61	Jan. 20,'34
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar. 3,'34	63
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24,'34	68	Feb. 10,'34
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	76	Dec. 2
Coming Feature Attractions
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr. 14,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Fur Coats	Aline MacMahon-Paul Kelly
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar. 31,'34
Happy Family	Aline MacMahon
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr. 7,'34	65	Feb. 24,'34
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar. 17,'34
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
One Man's Woman	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor-Ginger Rogers
Without Honor	James Cagney-Joan Blondell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Mc-Laglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb. 8,'34	90	Feb. 17,'34
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6,'34	92	Feb. 24,'34
Volga Volga	H. A. Shilleton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz In A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Banker Buckeroos		2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
Elmer Steps Out		2 rls.
Walter Catlett
Hold Your Temper	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Radio-dough	Feb. 5,'34
Sidney and Murray
Ten Baby Fingers	Jan. 15,'34
Sidney and Murray
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	7
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Southern Exposure		1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Tom Thumb		1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	1 rl.
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—School for Romance	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Lou Holtz
No. 4—Love Detectives
Frank Albertson
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse		1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 8	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
WORLD OF SPORT
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18	1 rl.
It's Sport in Any Language		1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9
Winter Thrills		1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1,'34	26
Dawn to Dawn	Dec. 25	35
Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness
Lot in Sodom	Dec. 25	26
Frederic Haak
No Woman's Land		45
(Travelogue)

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17	2 rls.
Hello, Prosperity	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13	2 rls.
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16,'34	1 rl.
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3	2 rls.
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8	19
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34	2rls.
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6	2 rls.
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
What's To Do	Nov. 24	17
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25	2 rls.
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8	2 rls.
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18	2 rls.
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27	2 rls.
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15	24
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Helen Morgan
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
Trav'lling the Road	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16,'34
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17	2 rls.
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.	1 rl.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8	1 rl.
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30	2 rls.
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11	2 rls.
Static	Sept. 29	20
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15	16
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22	16
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	8
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Cradle of Storms	Feb. 16,'34
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9,'34
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family In America		1 rl.
2. A Visit to West Point		1 rl.
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		1 rl.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organologue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Melodies of Love
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody in Black		1 rl.
Gary-Rawlinson-White
Wine, Woman and Song		1 rl.
Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer		2 rls.
Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17,'34	19
Next Week-End	Apr. 7,'34	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	19
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Four Parts	Mar. 31,'34	18
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		9
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	9
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Feb. 17,'34	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Paleface	Aug. 12	8
Soda Squirt		7
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
Perils of Arsenic Annie		1 rl.
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13,'34	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Jail Birds In Paradise	Feb. 24,'34	2 rls.
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26	20
Rhapsody in Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels	Aug. 26	20
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	17
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Handlebars	Aug. 26	10
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
Roping Wild Bears	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
Vital Victuals	Feb. 10,'34	10
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10,'34	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31,'34	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker (Cinecolor)	Dec. 9	7
Hell's Fire	Jan. 6,'34	7
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1	1 rl.
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1,'34	1 rl.
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1,'34	1 rl.
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1,'34	1 rl.
6. Jungle Bound	May 1,'34	1 rl.
7. The Last Resort	June 1,'34	1 rl.
8. Mother Ganges	July 1,'34	1 rl.
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1,'34	1 rl.
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1,'34	1 rl.
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1,'34	1 rl.
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1,'34	1 rl.
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1,'34	1 rl.

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
I Heard	Sept. 1	7
Don Redmond
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6	7
Rubinoff
Old Man of the Mountains	Aug. 4	7
Cab Calloway
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	7
HEADLINERS
Broadway Knight	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Yacht Club Boys
Bundle of Blues, A	Sept. 1	10
Duke Ellington
Captain Henry's Radio Show	Aug. 11	11
Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw-Don Voorhees
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27	11
Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Ray Atwell
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24	11
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Rumba Rhythm	Sept. 29	6
Vincent Lopez
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	10
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	10
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	11
No. 8	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
No. 10	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	11
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
No. 8—	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
Can You Take It	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	6
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	6
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10	10
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12,'34	10
Gertrude Niesen
Lazy Bones	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	8
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15	9
Baby Rose Marie
Stoopnocracy	Aug. 18	7
Stoopnagle and Budd
Tune Up and Sing	Mar 9,'34	1 rl.
Lanny Ross
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba	Sept. 16	7
Mills Bros.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 8	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 1 — What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
No. 2—Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	11
No. 8—Horse Power	Feb. 16,'34	11

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23,'34.	10....
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13,'34..	1 rl..
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo (Harry Langdon)	Feb. 16,'34.	21....
Cold Turkey (Joseph Cawthorn)	Dec. 1....	19....
Ducky Dear (Sidney Toler)	Sept. 1....	19....
Gold Nuggets (Walter Catlett)	Feb. 2,'34.	18....
Just an Echo (Bing Crosby)	Jan. 19,'34.	20....
Marriage Humor (Harry Langdon)	Aug. 18....	19....
Meet the Champ (Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett)	Aug. 4....	21....
New Dealers, The (Pallette-Catlett)	Apr. 6,'34..	2 rls.
No More Bridge (Leon Errol)	Mar. 16,'34..	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The (Chic Sale)	Jan. 5,'34.	20....
On Ice (Harry Langdon)	Oct. 6....	21....
One Awful Night (Pallette-Catlett)	Oct. 20....	21....
Please (Bing Crosby)	Dec. 15....	22....
Roaming Romeo, A (Harry Langdon)	Dec. 29....	21....
Sailors, Beware (Catlett-Pallette)	Sept. 15....	18....
Three Little Swigs (Leon Errol)	Nov. 10....	21....
Up and Down (Franklin Pangborn)	Mar. 2,'34..	2 rls.

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1....	7....
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14,'34.	7....
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22....	19....
Cuba	Sept. 27....	21....
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4....	7....
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34.	7....
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1....	20....
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1....	6....
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34.	7....
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11....	27....
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20....	9....
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6....	7....
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13....	32....

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34..	1 rl..
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34.	11....
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9,'34.	21....
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18....	20....
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8....	19....
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissue)
The Cure	Aug. 19....	20....
The Fireman	Aug. 28....	21....
The Count	Nov. 17....	21....
The Immigrant	Jan. 19,'34.	21....
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20....	14½..
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34.	2 rls.
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13....	20....
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2,'34.	21....
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4....	19....
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2....	20....
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Crown Crazy	Dec. 29....	7....
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6....	7....
Cubby's World Flight	Aug. 25....	7....
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1....	1 rl..
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3....	1 rl..
Good Knight	Feb. 23,'34.	7½..
Nut Factory	Aug. 11....	1 rl..
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34.	1 rl..
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8....	19....
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1....	19....
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6....	20....
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22....	21....
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34.	2 rls.
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9....	20....
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29....	20½..
Quiet Please	Aug. 11....	20½..
What Fur?	Nov. 3....	21....
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over (Ethel Waters)	Jan. 5,'34.	20....
Henry the Ape (Bert Lahr)	Jan. 26,'34.	2 rls.
Hizzoner (Bert Lahr)	Nov. 17....	21½..
Knife of the Party (Lillian Miles)	Feb. 16,'34.	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy (Cliff Edwards)	Dec. 8....	21½..
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15....	20½..
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22....	21½..
Torch Tango	Feb. 23,'34.	21....
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Elv Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15....	17....
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1....	21....
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29....	21....
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13....	15....
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27....	21....
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10....	20....
PATHE NEWS Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29....	7....
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34.	7....
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16,'34.	1 rl..
Marching Along	Oct. 27....	7....
On the Pan	Nov. 24....	7....
Pals		1 rl..
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34.	28....
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8....	10½..
Cuba	Nov. 10....	10½..
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean
Holy Land	Feb. 16,'34.	10....
Madeira, Land of Wine
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34.	10....

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26....
Killing to Live		17....
Kino Displays		18....
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23....
Terrors of the Amazon		29....
CELEBRITY
Jack and the Beanstalk		6....
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15....	10....
My Side of the Story (David L. Hutton)	Sept. 22....	10....
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21....	23....
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9....
Evolution		28....
Goofy Games		8....
Mystic East, The		10....
Next War, The		26....
We're on Our Way		9....
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30....
INVINCIBLE
Snowman		10....
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8....
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8....
Glimpses of Germany		8....
Green Heart of Germany, The		20....
Springtime on the Rhine		7....
The Mosel		8....
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6....
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10....
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl..
Young Germany Goes Skiing		1 rl..

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5....	7....
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9....	6....
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30....	7....
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14....
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1....	7....
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22....	8....
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15....	7....
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34.	7....
3. Playful Plute
4. Camping Out	Feb. 16,'34.	7....
SILLY SYMPHONIES
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27....	8....
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26....	8....
11. Old King Cole	July 27....	8....
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18....	7....
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6....	7....
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15....	8....
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34.	8....
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 15,'34.	8....

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28....	8....
No. 2	Oct. 1....	10....
No. 3	Dec. 25....	1 rl..
No. 4	Jan. 29,'34.	9....
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34.	1 rl..
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34.	8½..
County Fair	Feb. 5,'34.	7....
Five and Dime	Sept. 18....	8....
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16,'34.	1 rl..
In the Zoo	Nov. 6....	7....
Kings Up	Mar. 12,'34.	1 rl..
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27....	8....
Parking Space	Dec. 18....	7....
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19,'34.	1 rl..
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14....	1 rl..
King Klunk	Sept. 4....	9....
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9....	7....
RADIO STAR REELS
The Old Timers (Louis Sobol—No. 3)		21....
Peeping Tom (Louis Sobol—No. 4)	Sept. 20....	17....
Boswell Sisters, The (Nick Kenny—No. 4)	Dec. 6....	21....
SPECIALS
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18....	19....
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7....	9....
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4....	1 rl..
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9....	9....
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20....	9....
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18....	10....
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34.	11....
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26,'34.	1 rl..
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20....	21....
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18....	21....
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29....	21....
Born April First (Sterling Holloway)	Mar. 14,'34.	2 rls.
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34.	2 rls.
Ed Sullivan's Headliners (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21,'34.	2 rls.
Full Coverage (Henry Armetta)	Feb. 28,'34.	2 rls.
Meeting Mazie (Sterling Holloway)	Dec. 20....	20....
Mountain Music (Louise Fazenda)	Jan. 3,'34.	18....
Not the Marrying Kind (Sterling Holloway)	Nov. 22....	20....
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6....	19....
Open Sesame (Henry Armetta)	Oct. 25....	20....
Out of Gas (Louise Fazenda)	Nov. 8....	21....
Palsie Walsie (Henry Armetta)	Jan. 31,'34.	20....
Pie for Two (James Gleason)	Dec. 13....	21....
Stung Again (Louise Fazenda)	Oct. 18....	18....
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27....	18....
Trifle Backward, A (Vince Barnett)	Jan. 17,'34.	19½..
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34.	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9....	19....
Where's Elmer? (Vince Barnett)	Feb. 7,'34.	20....

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth (Jack Haley)	Aug. 19....	19....
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy (Jack Haley)	Sept. 16....	21....
No. 2—Close Relations (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30....	20....
No. 3—Gobs of Fun (George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21....	21....
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw (Gus Shy	Nov. 4....	21....
No. 5—In the Dough (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25....	22....
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie (Ben Blue	Dec. 9....	18....
No. 7—Tomalio (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30....	21....
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? (George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34.	18....
No. 9—Nervous Hands (Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34.	21....
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses (Charles Judels	Feb. 17,'34.	21....
No. 11—Mushrooms (Harry Gribbon	Feb. 14,'34.	2 rls.
No. 12—Foiled Again (Ben Blue	Mar. 24,'34.	2 rls.
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34.	2 rls.
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34.	2 rls.
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34.	2 rls.
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang (Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12....	19....
No. 26—The "No" Man (Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26....	19....
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Use Your Imagination (Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2....	18....
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President (Ethel Waters	Sept. 9....	20....
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings (Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23....	20....
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. (Gusy Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7....	21....
No. 5—Operator's Opera (Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14....	21....
No. 6—'Tis Spring (Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins (Technicolor)	Oct. 28....	19....
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast (Tom Patricola	Nov. 11....	20....
No. 8—The Mild West (Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18....	23....
No. 9—Girl Trouble (Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2....	23....
No. 10—Around the Clock (Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16....	29....
No. 11—Plane Crazy (Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23....	22....
No. 12—Kissing Time (Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16....	22....
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas (Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34.	29....
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine (Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27,'34.	21....
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34.	21....
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34.	10....
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure	Mar. 3,'34..	2 rls.
No. 18—Silver Living (Dorothy Stone	Mar. 17,'34.	2 rls.
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office (Jean Sargent	Mar. 31,'34.	2 rls.
No. 20—Story Conference (Lillian Roth	Apr. 7,'34..	2 rls.
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21,'34.	2 rls.
No. 22—Private Lessons (Hal LeRoy	June 5,'34.	22....
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8....	1 rl..
No. 5—Impact	July 15....	1 rl..
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5....	10....
LOONEY TUNES
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7....
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man		7....
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7....
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show		7....
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9....	8....
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21....	7....
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	May 12,'34.	7....
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34.	1 rl..
No. 5—Buddy and Towser		1 rl..
No. 6—Buddy's Garage		1 rl..
MELODY MASTERS
No. 10—The Alma Martyr (Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9....
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar (Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition (Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20....
No. 13—A Castilian Garden (Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9....
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd (Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10....
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues (Claude Hopkins and Band		9....
No. 3—Rubinoff and Orchestra		10....
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10....
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10....
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10....
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10....
No. 8—Isham Jones	Mar. 17,'34.	1 rl..
No. 9—Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34.	1 rl..
No. 10—Vincent Lopez	May 12,'34.	1 rl..
No. 11—Tin Hat Harmony (Abe Lyman	May 12,'34.	1 rl..
No. 12—B. A. Wolfe	July 7,'34.	1 rl..
No. 13—D. Mendoza and Vitaphone Band	Aug. 4,'34.	1 rl..
MERRY MELODIES
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7....
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7....
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7....
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7....
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7....
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7....
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7....
No. 13—We're in the Money		7....
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7....
No. 2—Sitting on a Back Yard Fence		1 rl..
No. 3—Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27,'34.	1 rl..
No. 4—Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17,'34.	7....
PEPPER POT
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10....
No. 2—Admission 5c		10....
No. 3—Rock-a-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell		11....
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8....
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8....
No. 6—Harry Warren		10....
No. 7—Easy Aces		10....
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10....
No. 9—Movie Memories		9....
No. 10—The Tune Detective		9....
Sigmund Spaeth
No. 11—Mississippi Suite		9....
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail (Block and Sully		10....
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11....
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2		1 rl..
No. 15—Pure Feud		1 rl..
No. 16—Radio Ramblers		1 rl..
No. 17—Lulu McConnell		1 rl..
No. 18—Good Old Days		1 rl..
No. 19—Radio Reels (Jessel—Van		1 rl..
No. 20—Charles Ahearn		1 rl..
No. 21—Little Jack Little		1 rl..
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2		1 rl..
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby		1 rl..
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
WORLD ADVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl..
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl..
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10....
No. 13—Top of the World		10....
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl..
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl..
No. 3—Heart of Paris		10....
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		11....
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl..
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl..
No. 7—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl..
No. 8—Picturesque Siam		1 rl..
No. 9—Slackers of the Jungle		1 rl..
No. 10—East Indies		1 rl..
No. 11—Central America		1 rl..
No. 12—Dark Africa		1 rl..
No. 13—South Sea Islands		1 rl..

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson (Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery)	July 6....	20.... (each)
Lost Jungle, The (Clyde Beatty)	Apr. 1,'34.	20.... (each)
Mystery Squadron, The (Bob Steele)	Dec. 23....	20.... (each)
Three Musketeers, The (John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7....
Wolf Dog, The (Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30....
PRINCIPAL
Chandu (each)		2 rls.
Lost World (Clyde Beatty) (each)		2 rls.
Tarzan, the Fearless (Buster Crabbe) (each)	Aug. 11....	20....
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City (Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy (each)	Aug. 14....	20....
Perils of Pauline (Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen (each)	Nov. 6....	20....
Phantom of the Air (Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea (each)	May 22....	20....
Pirate Treasure (Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund (each)	Jan. 29,'34.	20....
Vanishing Shadow, The (Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince (each)	Apr. 23,'34.	20....

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

ONE PAIR REFLECTOR ARCS, $150.00; 5 HORSE, single phase motor, $50.00. BOX 445, GLASGOW, KY.

BARGAIN: COMPLETE REBUILT SIMPLEX projectors and low intensity lamps. Also 75 to 150 ampere Hertner generator, good as new. JOE GOLDBERG, Inc., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

600 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS CHEAP. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

PATRONIZE MONARCH'S SPECIAL BARGAIN counter: Rebuilt projectors, generators, rectifiers, reflector arc lamps, Mazda lamphouses, screens, chairs, lenses, portables, amplifiers, sound heads. All theatre equipment. Satisfactory trades completed. Expert projector repairing and service. Established 25 years. Free list. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

BARGAINS! RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers, noiseless drives. Write for prices. SOUTHERN FAN COMPANY, Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

SILENT THEATRE AND PORTABLE MAchines. 300 reels of silent film. Equipment. NATIONAL EQUIPMENT CO., 409 West Michigan St., Duluth, Minn.

FOR SALE: WEBER DELUXE SOUND-ON-film equipment for Powers. LYRIC, Clearfield, Pa.

THEY COME AND GO—BUT WRITE S. O. S. for real lowdown on reflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

OUTSTANDING BARGAINS FOR CASH ON complete rebuilt portable 35 mm. sound-on-film projector outfits made by one of the most reliable manufacturers. BOX 375, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POSITIONS WANTED

YOUNG MAN, ASSISTANT MANAGER, DESIRES position. Will invest. BOX 367, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

UNION PROJECTIONIST EIGHTEEN YEARS' experience — 5 years' sound — married — references. GEORGE GODLEY, Pollock St., New Bern, N. C.

PROJECTIONIST — EMPLOYED AT PRESENT, desire change. Operate Western Electric. Go anywhere. BOX 376, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

NEW EQUIPMENT

CONVERT YOUR OBSOLETE SOUND SYSTEM to Wide Range brand new heads for Simplex and Powers from $83.00 up. Investigate our other items at special prices. Consulting engineering services gratis. Let us advise you. NEW ENGLAND MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENT CORP., 356 Worthington St., Springfield, Mass.

TRAILER REEL, A NECESSITY APPRECIATED by all operators, $1.00; main driving gear for Simplex, $4.00—a spare gear is invaluable in every theatre; exciter lamps, 6—$3.00 guaranteed; bargain beauty baby spots, new factory seconds, $4.75—251 watt bulb, $1.35. Get your supply. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

TRADE WITH "OLD RELIABLE MONARCH." Established 25 years. Most complete stock theatre equipment, sound accessories, supplies. Money saving prices. Our central location assures snappy service. Catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

COUPLE MILLION LEFT—TICKETS 15c ROLL, most denominations and colors, misprints. Buy a year's supply. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT FRANCHISE HOLDERS IN EVERY state in U. S. to handle distribution of theatrical and non-theatrical pictures. Catholic feature now ready for release. Don't answer unless able to finance franchise and post bond for territory. Send complete data in first letter. BOX 347A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED PIPE ORGAN. NO AUTOMATICS. State particulars and price wanted in first letter. Cash. HODGSON ORGAN CO., 608 Duke St., Norfolk, Va.

POWERS OR SIMPLEX LAMPHOUSES AND BASES. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

WE PAY MORE CASH FOR USED PICTURE machines, cooling systems, sound-on-film and chairs. LIBERTY RADIO THEATRE SUPPLY, Sand Springs, Okla.

WILL BUY USED THEATRE CHAIRS, PARTS, accessories, all kinds. Write GESCO, 2035 Charleston St., Chicago.

PROJECTION AND BOOTH EQUIPMENT, parts and accessories. Simplex mechanisms, arc lamps, rectifiers, generators, etc. Give full particulars. Spot cash. BOX 374, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.25 F.O.B. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

NEARGRAVURE—250 2-COLOR LETTERHEADS, 250 envelopes, $2.99 prepaid. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Ind.

THEATRES WANTED

LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, MINIMUM POPULation 15,000, in the East or Middle West. BOX 370, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO LEASE THEATRE ANY SIZE in any of the western states. BOX 373, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

TEND TO YOUR KNITTIN'—DON'T WORRY—install S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound, $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up. Unified control amplifiers, $50.00 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

COMPLETE BOOTH EQUIPMENT AND SOUND equipment. New and rebuilt. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

BARGAINS — NEW AND USED EQUIPMENT supplies. Expert projector overhauling—What do you need? Ask us. MIDWEST THEATRE SUPPLY CO., 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

"RECEIVING MUCH FAVORABLE COMMENT!" writes Gordon Hudson, Oakland, Cal.—S. O. S. Wide Fidelity is yours from $179.70. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THEATRES

WILL SELL FIVE-YEAR LEASE ON PAYING theatre for $1,000.00 cash. BOX 372, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN THEATRE POSTER PAINTING. NATIONAL ACADEMY OF LETTERING, Box 102, Aurora, Ill.

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

Used in 7 out of 8
American Pictures in
"1933's TEN BEST"

OF THE Ten Best Pictures of 1933 chosen in the Film Daily's poll, eight were American productions. Of those eight, seven were photographed on Eastman "Gray-Back." This is outstanding evidence of the acceptance enjoyed by Eastman Super-Sensitive Panchromatic Negative among cameramen and producers . . . and a signal tribute to the versatility and unfailingly high quality of the film itself. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive
Panchromatic Negative (Gray-Backed)

PHOTOS BY REMIE LOHSE

LANNY ROSS

From the radio to the screen comes Lanny Ross, singing star of the Maxwell House Coffee Showboat Hour. For two years, one of the most popular performers on the air, his thrilling voice and charming personality will be heard and seen from now on in PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

"MELODY IN SPRING"

with Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, Ann Sothern. Directed by Norman McLeod. A Paramount Picture...will introduce Lanny Ross to motion picture audiences

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

MEET YOUR LOCAL CODE BOARD MEMBERS

Pictures of 44 Members of Grievance and Clearance Boards; Flinn Report Shows Theatre Employment Gain under Code

PRESS TAKES CONTROL OF RADIO NEWS BROADCASTS

Long Standing Dispute Results in Establishment of Editing Bureau To Be Maintained by Broadcasting Companies

In Two Sections—Section One

Vol. 114, No. 11 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1 lished Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies. March 10, 1934

RIPTIDE

NORMA SHEARER

Robert Montgomery

VIVA VILLA!

WALLACE BEERY

HAPPY Springtime!

When you talk about BIG pictures, you're talking M-G-M language. The records of 1933-34 are already bright with "Tugboat Annie," "Dinner at 8," "Dancing Lady"and others from M-G-M, but—

Springtime brings Giant M-G-M Attractions that dwarf everything else in the entire industry!

The one and only company that makes road-show calibre entertainments now presents "RIPTIDE", "VIVA VILLA!"," TARZAN AND HIS MATE". Talk about BIG pictures . . . they're yours for a joyous M-G-M Springtime!

TARZAN AND HIS MATE

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER

"As The Earth Turns" can be profitably sold as the "First Bunkless Picture." Complete material from the record-breaking Dallas campaign, available now from Warner Bros.' Advertising Dept., will show you how.

Sean

is not an accident. Heaven gave her beauty... Training gave her Technique ...Warner Bros. gave her Experience. Only a rich variety of previous role assignments, under the tutelage of the industry's most astute directors, could have prepared this new American star for the remarkable triumph she has already scored in the Dallas and Danbury test engagements of

"AS THE EARTH TURNS"

With Donald Woods, Russell Hardie, Emily Lowry, Arthur Hohl, Dorothy Peterson, David Landau, Clara Blandick.
From the best-seller by Gladys Hasty Carroll. Directed by Alfred E. Green.

Stunning

Mona Barrie

Striking in her brunette beauty. Ultra-smart in her attire. Poise, sophistication, allure... all are hers. An exciting actress of wide stage experience... her screen interpretations sparkle with emotional depth. Audiences already have admired her in "Carolina". In "All Men Are Enemies"... another important FOX production... the vivid vitality of her performance definitely stamps her as one of the screen's great!

★ ★ ★ ★ FOX ★ PERSONALITIES ★ PARADE

MAR 9 1934
©CIB 218637

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 11 March 10, 1934

PROVED AGAIN

WHEN "As the Earth Turns" came along Mr. S. Charles Einfeld of Warner Brothers was confronted with an advertising and selling dilemma. He had on his hands an alleged "bunkless" picture, a down-to-earth drama, entirely devoid of "hokum" according to the studio's opinion. What to do? He tried a test campaign in Dallas, Texas, selling the idea that here was the great bunkless picture. And to check, in Danbury, Connecticut, he put on a good standard high pressure campaign of the hokum school, selling romantic love, etc. The results, now added up in successful box office figures in both cities, vindicate the great experiment. Both campaigns worked. It has long been said that it pays to advertise.

△ △ △

JUST NAMES

WITH a great flourish to publicity in the lay press it is announced that Mrs. August Belmont—now great social leader, once an actress—is the new president of the Motion Picture Research Council. The announcement is accompanied by considerable copy about the motion picture quoting Mrs. Belmont but torn right out of the mimeograph files of the Council. And in sequel Mrs. Belmont announces Mrs. Grace Coolidge, widow of the late president, as honorary vice-president. The true significance of all this is that the Reverend William Harrison Short, who is the Research Council, is a great casting director.

△ △ △

THE SCREEN'S RIGHTS?

TO all those who ask that the motion picture shall be an important commentator upon and expositor of the affairs of civilization, the judgment in the British courts in behalf of the Princess Youssoupoff against Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer on the basis of the portrayals in "Rasputin" should be regarded with dismay. This page is not the place to try or re-try the case, but it is obvious enough that the influence of such decisions as this, and it is but the most conspicuous of several, exerts a pressure calculated to drive the motion picture farther and farther into the jungles of the Land-Where-Nothing-Is-Real. The screen has yet, it seems, a long way to go in getting rights in any approximation of those of the printed word. The screen continues a shining mark for those who seek and those who sue and those who want to share its publicity.

△ △ △

THIS week-end would be a good time to re-wrap that trout rod and varnish it. Film base dissolved in acetone makes an excellent rod varnish. Efficiency suggests the use of censor cuts. Fancy enameling your tackle with a gross of Mae West or a touch of Anna Sten!

AND WHAT A RACE!

HOW very human the race is! This subject has had not a little exploration and research these several thousand years, but there was enough left of it to make news for the New York Times when it discovered, incidental to the new "controlled" broadcasting of news, that "the general radio audience is interested in more of the human side of the news than . . . events of political and economic importance." Several other "news"-papers and the amusement business have known this for a long time.

This important, if not startling, discovery is the first expression from the newly founded Publishers National Radio Committee's Press Radio Bureau which doles out the material which is to be permitted on the air in competition with the newspapers. This interesting, but perhaps not final, adjustment of the controversy between the press and the air is discussed in our news pages of this issue. It is a subject of considerable interest and import to the motion picture industry with its complex and difficult issues with the competition of the radio as an amusement medium, using so much of screen talent.

Here is an occasion when, if the screen had all its vaunted power as the great medium of expression to the public, it might bring as much pressure as the press which has the power, and uses it. The screen's newsreels, for instance, could say things about radio but they will not, for reasons both obvious and obscure.

△ △ △

MR. CABOT'S PATTER

MOST likely it is a crime to kid a Cabot in Boston, but we refuse to suppress an observation of the moment which arises from a curious crying out about the screen from Mr. Stephen Perkins Cabot, president of the Judge Baker Guidance Center, Boy Scout leader and profound educator, reported by The Review (Boston) as saying: "The morals of children are being wrecked. . . . All efforts for improvement seem vain as long as block booking and blind buying prevail."

May we not direct the attention of Mr. Cabot to the fact that one of the world's most conspicuous examples of merchandising by the "block booking and blind buying" method has been the selling, through a whole generation, of "The Five Foot Shelf," culture and education by the yard, with the impress of the classicism of New England through the use of the name of the late, great erudite Dr. Eliot of Harvard.

Block booking, whatever its merits or demerits may be in a commercial sense, has about as much moral and social bearing as the practise of selling meals table d'hote. Mr. Cabot, spare us for the saying of it, has picked up some film patter, not information.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 6 Brookland Close, Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative, Manchar, London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable, Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

FIGHT STAR RATINGS

Planning concentrated opposition to the system of critics' "star" ratings of pictures, the AMPA in New York last week named Ben Atwell chairman of a committee to formulate the attack. Plans for a dinner to President John Flinn were also discussed.

WRITERS' CODE

Late last week the Hollywood Screen Writers' Guild adopted a revised working code, excepting one article, which would prevent studios from signing important writers in the event of a strike. To the executive board went the right to limit members to signing contracts beyond a specified date. . . .

LICENSE FEES

The Denver Film Board of Trade has gone into battle against the proposed license fee scale which would raise film exchange assessments from $40 to $100 annually, 150 per cent. Defeated last year was a similar proposal. . . .

PREMIUM BATTLE

For a retention of their policy of using premiums, independent exhibitors of Philadelphia plan to join forces, in order to carry their fight to the NRA at Washington, said reports late last week. . . .

CLAIMS COLLECTED

Filed by the New York Film Board of Trade during 1933 were 4,609 claims, involving $771,702.52, against local exhibitors for alleged breach of contract. Collections were made on 3,351 ($517,556.46) of the claims, totaling 86 per cent. . . .

COLUMBIA DEAL

Under discussion in Paris is a deal whereby Pathe-Natan would be distributor in France of Columbia product. J. H. Seidelman, Columbia foreign manager, is negotiating a possible arrangement in the French capital. He and Mrs. Seidelman return to the U. S. late this month. . . .

MPTO SESSION

To make plans for the semi-annual convention, probably early in April, M. A. Lightman, president of the MPTO of Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee, has called a directors' meeting at Memphis this week. Code boards will be discussed.

WOMAN SUPERVISOR

Perhaps unique in production executive circles is the appointment of Jane Murfin, noted writer, as a supervisor for RKO Radio, by Pandro Berman, executive producer. She has long been a scenarist at the same studio. . . .

EXHIBITORS' RIGHTS

No thought of affecting any exhibitor's right embodied in a cancellation privilege was intended by MGM's request that exhibitors consent to substitution of certain films, Allied States Association announced from Washington last week following a communication from the company answering Allied's inquiry on the request. . . .

IOWA SALES TAX

Crying unfair discrimination, Iowa exhibitors are vigorously opposing the proposed imposition of a graduated two and one-half per cent tax on amusement admissions, part of a sales levy. Legislative committee members agree exhibitors have been asked to bear too great a share of the tax burden. . . .

REEL BAN LIFTED

Following a complete ban on newsreel shots of the Socialist uprising in Vienna, the Chicago police censor board late last week rescinded the ban, after revelation the board had not seen the films involved, had clamped down after reading of their contents in a newsreel release notice. Newspapers rushed to the reels' defense.

In This Issue

Code is defended and attacked in reports and briefs submitted to Washington	Page 9
Flinn reports for Code Authority	Page 33
Hays office answers Allied	Page 60
Pictures of Local Boards' members	Page 24
Rasputin's $125,000 Headache	Page 10
Newspapers take control of radio news broadcasts	Page 13
More figures from Federal Trade Commission on film executives' salaries	Page 27
Screen and stage fight on free radio broadcasts goes to Washington	Page 23

FEATURES

Editorial	Page 7
The Camera Reports	Page 11
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum	Page 71
The Hollywood Scene	Page 21
DeCasseres on Broadway Plays	Page 45
The Cutting Room	Page 48

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me	Page 73
Showmen's Reviews	Page 49
Managers' Round Table	Page 85
Technological	Page 83
Short Feature News	Page 84
Chicago	Page 84
The Release Chart	Page 93
Box Office Receipts	Page 80
Productions in Work	Page 70
Classified Advertising	Page 98

TITLE CONFLICT

Following protest from Fox Film, the title arbitration committee of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America unanimously recommended that Warner desist from using "Fashion Frolics of 1934" as the title of what was originally "Fashions of 1934," then "Fashion Follies of 1934," since it conflicts with "Fox Follies." . . .

PROTEST FILM

On the basis of alleged direct violation of the production and advertising code, the MPPDA Hollywood office has wired a complaint to the New York office against "Narcotic," produced by Duane Esper. . . .

LENTEN FILM BAN

With numerous theatres in the affected district, exhibitors in the Kansas City sector are deeply concerned over the absolute ban on films during Lent pronounced by Bishop Francis Johannes of the Leavenworth diocese. The message scored the screen, and contained a plea for federal legislation. The language was strong. . . .

OREGON EXHIBITORS

For the promotion of better understanding of the code and increased harmony, a majority of leading exhibitors this week organized the Oregon Exhibitors' Association, with William Cutts, Portland, as president. Officers: George Appleby, Ted Gamble, vice-presidents; Ruth Doyle, secretary-treasurer. . . .

TRIAL ORDERED

Upheld last week by the appellate division was a New York supreme court denial of a motion by Educational to dismiss the action of Amity Pictures for an accounting of profits, involving Tiffany product. The case was ordered to early trial. D. C. Millward has taken over Amity distribution in Washington State. . . .

COLONIAL MARKET

The capture of a larger share of the film business of British colonies, dependencies, mandated territories, is the plan of British producers, according to reports to the United States Commerce Department's film division. British United Film Producers, established two years, is working with the cooperation of the Colonial Office. . . .

NEW PLAYERS

From among hundreds of young players, most of them with previous stage, screen experience, Fox this week selected 35—25 feminine, 10 masculine—and awarded them contracts. From minor roles they will be graduated progressively, as demonstrated talent dictates. . . .

CODE DEFENDED, ATTACKED IN REPORTS TO JOHNSON

Flinn Reports on Code Authority Progress; Allied Asks Kuykendall Removal, Addition of Independents; Hess Answers

By FRANCIS L. BURT
Washington Correspondent

Marking the starting point of a new recovery drive, aimed to put more persons to work by reducing hours to a maximum of 30 or 36 a week, and increasing wage rates by 10 per cent, members of Code Authorities governing more than 600 industries this week met at Washington with General Hugh S. Johnson and other officials of the National Recovery Administration for a general discussion of codes, code compliance and code amendment.

Members of the film Code Authority were present in sufficient number to permit attendance at each of the five conferences which ran jointly, being especially interested in the meetings on trade practices, small enterprises, and code administration.

Flinn and Hays Briefs Submitted

A report on the motion picture code, its enforcement and compliance, was submitted to the Administration by the film authority, through its secretary, John C. Flinn. The full text appears in this issue, starting on Page 33.

Also, the Hays organization submitted a brief to the Administrator in which they said the code benefits all independents. The text appears, starting on Page 60.

Reports of the Code Authorities, in general, showed a majority of enterprises cooperating with the Government in its recovery program, although definite need of tightening up to prevent evasions was disclosed. It was also apparent that codes in general will require amendment in a number of phases to protect the workers, public and industry itself. This was expected.

The conference was opened Monday by President Roosevelt, who outlined the progress thus far made. He served notice upon employers that they would have to increase employment to take over the millions now serving temporarily under the Government through Civilian Conservation Camps, Public Works projects and other specially devised agencies.

Codes to Be Tightened

Declaring industry never can return to the buccaneering methods of pre-depression days, the President warned the Code Authorities that all codes would be tightened up to prevent evasions, protect the worker and consumer and outlaw unfair competition.

However, the President declared, the Administration will adhere closely to its policy of protecting small enterprises and will demand preservation of the anti-trust laws.

Work of the NRA code conference largely centered around the defects in codes and defects in compliance brought out during public hearings at Washington last week. General Johnson had developed a "12-point program" which he laid before the Code Authorities for consideration. The program was reported in detail last week.

Announcement was made by General Johnson, on Monday, that Division Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt had been given until April 7 to file his report on the salary investigation, as a result of which the Administration will decide whether the code clause governing excessive salaries should be made effective.

A great deal of difficulty has been encountered in analyzing the salary questionnaires, many of them now being returned promptly.

Recovery codes were also the subject of action, the House on Monday passing a bill providing penalties of $5,000 fine or imprisonment for five years or both for the willful filing of false data with any Government agency with intent to defraud.

Under some codes, production volume will be the basis of assessments for costs of enforcements. The film industry's Code Authority has not yet determined on what basis it will charge industry members for code enforcement assessment. The Code Authority is expected to set the size of its budget for code enforcement within a few days, probably March 12. The exhibition branch is expected to be assessed the most, because the code benefits it the most.

The socalled public criticism meetings at Washington were marked by submission of a brief on behalf of Allied States asking for removal of Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president, from the Code Authority and for addition of at least two additional unaffiliated independent exhibitor representatives on the Authority.

Mr. Rosenblatt also was brought under attack again, Allied alleging he is "prejudiced" against independent exhibitors. The opposition to Mr. Rosenblatt was based on the contention that he is "biased." It was recommended by Allied that the number of Government representatives on the Code Authority be increased to three.

The brief also asked for addition of two unaffiliated subsequent run exhibitors to each Local Clearance Board and one unaffiliated exhibitor to the Local Grievance Boards.

A number of changes were asked in the code itself and a "thorough investigation" of trade practices.

Hess Answers Allied

Allied States' attack was answered in a brief filed with the Administration on Tuesday by Gabriel Hess, general attorney for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in which it was pointed out that at the present time the unaffiliated exhibitors have four members on the Clearance and Zoning Boards against two for the affiliated group, while on the grievance board each group has two representatives. Inasmuch as none of these boards has yet begun to function, he declared, the criticism of the independents can be based only on conjecture and speculation. The Hess brief appears in full, starting on page 60.

"The attack now made upon the code is a renewed one, as Mr. Myers himself states," it was pointed out. It has been made before to the Deputy Administrator, then to the Administrator himself, and finally to the President. The objections now made are identical with those previously made and were considered at length by the Government and were found wholly without merit.

Unfair, Myers Charges

Following are excerpts from the Allied brief, submitted by Abram Myers, general counsel:

"The major objection to the code is that it vests quasi-judicial power over the respective rights of buyers and sellers of film, and producer-controlled and independent exhibitors, in a Code Authority and in local boards dominated by the sellers and producer-exhibitors.

"Under the proposed set-up the independent coming into these boards as plaintiff would find the defendant sitting on the bench.

"Not only is the policy of the code wrong in itself, but the accumulated experience shows that the majority members of the Code Authority intend to exercise the power conferred on them in their own interest.

"Not only are these quasi-judicial bodies wholly one-sided, but the powers conferred on them are extra-legal and dangerous and contrary to public policy as declared by Congress.

"The independent theatre owners, like all other exhibitors, must have fresh product in order to remain in business. Undue extension of clearance, both as to time and area, is the principal weapon used by the major producers and their affiliated theatres in exterminating the independent exhibitors.

"Confiding the subject to boards dominated by the major producers does violence to the Sherman Law and sets aside the decision and decree in the Youngclaus case, as well as consent decrees obtained by the Government in the Fox West Coast and Balaban & Katz cases.

"The labor provisions of the Motion Picture

(Continued on page 26, column 1)

THIS WEEK'S CODE ACTIVITIES

The center of interest in Motion Picture Code developments shifted to Washington this week, with the meetings of Code Authorities, and submission of briefs by various groups in the industry. Highlights were these:

1. GENERAL.....On This Page
(a) Film Code Authority members attend Washington conferences.
(b) John C. Flinn presents report of Code Authority.
(c) Hays Organization submits brief intended to show Code benefits all independents.
(d) Roosevelt says employers must increase employment, codes must be tightened.
(e) Allied demands changes in Code.

2. LOCAL BOARD MEMBERS Page 24
(a) Pictures of 44 members of Local Clearance and Grievance Boards.

3. CODE AUTHORITY REPORT Page 33
(a) John C. Flinn, executive secretary of Code Authority, reports on progress to date.

4. HAYS OFFICE BRIEF..Page 60
(a) Gabriel Hess submits report to show Code benefits the independents.

Rosenblatt Given Until April 7 To File Report on Salary Inquiry; Five More Local Boards To Be Named

RASPUTIN'S $126,750 HEADACHE

London Court Orders MGM to Pay 25,000 Pounds Sterling to Princess Who Charged Libel in "Rasputin and the Empress"; Two Million Suit Pends in New York

Rasputin—the "Mad Monk" of Russia—reputed throne toppler, debaucher, seducer of women, has gone back to his tomb in the ground. Hollywood inadvertently interrupted his sleep in the crypt after 18 years.

An austere court of the King's Bench in London, England, this week commanded Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Corporation to pay some 25,000 pounds sterling ($126,750) to soothe the wounded feelings of a tall, dark, middle-aged Princess of the late Czar's regime in Russia, whose honor was allegedly libeled by a Hollywood motion picture seduction which was depicted in "Rasputin and the Empress"—a pictorial story of the dramatic Mad Monk and the Imperial Russian household of the Romanoffs—in which the Royal Family of Broadway—John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore—made their first screen appearance together, early last year.

Participating in the particular celluloid seduction involved in this case was Mr. Lionel Barrymore (age 56), who portrayed the weird, heavily-cloaked, long-whiskered Rasputin; and the young and lovely Diana Wynyard, who characterized the reputedly fictitious "Princess Natasha" of the Romanoff household.

Sitting in a London courtroom, presided over by 80-year-old Justice Sir Horace Avory, a jury of 12 Englishmen, perched on the edges of their chairs spellbound for a week by the narration of some of the most excitingly dramatic historical testimony ever recorded anywhere by the lightning-like fingers of an expert court stenographer.

They heard supposedly authentic accounts of the weird rights practiced by the Mad Monk, Rasputin, and of the hypnotic spells which he cast at will over some of the most Royal inhabitants of the Russian Palace. They heard from the lips of the self-admitted murderer of how and why and where Rasputin was assassinated. The repetition of all of these events, and more, in the matter-of-fact question and answer of the witness chair, carried an effect that no Hollywood production has yet achieved.

Record Newspaper Notices, But—

Accordingly, the news press of the world expended considerably more than the ordinary effort in bringing the story to the public in detail. The cables, wireless and telephone systems burned under the heavy load of testimony transmitted to front pages everywhere. As a result, "Rasputin and the Empress" received one of the widest international newspaper notices ever given any motion picture. It is assumed, however, that the company gladly would have foregone the editorial comment under the circumstances.

Justice Avory ordered the verdict read on Monday afternoon, after the jury had deliberated only two hours on the arguments of some of England's most able barristers, who had argued the plea of the plaintiff, Princess Irina Alexandrovna, wife of Prince Felix Youssopoff, self-admitted murderer of Rasputin, that the "seduced" character of "Princess Natasha" was portrayed in the motion picture in such a manner that "Natasha" inevitably must be taken by "right-thinking people" for Princess Irina, who is a niece of the assassinated Czar Nicholas II.

Metro's defense was that "Natasha" was entirely fictional.

MGM in New York was literally shocked by the English verdict, which gave one of the largest awards for libel in the history of the British courts—and elsewhere, too. It was probably the largest award ever made in a motion picture libel case.

A similar case for $2,000,000 damages is pending against MGM in New York, and New York attorneys of the Princess indicated after the London decision was rendered that exhibitors everywhere who have played "Rasputin" may be sued for libel. Such a plan, if carried out, obviously would produce an almost locust-like crop of libel actions, involving millions of dollars.

"We have intended such suits" against exhibitors who have screened the picture "for some time," said a statement from Buckley and Buckley, 99 Wall Street, New York attorneys for the Princess. "The names of the different exhibitors were demanded from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer long ago, and their attorneys have promised us that we shall have them."

Sir William Jowett, who defended Metro in London, indicated after the decision that the motion picture would be withdrawn immediately in that country. Sir Patrick Hastings pleaded for the Princess. Both are noted English lawyers

Calls Character Purely Fictitious

The reaction of the home office officials in New York to the decision was indicated in a statement made by J. Robert Rubin, general counsel of both Loew's and MGM, who said:

"We are shocked at the verdict. In presenting the picture 'Rasputin,' there was no intention of portraying the Princess Irina. The character of Natasha is a purely fictitious one. We are advised by our London counsel that they feel the judge misdirected the jury, and the appellate court will reverse the trial court. They are applying for a stay of execution pending an appeal.

"We have every hope and expectation that a careful examination of all the facts and the law by the appellate court will show this verdict to be totally erroneous."

Cable advices from London late Tuesday indicated that an application by Metro's counsel for a stay of execution had been adjourned until Monday in appeal court. By mutual consent, the Princess agreed not to seek a judgment at least until Monday, when the appeal is to be entered formally.

At the time "Rasputin and the Empress" opened at the Astor theatre, on Broadway in New York early last year, it was said that "the settings, costumes and ceremonies of the Russian Court in 'Rasputin' derive their authenticity from the famous Gold Book." The Gold Book is a parchment record of the Czar's coronation ceremonial, containing thousands of illustrations, and was formerly in the possession of the Art Museum in Moscow.

In the cast of "Rasputin" were: John Barrymore, portraying "Prince Chegodieff"; Ethel Barrymore, "The Czarina"; Lionel Barrymore, "Rasputin"; Ralph Morgan, "The Czar"; Diana Wynyard, "Princess Natasha"; Tad Alexander, "The Czarevitch"; C. Henry Gordon, "Grand Duke Igor"; Edward Arnold, "Doctor Remezov," and others.

Charles MacArthur, of Hollywood, wrote the story especially for the screen. It was directed by Richard Boleslavski, who received his first stage training at the Moscow Art Theatre. A military career interfered until about 1920, when Mr. Boleslavski participated in motion picture production in Russia. In New York he was affiliated with Max Reinhardt, with Flo Ziegfeld and with other noted stage producers.

Made in California

"Rasputin and the Empress" was made in California at the Culver City Studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, where the principal executives are Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, David Selznick.

A Russian choir supplied the Cathedral service with all the traditional details. Russian vocalists were used for the musical settings. General Theodore Lodijensky, former commander of Czar Nicholas' bodyguard, and Major John Peters, of the California Lancers, trained American cavalrymen for the Russian military maneuvers. Alexander Toluboff, Russian State architect, assisted in planning and designing the ambitious Court and Cathedral backgrounds. Lionel Barrymore ate "Borchst" and "Shaslik," according to Metro.

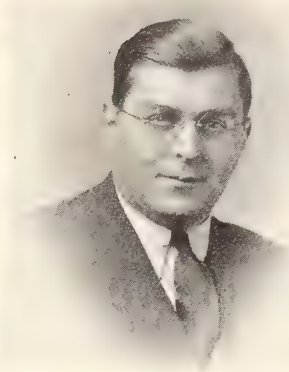
Statistics: Ethel Barrymore's "Czarina" gown weighed 25 pounds; a New York jeweler manufactured replicas of Russian crown jewels, including the famous Imperial Diadem; Red wallpaper—Rasputin's favorite—was used extensively; a record of "Yankee Doodle March," supposedly played by Prince Yousapoff just before he assassinated Rasputin, went into the making; 12 Arabian horses and 100 Russian army rifles were specially imported; 50 pounds of hair were used for making Russians out of Hollywood-ians.

DOZEN SIMILAR SUITS IN RECENT YEARS

In recent years there have been a dozen motion picture libel suits in this country similar to that involving "Rasputin" in England. Typical of these were the suits of the heirs of Jim Bridger, the frontier scout, and Minerva Brown, housewife, against Paramount.

The heirs of Jim Bridger brought suit for libel against Paramount seven to ten years ago, charging portrayal of their ancestor as a dissolute character in "The Covered Wagon." The Bridger heirs, unlike Princess Yousoupoff, lost their suit.

The Minerva Brown suit, an appeal on which is now pending in the appellate division of the U. S. circuit court, New York, is directed against "An American Tragedy." Mrs. Brown alleged that she was actually the mother of a girl who, in the film, was portrayed in a seduction scene.



Radio May Produce 12 Features Abroad

Radio Pictures will make from 10 to 12 feature pictures in London next season in conjunction with the Julius Hagen Company, producing affiliate, according to Phil Reisman, head of RKO Radio's foreign department, just returned from abroad, where he closed several distribution deals.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

EXHIBITOR. Looking over the source of his product. John Hamrick, well known showman of the Northwest, Seattle especially, drops in, with Mrs. Hamrick, at the Warner plant, where they are shown about by Joan Blondell, making "Without Honor."

FROM THE RANKS. Walter Gould, new United Artists manager in Central, South America.

A PRESIDENT. Jeanne Dressler, of the Columbian Club, holding annual party March 10.

CHIP OFF THE BLOCK. William Faversham, famous veteran stage star, visits his son, Phillip, in Hollywood, where the youngster is following in his father's footsteps, at the Warner studio, where he recently appeared in "Gambling Lady."

AN INTRODUCTION. As Frank Buck, on left, producer of RKO Radio's "Wild Cargo" in the Malay jungles, plays host to Feg Murray, author of the King Features cartoons, "Seein' Stars," and introduces him to one of Mr. Buck's "actors" and personal friends, to whom it seems to make very little difference.

AT SCHOOL. Where, as a luncheon guest of Professor Georges F. Doriot of Industrial Management at Harvard, Samuel Goldwyn, producer, took a leading part in a discussion of a few of the problems which are pertinent to the art and the business of making motion pictures, especially the business.

DRUMMER-GIRL. With an instrument almost her own size, four-year-old Shirley Temple gleefully shows how she led a parade in the Fox musical production, "Fox Follies." The production will be released shortly.

NOW IT'S REAL. Ernest Truex was only playing in this scene from Educational's "The Expectant Father," but recently he knew how it really was.

BLACK AND WHITE. (Left) With attractive Kay Francis, Warner star, as the center of an unusual contrast in photographic art.

COASTWARD BOUND. When Jules Levy, recently named vice-president of RKO Distributing, set sail for Hollywood, his co-workers saw that he was away safely. From the left: E. L. McEvoy, eastern manager; Michael Poller, Mr. Levy's assistant; Mrs. and Mr. Levy; R. S. Wolff, New York manager; Al Mertz, short subject manager; Cresson Smith, western and southern manager.

NELLIE HIMSELF. As Paul Muni, star of Warner's "Hi, Nellie" attended the London trade showing of his vehicle recently. From the left are Max Milder, Warner manager in Great Britain; Mrs. Milder, Mr. Muni and Mrs. Muni.

PRESS ASSOCIATION TAKES CONTROL OVER RADIO NEWS BROADCASTING

New Bureau of Publishers' Committee Will Be Maintained by NBC and CBS and Cooperating Independent Broadcasters

Culminating a series of "disagreements" which had their inception more than two years ago, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association late last week took over virtual control of the radio news broadcasting situation. A central bureau, to be maintained by the two large networks, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System, and cooperating independents, has been set up for the purpose of doling out news already printed in the daily press, thus protecting the newspapers against the possibility of what they deem unfair competition and, in many instances, copyright infringements.

The two major radio networks, in addition to many independent stations from coast to coast, henceforth will have to confine all spot news broadcasts to five minutes in the morning and five in the evening, after morning and evening newspapers have passed their final deadlines.

Press Radio Bureau Established

All "spot news" reports are to be edited and supplied by the Press Radio Bureau of the Publishers' National Radio Committee, headquarters of which is at 551 Fifth Avenue, New York. James W. Barrett, former city editor of the New York World, is editor of the new radio news bureau.

Not only are the regular news broadcasts of network stations thus affected, but to an even greater degree are the socalled commentators—Edwin C. Hill, Lowell Thomas, Boake Carter, Walter Winchell, and others —seriously curtailed in the style of their featured broadcasts. All such commentators on subscribing programs, who heretofore have utilized spot news, have been forced to agree to confine their remarks to local news and generalized comment, or to references during evening broadcasts to news which has appeared in the morning newspapers.

Many of these have threatened to expand what they term their present "private news gathering agencies," in order that the timeliness of their broadcasts will not suffer as a result of the new agreement. The plan went into actual operation on March 1, and already one commentator has been charged with reading several Associated Press dispatches during the course of his broadcast on Sunday, March 4.

Saw Advertising Revenue Dropped

The events leading up to the present situation can be traced back almost to the beginning of radio itself—or at least to that stage when business and industry began expenditure of large sums of money for radio advertising. Newspaper publishers throughout the country saw their own advertising revenue depreciating to a marked degree and were helpless insofar as defensive action was concerned. Matters reached a point where one publisher in the Middle West was receiving annual advertising revenue amounting to only $25,000 from a client who previously had been spending $100,000, the other $75,000 going into a regular radio program.

It was not until late in 1932 that the newspapers had an actual opportunity to put the "clamps" on news broadcasts, which already had been popularly featured on networks and independent stations alike for about a year. At that time it was discovered that at a station in Sioux Falls, S. D., the featured news broadcast consisted solely of the reading of news items from a newspaper. Immediately the Associated Press took the case to court, the station was ordered to either eliminate its news service completely or look elsewhere for its news sources.

Networks Asked to Bar Practice

That was the actual beginning of the fight against the broadcasters, a newspaper executive said this week, and while such instances of flagrant copyright violations were comparatively few, the publishers tightened their grip and prepared for "war."

During 1933 the conflict assumed major proportions. The two major networks were requested to eliminate news broadcasts. The National Broadcasting Company acceded to the request, except insofar as their commentators, including Lowell Thomas and Walter Winchell, were concerned.

Columbia's answer, however, was the creation of a news service, complete with its own correspondents in the field, in addition to its commentators. Columbia featured for some months two "spot" news broadcasts—one in the middle of the morning and the other about 10:30 p. m. Three weeks ago this service was discontinued.

The present plan, involving both networks and independents, calls for a five-minute report to be put on the air not earlier than 9:30 a. m., local time, and a similar report not earlier than 9 p. m., local time. Each report will consist of not more than 600 words, to be subdivided into approximately 20 separate bulletins.

The plan, which was worked out by representatives of newspapers, broadcasting stations and the United Press, Associated Press and International News Service, is designed purely to give broadcasting stations and listeners the benefit of careful resumé of the day's events, and at the same time protect the newspapers from unauthorized use of their news.

Every broadcasting station of the country is eligible to participate in the service if it desires to cooperate with the plan of the news bureau and pays a proportionate share of the expenses. The plan in no way limits the use of local news by local radio stations.

In addition to the two regular bulletins the bureau will provide cooperating stations with brief reports on outstanding events, which may be broadcast at any time.

Despite the fact that last year there was considerable agitation on the part of New sports promoters and newspapers to eliminate broadcasts for prizefights, football games and other sporting events, these "on-the-scene" broadcasts are allowed to continue under the new plan.

KALTENBORN FIRST NEWS BROADCASTER

H. V. Kaltenborn is credited with being the first news commentator on the radio, according to the Literary Digest and the Brooklyn Eagle, starting as a regular feature of station WEAF almost immediately after the station was founded.

Floyd Gibbons, dynamic reporter of the air waves, was probably the first commentator in the country to utilize portable broadcasting equipment—microphone and transmitter.

Commentators on Subscribing Programs Must Confine Remarks to Local News or General Comment and Old Items

Pathe News Radio Broadcasts Off

The Pathe News-Absorbine, Jr., radio broadcast, scheduled to have gone on the air commencing February 18, has been postponed indefinitely. According to officials of Irwin Wasey & Company, advertising agents who were handling negotiations, the tie-up between the newsreel company and the liniment manufacturers was held up due to a ruling of the National Broadcasting Company that no records can be broadcast over the company's stations. The sound strip of Pathe News apparently was classified by NBC as a record. The broadcast was to have gone on the air through 13 of the Yankee Network stations in New England, including some NBC outlets.

Last week, officials of the advertising firm reported that the reason for the delay involved certain "trivial details" in the contracts which were being disputed by Pathe attorneys. Jack Connolly, Pathe News manager, this week declared he was not aware the deal was off, even temporarily.

R. C. Richards Dead

R. C. Richards, 43, owner and operator of a circuit of theatres in five southern states, died at his home in Covington, La., recently.

REMBUSCH SUIT POINTS FALLACY OF ACTIONS SHORT ON EVIDENCE

Certified Audit Shows Theatres Had Higher Grosses During Period of Alleged Illegal Acts of Accused Distributors

With the end of the case of Frank J. Rembusch Enterprises against the national distributor members of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., late last week in United States district court, New York, was reflected the futility of antitrust suits without fundamentally sound evidence to support them. Parties to the defense pointed to the details of the Rembusch case as illustrative of the developments frequently disclosed in suits brought under the antitrust laws.

For nearly four years Rembusch Enterprises' antitrust suit alleging, among other things, monopolistic practices through block booking and price fixing as a restraint to trade, had been prosecuted and defended at great cost to both parties. Started in May of 1930, the Rembusch suit came to an abrupt close on March 1, 1934, after three and one-half weeks of actual trial.

Filed Complaint in 1930

In May, 1930, Frank Rembusch filed a complaint alleging that his theatres had suffered staggering losses in operation because of illegal acts of the major distributors. In his bill of complaint Mr. Rembusch stated that after the formation of the MPPDA and the Film Boards, film rentals were higher than the percentage of his gross receipts. From this Mr. Rembusch deduced that these two groups "fixed prices."

A certified audit of the Rembusch theatres' books showed in some instances higher gross receipts during the period of the alleged conspiracy than prior to 1921. Had he conducted a fair audit of his own books, this fact in all probability would have appeared obvious to him, counsel for the defense indicated at the trial before Judge Coxe.

The plaintiff sought to introduce proof that price fixing was virtually openly indulged in by Film Board members. Branch managers testified unanimously that at the Film Boards' weekly meetings prices were never discussed. E. C. Grainger, Fox sales executive, called as a witness for the prosecution, was one of those who thus testified. At the trial of the Joseph Quittner case last year, which arose out of similar charges, George J. Schaefer, now general manager of Paramount Publix, testified much along the same lines.

Block Booking Plot Unproved

On the block booking charges, the plaintiff or plaintiffs sought to avoid the conclusion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which held that block booking is a fair method of distribution of films, by charging distributors agreed not to distribute films except by block bookings. Witnesses called by the plaintiff to try to prove distributor conspiracy upset this allegation when they testified that their theatres in some years bought far less than the complete output of pictures actually contracted for.

To the charges of increased rentals due to alleged price fixing and distributor conspiracy under block booking the proof adduced by the plaintiffs themselves was so completely negatived that the plaintiffs themselves, through counsel, asked the court for permission to withdraw their claims. This the court granted.

Max D. Steuer, counsel for the defendants, then apprised the court of the extraordinary expense of audit of each of the 20 Rembusch theatres' books to which the defendants had been put to defeat the claims of the Rembusch Enterprises of $1,245,600 loss. He declared that the plaintiff's own books showed the charges unwarranted, because in the years preceding the alleged conspiracy the books showed losses, while during the years of the alleged conspiracy they made substantial profits, and that these profits actually made were increased when the defendants' auditors found many items charged to expense, possibly for tax purposes. Some items charged to rentals were discovered to have been cash drawings of Rembusch and his partner, Hubert H. Woodsmall.

As to Trial Costs—

Mr. Steuer then argued that if Rembusch Enterprises were to be allowed permission to withdraw their case, the costs should be imposed on them. Judge Coxe said he saw no reason why the plaintiffs should not be allowed to withdraw, and would deal with the imposition of costs after hearing the claim of the Capitol Amusement Company, in which Rembusch and Woodsmall had one-half interest, comprising four theatres in Indianapolis.

After the theatres owned by Rembusch were withdrawn from the suit, the plaintiff, Capitol Amusement Co., then placed its reliance on damages claimed to have been suffered by two theatres in Indianapolis—the Rialto, which had been acquired at a receiver's sale in 1922, and the Colonial, which had been similarly acquired in 1927.

The plaintiff sought to prove discrimination against the Rialto when it attempted to buy first-run product. Advertisements put in evidence by the defendants, however, showed that the Rialto was an old theatre, that it had played vaudeville, burlesque, strip shows and sex film roadshows with admission to "men only" and "women only" at specified times of the day.

Asked for a definition of strip shows, a witness for the plaintiff replied that it "is a game in which a girl performer plays with the audience by removing her clothes to a degree commensurate with the amount of applause offered by the audience."

From the books of Capitol Amusement Co. it was ascertained that several thousands of dollars charged to film rentals were not used for this purpose, but were cashed over the counter. One check stub introduced as evidence bore the partially erased, but easily distinguishable through a magnifying glass, notation, "Dempsey-Tunney fight picture."

In Violation of Statute

A bookkeeper for Capitol testified that one Mike Dooty, a former Rembusch employee, with others, had acquired the distribution rights for Indiana of the Dempsey-Tunney pictures, which were shown by them in direct violation of the federal statute which forbids interstate transportation of fight pictures.

After the noon recess of Judge Coxe's court on March 1, the plaintiffs' counsel asked for a conference with the judge in his chambers before resumption of the session. He informed the judge that the plaintiffs had no proof that they had suffered any damage which could be traced to the arbitration system or credit committee activities of the Film Boards of Trade which had been in existence prior to the Supreme Court decision, and that the plaintiffs had gone as far as they could in seeking to prove sufficient damages through inability to obtain first-run product for the Rialto and Colonial theatres.

After the noon recess March 1 and a conference with plaintiff counsel, Judge Coxe said that he felt certain up to that point that the plaintiffs had not made out a case; that they had failed to prove any one of the many charges made against the distributors of motion pictures, and that on coming to the last element of the case to which the plaintiff pinned final hope—inability to secure first-run product—that he felt they had not been able to show either that they were entitled to first-run product or were able to pay for same. Judge Coxe had particular reference to introduced proof which showed that Rembusch had played three Universal first-run pictures at the Colonial in April, 1927, and had failed to pay the license fees therefore, and did not make payment until Universal brought suit in February, 1928.

No Further Proof of Conspiracy

Judge Coxe said that although a theatre in competition with a large chain of theatres undoubtedly suffers a competitive disadvantage, the Sherman anti-trust law was not made to redress such inherent disadvantages.

The plaintiffs' counsel informed the court they had no further proof of conspiracy. This statement was made in open court for the record, whereupon Mr. Steuer moved for dismissal of the complaint. The court granted the motion.

The court declared nothing more would be gained by imposition of additional costs on the plaintiffs, beyond statutory costs. Thus the case ended.

CHECKS FOR HEAT MADE TO BOOTLEGGER

A piece of evidence introduced by the defense in the Rembusch trial was an item uncovered by the defense auditors from the books of Rembusch Enterprises. A sizable sum was set forth as "charged to light and heat." It was noted that the checks in the case were all made out to one man—the bootlegger!

Max D. Steuer, counsel for the defense, told the court that the motion picture industry intended to fight, "if we are just to be victims, and can be brought into court and milked with claims like these."

Plaintiffs Themselves Withdraw Claims of Increased Rentals Laid to Price Fixing and Block Booking Conspiracy

Roxy Sails for Vacation

Samuel L. (Roxy) Rothafel sailed late last week for a vacation of three weeks in Europe. He expects to return by March 21 for the start of his vaudeville tour.

death

It is the most interesting subject in life

PARAMOUNT
demonstrates this in the following pages–

Param

in two test can

"DEATH
A HOL

is the proper title for one of the mos made—a picture starring Fredric
Sir Guy Standing and Kent Taylor

FRESNO, Calif.—
With a special campaign that included more than twice the usual amount of newspaper space, street ballyhoos, radio announcements, teaser ads and teaser tack cards, house-to-house canvasses, girls executing a house-to-house telephone campaign, etc., etc., it opened on a Sunday under the title "STRANGE HOLIDAY" and did average business on the opening day.

ount

paigns, proves that

TAKES IDAY" audacious and exciting pictures ever March, with Evelyn Venable, Directed by Mitchell Leisen.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—

With exactly the same amount of newspaper space, and exploitation as it received in Fresno, this picture opened on a Thursday as "DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY" to two and one-half times average business . . . and closed to better than twice average business . . . Sacramento's theatre-goers gave us the information we were after! "DEATH IS INTERESTING!"

turn to the next page

DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY!
NO ONE COULD DIE WHILE HE MADE LOVE!
Fredric March
...THE WORLD STOOD STILL WHILE HE MADE LOVE!
WOMEN were drawn to him... fascinated by his magnetic charm, while men shrank from him... trembling at the knowledge of his power.
FOR THREE DAYS, DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY! THE WHOLE WORLD PAUSES WHILE A STRANGE LOVER TAKES A BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN HIS ARMS!
The most fascinating lover ever known!
He wooed the girl of a man lasting love for the first time a love which transcended life! The whole world paused while he made love!
Train crushed in dive from rails, no one killed! In o most amazing wrecks in railroad history, this C express train, carrying hundreds of passengers, l while traveling at top speed yesterday. Though were splintered and strewn all over the rail passengers include only minor scratches a

. . . . Advertising and Exploitation of this type was used to promote the sensational business done in Sacramento! . . .

death

It is the most interesting subject in life and these figures prove it!

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Paramount Theatre: "Death Takes A Holiday" held over for second week. Outstanding business in worst weather New York has ever known holds picture over for another week.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Oriental Theatre: "Death Takes A Holiday" opened to capacity business with sidewalk hold-out all day in face of very bad weather. Held for long run.

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Senator Theatre: "Death Takes A Holiday" opened to 2½ times average business and closed to better than twice average business.

The Hollywood Scene

EXECUTIVE SALARIES AND EXPLOSIONS
THE CODE OF ETHICS IN ACTION
41 PRODUCTIONS BEFORE THE CAMERA
WHAT'S MARQUEE, TITLE WRITER ASKS

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

Verbal detonations, echoing through the hills of Hollywood and Beverly, followed publication of executives' salaries and bonuses. Explosions sounded like trench mortars or cap pistols, according to the individual point of view of the exploders.

Even to Hollywood, accustomed to fancy salaries, the dramatic surprise of sudden revelation by the Senate threw confusion into the camp.

Those in the big money, and those who aspired to the high bracket class, built their briefs on the generally accepted rugged individualism axiom that there is nothing wrong in getting as much money for personal services as is possible, without using duress.

They claimed that as stars and other creative workers reaped rewards, according to box-office values, executives got theirs on individual ability also.

Supply and demand regulates executive salary as it does price of any other commodity.

Diversified Reactions

Those upholding big money said it was their opinion that bonuses, paid from profits, were morally and legally acceptable.

Some there were who felt that in the majority of cases, executives receiving big salaries and bonuses were not only worth it, but most of them were pioneers in the business, fighting a long uphill battle until they got into the heavy sugar class.

Those legally inclined discussed phases of corporate law and precedent, bringing legal tomes and judicial opinions into the controversy.

Aside from legal considerations, which a motion picture publication can hardly enter into, those denouncing high salaries and bonuses marshaled their contentions along the following lines which are set down as expressions of opinion rather than of fact:

1. Against high salaries and bonuses, some said no executive is worth more than $100,000 a year to any corporation.
2. Others said bonuses should be paid only from profits and then only after stockholders received a reasonable return on their investment.
3. Still others claimed that bonuses paid while companies were losing money seemed unfair and unnecessary.
4. Others contended that no bonuses should ever be paid, but all surplus should be set aside against bad times to prevent unemployment on a grand scale, prevent salary cuts for those in the lower brackets and to act as reserve if and when losses were sustained.
5. Others maintained that it looked as if some members on certain boards of directors were voting salaries to each other. Though no collusion was inferred, back scratching was alluded to.
6. While no condition in the film industry was pointed out similar to the one of the wellknown bank president who cut his clerks' salary twice and at each cut raised his own about $100,000 a year to which he personally testified before the government, nevertheless, script girls, stenographers and the general white collar crew, in the light of the salary revelations, are burning about the cuts in their salaries, which cuts in some instances have not been restored to date.

General opinion, on both sides, seems to be that the Government had some idea in mind in publishing the figures, and that in keeping with the present economic trend for some kind of redistribution of wealth, a new deal in salaries and bonuses could be looked for as a national policy for all industry.

Interesting is the observation that in the local newspapers, the first group of figures revealed by the Senate were published as they were given out.

However, it is alleged the Examiner did not publish all the individual figures of the MGM executives, but bulked them under a management corporation, which oversight might have been a typographical error. W. R. Hearst releases his Cosmopolitan Productions through MGM-Loew's.

Hard on the heels of the first listing of salaries and bonuses, came a second list made known by the Federal Trade Commission. These are published in detail on pages 24 and 25.

▽

Operation of Code of Ethics

The operations of the Production Code of Ethics were given focus this week as "Bottoms Up," Fox-DeSylva musical, shuttled back and forth from preview to Code Committee, to producers' jury, to public preview, to the Fox Studio and from there on its merry way to the exchanges.

After its first screening, the Code Committee refused to pass "Bottoms Up" and the studio made some cuts. The Code Committee still refused to pass it. According to provisions of the Code, a producers' jury, this one composed of Jack Warner, Harry Cohn and Emanuel Cohen, was then called in. They passed it after screening.

Fox Studio, however, even after the producers' jury passed it, took it back to the studio, shot some added scenes, overcoming any and all objections, leaving no spots where censors' shears could snip.

Based on three general principles, the Code is a large document collated with the aid of three score educators, philosophers, editors, lawyers and church authorities, and is called a "Resolution for Uniform Interpretation of the Code."

Here are the three basic principles:

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrong-doing or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

To put into effect these general principles, the supervisor of the production code, at the Hays office, follows a picture from script to screen.

Eleven major companies, members of the Association, submit all scripts before shooting begins. These scripts are carefully read for observance of any violations which may appear at that time.

Pages are marked on which violations of words, sequences or situations appear. The script is then returned to the studio, with violations carefully narrated in a letter to the producer concerned. If the entire character of the plot is bad, the Code Committee goes into a huddle with the producer, the authors and the director to suggest neces-

(Continued on following page)

Two producers at luncheon announced to their staff that they were going to Europe.

"I ought to go along with you too," piped a writer.

"What for?" asked the head man.

"As interpreter," re-piped the writer.

"You're fired," said the head man, and fired he was.

An independent producer taken with the idea that a "quickie" could be made in one spot along the lines of "Grand Hotel," "Transatlantic" or "Union Depot," is toying around with a dramatic idea centering around a telephone booth.

"The big scene of my telephone booth opera," he says, "is the Turkish bath sequence—a long distance call on a hot day."

Social Climber, cinema star, who says she sits right on the pinnacle of the Social Strata, gave a rococco birthday party for her pet poodle, to outdo another climber.

The setup was a gaudy birthday cake with candles and everything.

In the so-called Hollywood manner, no celebration is complete without lights.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

sary changes to make the story conform.

Often during shooting, a director, who ad libs on the set, may "write-in" a new sequence, a line or a character. Often in the actual production, the entire plot of the story may be subtly changed.

Immediately after the first cutting of the picture, two or more representatives of the Hays office inspect the picture to ascertain whether all suggested changes have been complied with or whether "write-ins" have contorted the original script.

If changes are requested or the Committee finds that the picture does not conform to the Code, it may reject all, or part of it.

The studio may appeal this decision and a jury of three producers is impounded on a rotating arrangement and the picture is placed on the witness stand in a projection room.

Six Rejected in Eight Weeks

If the jury supports the Hays group on the rejection of a picture, or of certain sequences, the producer is called upon to reshoot sufficient scenes to make the picture conform. The producer in turn, if unconvinced, may appeal his case to the Board of Directors of the MPPDA. Vice versa, the Hays office here may appeal the verdict of the Hollywood jury.

Workings of the Code Committee are held confidential, though it is public information that during the past eight weeks the Code Committee rejected six pictures. Changes requested were accepted by producers on five of these six.

During the period prior to the present administration of the Code, only six pictures were rejected in three years.

Production Code Administrator, recently appointed by Will H. Hays, is Joseph I. Breen.

▽

Howard C. Brown, expert on color for the screen, sees color coming back with a fair promise of a re-invasion of the feature field following upon its currently increasing exploitation in shorts, beginning with Walt Disney's "Silly Symphonies."

▽

Pandro Berman, executive producer at Radio, is doing away with haphazard studio conferences and insuring himself at least one meeting a week with each department head.

His plan now in operation ascribes a known hour to various members of his executive family.

Such planning brings to mind the lack of executive planning at another studio, where a producer has waited four days to see his chief on important production matters, and up to this writing hasn't seen him yet.

▽

Eleven New Films in Work

Production took an upswing during the week as eleven new pictures went into work and four came off the stages to leave a total of 41 before the cameras. In the new ones, melodrama and mystery seem to be the trend, as such titles as "Doomed to Die," "Murder in the Studio," "Double Door," "Dark Tower," "The Witching Hour," and "Murder on the Blackboard" emphatically indicate. These, coupled with "Murder in Trinidad," "Of Human Bondage," "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," "Without Honor" and "Return of the Terror" currently shooting, are in direct contrast to the production schedules of a year ago when the tide ran towards light entertainment from which the cycle of musicals evolved.

Most active of the studios is Paramount. While no pictures were completed, four new features joined the three already on the stages. First to start was the B. P. Schulberg production, "Thirty Day Princess," a Clarence Budington Kelland story, with screen play by Edwin Justus Mayer, which stars Sylvia Sidney and has Cary Grant, Edward Arnold and Vince Barnett in featured roles. Second is "Double Door," an Elizabeth MacFadden original, being directed by Charles Vidor with Kent Taylor, Evelyn Venable and Sir Guy Standing in the cast. Third is the tentatively titled "Little Miss Marker," adapted from a Damon Runyon Collier Magazine story by Joseph Moncure March, which numbers among its cast Adolphe Menjou, Dorothy Dell, Charles Bickford and brings into feature prominence little Shirley Temple of "Baby Burlesk" fame. This is another Schulberg production. In "The Witching Hour" the newcoming Elizabeth Young is teamed with Sir Guy Standing.

Three were given the starting gun at Warner Bros.—"Dr. Monica," "Friends of Mr. Sweeney" and "Dark Tower." The first, an adaptation of a popular continental stage play, numbers Kay Francis, Warren William, Jean Muir and Verree Teasdale Keighley. Comedy is the essence of the Mr. Sweeney opus, adapted from the Elmer Davis novel by Elmer Duff, which co-stars Charles Ruggles and Ann Dvorak. "Dark Tower" is an Edward G. Robinson vehicle.

Comedy and drama were counterbalanced at Columbia as work started on "Murder in the Studio" and "The Party's Over." First named is an original by Charles Condon, adapted by Harold Shumate and directed by C. Ross Lederman. Ralph Bellamy has the lead and Shirley Grey and Bradley Page are featured. "Party's Over" is a stage play adaptation by S. K. Lauren in which Stuart Erwin, Ann Sothern and Patsy Kelly are the principal laugh stimulators working under Walter Lang's direction.

Radio's contribution to the amateur crime sleuths' mental calisthenics is "Murder on the Blackboard," which provides an intriguing story for Edna May Oliver and James Gleason.

Winding up the list of starters is the Ken Maynard production "Doomed to Die," starring Maynard and Gloria Shea.

Four in Cutting Rooms

Four in the cutting rooms look interesting. Universal accounts for two, "Glamour" and "The Black Cat." In the first, an Edna Ferber story, Constance Cummings and Paul Lukas head an extensive cast which includes a host of wellknown screen names and which William Wyler directed. The thrill specialists, Karloff and Bela Lugosi, as well as David Manners, will be seen in "The Black Cat." Months in production, "Tarzan and His Mate," sequel to the original Johnny Weissmuller-Maureen O'Sullivan jungeleer, finally checked in at MGM.

After a ten day shooting schedule, Ken Goldsmith's "I Hate Women" was finished with Wallace Ford and June Clyde heading a strong cast.

▽

While in London, two youngsters from the States, traveling with their Pa and Ma, asked Roy Simmonds, Fox publicity representative, about the Nelson Columns and the Lions in Trafalgar Square.

"By any chance," said Simmonds, "are you referring to the Nelson Columns and the Lions made famous by 'Cavalcade'?"

Nat Pendleton, Columbia Grad and former Olympic wrestling champ, meeting Jerry Hoffman of the Examiner, commented on his triceps—arm muscles to you.

"Nix," said Jerry, "I'm a mental giant."

A stunt rider and double didn't associate with his pals for a few days until one of the boys discovered he had gotten out of the double class and was now alluding to himself as a "triple."

In explanation he said, "In the opera 'Bottoms Up,' a dame refuses to ride a balky horse, so the director gets her a double. Well, Sid Silvers plays the double. But Sid can't ride, either. The girl don't ride, Silvers don't ride, but I do the ride. So I'm a triple, and a fig and a thistle for you doubles."

At Paramount, suggestions for main titles are submitted by the studio staff on paper diagramed a la theatre marquee.

A title, to receive recognition, must have B.O. appeal, and contain less lettering than the number of light squares in the marquee.

One title submitter wanted to know why marquees were so important and if they were, how many marquees there were in the U. S.

Another title creator inquired, "Why are these marquees so sought after by screen stars?"

FREE BROADCAST FIGHT REACHES CLIMAX AT GOVERNMENT HEARING

Representatives of Amusement Divisions Meet with Deputy Administrator Farnsworth on Unfair Radio Practice Charge

Motion picture theatre owners who are troubled by the competition of free radio broadcasts for the public may get some relief before the weekend.

The fight being waged jointly by the motion picture and the stage against allegedly unfair competitive tactics of the radio, which is inducing thousands of entertainment seekers to attend free broadcasts to the detriment of theatre box-offices, finally reached a climax late Wednesday afternoon, when representatives of each of the three amusement divisions presented the case to the NRA at Washington for settlement. The complaint was based on the effect of the competition on theatre business and on theatre employment.

Farnsworth Calls Committees

The Administration authorized William P. Farnsworth, deputy administrator, to decide the matter, and he called together the representatives of each branch to present their views late Wednesday afternoon in the NRA offices in the Department of Commerce Building in the Capital. Acting for the motion picture were: Ed Kuykendall, president of the MPTOA; Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the New York Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, and W. C. Michel, of Fox, in the absence of Sidney R. Kent, Fox president. Representing the stage are: Marcus Heiman, chairman of the stage Code Authority's committee on broadcasting; William Elliott, president of the IATSE, and Frank Gillmore, Equity executive. Both groups had been named by their respective Code Authorities.

Representing the radio interests is a committee including: John Shepard, Boston; M. R. Runyon, New York; James Baldwin, Washington.

The Administration is expected to decide the issue immediately, and leaders of both the motion picture and the stage believe it will end a situation which brings to free broadcasts an attendance representing a potential $1,000,000 in annual theatre receipts in 17 cities alone, and 100,000 patrons every week who otherwise might be at the theatres.

Practice Declared Unfair

On Tuesday, the motion picture Code Authority in New York prepared a report, part of which was used in making the official complaint to the NRA late Wednesday. The report:

"Continued practice of radio broadcasting station in renting, leasing or acquiring auditoriums heretofore devoted to professional, musical, theatrical and/or motion picture entertainment is condemned by the joint committee (of the motion picture and the radio Code Authorities) as unfair competition against the industries which heretofore have made use exclusively of such auditoriums.

"Since the President's proclamation of emergency re-employment, last August, the legitimate theatrical and the motion picture industries have, through their trade associations, individual managements and Code Authorities subsequently appointed by the National Recovery Administration, worked diligently in the cause of re-employment of persons whose life-time talents and ability have been devoted to their respective industries.

"Investigation of the alarming growth of free radio auditions in halls outside of the auditoriums actually within the confines of the radio broadcasting stations, reveals a growth of the practice of renting theatres, halls and public places for free radio auditions and inviting thereto, without charge, large numbers of the public.

"Examination of the history of employment in the Hudson theatre during the year 1933 prior to the acquisition of the theatre for free radio broadcasts reveals the following figures:

"During the year 1933 the Hudson theatre was open for theatrical engagements 28 out of the 52 weeks of the year. Weekly payrolls were somewhat reduced in comparison with previous weekly payrolls during the weeks the theatre was open, due to the fact that a stock company was the producing organization for a large part of the time instead of the regular form of theatrical presentation company. The money paid for employment during the period of the 28 weeks which Hudson theatre was open, was as follows:

Actors Received Approximately	$45,000
Stage Hands	14,000
Front of House Employees	7,000
Total Salaries	$66,000

"While in themselves these figures may be regarded as a substantial amount, the continued policy of converting theatre auditoriums into halls for free public radio audiences creates in the minds of the joint committee a serious deterrent to the policies of the National Recovery Administration in its efforts to increase employment.

84,000 in 17 Cities

"The committee has at hand no offsetting figures of the present cost of operating the Hudson theatre as a free radio audition auditorium, but will stand on the statement that any additional radio employees engaged for the hours the Hudson theatre is used for this purpose must show comparable reduction in the central broadcasting office where such employees would be ordinarily engaged the same hours per day of the broadcasting. The joint committee is continuing its investigation in the comparative figures and will request the special committee of the radio Code Authority for co-operation to obtain such figures.

"A recent survey throughout the United States of attendance at free radio auditions reveals a weekly attendance at the present time in excess of 84,000 people in 17 cities. With more than 700 authorized broadcasting stations in the United States, the spread of this practice to other cities and the announced touring radio broadcasts of prominent radio personalities into smaller cities will immediately and appreciably increase these figures."

Heiman Protests Practice

In addition to the foregoing Code Authority's report, there was also made public a copy of a letter sent to the motion picture Code Authority by Marcus Heiman, chairman of the stage Code Authority's radio broadcasting committee, which reads, in part:

"The practice of advertising agencies distributing free admission tickets to auditoriums either located in radio stations or in theatres and public halls wired for radio broadcasts, comprises in the opinion of the Code Authority of the legitimate theatre, a form of such unfair competition that we solicit the assistance of the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry to formulate a plan of united action against this rapidly growing deterrent to our business and its thousands of employees.

"Buildings in large cities, heretofore exclusively devoted to theatrical entertainment, have been converted into free public halls, thus the employees of these theatres, numbering from thirty to twice that amount (including the artists appearing in attractions for which the theatres were constructed) are thrown out of employment and are replaced by a mere handful of temporary employees, engaged for one or two evenings for free broadcasting.

"A nation-wide report of this situation has been handed to me, indicating that at the present time more than eighty-five thousand people weekly attend such free broadcasts in only eighteen cities.

"Radio is entertainment for the home—is not a visual entertainment, and the efforts of advertising agencies to encroach upon legitimate and the motion picture fields, should be met at this time with vigorous protests, in our opinion."

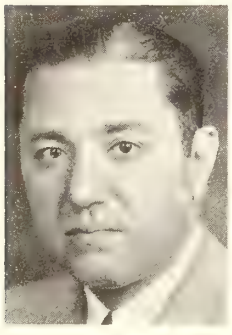
EVIDENCE IN CASE AGAINST RADIO

Estimated weekly attendance by the public at free radio broadcasts, in 17 cities, which figures were presented to the NRA this week by the motion picture and the stage in their fight against the alleged unfair competition of broadcasters and radio advertisers:

New York City	25,000
Chicago	12,000
Kansas City	9,000
Boston	9,000
Detroit	8,320
Oklahoma City	6,000
Philadelphia	3,500
Pittsburgh	3,000
Nashville	2,000
Cincinnati	1,800
Omaha	1,700
Seattle	750
San Francisco	700
Dallas	500
Charlotte	450
Salt Lake City	300
Des Moines	100
*Total for Week:	84,120
Total for Year	4,374,240

*For only 17 cities.

Flim and Stage Code Authorities Complain That 84,000 Individuals in 17 Cities Weekly Attend Free Radio Broadcasts



MEET YOUR LOCAL BOARD MEMBERS

JOHN DANZ (above), Seattle clearance board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, is president of Sterling Chain Theatres.

HARRY HUFFMAN (above), Denver Clearance Board, unaffiliated first - runs, heads General Theatres.

WILIAM BENJAMIN (above), Kansas City Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

CHARLES OLSEN (above) Indianapolis Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, operates Lyric theatre.

M. A. LIGHTMAN (below), Memphis Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, is president of Malco Theatres, Inc.

MAX STAHL (below), Minneapolis Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is United Artists manager.

P. E. KRIEGER (below), Cincinnati Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

RALPH TALBOT (below), Oklahoma City Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, is city manager of a Tulsa circuit.

FACE TO FACE WITH BOARDS' MEMBERS

In order to introduce members of the Local Grievance and Clearance Boards to all in the industry, in their territories, MOTION PICTURE HERALD with this issue inaugurates publication of pictures of these members. Representation within the several classifications of exhibitors and distributors under the Code also is defined.

Additional pictures will appear in succeeding issues.

Ten boards are yet to be named.

WARD SCOTT (above), Kansas City Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Fox district manager.

SIDNEY SAMSON (above), Buffalo Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Fox manager.

ALBERT SOTTILE (above), Charlotte Clearance Board, unaffiliated first - runs, owns several theatres.

C. E. WILLIAMS (below), Omaha Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, owns the Park theatre.

F. W. HUSS (below), Cincinnati Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates a neighborhood circuit.
(Photo copyright Bachrach)

AL ROSENBERG (below), Seattle Grievance Board, affiliated theatres, is identified with Evergreen Circuit.

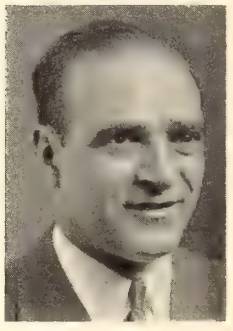
JAY MEANS (above), Kansas City Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, has two theatres.

MARTY SOLOMON (above), Indianapolis Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Columbia manager.

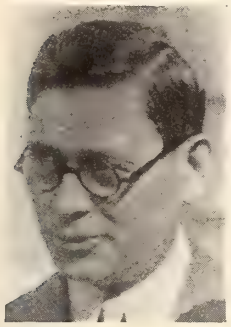
WALTER CREAL (above), Omaha Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, operates the Beacon theatre.

HARRY KALMINE (above), Pittsburgh Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, is Warner zone manager.

PAUL ROUSSEAU (below), Charlotte Grievance Board, impartial member, is secretary of Charlotte Merchants Association.



RALPH LI BEAU (below), Kansas City Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Paramount district manager.



AL FINKELSTEIN (below), Portland Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, is identified with Evergreen Circuit.

MAURICE WHITE (below), Cincinnati Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Warner manager.

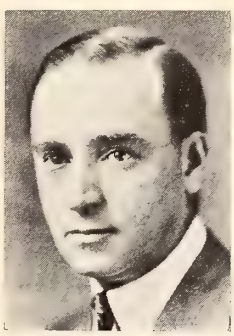
HANDLING GRIEVANCES AND ZONING

SOL RAIVES (above), Buffalo Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, heads Rojay Amusement Corporation.

H. A. GOODRIDGE (above), Denver Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, is secretary of International Amusemet Company.

LOU HALPER (above), Los Angeles Grievance Board, affiliated distributors, manages Warners' Southern California circuit.

SIDNEY NUTT (above), Memphis Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, operates two Little Rock theatres.



FRANK HARRIS (below), Pittsburgh Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, heads Harris Amusement Company.

W. A. SIPE (below), Memphis Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

JOSEPH FRIEDMAN (below), Minneapolis Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, operates St. Paul Strand theatre.

J. REAL NETH (below), Cincinnati Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, operates circuit at Columbus.

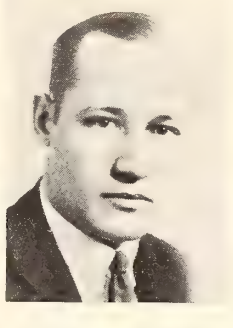
REPRESENTATION ON THE BOARDS

Clearance and Zoning Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated first-run theatre; one independent first-run theatre; two independent subsequent runs;

Grievance Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated theatre; one independent exhibitor.

CHARLES C. PICQUET (above), Charlotte Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, operates two theatres.

MORRIS JOSEPH (above), New Haven Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

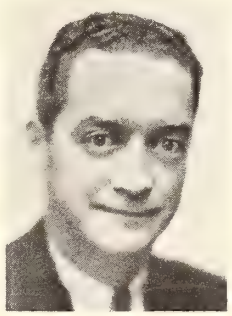


VINCENT R. MCFAUL (above), Buffalo Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, is general manager of Shea Theatrical Enterprises.

L. J. MCGINLEY (below), Seattle Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

ELMER C. RHODEN (below), Kansas City Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, is vice-president of Fox Midland, Rocky Mountain.

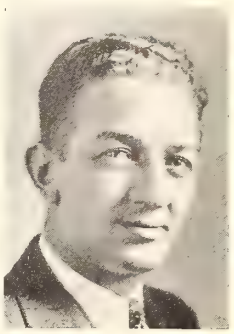
A. F. BAKER (below), Kansas City Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, manages the Electric, Kansas City, Kansas.



W. A. FINNEY (above). Cincinnati Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, is Loew's district manager.

LOUIS AMACHER (above), Portland Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is MGM manager.

EDWARD K. O'SHEA (above), Buffalo Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is MGM manager.



SOL DAVIS (above) Oklahoma City Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, manages Syndicate Pictures exchange.

MONTGOMERY HILL (below), Charlotte Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, is district manager of North Carolina Theatres, Inc.

DAVID MILLER (below), Buffalo Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

FRED M. MEYN (below), Kansas Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates the Pershing theatre.

J. H. ASHBY (below), Denver Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is RKO manager.

Allied Demands Changes in Code

(Continued from page 9)

Code are quite out of line with similar provisions in other codes and are not justified by the National Recovery Act.

"This Association also protested the appointment to the Code Committee of Mr. Ed Kuykendall, both in memoranda filed with Deputy Administrator Rosenblatt and in another memorandum. Since that time, and since his appointment to the Code Authority, Kuykendall has shown his bias and unfitness to serve by intemperate public utterances and by his conduct as a member of the Code Authority.

"This association has questioned the propriety of classifying Mr. Robert Cochrane as an 'unaffiliated' member of the Code Authority.

"The following suggestions are respectfully tendered:

"1. That at least two additional independent unaffiliated exhibitors be added to the Code Authority.

"2. That Mr. Kuykendall be removed as an independent unaffiliated representative.

"3. That two additional representatives of the Administrator be named to the Code Authority as contemplated by the code, they to have equal standing with Mr. Rosenblatt.

"4. That the local Clearance and Zoning Boards be enlarged by at least two additional unaffiliated subsequent run exhibitors.

"5. That the local Grievance Boards be enlarged by at least one additional unaffiliated exhibitor."

Allied also proposed an investigation of all trade practices and a report within 90 days.

More Boards to Be Named

Meanwhile, in New York, word was being awaited from the Code Authority as to the personnel of the remaining Local Clearance and Local Grievance boards which are still to be named for New York, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and Washington. Some of the proposed members are being contested.

The Code Authority also was working on new members for some of the boards already named, necessitated by the refusal of a few appointees in the field to serve on the boards.

Universal joined other large distributors in their stand against the ruling of Mr. Rosenblatt that the 10 per cent cancellation privilege is retroactive to December 7 on contracts signed before that date, but which contracts have releases following that date. A court battle by the distributors is expected.

Zirn's Petition Denied in Court

Petitions brought against Paramount Publix by Samuel Zirn, attorney for Robert Levy, a Paramount bondholder, and involving an action to have set aside Paramount's $13,200,000 bank transaction of 1932, were denied in New York Saturday by the appellate division of the New York supreme court.

Mr. Zirn said Saturday that the ruling decided "nothing material" in the case, and described the subject at issue to be merely "whether or not the trustee in bankruptcy was the only one who could bring an action of this kind or whether one bondholder could sue on behalf of all bondholders." He stated, however, that he would carry the appellate division's ruling to the court of appeals immediately.

Dolliver, Veteran Theatre Supply Dealer, Dead on Coast

Lester G. Dolliver, since 1929 head of the Western Theatrical Equipment Company, San Francisco, and a veteran in the equipment supply field, died last week in that city of a heart attack. At the convention last July Mr. Dolliver was elected vice-president of the Independent Theatre Supply Dealers Association.

For many years Mr. Dolliver conducted a supply business in San Francisco, the Exhibitors' Supply Company, which he later sold to the National Theatre Supply Company, Mr. Dolliver going over as vice-president and western district manager. Then followed the establishment of his own independent company.

Vitaphone Denied Rehearing Of Ruling Favoring Erpi

Motion of Vitaphone Corporation for a rehearing before it of the court's recent decision in favor of Electrical Research Products, Inc., in the arbitration phase of Warners' $50,000,000 action in connection with collection of sound royalties, was denied last week by the Delaware supreme court at Dover. This ruling, from which there is no appeal, provides Erpi with the opportunity denied it by chancery court, whose decision was overruled, to prove the validity of its contention that the matters at issue are properly the subject of arbitration. The hearing on these issues will be before Chief Judge Layton in the court of chancery.

Erpi also has accepted a settlement with the Victoria theatre at New Smyrna, Fla., and the Magnolia theatre at Titusville, Fla., following a court award entitling the company to collect back due payments for operation of Western Electric sound systems.

A. S. Kirkpatrick Dead; Was Educational Executive

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Rivervale, N. J., for Arthur S. Kirkpatrick, 53, former assistant general manager of Educational Film Exchanges, who died Sunday.

Mr. Kirkpatrick late in 1932 took a leave of absence from Educational because of ill health. He had entered the company in 1921 as assistant general manager and occupied that position for eleven years. He was at one time vice-president of Robertson-Cole and general manager of the old Mutual company.

59 Magazines Barred From New York Stands

Fifty-nine magazines and illustrated periodicals were barred this week from sale and display in New York by Paul Moss, commissioner of licenses. Among the names of the magazines appeared such titles as these: "Studio Art," Series No. 5; "Hollywood Squawks," November issue; "Gay Broadway." Names with variations of the word "Nudist" also were frequent among the publications barred.

Pathe Exchange Profit $386,629

Pathe Exchange, Inc., Stuart W. Webb president, on Tuesday reported a profit of $386,629 for the year ended Dec. 30, 1933. This compares with a loss of $114,651 in 1932.

To increased operations at the Bound Brook Laboratory in New Jersey, which began activity last October, was due credit for much of the improvement, A. B. Poole, treasurer, said.

Gross income from 1933 operations amounted to $312,243, but the cost of sales and rentals, in addition to general administration expenses, was $416,847, leaving a net loss of $104,603. Other income, however, including dividends from affiliated companies, interest earned and discount on 10-year 7 per cent sinking fund gold debentures purchased retirement, totaled $675,600. Interest charges amounted to $184,361.

Reorganization of Club Now Set, Says Louis Nizer

Reorganization and continuance of the New York Motion Picture Club has been assured by a sufficient increase in membership, it was indicated at a luncheon last week addressed by Will H. Hays and Louis Nizer, film attorney. Financial reorganization has already been completed, according to Mr. Nizer, including a new lease on the club quarters.

The club has been offered $10,000 for broadcasting rights to the Tuesday forum programs, Mr. Nizer said. The programs are to feature outstanding speakers, and will shortly be resumed on a semi-monthly basis. New officers are being selected for appointment. Mr. Hays paid tribute to the outgoing officers and asked industry support of the reorganized club. Lee Ochs is the retiring president.

Governor Lehman of New York, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, Will Rogers and Nicholas Murray Butler are to address meetings.

New Variety Club Is Formed in Kansas City

Theatre men of Kansas City have organized a Variety Club, with Frank Hensler as president. Largely instrumental in the establishment of the club were Charles Shafer and Arthur Cole. Mr. Shafer had been a member of the original club in Pittsburgh for two years. Weekly luncheon meetings of the Kansas City Club will be held on Mondays, at the Kansas Citian Hotel.

Members of the entertainment committee are: George Baker, chairman; Lawrence Lehman, John McManus, Irwin Dubinsky, Harry Paul, L. E. Pope. The membership committee consists of Bill Truog, Harris P. Wolfberg, Max Roth, Bob Withers and Peck Baker. Publicity is to be handled by Bill Warner, Barney Joffee, Leo Finkelstein and Al Finestone.

At a preliminary meeting presided over by Dave Miller, president of the Buffalo Film Board of Trade, plans were made for the formation of a Variety Club in Buffalo. A membership committee was named, with Mr. Miller as chairman and Herbert T. Silverberg as secretary. A charter was asked.

SECOND LIST OF SALARY TOTALS PAID FILM HEADS MADE KNOWN

Recapitulation of Total Payments to Executives of Four Companies Given to Senate, With Relation to '28-'33 Net

The government at Washington this week gave the public further knowledge of the composition of the payrolls of motion picture executives, when additional compilations were released from the massive report on salaries and bonuses paid to all executives in all industries, which report had been turned over to the Senate by the Federal Trade Commission.

Last week, on pages 11 and 12, MOTION PICTURE HERALD published the Commission's story about the large salaries and bonuses paid during the years 1928 to 1933 to some forty of the leaders of eight of the large motion picture corporations, as follows:

COLUMBIA—Harry Cohn, Jack Cohn.
CONSOLIDATED FILM—H. J. Yates.
FOX FILM—Winfield Sheehan, Jack Leo, Sidney Kent.
LOEW'S—Nicholas Schenck, David Bernstein, Arthur Loew, J. Robert Rubin, David Loew, Leopold Friedman, Felix Feist, Louis Mayer, Irving Thalberg.
PARAMOUNT—Adolph Zukor, Jesse Lasky, Elek Ludvigh, Sidney Kent, Ralph Kohn, Emil Shauer, Albert Kaufman, Sam Katz, Herman Wobber, Harry Goetz, Emanuel Cohen, John Hertz.
RADIO CORPORATION—James Harbord, David Sarnoff.
UNIVERSAL—Carl Laemmle, R. H. Cochrane.
WARNERS—Harry Warner, Jack Warner, Albert Warner, Sam Morris, I. D. Rossheim, A. C. Thomas, Herman Starr, Harold Bareford, S. P. Friedman.

Salaries and bonuses of the foregoing executives indicated that compensation paid to motion picture executives during the past six years averaged far in excess of practically every other major industry covered in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation for the Senate, which embraced 1,000 corporations. The Commission had obtained the data directly from each company.

Motion picture executives, and those in other fields, who are in the higher brackets, privately evidenced more than passing interest in the proposal made to the Senate by Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, that the pending tax bill be amended so as to impose an 80 per cent levy on all salaries in excess of $75,000 per year. If the proposal is made law, its effect would also be felt in Hollywood where salaries above $75,000 are common.

The Federal Trade Commission also submitted to the Senate a recapitulation of total payments paid to executives of each company and the relation of such total payments to the net income of each company for the years 1928 to 1933. These figures for Paramount, Warners, Eastman Kodak and Radio Corporation were made known this week, as follows:

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY:

	Total Cash Salaries and Other Compensation	Net Income
1928	511,001.25	20,110,440
1929	477,123.75	22,004,916
1930	537,939.58	20,353,789
1931	551,299.11	13,408,785
1932	571,215.12	6,058,749

PARAMOUNT PUBLIX CORPORATION:

1928	1,921,040	Not given
1929	4,062,700	Not given
1930	1,993,809	Not given
1931	941,988	Not given
1932	731,975	Not given

RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA (a):

1928	372,509	19,834,799
1929	648,207	15,892,562
1930	527,547	5,526,293
1931	340,000	768,903
1932	293,138	*1,133,586

WARNER BROTHERS PICTURES, INC.:

1929	1,006,924	14,514,628
1930	1,068,353	7,074,621
1931	1,412,663	*7,918,604
1932	880,543	*14,095,054

(a) The compensation of some of the executive officers and directors of this company include that received from subsidiary and affiliated companies.
* Loss.

Prominent in the second group of salary and bonus payments to motion picture individuals during the period from 1928 to 1933, and made public this week at Washington, were those made to RKO executives, and to MGM officials in addition to payments made by Loew's and reported last week.

Joseph P. Kennedy, now in retirement from motion picture activities, although quite active in the distillery business, got $104,000 as a Pathe official during 1929. Phil Reisman's last yearly paycheck while at Universal, for 1931, totaled $68,000. He is now with RKO. James R. Grainger's 1933 stipend from Universal was $52,000.

Breakdown of Second Group

Harold B. Franklin got $75,000 from RKO in 1933, and $60,000 in 1932, when the company paid him a bonus of $320; he did not receive any bonus last year. B. B. Kahane's salary at RKO climbed steadily from $22,500 in 1928 to $50,000 in 1933. His bonuses varied: 1928, $100; 1929, $11,262; 1930, $19,362, and they dropped considerably, to $520, in 1931, $440, in 1932, and zero in 1933.

The highest salary received at any time during the period by E. S. Bloom, head of Western Electric, was $90,000, in 1929—the peak year, when motion picture individuals drew such figures as: $140,000, Harry Cohn; $130,000, Winfield Sheehan; $362,000 to Nicholas Schenck; $256,000, David Bernstein; $887,000 to Adolph Zukor and to Jesse Lasky; $707,000, Sidney R. Kent; $710,000, Sam Katz.

Following is a breakdown of the second group of motion picture executives' salaries as made public this week by the Senate and the Federal Trade Commission at Washington.

PATHE EXCHANGE, INC.

	Salary	Bonus Or Other Compensation	Total
Elmer Pearson:
1928	$ 53,437	none listed	$.53,437
J. P. Kennedy:
1929	$104,000	none listed	$104,000
1930	44,000	"	44,000

Salaries of Bankers Identified With Motion Picture Financing Also Made Known in the Trade Commission's Reports

RADIO CORPORATION

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Edward J. Nally:
1928	none listed	$ 53,420	$ 53,240
Owen Young:
1928	$ 50,000	$ 1,600	$ 51,600
1929	50,000	1,460	51,460
1930	50,000	1,660	51,660
1931	40,000	1,700	41,700
1932	40,000	2,060	42,060
Alfred Goldsmith:
1929	$ 12,000	$84,125	$ 96,125
1930	18,000	none listed	18,000
1931	18,000	"	18,000
1932	16,500	"	16,500
James G. Harbord:*
1928	$ 48,167	$ 48,755	$ 96,922
1929	60,000	73,540	133,540
1930	60,000	45,440	105,440
1931	42,000	2,220	44,220
1932	48,000	2,320	50,320
1933	48,000	none listed	48,000
David Sarnoff:*
1928	$ 55,000	$ 41,115	$ 96,115
1929	105,000	103,693	208,693
1930	110,000	93,478	203,478
1931	110,000	1,840	111,840
1932	92,625	2,240	94,865
1933	51,250	none listed	51,250

* Payments to both James Harbord and David Sarnoff were reported in the first group of last week; they are re-published to show a comparison with the other RCA executives.

▽

RKO CORPORATION AND SUBSIDIARIES

	Salary	Compensation	Total
Hiram Brown:
1928	$ 6,707	$ 120	$ 6,827
1929	75,000	60,826	135,826
1930	75,000	97,697	172,697
1931	100,000	580	100.580
1932	80,000	440	80,440
David Sarnoff:
1928	none listed	$ 120	$ 120
1929	$ 50,000	30,373	80,373
1930	50,000	48,858	98,858
1931	50,000	400	50,400
1932	37,000	740	37,740
Edward Albee:
1928	$ 56,999	$ 60	$ 57,059
1929	none listed	300	300
Joseph Plunkett:
1929	$50,000	$ 10,842	$ 60,842
1930	50,000	19,322	69,322
1931	50,000	300	50,300
1932	23,625	300	23,925
B. B. Kahane:
1928	$ 22,500	$ 100	$ 22,600
1929	31,250	11,262	42,512
1930	35,000	19,362	54,362
1931	40,000	520	40,520
1932	46,418	440	46,858
1933	50,000	none listed	50,000
H. B. Franklin:
1933	$75,000	none listed	$75,000

▽

UNIVERSAL PICTURES

	Salary	Bonus	Total
Carle Laemmle:*
1928	$132,000	none listed	$132,000
1929	181,500	"	181,500
1931	156,000	"	156,000

(Continued on following page, column 1)

MORE SALARIES OF FILM LEADERS

1932	156,000	"	156,000
1933	146,000	"	146,000
R. H. Cochrane:*
1929	$ 35,000	none listed	$ 35,000
1932	26,000	"	26,000
Lou Metzger:
1928	$ 36,050	none listed	$ 36,050
1929	51,966	"	51,966
1930	43,666	"	43,666
Phil Reisman:
1930	$ 26,250	none listed	$ 26,250
1931	68,000	"	68,000
James Grainger:
1933	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000

*Re-published from first group of last week.

▽

WESTERN ELECTRIC

	Salary	Bonus Or Other Compensation	Total
E. S. Bloom:
1928	$ 82,500	$ 1,220	$ 83,720
1929	90,000	1,340	91,340
1930	90,000	1,770	91,770
1931	87,273	1,750	89,023
1932	77,541	1,620	79,161
1933	66,207	none listed	66,207
C. G. Stoll:
1928	$ 38,500	$ 860	$ 39,360
1929	48,000	760	48,760
1930	60,000	1,100	61,100
1931	58,182	1,180	59,362
1932	51,694	1,060	52,754
1933	44,138	none listed	44,138

▽

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER CORPORATION

(Loew's Salaries Appeared Last Week)

	Salary	Bonus Or Other Compensation	Total
Nicholas M. Schenck:
1928	$ 52,000	none listed	$ 52,000
1929	52,000	"	52,000
1930	52,000	"	52,000
1931	52,000	"	52,000
1922	49,900	"	49,900
1933	33,800	"	33,800
David Bernstein:
1929	$ 62,400	none listed	$ 62,400
1930	62,400	"	62,400
1931	62,400	"	62,400
1932	59,880	"	59,880
1933	40,560	"	40,560
Arthur Loew:
1928	$ 70,000	none listed	$ 70,000
1929	78,000	"	78,000
1930	78,000	"	78,000
1931	78,000	"	78,000
1932	113,000	"	113,000
1933	155,500	"	155,500
Louis Mayer:
1928	$130,000	(a)	(a)
1929	130,000	"	"
1930	130,000	"	"
1931	130,000	"	"
1932	125,625	"	"
1933	84,500	"	"
Irving Thalberg:
1928	$208,000	(a)	(a)
1929	208,000	"	"
1930	208,000	"	"
1931	208,000	"	"
1932	201,000	"	"
1933	135,200	"	"
J. Robert Rubin:
1928	$ 88,400	(a)	(a)
1929	88,400	"	"
1930	88,400	"	"
1931	88,400	"	"
1932	84,810	"	"
1933	57,460	"	"

"(a) The combined other compensation paid to Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg and J. Robert Rubin in 1928 was $1,060,848, in 1929 $1,755,723, in 1930 $2,212,889, in 1931 $1,748,785 and in 1932 $922,141. These amounts were not a bonus but were their share of the profits under a contract between them and Loew's, Inc., and Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, whereby Louis B. Mayer and his two partners, then operating under the corporate title of Louis B. Mayer Pictures, Inc., turned over their business, good-will and other assets, including valuable contracts with stars, directors, etc., to Metro Pictures Corporation. They took no stock in exchange for their business but received an interest of 20 per cent in the future profits of the Metro Pictures, Inc. They agreeing to devote their entire time and talent to the making of all the pictures to be manufactured by Metro Pictures Corporation

"At the same time this contract was entered into there was a merger between Metro Pictures Corporation and the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, so that the Metro Pictures Corporation, with the Mayer assets and personnel combined with the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, under the heading of Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation and the pictures to be made by this combination were to be called Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures. The contract as originally made was extended from time to time and modified to the point where the partnership, Louis B. Mayer Pictures, received in addition to fixed salary, a percentage of the excess net profits of Loew's, Inc., after deducting all charges including adjusted depreciation, Federal taxes, preferred dividends and deduction for dividends on the common stock of Loew's at the rate of $1.60 per share. Such interest in Loew's excess net profits is at the rate of 20 per cent on the first $2,500,000 net profits remaining after the above deductions and 15 per cent on the subsequent net profits. (The present dividend paid on the common stock is at the rate of $1 per share.)

"In 1928 and 1929 Louis B. Mayer was vice president and a director of Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation and J. Robert Rubin was vice president, secretary and a director. In 1930, 1931 and 1932 J. Robert Rubin was vice president, secretary and a director of Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation.

Bankers' Salaries Listed

Bankers identified with film financing were listed in the Federal Trade Commission's salary and bonus reports released Monday.

Dr. A. H. Giannini, chairman of the executive committee of Bank of America, National Trust and Savings Association, San Francisco, was listed first with a salary of $40,000; Hubert P. Howell, president of the Commercial National Bank and Trust Co., New York, $67,500; S. Sloan Colt, president, Bankers' Trust Co., $66,750; George W. Davison, chairman of the board, Central Hanover Bank and Trust Co., $100,000; Percy H. Johnson, president, Chemical Bank and Trust Co., $125,000, and Harvey D. Gibson, chairman of the board. Manufacturers' Trust Co., $125,000.

The bankers named, with the exception of D. Gibson, chairman of the board of Manufac- 000 refinancing of Paramount Public in 1932.

Lester Martin Moves Office

Lester Martin, secretary of Allied of Iowa and Nebraska, has moved his office from Nevada, Iowa, to the Hotel Savery, in Des Moines, during the fight on the proposed admission tax. Mr. Martin is also a candidate for secretary of the arbitration board under the code.

Goldwyn Decries Alien Limit Bill As Blow to Films

Samuel Goldwyn, Hollywood producer, who recently glorified a Russian peasant in the person of Miss Anna Sten, this week gave a new demonstration of his fondness for the cause of the "struggling" actors in the motion picture capital.

Following closely upon the release of "Nana," for which he imported Miss Sten, teaching her English for the part, Mr. Goldwyn late last week launched an attack in the press on the Dickstein bill which would limit the importation of foreign motion picture talent. The bill was reported favorably last Thursday out of the Immigration Committee, and it was believed that a special rule will be asked in order to bring it up quickly before the House.

"Hollywood will be half empty" if the bill is made law, warned Mr. Goldwyn and "actors will be at the Senate asking for doles."

Sees Danger of Boycott

"If we stop the entry of foreign personalities in this country," he told the newspapers, "what is to prevent boycott of our pictures—with American personalities—abroad?"

Producers "definitely depend on the foreign business," Mr. Goldwyn declared. He said it equals their revenue at home, and would be cut off by the Dickstein bill, "for countries abroad would retaliate."

He raised the question, "What harm has Maurice Chevalier done in this country?" and answered that interchange of talent between countries "gives new life, injects new blood."

"Norma Shearer is as great in England as Ronald Colman is here. What kick has America got coming?"

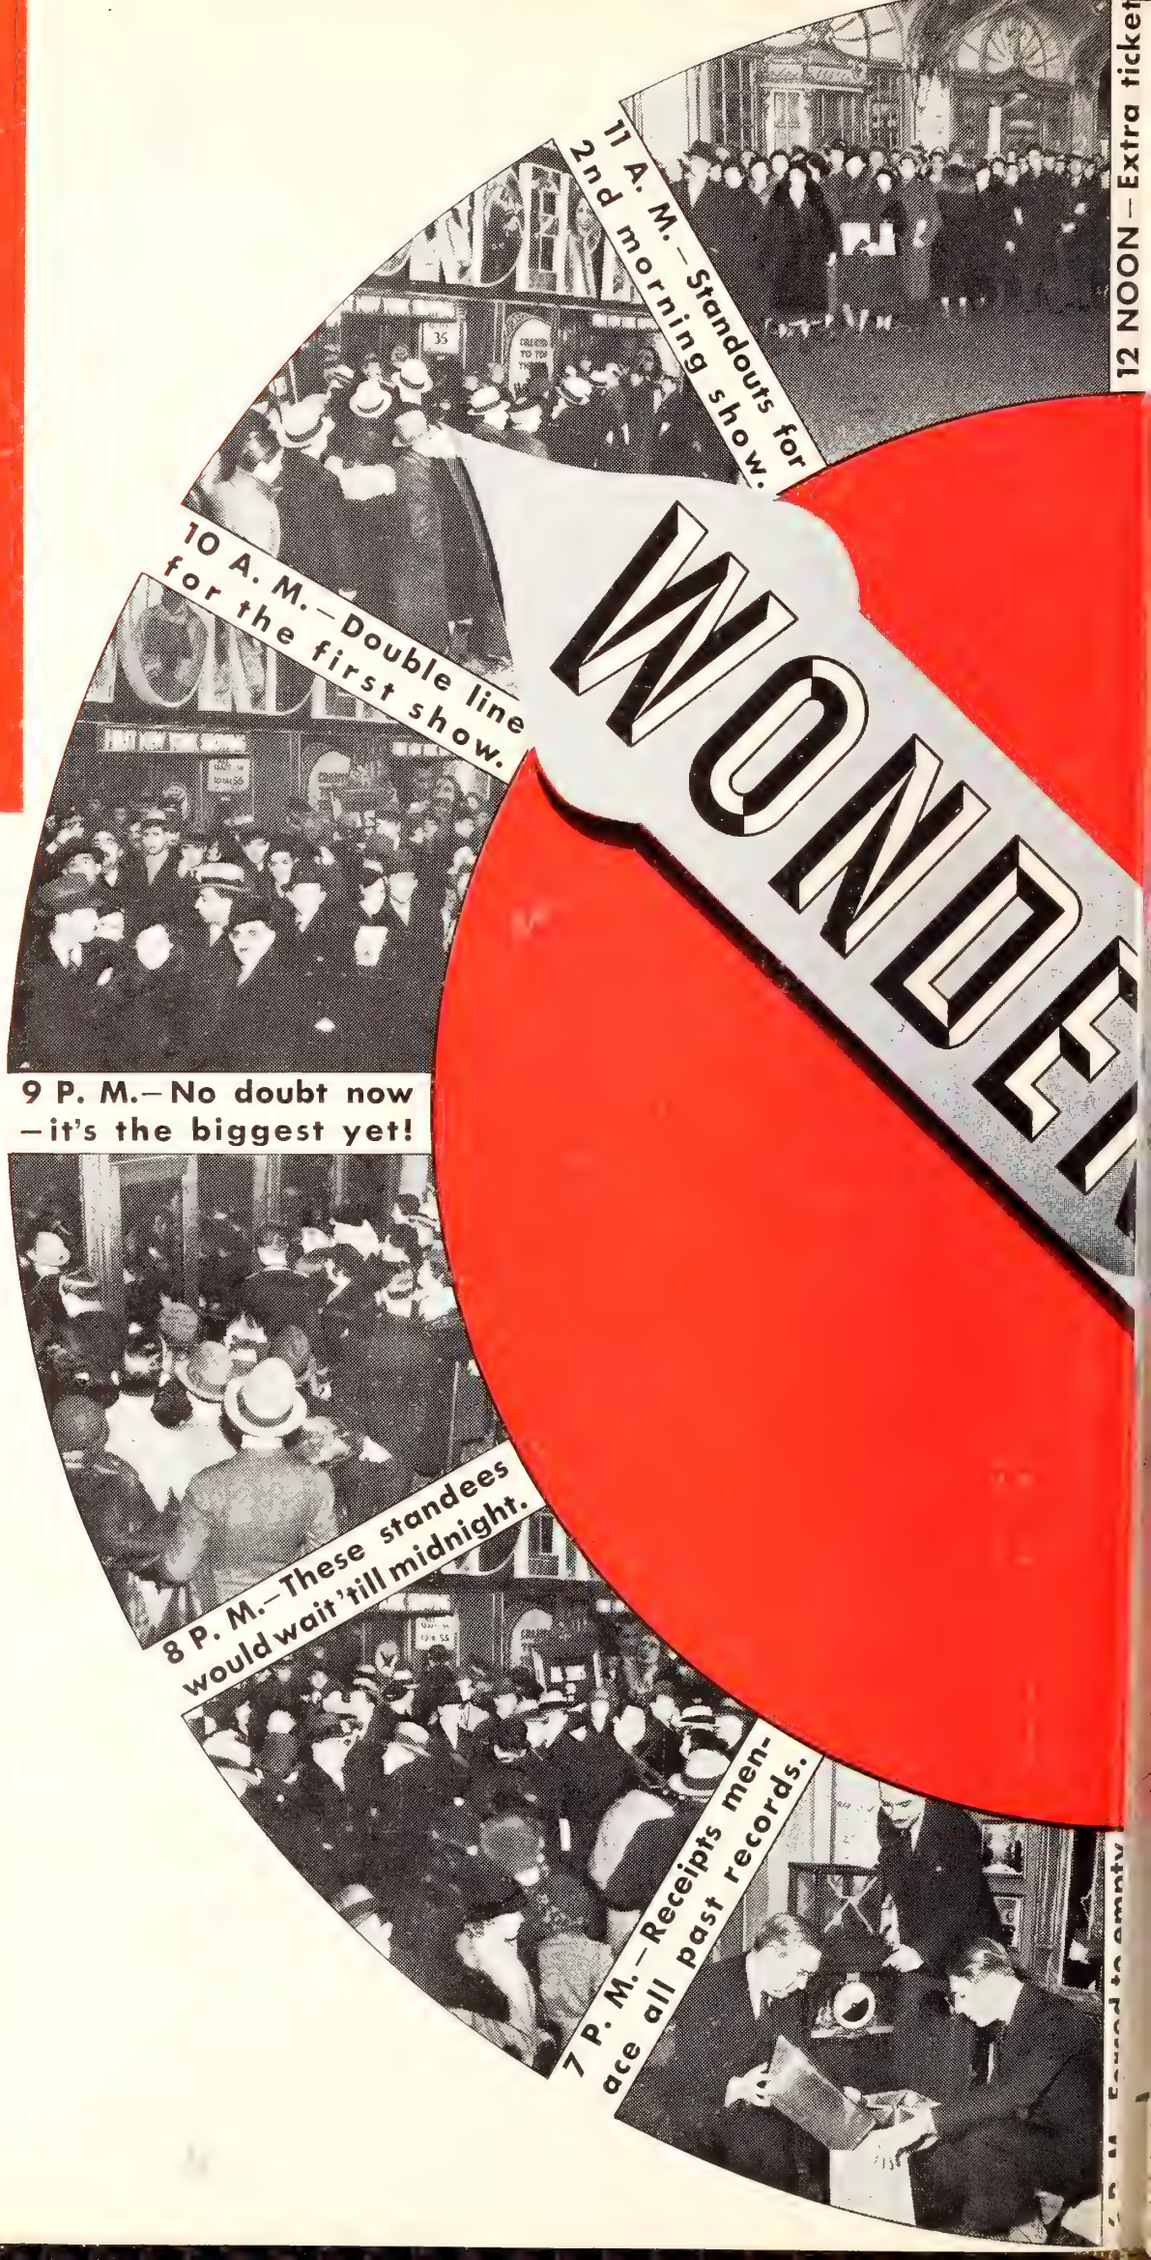
Mr. Goldwyn added that "every other country is trying to help the motion picture industry, but this country figures up ways and means of hurting it."

Questions Government Interference

He commented that the Dickstein bill would leave it up to the Government to decide what foreign actors should come in. "Since when," he inquired, "has the Labor Department, or a Senate committee, been able to decide about talent?

"Personalities are rare. They are like diamonds. You have to take them where you find them. They aren't dealing with bricklayers."

Mr. Goldwyn declared that producers are making every effort to find great American talent. But the Dickstein bill, he said, "would curtail rather than create jobs for Americans."



"For example," he illustrated, "my employment of Anna Sten gave jobs to thousands. I wasn't paying Anna Sten—I was paying the people in Hollywood."

Southern Operator Dead

Sam Zerilla, operator of the Daisy and Grand theatres, in Memphis, died recently. As a young man Mr. Zerilla was a clarinet player in the band of John Phillip Sousa.

WONDER BAR
TOPS "FOOTLIGHT PARADE" BY 4.1%
TOPS "GOLD DIGGERS" BY 5.4%
TOPS "42ND STREET" BY 9.2%
IN B'WAY PREMIERE

HERE'S ACTUAL HOUR-BY-HOUR PHOTO RECORD OF OPENING DAY THAT MADE STRAND HISTORY

"Magnificent musical. Don't miss it. Surpasses in splendor 42nd Street and Gold Diggers. 'Goin' to Heaven on a Mule' number worth the whole price of admission."
—N. Y. Mirror

And at the Pittsburgh Stanley last Friday "Wonder Bar" without stage show opened exactly 25% over previous week's combined screen and big stage name attraction!

AROUND THE CLOCK WITH THE PICTURE OF THE HOUR AT LAST WEDNESDAY'S N.Y. PREMIERE

DON'T BE AN EGG THIS EASTER!

Grab THE BIG SHOW for the big show week of the season while the grabbing's good! Start telling the folks right now that you're going to give them . . . . . .

KAY FRANCIS — AL JOLSON

DICK POWELL — DOLORES DEL RIO

RICARDO CORTEZ — HAL LEROY

GUY KIBBEE — HUGH HERBERT

RUTH DONNELLY — FIFI D'ORSAY

LOUISE FAZENDA — MERNA KENNEDY

ROBERT BARRAT — HENRY O'NEILL

in

WARNER BROS.' WONDER BAR

FOR EASTER WEEK

Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley... A First National picture. Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

Put one or more of these ready-made cutouts in your lobby now to start building for your opening! . . .

FINDS EXHIBITORS ARE CONFIDENT

To the Administrator
National Recovery Administration
Washington, District of Columbia
Sir:

There are 389,000 wage earners in the Motion Picture Industry* directly affected by the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry.

Frank discussion of the reception of the Code must admit at the outset an eager impatience on the part of the industry as a whole for the full operation of its provisions. Some criticism from quarters unfamiliar with the complexities of the Code machinery require answer and explanation.

The Code was signed by the President on November 27th last and its provisions became effective on December 7th last. Thereafter followed conferences lasting ten days which delayed the preliminary organization until a supplementary memorandum was signed by the Administrator.

The first meeting of the Code Authority of ten industry representatives, appointed by the President, was held on December 20th last. Preliminary Committees were elected at this meeting and a week later determination of staff personnel was reached. Since the first meeting and until the present date, more than thirty Committee meetings have been held. Also seven full sessions of the Code Authority, each lasting from four to eight hours and each devoted to earnest executive discussion, to the end that the organization of the numerous industry boards and committees operating in thirty-one principal cities of the country and additional committees in Hollywood, California, might be expeditiously created and their work initiated.

Organization Nearly Completed

Within a period of slightly more than two months, the organization job has nearly been completed. A resumé of what has been accomplished by the Code Authority will reveal to the industry and to the Administrator a record of what remains to be done before the full effectiveness of the provisions of the Code may be measured in terms of coordinating a great industry with the National Recovery plans of the Washington Administration.

The Code in its complete form, as distributed by the Superintendent of Documents, comprises forty-two pages of closely spaced type. Four large and separate divisions of the industry, are directly affected by its provisions in amazing detail. The Code required more than three months in birth from the day the Division Administrator commenced public hearings on the subject of codification. Stated briefly, the industry divisions affected are:

1. Motion Picture Production

(a) Labor. Complete classifications of studio labor other than artist labor, is set forth with wage schedules, most of which are protected mutually by period contracts with labor organizations.

(b) Artists. Standing Committees, numerous in personnel and in number are provided for, members of which are appointed by the Code Authority in some instances. More than 15,000 artists ranking from classified extras to writers, directors and screen stars, are given representation in most cases equally with studio management on these committees and boards. Other relationships, heretofore governed solely by individual contracts between artists and studio employers, are subject to regulation and control under the Administrative machinery of the Code.

2. Vaudeville and Presentation Actor Labor

The Code provides for minimum wage scales for artists and maximum hour limitations for some artists under numerous classifications of talent, appearing on stages in vaudeville and motion picture theatres. A survey recently completed by the Code Authority reveals that more than 4,000 such artists are at present actively engaged in their profession, most of them moving weekly or more frequently from one theatre to another.

3. Distribution

More than 700 individual film Exchanges are situated throughout the United States in more than 40 cities, called Distributing Centers. Half of these represent branch offices of national motion picture distributors. The remainder are independent territorial distributing offices. The Code makes mandatory issuance of fire protection regulations promulgated by the Code Authority applicable to all of these distributing offices. The Code provides machinery for regulation of trade practices affecting the functions of the film Exchanges.

4. Exhibition

There are in active operation between 14,000 and 15,000 theatres in the United States, of which more than two thirds are in competitive zones. The Code contains detailed schedules of theatre labor and wage classifications; also provisions for arbitration of wage disputes. Unfair trade practices of numerous kinds are prohibited by the Code and machinery of a volunteer cooperative nature is provided for the settlement of protests and grievance between theatres and between theatres and exchanges.

Principal industry interest in the Code at the present time centers around the appointment of 62 quasi-judicial boards in 31 cities of the country. Two boards will be set up in each city, a Local Clearance and Zoning Board comprised of six industry members of different trade classifications and an impartial Code Authority representative approved by the Administrator; also a Local Grievance Board composed of four industry members of special classifications, and an impartial Code representative, approved by the Administrator.

Preliminary to the appointment of the Local Boards, nominations from exhibitor and distributor organizations and individuals were solicited by the Code Authority and nearly 2,000 names were submitted for appointment to 372 places on the Boards.

Fifty-two local boards have been appointed by the Code Authority at this date, with the prospect of the remaining ten being appointed within the next week.

Concurrently, the Code Authority has received and tabulated in duplicate some 9,000 properly executed special forms of assent to the Code by distributors and exhibitors, a mandatory requirement under the Code before industry members may claim the privileges of protest and complaint to the Local Boards.

The Code Authority presents the foregoing in the nature of a memorandum of its activities during the organization period of the past two months. The Division Administrator has made a preliminary survey of the production field, and a special committee has investigated the vaudeville and presentation field. The close contact between the Code Authority operating from New York headquarters and the Division Administrator and his staff in Washington has made possible the settlement of scores of labor disputes and the prohibition of numerous unfair trade practices which have been handled prior to the establishment of the entire administrative machinery.

The effect of the President's Emergency Reemployment Proclamation and the agreement unanimously accepted within the motion picture industry last August, resulted in an immediate material increase in the number of employees added to the payrolls, and a material increase in the amount of weekly wages paid to employees. In the very short time since the beginning of its operation, the Code Authority, pressed with matters needing immediate attention, has not compiled a complete industry resumé of the effect of the Code upon all of the nearly 400,000 employees whose livelihood is directly concerned with its provisions.

However, several specific and accurate investigations have been made in each general division of the industry named above; production, vaudeville and presentation actor labor, distribution and exhibition.

PRODUCTION

In one of the major studios in Hollywood during the months of October and November, 1933, before the Motion Picture Code provisions were put into effect, but subsequent to the acceptance and application of the President's Emergency Reemployment agreement there was an average of seven feature pictures in production, which employed an average of 478 persons per day per picture. In December and January this year at the same studio, with five pictures in production, the average number of people employed was 603 persons, per day per picture, showing an average of 20 per cent increase in numbers employed.

A check-up with several of the major studios reveals that this percentage of increase generally exists and in some instances, the increased percentage of employment in the months cited above will run as high as 35 per cent. It is a conservative statement therefore, that the

FACTS REVEALED IN FLINN REPORT

There are 389,000 wage earners in the motion picture industry affected by the Code. More than 15,000 artists, "ranking from classified extras to writers, directors and screen stars, are given representation in most cases equally with studio management" on committees and boards.

More than 4,000 vaudeville and presentation artists "are at present actively engaged" weekly in vaudeville and motion picture theatres.

More than 700 individual film exchanges are situated in more than 40 cities in the United States.

There are in active operation between 14,000 and 15,000 theatres in the United States, of which more than two-thirds are in competitive zones.

---

* Speaking as recently as two weeks ago, before a joint meeting of the American Institute of Physics and the New York Electrical Society in New York City, figures of numbers of persons employed in industries that have directly grown from modern scientific invention, Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, submitted the following compilation of employees by industries:

Automobile	2,400,000	Steamship	217,000
Electrical Equipment	1,000,000 (plus)	Machine Tools	87,000
		Refrigeration	72,000
Motion Picture	389,000	Airplane	50,000
Telephone	357,000	Rayon	41,000

THEATRE PAYROLLS UP 10 TO 15%

Motion Picture Studios have increased employment in numbers of persons daily engaged between 25 per cent to 35 per cent since the Code became effective on December 7th last.

An accurate estimate of increased labor costs in motion picture production in a second Hollywood Studio revealed the following: With the same number of pictures produced in 1934, under the Code schedules of labor wages as was produced in 1933, the Code provisions will require a daily increase of 377 employees to a total increase in the year's production costs amounting to $500,000.00.

At a third major studio in Hollywood, the following comparison is made: The week ending June 17, 1933, 2,039 employees received in wages $234,813.57. For the week ending October 14, 1933, (during the period prior to the operation of the Code provisions, but within the period of the President's Emergency Re-employment Agreement schedules) there were 3,976 employees engaged to a total payroll amount of $327,769.49 for the week. This was an increase of 1,937 employees over the week ending June 17, 1933 and an increased payroll in the amount of $92,955.92 for the week.

In the larger independent studios in Hollywood, the increased employment has been approximately 20% in laboring divisions and to an appreciable extent in staff and office workers. The cost of other factors pertaining to productions is also increased without any apparent increase in quality of material purchased. Motion picture productions demand unique personal service in the key positions of the unionized labor divisions. In most instances these key men have insisted upon and and are receiving wages far in excess of the Code provisions. The Code is working employment hardship on people who were steadily employed and upon the independent producer, but is advantageous in spreading employment.

VAUDEVILLE AND PRESENTATION ACTOR LABOR

A survey by a special Committee of the Code Authority appointed within the last month to investigate the provisions of the Code applicable to vaudeville and presentation theatre labor together with a statistical investigation of the subject by the Code Authority reveals there are approximately 4,000 actors engaged weekly in vaudeville and presentation theatres. More than 700 of these are employed as resident artists in presentation theatres of the deluxe type, best exemplified by the Radio City Music Hall, the Capitol and the Paramount Theatres in New York City; the Chicago Theatre in Chicago, the Ambassador Theatre in St. Louis and others. More than 3,000 artists are engaged in touring units ranging from individual acts to groups numbering as high as fifty persons. The Code provisions establish certain minimum wages which mitigate seriously against the appearance of untried talent. The custom in the vaudeville and presentation fields for many years has permitted ambitious young artists to prove their talent and merit through the medium of tryout engagements, a practice which has been seriously disturbed and in some sections completely eliminated due to some of the schedules of minimum wages. A complete and comprehensive report of these provisions is in the hands of the Division Administrator and it was at his request that the survey herewith mentioned in general terms, was made.

DISTRIBUTION

In compliance with Code provisions, a national distributor reports the home office and 31 film exchanges show an increased employment of 83 persons, some of them to be considered in the executive class, showing an increase in the annual payroll expense in home office administration and distribution of $700,000.

Another national distributor in the week ending June 17, 1933, employed 888 persons in 31 film exchanges to a total weekly payroll of $28,981.05. In the same film exchanges for the week ending October 14, 1933, there were 949 employees, an increase of 61, and a weekly payroll of $31,115.21. The home office increase in the same weeks was 25 persons or a total of 709 persons receiving $45,962.35, an increase of $1,116.48 over the week ending on June 17, 1933.

EXHIBITION

The average weekly payrolls in the theatres of the industry have been increased from 10% to 15% and the hours of labor reduced. From the Southeastern territory a report is at hand that wages have been increased 13% and the number of employees in the theatres in that section has increased 17%.

In one of the major theatre circuits the number of employees engaged during the week ending June 17, 1933, was 4,018 persons, receiving a weekly payroll of $120,281.68. In the same theatres which are situated in numerous cities east of the Mississippi River, during the week ending October 14, 1933, there were 4,516 employees, an increase of 498 who receive a weekly payroll of $133,309.11, a weekly increase of salaries of $13,057.43.

Another major circuit of theatres has made a very exhaustive computation of additions to payroll for all controlled theatres of the company for the period when the temporary code went into effect towards the latter part of August until the time when the permanent Code of the Motion Picture Industry went into effect in December. There was no set date for making operative the schedules of the industry Code and in one of the large cities the actual Code schedules covering labor wages were put into operation a month prior to the effective date of the Code. For the month of January when the Code was in effect, the number of persons employed was substantially the same as in the preceding period, although there was a minor decrease in payrolls due to some changes in the Code which were more favorable to the employer than those in the temporary Code.

During the temporary Code period of approximately four months this theatre circuit's total increase, which was clearly and unmistakably attributed to the Code, was $284,816.54 or a total increase in the entire theatre payroll of 14.6%. During the same period there were other additions in payroll which were at least partly due to the Code and may have also been partly due to other causes which it was impossible to break down into Code and non-Code exhibits. This item was $110,822.63. Therefore, the total increase during the temporary Code period, that is to say, from August until mid-December was $395,639.15 or a total increase in the payroll of 20.2% during the period in question.

The total decrease from the time the permanent Code was put into effect until the end of February, 1934, in the theatres of this circuit was $5,310.62.

BOX OFFICE RECEIPTS

It would follow logically that whatever increase in the total number of employees and weekly payroll sums became necessary to the motion picture industry under the President's Emergency Re-employment Agreement and subsequently under the industrial code of the National Recovery Administration, that the motion picture industry was not alone in the position of absorbing additional expense of a very substantial amount. That other industries likewise responded is best exemplified and proven by the increase in paid theatre patronage throughout the United States. Such an analysis the Code Authority has received from all of the leading trade press editors and publishers who from week to week have accurate information from correspondents throughout the country.

One of them reports it is his observation that business on the whole has improved in the past four months, but to scale this advance by a definite percentage would be difficult. In the picture houses, results point to the fact that box-office grosses in key cities have been on the up-grade to a greater extent than in the lesser cities. In general, it may be said that business conditions continue their inclination to be spotty, or in other words, good business depends upon strong attractions.

Hence improvement which has been noted in receipts at picture theatres may be ascribed to better product than to any general outpouring of the public going to a picture merely because it is a picture. It may be construed that the public is still shopping for its film entertainment, but at least it now has the money to buy when it finds something it wants to see. This was not true a year or eighteen months ago when good pictures had to struggle to do a fair business.

Along these lines there has been a noteworthy improvement in the entire South. Texas can serve as an example where the Inter-State Circuit revived vaudeville in its theatres in a form known as units, and through this combination of pictures and vaudeville this circuit is estimated to have increased its grosses as much as 300% as against an increased overhead of 50%. While this may be an isolated example, and while it is perhaps too soon to

(Continued on following page, column 1)

HARD WORK AHEAD, SAYS JOHN FLINN

The period of preparation and organization in connection with the Motion Picture Code is closing, and the second phase—the period of demonstration—is close at hand, the time not having yet arrived for criticism or praise, says John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Code Authority, in his report to NRA Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, covering the period from the Code Authority's first meeting, December 20, up to March 3.

The entire text of Mr. Flinn's report appears on these pages.

Cites Confidence of the Exhibitors say that it is indicative, it may be conservatively stated that the results obtained by this theatre circuit have influenced vaudeville men to make a close study of the situation and has revived hope for a branch of the show business which was generally adjudged to be dormant.

(Continued from preceding page)

A recent survey in the Middle West of picture house notes that many of the theatres there are doing better gross business at the matinees than at night. In general this is ascribed to cheaper afternoon prices, money in the hands of C. W. A. workers, and the shorter working hours plus a continued tendency to stay home at night to listen to radio programs.

From another prominent trade publication the Code Authority has received comparative figures of attendance for the calendar weeks beginning October 7, 1933 and ending February 24, 1934, from the cities of Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Detroit, Hollywood, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Montreal, New York, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Montreal, Philadelphia, Portland, San Francisco and Seattle. The theatres are mostly first-run houses.

The analysis shows the highest weekly receipts of the period were for the week ending October 21 last and the lowest weekly receipts were reported for the week ending December 23 last.

One of the editors has just returned to New York from a two-months' expedition to Hollywood by motor, stopping in all manner of towns from key cities to tanks along the southern routes and he found among the exhibitors, that in territories where C. W. A. money was being spent there was an up-turn at the box-office. Also the cotton and tobacco belts were having their very best season in some years due, it was reported, to the effect of various Federal Governmental measures such as payment for the ploughing under of cotton. His general conclusion was that the box office curve is directly responsive to the employment curve.

Another trade paper editor reports a very generous increase in attendance in theatres since last August, and that there can be neither question nor challenge of the statement that theatre receipts viewed from a broad national point of view have improved from 12% to 15%. He states that during a tour of the Middle West, theatre owners everywhere were much encouraged by the extent of the Civil Works Administration program.

CONCLUSION

The Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry has yet to fulfill in practice and application the earnest wishes of its advocates who worked arduously in its preparation and for its adoption. The period of demonstration is close at hand. The response of approximately nine thousand individual theatres in subscribing without reservation to its provisions, speaks volumes for the confidence of the exhibition field. Sixty-one individual producers, including all of the major producing companies and nearly all of the leading independents, have subscribed to the Code, as have also 114 distributing corporations, including all of the important national distributing organizatons.

The time has not yet arrived for criticism or praise. The present period is reserved for hard work and lots of it, and a closer cementing of efforts with the Administrator's office, to bring realization to the fact that as the Nation goes, so goes the Motion Picture Industry.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN C. FLINN, Executive Secretary
Code Authority Motion Picture Industry.

13-YEAR-OLD'S SHOWS RUN AFOUL POLICE

Such is fame in London!

Thirteen-year-old Eddie Oliver was summoned at Ramsgate police court under the public health acts for overcrowding in a basement, which he was using for film shows for local children at an admission of one penny (2 cents) a head. He told the judge he had been running these shows for three years.

Eddie started with an old-fashioned "magic lantern," but saved his pennies and bought a small projector (hand model), with which he began giving weekly shows in a basement of his mother's small store. He uses "non-flam" stock.

Now he has three projectors—two he bought himself and the third has just been presented him by Gaumont-British, one of the new suitcase portable talker devices.

Eddie says he has given shows to 16,000 youngsters since he started.

Hearings Set on Patman Measure

Hearings on the Patman film censorship bill, one of a series of measures providing for investigation or restriction of the industry, will begin before the House committee on interstate commerce at Washington March 19, it was announced this week by Representative Wright Patman of Texas.

Avoiding the use of the word "censorship," Patman labeled his bill, introduced last spring, as providing for "inspecting, classifying and cataloguing motion pictures, both silent and talking, before they enter interstate or foreign commerce." In addition to required compliance with what are virtually censorship regulations, no film would be permitted to enter commerce which does not also conform to the code of ethics published April 1, 1930, by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

No film would be permitted to enter interstate or foreign commerce until it had been presented to a motion picture commission created by the bill, for inspection, classification and cataloguing. The proposed commission would consist of nine members, four of whom are to be women, the chairman to be paid $10,000 a year and the other members $9,000. A fee of $10 per 1,000 feet would be imposed for inspections, with a charge of $5 for each additional copy of a film inspected, but provision is made for the revision of these charges after one year of experience so as to limit the revenue to the amount necessary to support the commission. Scientific and educational films would be licensed without payment of a fee, and newsreels would be relieved of the necessity for inspection.

Penalties for violation of any of the provisions of the measure would be heavy, a fine of $500 or imprisonment for six months being the minimum and a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for five years the maximum.

New York Union, Circuits Confer

Tightening the machinery for the enforcement of the collective bargaining provisions of the NRA, President Roosevelt late last week virtually ended the connection between the National Labor Board and the NRA. Henceforth the findings of the board will not be subject to scrutiny by the National Compliance Board, and where the labor enforcement group previously was answerable directly to the Administration, it now is virtually under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice.

Thus decisions made by Regional Labor Boards, such as those made last week in New York in the threatened strike of unskilled theatre employees, will be final. Last week's strike was averted at least temporarily when New York circuit operators met with Charles C. Levey, secretary of Local 118 of the Theatre and Amusement Employees' Union, and agreed to negotiations for recognition, new wage scales and shorter working hours.

In New York charges of intimidation in combating the unionization of unskilled theatre employees continued to pour in upon the offices of the Regional Labor Board. Charles C. Levey presented to Ben Golden, secretary of the board, 22 letters of resignation from the union, of which, he declared, 17 were identical in language, although they bore different signatures. This indicated, Mr. Levey said Tuesday, that union members were being asked to copy a resignation form, probably on threat of dismissal.

Department of Justice help is to be asked by Local 118 direct, Mr. Levey said, and so long as the "government cooperates with us in bringing the circuits into line, there will be no strike."

In Milwaukee, organization of a union of unskilled theatre workers was meeting considerable opposition from local exhibitors. Members of the union, complaining against being paid the code's minimum wage of $10 by first-run houses and contending they were not represented at code hearings, sought relief from theatre operators, but were unable to obtain any concessions at meetings with Fred S. Meyer, head of the MPTO of Wisconsin, who represented exhibitors at the conferences. Since then ushers have been picketing de luxe houses. The city is now said to be facing the possibility of an organized strike, tentatively set for March 15.

Erpi Improving Wide Recording

Electrical Research Products, Inc., has announced a further improvement on Western Electric wide range recording as the latest step toward ultimate perfection of sound picture recording. The effect of the new recording, Erpi announced, will be added brilliance and color for music reproduction and a further advance in the naturalness and quality of speech in talking pictures.

Inasmuch as the new recording can be reproduced without any additions or changes of equipment in theatres that have wide range reproduction, it is anticipated by the company that the improved sound will reach audiences in those theatres within the next two months.

TOWN IN AN UPROAR AS THEATRES CLOSE

Owners Keep Three Houses Shut Four Weeks in Protest Against Blue Law, Reject Compromise Extending Local Censorship

The havoc raised by closed theatres with the economic life of a community was demonstrated in the college town of Manhattan, Kan., when Manhattan's three houses darkened for four weeks, through the profitable holiday season, in an attempt to force city officials to permit Sunday shows.

Reopened on a six-day basis after a losing fight, the theatres are recouping their lost income and the town's merchants are smiling again.

Business Men Protest

The controversy plunged Manhattan into a roaring debate. At first it was largely the moral issue that came to the surface. But as the business men realized that Glen Dickinson, operating the Wareham and Dickinson, and Sam Sosna, owner of the Varsity, were not bluffing, the merchants became alarmed, and the business problem slipped in to steal the show. The exhibitors contended Sunday was their only profitable day and their theatres would remain shuttered until the welfare board consented to seven-day operation.

When the theatres closed, the newspapers lost considerable advertising, drug stores missed the usual influx of trade after the show, hotels complained traveling men were avoiding Manhattan for stopovers, taxi companies protested, restaurant operators reported slumps in business, students at the Kansas State Agricultural College registered loud protests.

Mayor Besieged with Pleas

Overnight, Mayor Evan Griffith found himself besieged by 100 persons whom the closing of theatres threw into the ranks of the unemployed, and the officials had another problem on their hands. About 175 business men whose light bills stayed the same while their receipts dwindled petitioned the city commissioners to revise the city laws to permit Sunday operation. The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce deplored community strife in one of its resolutions.

In the meantime, the neighboring cities of Wamego and Junction City found Manhattan's "theatre strike" a godsend, and theatres there, as well as other enterprises, benefited. Manhattan's gross business further declined because of the habit of customers from smaller communities in the trading area to do their shopping where there are picture shows.

Welfare Board Stands Pat

The burden of the perplexing situation fell on the welfare board, but it adamantly refused permission for Sunday films. Members of the board threatened to resign if the city commissioners disapproved their decision to stand by a recent referendum in which Sunday shows lost by a scant 200 votes, with the town's 4,000 students disqualified from voting, though they were overwhelmingly on the side of the theatres.

So the storm raged, until the mayor offered a compromise. Seven-day operation would be allowed but the Sunday shows would be censored by the Parent-Teacher Association. School children would be barred from shows not approved. The mayor said he believed the vote had been against picture shows in general and "against their effect on immature minds" rather than against Sunday shows.

Mr. Sosna and Mr. Dickinson rejected this proposal to establish local censorship, claiming the present state censorship was sufficient, and ended the deadlock by reopening. But their efforts, as well as those of the business men of the town, will be directed to obtaining seven-day operation.

Court Sets March 12 For Columbia Case

Harry Cohn, Jack Cohn and Joe Brandt, defendants in an action filed by a stockholder for an accounting of Columbia earnings and of salaries paid to them, are scheduled to be examined by counsel for the plaintiff March 12 in New York.

The suit, filed by Mrs. Emma Cohen, seeks to establish why no dividends have been paid on the common stock for the past two years despite the favorable earning statements of the company during that time, counsel for plaintiff stated Tuesday.

Consolidated Plans Dividends

Quarterly payments of 50 cents a share on the preferred stock of Consolidated Film Industries will be made by the management, "in so far as business conditions permit," H. J. Yates, Consolidated president, said this week. Thus "accumulations" gradually would be cleared up, Mr. Yates stated, but until such time as the accumulation has been fully paid, "it will not be possible to label these distributions as 'quarterly' dividends."

Admission Tax Bill in New York

A bill calling for a 10 per cent admission tax has been introduced in the New York state legislature by Senator John L. Buckley of New York City. Its passage is considered a possibility as a result of Democratic opposition to the two per cent retail sales tax.

Dietz Starts East

Howard Dietz, in charge of MGM advertising and publicity, left Hollywood this week en route to New York. Although he was scheduled to leave the Coast late last week, Mr. Dietz stayed for conferences with David Selznick.

Tri-Ergon Hearing Delayed

Another postponement has been granted Tri-Ergon in its appeal from a decision dismissing a suit filed by the company against New York exhibitors and distributors. The hearing has been set back to March 13.

RKO Executive Appointments Are Confirmed

Realignment of the executive personnel of the RKO motion picture companies, announced last week in Hollywood by Merlin Hall Aylesworth, chairman of the board, was confirmed in New York over the week-end by the board of directors. In addition, corporate berths were given to four others, including Merian C. Cooper, elected vice-president of RKO Radio in complete charge of production; Pandro S. Berman, who was made executive producer and elected a vice-president of RKO Studios; Jules Levy, elected vice-president of RKO Distributing; and Phil Reisman, elected vice-president of RKO Export.

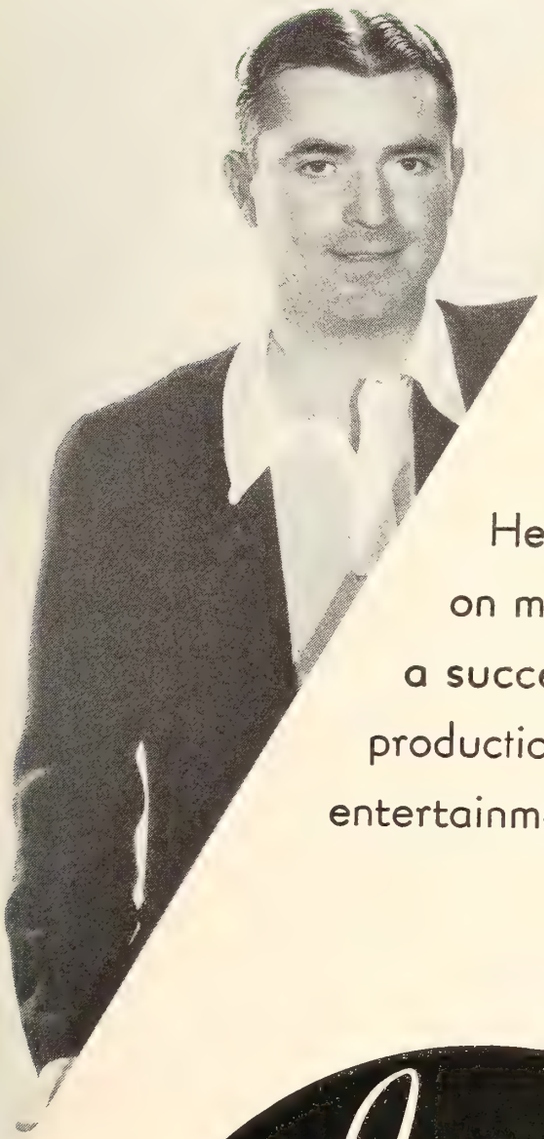
In confirming the appointments made last week by Mr. Aylesworth, the board of RKO Radio Pictures and subsidiary companies invested with production and distribution management of the parent RKO corporation, expressed gratification at the progress made by the company toward rehabilitation during the year. The official statement said:

"At a directors' meeting of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., and subsidiary companies, J. R. McDonough was elected president of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., B. B. Kahane was re-elected president of RKO Studios, Inc., and N. E. Depinet was elected president of RKO Distributing Corporation.

"M. H. Aylesworth, chairman of the board, pointed out that Mr. Kahane had originally planned to divide his time between New York and Hollywood but had now decided to devote his entire time to the studio operations. The changes made today were at Mr. Kahane's suggestion and will give the organization a more logical set-up, with Mr. Kahane in charge of operations, in Hollywood, Mr. Depinet in charge of sales and distribution, and Mr. McDonough supervising all operations, with his headquarters in New York but visiting the studios frequently. This confirms the statement made recently in California by M. H. Aylesworth, Chairman of the Board, concerning the executive set-up.

"Merian C. Cooper was elected vice-president of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., in charge of production. Pandro S. Berman was made executive producer and elected a vice-president of RKO Studios, Inc.

"Other elections were: Jules Levy, vice-president, RKO Distributing Corporation, and Phil Reisman, vice-president, RKO Export Corporation.



"These officials hold corresponding positions in the RKO Pathe organization."

Lou Brock on Features Only

Lou Brock is to produce only features for RKO Radio, the elevation following his work on a series of comedies. His first feature under the new arrangement will be "Down to Their Last Yacht," with Sidney Fox, others to be Wheeler and Woolsey's "Cockeyed Cavaliers" and "The Great American Harem." Lee Marcus becomes comedy producer, with Bert Gilroy assisting.

May Allison Quirk Married

May Allison Quirk, widow of James R. Quirk, who was publisher of Photoplay, was married last week at Elkton, Md., to Carl N. Osborne of Cleveland.

To The Motion Picture Exhibitors of America

Here's my personal pledge based on my reputation of fifteen years as a successful showman: The first screen production of my SCANDALS is the finest entertainment achievement I have ever created.

Yours in show business,

George White

It begins

WHERE HIS $10 BROADWAY SHOWS left off

AND FOR PROOF . . .

"SPECTACULAR BOX

100% Entertainment!" shouts

More "Variety" review raves:

"Alice Faye turns in a splendid performance"...."Vallee is great for the gals"..."Jimmy Durante draws multi laughs"..."Cliff Edwards comes close to stealing pic"... "A cute trick is Dixie Dunbar"..."A bang-up job by Harry Lachman who directed the musical numbers"..."Dance routines and production stuff especially flashy and novel"..."Girls are luscious lookers and good hoofers"... etc., etc.

OFFICE Variety

Just read this:

"'George White's Scandals' as Oakland saw it (preview), stands out as spectacular box office with everything it takes in cast, hit tunes, laughs and numbers. It's one of the best musicals turned out. 'Scandals' is 100 per cent entertainment, with laughs galore. It's punchy and well-paced."—VARIETY

FOX

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

with

RUDY VALLEE
JIMMY DURANTE
ALICE FAYE
ADRIENNE AMES
GREGORY RATOFF
CLIFF EDWARDS

and

GEORGE WHITE

Entire Production Conceived, Created and Directed by GEORGE WHITE · Musical Numbers direction of Harry Lachman · Story direction by Thornton Freeland · Music and Lyrics: Ray Henderson, Jack Yellen and Irving Caesar · Executive Producer, ROBERT T. KANE

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

SOME of our best motion picture theatre operators, from Broadway clear through to Main Street in Kansas City, and then on to Hollywood Boulevard, were quite annoyed about the troublesome reactionary effects on their box-offices of the recent series of "blizzards." Along most Film Rows the usual motion picture topics gave way to discourses on the low temperatures. That this winter was of uncommon severity appeared to be the consensus everywhere.

We thought so, too, until we happened across some old notes of Noah Webster's, written in 1835, and in which the noted lexicographer had traced the most severe winters from the year 29 B. C., when Horace dissuaded Augustus from resigning the Roman Empire by mentioning certain omens and phenomena, among which was a great quantity of snow.

In 1683, Webster related, trees burst open or were split by the intense cold.

The grestest quantity of snow ever known to fall in one storm covered the East in February, 1717. The depth could not be ascertained with exactness; but it was several feet. In Boston people went out of their bedroom chamber windows, in the morning, upon rackets, and snowshoes. Farmers had no way to get wood but by walking upon rackets. John Winthrop, of New London, lost 1,100 sheep on Fisher's Island, where they were buried in snow sixteen feet deep. Two of the sheep, however, survived, being taken out alive after being down under for some twenty-eight days. They lived by chewing the wool of the others; after being delivered, their own wool came off.

We're just a bunch of softies.

▽

A writer friend of the New Yorker's editor was going down a corridor in the executive offices of a Hollywood movie studio when, through an open door, he overheard one sentence of a conversation, just this one sentence and nothing more: "I assure you, Mr. Selznick will show Queen Victoria every consideration."

The same editor predicts that if this country ever has a revolution, it will be a good deal like a movie premiere, "except there won't be any picture—which will be a break for everybody."

▽

Going back to the events and principals who made history in bygone days, Mr. Hearst's newspapers, the other day, dug out of the dusty files of International News a picture taken some 15 years ago during a Liberty Loan rally. The caption identified Marie Dressler and Charlie Chaplin, kneeling in front, and Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, standing, affectionately arm-in-arm, behind them. A young member of the Wilson under-cabinet, very much alone to the left of the merry group, was evidently too insignificant to the photographer to mention in his caption. He was identified merely as just "another government official." Since that sunny afternoon in 1918, that young Wilson staff worker has advanced a step or two at Washington. Newspaper captions today distinguish him as President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Marie Dressler isn't doing badly, either.

▽

Doris Warner and her Warner-director husband, Mervyn LeRoy, newlyweds, phoned Papa Harry Warner in New York from Egypt the other day. They told him that it was as hot as Hades over there, and he reported that a blizzard had been blizzing here for 36 hours.

Our Mr. Victor Shapiro's very first piece about "The Hollywood Scene," which was established as a regular feature in MOTION PICTURE HERALD on the morning of February 10th, brought from the fastidious Katharine Cornell, of the stage, a warning that in the hereafter, Victor should not spell her name with a single "a". He had reported that, "Whenever Katherine hits Hollywood, rumors pop."

Taking as the text of her sermon a passage written some time ago in the Chicago Tribune by that expert of the drama, Charles Collins, Miss Cornell admonished Mr. Shapiro, (quoting Collins) thusly: "The second 'a' in Miss Cornell's spelling of her first name has tempted a few tories of feminine nomenclature to accuse her of affectation. It happens, however, that they are wrong and she is right, in spite of the fact that the common English spelling is Katherine or Catherine. Miss Cornell, as a Katharine, is on sounder ground than any of her old-fashioned namesakes, for she is using the Greek spelling of early martyrologists. Saint Katharina, of Alexandria, earliest of the six canonized Kates, popularized the name, in its many forms, for all of Christendom."

Whereas, in more recent days, it was Kate Smith who popularized the shorter version while trying to get the moon over the mountain.

▽

We were sitting around the coffee cups, off Broadway, the other evening, and, apropos of Mr. Roosevelt's first anniversary as a White House tenant, the conversation turned to the depression days of a year ago. It was old Billy Ferguson, Metro's headkeeper of Leo the Lion, the Eskimo dog-team, and other live exploiteers, who reminded us of the morning of March 4th in '33, when a trio of trade paper reporters and some picture executives from New York, on hand for the Inauguration, awoke in Washington's Willard hotel and learned that during the night the banks everywhere had closed indefinitely; that cash was conspicuously absent in the crowd, and that nobody in the town would give currency for a check, including the hotels.

Mr. Ferguson did not completely recover from that shock until a few months ago.

▽

Broadway's Joe Cunningham, whose humor brought him to the Fox lot in California, sends back word that "Hollywood is the only place where a guy puts on long underwear to go out in a Palm Beach suit.

▽

The name of the Franklin clan emerged from obscurity the other day when lawyer Charles Franklin, brother of Harold Brooks, barged into an ordinarily quiet and decorous Senate chamber at Washington and unloosed loud and disturbing charges that the New York subway (IRT) receivership was a bankers' and lawyers' "racket" to mulct the stockholders of the elevated division, which Charles represents as counsel. Such charges, however, are no longer uncommon.

Anyway, Mr. Franklin told the Senators that at the time the IRT was thrown into receivership for failure to pay a bill for a paltry $27,000, it had a fund of $5,000,000 available for the payment of just such items. He further charged that the IRT's consistent efforts to get rid of the elevated lines, which it leased in 1903 for 999 years, would, if successful, cost the city some $50,000,000 for unification.

The names of Wall Street bankers Morgan and Wiggin and Hayden and Stone were bandied about freely in connection with intimations of "conspiracy." The Senate immediately launched an investigation. Ho hum.

THE appalling emptiness of the cavernous excavations in front of the stages of most large theatres of the land, which, at one time in the long, long ago, sheltered musicians with extended trombones, is the cause of no little unhappiness to that Irish Broadway writer, Mr. James Patrick McEvoy, hater-of-cavernous-excavations. He expects that in some distant era expeditions will be sent out by archaeologists, or by orchestra-lover Roxy, or by someone, to dig into those abandoned pits for traces of the thousands of musicians who have disappeared.

Meanwhile, McEvoy proposes that the great voids be filled with dirt and planted out in berries, small fruits and vegetables. (Evidently he has lost sight of the purpose of the Administration's reimbursement of farmers who curtail their crops.)

"Corn would be especially nice, around the edges of the pits," McEvoy thinks. "Most performances would be improved if glimpsed through a row of waving corn. Grapes trained on trellises erected entirely across the stage would add a purple glow to the pictures on the screen."

A garden such as he has suggested "would be a joy to contemplate during the performances, while it would provide loads of fun for the entre-acts." For example, "instead of milling around in the lobbies we would stroll through the sunken gardens, plucking a carrot here, nibbling a grape there, chasing our escorts playfully through the corn, until, all hot and flushed with love and desire we would fling ourselves down under a friendly hollyhock, and so on for about 15 minutes until the picture starts again."

Or, if this isn't too radical a suggestion, we might even clean out those cavernous pits really nice and put a lot of good orchestras into them.

▽

Motion picture theatre advertisements appearing on the amusement pages of New York's weekend newspapers had to compete with a large display announcement by Broadway's Casino de Paree, proclaiming: Gigolos for Hire—Cheap.

Topped by a few bars from "Just a Gigolo," this rather unusual advertisement presented to the ladies: "A group of sophisticated, amazingly handsome young men," who will trip the light fantastic with Madame. They're known as "Mr. Two," "Mr. Three," or "Mr. Seven." (They have no names.) "They see, they hear, but remember nothing." This automaton age.

▽

There's a legend written on the marquee of the Music Hall Theatre at Radio City. Eight weeks ago the RKO people severed relations with Mr. Samuel Lionel Rothafel. Yet the Music Hall lights still spell out: "Direction of Roxy."

▽

In Radio's new "Stingaree," Richard Dix, as an Australian bandit, rides the plains furiously atop a tall, picturesque stallion of gray, named "Jadaan." Thirteen years ago, Jadaan carried Rudolph Valentino over desert sands, in "The Sheik."

Back east we have a piece of antiquated motion picture horseflesh, too, in the nature of "Brownie," now residing, on pension, at the Ben Hur theatrical stables. Brownie, who was given a birthday party last week, on the occasion of his forty-third natal day, helped plough Sunnybrook farm when Mary Pickford was a girl, and he packed "Two-Gun" Bill Hart over the trails of the western flickers. Brownie was the horse that wiggled his ear in "Ben-Hur." He cantered to stardom on Broadway at ten and was in five editions of Ziegfeld's Follies.

MRS. BELMONT OF SOCIAL REGISTER NOW HEADS FILM RESEARCH COUNCIL

Successor to Dr. Lowell of Harvard Starts Out with Tirade Against Block Booking as Bar to Selection of Pictures

Mrs. August Belmont, Social Registrant of New York, Palm Beach and points East and West, this week was accorded the active presidency of the Motion Picture Research Council, an organization mentioned from time to time in connection with the study, "Our Movie Made Children." In the publicity release attendant upon the announcement of Mrs. Belmont's acceptance of the presidency, the organization is described as one "which has completed a four-year study of the movies and is now embarked upon a program of action to help give the public better motion pictures."

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge has been named honorary vice-president of the organization.

Mrs. Belmont, who succeeds Dr. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, president-emeritus of Harvard University and who at one time was offered the post of government representative on the motion picture Code Authority which he subsequently declined because he was not "in favor of block booking," took over the reins of office on Saturday, reputedly from South Carolina, where she is wintering.

Leader in Philanthropy

According to the publicity release, Mrs. Belmont long has been interested in the stage and screen, in addition to which she has been a leader in movements for philanthropy and social betterment. She will cooperate as president with Dr. Lowell, who now has become honorary president of the council. Under her leadership, the announcement said, a nationwide organization will be built up and the council will carry on its program to further community selection of motion pictures and to promote the use of the films along educational and cultural lines.

"The Motion Picture Research Council is concerned with everything that will better the art of the motion picture and will help it to serve the best interests of the nation, and it is especially interested just now in giving communities freedom to choose the films they want to see," declared Mrs. Belmont from South Carolina this week.

"For years groups of people throughout the country who have tried to get better movies for their theatres have been baffled in their efforts," she said. "When they attempted to obtain the best films for their theatres and exclude the worst, they found this was impossible. For the trade devices of block booking and blind selling effectively prevent selection. By this arrangement, if the theatre manager wants one picture produced by one of the great Hollywood companies, he must contract, under the block booking provision, for a whole series of pictures, many of which he may not care to show in his theatre. Through the device of blind selling, he contracts to buy these pictures before he sees them and before they are even produced."

MRS. AUGUST BELMONT, new president of the Motion Picture Research Council, as the Empress Eugenie at a charity ball in New York. (Acme photo)

Mrs. Belmont insisted that interested persons in this country have been slow to recognize the necessity for the abolition of block booking because they had not fully understood the situation. She then pointed to England, where the practice was abolished by law in 1927, "and the British industry has prospered ever since."

With that example Mrs. Belmont apparently is convinced there is no reason to fear that abolition of block booking in this country would harm the motion picture as an industry.

"On the contrary," she said, "the new freedom which such a step would give the motion picture, would result in new blood, new ideas, a wider variety of films, and a more healthy and prosperous condition for the industry as a whole."

Rehashes Council Findings

The Motion Picture Research Council is especially interested in the situation as it affects children, the new president said, and has sponsored a series of investigations "to discover what the movies do to children and adolescents."

"For four years," she said, "some 20 psychologists and sociologists of leading American universities have been conducting this research and it has brought to light some extraordinary facts. We had always believed that the film was a powerful means of education, but we had only dimly realized the extent of its power. Now we know that it makes impressions on the mind and memory such as we had never suspected."

Turns to Results of Study in "Our Movie Made Children" to Define Her Stand in Accepting Presidency

Mrs. Belmont averred that at the end of 30 days after studying a book, children remember only 30 per cent of what they could recall the next morning, but that three months after seeing a film they remember 90 to 100 per cent of what they could recall the next day.

"A study of the content of the films revealed that seven out of 10 pictures are concerned with 'crime' or 'love' as interpreted by the movies," she said. "It is obvious that this is not a balanced diet for children. There is need for broadening in the field of subject matter, so as to give more attention to different kinds of stories, and to make the movies a dependable interpreter of life in its many varied aspects."

Calls Conclusions "Authentic"

Apparently defending the council against charges made by Bishop William McConnell in New York recently that the council's research on which the book, "Our Movie Made Children," was based, was conducted almost exclusively in juvenile institutions for degenerate and delinquent children, Mrs. Belmont concluded:

"There is no question about the authenticity of the findings on which we base our conclusions. They were made by scientists of high standing, who published their work without any changes being made in it by the Motion Picture Research Council, and Dr. Lowell has pronounced the work as 'thoroughly scientific.' The late Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton, who was also president of the Motion Picture Research Council, has pointed out that his preliminary examination of the findings showed that 'the motion picture is powerful to an unexpected degree in affecting the opinions, attitudes, emotional experiences and conduct of children, and constitutes a valid basis for apprehension about the influence of the motion picture on them.'"

Mrs. Belmont was the former Eleanor Robson, an actress of some repute prior to 1910. She was born in Wigan, a small manufacturing town near Manchester, England, and made her debut as an actress at the California Theatre, San Francisco, in 1897, and subsequently played in stock companies in Denver and San Francisco. Her first marked success was as Bonita in "Arizona." She headed an all-star cast in "She Stoops to Conquer," at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, in 1905, after which she played in "The Dawn of Tomorrow," "Merely Mary Ann" and "Salomy Jane."

Mrs. Belmont, in addition to her social and philanthropic activities, is a member of the National Executive Committee of the American Red Cross. She retired from the stage when she was married to August Belmont in 1910.

KATHARINE

HEPBU

in "Sp

WITH ROBERT YOUNG RALPH

RN

She's flame, piety, passion!... She's charm, danger and love!... A thousand moods live in the storm-tossed heart of "Trigger"—praying, thieving, fighting hellcat of the hills—whose love set fire to the mountains! ... Who but Hepburn would dare such a role? Who but Hepburn could play it?

tfire"

From the play "Trigger"
by Lula Vollmer

•

Directed by John Cromwell

•

RKO-RADIO PICTURE

•

A Pandro S. Berman Production

Merian C. Cooper
Executive Producer

•

NOW PLAYING
RADIO CITY
EXTENDED ENGAGEMENT

•

BELLAMY MARTHA SLEEPER

MPTOA DRAFTS 28-POINT PROGRAM FOR OPEN FORUM IN HOLLYWOOD

Organization Planning Discussion with Producers, Distributors and Public April 10 to 12; Special Rail and Hotel Rates

A 28-point program on subjects pertinent to the operation of the motion picture theatre was drafted early this week for the 14th annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, which will be held in Hollywood, from April 10 to 12.

Deviating from the usual exhibitor convention procedure, the organization of theatre owners will sit down in earnest to discuss the motion picture and its many problems with the producers, distributors and public.

Convention headquarters will be at the Ambassador hotel, and this week Ben Berinstein, exhibitor leader of Los Angeles, commenced activities pertaining to the handling of convention arrangements on the Coast. Tony Muto is in charge in the East, while local convention chairmen are being named in the field to effect nationwide organization of the event.

The program as drafted this week:

1. The Motion Picture Code to Date

(a) Review of Actual Exhibitor Experiences With Code Functioning.
(b) Exchange of Ideas Pertaining to the Code in the Field.
(c) The Local Grievance and Zoning Boards.
(d) The Trade Practice Provisions.
(e) The Labor Provisions.
(f) How the Code Can Be Improved.

2. Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

(a) First Exhibitor Convention in Los Angeles Since Talking Pictures. (Last One Was Nine Years Ago): A First-Hand Study of the Technical Processes Used in Manufacturing Motion Pictures.
(b) First-Hand Inspection of Motion Pictures in the Making.

3. Round-Table Discussions

(a) Between the People Who Make Pictures, the People Who Sell Pictures and the People Who Retail Them to the Public.
(b) Exchange of Views With Representatives of the Public.
(c) Some Experiences and Opinions of Producers, Exhibitors and the Public.

4. Theatre Operation

(a) Improved Methods in Theatre Operation.
(b) Improved Methods in Theatre Management.
(c) Improved Methods in Theatre Advertising.

5. Increasing Theatre Attendance

(a) By Cooperating With Local and National Public Groups Which Are Sincerely Interested in Motion Pictures; How Such Cooperation Can Be Secured.
(b) By Cooperating With Other Forms of Amusement, Such as Radio, Dancing, Carnivals, Amusements Parks and the Like.

6. Legislation

(a) Protection Through Organization Against Unfair and Discriminatory Taxes on Motion Picture Theatres and Motion Picture Theatre Admissions.
(b) Censorship.
(c) Film Regulatory Legislation.
(d) The Local Legislative Problem; Local Ordinances.

7. Double Features

(a) "Are Double Features an Evil or a Blessing?"

8. Unfair Competition

(a) How "Cut-Throat" Competition May Be Restrained.

9. The Modern Theatre

(a) Construction.
(b) Remodeling.
(c) Equipment.

10. Labor

(a) Labor Problems of the Motion Picture Exhibitor.

11. Public Relations

(a) A Program for Establishing and Developing Public Relations for the Motion Picture Exhibitor.

12. Other Subjects

(a) Leaders in Their Respective Fields Will Address the Exhibitors on Subjects Pertinent to Other Phases of Motion Picture Theatre Operation.

The committee in New York has arranged with the transcontinental railroad systems for special convention rates for transportation, which, it was said, will be the lowest ever offered to any group traveling to the Coast. Details may be obtained from national headquarters of the MPTOA, at 1600 Broadway. Return trips may be arranged for on other routes and stopover privileges will be granted. Or, exhibitors may return by boat or plane.

Minimum hotel rates have been set as follows: Single, $5; Double, $7. Hotel reservations may be made through Ben Berinstein, 1914 South Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles.

It is generally believed in Hollywood that contact such as that proposed by the MPTOA at the convention, among the three branches of the industry, and with the industry and the public (through its motion picture committees of leading women's and civic organizations), will be mutually helpful, and for this reason the Motion Picture Producers Association on the Coast has agreed to cooperate with the exhibitors' convention committee in arranging a complete program. Studios will be thrown open to the delegates and their friends, and, in addition to seeing pictures actually in production and inspecting sound recording apparatus for the first time, the producers will arrange talks between the theatre owners and production talent, in order that both may discuss common problems.

PUBLIC TO TALK TO EXHIBITORS

When Ed Kuykendall, president, sounds the gavel on April 10th, opening the 14th annual MPTOA convention, at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, there are expected to be on hand representatives of national women's associations and civic and other organizations interested in films, to exchange ideas about the motion picture and the theatre with producers, distributors and exhibitors. Millions of active theatregoers who are members of these national organizations—will, therefore, be represented at the convention.

Ben Berinstein Starts Arrangements on Coast, Tony Muto in Charge in East; Luncheons Planned by Large Studios

Studio Luncheons Planned

Studio luncheons are being arranged for by the large studios, and the producers will talk to the exhibitors at several of the convention sessions.

Special convention trains will start from New York, New Orleans, Kansas City, Chicago and from either Dallas or Memphis.

Thousands of letters urging exhibitors everywhere to attend are being prepared and, according to Ed Kuykendall, president, "every outstanding theatre man in the country is expected to attend."

Mornings will be devoted exclusively to business sessions. On the afternoon the exhibitors will visit the various studios. Evenings will find the delegates participating in social affairs, banquets and entertainment.

Trade Showing in 39 Key Cities

Warner Brothers on Tuesday held a national trade showing for exhibitors of six motion pictures in 39 key cities throughout the country and Canada.

The six films were "As the Earth Turns," "Gambling Lady," "Wonder Bar," "Journal of a Crime," "Jimmy, the Gent" and "Harold Teen."

The basic idea was to show advance product on a nationwide scale in the same manner that the automobile manufacturers demonstrate their advance styles.

Sign Company Moves

The Triangle Sign Company, New York, has removed its offices to 326 West 44th street.

THIS PLAY IS A "PROGRAM NATURAL"

Says Benjamin DeCasseres, Noted Critic and Essayist, of "No Questions Asked"; And Calls "All the King's Horses" Another One with Possibilities for the Screen

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

NO QUESTIONS ASKED

This play by Anne Morrison Chapin is a John Golden production, and I have a sly and subtle notion that Mr. Golden intended this thin slice of baloney for Hollywood. That's where it will go. It's a program natural. But when it goes through the picture wrangle the baloney may turn into a good b. o. pork-pie.

In spite of the good work of Ross Alexander, Spring Byington and Barbara Robbins, "No Questions Asked" looks at this writing like a stage flop.

The opus opens on a Staten Island ferryboat at night. Discovered: Noel Parker and her lover, Richard Gorham. She expects a new future income-tax victim. They quarrel about his mother, a missionary type. Richard leaves the girl. Noel is about to leap into the polluted waters of the Upper Bay when she is rescued by a rich dipsomaniac (Ross Alexander), who believes he is on the way to Bermuda.

Three months after we find Sonny Raeburn, the dip., and Noel happily married. Tht mother of Sonny is a gay, sophisticated creature (La Byington), who doesn't bat a hennaed eyebrow when Noel tells her that she is to be a mother—and not by her son, Sonny. Pish-tush— — and all that sort of thing.

Sonny takes to drink again. The old lover shows up, as does his mother, for an exposé à la vintage of 1898. Wrestle with pistol. Sonny is wounded after an attack of d. t.'s (which, I hear, is fashionable again).

Then there is a general understanding, in which Sonny, like his ma, doesn't care a rap who is the father of the prospective cocktail-consumer.

There are comic reliefs in a servant and the Staten Island relatives of the girl, but less comic than the whole play itself.

Picture value, 65 per cent.

ALL THE KING'S HORSES

Out of this musical comedy in two acts, seven scenes, some songs and the funny work of Andrews Tombes as a press agent, there is material for one of those sheerly entertaining pictures that tell a tale but are not adorned with a moral.

A lot of people had a hand in this thing; but it lacked life, or, as they used to say in Willie Winter's day, "inner content." It will need much smarting up for the screen fans.

We are now in the miniature European kingdom of Langenstein—one of those Zenda places which always please the eye and tickle the expectancy of screen audiences—at least they do mine.

Bursts in on the peaceful boobery an American motion picture star and his publicity air-pump. Of course, they must meet the king. Blasto-Bozarty!—the resemblance between the King and the Barrymore-Lederer-Gable hog-the-camera is marvelous! A fairly neat idea.

Well, they swap places. The picture star as king bangs away on the radio some high-powered stuff; and zim-zissi-mi!—who should be listening in but the wife of the king, who has left his bed and board and cocktail parties.

Romance and song begin, and Love takes its sure way to a happy ending. Thus, we see that here is the skeleton of something, with music and songs, not so bad for a fill-in picture.

Picture value, 70 per cent.

PLAYS AS RATED FOR PICTURES

Following are the percentage ratings as screen potentialities given by Mr. DeCasseres to Broadway plays which he discusses in this issue:

"No Questions Asked"—65 per cent.

"All the King's Horses"—70 per cent.

"The Wind and the Rain"—50 per cent.

"Theodora the Quean"—80 per cent.

"American, Very Early"—20 per cent.

THE WIND AND THE RAIN

This is a London importation. The author is Merton Hodge. Although thin and at times somewhat syrupy, the audience enjoyed it immensely because of its vivid character work, the loveliness of Rose Hobart and the attractiveness of young Frank Lawton, who makes his American stage début in "The Wind and the Rain." (On the screen he appeared in "Cavalcade" and has made several British pictures.) Lawton is fine without being effeminate, and fairly oozes the sentimental It that jams the mail with fan letters.

It's about Charles Tritton, a bookish boy, a mother's boy and a spiritual as well as a physical gentleman. He's up from London to study medicine in Edinburgh.

He pivots around two women, his mother, and Jill Mannering, a gayish nature. She is a friend of the family and Charles is engaged to her. We never see the mother. We must believe she exists by telephone only—no doubt she'll turn up on the screen as Mary Boland.

The locale is Mrs. McFie's boarding-house. The students at Mrs. McFie's are beer-drinkers and smart neckers. Charles prefers his microscope and the Islands of Langerhans, although he'll take a snort of beer with them.

But Jill isn't Charley's mate. He's really in love with a sculptress, Anne Hargreaves (Miss Hobart). The mother dies. Jill passes out of the picture and Charley and Anne are As One.

There are several Scotch characters for good comic relief. Picture stuff for rainy afternoons.

Picture value, 50 per cent.

THEODORA THE QUEAN

It may be that Cecil B. DeMille, grand maestro of pomp and volupté, would like to take a try at this. It's his dish.

"Theodora the Quean" (the a in queen putting the word in the Red Light class), by Jo Milward and J. Kerby Hawkes, is a weak play, although knitted together with the best intentions. It's dead in the bellows.

It is laid in Byzaneium in the fourth century. Theodora is the leading lady of uneasy virtue of her day. But she is "reclaimed" finally. Such things do happen when the bloom is off of the rye with these fluffs.

There are emperors, a circus, mobs and mucha love-conflict. And for the rest I leave it to Lorenzo, Cecil the Magnificent. If he wants a last crack at Purple, Power and Prostitute, here it is.

If not, maybe it can be knocked down to Laurel and Hardy, with the chimp. playing belisarius.

Picture value (for DeMille), 80 per cent, maybe.

AMERICAN, VERY EARLY

Florence Johns and Wilton Lackaye, Jr., did this "confession" about one of those phony antique shops which strew the New England coast.

I regret to report that there is nothing in it that would win the eye of a Hollywood producer—or even the hard-working men of the Eastern Renaissance out at the old Astoria studio.

Botsville, "in the Berkshires." Dining-room in the old Cadoo place. Nippy Andrews, unmarried, flies, or flees, from city with Winafred Proctor, married-but-parted, to open a "shoppe" out there.

All sorts of city characters and quaint country wheezes move through this often dreary play until both Nippy and Winafred find their mates. But not before they find out that honesty in antiques, as in rye whiskey labels, is not the best policy. What the public wants is phony-baloney. That way the mazuma lies.

Spoofing antiques, I fear, hath no charms for our fans. It might move a little with Zazu Pitts.

Picture value, 20 per cent.

ARE YOU THROWING

Oh, no, of course YOU are not throwing a bluff! . . . But millions of others are these days — or would like to, if they dared! . . . And here's the picture aimed straight at the bluff throwers —and at their admirers and enviers, which includes just about everybody! . . . Another one of those Universal "new idea" pictures that are building so much good will—and GOOD BUSINESS — for exhibitors everywhere!

LET'S BE A BLUFF?

LEW AYRES
with PATRICIA ELLIS, in

RITZY

With Frank McHugh, Isabel Jewell. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr., from a stage play by William Anthony McGuire. Directed by Edward Ludwig. Presented by Carl Laemmle. Another good one from UNIVERSAL

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office grosses, compares the business done in twelve key cities during the month of February this year with the corresponding period last year. For each city, the shaded bar indicates the receipts for the weeks from February 4 to February 25, 1933. The black bar gives the figure for the period from February 3 to February 24, 1934.

THE CUTTING ROOM

SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN

Columbia

Sophisticated romance drama is the tenor of this story. Modern in atmosphere and given the benefit of unusual production value, the yarn majors in entertainment fundamentals which have regularly demonstrated their screen value. The story was authored and scenarioed by Jo Swerling, recently credited with the two Borzage Columbia pictures, "Man's Castle" and "No Greater Glory." David Butler, long associated with Fox and remembered for such pictures as "The Connecticut Yankee," "Delicious" and "My Weakness," directed.

The cast, in this instance, assumes more than ordinary importance, inasmuch as the established characters coincide exceptionally with the roles they interpret. While Elissa Landi and Frank Morgan have the leads, it is interesting to note that the picture marks the screen return of Joseph Schildkraut in the focal romantic role. Important supporting parts are played by well-known artists with Doris Lloyd, Clara Blandick, Samuel Hinds and Henry Kolker active in the story's portrayal.

Familiar theatre colors the plot and combines the elements attractive to the adults and modernes of both sexes. Morgan's business career having left him little time for domestic association with his wife, Doris Lloyd, he finds that approaching middle age has robbed him of the pleasures of youth. Seeking romance beyond the pale, as a business crisis intervenes, with the actress Landi, he lavishes money on her, only to run up against the inevitable obstacle of conflicting love, as Schildkraut, musical genius, is fascinated by the Morgan paramour. Building to sentimental tenseness, Morgan realizing his folly, releases Landi who loyally wants to continue the liaison and returns to his business to learn that real love can be found at home.

Heart-throb and disillusionment are the keynotes, which together with title significance suggest unique provocative showmanship.

ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES

Fox

Despite the title significance this is an idyllic love story, poetic and passionate, as well as tinged with mundane human reactions, which form the dramatic contrast for its pagan-like sentimental romance. Adapted from Richard Aldington's novel of the same title, which was a last year's sensation in England and a best seller in the American literature market, it was transformed into screen entertainment by Samuel Hoffenstein, who numbers "Love Me Tonight," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" and "An American Tragedy" among his screen play contributions, and by Leonore Coffee, who is listed with the smartly sophisticated "Possessed" among her efforts. Al Rocket, credited with the last two Clara Bow pictures, "Call Her Savage" and "Hoopla," and remembered for "East Lynne," is the producer, and the director is George Fitzmaurice, who fortes with this type story; witness "Lilac Time," "Strangers May Kiss" and "As You Desire Me."

Most potent of the cast name assets, which smacks of all around class, is the name of Hugh Williams, an English actor who made American stage appearances in "Journey's End," and also appeared in the pictures "Rome Express" and "Bitter Sweet." Fox is counting on this picture to establish him as a new heart-flutterer. Helen Twelvetrees is the girl and such proved performers as the recently introduced Mona Barrie, Herbert Mundin, Henry Stephenson, Walter Byron, Una O'Connor, Matt Moore, Halliwell Hobbs and Rafaela Ottiano ("Bondage") constitute the supporting cast.

Charm in literary value, supplemented by beauty in production assets, together with a sentiment-stirring musical score, featuring "Heart, My Heart," motivate the love saga, which has its inception in the Edenlike beauties of a Mediterranean Island. Seared by war separation, wordly jealousy and intrigue, it is reborn after the two lovers have known the bitterness of all disillusionment in the paradise where it first flamed.

At this stage, it looks like the kind of picture, in personnel and romantic dramatic appeal, that will thrill all the ladies and lots of the men.

Balaban Supervising Kansas City Houses

John Balaban of Chicago has taken over direct supervision of the Newman and Royal theatres in Kansas City as a further step in the Publix decentralization. The Balaban organization now has approximately 100 theatres under operation and supervision in Chicago and Illinois.

Sees Increase In Eastern Production

Eastern production activity has increased to a point where, it is said by Al Christie, studios in that sector may schedule at least 24 features and several hundred short subjects for next season.

Mr. Christie said last week in New York that he views eastern facilities as capable of accommodating any type of feature production and believes the east to be "the logical place for shooting a diversified schedule of short subjects."

"The eastern producer can avoid routine production because of his opportunity to chose economically from new personalities always available here from the stage, radio and vaudeville," Mr. Christie declared "They are already 'name' performers and, because they have made good here, the producer's battle is half won when he has engaged them."

Mr. Christie, after 20 years in Hollywood studios, is now producing for Educational at the Eastern Service Studios on Long Island.

2,256,000 View Traveling Studio

Visiting 640 cities and towns since the start of its tour in January, 1933, at Boston, Mass., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer said this week that its traveling motion picture studio has been inspected by 2,256,000 persons throughout the United States. In addition the traveling studio has been viewed by nearly seven times that number during its participation in parades and other festivities.

Aside from its general demonstration of sound motion picture recording and projection, contests were conducted in 46 key cities and more than 1,000 screen and voice tests were filmed by the production unit of the traveling studio.

At present the studio, which is under the home office supervision of William R. Ferguson, is touring in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, with contest campaigns and the filming of screen and voice tests taking place in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Shreveport, Jackson, Montgomery, Birmingham, Memphis and Little Rock.

Conferences Underway on New Studio Labor Agreement

Union leaders were engaged in conferences in Hollywood late last week in an effort to arrive at a new basic studio agreement to replace the arrangement which expires March 14.

Complications have arisen because of the question of jurisdiction between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employees, but a settlement is expected. Present were William C. Elliott, IATSE president; Nicholas M. Schenck, Pat Casey and Al Berres for producers; Abe Muir, for carpenters; Harry Brigaerts, for electricians, and Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

The House of Rothschild

(U. A. - 20th Century)

Historical Drama

With everything that any audience could want in a picture, likewise everything necessary with which to sell it, "The House of Rothschild" is one of the grandest pieces of entertainment merchandise to reach the screen in years. Big, impressively inspiring, sometimes courageously daring, it is intimately close. It held the preview audience in tense interest, broken occasionally by applause, and at the finish received the most enthusiastic ovation this writer has heard in any theatre.

It deals with historical facts—the ambitions, intrigues, jealousies and hatreds of men and nations behind the world-moving events—or in its more intimate phase, wherein the Rothschild family is symbolic, when it portrays the glory of a race which emerged from the tragedies of eternal persecution, it is close to the last word in sincere, understanding and convincing production.

All that applies to the whole production is true of the players. Whether George Arliss has been a drawing card in your theatre, he should be with this picture. If not, the fault is entirely yours. His performance should enthuse the intelligensia, while through it the ordinary picture fan should obtain an appreciative understanding of the gigantic panoramic scope of "The House of Rothschild." Yet, while Arliss dominates, the entire lengthy cast contribute performances that make the picture the great theatre value it is.

The picture's story is the history of Europe from the late 1790's to Napoleon's Waterloo, out of which the modern world evolved. The Rothschild family, particularly Nathan, is emblematic of the influential part the Jewish race played in the making of a new world. In the prelude, dying Mayer Rothschild advises his children that control of money is the weapon with which they can unshackle their fetters, but he instructs them that their money power must be used for peace. Years later, with branch banks in principal European capitals, the five brothers supply the sinews of gold which beat back Napoleon's first daring thrust.

Only Wellington recognizes the part the Rothschilds played, as later when the historic Ledrantz, Herries, Nesserolde, Talleyrand and Metternich parade, nations are ungrateful and Rothschild is shut out of participation in a great rehabilitation loan. In sequences that have a definite modern parallel, the Jew is scorned and the romance between Julie and Gentile Captain Fitzroy is thwarted. But the mighty Nathan raids the bond market.

Then the haughty soldiers and diplomats come begging again, with characteristic shrewdness, and in return for treaties that free his people Nathan matches his gold against Napoleon's might. Disaster looms and there is an electric thrill as Nathan saves the credit of England until Wellington's stunning Waterloo victory. A grateful British king elevates Nathan to the nobility and the Julie-Fitzroy love match is assured.

This picture is not stock stuff. It's a prestige-builder. There is only one warning. Don't succumb to the temptation of even whispering propaganda. Rather sell "The House of Rothschild" with dignity, in which enthusiasm is untempered.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by 20th Century. Released by United Artists. Directed by Alfred Werker. Associate producers, William Goetz, Raymond Griffith. Screen play by Nunnally Johnson. Based on a play by George Hembert Westley. Associate director, Maude T. Howell. Photographed by Peverell Marley. Art director, Richard Day. Film editors, Alan McNeil, Barbara McLean. Costumes designed by Gwen Wakeling. Assistant director, Ben Silvey. Musical score by Alfred Newman. Technicolor art director, Natalie T. Kalmus. Running time, 86 minutes. Release date to be determined.

CAST

Mayer Rothschild / Nathan Rothschild ..... George Arliss
Ledrantz ..... Boris Karloff
Julie Rothschild ..... Loretta Young
Captain Fitzroy ..... Robert Young
Duke of Wellington ..... C. Aubrey Smith
Baring ..... Arthur Byron
Gudula Rothschild ..... Helen Westley
Herries ..... Reginald Owen
Wife ..... Florence Arliss
Metternich ..... Alan Mowbray
Rowerth ..... Holmes Herbert
Solomon ..... Paul Harvey
Amschel ..... Ivan Simpson
Carl ..... Noel Madison
James ..... Murray Kinnell
Talleyrand ..... Georges Renavent
Prussian officer ..... Oscar Apfel
Prince Regent ..... Lumsden Hare
Amschel's secretary ..... Leo McCabe
Prime Minister ..... Gilbert Emery
Nesserolde ..... Charles Evans
Guest at hall of reception ..... Desmond Roberts
Messenger in stock exchange ..... Earl McDonald
Woman guest at hall of reception ..... Ethel Griffies
Doctor ..... Lee Kohlmar
Messenger ..... William Strauss
Prussian guard ..... Matthew Betz

Stock traders:
- Reginald Sheffield
- Brandon Hurst
- Harold Minjir
- Horace Claude Cooper
- Craufurd Kent

Rothschild children:
- Gerald Pierce
- Milton Kahn
- George Offerman, Jr.
- Cullen Johnson
- Bobbie La Mauche

Tax Collector ..... Leonard Mudie

No Greater Glory

(Columbia)

Romantic Drama

In "No Greater Glory" Columbia presents powerful, gripping, unusual, and undoubtedly highly controversial material as screen entertainment. The story is this. Two groups of boys apply the full psychology of modern warfare to their gang fight. Unfolding, the picture runs the full gamut of emotionalism, analagous in every way to screaming war hysteria. A flag is the symbol which brings these boys into earnest conflict; a lumber yard playground is the territory for which they fight. Against that premise, with patriotism the inspiring motivation, are mirrored the drama, romance, thrill, heroism, tragedy, sacrifice, treachery and pathos that make war glorious but usually futile.

It's only play-war—fought with fist, sandbags and blunted spears—but it's serious to those boys. Yet it speaks for a new generation, which, immaturely unaware of war horrors, knows and thinks of only the glories. The fact that it is located in Budapest, in a country where the war spirit is always present, as current events attest, must not be overlooked, inasmuch as it places a topicalness on the picture that has definite box-office value. As grim realism dominates, "No Greater Glory" certainly is concrete proof of that showmanship entertainment theory that to make people completely appreciate a story there must be some character to stir the sympathies, someone for whom to be sorry. That quality is thoroughly demonstrated in the person of Nemecsek, as George Breakston gives a convincing performance. Through him the picture attains its greatest virtues—truth, honesty, grim reality and sincerity of purpose.

In any case, "No Greater Glory" is the type of picture that one should see before he attempts to sell it. As an abridged report cannot possibly mirror the picture in its complete scope, personal understanding of its values is most necessary. It has potentialities as a money-maker; yet because of the subject with which it deals and the way in which it treats that subject, specialized knowledge of, as well as experience with peculiar local likes and dislikes, assumes an unusual importance.

In many ways this picture parallels "All Quiet on the Western Front" in dramatic punch and power, although the modus operandi is entirely different. That picture, which stressed rigid realism to the limit, apparently difficult to sell, became a sensation. True, it had book and cast advantages that this one lacks. Yet "No Greater Glory" is pitched to the same key. The picture should be properly understood, and sold in the same spirit, with thought that reflects the thought the producers put into its making, with a straight-from-the-shoulder truth-telling drive that makes the story's moral more important than anything else.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story "The Paul Street Boys," by Ferenc Molnar. Screen Play by Jo Swerling. Director, Frank Borzage. Assistant director, Lewis Borzage. Cameraman, Joseph August. Sound engineer. Glenn Rominger. Film editor, Viola Lawrence. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, to be determined.

CAST

Nemecsek ..... George Breakston
Boka ..... Jimmie Butler
Gereb ..... Jackie Searl
Feri Ats ..... Frankie Darro
Csonakos ..... Donald Haines
Ferdie Pasztor ..... Rolf Ernest
Henry Pasztor ..... Julius Molnar
Kolnay ..... Wesley Giraud
Csele ..... Beaudine Anderson
Richter ..... Bruce Line
Gereb's father ..... Samuel Hinds
Watchman ..... Christian Rub
Father (Nemecsek) ..... Ralph Morgan
Mother ..... Lois Wilson
Racz ..... Egon Brecher
Doctor ..... Frank Reicher

Lazy River

(MGM)

Melodrama

This entertainment is straight-away hokum melodramatics, done in the legendary opera house technique. The sophisticates most likely would be inclined to consider it as a travesty.

So much is it like old-fashioned touring stock company production that, even though disguised, the specialty between-the-acts numbers are there and the theatric romance, drama, villainy, suspense and action are played to the limit. There's the handsome hero, who came to rob but found love, ran afoul of the villain, almost was drowned instead of being placed in front of

Supervised and Directed by Marshall Neilan

Associate Producer—William C. DeMille

From the play by John Emerson and Anita Loos

Special Musical Compositions by Con Conrad and Ford Dabney

Columbia Pictures
PRESENTS

Colleen MOORE

IN Social Register

with

Charles Winninger — Pauline Frederick
Alexander Kirkland — Robert Benchley
Ross Alexander — Margaret Livingston

COLUMBIA PICTURES

the buzz saw, and then triumphed. The beautiful heroine suffers all the agonies and knows all the happiness that are the lot of beautiful heroines, as two dumb ex-crook pals of the hero provide the comedy relief. There's the menacing half-caste oriental villain, who has his harem of Chinese baby dolls and his gang of tough henchmen. There's the iron-faced yet tenderhearted mother, who knows a heart of gold when she sees one, but is careful nevertheless. Rotating around these principals is the regular group of character satellites necessary to this kind of show.

The whole thing is laid down in the Louisiana bayous and the shrimp fishing industry is the background. Following the early 20th century formula, Bill arrives and falls in love with Sarah. When it looks as though Sam Kee, the perfect villain, is going to foreclose the mortgage, Ambrose, a Weber and Fields friend of mother Minnie, is murdered. But Bill's pal, Tiny, cracks Kee's safe and pays off the mortgage, to be followed by Gabby picking Orkney's pocket of the dough. Idyllic romance between Bill and Sarah is menaced by Ruby, Bill's wife, as the anti-climax is built. Therein Bill, kidnaped by the Chinaman smuggling Kee, is rescued from a watery grave by Tiny as the U. S. Coast Guard Service comes into action. Back on the landing, the dependable family lawyers shows up to inform Bill that his wealthy Boston father has forgiven all and that Ruby had divorced him long ago. Then comes the clinch finish with everybody cheering.

Selling this show in a style that reflects its own atmosphere looks to be the easiest way to stir up patron curiosity. Describe it so that the folks will get the mood and take it in the proper spirit, which after all, is just fun in every phase. Modern ideas, only insofar as they make old fashioned ones more effective, should be ignored. Flaring hand-bill exploitation looks to be the best basis from which to proceed.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by MGM. Directed by George B. Seitz. Produced by Lucien Hubbard. Screen play by Lucien Hubbard. From a play by Lea David Freeman. Musical score by Dr. William Axt. Recording director, Douglas Shearer, Art director, James Havens. Wardrobe by Dolly Tree. Photogaphed by Gregg Toland, A. S. C. Film editor, William LeVanway. Running time 75 minutes. Release date, March 16, 1934.

CAST

Sarah	Jean Parker
Bill	Robert Young
Sam Kee	C. Henry Gordon
Gabby	Ted Healy
Tiny	Nat Pendleton
Ruby	Ruth Channing
Miss Minnie	Maude Eburne
Captain Orkney	Raymond Hatton
Suzanne	Irene Franklin
Ambrose	Joseph Cawthorn
Sheriff	Erville Alderson

Bottoms Up

(Fox-DeSylva)

Comedy

Here's a comedy of values. Seasoned with four or five catchy song numbers, embellished with a dash of romantic love interest and presenting a couple of novel girl-glamour dance sequences, it's all-around audience entertainment. While a picture of motion picturedom, it has enough in the way of story, acting and production settings to place it apart from its predecessors, and in gleefully satirizing the film industry it moves with sparkling freshness.

Hollywood hullabaloo is the essence, but as the subject is broached from a unique and intriguing angle a new interest is created and maintained. The surprise twist kept the preview audience on its toes awaiting developments. Clever concealment of the plot climax provides a suspense that both holds attention and knits the hectic yarn together.

The show deals with a slick promoter who, disguising his forger pal and an extra girl as a pair of noble Britishers, crashes the gates of Hollywood in a comedy laden way. As she makes herself a star, the promoter sees her falling in love with her screen idol, and even though he has to do a lot of slick conniving when the inevitable blow-off arrives, he sacrifices his own hopes to the girl's happiness and seeks new suckers to trim.

In that framework rotates all the excitement and color. Likewise it is the premise for the almost specialty song numbers sung by John Boles and the new and promising screen personality, Pat Patterson. It permits Tracy, Harry Green, Mundin, Sid Silvers and Thelma Todd to put across some funny stuff that had the preview audience in a gale of laughter. Also it is the basis for two smart semi-spectacle numbers, "Bottoms Up," which makes light of the depression, and "Waiting For Katie," a Gay Nineties sequence that features Boles as a yokel comedian and has one or two torrid bits of visual action.

Everyday entertainment is the picture's keynote. The title has good commercial value and the cast names, besides permitting the new screen face ballyhoo, are strong enough for deluxe and small house purposes. The picture is wide open for adaptation of all the tricks in the showmanship bag.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by B. G. DeSylva. Directed by David Butler. Story and screen play by B. G. DeSylva, David Butler and Sid Silvers. Costumes and dance sets by Russell Patterson. Art director, Gordon Wiles. Dance director, Harold Hecht. Music and lyrics by Berton Lane, Harold Adamson, Richard Whiting and Gus Kahn. Photographed by Arthur Miller. Running time, 85 minutes. Release date, April 13, 1934.

CAST

Smoothie King	Spencer Tracy
Hal Reed	John Boles
Wanda Gale	Pat Patterson
Limey Brook	Herbert Mundin
Spud Mosco	Sid Silvers
Louis Baer	Harry Green
Judith Marlowe	Thelma Todd
Secretary	Suzanne Kaaren
Detective Rooney	Robert O'Connor
Lane Worthing	Del Henderson
Baldwin	Douglas Wood

Come on Marines

(Paramount)

Comedy Drama

No polite drawing room stuff here, but plenty of lusty amusement geared to excite the masses that get a boot out of rough and ready entertainment devoid of fancy frills. Two kinds of adventure—one in love interest, the other in ambushed danger, both of which are given novel twists—plenty of romance, lots of drama and gobs of unexpected comedy—all standby entertainment assets are the materials of which the hokum tinted melodrama is composed.

The story is a rollicking, reckless affair, flamboyant in every phase and covering a lot of ground while adhering closely to its premise. Fast, punchy action is balanced by crackling dialogue, both of which are occasionally warmly zippy, particularly Grace Bradley's dance hall dance that leaves little to anyone's imagination. There's none of this "Halls of Montezuma—Shores of Tripoli" Marine Corps glorification about the show. Rather it's a more intimate picturization of the workaday life of the sea-soldiers who are first in a fight and first in a frolic. While dignified C.O's might be averse to turning out the troops as an exploitation stunt, that ballyhoo won't be missed, as the show is an audience picture.

Lucky, a tough sergeant, off the dames but nevertheless unresistant to a little warm feminine temptation, is busted for getting into a brawl and overstaying his leave in a sequence that features Jo Jo's red-hot contortions. Consigned to the Philippine jungles, he shanghais the glib taxi driver Spud, whom he blames for his downfall, into the M.C. Topical sea-soldier work and play sequences intervening, with the accent always on comedy, Lucky's detail is ordered to rescue a gang of shipwrecked children stranded in the bandit-infested bush. Much to everybody's surprise, the children turn out to be a bevy of beauties, more appealing as they are discovered swimming in their filmy negligees. It's easy to imagine the woman-hating Lucky's predicament as first the explosive Esther throws a monkey wrench in his plans and then the magic of tropical moonlight awakens out-of-line-of-duty thoughts in the minds of his men and does more than that to the girls. But they must be rescued both from themselves and the bandits, and as Celano's gorillas make things exciting, a troop of fighters, clad in the girls' evening dresses, give the besiegers a touch of Marine fighting ingenuity and efficiency, Lucky has another worry added to his burden as the ex-gob Spud goes over the hill. He trails and catches up, whereupon the pair capture a rebel, who, as the supporting column comes up, turns out to be none other than the much desired Celano, a Filipino with a Brooklyn accent. There's a surprising fade-out as the now-in-love Lucky and Esther are treated to another taste of Spud's tomfoolery.

From such a smattering synopsis, the showmanship values are evident. It's full of laughter. There's enough exciting action to enthuse the young folk, and as the romance is trickily woven in, there's a balance of essentials that suggest their own selling angles.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed of Henry Hathaway. Original by Philip Wylie. Screen play by Byron Morgan and Joel Sayre. Music by Ralph Rainger. Lyrics by Leo Robin. Sound, Jack Goodrich. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Earl Hedrick. Photographed by Ben Reynolds. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, March 23, 1934.

CAST

Lucky Davis	Richard Arlen
Esther Cabot	Ida Lupino
Spud McGurke	Roscoe Karns
Jo Jo La Verne	Grace Bradley
General Cabot	Edmund Breese
Lieutenant Allen	Monte Blue
Susie Raybourn	Virginia Hammond
Celano	Roger Gray
Brick	Julian Madison
Priest	Emil Chautard
Katherine	Gwenllian Gill
Shirley	Clara Lou Sheridan
Dolly	Toby Wing
Loretta	Lona Andre
Bumpy	Leo Chalzel

Gambling Lady

(Warner)

Drama

A lively and dramatic romance having its being in an aura of chance, and with more than a tinge of active melodrama, "Gambling Lady" is a happy selection as a vehicle for the definite and attractive personality which is Barbara Stanwyck.

She brings an intelligent and sympathetic performance to the engaging role of a feminine gambler, a gambler by instinct and inheritance, who, however, never plays any other way than straight. She took her chance on the turn of the cards with money, and with romance, and eventually won.

There are copy lines, selling angles which serve to intrigue the patronage, coupled with the title and the fact that the starring Barbara Stanwyck plays the title role. Almost everyone likes to gamble occasionally, and everyone is forced to, some time or other. Go after the patronage from that angle and arouse their interest with highlights of the story.

Ably supporting Miss Stanwyck are several players with good marquee names: Joel McCrea, Pat O'Brien, C. Aubrey Smith, while Claire Dodd and Ferdinand Gottschalk have minor roles.

When Miss Stanwyck's father, Robert Barrat, a card player and gambler, but an honest one, is caught in the meshes of a large gambling syndicate headed by Arthur Vinton, he commits suicide, leaving his daughter little but a gambling instinct, a way with the cards and a firm principle never to play crookedly. O'Brien, friend and gambler, aids her financially, but is refused as a husband because she does not love him. She goes to work for the syndicate, playing straight and in luck, and meets McCrea, wealthy young man, who is avid in his pursuit of her, which is not entirely discouraged.

Accidentally he ushers into a big game two policemen. Miss Stanwyck believes McCrea is double crossing her, as a policeman, and tells him so. In jail, she refuses the assitance of the syndicate and McCrea, but permits O'Brien to bail her out. When McCrea proves he was innocent of conspiracy, she marries him, after cutting the cards with Smith, the boy's father, whom she had known some time before. Miss Dodd makes a play for McCrea when they meet in Monte Carlo, where Miss Stanwyck is busily breaking the bank. Back in the United States, O'Brien is in a jam, and when Miss Stanwyck bails him out, McCrea and he go into a verbal battle. The bond money she obtained as a result of pawning jewelry she won from Miss Dodd in a "friendly" game. O'Brien takes the pown ticket, McCrea follows him, and O'Brien is murdered. Found with the ticket in his possession, McCrea is held for murder, and only after Miss Stanwyck discovers he was with Miss Dodd is he released by reason of the alibi. To exact the evidence, Miss Stanwyck promised she would divorce McCrea. She keeps her side of the bargain, the divorce is granted, but Smith has an idea it doesn't ring true. Finally, Miss Dodd is made to confess and a general reconcilliation takes place.

Lively and entertaining, the picture offers a better opportunity for intriguing copy than for unusual exploitation. In any case, it is worth extra exhibitor effort.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner. Directed by Archie Mayo. Adaptation by Ralph Block and Doris Malloy. Photographed by George Barnes. Film editor, Harold McLernon. Author, Doris Malloy. Release date, March 31, 1934. Running time, 66 minutes.

CAST

Lady Lee ..... Barbara Stanwyck
Charlie Lang ..... Pat O'Brien
Garry Madison ..... Joel McCrea
Peter Madison ..... C. Aubrey Smith
Sheila Aiken ..... Claire Dodd
Fallin ..... Arthur Vinton
Don ..... Phillip Faversham
Cornelius ..... Ferdinand Gottschalk
Mike Lee ..... Robert Barrat
Graves ..... Robert Elliott
Steve ..... Phillip Reed
Pryor ..... Arthur Treacher
Jimmy ..... Williard Robertson

The Meanest Gal in Town

(RKO Radio)

Comedy

This Radio comedy did not tax the mental facilities of the audience nor did it arouse them to gales of hilarity, but it proved a gentle sort of amusing concoction.

It offers as a comedy team in a feature Zasu Pitts of the fluttery hands and willowy manner, and El Brendel, Scandinavian accented, "beau brummell' comic, who contrive to be reasonably amusing. They are aided and abetted by Jimmy Gleason of the fast tongue and Pert Kelton in a miniature Mae Westian characterization. Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, the others member of the cast, appears as a gabby salesman and succeeds in speeding the pace of a not too rapid moving comedy.

Miss Pitts certainly has her share of picture patron following and Brendel is generally known and liked. Sell the pair in a typically expected Pitts-Brendel romance, for after all they have only been engaged for ten years. Their comedy is the selling line, with appropriate mention of the supporting cast. The fact that Miss Pitts owns a dry-goods store and Brendel a barber shop may offer an opportunity for tieups with the proprietors of such establishments.

Brendel is the easy-going barber whose chief customer is the pool room standby, Gleason. Miss Pitts, his light of love these many years, is a somewhat more successful dispenser of drygoods in her own establishment. He absolutely refuses to consider marrying Miss Pitts until such time as business permits the purchase of a second barber chair.

Pert Kelton, who is all that her first name implies, is part of a stranded theatrical troupe, and steps out upon the street, to seek her "fortune." She finds, not a fortune, but Gleason, and eventually a job as manicurist for Brendel, which took some expert maneuvering. Business, chiefly via the poolroom, booms immediately. Miss Pitts refuses even to speak to her urgent swain until he gets rid of the profitable but lively Miss Kelton. Since she brings most of the business, he can't quite see the point. Gallagher bursts in with a line of chatter, and despite Brendel's objection, Miss Pitts signs with the Sterling Stores, Inc., who by virtue of a shady clause are set to remove her from the management of her own store.

Brendel, meanwhile, has sold the store to Gleason, who is counting on Miss Kelton to remain with him permanently, in a state of matrimony. She crosses him by running off with Gallagher, and Brendel goes to New York to break Miss Pitts' contract. Eventually, Miss Kelton soothes the Gleason temper by heaving into sight on the railroad track, coming back astride a handcar, and Brendel succeeds in saving the store for Miss Pitts. He has by this time achieved his second chair—with Miss Pitts' money—and the two are married.

It is all quite unexciting, but is at least entertaining and more than occasionally amusing. The players are all familiar, and for the most part popular. The midweek position probably is best.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Directed by Russell Mack. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Associate producer, H. N. Swanson. Screen play by Richard Schayer, Russell Mack and H. W. Hanemann. From a story by Arthur Horman. Photographed by J. Roy Hunt. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Perry Ferguson. Sound recorder, Geoge D. Ellis. Film editor, James B. Morley. Musical director, Max Steiner. Release date, January 12, 1934. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Tillie ..... Zasu Pitts
Lulu ..... Pert Kelton
Chris ..... El Brendel
Duke ..... James Gleason
Jack ..... Richard "Skeets" Gallagher

Petterson and Bendel

(Scandinavian Talking Pictures)

Comedy-Romance

Adapted from the novel of Waldemar Hammenhoeg, this Swedish talking picture is good comedy, contains a lively and entertaining romance, and a cast which performs most capably. The film is entirely in the Swedish language, and is devoid of anything in the nature of assistance for the patron not understanding the language. There is no prefatory explanation of the story, other than that appearing in the program, and there are no superimposed subtitle translations of dialogue.

However, the story may be followed without any great difficulty by reason of the manner of the performances and the smooth flow of the story content. In those communities where it is possible for the exhibitor to count upon a goodly percentage of Swedish people or those with Scandinavian ancestry, this picture should be a "natural" for selling. Exploit the fact that here is a motion picture in the native language of certain of the patronage, which is certainly pleasant entertainment.

The simple story concerns the adventures, amorous and in business, of two men, virtually tramps, who accidentally meet under a tarpaulin on a Stockholm wharf. Adolf Jahr, said to be something of a Barrymore of Sweden, and certainly a personable figure, and Semmy Friedmann, of the Stockholm dramatic theatre, are the pair. They form a partnership in business, which runs its course along with the budding romance of Jahr and Birgit Sergelius, waitress in a cafe. Friedmann is pleased with the sudden liking Elsa Carlsson, owner of a glove store, takes in Jahr, since it brings to the firm the additional capital which Miss Carlsson is able to put up.

The firm grows rapidly until the two are in possession of a small fortune through the sale of toy balloons. Friedmann is badly upset when Jahr informs him he intends breaking with Miss Carlsson to marry Miss Sergelius, since that would lose to the firm its chief financial backer. In order to prevent the marriage, Friedmann arranges that she should see Jahr and Miss Carlsson planning a private dinner. She disappears and when Jahr learns of it, he collapses. Friedmann hears that the board of health has banned the sale of the balloons, and sells his interest in the firm to the unsuspecting Jahr. Eventually Miss Sergelius returns, she and Jahr are reconciled, and the two are just able to catch Friedmann as he attempts to leave the country with a forged passport.

It is lively, entertaining comedy romance, well performed and technically produced in an able fashion. The picture offers much to the exhibitor catering to a patronage which understands the language.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced by Svensk Filmindustri, Sweden. Distributed in the United States by Scandinavian Talking Pictures. From the novel by Waldemar Hammenhoeg. Directed by Perl-Axel Branner. Scenario by Gunnar Skoglund. Photographed by Ake Dahlquist. Release date, January 1, 1934. Running time, 148 minutes.

CAST

Petterson ..... Adolf Jahr
Bendel ..... Semmy Friedmann
Mia ..... Birgit Sergelius
Elsa ..... Isa Quensel
Agda Alvin ..... Elsa Carlsson
Nilsson ..... Sigurd Wallen
Aunt Lindstroem ..... Viran Rydkvist
Helmer ..... Helge Hagerman
Emanuel ..... Manne Gruenberger

Orient Express

(Fox)

Drama

Near-tragedy, romance, comedy and considerable action contrive to keep this dramatic adaptation of the Graham Greene novel moving at a rapid pace, and to endow it with qualities of entertainment. With its one central locale, the interior and way-station stops of a speeding European express train, the film has sufficient surrounding action off the train, though centered about its progress across the face of Europe, to vary any monotony which might result from a single setting.

Indicated, and having much to do with the drama which overtakes the central characters is the unrest, chiefly political, which is at the moment stirring nationalistic Europe. That timeliness offers something which may be capitalized by the exhibitor. The fact that the train travels from Antwerp in northern Belgium, to Constantinople, gives rise to its name, Orient Express, but that does not mean there is any tinge of the Oriental about the picture. The action ceases with the picture somewhere in the Balkan states.

Action and suspense in and about the train, though that sort of thing has been done before, offer an opportunity for active selling which may be made intriguing. In the cast are Heather Angel, young and attractive, Norman Foster, Ralph Morgan, with Herbert Mundin and Una O'Connor supplying comedy relief. Not outstanding, these names are nevertheless familiar and satisfactory for the marquee. Irene Ware and Dorothy Burgess have minor roles, but are known.

Miss Angel, young dancer bound for Constantinople, faints of hunger on the train and is befriended by Foster, scion of a date producing family, and Morgan, posing as a kindly doctor but in reality a revolutionary leader bound for Belgrade and trouble. He is recognized by Miss Burgess, newspaper woman, and she hastily boards the train in pursuit. Mundin and Miss O'Connor are the typical not young English couple. Miss Ware is Miss Burgess' companion, who becomes involved with Roy D'Arcy, petty thief and pickpocket. That is the group around whom the drama revolves.

The Angel-Foster romance progresses with the train as D'Arcy plies his trade and affair with Miss Ware, and Miss Burgess cannot elicit a confession from Morgan for her story. She flashes word to her paper, and when the train reaches the border of a Balkan country under martial law, he is taken prisoner. Making a quick attempt to pass a letter to Miss Angel, he implicates her, and she is taken. A search of the train results in the arrest of D'Arcy, who had killed his victim in a way-station robbery. The train moves on without the three but the worried Foster takes an automobile and doubles back in search of his fiancée. Meanwhile D'Arcy pries the lock

These Men are RIGHT!

"We don't believe there are sufficient IMPORTANT PICTURES being produced to build theatre patronage.

"Good pictures cannot be made on standardized formulas. Good pictures require lots of time in preparation, intelligent casting, good direction.

"The industry must have a group of IMPORTANT pictures, the type of entertainment that sends the fan home talking, with that talk attracting other fans and all of them contented with the entertainment they bought. Because of that feeling they go back tomorrow night and the next night and they get that old picture habit again.

"What this production business needs more than anything, in its effort to make better pictures, is some SHOWMANSHIP on the part of its producers." And its true, damned true,

Says W. R. Wilkerson, in the Hollywood Reporter.

Irving Thalberg forecasts fewer and bigger pictures. Samuel Goldwyn has proved the policy right.

We call them "Circulation Builders"—but, call them what you will—they must be made.

(Signed) J. D. WILLIAMS

WRITE ME TODAY FOR FURTHER DETAILS

which we prefer to give only to interested exhibitors who have theatres that play big attractions

We're planning 6 for the Year beginning next September.

Each with "Built-in" Exploitation
Each Individually Produced
Each Individually Sold

"LEGAL HOLIDAY"

The Exploitation Special of the Year 1934 A.D.

J. D. Williams, Night Address,
Edison Hotel, 47th St., West of B'way.

DISTINGUISHED PICTURES CORPORATION
11 West 42nd Street, New York

of their temporary prison, permits the others to escape, thinking to escape the death penalty by pleading ignorance. An enraged commander stands him against a wall, and Foster, returning, picks up Miss Angel and Morgan, the three getting safely away.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Directed by Paul Martin. From the novel by Graham Greene. Screen play by Paul Martin, Carl Hovey and Oscar Levant. Dialogue by William Counselman. Photographed by George Schneiderman. Sound engineer, George Leverett. Settings by Duncan Cramer. Musical director, Arthur Lange. Release date, January 12, 1934. Running time, 72 minutes.

CAST

Coral Musker ..... Heather Angel
Carlton Myatt ..... Norman Foster
Dr. Czinner ..... Ralph Morgan
Mr. Peters ..... Herbert Mundin
Mrs. Peters ..... Una O'Connor
Janet Pardoe ..... Irene Ware
Mabel Warren ..... Dorothy Burgess
Anna ..... Lisa Gora
Conductor ..... William Irving
Josef Grunlich ..... Roy D'Arcy
Major Petkovich ..... Perry Ivins
Colonel Hartep ..... Fredrik Vogeding
Lieut. Alexitch ..... Marc Lobell

The Night of the Party

(Gaumont-British)

Mystery Thriller

Here's a detective yarn, with its murder in a novel setting and identity of the killer cleverly concealed. What with the brisk action leading up to a powerful climax and the quality of the acting, the subject is one which may be reckoned as useful entertainment for the normal fan.

There's no use pretending it's got big marquee names, although Leslie Banks has achieved a fair standard of notability through strong performances in a number of American pictures. It might be hinted that he puts over a powerful piece of acting in this new role. For the rest, the mystery element is the picture's bet, and where patrons fancy themselves as amateur detectives there should be a first-rate chance of selling the picture. An effective way to ballyhoo the subject would be along the lines of "a murder game that turned to reality."

The killer's victim is Lord Studholme, an unscrupulous and nasty-minded newspaper owner, and the crime takes place at his house in the course of an evening party. There are present the Princess (a visitor from foreign shores), Chiddiatt (a neurasthenic modern writer) and his wife, also General Piddington (Studholme's father-in-law), Sir John Holland (Police Commissioner at Scotland Yard) and his daughter Joan, Peggy Studholme (daughter of the house) and Guy Kennion (Secretary), the last two having particularly raised Lord Studholme's gall by getting married on the sly; there is also a butler. Every member of the party has good enough reason for bumping off the host, and when the Princess fortuitously suggests a game of "Murder," in which lots are drawn as to who shall be murderer and who detective, somebody takes the chance of making a reality of it.

Such a story must have possibilities, and this one moves well, grips by the tension of its development, and is generally a credit to its director.—CHARMAN, London.

A Gaumont-British production and release. Directed by Michael Powell. Produced by Jerome Jackson. Story and dialogue by Roland Pertwee and John Hastings Turner. Scenario by Ralph Smart. Photography by Glen MacWilliams. Art direction by A. Junge. Recording by S. Jolly. Assistant direction by Bryan Wallace. Costumes by Gordon Conway. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Sir John Holland ..... Leslie Banks
Chiddiatt ..... Ernest Thesiger
Guy Kennion ..... Ian Hunter
Lord Studholme ..... Malcolm Keen
Defence attorney ..... Laurence Anderson
Princess ..... Muriel Aked
Peggy Studholme ..... Jane Baxter
Joan Holland ..... Viola Keats
Anna Chiddiatt ..... Jane Millican
Detective Ramage ..... John Turnbull
General Piddington ..... W. Graham Browne
Howard Vernon ..... Louis Goodrich

What's Your Racket

(Mayfair)

Drama

A drama which is mostly melodrama, concerning racketeers and a girl who appears to be in league with them, but actually is double crossing them from a revenge motive, and a young man who befriends her and brings them both out on top, "What's Your Racket" has some action, but a yarn which has been told before, many times.

The names which may be used to some advantage in selling the picture are those of Regis Toomey, Noel Francis and J. Carroll Naish, as the usual villainous villain. The other members are quite unknown. The picture is to be sold as racketeer melodrama, with the copy making note of the fact that the girl in the case, appearing by turns to be working for and against the racketeers, is in reality their deadly enemy, plotting against them for reasons of her own. Those reasons are revealed at the conclusion of the story.

The film opens on the robbery of the safe in Naish's home by a girl dressed as a man. She takes a sum of money, escapes and is pursued. Toomey comes to her assistance when her car is wrecked and they make good an escape from racketeers and police. She refuses to indicate her identity, but promises to see him again. He learns she is employed as a hostess at a night club which is operated by Naish and Malatesta, racket leader. Toomey is captured when Miss Francis is taxed with the burglary, but she aids him to escape. Malatesta refuses to believe she had anything to do with the robbery, but Naish offers to convince him. They plant a large sum of money in the night club safe, and lie in wait for the girl the next night. The police, meanwhile, have taken an interest in Naish and Malatesta. Miss Francis attempts to rob the safe, is ambushed, and again Toomey, on the spot, helps her get away. The racketeers pursue them, and police pursue them both.

The racketeers, in their car, go over a cliff when the driver is killed by a police bullet, and Toomey and Miss Frances are brought to headquarters. There she reveals herself as the daughter of a bank employee framed by the racketeers some time before, bent on recovering the money stolen and nailing the gang. Toomey discloses his identity as a police officer working on the same case, and the two go in search of the license department.

Melodramatic and with a measure of action, this film offers the exhibitor comparatively little opportunity for unusual selling of any nature. It is straight, routine motion picture in the program classification, and is to be sold as such. Somewhere in a midweek position would seem to be the most acceptable playing position.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Mayfair. Directed by Fred Guiol. Original story by George E. Rogan. Screen play by Mary Barringer. Photographed by James S. Brown, Jr. Film editor, Dan Milner. Release date, December 1, 1933. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Bert Miller ..... Regis Toomey
Mae Cosgrove ..... Noel Francis
Dick Graves ..... J. Carroll Naish
Jimmy Dean ..... Creighton Hale
Benton ..... Fred Malatesta
Mrs. Cosgrove ..... May Wallace
Cameron ..... Lew Kelly
Jones ..... David Callis

Big Time Or Bust

(State Rights)

Comedy Drama

Here is a story of a show couple, the husband a high diver, his bride his helper in the carnival act, and of what happens when he starts out to crash the big time. Therein lies the best approach to selling the picture. He flops. She gets the big opportunity and is a knockout. Her success is his despair; to his pride the situation of his wife as his meal ticket is intolerable. He gets a contract, on the tank circuit. Should she give up her fame to be with the man she loves? That's the exhibitor's cue.

For the marquee there are Regis Toomey and Gloria Shea as the principals, Toomey in a role that falls short in performance value, Miss Shea likable and of sympathetic voice but repetitiously placed in practically identical setting for the show sequences. Walter Byron is the suave showgirl connoisseur who falls in love this time, and Nat Carr as the agent supplies something of comedy.

Toomey is the sensation of the carnival wheel, with Miss Shea's "Okay, big boy" the big cue to confidence and dive. He longs for Broadway. In a restaurant a wedding party is celebrating; the high diver and his assistant take the matrimonial plunge. Warm hopes beat fruitlessly against icy Broadway, until an old friend finds Miss Shea a small bit in a night club show. Byron sees her, doublequicks to the big showman, and Miss Shea makes good, though Byron's personal advances are stopped short. An inscription on Byron's bracelet gift to her convinces Toomey he has lost her. He gets work out of town, with another assistant, loses his nerve, decides to miss the tank next time as his only way out. He steps out on the ladder platform. But the old "Okay, Big Boy!" comes up from the voice he loves. All's right again.

The picture has little to interest the youngsters. There's a spectacular dive into the tank at the end of the picture but the general theme and the bit of drunken revelry are scarcely juvenile material.—ROVELSTAD, New York.

A Tower Production. Distributed in New York State by Capital Film Exchange. Elsewhere through state rights. Directed by Sam Newfield. Story by George Wallace Sayre. Photographed by Harry Forbes. Art director, Ralph DeLacey. Recording engineer, L. E. Tope. Film editor, Al Clarke. Release date, November 10, 1933. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Jimmy Kane ..... Regis Toomey
Betty Roberts ..... Gloria Shea
John Hammond ..... Walter Byron
Lew Feld ..... Nat Carr
Paddy Mellon ..... Charles Delaney
Winthrop Allen ..... Edwin Maxwell
Lewis ..... Hooper Atchley

The Ninth Guest

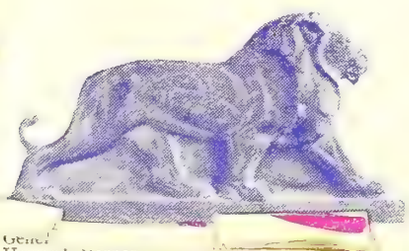
(Columbia)

Mystery

Mystery, a situation which is somewhat different, and a full quota of suspense, lend to "The Ninth Guest" a surrounding atmosphere of salable material. Five murder-suicides and another out-and-out suicide, the victims the anonymously-invited members of a strange party in a penthouse atop a city skyscraper, addressed via radio and apparently watched by their invisible host, the eight guests are faced with death, only two coming out alive.

The title is intriguing, and much may be done with it in the selling of a murder-infested plot under the strangest of circumstances. It is taken from a play by Owen Davis and the novel by Gwen Bristow and Bruce Manning, and there is every likelihood many of the patronage will have read the story in its original form. The strangeness of the situation permits the exhibitor to draw on his imagination in the preparation of his material, enabling him to sell it rather more interestingly than he would the usual mystery material. There is no familiar detective, the entire action takes place within the confines of the penthouse, and one of the guests, a newspaper man, turns detective to solve the mystery and save himself and the girl.

The cast names are not outstanding, the leads having been taken by Donald Cook and Genevieve Tobin, with Hardie Albright and Edward Ellis in chief support, indicating the advisability of concentration on the title, story and mystery elements. Vincent Barnett attempts to relieve the drama and suspense with a few moments of comedy, and they are welcome, however ineffectual.



The eight invited by wire to the party are

SHEARER

Robert MONTGOMERY

The return of Norma Shearer to your screen becomes the happiest event of this film year. The wise choice of her story, a love drama more romantic even than "Divorcee" and "Strangers May Kiss." The selection again of handsome Robert Montgomery and a distinguished cast. The master hand of Thalberg. The unstinted resources of M-G-M studios. Showmen in their lobbies and programs are making "Riptide" an immediate "something to be keenly watched for." Proudly M-G-M brings you The First Lady of the Screen.

Gene[illegible]
Howard Vernon ..... Lou[illegible]

RIPTIDE

with

HERBERT MARSHALL • MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL

Written and Directed by EDMUND GOULDING

Presented by IRVING G. THALBERG

Cook, Miss Tobin, once his fiancée; Albright, college instructor; Ellis, crooked politician, Edwin Maxwell, his enemy, similarly engaged; Helen Flint, feminine attorney, in love with and employed by Ellis; Samuel Hinds, college president who had fired Albright at Maxwell's orders, and Nella Walker, society matron. They arrive, accuse one another of having sent the invitations, and suddenly realize they are trapped, all exits electrically charged.

The radio informs them they are gathered for a strange game, a battle of wits, with the stakes death. As each hour passes, comes warning of death. Maxwell goes first, taking poison left in an advantageous position. Miss Walker, exposed by the "voice," follows him. Ellis is accidentally shot by Miss Flint in a spasm of nervous fear, then she throws herself against the gate and is electrocuted. Hinds is shot mysteriously, and Albright wounded. Then Cook binds and accuses Albright of plotting the ghastly party. Albright confesses, gives old wrongs as his reason, permits Cook and Miss Tobin, now reconciled, to escape, and commits suicide himself.

Here is unusual mystery, which should be directed especially to the mystery fans among the patrons, but may be made to sound intriguing to those not necessarily devotees of that particular brand of screen fare. Sell the atmosphere, story and title. The film should be worth some amount of extra effort.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Directed by Roy William Neill. From the play by Owen Davis and the novel by Gwen Bristow and Bruce Manning. Screen play by Garnett Weston. Assistant director, Arthur Black. Photographed by Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, George Cooper. Film editor, Gene Milford. Release date, January 31, 1934. Running time, 69 minutes.

CAST

Jim Daly ..... Donald Cook
Jean Trent ..... Genevieve Tobin
Henry Abbott ..... Hardie Albright
Tim Cronin ..... Edward Ellis
Jason Osgood ..... Edwin Maxwell
Assistant butler ..... Vincent Barnett
Sylvia Inglesby ..... Helen Flint
Dr. Murray Reid ..... Samuel S. Hinds
Margaret Chisholm ..... Nella Walker
Butler ..... Sidney Bracey

Derby Decade
(RKO Radio)
Enjoyable

Highly enjoyable is this entertaining little comedy, in which Ruth Etting, in the dress of the gay nineties, and an appropriate Bowery saloon setting, renders "I'm Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage," "When You Were Sweet Sixteen" and "After the Ball," while two roughneck gangs have it out with fists, clubs and tomatoes, and the reformers from "uptown" get very much the worst of it. Miss Etting's popularity, and the manner in which the subject has been produced, should make it worth special attention.—Running time, 22 minutes.

Vaudeville Days
(Universal)
Entertaining

An entertaining vaudeville concoction on the screen, in which various stars of the vaudeville stage and radio "do their stuff." Included are Kay and Jimmy, doing lightning stunts on roller skates; Peter Higgins, tenor; Sibyl Bowan, who impersonates Mae West cleverly; Jack Seymour, young tap dancer; Elsie and Herman, adagio team addicted to classical poses, and Ann Lester, who croons a song or two. Lively material for those who like their vaudeville via the screen.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Sea Killers
(Principal)
Highly Interesting

A lengthy short picturing in interesting fashion a supposed hunt for lost treasure at the bottom of the sea somewhere off the coast of Mexico. The expedition, disguising itself as on a deep-sea fishing trip, goes after numerous of the giants of the sea, catching tuna, sighting whales, and harpooning a porpoise, an omen of ill luck at sea. Reaching the scene of the treasure, the divers go down, while the undersea camera records every movement. The accompanying dialogue describes the sensations of one of the divers as the air supply is impeded. A second diver is seen groping his way about the bottom, then graphically is pictured the attack of the dread octopus, followed by several others. The diver is slowly enveloped in the writhing tentacles, and the treasure hunt is given up as the mourning expedition sails away. It is definitely interesting material, having something more than the usual deep sea film of the travel variety.—Running time, 30 minutes.

Morocco Nights
(Vitaphone)
Good Musical

One of the Vitaphone musical shorts in Technicolor, this number is highly entertaining, excellent from the standpoint of color, and lively in a musical fashion. Featured is Teddy Wolf with his orchestra, persuaded to go to Morocco to aid the sheik in recalling a song he once knew. The penalty for failure is death. When numerous attempts meet with failure, a parrot saves the day by singing the song. The feminine chorus meets expectations. A lively, colorful subject.—Running time, 18 minutes.

Goofytone Newsreel No. 3
(Universal)
Plenty of Fun

A welcome note in this Alphabet Era of NRA, CWA and SOL is the gentle burlesquing, in the third of the Goofytones, of the question of how many quarter turns are necessary to turn the prosperity corner. Most fun of the other subjects comes from Mrs. Cooke's super-special double-triple-decker supper concocter, the Belmont Downs race with its scene shifting to mules, autos, motorcycles and novelty machines, and Chancellod Moahn explaining in perfectly non-understandable brogue and platitudes why Renegg has adopted the gold standard. Running time, 10 minutes.

The Mississippi
(Vitaphone)
Excellent

An excellent novelty subject, this is virtually a cinematic background to the fine rendition of Ferde Grofe's familiar suite. As the succeeding phases of the musical score are heard, the film depicts the spirit of the piece, with scenes of Huckleberry Finn, the river steamer, the cotton plantation, negro singing and dancing, the river in raging flood and the tranquility of the great stream at twilight. It is well executed, and of "class" quality.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Jolly Good Felons
(RKO Radio)
Fair Cartoon

Another in the series of "Little King" cartoons, adapted from O. Sogolow's cartoons, this number is fair animated entertainment. The King visits the prison, and when he makes a wrong move in a checker game between two convicts, starts a riot. The army and air force go to work, clean up the prison, and the lockstep resumes, with the King trailing the convicts in an oversize striped suit.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Little Jack Little
(Vitaphone)
Tuneful

Little Jack Little, orchestra leader and composer, has his moment in the spotlight, at the piano, rendering bits of some of his most popular numbers, while various vocalists, in addition to Little himself, render the selections. It must be said that Little is decidedly better at the piano and in composition than in voice. The numbers are all familiar, several having attained unusual popularity. "At the Baby Parade" is appropriately staged with a toy soldier routine. Tunefully entertaining.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Strange As It Seems
(Universal)
Interesting

A baker's dozen of oddities the world over are caught by the camera in this, number 37 of the series, which proves to be of general interest. Most unusual are the boy-cartoonist who draws simultaneously, and as well, with hands and feet; the man with the pet goose which follows him everywhere; the gigantic elephant at a Texas zoo, who trumpets a factory whistle for employees; the Seeing Eye, institution in New Jersey where German Shepherd dogs are trained to guide the blind.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Mushrooms
(Vitaphone)
Numerous Laughs

Harry Gribbon, large size comic of the brow-beaten husband category, contrives to supply numerous laughs in this comedy of the expert on mushrooms whose mother-in-law drops in for a visit, only to be followed by his brother-in-law with a couple of "pals and their gals." They manage to give Gribbon a definitely unsatisfactory evening, and when the diners believe they have eaten toadstools instead of mushrooms there is much consternation. The comedy is amusing.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Full Coverage
(Universal)
Noisy

Henry Armetta, head-slapping Italian comedian, indulges in all of his usual antics, bringing himself to the verge of apoplexy, in what is fair comedy, with a few laugh spots, but considerable noise. His wife persuades him to take insurance from his annoying brother-in-law, then he overhears what he thinks is a conspiracy between the two to do away with him. He calls his lawyer, and while the usual crashing, noisy chase goes on upstairs, a burglar's crew removes most of the furniture on the ground floor. It's that kind of comedy.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Come to Dinner
(Vitaphone)
Clever

Extremely clever is this satirical play on "Dinner at Eight," with the various original characters taken off with truly remarkable accuracy in appearance and mannerisms. A girl and chorus tinge is added to heighten the entertainment value of the short, and the original theme is burlesqued throughout by each character. The subject, a Broadway Brevities number, should certainly be found entertaining by almost any audience.—Running time 10 minutes.

Holy Land
(RKO Radio)
Of Interest

There is general interest in this number of the Vagabond Adventure series, produced by Van Beuren, in which the ancient city of Jerusalem and the Holy Land are viewed with the eye of the camera. The seaport of Jaffa, the wailing wall, the Holy Sepulchre are pictured, as well as something of the rather primitive life of the inhabitants. It is interesting material.—Running time, 10 minutes.

HAYS OFFICE CODE ANALYSIS SAYS MOST CLAUSES FAVOR INDEPENDENTS

Large Companies Answer Criticism by Independent Theatres with Detailed Report to Administrator on 45 Provisions

Unrelenting criticism voiced by independent theatre interests—notably Allied—that the motion picture code as a whole is disadvantageous to the small enterprises of the industry was answered Tuesday by the large corporations, which submitted a lengthy brief to the NRA Administrator at Washington analyzing the code with respect to the rights of small enterprises and minorities. The conclusion was stated that the code "overwhelmingly concerns itself with and solves the small operator's problems."

The brief, published in full herewith, also serves specifically as an answer to one filed with the Administrator by Allied which condemned certain trade practices and the structure of the Code Authority and Local Boards.

The keynote of the brief is the assertion that in each instance of the trade practice clauses, the large companies have "surrendered a right in favor of the independent."

Sponsored by Hays Office

Sponsored directly by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, the brief was filed with the NRA Administrator at the Capital, in connection with the meeting in Constitutional Hall of some 4,000 members of Code Authorities and of trade association code committees of all industries.

The independents are in a better position today than the large companies, it was said.

The Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America analyzed all the sections of the code excepting those concerning labor, administration and definitions, and dealt principally with provisions on trade practice and unfair competition. It analyzed 45 separate clauses, of which, it was declared, 26 were for the benefit of the independent exhibitor, distributor and producer. Twenty-five of these 26 clauses were said to have granted to the independents rights which they previously did not have.

Of the remaining 19 parts, 16 referred to general rights and were not designed, according to the brief, to benefit specially any group but rather the industry as a whole. One clause was for the benefit of the large exhibitor, and two were for the benefit of the large distributors. The brief pointed out, however, that these two parts granted no rights to the large distributors which they did not previously have, but merely codified existing law.

Translating the foregoing figures into percentages, the brief explained to the Administrator, on behalf of the large corporations, that

1. Excluding general provisions which were not designed to benefit any particular group in the industry, 89.5 per cent of all provisions of the code were for the benefit of independent exhibitors, distributors and producers.

2. Of the provisions giving benefits to the independent exhibitors, distributors and producers, 99.9 per cent gave rights to such independents which they previously did not have.

3. Four per cent of all provisions were for the benefit of the large distributor, but no part of this 4 per cent represented the granting of a right which the large distributors did not previously have.

4. Two per cent of the provisions of the code were for the large exhibitors.

"Even this mathematical picture of the partiality of the code to the independent operator does not reveal the full protection which the code affords to the independents," said the distributors' brief, which added: "These figures allow equal weight to each provision. If the importance and quality of the provisions were weighed, the balance in favor of the independent operator would be even more striking. Such provisions as those creating Grievance Boards and Clearance Boards and ten per cent cancellation and limitation of short subjects in proportion to features, involve sacrifices to the large distributor and producer of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Such provisions are of transcending importance in marking new lines to which the large operator will proceed to assist the small operator."

Giving the socalled "sacrifices" of the large corporations under the code, additional significance in the light of recent economic conditions in the industry, the brief reminded the Administrator that "several of the largest producers and distributors are in bankruptcy," and that "all, with the exception of two, have suffered severe losses during the past two years."

"The large operators might well have appealed for relief themselves," it continued. "Instead, they have been urged and persuaded to make additional sacrifices in the interests of the independent operator whose investment in this business is comparatively small. Indeed, the independent operator is in a more solvent condition than any other group in the industry today.

"A careful examination of every section of the code leads to the irrefutable conclusion that the motion picture code, both in the number and substance of its provisions, overwhelmingly concerns itself with and solves the small operator's problems."

The brief analyzed the 45 trade practice clauses as follows:

PART I.—ANALYSIS OF THE CODE OF FAIR COMPETITION FOR THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY IN RESPECT TO RIGHTS OF SMALL ENTERPRISES AND MINORITIES:

INDEX TO MPPDA ANALYSIS OF CODE

In the MPPDA analysis of the Code, specific provisions are discussed under the following classifications, after a general division of the subject at large:

I. Analysis in respect to rights of small enterprises and minorities.
   - A. Provisions under the title "Distributors."
   - B. Provisions under the title "Exhibitors."
   - C. Provisions under the title "Distributors-Exhibitors."
   - D. Provisions under the title "Grievance Boards and Zoning Boards."

II. Analysis in respect to independent producers and distributors.
   - A. Provisions under the title "General."
   - B. Provisions under the title "Producers."
   - C. and D. Other Provisions.

Brief Says 26 Clauses Benefit Independent, 16 for Industry as a Whole, 1 for Large Exhibitors, 2 for Large Distributors

A. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title "Distributors"

1. Threatening to Build

(Article V—D—Part 1)

Small Exhibitors complained that when they failed to enter into a contract with a Distributor, that the Distributor would threaten to ener into the exhibition field unless satisfactory terms were made with him. This Article forbids a Distributor from making any threat or committing any act in such connection with the purpose of intimidating an Exhibitor to enter into a contract with him or paying larger license fees.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

2. Distributor's Employee Having Interest in Theatre

(Article V—D—Part 2)

The independent Exhibitor complained that some times a Distributor's employee had an interest in a theatre, and then used his influence with the Distributor to interfere with the licensing of pictures by the independent Exhibitor. This section forbids this practice.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

3. Substitutions

(Article V—D—Part 3)

For many years there has been a conflict between the elasticity required by the Producer in production and the definiteness required by the Exhibitor in obtaining that which was promised to him. The problem of substituting stars or directors has been a troublesome one. Frequently, it was necessary in the interests of the picture. Yet the Exhibitors, and particularly the independent Exhibitor, complained that this was unfair to him. This section of the Code forbids the Distributor from substituting a star, director or well-known "Batting average of 20th Century retains its high rating. Theatre literally rocked with laughter. Box-office all the way!"

THE CRITICS RAVE ABOUT A NEW TEAM!

— Associated Publications

"A rowdy, funny flicker with Tracy and Oakie at their best!"
— Sidney Skolsky
Daily News

"Another hit for Darryl F. Zanuck! Tracy and Oakie a great team!"
— North American Newspaper Alliance

"The earthquake sequence is the most thrilling and effective ever seen!
— Modern Screen Magazine

"A natural! It'll please the highbrows and have the lowbrows doubled up with laughter!"
— Billboard

"In Tracy and Oakie a splendid new screen team is born. Robust action, tangy lines, lusty laughs!"
— Motion Picture Daily

"One of the most exciting comedies I have ever seen!"
— Alice Tildesley
Philadelphia Public Ledger

"Tracy and Oakie are great! It moves and moves fast!"
— Alason Edwards
United Press

"The team of Tracy and Oakie should be incorporated immediately! Can't miss being a hit picture!"
— Hollywood Reporter

"So fast and funny only an earthquake could have topped it... and it does!"
— Jack Grant
Motion Picture Magazine

"May very well prove 20th Century's best money maker to date. Tracy and Oakie step out as a bet on the nose in the team class!"
— Daily Variety

and...

EXHIBITORS chime in!

"I've seen all the 20th Century releases to date, and they get better and better!"
— W. W. Troxell
Wilber and Sun Theatres
Central City, Iowa.

"Excellent comedy! Very good indeed!"
— John Ludwig
Ludwig Circuit
Milwaukee, Wis.

"Will be splendid attraction in our territory"
— Charles Williams
MPTOA, Nebraska

"Very good! Tracy and Oakie at their best, with a fine supporting cast!" — H. Knudsen
Paradise Theatre, West Allis, Wis.

"Fine entertainment! Should keep Tracy and Oakie together . . . they're a great team!"
— Ray Felker, Broadway Theatre, Council Bluffs, Iowa

"Great entertainment!"
— Ralph Goldberg
Paramount Theatre, Omaha, Neb.

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK
presents

Spencer TRACY
Jack OAKIE
in
"Looking for Trouble"

with
CONSTANCE CUMMINGS
ARLINE JUDGE • JUDITH WOOD
Directed by William Wellman

A DARRYL F. ZANUCK Production

Released thru
UNITED ARTISTS

20TH CENTURY PICTURE

SMALL ENTERPRISES, MINORITIES

author, book or play named in a contract for any other star, director, author, book or play. Furthermore, in those instances where the Distributor has not named the cast and is permitted to make substitution, he must nevertheless give notice of such substitution to the Exhibitor.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

4. Non-Theatrical Accounts

(Article V—D—Part 4)

The Distributor licenses pictures to institutions other than theatres. There is considerable revenue from such business. Exhibitors have complained that competition from a non-theatrical account is unfair. The Distributors have maintained that they have a right to license their pictures wherever they see fit.)

This section of the Code, however, limits the Distributor's rights. If the Exhibitor contends that it is unfair competition to have a picture exhibited by a certain non-theatrical account, such matter is submitted to a Grievance Board composed equally of Distributors and Exhibitors. The impartial government representative is the deciding factor in the event of a deadlock. The Grievance Board has the power to forbid the Distributor from dealing with the non-theatrical account.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

5. Short Subjects Proportionate to Features

(Article V—D—Part 5)

A number of Distributors distributed not only feature pictures but also comedies, generally called short subjects because they are only one or two reels. Since the quality of the short subjects was not as vital to the Exhibitor's welfare as the quality of the features, the demand centered upon the features. The Distributor finding that his features were bought but that his short subjects were ignored, naturally favored those Exhibitors who were willing to buy all of his product. The result was an industry problem. Exhibitors complained that they were obliged to buy the short subjects in order to obtain the features and that this resulted in their being overbought on short subjects. Here, again, is a simple economic problem such as arises in any other industry: It certainly ought not to be the subject of a "political campaign in Washington."

The solution offered by the Code will appeal to any fair-minded person. The Code forbids a Distributor from imposing, as a condition for licensing features, that the Exhibitor contract for a greater percentage of short subjects needed by him than the percentage of the Distributor's feature pictures needed by him. In other words, if the Exhibitor buys one-third of the features required by him from a certain Distributor, he may not be obligated to buy more than one-third of the short subjects needed by him from that Distributor.

The result is that the Exhibitor is assured of not being over-bought. The result to the Distributor is that he loses tens of thousands of dollars of business which he might otherwise obtain.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

6. Checking Receipts Confidential

(Article V—D—Part 6)

Many pictures are licensed on a percentage basis. The Exhibitor pays to the Distributor a percentage of the receipts obtained by him. This necessitates, in many instances, that the Distributor check the receipts of the Exhibitor to be certain that he is getting that which he is entitled to. Many Exhibitors complained that the checker and the Distributor had obtained information concerning the Exhibitor's business which was very important and might be divulged to others. The Distributor contended that since he was a partner in the particular engagement, he was entitled to knowledge of the success of the venture.

This section of the Code forbids the Distributor or his checker from divulging any information received from checking receipts.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

ARBITRATION IN LINE WITH OPTIONAL PACT

"Where arbitration is agreed to in the contract . . . the Code provides that it shall be in accordance with the arbitration clause of the optional standard license agreement. . . . This arbitration clause was negotiated with representatives of the Allied Group.

7. Fraudulent Transfer by Distributor

(Article V—D—Part 7)

This section provides that no Distributor may transfer his assets for the purpose of avoiding delivery of any picture to an Exhibitor.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor

8. Adjustment of Average Price Contract

(Article V—D—Part 8)

Frequently, a group of pictures were licensed for a total sum and the contract merely struck an average price for each picture. It made no difference what price was allocated against each picture since the total price had been agreed upon.

When, however, the Distributor failed to distribute all of the pictures licensed, a serious question arose concerning the license fees of those pictures which had been delivered. This section of the Code requires a Distributor to make a fair adjustment of the license fees in such a case. Any dispute that arises must be determined by the Local Grievance Board. Thus, for the first time, definite machinery has been set up to assist the Exhibitor in such a case.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

9. Designating Special Days of the Week

(Article V—D—Part 9)

Distributors desire to have their pictures exhibited on Saturdays and Sundays. Similarly they find it least profitable to have pictures exhibited on certain other days of the week. This is particularly true where the pictures have been licensed upon a percentage basis. The Distributor in such an instance, may double or triple his income from the picture, if it is shown on the choice days of the week. Consequently, pressure has been exerted upon the Exhibitor to exhibit pictures on certain days of the week, contrary perhaps to the Exhibitor's own notion on the subject. This created an economic conflict.

This section of the Code forbids a Distributor from requiring a specific day of the week for exhibition, unless he has specified this right in the contract in advance, and Exhibitor has thus consented to it. Furthermore, if the contract is not on a percentage basis but on a fixed rental basis, the Distributor is forbidden to specify the day of the week, even if he has given himself this right in the contract. In other words, if the Distributor is not a partner to the proceeds, he cannot even by contract control the more preferable playing time of the Exhibitor.

This section of the Code does not even stop here in affording relief to the Exhibitor. It provides further, that if the contract does permit designation of specific days, and the picture is licensed on a percentage basis, that the Exhibitor may nevertheless apply to the Grievance Board for relief, and the Grievance Board has the power to afford relief in such circumstance.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

10. Withholding Features Because of Breach of Short Subjects

(Article V—Part 10)

Frequently an Exhibitor contracts for feature pictures and short subject pictures at the same time. Subsequently, however, he fails to exhibit the short subjects and breaches his contract;—an attractive feature picture is available, however, and he desires to exhibit it. In other words, he wants the good of the contract while rejecting the bad. Distributors have sometimes therefore refused to deliver feature subjects while the Exhibitor was in default under the short subject contract. Exhibitors complain of this.

This section of the Code provides that if there is an arbitration clause in the contract, the Distributor may not refuse to deliver a feature picture because the Exhibitor has breached his short subject contract,—and similarly may not refuse to deliver a short subject because the Exhibitor has breached his feature contract. Thus the Exhibitor is protected even though he has breached his contract.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

11. Offer of Additional Feature

(Article V—D—Part 11)

In addition to the photoplays announced and licensed, a Producer will sometimes produce a special production. Exhibitors contended that while they had no legal right to such additional picture, they ought to have opportunity of obtaining it if they were customers of the Distributor who distributed it.

This section of the Code concedes this right. It provides that if an Exhibitor has contracted for more than fifty (50%) per cent of a Distributor's pictures, and the Distributor releases an additional picture, he must first offer such additional picture to this Exhibitor.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

12. Fire Regulations

(Article V—D—Part 12)

This section provides for inspection of Distributor exchanges and the holding of fire drills for the purpose of preventing fire.

This section is for the benefit of the entire Industry and not for any particular group.

13. Summary

This concludes an analysis of all 12 parts of Subdivision D of the Code which refers to Distributor.

Eleven (11) of the twelve (12) parts were for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor;—the twelfth was a general clause dealing with fire prevention. Of the 11 provisions in favor of the independent Exhibitor, 10 granted rights which he never previously had. The 11th (Forbidding Fraudulent Transfer of Distributor) codified an existing rule of law.

CODE PROVISIONS ON EXHIBITION

The summary therefore of these 12 parts under Article V—D of the Code reveals the following:

1. Excluding the one fire clause which is general, all 11 provisions were for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.
2. Ten (10) of these 11 provisions granted rights to the independent Exhibitor he never before enjoyed.

B. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title "Exhibitors"

1. Rejection under Selective Contract

(Article V—E—Part 1)

Frequently an Exhibitor has the privilege under his contract of selecting a certain number of photoplays and rejecting the others. In such case, the Exhibitor has "tied-up" the pictures even though ultimately he may not use them. Such right of selection is an extraordinary privilege, and consequently is obtained only by the very large Exhibitor. The subsequent run Exhibitor could not exhibit these photoplays until the prior run had shown them. The prior Exhibitor would sometimes procrastinate in making his selection. While he tarried, the subsequent run Exhibitor waited anxiously. The small subsequent run Exhibitor, therefore, contended that the prior run Exhibitor should be obliged to make his selection promptly.

This section of the Code affords such relief. It requires the Exhibitor who has such a selective contract to reject these photoplays he does not intend to exhibit within 21 days after the availability of the photoplay in that territory.

This section is solely for the benefit of the small independent Exhibitor.

2. Overbuying

(Article V—E—Part 2)

Large Exhibitors have been accused in the past of deliberately contracting for more photoplays than they could use in order to deprive their smaller competitor of available pictures.

This section of the Code prohibits such overbuying.

This section is specifically for the benefit of the small independent Exhibitor.

3. Rebates

(Article V—E—Part 3)

To attract patronage, the practice has grown up in many theatres of conducting lotteries, giving prizes and special coupons to patrons. Vieing with one another in giving away things to patrons resulted in a form of cutthroat competition amongst Exhibitors which reached absurd lengths.

To curtail this practice, this section of the Code forbids lotteries, prizes, coupons and throw-away tickets. It permits the giving of gifts unless seventy five per cent of the Exhibitors in a definite area vote to terminate the practice. Thus, the control is left ultimately with the Exhibitors in a definite area.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

4. Fraudulent Transfer by Exhibitor

(Article V—E—Part 4)

This section of the Code prohibits the transfer by an Exhibitor of his theatre for the purpose of avoiding uncompleted contracts. If there is any dispute concerning the matter, it is submitted to the Local Grievance Board.

This section is for the benefit of Distributors.

5. Advertising by Exhibitor

(Article V—E—Part 5)

The box office value of a picture depends greatly upon its freshness. Consequently, large license fees are paid for the privilege of having the first or prior runs. This accounts for the fact that the same photoplay for which $5,000.00 license fee was paid for a first-run, will ultimately be shown by the subsequent run for as little as $5.00.

Since contracts are made long in advance of the exhibition, the subsequent-run knows that he is going to exhibit certain photoplays. If he advertises in advance that such a photoplay is a coming attraction at his theatre, it destroys greatly the value of the photoplay to the prior-run, for the prior-run is charging higher admission prices when the picture is new. If the public, however, is advised that the same picture will be shown at a small admission price in the immediate neighborhood, a short while thereafter, it is persuaded to wait. Thus, the prior-run Exhibitor is deprived of the very advantage for which he paid a substantial license fee.

This section of the Code, therefore, puts certain restrictions upon the right of a subsequent-run Exhibitor to advertise prior to the exhibition of the prior-run Exhibitor. Adequate safeguards are, however, created to permit the subsequent-run Exhibitor at all times to have a fair opportunity to advertise.

This section is for the benefit of the prior-run Exhibitors.

6. Interfering with Exhibitor's Lease

(Article V—E—Part 6)

When an Exhibitor negotiates with his landlord for a new lease or seeks a modification of an existing lease, he takes the risk that a competing Exhibitor may intervene with better offers. The Exhibitors contended that they were entitled to non-interference in their endeavor to continue possession at the theatre which they had operated.

This section of the Code gives this right. It provides that no person engaged in the Industry may interfere with negotiations between an Exhibitor and any one else concerning the possession of the theatre.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

7. Exhibition Before Dawn

(Article V—E—Part 7)

This section of the Code provides that no Exhibitor may exhibit a picture previous to dawn of the first date booked unless he has permission in the contract for such exhibition. This provision prevents the artificial stretching of the normal playing time.

This section is for the benefit of Distributors.

8. Summary

This concludes the analysis of all seven parts under that Subdivision of the Code entitled EXHIBITORS.

Four of these Parts (Part 1, 2, 3 and 6) were for benefit of independent Exhibitors.

Two of these Parts (Part 4 and Part 7) were for the benefit of Distributors. These two Parts, however, took no previous right from the Exhibitor but merely codified existing law against fraudulent transfers and exhibition prior to the booked date.

One Part (Part 5) was for the benefit of the prior-run Exhibitors.

A summary of these seven Parts reveals the following:

1. Four of the seven Parts were for the benefit of independent Exhibitors.
2. These four Parts granted rights to Exhibitors which they never previously had.
3. The two Parts which were for the benefit of Distributors merely codified existing law and did not deprive the Exhibitors of rights which they previously had.
4. One Part dealing with advertising was for the benefit of the prior-run Exhibitors.

C. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title Distributors-Exhibitors

1. Standard Optional Contract

(Article V—F—Part 1)

In 1933, duly authorized representatives of Exhibitors and Distributors meeting for many weeks, agreed upon a standard licensing agreement.

It was generally agreed that more concessions had been made to the Exhibitor by the Distributor in this form of licensing agreement than had ever before been made.

This section of the Code perpetuates these advantages under the Code. It prevents the Distributors from licensing their pictures under license agreements which each of the Distributors has prepared. It provides that the 1933 option standard agreement shall be the standard contract used by Distributors. The Distributor has for many years contended that he is in no different position than any other licensor who prepares his own license agreement and sets his own conditions for granting the license. In other words, the Distributors desire the same privileges that landlords have, and that steamheating, piano companies, and other supply industries have when they prepare their own forms of conditional bills of sale or license agreements in renting or licensing their property. In the interest of industry harmony, the Distributors, however, have met with Exhibitors and permitted Exhibitors full say in the form of license agreement which the Distributor shall use in licensing his pictures. In recent years, many Distributors have used different forms of license agreements. This section of the Code prevents the Distributor's exercise of discretion in this respect.

This section is for the benefit of independent Exhibitors.

2. Arbitration Under Contract

(Article V—F—Part 2)

Where arbitration is agreed to in the contract, this section of the Code provides that it shall be in accordance with the arbitration clause of the optional standard license agreement above provided for. This arbitration clause was negotiated with representatives of the Allied Group.

This section is for the benefit of independent Exhibitors.

3. Inducing Breach of Contract

(Article V—F—Part 3)

This section of the Code prohibits an Exhibitor or Distributor from inducing another to breach a contract for the exhibition of film.

This section is a general one for the benefit of Exhibitors and Distributors.

4. Obtaining Advantage by Gifts

(Article V—F—Part 4)

This section of the Code prohibits the giving of a gift by an Exhibitor or Distributor to

"OKAY BOB!"

World-Telegram—...Grade A entertainment...first rate...full of humor, romance, action and suspense...Montgomery excellent... not to be missed...

Sun—...corking murder melodrama...most effective blend of suspense and light comedy...exciting yarn...suspenseful climax... good thriller...jolly picture...

Post—...entertaining picture... artful combination of humor, romance, murder and Robert Montgomery...it will pay you to see it...continuously interesting ...swerves neatly from a pleasant kind of drawing-room comedy to hair-raising thrills...you can't go wrong on "Mystery of Mr. X"...

American—...one of the most entertaining mystery-comedy dramas the screen has seen...full of laughs...suspense is delightfully maintained and its climactic sequences possess excitement...has the crowds applauding...

Mirror—...superlatively entertaining thriller...exceptionally good ...harrowing suspense and charming humor...strong and appealing romantic theme...tastefully produced and brilliantly acted by unusually attractive cast...has unusual quality of genuine romantic charm...far above the usual detective thriller...don't miss it...

Times—...ingenious combination of excitement, fun and romance...

News—...★★★ 3 Stars...one of the most exciting adventures encountered on a Broadway screen recently...directed with a great deal of skill and thoroughly well-acted...

Film Daily—...better entertainment than this is hard to find... clever, suspenseful and exciting, plus a neat romance...delightful and well-done...

M. P. Daily—...fine entertainment satisfaction with slam-bang finish...unique suspense situations blended with unusually charming romance...Montgomery differently clever...strong supporting cast...is packed with necessary box-office elements, including comedy...

Herald-Tribune—...entertaining picture...deftly amusing amalgamation of melodrama and comedy...smooth and finished production...expert cast admirable...Montgomery in form and extremely engaging...excellent fun...

Telegraph—...Montgomery at his suave and capable best...cast excellent...

Dear Bob Montgomery -
"Mystery of Mr. X" is one of the grandest things you have ever done for M-G-M."
Your pal -

EDGAR SELWYN
DIRECTOR
LAWRENCE WEINGARTEN PRODUCER

GRIEVANCE AND CLEARANCE BOARDS

influence him not to deal with an Exhibitor or Distributor.

This section is a general one for the benefit of Exhibitors and Distributors.

5. Disclosing Box Office Receipts for Publication

(Article V—F—Part 5)

This section of the Code prohibits an Exhibitor or Distributor from revealing box office receipts for publication, except to governmental agencies.

This section is a general one for the benefit of Exhibitors and Distributors.

6. Ten (10%) Per Cent Cancellation

(Article V—F—Part 6)

For many years there has been agitation concerning block booking. This is the practice of licensing a group of photoplays at one time to an Exhibitor. It is nothing but wholesale selling. The Distributors have contended that this is the only economic method of conducting business, and that if individual licensing agreements have to be made for each picture, the license fees would be prohibitive, because of the increased costs. Some Exhibitors have contended that this system of selling compels them to contract for pictures they ordinarily would not take. The Distributors have replied that block booking makes possible artistic pictures, because many fine artistic productions are not box office successes, and would not ordinarily be licensed by the Exhibitor. This economic conflict has been the one most frequently exploited for political purposes. It has been the subject of bills introduced in the Senate, and is a favorite source of agitation by those who seek to make political capital of ordinary intra industry problems.

To mollify these complainants, the Distributors have granted cancellation privileges in their contract. This is a complete answer to the Exhibitor who claims he has not the right to weed out a picture when he finds it unsuitable. Experience has taught that the picture cancelled under the cancellation clause is frequently the artistic success which has not box office drawing power. Experience has also taught that the picture not cancelled is frequently the least desirable picture from an artistic viewpoint, but the most effective from a box office viewpoint. Nevertheless, cancellation privileges have been contained in standard contracts now for many years. Each year there is agitation for greater cancellation privilege, and by gradual stages the amount was increased until the Exhibitor had the right to cancel 7½% of the photoplays licensed. This most advantageous cancellation clause was contained in the standard optional contract referred to above. The clause is generally referred to as 5-5-5 clause, because it affords the opportunity of cancelling 15% by paying for one-half of the photoplays cancelled.

This section of the Code has increased the cancellation privilege from its previous high point of 7½% to 10%. There is probably no other industry in America which affords a standard cancellation clause of 10% in the sale of its product.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitors.

7. Summary

This completes the analysis of all 6 parts under that Subdivision of the Code entitled DISTRIBUTORS-EXHIBITORS. Three of the 6 parts (part 1, 2 and 6), are for the benefit of independent Exhibitors. The other 3 parts (part 3, 4 and 5) deal with general subjects of advantage to Exhibitors and Distributors. A summary of these parts therefore reveals the following:

1. Excluding those parts which are of a general nature (inducing breach of contract, offering gifts for improper purposes, disclosing box office receipts), all of the parts are for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.
2. The 3 parts which are for the benefit of Exhibitors, grant them rights which they did not have prior to the Code.
3. Two (2) of the 3 parts which are for the general interest of Exhibitors and Distributors, merely codify existing law.

"PROTECTED AFTER BREACHING CONTRACT"

"If there is an arbitration clause in the contract, the Distributor may not refuse to deliver a feature picture because the Exhibitor has breached his short subject contract—and similarly may not refuse to deliver a short subject because the Exhibitor has breached his feature contract. Thus the Exhibitor is protected even though he has breached his contract."

D. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title Grievance Boards and Zoning Boards

1. Clearance and Zoning Boards

(Article VI—Part 1)

Explanation has been made above of the value of a prior-run when the picture is new. Clearance will intervene between the first exhibition and the subsequent exhibition. It has been pointed out that the prior-run pays substantially for the privilege of early exhibition. If his competitor follows too closely upon his heels, the prior-run has not received the benefit for his substantial payment. Elements of distance are involved. For what territory is the prior-run entitled to be protected?

Elements of time are involved. For how long a time is the prior-run entitled to be assured that the subsequent-run will not exhibit the photoplay?

No standard rule fitting all situations is available. The particular circumstances in each instance must be carefully weighed. The problem is an economic one. If the first run pays $5,000.00 for the privilege of exhibition and the subsequent-run pays $250.00, how much clearance in point of time is the first run entitled to in order to receive the economic benefits which he has paid for? To what extent will the showing four blocks, two miles or ten miles away hurt his chances of attracting people to his theatre during the prior-run. These are the general principles involved in the economic balance.

For many years some Exhibitors have complained that powerful first-run Exhibitors are obtaining unreasonable clearance in respect to the length of time and in respect to area over which the clearance is granted. The only practical solution for this problem seemed to be the drafting of clearance schedules,—permitting all groups in the Industry to participate and decide in advance what is fair and reasonable clearance and what is unfair or unreasonable clearance. Such clearance and zoning schedules were in several instances prepared. They afforded relief to complaining Exhibitors. But there were others who made legal attack upon these arrangements claiming that they were contrary to law by virtue of concerted action of the Distributors.

The Code affords a legal as well as a practical solution of this problem. It creates Clearance and Zoning Boards in each of the thirty-two exchange territories in this country. Each of these boards is composed of two Distributors, two first-run Exhibitors and two subsequent-run Exhibitors. In addition there is an impartial representative approved by the Administrator who has no affiliation with the Motion Picture Industry and who votes if the Board is deadlocked. It is significant that in each instance where two of a class are appointed, one is affiliated and one is unaffiliated or completely independent of Distributor and Producer Theatres.

This Board appears to be as fairly set up as is possible. There are some Distributors who complain that since there are four Exhibitors and only two Distributors represented upon the Board, and since the general economic conflict involved is between Exhibitors and Distributors, that the Exhibitors have undue representation upon these Boards. On the other hand some Exhibitors complained that the first-run Exhibitors have a joint interest with the Distributors and, therefore, that the balance leans the other way. It is impossible in such a matter to satisfy all. Obviously, a sincere and earnest effort has been made to give fair representation to all groups. These Clearance and Zoning Boards will prepare schedules fixing the maximum clearance in length of time and also for area. Full provision is made for hearings by these Boards of any complaint in respect to any situation. Rights of appeal are granted. Certain it is that the whole matter has been scientifically treated and will throw the problem in the full light of publicity before Industry courts.

Only in the very close cases will there be any disputes. This marks a great advance on this difficult subject.

It is quite apparent that the Distributors and the large Exhibitors needed no relief in this matter.

It was the small independent who had little purchasing power who claimed to be the victim of the large purchasing power of his competitor. The Clearance and Zoning Boards, therefore, are specially designed to assist the independent Exhibitor.

2. Grievance Boards

(Article VI—Part 2)

Grievance Boards have no jurisdiction over ordinary contract disputes. Such controversies are left to arbitration under the contracts or to legal decision in the courts. In other words, wherever there is a legal right arising under a contract the Exhibitor or Distributor has resort to an arbitration board or to the court for relief. No special protection is needed in such a case. It is conceded by all that the arbitration boards are fairly constituted. The Board is composed of two Exhibitors appointed by the Exhibitor litigant and two Distributors appointed by the Distributor litigant. The National Board of Appeals is similarly composed equally of the two conflicting economic groups.

(Continued on page 68, column 1)

ON THE INDEPENDENT COMPANIES

The question then arises concerning the function of the Grievance Boards. If they are not to decide disputes under contract what are they for? The answer is that they are to hear applications for relief even though there is no legal right to support the application. They afford extra-contractual remedies. In some instances they have the power to grant relief directly contrary to the written provision of the contract.

This is an extraordinary Industry court, the like of which cannot be found in any other industry in this country. It marks the furthest advance in the peaceable adjustment of intra-industry conflict. It is the final answer under the New Deal to "the little man" who claims to be aggrieved.

The Grievance Boards will be composed of two Distributors, two Exhibitors and one impartial representative, approved by the Administrator, who has no affiliations with the Industry and who votes in the case of a deadlock. It is significant that in each case where there are two representatives, at least one must be unaffiliated with any Distributor or Producer theatres.

The Grievance Boards have jurisdiction over all complaints concerning the provisions of the Code or even concerning matters not in the Code.

For many years, an Exhibitor who believed himself to be the victim of a "hard" situation even though he had no legal right, was obliged to appeal to the individual Distributor for relief. The determination of his appeal lay solely in the hands of the Distributor involved. The application and its decision was made in the office of the Distributor and in secret as befitted such a confidential matter. Under the Code such grievance is submitted not to the Distributor from whom relief is sought but to a fair Board composed equally of other Distributors and Exhibitors. The decision and hearing is not secret and confidential but is submitted to the light of publicity. The very setting of the machinery and its existence makes impossible in the future the existence of "hard" cases even though there be no legal rights involved.

The Distributor and the large Exhibitor do not usually need such special relief. The powerful Exhibitor's buying power is the best assurance of a fair deal. It is the small independent who claimed in the past he needed a special helping hand. This new forum is, therefore, made for his special benefit.

The provision of the Code in respect to Grievance Boards is for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

BOARDS CALLED AID FOR INDEPENDENTS

"It was the small independent who had little purchasing power who claimed to be the victim of the large purchasing power of his competitor. The Clearance and Zoning Boards, therefore, are especially designed to assist the independent Exhibitor."

3. Summary

Both Parts under the title Grievance Boards and Clearance and Zoning Boards are for the benefit of the independent Exhibitor.

PART II.—ANALYSIS OF THE CODE OF FAIR COMPETITION FOR THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY IN RESPECT TO INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS AND DISTRIBUTORS:

A. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title "General"

1. Defaming Competitors

(Article V—A—Part 1)

This section of the Code forbids defamation of a competitor. It is for the general interest of the Industry.

2. Threatening Legal Proceedings

(Article V—A—Part 2)

This section forbids harassing competitors by threats of suits not in good faith. It is for the general benefit of the Industry.

3. Obtaining Confidential Information

(Article V—A—Part 3)

This section forbids such practice by means of bribery, or any other unfair method. It is for the general benefit of the Industry.

4. Unreasonably Excessive Salaries

(Article V—A—Part 4)

This section has been suspended by the President pending investigation.

5. Summary

All sections are for the general benefit of the Industry and cannot be said to be of especial aid to any group in the Industry. Insofar as it is claimed that the large Producer by his power is able to oppress the small Producer, these Sections of the Code make impossible such exploitation of power. Only in this argumentative sense can they be said to be in the interest of the independent Producer.

B. Analysis of All Provisions Under the Title "Producers"

1. Obtaining Dismissal of Stage Employees

(Article V—B—Part 1)

The practice of obtaining the release of an actor upon the stage in order to engage his services in motion pictures is prohibited by this section of the Code.

This section is a limitation upon all Producers, but chiefly affects the large Producer and not the small independent.

2. Conspiracy To Prevent Producer From Renting Studio

(Article V—B—Part 2)

Some independent Producers have complained that Producers who ordinarily rent their studios to other Producers, practice favoritism by refusing to rent studios to independent Producers. This section of the Code prohibits such favoritism.

This section is for the special benefit of the independent Producer.

3. Employing Members of the Family as "Extras"

(Article V—B—Part 3)

This section prohibits employment of members of the family as "extras" in Hollywood.

While it is a prohibition upon all Producers, it particularly affects the large Producer.

4. Regulations Concerning Agents

(Article V—B—Part 4)

This provision of the Code creates an agency committee composed equally of Producers and representatives of actors, writers, directors and technicians. Its purpose is to cure certain evils created by unscrupulous agents who misrepresent and entice away employees, and otherwise indulge in illegitimate practices. All agents may be registered pursuant to safeguards provided under the Code, and machinery is created to eliminate these abuses.

This section benefits all producers.

4A. Rules Governing Relations Between Producers and Others

(Article V—B—Part 4A)

This section of the Code appoints a special committee to draft rules concerning the relations between Producers and writers, Producers and directors, etc.

5. Enticing Employees from Other Producers

(Article V—B—Part 5)

This provision of the Code is for the benefit of all Producers, but particularly affects the large Producer in his dealings with valuable stars.

6. Cartoon Producers

(Article V—B—Part 6)

This part of the Code creates certain limitations upon the rights of cartoon Producers.

7. Summary

This concludes the analysis of all 7 parts under that Subdivision of the Code entitled "PRODUCERS." A summary of all 7 parts reveals the following:

1. Three (3) parts apply to all Producers but place particular limitation upon the large Producer.
2. Three (3) parts apply to all Producers.
3. One (1) part is for the special benefit of the independent Producer.

C.

1. Picture Rights Subject to Dramatic Rights

(Article V—C—Part 1)

This provision of the Code places a general limitation upon the right to exploit picture

(Continued on following page, column 1)

SAFEGUARDS ON THEATRE AND ADS

The Code "provides that no person engaged in the industry may interfere with negotiations between an Exhibitor and any one else concerning the possession of the theatre . . . "

Analysis of Code By Hays Office

(Continued from preceding page)

rights prior to the reservation in favor of stage rights. This section of the Code is a limitation of the Code upon all Producers, but more particularly applies to the large Producer who usually acquires stage production rights.

2. Enticing Outside Producer

(Article V—C—Part 2)

An outside Producer is one who has his own production unit, but operates it in conjunction with another Producer whose trademark appears on the production. This section of the Code forbids enticing such outside Producers from their associated Producer.

This section of the Code applies to all Producers, but more particularly to large Producers who have such associations.

3. Summary

This concludes an analysis of the two parts under the title PRODUCERS-DISTRIBUTORS. The analysis reveals that:

1. Both parts apply to all Producers, but place limitations particularly upon the large Producer.

D.

1. Ten (10%) Per Cent Cancellation

(Article V—F—Part 6)

The independent Producer and Distributor claim that because the Exhibitor was obliged to block book, he licensed some photoplays which were inferior to independent product, and which he otherwise would not have licensed. Thus it was claimed that the independent Producers and Distributors were adversely affected by this practice. The ten (10%) per cent cancellation clause permits the Exhibitor to weed out the so-called "inferior production." It therefore affords an additional opportunity to the independent Producer and Distributor to license their product to the Exhibitors.

This section is therefore for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

2. Short Subjects Proportionate to Features

(Article V—D—Part 2)

The independent Producer and Distributor contended that the "over-loading" of shorts upon the Exhibitor so consumed his playing time as to prevent the Exhibitors' acquisition of the features produced by the independent.

The limitation upon the right to license short subjects therefore opens up the available playing time to the independent Producer and Distributor.

This section is therefore for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

3. Threatening To Build

(Article V—D—Part 1)

The independent Producer and Distributor contended that the potential building power of the large companies, obliged the Exhibitor to contract for pictures with companies he did not desire to deal, and that thus the independent Producer and Distributor was excluded. This section which prohibits the illegitimate use of building power therefore makes available to the independent Producer new playing time.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

4. Adjustment of Average Price Contract

(Article V—D—Part 8)

Where an average price was stated in a contract, and thereafter all pictures were not delivered, the price was automatically increased. If no adjustment were made this created a hardship upon the Exhibitor financially, and thus affected his purchasing power of "extra supply" from the independent. This section compels adjustment and thus helps to open the market to the independent Producer and Distributor.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

5. Designating Special Days of the Week

(Article V—D—Part 9)

By limiting the power of the large Distributor to specify the choice days of the week, an opportunity is afforded to the independent Producer and Distributor to have his better productions exhibited on the most advantageous days of the week.

This section is for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

6. Summary

A summary reveals that all of the five provisions above analyzed are for the benefit of the independent Producer and Distributor.

Fan Dancers and Film Censors; An Analogy Faced by Nebraska

A glance through the records reveals that bills aimed toward censorship of the motion picture were introduced in the Nebraska legislature at Lincoln in the years:

1923
1925
1927
1929
1931
1933

The votes were close in 1931 and 1933. The ablest observer of legislation in the service of the motion picture industry forecasts the enactment of a censorship law in the session of 1935, and passes us a cutting from the evening edition of the Omaha World Herald of Saturday, February 24, presenting an editorial, which three exhibitors of that region have also mailed to MOTION PICTURE HERALD. The editorial is reproduced herewith.

THE EDITOR

Sally and Censorship

It is entirely likely that the publicity man for Sally Rand has been busily shaking hands with himself, and that theatre managers locally were thinking what swell publicity the fan dancer got. Surely, they may have reflected, the opposition and criticism of the clergy heralding her advent would insure great crowds.

Possibly it is true that all the preliminary fanfare merely meant that a gullible public, acting on a sly hope to see something ordinarily forbidden, would fill the theatre for a week.

But movie men with longer vision would not be so well pleased. For coincident with the trumpeting suggestion of something bordering on the indecent has come a public revulsion that threatens the local imposition of a censorship.

The movement for such censorship has begun. The Omaha Ministerial union has named a committee to censor films. A legislature to meet next January will surely have before it a bill to set up a state censorship. Such bills have been defeated for two sessions but fan dance publicity might swing the tide for censorship at another session.

Censorship is repugnant to the average American. It has gained little foothold in this country when attempts have been made to apply it to literature, the stage, the movies, the arts, because the American instinctively resents the meddling of moral middlemen. If censorship comes to the movies it will be because even those who distrust and resent it, resent the more the caperings of a greedy publicity that violates decent standards in whipping up interest in a show.

The laws against public obscenity are sufficient to block suggestive performances. Those laws do not need to be buttressed by a legal censorship, which so often turns out to be a vile snooping. The home can usually be trusted to enforce whatever ban needs to be exercised for children. But even the homes may not feel secure if blatant build-ups for borderline entertainments are encouraged by the theatres for the sake of some quick and ready cash.

—Omaha World Herald.

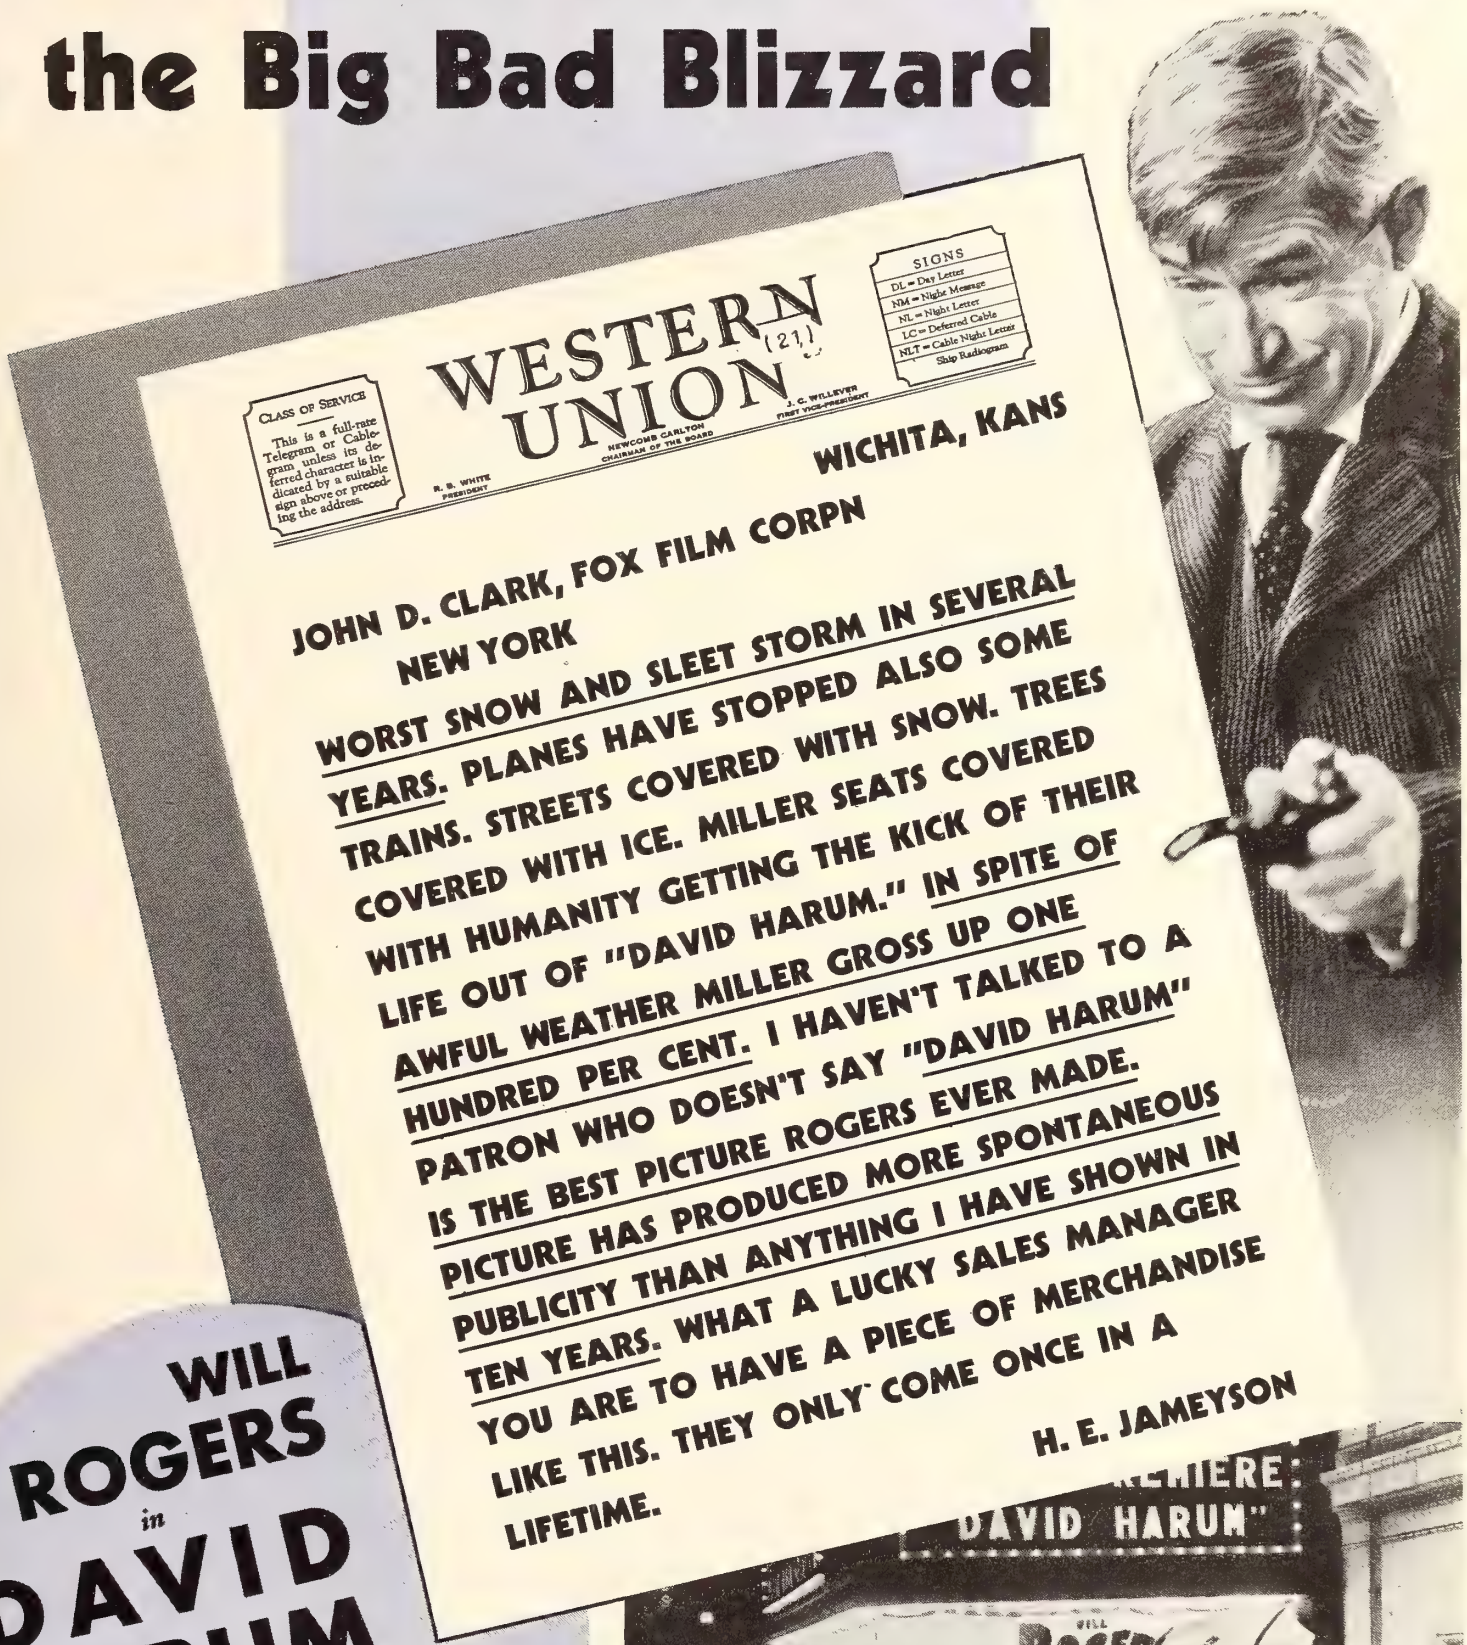
Williams, Mercer Take Film

K. Lee Williams of Oklahoma City and Charles J. Mercer of Denver have taken over Willis Kent's production, "The Road to Ruin," for Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas.

Fassio Regains Control Of Shamrock Pictures

Following action in circuit court, B. C. Fassio has regained control of Shamrock Pictures Corporation, with headquarters in Detroit, and forced the resignation of the entire board of directors. Mr. Fassio has been elected president for one year, and a reorganization is now taking place.

Joe O'Donnell, formerly sales manager of the company, has resigned his position. Mr. Fassio is expected to announce plans for further production in the near future.



To Reopen Laboratory

Universal will reopen its Coast Laboratory about April 1, having paid off $400,000 of a $1,000,000 loan from Consolidated Film, with the balance a first mortgage on its studio properties, which results in an annual saving of $300,000.

16mm. Sessions Resumed

The Miniature Movies Institute and the 16mm. Board of Trade have resumed regular luncheon meetings in New York. Sessions are held the third Thursday of each month at the Hotel Victoria.

Look what "DAVID HARUM" did to the Big Bad Blizzard

WILL ROGERS in

DAVID HARUM

LOUISE DRESSER • EVELYN VENABLE
KENT TAYLOR • STEPIN FETCHIT

From the novel by Edward Noyes Westcott
Directed by James Cruze
Produced by WINFIELD SHEEHAN

FOX

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
COLUMBIA
"Twentieth Century"	Play and screen play by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. Director: Howard Hawks.	John Barrymore, Carole Lombard, Roscoe Karns, Walter Connolly, Ralph Forbes, George E. Stone.	Shooting
FOX
"Free Gold"	Screen play by Lester Cole and Henry Johnson. Director: George Marshall.	John Boles, Claire Trevor, Roger Imhof, Harry Green, Monroe Owsley, Ruth Gillette.	Shooting
"The World Is Ours"	Story by Kathleen Norris. Director: John Blystone.	Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Ginger Rogers, James Dunn, Beryl Mercer, Roger Imhof.	Shooting
"The World Moves On"	Story by Reginald Berkeley. Director: John Ford.	Madeleine Carroll, Franchot Tone, Raul Roulien, Reginald Denny, Nigel Bruce, Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, Barry Norton, Halliwell Hobbes, Ivan Simpson.	Shooting
"Too Many Women"	Story by Vera Caspary. Director: James Flood.	Warner Baxter, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson, Herbert Mundin, Henrietta Crosman.	Shooting
"Now I'll Tell"	Story by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein. Director: Edwin Burke.	Spencer Tracy, Alice Faye, Helen Twelvetrees, Hobart Cavanaugh, G. P. Huntley, Jr.	Shooting
"Springtime for Henry"	Based on the play by Benn W. Levy. Director: Frank Tuttle.	Otto Kruger, Nancy Carroll, Heather Angel, Nigel Bruce, Herbert Mundin.	Shooting
GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS
"I Hate Women"	Original screen play by Mary McCarthy. Director: Aubrey DeScotto.	Wallace Ford, June Clyde, Barbara Rogers, Eleanor Hunt, Fuzzy Knight, Cecilia Parker, Alexander Carr, Philo McCullough.	Shooting
HAROLD LLOYD CO.
"The Catspaw"	Story by Clarence Budington Kelland. Director: Sam Taylor.	Harold Lloyd, Una Merkel, Nat Pendleton, George Barbier, Grant Mitchell, Alan Dinehart, Warren Hymer.	Shooting
MASCOT
"The Lost Jungle" (Serial)	Original screen play by Sherman Lowe and Al Martin. Directors: Dave Howard and Armand Schaefer.	Clyde Beatty, Sid Saylor, Cecilia Parker, Warner Richmond.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Sadie McKee"	Story by Vina Delmar. Director: Clarence Brown.	Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Esther Ralston, Jean Dixon, Edward Arnold.	Shooting
"Operator 13"	Original story by Robert W. Chambers. Director: Raoul Walsh.	Marion Davies, Gary Cooper, Mae Clarke.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"Murder at the Vanities"	Original by Earl Carroll and Rufus King. Director: Mitchell Leisen.	Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, Paul Gerrits, Toby Wing, Gertrude Michael, Gail Patrick, Lona Andre, Donald Meek, Barbara Fritchie.	Shooting
"We're Not Dressing"	Original story by Walter Hall Smith. Director: Norman Taurog.	Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Carole Lombard, George Burns, Gracie Allen, Raymond Milland, Jay Henry, Leon Errol.	Shooting
"Little Miss Marker"	Original story by Damon Runyon. Director: Alexander Hall.	Adolphe Menjou, Dorothy Dell, Lynn Overman, Jack LaRue, Sam Hardy.	Shooting
"Thirty Day Princess"	Original story by Clarence Budington Kelland. Director: Marion Gering.	Sylvia Sidney, Cary Grant, Edward Arnold, Vincent Barnett, Ray Walker.	Shooting
RKO RADIO
"Of Human Bondage"	Story by W. Somerset Maugham. Director: John Cromwell.	Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, Reginald Denny, Alan Hale.	Shooting
"Strictly Dynamite"	Screen play by Maurine Watkins and Ralph Spence. Director: Elliott Nugent.	Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Marian Nixon, William Gargan, Four Mills Bros., Norman Foster, Eugene Pallette, Ruth Etting.	Shooting
"Stingaree"	Original by E. W. Hornung. Director: William Wellman.	Richard Dix, Irene Dunne, Mary Boland, Conway Tearle, Snub Pollard, Andy Devine, Una O'Connor.	Shooting
"Dover Road"	Original by A. A. Milne. Director: J. Walter Ruben.	Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Reginald Denny, Phyllis Barry.	Shooting
SCREENCRAFT PRODS.
"St. Louis Woman"	Story by Elwood Ullman. Director: Al Ray.	John Mack Brown, Jeanette Loff, Earle Foxe, Roberta Gale.	Shooting
TWENTIETH CENTURY
"Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back"	Story by H. C. McNeile. Director: Roy Del Ruth.	Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Una Merkel, Charles Butterworth, C. Aubrey Smith, Warner Oland.	Shooting
"The Firebrand"	Director: Gregory LaCava.	Fredric March, Constance Bennett, Frank Morgan, Fay Wray, Vincent Barnett, Louis Calhern.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"I'll Tell the World"	Original story by Lincoln Quarberg. Director: Edward Sedgwick.	Lee Tracy, Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor, Onslow Stevens, Dorothy Granger, Herman Bing, Hugh Enfield.	Shooting
"Uncertain Lady"	Story by Harry Segall. Director: Karl Freund.	Edward Everett Horton, Genevieve Tobin, Paul Cavanagh, Mary Nash, George Meeker, Dorothy Peterson.	Shooting
"Doomed to Die"	Original story by Ken Maynard. Director: Alan James.	Ken Maynard, Gloria Shea, Walter Miller, Frank Hagney, Bob Kartman.	Shooting
"The Black Cat"	From the original story by Edgar Allen Poe. Screen play by Peter Ruric. Director: Edgar Ulmer.	Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, David Manners, Jacqueline Wells, Lucille Lund.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Doctor Monica"	Based on the play by Marja M. Szczepkowska. Director: William Keighley.	Kay Francis, Jean Muir, Verree Teasdale, Warren William.	Shooting
"Happy Family"	Original story and screen play by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola. Director: Al Green.	Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Hugh Herbert, Helen Lowell, Joan Wheeler, Frankie Darro.	Shooting
"The Key"	Based on the play by R. Gore-Browne and J. L. Hardy. Director: Michael Curtiz.	William Powell, Edna Best, Colin Clive.	Shooting
"Return of the Terror"	From "The Terror" by Edgar Wallace. Director: Howard Bretherton.	Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor, John Halliday, Frank McHugh, Irving Pichel, Robert Barrat, George E. Stone.	Shooting
"Sawdust"	Screen play by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby. Director: Ray Enright.	Joe E. Brown, Patricia Ellis, Dorothy Burgess, Donald Dillaway.	Shooting
"Without Honor"	Based on an original story by Robert Lord. Director: Lloyd Bacon.	James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Frank Craven, Victor Jory, Sarah Padden, Harold Huber, Russell Hopton, Ralfe Harolde	Shooting
"One Man Woman"	Based on a story by Gene Towne and C. Graham Baker. Director: Alan Crosland.	Pat O'Brien, Glenda Farrell, Claire Dodd, Russell Hopton, Henry O'Neill.	Shooting
"Friends of Mr. Sweeney"	From the novel by Elmer Davis. Director: Edward Ludwig.	Charlie Ruggles, Ann Dvorak, Eugene Pallette, Kathryn Sergava, Harry Beresford, Berton Churchill, William Davidson.	Shooting

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Well friends (if we have any) this is the first day of Spring, and it's the annual date for us to take a bath, but our wife beat Spring to it and made us take a bath day before yesterday. There's no doggone sense in being in such a rush. We took a bath several years ago before Spring and we took a severe cold which came very near making us change our politics.

▽

Back in the early days of this country, whenever someone would complain of some old woman being a witch, they would haul her up before the public and tie her to a whipping post and give her a flogging. Then the people got some sense and they passed a law that anyone who complained of a witch was to be tied up in a public place and given a good whipping. From then on there were no more witches.

If they would act that same way with these war jingoists there would be no more war. If they have any more wars and they try to drag Uncle Sam into it we hope the youth of this country will refuse to go until all the jingoists and the millionaires and their money have been conscripted. When that time comes there won't be any more wars. Whenever a nation or an individual goes around with a chip on their shoulder there'll be trouble every time. We tried it once and we know what we are talking about. Since then we haven't had a fight.

▽

All in One Package

Last night our daughter turned on the radio and we heard some fellow extolling the merits of Bill Smith's breakfast food. It seems that this breakfast food is a wonderful builder of bone and muscle, and from his tell, if you eat one package you can grab a bull by the tail and throw him over a haystack with your left hand. Guess we'd better get a package.

▽

From over in New Hampton, Iowa, "where the tall corn grows," comes a letter from E. C. Potter, who is still running at large, and whom the authorities permit to operate the Firemen's theatre.

E. C. claims to be one of our "enemies," but in order to appear regular he hopes for us a speedy recovery. He wants us to come back there the coming summer, at which time he will spot us a stroke a hole and give us another sample of "pre-prohibition" (whatever that is) and he says his wife will prepare another "Dutch Lunch" for us and otherwise treat us like the "Vagabond" we are.

When we were there a year ago we promised to meet him and his wife at Monroe, Wisconsin, the following week, but we got side-tracked on another route and failed to keep the appointment. Mrs. Potter at one time was the belle of Monroe and her father is the owner of the largest brewery in that country, but she fell for Potter, which is one of the mysteries we can't understand. We are quite familiar with Monroe, as we used to sell a lot of farmland for the Stillman Bros. of Monroe who at one time owned a lot of land in our country.

We are mighty thankful to E. C. for his letter, even though he does rate himself as one of our "enemies," and we trust he will not keep all our good wishes to himself, but pass some of them on to his better three-fourths, and tell her that we still remember her "Dutch Lunch."

▽

An Open Letter to Clark Gable

Dear Clark:

When we were in Hollywood a couple of years ago we had a delightful visit with you on a set in one of the studios. At that time you impressed us as a regular guy, and we haven't changed our mind a particle, but we note by one writer that you are down in New York, and that the girls are falling over one another trying to get to you. Now, don't let that go to your head, boy; keep both feet on the ground, for you want to remember that some of those New York girls would chase an ice wagon.

If you want to have some fun and learn what real folks are like, come out to Nebraska some time and go fishing and hunting with us for a week or so and we will make you forget all about New York. If you don't think so, ask Henry B. Walthall.

▽

They couldn't send birthday greetings on the 12th because he was gone. They couldn't send them on the 22nd for he was gone too, but some of 'em did remember our address on the 28th. For instance, Tom Burke, Carl Reese, Ward Scott, Rube Wagle, H. Novitsky and one other (we can't make out) of the Fox organization, Mr. McLucas of United Artists, Mr. C. K. Olson of Warner Bros. and Ike Rubin of Paramount, all of Omaha.

The same to you, boys. That was mighty nice of you and we appreciate your good wishes. There are about twelve thousand others who don't think of February 28th any more than they do of June 7th, and that was when Rags had her pups.

▽

We saw "Flying Down to Rio," said to be a musical extravaganza (whatever that is), and we presume it will please a great majority of the people, but personally we are not a competent judge since we don't care for anybody's musical show.

▽

That Goldwyn Article

We understand that there is considerable controversy over an article by Mr. Samuel Goldwyn published recently in the Saturday Evening Post, regarding star salaries. We know nothing about the merits of this controversy. If Mr. Goldwyn told the truth, and we are presuming he did, we can't see where anybody could be hurt since the truth hurts nobody. This much we will say, however, that if they will give us the salary of one star for two months we will agree to go fishing and mallard shooting the balance of our life and never do another lick of work as long as we live.

There is this about Mr. Goldwyn's article; it should shut off some of Hollywood's yappers who know nothing about the inside workings of the industry. What the industry needs is more truth regardless of whom it hits, and we believe Mr. Goldwyn is qualified to give us the truth. The public has been fed up on a lot of theories regarding the business, and the truth is the only thing that will set the public right. "Truth crushed to earth will rise again."

▽

The mail has just brought us birthday greetings from Bill Bowker of Dunlap, Iowa, Bill Baker of the Paramount office in Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gailey of Wayne, Nebraska. Thanks, folks, that was very nice of you. We will stop throwing rocks at your hens from this on.

▽

And then again, just as we were going to sign off, here comes the mail man with another bushel of letters, telegrams and cards all wishing a speedy recovery and many happy returns. Our regret is that we haven't the space to acknowledge each one personally, but we hope they will understand that their good wishes are none the less appreciated. It was mighty kind of you, folks, mighty kind of you.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

LOOKS FOR FAIR PICKUP BY SPRING

"Business conditions seem to be a bit better and we look for a fair pick-up this spring.", cheerily writes Art Warner, of the Colonial theatre at Grandview, Washington. Warner this week joins the steadily growing standing army of contributors to the "What the Picture Did for Me" department.

Warner adds that "the open winter" in his sector "has helped a lot" at the box-office.

Photocolor Asks Stock Issue Authorization

Photocolor Pictures, Inc., Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., is seeking authorization of the Federal Trade Commission at Washington for the issuance of 133,681 shares of common capital stock at an aggregate amount of $668,405.

A committee, representing the holders of Orpheum Theatre and Realty Company first mortgage six per cent serial gold bonds, is asking the right to call for deposits to cover bonds up to $2,500,000. The company operates in San Francisco.

Johnson Opens Exchange

E. Bruce Johnson has returned to San Francisco after years abroad with First National and other distributors, and has opened an independent film exchange under his own name. Associated with him are E. V. Clover and Mike Zar.

MGM Signs Laughton

Charles Laughton has been selected to play the role of Louis XVI, opposite Norma Shearer, in MGM's production of "Marie Antoinette," based on the Stefan Zweig biographical narrative.

Films in Casino Theatre

The Casino, formerly the Earl Carroll theatre, on Broadway, New York, is expected to open as a first run film house shortly, with Louis F. Blumenthal as operator.

Raynor Leaves First Division

William Raynor has resigned as manager of the Albany First Division exchange. Al Friedlander left New York last week for a tour of all First Division exchanges.

American Seating Cuts Loss

American Seating Company reports a net loss of $174,007 after all charges for the year 1933, which compares with a net loss of $499,518 for 1932.

★★★ STARS

—APRIL SCREEN BOOK MAGAZINE

●

BEGGARS IN ERMINE

★★★

An unusual drama with Lionel Atwill, as the man who is crippled and ruined by an enemy who robs him of his business, wife and daughter, organizes the country's beggars and cripples in a campaign that sweeps him back into power. H. B. Walthal, Betty Furness and Jameson Thomas round out a superb cast in this fine film production.—Monogram.

Supervised by
W. T. LACKEY
Directed by PHIL ROSEN
Adapted by
TRISTRAM TUPPER
From the novel by
ESTHER LYND DAY
TREM CARR
Vice-President in Charge of Production

"It's an ingenious idea, with some of the charming elements of 'Lady for a Day'."

—San Francisco Chronicle

"Monogram Pictures are fast taking their place in the celluloid scheme of things."

—San Francisco Examiner

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Robert Armstrong, Richard Cromwell—A very good picture. Above average program. Held up three days very nicely. Had general comments. Don't overlook this one. Played Jan. 14-15-16.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS: Richard Cromwell, Robert Armstrong—Ran this on Wednesday and Thursday. It is a real Saturday picture. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Feb. 7-8.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION: Fay Wray, Gene Raymond—One dandy picture. Could not get the people out to see it on account of Christmas shopping, but it is good. Played Dec. 17-18-19.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FIGHTING CODE, THE: Buck Jones—A very pleasing western that's as good as Jones made for some time that did average business on Friday-Saturday. Played Jan. 12-13.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert—I have not played this picture yet. However, I saw it at a preview. I didn't know it was possible to make a picture as perfect as this. It has everything. I have played the product that has these two stars under contract for the last three years and in my opinion they were both slipping fast. Now Columbia takes the two of them and puts them in one picture and makes a picture that is outstanding. Paramount and Metro both owe Columbia big debt in putting these two stars back on the market for them. Personally I like this better than any picture I have ever seen.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES: Rex, William Janney, Dorothy Appleby—Any house on Friday-Saturday, any audience will enjoy it and will they eat it up at the scenes in it when the wild horse drags the Indians all over the prairies, and the lion attacking the leader and the two stallions fighting.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—A picture you will be proud to show and be king for a day with the receipts. We did remarkably well on what was going to be bad nights due to keen competition of dances, basketball, etc., that knocks us for a loop. Played Jan. 5-6.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William, Guy Kibbee—One of the sweetest pictures we have played in many a day. Robson and Kibbee did a wonderful piece of acting. If the producers would give us more like this one we could get our patrons back to the theatre. Not much business due to cold and rain but it pleased the ones that came.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—Excellent picture, but not the box office I expected. Perhaps the trailer hurt this one, as it emphasized mother love and some of the audience don't crave that.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—One of the best pictures of the year. Play it and boost it.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy Overrated by the producer, is the best thing I can say about this one. It is okay and aside from several raw cracks it pleased fairly well, but not much dough for me.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

MY WOMAN: Helen Twelvetrees—Fair program picture.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

OBEY THE LAW: Leo Carillo—This is a good one for that benefit you were wondering what to put in. Went over big as a woman's club show here and they were all pleased, especially with a Mickey McGuire comedy along with it. A good moral story with enough gangster element in it to interest the man and some nice cute stuff with Dickie Moore that knocks the ladies for a loop. Played Feb. 20.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

POLICE CAR 17: Tim McCoy—The best McCoy feature to date and many patrons said the same. Made new patrons for McCoy here. Good for Friday-Saturday. Played to average business. Played Jan. 26-27.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

RIDIN' FOR JUSTICE: Buck Jones—These Columbia westerns are certainly worth the money.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SHADOWS OF SING SING: Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot—A fair program that seems to please. Did average business Sunday and Monday. Played Feb. 11-12.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

SOLDIERS OF THE STORM: Anita Page, Regis Toomey—Gets by. Has two or three killings to liven things up. Played Feb. 23-24.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Pat O'Brien—This is a picture almost anybody would enjoy. Fine cast. Has some good laughs, too. Played Feb. 9-10.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee, Dick Powell, Hugh Herbert—A comedy knockout. Fast and furious from start to finish. Just one continuous laugh. Wish we could get more like this one. You can bet on Warner Brothers this year.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

FASHIONS OF 1934: William Powell, Bette Davis—I have not run this picture yet, but I saw it at a special preview. Boy, what a picture it is. Dust off every seat, you'll need them. The women folks will see it over and over. Great story, great cast and most magnificent sets you ever saw. Beautiful singing and music and gowns. Oh boy, nothing like this ever shown in pictures before. You have another "Gold Diggers."—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak—Here is a feature that will please most everyone. Barthelmess and Miss Dvorak are both well cast, and the story is very good. This picture should make money anywhere. Played Feb. 18-19-20.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—I was sorry I did not hold this picture for another day. Did good one day business and had many comments on this one. Running time, 93 minutes. Played Feb. 10.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Fox

AS HUSBANDS GO: Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson—For some reason or other, this picture failed to click. I ran it between "Dancing Lady" and "Little Women" and no doubt that was the direct reason for the poor crowd. I thought the picture was all right. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Feb. 7.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Buddy Rogers—I can't say too much about this one. It certainly merits all the praise possible. Not only a good action picture, but enough plot to keep the highbrows busy. We picked this one up as a substitution.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—A fine picture and clean as a hound's tooth. A very pretty Southern story and an excellent cast. Some very fine negro singing and Stepin Fetchit is a riot. An out of the ordinary story.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

CAVALCADE: Clive Book, Diana Wynyard—Another great masterpiece that no one seemed to catch the drift of. Great story, great acting and great cast but—great new box-office low mark.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE: Warner Oland—This one didn't do so hot at the box-office but turned away many happy customers. This Warner Oland guy is a good character actor.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—A little old, but they always want to see Will Rogers. The recording was very weak in spots.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

F. P. 1: Conrad Veidt, Jill Esmond—Not a bad picture but reproduction poor. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Jan. 8-9-10.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

GOOD COMPANIONS, THE: Jessie Matthews, Edmund Gwenn—Steer clear of this one, boys. More walkouts, more hair pulled, and more nasty remarks about this picture than any one we have ever run. Anything would be better than this (so help me).—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

GOOD COMPANIONS, THE: Jessie Matthews, Edmund Gwenn—You can fool them only once. Now when the people see a picture made in England they keep away. You can't blame them. Played Jan. 16.—Bernard W. Levy, Central Theatre, Manville, R. I. Small town patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Who says Clara is weakening? This was just the tonic for the box-office. Nothing wonderful about the story but it packed the Mexicans in to see the hula dance. The kind of stuff small towns out here go for. Worthy of plenty of extra push to let them know you got something they want to see. Played Jan. 12-13.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Drew extra well and seemed to please everyone. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12-13.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

I AM SUZANNE: Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond—Played this one on Bargain Day to the poorest business in a year. Our patrons do not like Harvey. Personally, I thought it was a nice little picture. It had some wonderful scenes.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: Jimmy Dunn and Claire Trevor—I liked this one but the customers didn't express themselves one way or the other. It looks like a good team in the making but oh, that making process, when we have to suffer low box-office receipts to put something over a couple of years from now. Fair business first night, but nothing on second night. Played Jan. 21-22.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: James Dunn, Claire Trevor—A very nice production. Every one liked it and told us so. Business above average. Better than the socalled specials. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Jan. 29.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien, Claire Trevor—Here is as sweet a western as I will ever see. This is the kind that go over big where most westerns flop flat. We played it on a Sunday and got pretty fair results even though most western pictures are washouts here.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MAD GAME THE: Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor—From some of the reports I read on this one, I was scared stiff to play it but it turned out for the better and actually built up on the second night. Business was above average on weekday nights. My advice is to sell it from the kidnaping angle as we did and brought them out the first night and from then on it will sell itself. Played Jan. 30-31.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—Not near the business of the last Will Rogers pictures but pleased all the fans that go for him. Some said it was his best to date but most of them want another "State Fair." Will do a little above average business in most any situation. Played Feb. 11-12.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts—When I read some remarks about this picture not being up to the usual Will Rogers standard, it makes me laugh. It is well that the critics are not allowed to make the pictures. It wold be as much of a catastrophe as if we humans were given control of the weather! "Mr. Skitch" is as fine a picture as ever was played by Will Rogers. Moreover, Zasu Pitts was never better cast. We did not break any records with this picture but business was above average and those who saw it had the time of their lives. No women slopping grog; no women smoking; the gambler only wins to lose; these and many other touches placed the picture among the many laurels of Will Rogers. As long as Will uses his brains to fight smut, just that long will he be the hero for family entertainment. The weather was so cold and rough it was surprising that so many did turn out. No picture can hang up records in such weather. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 21.—A. H. Reynolds, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey, John Boles—This did better than "My Weakness" due to the adding of John Boles. Clever picture all the way around. The local boys sure went big for the big car used in the picture. Use this on your good nite because it will please 100 per cent whether they like Lilian Harvey or not.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey—A good enjoyable show that brought our patrons back to see Lilian Harvey in "My Lips Betray." If Fox can give this gal the right stuff, they will have a good star on their hands, but if they don't she isn't powerful enough to make any show good. A good Sunday picture.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel—This is a good Saturday nighter. Sillier than the devil and plenty of laughs from all. Did a good business on Feb. 3.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel—This is a pleasing week-end picture. El is always a drawing card with me. Business above average. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Jan. 27.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

OVER THE HILL: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—Played this instead of "Berkeley Square" and will never regret it. Broke my Tuesday night house record. Played Jan. 2.—Bernard W. Levy, Central Theatre, Manville, R. I. Small town patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—A beautiful picture liked by everyone and good business. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Feb. 15-16-17.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

PLIGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crosman, Norman Foster—This picture may be a big one, but it sure was a big pile of wasted film in our estimation. This picture is the kind that you are proud to show, yet sorry to pay for, because it doesn't draw enough for film rental. Just another one that is too high-power for the small town exhibitor.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—Don't waste much on the new narrative methods of this one. This story will please everyone if you don't high pressure them into believing they are coming to see something great. Another program picture for those weak nights.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory, Will James—This one sure surprised me. Broke the house record for a Tuesday-Wednesday showing. The only thing it can be attributed to is the fact that it was made in the Arizona country around here that we all like. If you have a community that goes in for animals, this will make them come to your theatre to go for them. Not exactly a western but liked by those that like westerns as well as the highbrow people. Played Feb. 6-7.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory, Irene Bentley—Here is a picture that is so clean, so pure, that it does one good to write about it. This picture impressed me so much that I was sorry to see it leave the theatre. I think it better than "Black Beauty," and that is saying rather much. Of course, the sophisticated, those wise guys, will perhaps give a tired yawn or two, but that has become a habit with them; it is all they know how to do, and even at that they are awkward. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Feb. 17.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

WALLS OF GOLD: Sally Eilers—Pleased only 50 per cent and didn't draw at all on the second night. Just another program picture from Fox.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

WARRIOR'S HUSBAND, THE: Elissa Landi—This picture did remarkably well at the box-office and pleased 100 per cent. My advice is to pick this one up and play it instead of one of the new flops.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

WARRIOR'S HUSBAND, THE: Elissa Landi—A very unusual picture. Fine scenery. Plenty of crazy comedy. Heard some favorable comments after the show. Running time, eight reels. Played Feb. 16-17.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

WORST WOMAN IN PARIS?: Adolph Menjou, Benita Hume—Fairly good picture with its biggest drawback being to get the people in to see it. This is one of the few pictures we haven't drawn film rental on. So-o-o be careful and get another instead if you can.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

WORST WOMAN IN PARIS?: Benita Hume, Adolphe Menjou—O. K. for walkouts. Played Dec. 24.—Bernard W. Levy, Central Theatre, Manville, R. I. Small town patronage.

MGM

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Lots of yelling and noise in this picture but satisfying to the patrons. Didn't do outstanding business but Harlow got those extra ones in and Tracy drug a few in to see his fair face. Played Jan. 26-27.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—One more like this one and Harlow and Tracy are through as far as our patrons are concerned. Just 90 minutes of Harlow and Tracy yelling at each other and it didn't mean a thing. Business poor. Very few liked it.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

BOMBSHELL: Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—A very entertaining picture. Everyone enjoyed it. Good business considering cold weather. Played Feb. 18-20.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan, Eddie Quillan—One of the best. Everybody delighted. I would say it gave 100 per cent satisfaction. Wonderful recording.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Hope they keep putting radio entertainers in pictures and make all their pictures as terrible as this one.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—We played this one with "Three Little Pigs" and the crowd of kiddies that came to see the pigs liked Ed Wynn oke, but most of the adults thought it very silly. It sure ends with a big let down. You are led to believe it is a story and suddenly find it to be just the beginning of one of Ed's famous operas. Don't know what it would have done without the "Three Little Pigs" to pull 'em in but I have a good idea it would have flopped completely.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—Excellent picture anywhere, any time.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clarke Gable—Instead of running this picture Saturday only, I ran it Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. Big business on Saturday, far above average. Business on Monday and Tuesday was more than the usual receipts of these nights with a new show. Patrons seemed to like it. The only thing I find against it is the fact that I was compelled to use such a picture on Saturdays. I advertise clean, wholesome shows for Fridays and Saturdays and "Dancing Lady" is far from a family show. It is exactly antagonistic to my slogan. The last reels were eulogizing beer. There is no mistake about it. It certainly does all it can to excite interest in beer drinking. Of course, I may be from the old school, but I am willing to shout my opinion about the slopping of grog. The beer gardens are opposition as it is, without advertising it on the screen. There are many advertising reels nowadays that do not carry their advertising nearly as plainly as beer is advertised in "Dancing Lady." When some see a Buick, Ford or any other nationally known article in pictures a big howl is sent up about advertising such articles. I think beer is much more to be howled at. Running time, 94 minutes. Played Feb. 3-5-6.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix—This one was almost our day of reckoning. No star value here, pleased only 50 per cent and did a poor business. This is about the weakest we have seen from Metro this year.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

DAY OF RECKONING: Richard Dix, Madge Evans—Dix does some fine acting in this but story is morbid and Evans struggles through with him. Not much drawing power. Played Feb. 14-15.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—A very fine picture that pleased our audience. We played it on Saturday and it has plenty of action and an unusual story.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—Here is one that if you did not clean up on you must have hit bad weather. Everybody liked it. A good story well acted and you can see the money put in the production. If you have not played it book it at once for it is a natural.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Excellent entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—As good a picture as they make but not so hot on the box-office. Must have been the title because those that saw the show were good talking ads. Didn't do near the business that we expected to do. Just a little above average. My advice is to let the people know this picture is something that will chase their blues away and make them change their attitude about the present trend in pictures. Played Feb. 16-17.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Did above average mid-week business. They all came to see what the Baron looked like and found out. There is plenty in this show to sell. Very cleverly worked out and lots of good laughs (horse and belly) that will leave the patrons in a good mood when they leave. Play it on the week nights to get the best out of it. The crowd that come are the ones that usually stay at home with one hand on the dial and the other on the lager listening to the radio. Played Jan. 24-25.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—After seeing this picture none of my patrons will stay home to listen in on The Baron.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

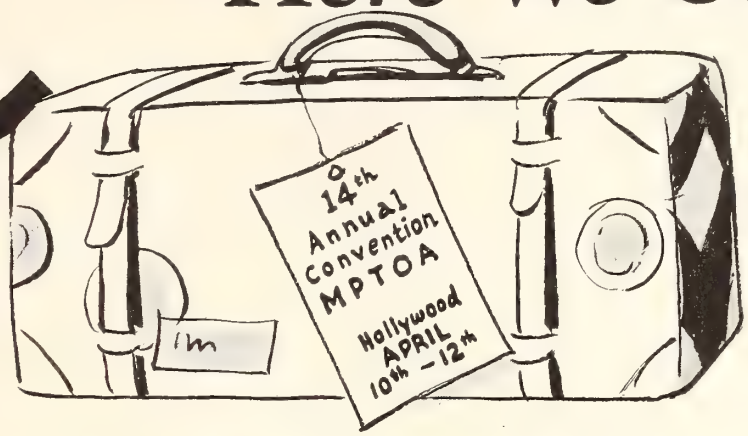
MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—The Baron better stick to his radio. The only thing that saved this picture was Ted Healy and His Stooges. They draw better than the Four Marx Brothers. Played Jan. 1.—Bernard W. Levy, Central Theatre, Manville, R. I. Small town patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable, Helen Hayes, Lionel and John Barrymore—Lots of stars but no parts. I don't remember seeing Clark Gable out of the cockpit of his plane. Very dramatic picture about the first night mail flying in South America. Pleased nearly all that came to see it. Would have been a lot better if the ending was a happy one and more humor was inserted. Played Christmas holidays.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Clark Gable, John and Lionel Barrymore, Robert Montgomery—With all these stars I figured that we would make some money, but the picture proved a total flop. In my opinion the Barrymores were miscast and any stock actor could have taken Gable and Montgomery's part and been just as good. We plugged it plenty but it didn't get any business.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolin Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

PEG O' MY HEART: Marion Davies—A good drawing card in this show. Makes the gals cry and that means a good picture. Above average Sunday and Monday picture.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Walter Huston.—Good program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.



SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Lionel Barrymore—A snappy comedy thoroughly enjoyed by our patrons. Lionel Barrymore at his best and Alice Brady is great. Business only average. Played Feb. 18-19.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore—Weather cold enough to freeze the ears of a brass monkey and business not in keeping with the emptying of the coal bins. If people would get as hungry for pictures as that boiler gets hungry for coal, wow! We did not take in enough money to pay for the film. The picture is fine; interesting all the way through. Plainly and most interestingly preached that youth and age cannot happily travel to the end of the road. Hard luck for you fellows who have young ideas, yes? Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 24.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins, Franchot Tone—This picture is old, but very good. If you have not played it, do so. It will please, especially in the small towns.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery—We boosted this one plenty and got lots of people to come the first night, only to see "Broadway to Hollywood" instead, due to a slip-up with the film delivery service. However, most of them came back the following night to see "Tugboat Annie" and were

"CALIFORNIA Here We Come!"

THE MOST IMPORTANT DATE IN EXHIBITOR HISTORY—APRIL 10th-12th

Every word of this announcement is of vital interest to the showmen of America. On April 10th in Los Angeles an unprecedented opportunity offers itself to theatre owners. The FOURTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF M.P.T.O.A. organized under the most favorable circumstances as regards economy and combination of business and pleasure, promises to be a significant event in the history of motion pictures.

ITS PURPOSES

With greatly reduced fares, and low expenses it has been made possible to plan a real business convention, together with the opportunity of a lifetime to go behind the scenes, learn how talking pictures are made, and to survey coming product.

MAJOR AIMS

To exchange and review actual experience with the functioning of the NRA Code for the Motion Picture Industry

a. The local Grievance and Zoning Boards
b. The trade practice provisions
c. The labor provisions
d. Discussion of how the Code can be improved.

PRODUCER MEETS EXHIBITOR

Here is a real opportunity for round table discussions between the people who make pictures and the people who sell them to the public, exchange of views, experiences and opinions, to bring about a better appreciation of both of the other fellows troubles and problems.

BEHIND THE SCENES

This is the first exhibitor convention in Los Angeles since talking pictures and therefore it is the first opportunity of theatre owners personally to see and examine the actual production of the talking pictures they will play in their own theatres the coming season. Know the technical processes used in manufacturing the product you sell at retail to your patrons.

CONVENTION TOPICS

a. Improved methods in theatre operation, to raise the standards of exhibition, theatre management and theatre advertising.
b. Organized efforts to increase interest in and attendance at motion picture theatres.
   1. Cooperation with local and national public groups sincerely interested in motion pictures.
   2. In competition with other forms of amusement, such as radio, dancing, carnivals, amusement parks, etc.
c. Protection through organization against unfair and discriminatory taxes on theatres and theatre admissions, censorship, drastic regulatory legislation and ordinances.
d. Double features—an evil or a blessing.
e. Efforts to restrain cut-throat competition between theatres.
f. Modern theatre construction, remodeling and equipment.
g. Labor problems.
h. Public relations programs for the local exhibitor.
i. Famous speakers will address the convention on subjects of interest to exhibitors.

THE FACTS

1. Name of organization: Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America National Headquarters: 1600 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
2. Affair: 14th Annual Convention.
3. Place and Date: Los Angeles, April 10th to 12th, 1934.
4. Convention at: The Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, Cal.
5. Minimum rates: $5.00 single, $7.00 double.
6. For hotel reservations communicate with Ben Berenstein, Chairman, Arrangements Committee, 1914 South Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.
7. Lowest fares ever offered due to special convention rates. For railroad information and reservations communicate with M. P. T. O. A. National Headquarters, 1600 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
8. Convention Specials from Chicago and New Orleans, arriving Monday, April 9th.
9. Arrange for return trip and route you want, rail or boat.
10. Convention is for M.P.T.O.A. members, their friends and guests.
11. Access to the studios is assured for convention delegates and their guests.
12. Forenoons will be devoted to business sessions, afternoons to trips through the studios and evenings to social affairs, banquet and entertainment.

KEEP THIS PAGE FOR REFERENCE

well pleased. We brought it back for a one night run only, due to the previous slip-up, but didn't do any business the last time during Christmas holidays. —Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery —Another hit for Marie and Wallace. Others in the cast excellent. A feature you will be glad to exhibit. Play it, boost it.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery —This is the first MGM picture I've played for the past three years. Well I'm sure glad to do business with them again. This one went over swell. Hope they have many more as good. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Feb. 16-17.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy—Fair enough but our money giveaway is what brought the people to see it. Lee Tracy is too fast for small town family audiences. Running time, 75 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

Monogram

BROKEN DREAMS: Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper—A real show. I advertised it that I would refund the admission price if they didn't like this show and no one asked for their money back. Monogram is going places this year if they keep up the good work.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

DEVIL'S MATE: Preston Foster, Peggy Shannon —A very clever mystery that's entertaining for the ones that come, but it don't mean much.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

RIDERS OF DESTINY: John Wayne—A real western that has a plot that is different. Chockful of good comedy that puts any feature over. Don't pass this up for it is extra good.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

SENSATION HUNTERS: Arlene Judge, Preston Foster—A bit of good music raised this picture greatly in my estimation. My patrons were well pleased with it, and business was fair. Played Feb. 16-17.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Washington. Rural and small town patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry, Richard Arlen, Gary Cooper, Edna May Oliver—This picture did wonderful business for me. A few adults were disappointed but at the same time could not help but like it. Wonderful photography and good scenery. Played Feb. 11-12.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie. A picture for the entire family. A very entertaining production. Splendid recording.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—A very good picture. All Catholic communities should run it.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—Beautiful picture that pleased and drew extra business. If you are in a Catholic community, go after it in a big way.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins—Not a good picture and poison for small town. No business. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Feb. 19-20-21.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, Gary Cooper—In our opinion a very fine picture, good story and well done, but we could not put it over and our people did not like it. We would say not a small town picture.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Terrible.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patonage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—It's tough selling when people passing your advance display say: "I hate those silly guys," and when you only get 68 minutes of high-priced foolishness, you know they're right. One reel fillers is their movie status. Harpo didn't harp and Groucho didn't piano, otherwise terrible. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 11, 12, 13.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vita, Col. General patronage.

FAREWELL TO ARMS: Gary Cooper, Helen Hayes —Very poor. Much too hot. How this ever got by is more than I can understand. Cooper and Hayes make a poor combination. They look like Mutt and Jeff. Played Feb. 11-13.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

GAMBLING SHIP: Cary Grant—Paramount's program pictures are consistently good. Played Dec. 20-21.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

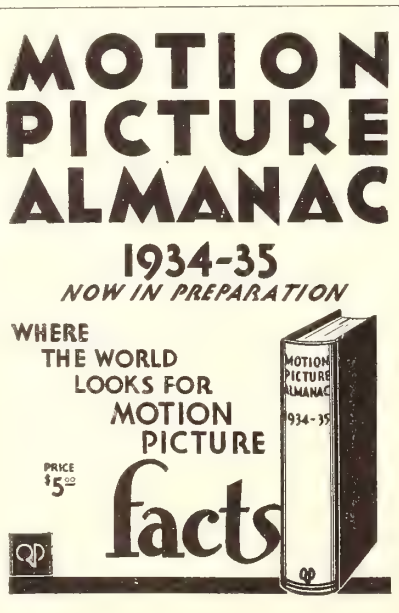
GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris—Very fine program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chaster Morris—A picture that will please. Gave good satisfaction. Splendid recording.—W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

GOOD DAME: Fredric March, Sylvia Sidney—It seems good to see Miss Sidney back, and she is a real artist. She does exceptionally well with the part given her in this picture. Fredric March is badly miscast again, and deserves better stories. Paramount will have to do better by their leading stars, or watch them slip. March has a peculiar way of making love in this one, that does not seem to satisfy the audience. They have no sympathy for him, and he does nothing to redeem himself until the last minute, when he finally discovers he is badly in love with Sylvia. March is just a cheap crook, and mopes along all through the picture until the last reel when he finally wakes up. The picture drew a good business the first night, due to the cast. I believe it will make money for you, and, after all, that's the main thing. Played Feb. 21-22.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—A fair picture. Arlen turns out a fine performance, though I did not like the subject matter. My patrons like Arlen and were mostly satisfied. This picture is sadly misnamed. Fair business. Played Jan. 14-15.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Washington. Rural and small town patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—Extra good Friday and Saturday picture. Drew well. Need more like it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.



I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—A better picture than "She Done Him Wrong" and better business. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 5-6-7.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Absolutely all it's advertised to be. Pleased about 80 per cent, the balance mildly shocked. Played Dec. 24-25. Business the best for about two years.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash Rural and small town patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Some people say that they don't like her and that she overacts, but still they come to see her. This is real box-office. Plenty of hot cracks that will get rises out of the audience. Good old Mae makes your tickets unroll.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—It is a pleasure to report on this picture which furnished the most satisfactory entertainment of its kind that our patrons have enjoyed for months. If any of your patrons think they cannot enjoy a western, just get them to see this and they will be back for more. An excellent presentation of the song, "The Last Round-up," helped immensely. Played Feb. 20.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott, Monte Blue—I followed a hunch with this one and played on a Sunday and Monday. Best Sunday-Monday since October, 1932. Hope enough exhibitors read this in time to make the same date. Build it up with shorts that are right and you have a grand program. Audience reaction perfect. It's there. Played Feb. 11-12.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Cooper—This is good material and the kiddies went for it big. Adults pleased also. Business good. Played Feb. 4-5.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

NIGHT AFTER NIGHT: George Raft—The best thing Raft has ever done. Mae West appears in this; has small part. Pleased majority. Played Feb. 7-8.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

NO MAN OF HER OWN: Clarke Gable, Carole Lombard—Pleasing. Sure gets the gals in. Gable and Lombard make a fine team. Played Feb. 14-15.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Average program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patonage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers —Just good entertainment. Comedy perhaps better than the average. Good business. Played Jan. 28-29.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: Buddy Rogers, James Dunn, Lillian Roth—This is good entertainment, of a comedy nature. Pleased most all of the crowd. A good house both nights. Played Dec. 31-Jan. 1.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, Lillian Roth, June Knight—A good musical. Not big, but clever. Quite a bit of smut. Roth can certainly sing. Business built up on third day. Running time, 82 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—Good program picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

THREE CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert, Richard Arlen—Nice program picture.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

THUNDERING HERD, THE: Randolph Scott, Judith Allen—A Zane Grey picture from Paramount is always music in my ears. Everybody here likes them, and this one is exceptionally good. Plenty of good action, some good photography and a well rounded story. We did marvelous business on this one. Played Jan. 21-22.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

THUNDERING HERD, THE: Randolph Scott, Judith Allen—Only 58 minutes, but get behind this for a big Saturday by telling them this is a new talkie version. They added sound to the old silent shots of the big scenes and made dialogue sequences with a new cast, but the thrills are there for the "oat opera" fans. Biggest Saturday matinee in months, even with serial help, as many adults as children, and that's something on Saturday afternoon. Running time, 58 minutes. Played Feb. 10.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth —Nothing big, but it certainly creates laughs and entertainment. Anything with Fields in it will draw here.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Radolph Scott—Played during Christmas week, and not much business. Too much shooting for my patrons. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Dec. 22-23.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie —Good musical picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie —Splendid music, but the usual musical show plot. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Dec. 24-25-26.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Very good entertainment.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—TILLIE AND GUS: Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields—TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, June Knight—SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley, Jack Oakie—Four good ones from Paramount. All thoroughly enjoyed in my town. —W. H. Cuzner, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia. General patronage.

UNDERCOVER MAN: George Raft, Nancy Carroll—Good. Raft has the makings. More power to him. Business good. Played Feb. 9-10.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier, Edward Everett Horton—Put Chevalier with Horton and you have a good picture. Most pictures that have foreign settings are duds here, but not this one.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

WHITE WOMAN: Carole Lombard, Charles Bickford—This is the poorest Paramount we have played this year. A few liked it, but most did not. Too many jungle knives, and too much insane tropical heat to please this rural community. Played Jan. 7-8—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

RKO

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett, Gilbert Roland—This picture is different. It is the first hint at a war picture we have played in some time. It did not draw very well, but those who saw it were well pleased. Played Feb. 2-3.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKE OF MEN: Wynne Gibson, Charles Farrell—Very good. Wynne Gibson makes a man out of a sissy and tames another that is a tough.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Played this one with "Renegades of the West," also an RKO picture. They are both fair pictures. Did average business. Played Feb. 8-9.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Ginger Rogers, Joel McCrea—This picture has had comment up one side and down the other. My patrons are not so straight-laced but what they can take a picture like this and like it very much. The first of this picture is a honey. The last part was evidently made to satisfy the ultra-modern of theatregoers who like things a little sexy. I heard no adverse criticism from any of my patrons, though I am sure had the picture been minus a few of the birth-control scenes, they would have liked it better. Business fair. Played Jan. 19-20.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Ginger Rogers, Joel McCrea—I will have to criticize Mr. Edwards of Orwigsburg, Pa., for his report on this in the issue of Feb. 10th. Perhaps his crowd is far different from mine, but, anyway, this picture was very pleasing here. Personally, I couldn't see anything so naughty about it. —H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: Bill Boyd—Only 52 minutes and just fair—not the picture the silent Milton Sills "Flowing Gold" was. However, fine for double bill. Our Jones serial, "Gordon of Ghost City," held up our business. Running time, 53 minutes. Played Feb. 17.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: Bill Boyd, Mae Clarke—I made a mistake by using this picture on the opening night of a new serial. It is not the kind of a picture that serial fans like. There are good shots of the oil wells, but aside of this it means nothing. Business below average. Running time, 52 minutes. Played Feb. 2.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—Very, very fine musical. Good anywhere, any time.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

GOODBYE LOVE: Charles Ruggles—This picture did not click here. No interest was shown by the audiences and I could not manage to like it either. Sort of flat. No business. Played Feb. 9-10.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

IF I WERE FREE: Irene Dunne, Clive Brook—A good picture, well acted, but did not draw well here. Pleased the older people much more than the younger set. Played Dec. 29-30.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—From all angles, here is one of the finest pictures of the year. We were very unfortunate in getting a print of this on which the recording was very poor, yet there was no dissatisfaction apparent. This picture deserves plenty of good clean publicity. Business excellent. Played Jan. 26-26-27.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Frances Dee.—An unusually fine performance for every star in the cast. Exceptionally well directed with almost perfect settings and atmosphere. Some thought the picture a little long, but not the tiresome type. Almost every woman thought the film "grand" and commented on its trueness to the book and vivid characterization. Most men were pleased, but thought it only average from entertainment standpoint. Highly recommend it for any type of general patronage house and has plenty of publicity angles to work with, but would especially urge patrons to get in at the beginning of run. Playing time, 107 minutes.—Donald Visger, Liberty Theatre, Kennewick, Wash. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—A business getter and an excellent picture.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—While business with this picture was far above average, let it be known that it was the story that drew the crowd and not any of the actors. This is an ideal Mary Pickford type play. If she or one like her would have taken the leading role, boy! what business, what records could have been hung up! It is seldom that a story is received by classes and masses universally as is this story. They select an actress whose voice is as much out of order in this picture as an electrical storm on a beautiful snow scene. The people who were brought up in large families liked the picture. The male portion were displased. To me the story is too depressing. It is lucky that business was good. Running time, 121 minutes. Played Feb. 10-12-13.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

FOUR MORE JOIN ARMY OF REPORTERS

As the masters of ceremonies used to say, "A big hand" to the following four exhibitors who with this issue begin contributing comments on what the pictures have done for them and their ticket rolls:

Donald Visger, Liberty theatre, Kennewick, Washington; Dwight (Red) Harkins, State theatre, Tempe, Arizona; Art Warner, Colonial, Grandview, Washington, and Fred M. Elkin, Carolina theatre, Lexington, North Carolina.

An extra palm to Harkins, who did a real job of it by sending in reports on 31 pictures he had shown. For an initial contribution, that should be something in the nature of a record, and sets a real mark for other enterprising and experienced showmen to shoot at.

MELODY CRUISE: Charles Ruggles—One of the nicest pictures we have played. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Jan. 18-19-20.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Charles Ruggles—This is one of the best of last year's pictures. Ruggles is always good here. We played it too late to realize much business, though it pleased what few saw it. Played Jan. 12-13.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Lionel Barrymore is a great actor, no question about it. The few who saw it were well pleased. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 19.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

RENEGADES OF THE WEST: Tom Keene—Played this one with "Blind Adventure," also an RKO picture. They are both fair pictures. Did average business. Running time, 61 minutes. Played Feb. 8-9.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE, THE: Ann Harding, Nils Asther—Personally, I did not care for this picture. Business was none too good, and it did not please my audiences. Played Jan. 5-6.—Art Warner, Colonial Theatre, Grandview, Wash. Rural and small town patronage.

RIGHT TO ROMANCE, THE: Ann Harding—Did not draw well, but had several good comments. Ann Harding has been in so many pictures that flopped here that she doesn't mean a thing to the box-office. —H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

SWEEPINGS: Lionel Barrymore—A wonderful picture and good business. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Jan. 29-30-31.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

Tower

REFORM GIRL: Noel Francis—Fair program picture with weak cast. Played Feb. 23-24.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

United Artists

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN: Lee Tracy—Good entertainment and Tracy gives a very good performance, but it did not attract our people, although we gave it extra advertising. Played Feb. 16-17.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

BLOOD MONEY: George Bancroft—Title is attractive and Bancroft popular with our patrons, but there is nothing to the picture and it drew less than average receipts. Played Feb. 14, 15.—M. R. Williams, Texon Theatre, Texon, Texas. Small town patronage.

BLOOD MONEY: George Bancroft—Not so hot. Will get by as an action picture on Saturday night. —C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, George Raft—Splendid show that should be the delight of all that come to see it, and there should be plenty. Lots of comedy, pathos and action. First three-day playdate we have tried and it worked okay. Plenty of chance for stunts and advertising on this one. It will pay you. 20th Century has got the shows right now. Played Feb. 8-9-10.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Aris. Small college town patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, George Raft, Jackie Cooper—I was sure surprised after playing this one. It's a great picture with the best of stars, yet I did not make expenses. It's not the picture's fault. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Feb. 5-6.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Russ Columbo—Here is another fine picture from United Artists that did not cover expenses. It's one of the best pictures of its kind. A little of everything put together which makes a fine picture. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Feb. 12-13.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Universal

BELOVED: John Boles, Gloria Stuart—A nice picture. You will get comments from your patrons that like a picture of this kind, but was far from B. O. for my spot. Did less than average midweek business. Played Feb. 13-14-15.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe, Shirley Grey, Onslow Stevens—Not so hot. This foreign stuff has absolutely no appeal. Story not easily followed and therefore did not satisfy the few that did come. Certainly not worth to me what it cost. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 17.—E. E. Warner, Opera House Theatre, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore—A class picture and not for average crowd.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barymore—Universal always makes a few out of the ordinary pictures in a season and here is another of them. An excellent story, well done. This picture is worthy of your best time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

DRUM TAPS: Ken Maynard—Just a western with no comments. Not bad, not good. Business a little below average. Played Dec. 1-2.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Not up to their standard, but lots of laughs. Short and ideal for double bills, but we don't run double bills. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—When they make any better Family Night picture than this we want to know about it. Just low down comedy that is so foolish it is a riot. They are still talking about it.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Did a good Friday-Saturday business. Awfully light and sappy in spots. I thought it was well named. However, business was better than average and no kicks, so why should I squawk. Played Feb. 16-17.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

HORSEPLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Played this one day and did fair business. Although the picture is not so strong, it will get by. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 7.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart—This is a good show of its kind, although it did not go over for me. Maybe it was too cold. Anyway, I made expenses. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

LADIES MUST LOVE: June Knight, Neil Hamilton—No good.—R. V. Fletcher, Lyric Theatre, Hartington, Neb. General patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—After reading some of the reports on this was a little afraid to play it. But can say that seemed to please all my patrons. That's all a picture must do to make me okay it. Graham McNamee announces the location of the trial, etc., in this and it's very novel and interesting. Feb. 23-24.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—Got by okay and was generally appreciated.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—Just average. This pair needs new gags. Played Feb. 11-13.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Leo Carrillo, Mary Brian—Not a bad picture, but no drawing power. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Feb. 8-9-10.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and country patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan, Lowell Sherman—Boost this one; it will warrant it. Lots of flaws, but the dear public doesn't come to look for flaws in this one because they cry enough to keep from seeing them. Margaret Sullavan is plenty good and everybody wants to see her again in another picture. How about it, Universal? Played Feb. 28-29.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles, Margaret Sullavan—A grand picture and pleased every one. The masterpiece of the year. It is just one of those things that has everything and they sob and love it. You owe it to your people to show them this picture.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Gloria Stuart, Lionel Atwill—We couldn't find the secret to get the people in the theatre for this one. Pretty fair entertainment, but nothing to talk about and bring the customers in. Bill it as a mystery picture and you will be okay. Played Jan. 3-4.—Dwight (Red) Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Gloria Stuart, Lionel Atwill—A mystery that fooled them all and held interest. Business above average on Wednesday and Thursday.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque—Just the sound of "Iceberg" drove the people away due to zero weather we have had. I suggest playing this the 4th of July. Played Feb. 18-20.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Warner

COLLEGE COACH: Ann Dvorak, Pat O'Brien—Very good Friday-Saturday program picture. Has fine cast and good story. Played Feb. 16-17.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

COLLEGE COACH: Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak—Did above average business with this one. It's a fine football picture well done. Held up good both days. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3. Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

EASY TO LOVE: Adolphe Menjou, Mary Astor, Genevieve Tobin, Edward Everett Horton—I did not see this one, but employees and patrons said it was poor. It did the poorest business in months. Menjou is too old to take the part of any lover. People here tell me this is a weak sister. Warners and First National have given us so many good ones, that I guess we shouldn't kick on this. Played Feb. 14-15.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

LIFE OF JIMMY DOLAN, THE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—A wonderful picture. Bad print from New Orleans. Guy Kibbee was fine in this. Music in background helped the picture tremendously. Played Feb. 19-20.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

Short Features

Astor

KILLERS OF THE CHAPPARAL: Not quite two reels of unusual small animal stuff especially adapted for making up programs with comedy features such as "Duck Soup," "Olsen's Big Moment" or "Hips, Hips, Hooray" or others with short footage. Whenever we run comedy features, we make up serious shorts program. It works. Running time, 17 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

Columbia

COLUMBIA CARTOONS: All Columbia cartoons are good. Haven't got any bad one yet. I wonder why they can't make two-reel comedies, as their features and cartoons are good program entertainment. Running time, one reel.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

ENTERTAINER, THE: Ken Murray—A musical comedy that is a little better than most of Columbia's, but can't give it very much then as Columbia makes so many poor comedies. Running time, two reels.—D. W. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

FOG: Mary Brian—Very good mystery, but failed to get average business Sunday and Monday. It won't mean a thing at the box-office. Played Dec. 17.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

HOT DAZE: Smith and Dale—Another supposedly comic pair that I dislike very much. This comedy did not get a laugh and was terribly draggy. I never would have run this had I known it was so terrible.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

MICKEY'S BEACH PARTY: Mickey Mouse—Good Mickey Mouse.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

MICKEY'S COVERED WAGON: Mickey McGuire—Another Mickey McGuire that pleased all, especially the kids.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MICKEY'S TOUCHDOWN: Mickey McGuire—About the same as all McGuire comedies. Good for some laughs. Running time, two reels.—D. W. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

MUTUAL MAN, THE: Lamb's Gambols—The best comedy from Columbia on the Lamb's Gambols group. All the rest have been very poor. Running time, two reels.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

ROAMIN' THROUGH THE ROSES: Musicals—As sorry musical comedy as we ever run. Running time, two reels.—D. W. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

STRANGE CASE OF POISON IVY, THE: Viola Dana—Good burlesque on "meller drammer." Running time, two reels.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

Educational

DAY DREAMS: Treasure Chest—Took this one-reel out after the first showing. Terrible, and poor photography. Running time, one reel.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FANNY'S IN THE LION'S DEN: Terry-Toons—Fair enough. Musical background good. Running time, nine minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont, Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

FANNY'S WEDDING DAY: Terry-Toons—I did not think that Educational could make one good cartoon, but this one is okay.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

GOOD BAD MAN, THE: Coronet Comedies—Pretty good for Educational.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

POP'S PAL: Mermaid Comedies—Terrible.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

TRIMMED IN FURS: Mermaid Comedies—A great comedy. Play it. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

WHAT DOES 1934 HOLD? Treasure Chest—Some "Treasure Chests" are n. g., but here is one that will cause talk if your patrons are interested in the growing interest in the stars (heavenly). The sooner you run this the better and advertise "when were you born," etc. Running time, 11 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

for Owners and Managers

Motion Picture Theatre Accounting

Tells all the facts about your business each week — receipts, film costs, advertising, depreciation, taxes, insurance, etc.

Lasts a full year and you do not need to be a bookkeeper to use it.

A complete, concise aid to profits at the cost of a blank book.

Can be started at any time.

$3.00 QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N. Y.

Fox

ICEBERG PATROL, THE: Magic Carpet Series—These subjects are entertaining and educational.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MGM

AIR FRIGHT: Thelma Todd, Patsy Kelly—One of the best comedies for many years. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

CRACKED ICEMAN: Charley Chase—Another funny one from Charley. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

DAVY JONES' LOCKER: Willie Whopper—Metro's first colored cartoon. Of course, not in a class with the Silly Symphonies, but still better than the average cartoon.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa General patronage.

MIDNIGHT PATROL: Laurel and Hardy—As policeman, they're a riot. Dumber than usual, but goes over big.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

WILD POSES: Our Gang—A good comedy mingling adult and children entertainment. This is how it should be. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

Paramount

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—Well produced cartoons and they're asking for more "Popeyes." Running time, seven minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

BOO, BOO, THEME SONG: Screen Songs—Poorest cartoon we have ever run. Running time, eight minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 3)—Excellent. Presented in a way that pleases and when it is over you wish there were more of it.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE (No. 3)—Just fair. The recording on these subjects and the Sport Reels is not so good. That sound engineer should be checked up on. Paramount usually have the best recording, and I can't understand why the two short series mentioned are not up to standard.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

KEEPS RAININ' ALL THE TIME: Gertrude Niesen—An excellent screen song that is entitled to your best time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST, THE: Donald Novis, Arthur Tracy, Mills Brothers, Roy Atwell—A dandy one-reel subject. Be sure to put it in your advertising, as it will draw. Running time, one reel.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

OLD BUGLER, THE: Chic Sale—Fair.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

ONE AWFUL NIGHT: Eugene Pallette, Walter Catlett—You can get by with this on your action audience. It is slapsticky, in fact awfully sticky. They drag in all the hokum possible and manage to snatch a laugh here and there.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (No. 4): These pictorials are all good. Run them.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL (No. 6): The Trees number in this by Donald Novis is marvelous. Other two selections just film. A good idea to snip those two and use only the Trees.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

POPEYE, THE SAILOR: Talkartoons—Just a word about Popeye. He is popular. The minute his leader flashes on the screen, they all begin to laugh and settle themselves for a good bunch of belly laughs. Bill for extra business.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

ROAMING ROMEO, A: Harry Langdon—Pretty fair.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

STATION T. O. T.: Headliners—Another fine single act from Paramount.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

THREE LITTLE SWIGS: Leon Errol—Fair.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

THREE LITTLE SWIGS: Leon Errol—Another one of Leon Errol's drunken comedies. Some exhibitor has said that these comedies are degrading. Maybe they are, but oh, brother, how the house roared at the man with the rubber legs. We think he is a riot. —C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

WHERE'S THAT TIGER?: Borrah Minnevitch—An excellent band act with the Harmonica Rascals. Some very pretty music and plenty of comedy. A sunday short.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

RKO

BLACK AND TAN: Duke Ellington—Real negro jazz band, but print was too dark for Mazda equipment. Running time, two reels.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

BUBBLING OVER: Ethel Waters—Just what you need in musical two-reelers for any program. This colored girl and her bunch are exta good. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

BUBBLING OVER: Ethel Waters—Ethel Waters in a two-reel musical. Some very fine singing, but very crudely made. All right for a filler.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN REISSUES: Surprisingly funny after the years, especially good for Saturday, since the "younger generation" have missed the films that made the movies really funny, according to history. Sound and incidental effects only, added to the silent negative, but lots of laughs. So what? Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

FITS IN A FIDDLE: Clark and McCullough—Why, oh, why, did I ever buy these comedies? About one out of every five will have a few laughs here. To my mind they are crude and anything but funny.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

GAY NIGHTIES, THE: Clark & McCullough—Very good.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HAPPY HOBOES: Tom and Jerry Cartoons—Fair. —Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

HEY NANNY, NANNY: Clark & McCullough—This team is one of the best. Too bad Hal Roach does not take them and use them. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MICKEY'S BIG BROADCAST: Mickey McGuire—These McGuires are always good. The children certainly enjoy them.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MOTHER-IN-LAW DAY: Edgar Kennedy—Usual family trouble and rows. Only a few laughs. Running time, two reels.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

OPENING NIGHT: Fable—These Fables are always well received.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

PREFERRED LIST: Headliner Series—A nice comedy with good music.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

RASSLIN' MATCH, THE: Amos 'n' Andy—The first of the Amos 'n' Andy cartoons. The voices are excellent, but the drawings are jerky and crude. We were afraid of this as we saw it screened and booked it on our bargain night. The audience ate it up and we have booked the second one on Sunday. Nuff said. —C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

STOLEN BY GYPSIES: Masquers Comedies—The Masquers all seem to entertain. This was pretty fair. —H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

WALKING BACK HOME: Blonde and Red Head Series—A very good slapstick comedy for family or Saturday night.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

United Artists

BABES IN THE WOOD: Silly Symphonies—I don't believe that Walt Disney could make a bad cartoon. This one in color is marvelous.—H. H. Gates, Garlock Theatre, Custer, S. D. Small town patronage.

LULLABY LAND: Silly Symphonies—All Silly Symphonies liked here. This one the sweetest of all.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

MICKEY SHANGHAIED: Mickey Mouse—Just a Mickey Mouse and not up to the usual high standard. Understand this is good enough for anybody's house, but is not up to the usual high standard.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MICKEY'S GALA PREMIERE: Mickey Mouse—This cartoon is better than the average. Be sure to play it. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MICKEY'S MECHANICAL MAN: Mickey Mouse—These cartoons are slipping fast. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

UP BRIGHT AND EARLY FOR HIS HERALD COPY

"I found it impossible to do without the Herald even when I was not in the business. I am always up bright and early on Sunday mornings to get my copy".

This from Fred M. Elkin, Carolina theatre at Lexington, N. C., who explains, "After an absence of ten months I am back in Lexington at the Carolina, succeeding Mr. J. T. Hedrick, who has gone to Florida." It is something of a record at that, for this is the fifth time in eleven years that Elkin has managed this house, in as many changes of ownership. He also spent five years in the opposition theatre.

Elkin's first reports to "What the Picture Did for Me" appear in this issue.

Universal

BIG BENEFIT, THE: Mentone No. 3—A swell two-reeler. It gives your program that vaudeville angle that you want and this two-reeler has talent and how. Ann Sothern, Bill Robinson and others. Would also like to recommend "Vaudeville on Parade" and "Broadway Varieties."—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

GLEASON'S NEW DEAL: James Gleason—Best Gleason comedy to date. The adults ate it up and kids seem to enjoy it. Running time, two reels.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

I KNOW EVERYBODY AND EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS: Walter Winchell—A musical comedy that was fair, showing some good stars.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

IN THE ZOO: Oswald Cartoons—Pleased the children—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MERRY OLD SOUL: Oswald Cartoons—See all your favorite stars in this. It's grand.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

MERRY OLD SOUL: Oswald Cartoons—This cartoon is one of the best made. I haven't played a poor Oswald yet. Keep it up, Oswald. Running time, one reel.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

MISTER MUGG: James Gleason—Fair comedy above the average. Running time, two reels.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

ON THE AIR AND OFF: Mentone No. 1—Another good Mentone comedy. I haven't played a poor one yet. It's very good. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

OPEN SESAME: Henry Armetta—Good work, Henry Armetta. I wish I get more of his comedies. My patrons sure liked this one. Good work, Universal. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theate, Mohaningtown, Pa. General patronage.

OUT OF GAS: Louise Fazenda—Another good two-reel comedy from Universal. Running time, two reels. —Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. Geneal patronage.

PARKING SPACE: Oswald Cartoons—Another good Universal Cartoon. Will please and should please every one. Running time, one reel.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

PIN FEATHERS: Pooch Catoon—A dandy cartoon which the older ones enjoyed fully as much as the kids. Wish the features were as good accordingly as these cartoons. Running time, 10 minutes.—E. E. Warner, Opera House Theatre, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

SHE DONE HIM RIGHT: Pooch Cartoon—Exceptionally good. Has some hot tunes in it.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS (No. 36)—You exhibitors that want a few nudist shots on your program play this one. It panicked my house. Reel is good.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

STUNG AGAIN: Louise Fasenda—Good two-reel comedy. Will please every one. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

WARREN DOANE BREVITY: A series of vaudeville acts that are a knockout and different. These consist of the highest paid acts in vaudeville and staged by a master craftsman. I will say they pleased everybody.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

WORLD'S GREATEST THRILLS: This two-reeler from Universal is sure great. All kinds of thrills in it. It will make your patrons hold their breath. Very good. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BOSKO'S PICTURE SHOW: Looney Tunes—An unusually good cartoon.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

EASY ACES: Pepper Pot Series—A good single reel filler for any day. A story of the dumb wife in the bridge game. Chock full of laughs.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

EASY ACES: Pepper Pot—This one is just fair. I've played a lot better ones. Running time, one reel. Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

EXPLORING THE PACIFIC: World Adventures—Very interesting with some fine scenes. Running time, one reel.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

MUNICIPAL BAND WAGON: Melody Masters—Good. Variety of everything.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

"NO" MAN, THE: Broadway Brevity—Fair.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

PLANE NUTS: Ted Healy—If they like Ted Healy and His Stooges, it is a riot and our people do. Entitled to your best time.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

RAMBLING ROUND RADIO ROW: Pepper Pot—Nice one-reel subject. Aunt Jemima got a laugh. She's okay. Good voice. My people seemed to enjoy it all. Running time, one reel.—Sammie Jackson, Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

ROCK-A-BYE-BYE WITH DR. ROCKWELL: Pepper Pot—This Pepper Pot is not so hot. Just a waste of film, all talking and no comedy. Running time, one reel.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

RUFUS JONES FOR PRESIDENT: Ethel Waters —Here is a song and dance number that made good with our people. This new series of the Broadway Brevities are just what our patrons seem to like the best. Running time, 20 minutes.—E. E. Warner, Opera House Theatre, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

'TIS SPRING: Broadway Brevity—Good two-reeler all in colors. There is some color cartoon work in the first reel that equals any of the Silly Symphonies.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

'TIS SPRING: Patricia Ellis, Allen Jenkins—This is a very good color two-reel comedy. It's one of the best Broadway Brevities. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

20,000 CHEERS FOR THE CHAIN GANG: Broadway Brevity—Burlesque on "Fugitive." Very entertaining.—Alyce Cornell, Galewood Theatre, Grand Rapids, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

YEAST IS YEAST: Tom Patricola—Here's another good Broadway Brevity. Good comedy, singing and dancing. Running time, two reels.—Louis Perretta, Crescent Theatre, Mahoningtown, Pa. General patronage.

Serials

RKO

LAST FRONTIER: Creighton Chaney—Have just completed this serial and can say that it pleased my patrons and certainly kept them coming every Friday-Saturday. It's old, but I received excellent print, thanks, RKO. Running time, two reels per chapter.—Sammie Jackson, Jackson Theatre, Flomaton, Ala. Small town patronage.

Universal

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy—Here is the best serial I ever run and it holds interest on each episode so far.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

PHANTOM OF THE AIR: Tom Tyler, Gloria Shea —Everything in first two reels. Did not hold the kids.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 3, 1934, from 113 hourses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,213,298, an increase of $49,427 over the previous calendar week, ended February 24, when 114 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,163,871.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"I Believed in You" (Fox)	19,000	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	20,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	9,500	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	10,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	19,000	"Palooka" (U. A.)	18,500	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Nana" (U. A.)	19,000	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	19,500	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
							High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Bolero" (Para.)	34,000	"Good Dame" (Para.)	33,500	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	9,500	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	10,500	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
							High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	15,000	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	13,600	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Cradle Song" (Para.)	5,600	"The Big Shakedown" (F. N.) and "Smoky" (Fox)	4,500	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"After Tonight" (Radio) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.)	7,900	"Right to Romance" (Radio) and "Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	8,700	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (25c-35c)	7,800	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	9,500	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Fog" (Col.)	7,600	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio) and "Beloved" (U.)	6,500	High 12-20 "Counsellor at Law"	15,200
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Bolero" (Para.)	34,000	"Carolina" (Fox)	38,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	12,000	"Hi. Nellie!" (W. B.)	12,500	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	21,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (3rd week)	11,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	23,000	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	18,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Carolina" (Fox)	8,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	9,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	16,000	"Before Midnight" (Col.)	15,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,900
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	21,000	"Nana" (U. A.) (3rd week)	9,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Bedside" (F. N.)	2,200	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	2,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	5,500	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (6 days)	3,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	28,000	"Lost Patrol" (Radio)	15,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	7,500	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	12,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic)	3,900	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) and "Murder on the Campus" (Chesterfield)	3,100	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	3,000	"King of the Wild Horses" (Col.) and "Fog" (Col.)	2,000	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	3,500	"Right to Romance" (Radio)	3,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Good Dame" (Para.) (25c-50c)	9,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	6,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	7,500	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,500	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	11,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	13,000	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) (3 days)	900	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	2,750	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (4 days)	1,600			Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	5,500	"Orient Express" (Fox) and "Chance at Heaven" (Radio)	5,400	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	5,100	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	4,900	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	26,500	"Lost Patrol" (Radio)	17,200	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"Good Dame" (Para.)	17,300	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	16,300	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	5,300	"The Last Roundup" (Para.)	3,200	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 2-24-34 "The Last Roundup"	3,200
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Nana" (U. A.)	10,600	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	11,400	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.10	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (3rd week)	16,800	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	17,900	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight" Low 4-1 "King Kong"	36,656 14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) and.... "The Poor Rich" (U.) (15c-40c)	1,500	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and.. "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	3,500	High 1-7 "Handle With Care" Low 3-3-34 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	13,000 1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F.N.)..	12,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	10,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street" Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	26,000 7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	3,000	"Alice in Wonderland" (Para.)	3,500	High 2-18 "State Fair" Low 1-20-34 "Frontier Marshal"	7,000 2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Bolero" (Para.)	4,000	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	3,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes" Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	12,000 2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"No More Women" (Para.) and.. "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	3,500	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	7,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper" Low 3-3-34 "No More Women" and "Search for Beouty"	15,000 3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.)..	7,000	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	6,000	High 7-22 "College Humor" Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	9,500 3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	6,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,000	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert" Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	12,500 3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio).... (6½ days and Sat. late show)	4,000	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.).. (6 days and Sat. late show)	5,800	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces" Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	21,000 4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,900	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude" Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	30,000 4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Bolero" (Para.) and..... "By Candlelight" (U.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c)	8,500	"Good Dame" (Para.) (8 days and Sat. midnite show)	6,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel" Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	20,000 2,800
Royal	900	25c-35c	"The Ghoul" (Gaumont-British).... (25c)	2,000	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (2nd week)	1,800	.....
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (5 days)	2,000	"Beloved" (U.)	3,200	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch" Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	8,500 1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Beloved" (U.) (3rd week)	1,500	"Beloved" (U.) (2nd week)	1,800	High 11-25 "Emperor Jones" Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	3,950 1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (6 days)	7,800	"Eskimo" (MGM) (4th week-4 days)	4,100	.....
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox) (25c-50c)	13,863	"Coming Out Party" (Fox)	4,870	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie" Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	28,300 4,870
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Bolero" (Para.)	21,750	"Good Dame" (Para.)	19,115	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own" Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	30,000 10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,200	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) (1st week)	13,500	High 2-24-34 "The Lost Patrol" Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	13,500 1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	8,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week)	12,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery" Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	21,000 3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	10,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street" Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	19,000 7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	1,500	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	2,000	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing" Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	3,000 1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	7,500	"Carolina" (Fox)	8,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel" Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	10,000 7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Massacre" (F. N.)	6,000	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	5,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom" Low 3-11 "Cynara"	14,000 3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	6,000	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)	5,500	High 4-29 "Cavalcade" Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	8,000 3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"By Candlelight" (U.) (5th week)	3,000	"By Candlelight" (U.) (4th week)	3,000	High 1-27-34 "Waltz Time" (2nd week) Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	3,500 1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week)	13,500	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina" Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	13,500 7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"Fanny" (French) (revival)	1,500	"La Robe Rouge" (French) and.. "Mam'selle Josette, Ma Femme" (French)	1,800	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain" Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	4,000 1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	11,500	"After Tonight" (Radio)	10,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu" Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	14,500 7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Carolina" (Fox) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	10,500	"All of Me" (Para.) and "By Candlelight" (U.)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross" Low 2-10-34 "Sons of the Desert" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"	15,500 8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Nana" (U. A.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) (2nd week)	7,000	"Nana" (U.A.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) (1st week)	9,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon" Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	12,900 5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (3rd week)	14,685	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (2nd week)	17,600	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight" Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	21,000 14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	49,600	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	60,100	High 2-24-34 "The Cat and the Fiddle" Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	60,100 15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Orient Express" (Fox)	7,600	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.)	7,200	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth" Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	24,750 4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Carolina" (Fox)	12,200	"All of Me" (Para.)	10,100	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom" Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	16,150 4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	44,000	"Bolero" (Para.)	43,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel" Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	83,450 15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)	15,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (2nd week)	13,000	High 2-17-34 "Devil Tiger" Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	23,000 5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	14,700	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	24,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	48,000 7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"All of Me" (Para.) (4 days) "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) (3 days)	8,000	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (4 days) "Four Frightened People" (Para.) (3 days)	5,500	High 1-27 "Animal Kingdom" Low 2-24-34 "As Husbands Go" and "Four Frightened People"	71,267 5,500

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
New York (Continued)
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)..	75,900	"Carolina" (Fox)	75,265	High 11-25 "Little Women".....	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"...	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....	22,700	"Long Lost Father" (Radio).....	19,300	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man".....	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess".....	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Mandalay" (F. N.)..... (2nd week-5 days) "Wonder Bar" (F. N.) (2 days)	16,900	"Mandalay" (F. N.)..... (1st week)	19,221	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade".....	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran".....	6,850
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	3,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.).....	3,600	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood".....	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven".....	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Palooka" (U.A.)	3,800	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	5,900	High 11-18 "College Coach".....	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires".....	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and..... "The Poor Rich" (U.)	1,800	"By Candlelight" (U.) and..... "Ever Since Eve" (Fox)	1,900	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	3,900
							Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Bolero" (Para.)	4,800	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.).....	6,200	High 2-25 "State Fair".....	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance".....	1,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.) and.. "Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (6 days)	3,750	"Long Lost Father" (Radio)..... (3 days) (25c-60c) "Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Son of Kong" (Radio) (4 days)	3,500 2,500	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey".....	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.)	6,750	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "Rainbow Over Broadway" (Chesterfield)	7,000	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"..	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings".....	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"Bolero" (Para.) ..... (25c-50c)	9,750	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)..... (3 days) "Good Dame" (Para.)..... (4 days)	1,500 3,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) and "The Last Roundup" (Para.)	5,000	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) and.... "His Double Life" (Para.)	5,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 12-9 "Hoopla" and "Manhattan Tower"	4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)..... (3rd week-6 days)	5,500	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)..... (2nd week-6 days)	7,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals".....	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet".....	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Going Hollywood" (MGM)..... (6 days)	2,400	"A Man's Castle" (Col.) ..... (5 days)	1,800	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days).....	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven".....	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) (6 days)	11,000	"All of Me" (Para.)..... (6 days)	9,500	High 1-6-34 "Little Women".....	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance".....	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)..... (6 days)	16,000	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.).. (6 days)	16,500	High 1-20-34 "Bombay Mail".....	33,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions".....	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-65c	"Coming Out Party" (Fox) ..... (6 days) (30c-60c)	15,000	"I Believed in You" (Fox)..... (6 days)	15,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade".....	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1".....	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"His Double Life" (Para.)..... (6 days)	3,000	"Madame Spy" (U.) ..... (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street".....	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"...	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Carolina" (Fox) ..... (7 days)	8,000	"Sensation Hunters" (Monogram) (5 days)	5,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense".....	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"..	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.).. (6 days)	14,000	"Eskimo" (MGM) ..... (6 days)	11,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel".....	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord".....	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) (6 days)	7,000	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)..... (6 days)	7,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant".....	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man".....	4,000
Walnut	1,500	25c-50c	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram).... (7 days)	5,000	.....		.....
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Madame Spy" (U.).....	7,500	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)..	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny".....	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?".....	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....	4,000	"Long Lost Father" (Radio)..... (6 days)	2,500	High 12-9 "Little Women".....	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids".....	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram) and "King of Wild Horses" (Col.)	1,900	"He Couldn't Take It" (Monogram) and "Wild Women of Borneo" (S. R.)	1,800	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day".....	10,200
							Low 2-24-34 "He Couldn't Take It" and "Wild Women of Borneo"	1,800
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and..... "Sleepers East" (Fox)	5,900	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) and.. "All of Me" (Para.)	6,000	High 11-18 "The Way to Love".....	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold".....	3,500
United Artists ..	945	25c-40c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)..... (2nd week)	5,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM)..... (1st week)	5,800	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie".....	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly".....	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Son of Kong" (Radio).....	14,000	"Before Midnight" (Col.) and.... "Sleepless Nights" (S. R.)	10,500	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)..	20,500	"The Poor Rich" (U.).....	12,000	High 2-11 "The Mummy".....	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman".....	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) and "Midnight" (U.)	6,000	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Madame Spy" (U.)	7,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love".....	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	10,000	"You Can't Buy Everything".... (MGM) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty".....	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	8,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM).....	9,500	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 11-11 "The Mad Game" and "S.O.S. Iceberg"	4,000
Tivoli	1,900	25c-35c	"Sins of Love" (Ind.).....	5,200	.....		.....
United Artists ..	1,200	25c-50c	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)..... (3rd week)	7,000	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)..... (2nd week)	9,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals".....	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker".....	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Queen Christina" (MGM).....	22,500	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	17,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady".....	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"....	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)..... (3rd week)	3,250	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.)..... (2nd week)	5,000	High 12-9 "Little Women".....	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel".....	2,500
Fifth Avenue ..	2,750	25c-55c	"Carolina" (Fox)	6,000	"Going Hollywood" (MGM).....	7,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie".....	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (10c-35c)	7,000	"Carnival Lady" (Hollywood) and "Frontier Marshal" (Fox)	3,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York".....	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)....	4,000	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.).....	3,750	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade".....	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free".....	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.).....	6,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.) and..... "Easy to Love" (W. B.) (25c-35c)	4,500	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days)	9,000
							Low 2-24-34 "Mandalay" and "Easy to Love"	4,500
Paramount	3,050	20c-30c	"You Can't Buy Everything"..... (MGM) (6 days)	5,000	"All of Me" (Para.).....	5,500	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms".....	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 214.—(A) May a lens seem perfectly clean when looked directly through, and still not be so? Explain. (B) This may seem a repetition. However, please describe the effect of various sorts of dirt on lenses upon the screen image. (C) Tell us how you would clean a lens. Don't rely on Bluebook directions entirely. Give us your own opinion as to the best way.

Answer to Question No. 208

Bluebook School Question No. 208, was: (A) Suppose you proposed installation of a lens and had limited light supply. How would you go about calculating the light loss at each surface of a lens? (B) What is the variation in light loss at the surface of a lens with various angles of incidence? (C) Does the reflection loss within angles zero to 30 amount to much? (D) Name the refractive index of crown and flint glass. Which would give the greatest amount of refraction? (E) Upon what does loss by absorption of light passing through a lens depend?

We have a goodly list of acceptable answers this week, as follows: Dale Danielson; C. Rau and S. Evans; G. E. Doe; B. S. Englander; R. DeTotto; D. Caladine; W. Lemke; R. J. Arntson; T. Van Vaulkenburg; H. H. Menefee; J. Wentworth; D. Ferguson; T. H. and J. N. Williams; H. B. Roth and B. L. Sarno; H. Edwards; P. L. Lathrope; L. F. Evans; R. Leroy and T. L. Albert; H. D. Schofield; C. D. Carmody; R. Wheeler and R. Suler; T. L. Turk and O. Davis; S. Carberry; B. L. Tenner and E. Rymer; L. M. Hartmann and D. O. Dorfel; H. C. Lake; R. F. Hall; D. Stellegos and G. Wayne; B. L. Stephens; G. S. Bowers; H. C. Lake; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; C. Cummings and T. Kelly; H. May and D. N. Anderson; T. L. Edwards; R. Dorfel and J. E. Smith; L. D. Richardson and G. N. Bagley; C. F. Davis and C. Conforti; D. R. Bainbridge and S. Peterson; P. L. Sanborn and S. L. Jones; W. and S. F. Love; L. H. Danville and R. H. Petterson; O. Thum and I. D. Atkerly; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; K. Erwin, L. F. Erwin and F. J. Felton; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; D. U. Granger; C. Abrams and E. F. Griffin; D. H. Samuels and R. Ryker; D. Forman; B. Giglah and P. Jackson; R. K. Hart; R. Richards and H. Schontz; H. Pitchkey and M. C. Mellinger; L. Biello and R. S. Conrad; D. C. Coates; J. T. Ballinger and D. L. Mason; J. Hawkins and C. Hawkens; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; L. D. Templeton; R. S. Allen and N. Williams; D. R. Sackley, J. B. Langdon, P. Lee, T. L. Kenney and A. L. Hickey; G. Bagby; D. Holler and D. R. Peters; P. L. Wheeler and M. Scully; P. H. Harrison; J. M. Dillon; L. Jones; D. L. Sinklow.

(A) We will listen to T. VanVaulkenburg on this one. He says, "I do not believe Brother Richardson really meant to infer that such a job would be within the powers of the projectionist, but rather only to see just what general knowledge we all had of such matters. It will be observed that the lens surface only is included. The loss due to reflection might in theory be computed by knowing the refractive index of the glass, but that ordinarily would mean little unless the reflection due to lens curvature were also taken into account, and that, it seems to me, would be a task much beyond the powers of the projectionist, as well as a very difficult one even for the lens maker to compute accurately. There would be literally thousands of variations in curvature in a projector optical train.

"The nearest we could possibly come to it, it seems to me, would be to subtract the loss due to refractive index, but even that would not be right for the condenser, because such lenses are neither crown nor flint glass."

(B) B. S. Englander says, "The various percentages of light loss encountered at various angles on both crown and flint glass are given below, with an error factor of not more than five-tenths per cent.

Angle of inc.	Ref. In. 1.51	R. I. 1.61
0	4.13%	5.46
5	4.15	5.48
10	4.17	5.50
15	4.19	5.53
20	4.22	5.56
25	4.25	5.60
30	4.28	5.64
35	4.35	5.90
40	4.60	6.25
45	5.10	6.70
50	5.95	7.60
55	7.25	8.90
60	9.08	10.69
70	17.29	18.97
80	38.92	40.30
90	100.00	100.00

Englander does not tell us where he got these figures. It may be from a text book or he may have worked it out in percentages. It is the first table I have seen of the kind. We will assume it to be correct until it is proven otherwise.

Richard De Totto says, "The variations in light loss at the surface of a lense with various angles of incidence is anywhere between a loss of 4.13 per cent to 100 per cent."

Which is correct so far as it goes, but doesn't travel very extensively. C. Rau and S. Evans answer the question thus:

"The variation in light loss at the surface of a lens with various angles of incidence is as follows: From zero to 30 degrees it is small and negligible; from 30 to 60 degrees the loss is more than doubled; from 60 to 70 degrees the loss is again almost doubled; from 70 to 80 degrees another doubling of the loss is incurred with a slight amount over; and of course at 90 degrees the loss is 100 per cent."

And so I might quote hundreds of answers of almost every conceivable kind, but I think we must admit Englander has much the best of it.

(C) The almost unanimous answer was to the effect that light loss from reflection up to 30 degrees is negligible.

(D) This, too, was almost unanimous, as follows: Refractive index of crown glass, 1.51; of flint glass, 1.61. Flint glass therefore has the highest power of refraction.

(E) J. Wentworth says, "Absorption loss varies with (a) quality of glass, (b) absence of color in either lens or light, (c) distance light must travel through the glass. The absorption of crown glass varies from five-tenths to one per cent per centimeter of thickness; of flint glass, from one to 1.5 per cent per centimeter of thickness. Glass of poor quality may absorb as much as three to four per cent per centimeter. If color or discoloration be present in either light or glass, it may go even higher."

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Funds for continuance of relief work among the industry unemployed in the local area will be replenished at a second annual dinner dance to be held at the Medinah Club March 23. The initial affair, a huge success, provided the means of helping those in need of relief over a period of some nine months. Elaborate plans are under way to make this year's event at least as interesting and entertaining as the first one. Chicago Exhibitors Association, Allied Theatres of Illinois and the Film Board of Trade are sponsoring the event. All funds are dispersed by a committee from each organization.

▽

Appointees to the local Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards received first news of their selection last Wednesday morning in a flash to the Quigley Publications Chicago office from Motion Picture Daily. This is in line with the Code Authority policy of using the trade press to disseminate news of appointments and other instructions and rulings affecting code activities.

▽

Joe Duffy, veteran salesman for National Theatre Supply Company, is seriously ill at his home.

▽

Henri Ellman's Capitol Film Corporation exchange is all decked out in holiday attire in honor of the Henri Ellman drive April 1 to May 15. During this period Ellman will release one feature and one single reel subject each week as well as a two-reel comedy and a three-reel and four-reel featurette.

▽

Henry Herbel is back from his Florida vacation, while Felix Mendelsohn and Mrs. Mendelsohn have just departed on theirs—a cruise to South America.

▽

Henry Bambara has sold the Schindler theatre at Milwaukee & Huron.

▽

Nat Saland of the Saland Film Laboratories, who is financing a group of independent productions, stopped off in town last week on his way to New York.

▽

Betty Dale, shipper in the office of Capitol Film Corporation, was killed on her way to work last Saturday night when she was struck by an automobile while boarding a street car. She was a widow and the mother of five children.

▽

Bill Hollander of B & K is soaking up Florida's sunshine.

▽

The Lawn theatre at 63rd & Lawndale has been opened by William Steininger, who formerly operated the Crane.

▽

Colonel A. L. Rule ("The Death Parade" and "The Big Drive") was laid low for several days at his Hotel Sherman headquarters with an ear infection.

▽

Keep a date open—March 23—for the big relief dinner dance.

HOLQUIST

DuWorld Gets "Black Dawn"

DuWorld Pictures, Inc., recently formed, has acquired "Black Dawn," directed by Josef Berne, for world distribution. Early release is planned. The company also has taken over foreign distribution of Trojan Pictures' "Shadow Laughs" and "Big Town."

Paramount Contract Talent at New High

Anticipating a production schedule of some 25 pictures to start within the next three months, Paramount's Hollywood studios announced this week that it has 72 players under contract, the greatest number in the history of the company. Of these, 32 are said to be comparative screen newcomers.

"It is obvious that Hollywood must develop its own talent, build up its own stars," said Emanuel Cohen, vicepresident in charge of production. "Potential starring material is needed constantly, year in and year out, and in great number. Before any studio can afford to invest time, effort and money in any young player, it must be assured of that player's services not only through the period of development, but afterwards as well. The investment must be protected."

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 3

ASTOR
- Life of Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky ..... FitzPatrick

CAPITOL
- Roping Wild Bears..... MGM
- Four Parts ..... MGM

MAYFAIR
- Hold Your Temper..... Universal
- Broadway Varieties..... Columbia
- Canyon of Romance..... Educational

RKO MUSIC HALL
- Managed Money..... Educational
- Good Knight..... RKO Radio
- Holy Land..... RKO Radio

RIALTO
- Ha! Ha! Ha!..... Paramount
- Broadway Knight..... Paramount
- Himalaya ..... First Division

RIVOLI
- Knee Deep in Music..... RKO Radio
- Around the Acropolis..... Fox

STRAND
- Pettin' in the Park..... Vitaphone
- Wrong, Wrong Trail..... Vitaphone
- Spanish America..... Vitaphone

Pizor Closes With Principal

William Pizor has closed deals with Nat Cherin, president of Principal Film Exchange, Inc., for the New York and Northern New Jersey territory for four one-reel pictures, one three-reel musical and a four-reel subject on elephant hunting in Siam.

Jafa Takes Several

Jafa Film Exchange has taken over distribution of "Intolerance of 1933" in English and "Yiskor" and "Sacrifice of Isaac" in Jewish, in addition to two shorts, "Passover Night" and "A Cantor on Trial."

Educational Gets New Reel

Educational has acquired "Hula Honeymoon," a reel picturing the marriage customs and ceremonies in Hawaii, as the seventh release in the Treasure Chest series.

INCORPORATED

Eighteen motion picture and theatre corporations filed charters in the state department at Dover, Del., in January. Further moves in decentralization of Fox Rocky Mountain Theatres was registered by the incorporation of Fox Iowa Theatre Corporation, Fox Billings Theatre Corporation, Fox Rockhill Theatre Corporation and Fox Southwest Theatre Corporation. The following filed charters:

Fox Beatrice Theatre Corporation, Fox Iowa Theatre Corporation, Fox Billings Theatre Corporation, Fox Cape Theatre Corporation, Fox Rockhill Theatre Corporation and Fox Southwest Theatre Corporation, all filed to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing a capital of $1,000 each. The companies were incorporated by Raymond J. Gorman, C. N. Caldwell, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Arthur W. Britton of West Orange, N. J.

United Moving Picture Exhibitors, Inc., to operate theatres, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. Incorporators: C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Classic Pictures, Inc., to deal in real and personal property of all kinds, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. Incorporators: Charles B. Van Nostrand, Joseph J. Shannon and M. J. Duggan of New York City.

Fairhaven Productions, Limited, to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing capital of 300 shares, no par value. Incorporators: M. A. Durr, J. M. Townsend and Charles H. Jarvis of Dover.

Kenilworth Amusement Corporation, to operate theatres, etc., listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. Incorporators: C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

Belleville Theatre Corporation, to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing capital of $1,000. Incorporators: Raymond J. Gorman and C. N. Caldwell, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Arthur W. Britton of West Orange, N. J.

United Theatres Corporation of Pennsylvania, to operate theatres and other places of amusement, listing capital of $200,000. Incorporators: Clyde L. Smith, Perry R. Restucci of Eddystone, Pa., and D. B. Hilliard of Wilmington.

B-T-M Corporation, to deal in motion picture cameras, listing capital of 50,000 shares, no par value. Incorporators: C. S. Peabbles, L. H. Herman and Walter Lenz of Wilmington.

The National Film Carriers, Inc., to "promote the interests of those engaged in the motion picture industry," listing no capital stock. Incorporators: T. Lea Perot, William C. Wright and Daniel A. Ward of Philadelphia.

Rowland Productions, Inc., to deal in motion pictures, listing capital of 1,000 shares, no par value. Incorporators: J. Vernon Pimm, Albert G. Bauer and R. L. Spurgeon of Wilmington.

Music and Radio Research, Inc., of Philadelphia, increased its capital stock from 2,500 to 4.500 shares, no par value. The Corporation Trust Company was the incorporating company.

Dominion Theatres, Inc., to operate theatres, music halls, etc., listing capital of $10,000. Incorporators: Walter W. Gross, Arthur Israel, Jr., and Emery J. Woodall, Jackson Heights, Long Island, N. Y.

United Pictures, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., increased its capital from $10,000 to $110,000. The Corporation Service Company was the incorporator.

Earl Gulick Promoted

Earl Gulick, long with General Outdoor Advertising Company, has been named vicepresident of Outdoor Advertising, Inc.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

CODE WEAKNESS

The theatre labor provisions of the Motion Picture Code state that when a manager receives $35 or more per week, his working hours shall be unlimited. This arbitrary figure represents an obvious code weakness as expressed by a visiting Round Tabler who referred to the vicious practice of reducing salaries to this figure, or replacing managers earning more with "showmen" willing to work for the lesser sum.

Although the $35 stipulation is hardly a generous figure, it is not our purpose to cross swords with the code authorities on what amount should so be classified. In many situations, this figure may approximate a fair salary, but hiding behind the code to cut the wage of those worth more smacks of the rankest kind of chiseling.

At this writing, Hugh Johnson is holding a series of open meetings in Washington to correct and strengthen all codes. It seems to us that the General and Sol Rosenblatt might be interested in learning of these cases. With this in mind, we again offer our services in defense of the managers who have been so unfairly treated, and ask these gentlemen to communicate with us immediately. But, please, not anonymously.

Something must be done and something will be done if those who have suffered are willing to go to bat to check the spread of this evil. For nothing is more vital at this time than the safeguarding of the managers' interests.

Exhibitors who exploit their employees instead of their pictures are a definite drag on the wheels of this industry's progress. They must be brought to time and if the evidence is forthcoming, we shall endeavor to ameliorate these abuses.

▽ ▽ ▽

DUBIOUS ECONOMY

A problem almost as old as the motion picture itself, is that which concerns the proper control of seating in motion picture theatres. From time to time, intricate mechanical systems have been devised to expedite ushering, but these have been of little help, and the solution in the final analysis still depends upon sufficient manpower.

Due to a mistaken sense of economy, many theatres including deluxers are suffering from inadequate handling of patrons. Aimless wanderings up and down aisles in search of seats where there are none should not be tolerated. Neither should frantic and chaotic scramblings for better locations be permitted on "breaks." These are major annoyances and undoubtedly have caused many patrons to give up the movies.

There is no offhand solution, but surely an increase in the number of ushers strategically placed will do much to keep the crowds under control. Otherwise smart operators may seek to hold down the nut by cutting the house staff, but the losses in patronage due to this questionable practice indicate that the plight of the theatre may be due to other reasons besides inferior product.

▽ ▽ ▽

"NECESSARY TO SUCCESS"

Theatremen in all parts of the world have for many years studied with pleasure and profit the issues of Better Theatres which appear monthly in conjunction with Motion Picture Herald. Ably edited by our colleague, George Schutz, this continuously informative and meaty section has earned the thanks of the many showmen perusing its pages.

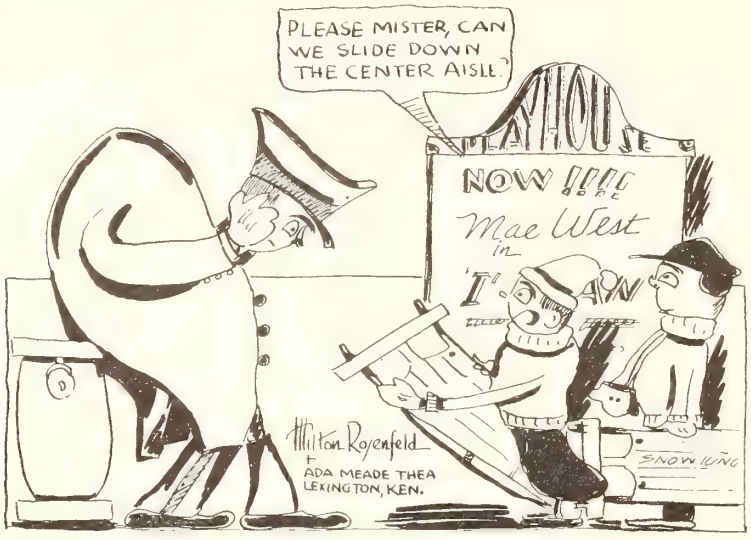
Testimonials to this effect are by no means infrequent, and among the most recent is an article by J. J. Fitzgibbons, General Manager, Famous Players Canadian Corp., in the circuit house organ, The Manager, from which we quote:

"There have been articles in Better Theatres on the proper use of ventilating and heating equipment, and the importance of keeping sound levels properly regulated, and if you fail to take advantage of this information you are passing up one of the elements that are so necessary to success."

Mr. Fitzgibbons well echoes the sentiments of the legion of managers who find Better Theatres so essential in the operation of their theatres.

▽ ▽ ▽

THAT'S SHOWMANSHIP



Though the term "showman" is generally applied to those having to do with theatre operation, every now and then comes an instance of smart campaigning that adds glamour to that much used word.

Such is the corking idea put over by Round Tabler Johnny Goodno, of the Palace, Huntington, W. Va. So far as this town was concerned, the famed "Moulin Rouge Caravan" did not exist, but Johnny, nothing daunted, proceeded to organize his own caravan that covered a 50-mile radius and entertained hugely the citizenry of some 15 outlying communities. As a result of these activities, detailed on a succeeding page, Goodno reports all kinds of record business on the picture, which he richly deserved.

To those still groping for the answer to the oft asked question, "what's showmanship?"—that, ladies and gentlemen, is showmanship.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

When a theatre is called the "Playhouse," who can blame the kids for at least trying?

Promotes Caravan On "Moulin Rouge"

Showmanship of the finest kind was exhibited by Manager John A. Goodno, Palace, Huntington, W. Va., who, realizing that he could not hope for a visit from the original "Moulin Rouge Caravan," created one of his own to bally the picture.

Goodno's outfit consisted of four bannered cars which carried a ten-piece orchestra and enough talent (see photo) to stage reviews which were put on a week in advance in 15 schools within a 35-mile radius, these dates being booked over the telephone. To advertise the showings, each town was liberally posted and radio announcements made twice daily in advance.

That's Johnny on the Right

Special stage settings were carried, as was a P. A. system which was set up in each auditorium, and over which plugs were made on "Moulin Rouge." During the show, the song hits were played and after each finale, Goodno made a talk about the picture and also institutionally plugged the Palace.

The reception of this idea was very gratifying, as over 10,000 were reported to have attended the showings, and this figure no doubt would have been higher had not the trip been made during a bad snowstorm. The talent was highly entertaining and though local performed very professionally, many having stage and radio experience.

The final performance was given back in Huntington at the local high school to over 2,000 pupils, and another show given on the day before the opening at the Veterans' Hospital, all of which, this member states, resulted in a gross on this engagement which far exceeded his expectations.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Bovim Plants Art Sketches In Two Local Papers

The six special art drawings by the well known American artists were planted in his two leading papers by Manager Russell Bovim, Loew's Broad, Columbus, Ohio, as one of the highlight angles on his showing of "Gallant Lady," these tying into the national ads on the picture which broke in both papers a day in advance.

The 15 minute press book radio sketch was also put on, the station making further announcements during the day, and tieups were also made with taxi companies, dress and millinery shops, in addition to the birth certificate heralds which were distributed house to house.

The art drawings made up as colored poster displays were planted in prominent windows, imprinted menu cards in restaurants and hotel grills were used, and Bovim also stepped out with a flash front that included hand painted posters and novel backgrounds with the star and title in modernistic cutout lettering.

Work for a Quigley Award!

U. A. Issues Distinctive Press Book on "Nana"

In keeping with the tone of the entire production, Hal Horne has put out a press book on U. A.'s "Nana" that sells plenty of class. Front and back covers are in various shades of blue, emphasized by nice art work of Anna Sten and tie-in copy. The rest of the book is put together in the same manner, highlighted with photos of the star in various poses.

Besides the exploitation and publicity, there is an illustrated Sunday feature story of which mat is available. Worthy of attention is another section given over to all sizes and varieties of ads including all those used in the New York campaign.

All in all, well done with enough coverage for managers in situations big and small.

"Wonder Bar" Ideas Click on Strand Date

The effectiveness of many of the press book national tieups and exploitation suggestions was well demonstrated in the campaign for the opening of the New York engagement of "Wonder Bar" at the Strand, wherein the Warner exploiters put over a number of these ideas to good returns.

To sell the song hits in the picture, a sound truck bannered with transparent signs covered the metropolitan area ten days in advance, plugging the songs; Macy's cooperated with a ten-foot display in the music department, upon which were listed the songs the sign further embellished with stills and plug copy.

Both Postal telegraph and Western Union participated, the first with window cards in over 200 offices and the second with jumbo blanks which carried a shot of stars, these being displayed in all local branches. Cooperation was also secured from the fan publications whereby the Dell magazines planted cards in over 500 news stands, and Modern Screen advertising the opening on their radio hour besides mailing star stills to listeners-in who requested them.

A Dick Powell shirt was advertised in the windows of many men's shops, including the John David chain, the latter also plugging the picture in their newspaper ads. Fashion tieups were arranged with Russeks in New York, and Loeser's in Brooklyn, both stores going for windows and newspaper breaks.

Special silk window displays were made up by the Glenzdorf Corporation for their many dealers, this company also devoting a number of 400-line ads to the premiere. Hearn's also gave the opening an effective display in which pictures of the stars decorated a modernistic bar setting.

The Strand front was done in black flitter

Strand "Wonder Bar" Front

and chrome with frosted glass panels, copy in cutout letters and color wheel effect behind the glass. The title was set in transparent letters, and red and white bulbs strung from the roof to the marquee

Work for a Quigley Award!

German Post Card

For the benefit of the non-English speaking Germans in Hoboken, N. J., Manager Rudy Kuehn, Fabian Theatre there, mailed an informative post card, printed in German on "Cradle Song." Much of the copy was given over to Dorothea Wieck, whom Rudy recalled for her work in "Maedchen in Uniform" and plugged the Paramount picture as her first English speaking production.

Laugh Angles Sell "Palooka" Opening

The comic strip featured by the Mirror was a natural tieup for the opening of "Palooka" at the New York Rivoli, and the United Artists' exploiteers took advantage of it by arranging for the distribution of thousands of news stand tack cards plugging both the strip and the picture.

Although wisely the picture is being sold from the comedy angle, nevertheless the fight theme was not entirely neglected, as thousands of the special "Palooka" tabloids were distributed at the New York Six Day Bicycle Race and at the various boxing and wrestling matches in and around the city.

Numerous tieups were made on the song numbers, a standout being a full display in both windows of the Brunswick Record Broadway branch, in connection with the recording of the song hits by this company. The music departments of a number of the leading stores and five and tens advertised the sheet music extensively.

Very effective selling was obtained from the newspaper ads which were prepared by the well known caricaturist, William Steig, featuring laugh producing poses of Durante, the copy being in the same vein. Mats of these are available and no doubt will be utilized by showmen who prefer stressing the comedy slant rather than the fight background.

An especially ingenious marquee idea was conceived wherein a flasher was attached to the title sign so that the letters "look" in the title flashed on and off, thus emphasizing the name of Jimmy Durante in lights immediately underneath. Hooked up in colors, it gave Broadway something to talk about and no doubt the same idea will be adapted in marquee advertising in other spots.

Work for a Quigley Award!

"TRY, TRY AGAIN"

Very gratifying and decidedly encouraging is the fact that many of the showmen who forwarded entries for the January Quigley Award have sent in campaigns for February Award consideration. And to these campaigns are attached messages to the effect that their senders are in on this competition to stay and intend sticking until they win a trophy.

Evidently, "try, try again" is no gag to these showmen, and their perseverance is to be highly commended. They have seen what it means to be the winner of a Quigley Award—to be the one, and only one, rewarded each month with high honors for outstanding showmanship.

The second lap has now been run. By next week we should know whom the judges have chosen for the February prize. As previously announced, this committee comprises: A. W. Smith, Warner sales head; Si Seadler, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer advertising manager; and Dan Michalove, assistant to S. R. Kent, president of Fox Films.

Enthusiasm for the Quigley project grows daily. February entries have exceeded January's, and by every indication March should top all. Every manager everywhere is eligible for the next Award. Start preparing that March campaign right now.

Remember, it means worldwide recognition for the winner!

Curtis and Finlay Step Fast on "Little Women"

A newsreel shot showing the crowds waiting to see "Little Women" at the Radio City Music Hall in New York was one of the many smart advance ideas used by Manager Gene Curtis and Exploitation Chief Ken Finlay to put over that picture at the Palace, Montreal. This was put on two weeks ahead and was followed a week in advance by two six-sheet boards in the foyer which were covered with red and white checkered gingham backgrounds. So attractive were these that one of the prominent department stores used the gingham idea for a dress display. This company also tied in on the press book sampler contest in which over 50 prizes were offered, and ran it for two weeks, plugging it with ads and window displays.

The same store also cooperated on the press book coloring contest and additional tieups were made in which other stores advertised various items, all tied to the title. The thoroughness of these newspaper campaigns is indicated by the fact that one store ran over 4,500 lines to advertise them.

Many broadcasts were promoted, one of which included the "Little Women" sketch cast, the sponsor putting on a lucky number contest in conjunction. The "Little Women" song was played by orchestras and the accompanying photo shows how it was plugged by music stores.

In addition to many other tieups, letters endorsing the picture were sent to many associations and schools in the city, and so complete was the campaign put on that the work of these showmen resulted in an extra week's showing for the picture.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Montreal "Little Women" Window

Fifi in Person Helps to Sell "Going Hollywood"

As Fifi Dorsay played an important part in the production, managing director Joe Feldman and publicity head Arthur Cohn took advantage of her personal appearance at the Earle, Philadelphia, on the same bill with "Going Hollywood" to further publicize the picture with three different broadcasts on leading stations in which Fifi related incidents in the making of this feature.

Radio played a large part in the campaign, five other stations plugging the song hits for days in advance, with additional announcements being made immediately after the program on which Bing Crosby appears weekly. To stimulate this air interest, a private screening was arranged for the leading radio entertainers, announcers and orchestra leaders, their endorsements making possible further band and air plugs.

Numerous window tieups were effected and a two color window strip was displayed in grocery and drug store windows throughout Philadelphia, tying in Woodbury Soap, Crosby's air sponsor, and plugging the picture, play date and theatre.

A lot of selling was put into the lobby and front displays, with elaborate hand-colored enlargements of Crosby and Davies bordered with scene stills, cutout music notes with copy in masonite letters. This idea was also carried out front (see photo), with figures of dancing girls seated on cutout music notes.

Imitation telegrams delivered house to house by uniformed messengers contained strong selling copy under Feldman's signature, and besides the generous publicity in local papers on Dorsay and the picture, small town newspapers within a fifty mile radius publicized the program in exchange for the usual passes.

Feldman's Flash Front

CHARNINSKY'S LOBBIES SELL

Round Tabler Down in Dallas Specializes In Flash Fronts But Also Clicks With Other Ideas

Dallas, Texas, has always been a hot spot for exploitation, and among the showmen in the southern metropolis, "Colonel" Louis Charninsky, Capitol Theatre, is one of the most active and ingenious. Lobby fronts, clubs, contests, stage shows are all "grist to his mill" and his newspaper breaks are frequent and potent.

On this page are described and illustrated some of his recent campaigns which this very able member reports held up his grosses.

Impersonation Contest

With the help of his newspapers, Louie announced an impersonation contest to be staged at the theatre, in which locals were invited to compete for prizes for the best impersonation in costume or otherwise of any Hollywood star. Stories were carried days in advance, and finalists selected after a series of eliminations.

These appeared at the theatre for three nights in a special revue, the opening night being celebrated with a "Hollywood premier" with all the accessories. Each "star" was brought to the theatre in a bannered auto, flood lights, microphones and all the other effects being employed.

Naturally the lobby and street were jammed, and the papers helped out by carrying stories about the contest, stage revue and premier.

R.O.T.C. Contest

Each Friday night, for eight weeks, a competition was held on the stage to determine the best drilled local R.O.T.C. cadets from among the 2,500 in the seven Dallas high schools, with different cadets appearing each week from each school.

From these, the finalists were selected, who competed for the main prizes promoted by Louie. Weekly prizes were also given, and a cash award of $25 to the P.T.A. association of the school showing the best attendance at the theatre during the weekly competitions.

Two papers sponsored the idea in cooperation with the R.O.T.C. officials, and for his work, Charninsky was appointed an honorary colonel in the corps, the papers running a two-column cut of the appointment, showing Louie receiving his honors from the high officers of the corps.

Lobby Shows

The lobby of the Capitol seems big enough to stage conventions, and Charninsky uses it plenty to sell his shows. His displays really are shows, and that he puts plenty behind them is indicated by a monthly bill that runs way up in the hundreds of dollars.

For instance, on "The Chief," he borrowed an old time pumper engine from the fire department and after a parade around town with a band and other fire apparatus, planted the old timer in the lobby (see photo) with "Wynn" himself and a stooge.

On "Last Roundup," note the cowhand-and-pinto idea. A special stall was built for the hawss, and real shingles put on the three lobby "houses." The cowhand of course sang the "roundup" song, the entire display topped with the giant scenic effect in the rear. That's Louie with the pony.

"Sons of the Desert" landed a picture of Louie and his assistant, Charlie Webb, in the papers, showing them wearing the Laurel and Hardy papier mache masks worn by two of the ushers in the accompanying photo. The boys did their act on the streets as well as in the lobby.

The "West" front was on a second run of the picture. The poster of Mae is reported to be the largest of its kind ever used by a theatre in Texas (see photo).

Also to be noted are the rest of the accessories, the tables with red cloths and bottles, beer kegs, singing bartender, and West impersonator being some of the gags used to put this over big.

Charninsky's Western Front With Louie Himself by the Horse. Note "Round-Up" Singer Left

Above Shows Pumper in Lobby and Below Ushers With Masks, a Snappy Street Bally

Largest Texas "West" Poster

Strong Selling Marks Three McManus Campaigns

A typically well rounded campaign was executed by Round Tabler John J. McManus for "Cat and the Fiddle" at Loew's Midland, Kansas City, Mo. Complete coverage was secured in all local and neighborhood theatres and three different radio stations further advanced the cause with announcements with special broadcasting records used in advance from two different spots.

Over twenty prominent windows of various kinds were secured in advertising the stars and story from various angles, and six of the local ace orchestras plugged the song hits in hotels and over the air.

Good results were reported from what John called a "Cartoonland Revue" put on as a special Saturday morning show, in which seven cartoons of various kinds comprised the entire program. Cooperation on this was obtained from women's clubs, the P. T. A., Junior League and Girl Guides among others, and an attendance of over 2,000 at 9:30 in the morning attested to the thorough manner in which McManus sold the idea.

Fourteen co-operative ads featured the newspaper campaign on "Roman Scandals" with able assistance given by Cantor's radio sponsors, who bannered 12 trucks with theatre copy and also distributed window cards for display at all dealers.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Miller Uses New York Gags On "Fugitive Lovers"

Cashing in on the widely publicized campaign on the New York Capitol date on "Fugitive Lovers," Manager George A. Miller, Smalley Theatre, Hamilton, N. Y., adopted a number of the ideas put over on the big town date for his showing. Prominent among these was the series of teaser one-column ads and the "reward" posters which kicked up a lot of buzzing when first shown.

George says they worked well for him, proving that smart showmen who are not above using the other fellow's stuff, do not necessarily have to be original in seeking selling angles.

Exploitation Clicks On "Eskimo" Date

The picture made up in the Arctic is still getting a strong play from showmen in various spots, and below are some of the standout ideas delivered by Round Tablers.

Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

Local critic was given screening a week in advance and ran his review before the opening, giving the picture five "A's," a top score. This was followed up with a ballyhoo truck, 83 feet long (see photo) which worked the downtown loop section two days in advance.

Special no-cost tieups were made with many of the companies mentioned in the press book, the Kohler Company, Hills Bros., Lipton Teas, Norge Refrigerator and others supplying window posters and heralds for all local branches. Flash advance lobbies, strong newspaper copy, and a host of sound routine stunts further sold the attraction.

The campaign was planned and executed by the theatre "Sales Cabinet" comprising Harold Kaplan, manager, L. O. Daniel, Jr.,

"Eskimo" Bally Trucks

assistant manager, J. E. Harris, ad manager, and Carlton Duffus, publicity manager.

Orpheum, Madison, Wis.

Manager Hugh Flannery working with M-G-M exploiteer, Morris Abrams, put on a number of snappy stunts, including hook-ups with 26 local and nearby Kruger stores in which heralds were placed in all outgoing bags and packages; this also put over with the A & P stores on a tieup with their coffee.

Fur stores went for big windows, and other cooperation was effected with many companies in the press book tieups. Book displays were also arranged, special lobby was installed, and local college paper also gave the date a front page plug, besides other newspaper publicity. Sounds as though these boys put on a pretty thorough campaign.

Loew's State, New Orleans, La.

Manager Rodney Toups put on a raft of angles, including the dog team bally described in a recent issue. Ace newspaper men were given rides in dog sled and broke stories about it, and pet penguins were exhibited in schools and windows with the "husky" pups.

A & P coffee tieup also made in all stores, and other advertisers also cooperated. Phone calls made to a select list of names, special stickers were given away, and an electrical front with special letters for title was featured in addition to newspaper campaign, extra posting, etc.

MANAGERS ANTICIPATE NEW HAVEN MEETING

Reservations Pouring In for Connecticut's Round Table Club "Get-Together"; $1.00 Is Charge for the Big Nite

Working like a band of beavers on a dam, the committee for the Eastern New England Managers' Round Table Club "Get-Together" is rapidly readying details for the gathering to be held next Saturday night, March 17.

The place: New Haven, at Gregson's Grill, in the rear of the Paramount Theatre. The time: Starting at midnight. The price: One ($1.00) Dollar, which includes buffet luncheon, plenty of beer, entertainment, in an atmosphere of conviviality and good fellowship. The party is to be stag and strictly male.

A big time is on tap, and an ace attendance looked for from every town within reaching distance of New Haven. Besides New Haven, Bridgeport and Hartford, theatremen in other Connecticut spots are making their reservations now, and representation is also coming from Springfield, Worcester, and other additional Massachusetts towns in the zone.

As the shindig will start after theatre-closing time, and will continue from then on, managers more than a step away from New Haven should arrange to come over. Parties are now being made up to travel by train or auto, and the committee suggests that this be done wherever possible.

To expedite matters, it is asked that those who intend being on hand send in their reservations now to Walter Lloyd, Chairman of Reservations, Paramount Theatre, New Haven. For this purpose the blank below is supplied. So fill it in right now and get it into the mails.

The "Get-Together" is not confined to members only. All theatremen are invited, including assistant managers and others of the house staff. Guests may also be brought along, and those who want to make up a party may do so.

For any further information, and for those who prefer making reservations through their local committees, these gentlemen are as follows: From Bridgeport, Chairman Morris Rosenthal and Edgar Lynch; from New Haven, Walter Lloyd, Jack Sansom and Ben Cohen; from Hartford, George Landers, Lou Schaefer, Charlie Brennan and Jimmie Weist.

This committee of well known showmen are sitting up nights to make the party—the first Club gathering in New Haven—an event to be remembered. What will guarantee this is a capacity attendance, so every theatreman thereabouts is requested to get behind these boys and make it a success.

Get a party together or come alone. You'll have the time of your life either way. Fill in the blank now.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Entry at Dog Show Aids Mayer's Rialto Date

"Dark Hazard" being the story of a racing dog of that name, Arthur L. Mayer, managing director Rialto, New York, arranged with Spratt's Dog Foods to enter a canine of the same species and with the same name in the Westminster Dog Show, which took place in New York the week before the picture opened.

Through a tie-up with the above sponsors, who underwrote the entry fee for Mayer's champion, an attractive exhibit was set up at the show (see photo) which plugged the date and also Dark Hazard himself.

Mayer's Dog Food Tieup

WALTER LLOYD, Chairman of Reservations,
Paramount Theatre, New Haven, Conn.

Enclosed find $..... for ..... reservations ($1.00 per head) to the Managers' Round Table Club "Get-Together" to be held at Gregson's Grill in New Haven, on Saturday, March 17, starting at midnight.

NAME .....

THEATRE .....

CITY and STATE .....

Warner-ites Step Out On "Fashions of 1934"

From three widely separated points, Albany and Milwaukee and San Antonio come good campaigns on "Fashions of 1934" as put on by those hustling Warner-ites, Charley Smakwitz and Dave "Skip" Weshner, and also that hustling showman, Bob Hicks. Read about them.

Warner, Milwaukee, Wis.

Manager Weshner tied in with one of the leading stores and landed a flock of windows in which were displayed many of the original costumes used in the picture, and the store went for the idea further with plenty of space in the papers with the title as a tag line. A week ahead, the newest styles were exhibited in the theatre lobby, lighted from overhead by indirect lights, the tops being arranged so that copy could be carried above the gowns.

A designing contest was also put on in which cash prizes were awarded for the best original styles submitted, and on the opening night, the store sent over a squad of models who showed off the new gowns in the foyer.

Empire, San Antonio, Tex.

Featured in Bob Hicks' campaign at the Empire was a lobby display that had a lot of the locals looking. One entire side of the foyer was covered with a black oilcloth background (see photo) and against this were placed natural color enlargements from the picture. Around the entire outer edge was placed a four-inch strip of opaque glass illuminated from behind with red neon tubes. The title was in white cutout letters well spotted against the black backing.

Hicks' Illuminated Display

Strand, Albany, N. Y.

Exploiteer Smakwitz stuck a "Follies" into the title, so it went to bat as "Follies and Fashions of 1934," and this was carried out in snipes, window strips, tack cards, heralds and newspaper ads, and in a special co-op page that tied in a number of radio dealers.

The opening went Hollywood, and to put it over stronger, a Warner cameraman was sent up from New York to cover the premier. This was good for a two-column shot and story in the local papers, and the opening itself also produced a number of other breaks that helped in the build up.

The campaigns above described cover thoroughly a number of effective slants in selling this picture. Especially commendable were Weshner's lobby fashion show, Hicks' illuminated lobby display, and Smakwitz's Hollywood opening, all of which clicked.

BETTER THEATRES

This is the time of year when you are getting your air conditioning equipment ready for the warm months. Or are you just contemplating the installation of cooling apparatus? In either case, you will want to read—and study—what J. T. Knight, Jr., has to say in Better Theatres, published as Section 2 of this issue of the Herald.

This issue also brings another installment in the series on advertising layout, which of course you are following closely. This time type itself is discussed.

And if you are figuring on remodeling of any kind, either immediately or a bit later, you will find many an idea to help you in the material presented by Robert Boller, who has designed well over 100 American theatres.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Lloyd Clips from Ads To Make Up Displays

With conditions as they are, ingenious showmen are discovering many ways to keep up their advertising standards though deprived of the services of artists and layout men.

Manager Walter Lloyd, Paramount, New Haven, Conn., has perfected a method which, while used extensively in other lines of business, is now coming into favor in the advertising of motion picture houses. This member secures newspaper ads from various sections of the country and carefully clips all copy and art work that he fancies. These are carefully filed and used as the occasion demands.

Below is a reproduction of one of Lloyd's two-column ads, in which the greatest part of the copy and art were taken from other theatre displays. Walter, of course, makes up his own layout and manages to put out stuff that otherwise would be too expensive for him to undertake.

A number of other showmen in similar situations are adopting this money-saving device, further substantiating our oft-repeated statement that showmanship is not a matter of location.

Lloyd's "Clip" Ad

Irv Is "Convention-Conscious" On "Convention City"

In planning his campaign on "Convention City," Manager Irving Blumberg, Stanton, Philadelphia, made an especial appeal to "convention-conscious" salesmen, sales managers, members of fraternal orders, etc., and as his opening gun held a special preview a week ahead for over 800 sales managers and their guests. The invitation to the preview was very cleverly gotten up, in which the picture was gagged up as a grand laugh for anyone who had ever attended a get-together of this kind, the response being immediate and enthusiastic.

As a result, Irv received permission to plant hand-lettered cards in the leading rooms of every local fraternal organization, in many cases a "first time" for an ad of this nature. This was followed up with a strong plug at a lumbermen's convention held locally, in which the secretary gave a short talk on the picture and urged the members to see it.

The Stanley-Warner special train and Pullman car was used in advance and during the run. This train (see photo) is specially constructed over a chassis to conform to the appearance of the locomotive, the trailer having the appearance of a Pullman car. Cutout heads from the 24 were placed in the windows with banners attached to each side and other ads carried front and rear.

Blumberg's Pullman Bally

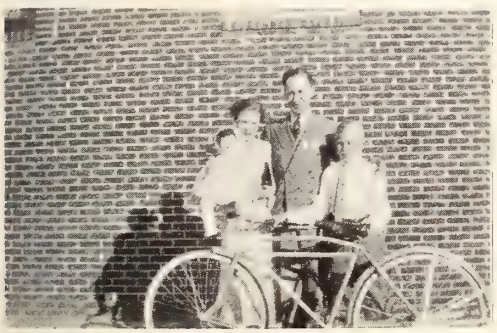
From a baliopticon machine on the marquee slides were flashed on a special screen constructed opposite the theatre on a Pennsylvania Railroad wall, a smart idea which has previously been described in these columns. A Postal telegraph tieup netted jumbo wires in all local offices and a series of actual telegrams from the stars were displayed on a special board, which slant kept crowds continuously in front of this display.

Work for a Quigley Award!

"Scandals" Gag Contest

Manager M. Abelson, World, Omaha, Neb., sold the Bee-News on a contest for "Roman Scandals" in which readers were invited to send in gags and dialogue to fit the six scene cuts run by the paper two a day, starting three days in advance of the showing.



Plenty of space was devoted to the stunt with cuts and copy prominently spotted at the head of the amusement page during the contest, for which cash prizes and tickets were given. Entrants were required to clip the pictures daily and to send them in at one time with their answers for the prizes.

Akin's Club Contest Good For Turnaway Business

From down in Dallas, where they grow those fast-stepping showmen, comes a report from Manager Wally Akin, of the Arcadia Theatre, which details the progress of a popularity voting contest put on with his Arcadia Buddy Club, a Saturday children show idea.

Each member was given a numbered club button and every week 50 of these buttons with duplicate numbers were distributed with free admission allowed to the boys and girls finding a buddy wearing a corresponding number, the purpose behind this being to place an extra value on the buttons.

Then Wally contacted six local manufacturers who were allowed to participate in the contest at a given price which included all advertising and votes with prizes such as bicycles, dolls, etc., given at the end of 12 weeks to the children turning in the greatest number of votes. The accompanying shot shows Wally with boy and girl winners. Prizes were given for empty cartons, milk bottle caps, flour and coffee sacks, etc., carrying the brands of the participating manufacturers. Retailers handling these brands were also brought in, who distributed votes in the same manner.

Wally with the Winners

A used car dealer gave votes with every sale and a similar arrangement was made with a prominent radio store. A local dairy gave votes to the boy or girl bringing in a new route customer, and one of the local papers carried a coupon for a number of days which when brought to the theatre was also good for a number of votes.

Plenty of newspaper publicity was obtained, heralds distributed and all participating merchants displayed tieup window cards and also came in on co-op ads during the contest. No screen advertising was run in exchange, but large displays were placed in the lobby with the names of all sponsors and amount of votes each of their products was good for.

Wally reports that extra help was needed after the second week to count the votes and after the fourth week every Saturday show was a turnaway.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Caldwell Works Various Slants on Attractions

Availing himself of many of the elaborate accessories used in the local road show engagement, Manager Wally Caldwell, Loew's Valentine, Toledo, utilized them to obtain effective displays in many prominent windows and to embellish his lobby displays on "Queen Christina." One of these, a seven-foot electric sign with cutout title letters on beaverboard, was mounted on a facade on the second floor of the theatre building, one of the town's traffic centers.

Featuring the many radio tieups was the distribution of over 2,000 tinted pictures of the star, the cost of which was undertaken by the sponsor of the hour whose announcements included picture and theatre mention.

The motion picture committee of the Associated Women's Clubs endorsed the showing at a regular monthly meeting with a story on the picture read by the president before the members. Similar action was also taken by the local P. T. A. An ingenious idea was worked out by the placing of an electric title sign directly beneath the screen a week in advance, which was worked on dimmers and brought up during the showing of the trailer.

Wally sold the theme of "Moulin Rouge" more strongly locally by prefixing "Lovers of" to the title, and also promoted a number of fashion ads in windows to sell the clothes angle. This was followed up with a series of explicit radio announcements which outlined the plot and emphasized the part played by the leads in the picture.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Aninsman's Throwaway Teaser Novel Ad

A snappy throwaway on "Duck Soup" was cleverly presented by Manager Marty Aninsman, Lindley, Philadelphia, which he states can be used on any other of the Marx pictures and other attractions as well.

On one side, the herald is titled "30 Years Ago," with the rest of the copy set down in this manner:

*F*ord was not famous
*O*nly men smoke
U didn't worry about the price of gas
*R*iding bicycles was a fad. . . .
etc., etc., and etc.

This copy continued with the first letters of each line perpendicularly spelling out "Four Marx Brothers," as illustrated, the tiein line at the bottom reading, "But you coudn't have seen a picture like 'Duck Soup,' etc., etc." The throwaway was enclosed in an envelope, on which was imprinted "30 Years Ago" with no other tieup copy, and as a teaser was very helpful in building up interest in the picture, so Marty reports.

"Wonder Bar" Pressbook Contains Many Ticket-Sellers

That's a very swanky press book that Charlie Einfeld's department put out for Warner Brothers' "Wonder Bar" with pages on pages of advertising, exploitation and publicity. In fact, those Warner-ites report 328 ideas that should satisfy the demands of the most particular showman.

Many national tieups have been arranged involving various types of merchandise and outlines of the campaigns on the New York and Miami openings are also detailed. A 10-day newspaper fictionization is also carried, a radio sketch and Sunday feature story are included, and among the accessories that should find favor is a four-page roto tabloid. Over fifty display ads are carried in the special advertising section and publicity stories on the various stars are given a different angle with special copy heads.

Work for a Quigley Award!

"Convention-eer" Harry

Manager Harry Black, Rialto, Glens Falls, N. Y., concentrated on road signs to sell "Convention City" by tacking cards reading, "Welcome to Convention City"

Black's "Convention" Placards

(see photo) on every possible spot on the right side of every highway leading into the city. This helped to spread the belief that there was a convention in Glens Falls, many inquiries being made at the local newspaper offices and the Chamber of Commerce.

ROUND TABLE BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Sam Abrams
Antonio Balducci
A. B. Binnard
Harold Blumenthal
A. C. Bray
Charlie Brennan
Fahnley Bridges
Pierre Boulogne
H. Cavanagh
C. W. Curtis
David Dallas
Joseph Dondis
Glen Downing
J. M. Ensor
S. C. Feder
George Fishman
Stanley Foreman
George Foster
Emanuel Friedman
Charles B. Hann
H. B. Harris
Sim E. Heller
S. H. Horowitz
E. A. Hussong
C. L. Hyde
W. E. Keating
R. T. Kemper
Phil Kielpinsky
R. A. Kinery
T. K. Kraft
Karl Kruger
J. T. Lackey
G. W. Lake
Julius Lamm
R. L. Lippert
O. E. Lockrem
J. H. Luter
J. G. McGee
Sam Mandelbaum
G. A. Miller
Fred Montgomery
Lloyd Murphy
Bob Murray
E. P. Nelson
R. H. Oulette
Roy Patience
Fred Perry
B. L. Prince
C. C. Reed
C. J. Rindcen
N. C. Rolfe
N. H. Salyer
H. A. Salisbury
E. Samphyra
J. P. Schnitzer
I. J. Segall
Sidney Seckler
Dave Schiller
C. H. Simpson
D. R. Stevenson
Henry Spiegel
H. A. Steibing
J. E. Stribling
N. L. Tower
E. W. Thomas
E. R. Toerpe
Al Unger
Lou Wasserman
S. D. Weinberg
A. G. Wertin
F. A. Williams
Billy Wolfson
Leonard Workman
Jack Wright
Al Zimbalist

SOME OVERSEAS SHOWMANSHIP

"Cavalcade" Ad at Carnera Fight

(Left) VITTORIO MALPASUTTI, Motion Picture Herald Rome correspondent, sends this along as an example of the exploitation put over in Rome on the premiere showing there of "Cavalcade." The crowd of many thousands gathered to see Carnera fight Paolina could not miss the theatre banners.

(Right) GEORGE ERNO ELLIS, manager of the Playhouse, Edinburgh, Scotland, used the entire front of his house to plug "Sign of the Cross." For a street bally, this Scottish member went for the chariot gag and also put on some other effective stunts that brought the crowds.

Ellis' Front on "Cross"

▽ ▽ ▽

Barcelona "Girl" Window

(Left) RENE HUET, Warner chief for Spain, worked a number of gags for the Urquinaona Theatre, Barcelona, this being one of the crowd-gathering stunts on "42nd Street." Girl behind the screen danced to the music of the hit songs played by victrola attached to loud speakers.

(Right) AL DEANE, Paramount International, reports plenty of activity in Tokyo, where the Matsuzaka-ya department store gives lots of space to tieups on Paramount pictures. The picture shows a gallery display at the store of scenes from "Farewell to Arms" and "Song of Songs."

Tokyo Picture Gallery

▽ ▽ ▽

A Front from Germany

(Left) RICHARD BAUCKE, JR., a new member from Klotze, Germany, forwards a picture of the front of his house. Baucke comes of an old theatre family having been in the business for nearly thirty years. Note the stills filling the three front windows, including the "filling station."

(Right) TIVOLI THEATRE, London, used this bally on "Broadway Thru a Keyhole" which did nicely for the date. It was part of the campaign put on by the U. A. London office. Equipped with loud speaker and recording apparatus, the car toured the city and managed to do a nice job.

London Goes Loud Speaker

▽ ▽ ▽

Laughton and Mickey Mouse

(Left) CHARLES LAUGHTON meets Mickey Mouse at a luncheon in honor of a group of French picture critics who were flown to London after the Paris premiere of "Henry VIII." To his right is Mrs. Laughton, and to his left is Flora Robson, prominently spotted in "Catherine".

(Right) PIERRE AUTRE, MOTION PICTURE HERALD Paris correspondent, forwards this flash front at the Marivaux Cinema, Paris, on "King Kong." Photo shows the facade of the theatre and the posters on the walls, many of the latter used on the principal boulevards.

"King Kong" in Paris

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22,'34	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73	Feb. 17,'34
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5,'34	65
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25,'34	62

Coming Feature Attractions

Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15,'34
Together Again	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67	Jan. 20,'34
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63	Jan. 20,'34
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23,'34	105	Mar. 3,'34
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall In Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26	64	Jan. 13,'34
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31,'34	69
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65	Mar. 3,'34
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10,'34	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5,'34	62
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60	Jan. 27,'34
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Don't Fail In Love	Grace Moore
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17,'34
Highway Patrol	Tim McCoy-Lillian Bond
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes	76	Feb. 10,'34
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17,'34
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar. 24,'34
Most Precious Thing in Life	Karen Morley-Richard Cromwell
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston	70
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar. 31,'34
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	84	Oct. 21
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore-Carole Lombard
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15	62
Fantomas	Jean Gallard	Feb. 15,'34	59
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15,'34	60
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5,'34	65

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Collette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1,'34	84. May 27,'33
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15,'34	58. Feb. 24,'34

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64. Feb. 17,'34
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34	72	Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34	78. Jan. 13,'34
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10,'34	65
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34	65. Feb. 24,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69. Jan. 27,'34
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	Frankie Darro-Dorothy Coonan	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Apr. 28,'34
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 7,'34
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
Sawdust	Joe E. Brown
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)
Woman in Her Thirties, A	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis	84. Feb. 17,'34

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34	95. Feb. 3,'34
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9,'34	80. Jan. 27,'34
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34	80. Mar. 3,'34
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16,'34	60. Feb. 17,'34
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34	72
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66. Feb. 10,'34
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34	65
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85. Jan. 27,'34
I Believed in You	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34	65. Feb. 17,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy-Claire Trevor	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Jan. 26,'34	69
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 27,'34
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles	Apr. 13,'34	85
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23,'34
Follies, The	(All Star Musical)	Mar. 30,'34
Free Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Preston Foster (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)	Apr. 6,'34
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer		95. Aug. 12
"Scandals"	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Mar. 16,'34
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)	Mar. 23,'34
Too Many Women	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 18,'34
World Is Ours, The	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27,'34	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang		69
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15,'34	85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Hensen		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		88
Love In Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67. Oct. 15,'32
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72¼	Sept. 9
Mademoiselle Zaza (Reviewed under the title, "Aunt Sally.")	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82. Mar. 3,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec.	1 77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Mar.	15,'34 88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec.	1 79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct.	1 81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
No Ransom	Phillips Holmes-Leila Hyams
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct.	1 74	Feb. 17,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan.	1,'34 63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec.	13 65	Dec. 30
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug.	1 73	Aug. 19
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov.	24 74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier		67

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept.	1 68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct.	20 70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec.	1 70

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor		Apr.	1,'34

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept.	1 87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct.	13 98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie	Sept.	15 89	Sept. 8
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb.	16,'34 78	Feb. 24,'34
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov.	3 66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov.	24 94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct.	27 70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan.	12,'34 113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan.	19,'34 117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan.	5,'34 78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec.	22 79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov.	17 87	Nov. 18
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct.	20 65	Nov. 4
Mystery of Mr. X	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb.	23,'34 85	Mar. 3,'34
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct.	6 91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept.	8 91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov.	10 102	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert	Feb.	9,'34 103	Dec. 30
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec.	1 78	Nov. 11
Show-off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar.	9,'34 80	Mar. 3,'34
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept.	22 65	Sept. 10
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec.	29 68	Jan. 20,'34
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept.	29 87	Sept. 16
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb.	2,'34 76	Jan. 27,'34
Women In His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec.	8 76	Feb. 3,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan.	26,'34 85	Feb. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr.	20,'34
Lazy River (See "Louisiana," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar.	16,'34 75
Men In White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy		75	Feb. 17,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar.	23,'34
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone
Star Spangled Banquet	(All Star Musical)	Apr.	13,'34
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Mar.	30,'34
Viva Villa! (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Apr.	6,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug.	10 79	Oct. 7
Beggars In Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb.	22,'34 72	Feb. 24,'34
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct.	20 68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug.	20 68	Aug. 12
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug.	5 54
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec.	15 63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan.	22,'34 56	Jan. 27,'34
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug.	15 56
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct.	10 58	Jan. 27,'34
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec.	15 58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug.	30 70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan.	1,'34 57	Feb. 10,'34
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	15 65
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	1 76	Oct. 14
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb.	15,'34 55	Jan. 20,'34
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb.	7,'34 64	Jan. 27,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Steel	John Wayne
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane	Apr.	15,'34
Derby Day
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	Mar.	30,'34
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	Apr.	30,'34
Money Means Everything
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar.	15,'34
Numbers of Monte Carlo
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec.	22 75	Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan.	19,'34 71	Jan. 13,'34
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb.	23,'34 80	Feb. 17,'34
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov.	17 77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec.	29 88	Nov. 25
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov.	17 80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan.	5,'34 78	Dec. 30
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan.	26,'34 95	Feb. 3,'34
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell	Dec.	8 75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept.	22 70	Sept. 23
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb.	16,'34 72	Feb. 10,'34
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct.	27 70	Oct. 21
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan.	12,'34 68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct.	6 87	Oct. 7
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan.	26,'34 65	Jan. 6,'34
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec.	1 68	Nov. 25
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan.	12,'34 68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb.	23,'34 72	Feb. 17,'34
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept.	1 85	Aug. 26
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb.	2,'34 75	Jan. 20,'34
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar.	9,'34 78	Feb. 24,'34
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov.	24 80	Dec. 2
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb.	9,'34 65	Jan. 27,'34
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight "Buddy" Rogers	Oct.	27 82	Nov. 4
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov.	24 58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct.	13 57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept.	15 70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept.	29 75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept.	8 72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct.	20 84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov.	3 73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert - Harry Wilcoxin-Warren William
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar.	23,'34 68
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar.	30,'34 78	Jan. 20,'34
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West-George Raft
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell
Melody In Spring (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Mar.	30,'34
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson-Victor McLaglen	Apr.	20,'34
Scarlet Empress, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft-Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr.	13,'34
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Ethel Merman - Carole Lombard - Leon Errol	Apr.	27,'34
Wharf Angel (See "Man Who Broke His Heart," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar.	16,'34
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr.	6,'34

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan	Feb.	2,'34 55
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec.	4 58
Russia Today		Nov.	8 42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug.	11 61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov.	15 70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Desperate Trails	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct.	20 74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov.	10 71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov.	3 73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct.	13 72	Sept. 30
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct.	27 70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept.	15 68	Aug. 19
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept.	29 53
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec.	29 80	Dec. 1
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov.	10 67½
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb.	2,'34 68	Jan. 27,'34
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec.	1 66	Dec. 23
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar.	2,'34 72	Feb. 10,'34
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov.	24 107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan.	19,'34 63	Feb. 24,'34
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb.	16,'34 75	Feb. 3,'34
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb.	9,'34 92	Jan. 20,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - "Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12,'34	62
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26,'34	74	Jan. 20,'34
Coming Feature Attractions
Alien Corn	Ann Harding	May 25,'34
Crime Doctor (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27,'34
Dover Road	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May 11,'34
Finishing School (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	Apr. 27,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea
I Love an Actress	Gregory Ratoff
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June 1,'34
Sing and Like It	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 20,'34
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar. 30,'34	84	Feb. 24,'34
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May 18,'34
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante - Lupe Velez - Norman Foster-Wm. Gargan-Marian Nixon	May 4,'34
Success at Any Price	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar. 16,'34	77
This Man Is Mine	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr. 13,'34
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Apr. 6,'34

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15,'34	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62	Feb. 10,'34
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16
Coming Feature Attractions
Golden Head
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Mar. 15,'34
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood	Dec. 15	69	Feb. 17,'34
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods.	Jan. 15,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3,'34
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts.	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts.	Jan. 12,'34	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10,'34	56	Feb. 24,'34
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts.	Jan. 27,'34	70	Feb. 10,'34
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts.		55	Jan. 20,'34
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts.	July 19	70	July 29
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas		70	Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9,'34	80	Feb. 3,'34
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2,'34	85	Jan. 13,'34
Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Feb. 16,'34	83	Jan. 27,'34
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9
Coming Feature Attractions
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr. 13,'34	91	Feb. 10,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March - Constance Bennett-Fay Wray	Apr. 6,'34
House of Rothschild, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)	George Arliss		86
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Apr. 20,'34	99	Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	82	Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34	68	Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34	78
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34	77	Jan. 27,'34
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34	68
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12,'34
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8,'34	70	Jan. 6,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29,'34	80
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale -Donna Damerell-Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60	Feb. 24,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19,'34	64
Coming Feature Attractions
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas	Mar. 19,'34	70	Mar. 3,'34
Doomed to Die	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea
Elizabeth and Mary	Margaret Sullavan-Lowell Sherman - Mrs. Leslie Carter
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr. 9,'34
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard	Apr. 16,'34
Humbug, The	Nils Asther
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr. 16,'34
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 26,'34
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	May 7,'34
Uncertain Lady	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton

WARNER BROS.

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13,'34	61	Jan. 20,'34
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar. 3,'34	63
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24,'34	68	Feb. 10,'34
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	76	Dec. 2
Coming Feature Attractions
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr. 14,'34	73	Feb. 10,'34
Dames	Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Friends of Mr. Sweeney	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar. 31,'34
Happy Family	Aline MacMahon
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr. 7,'34	65	Feb. 24,'34
Hit Me Again	Joan Blondell-Warren William
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar. 17,'34
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
One Man Woman	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor-Ginger Rogers	Apr. 28,'34
Without Honor	James Cagney-Joan Blondell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Features
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman - Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Ralmu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril McLaglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr - Sammy Friedmann	Scandinavian Talking Picts	Jan 1,'34	148
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 26
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzautl	Integrity Film	Feb. 8,'34	90	Feb. 17,'34
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6,'34	92	Feb. 24,'34
Volga Volga	H. A. Shiletton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours. Hans Lange and Orchestra		9
2—Ave Maria. Dion Kennedy at the Organ		7
3—Waters of Minnetonka. Gus Haenschen and Orchestra		6
4—Hula Moon. Native Hawaiian Troupe		7
5—Waltz In A Flat Major. Hans Lange and Orchestra		4

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Banker Buckeroos. Sidney and Murray		2 rls.
Elmer Steps Out. Walter Catlett		2 rls.
Hold Your Temper. Smith and Dale	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Hot Daze. Smith and Dale	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Radio-dough. Sidney and Murray	Feb. 5,'34
Ten Baby Fingers. Sidney and Murray	Jan. 15,'34
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	7
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Southern Exposure		1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Tom Thumb		1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAMB'S GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses. Art Jarrett	Nov. 16	2 rls.
No. 2—Um-Pa. Jack Osterman	Nov. 24	2 rls.
No. 3—School for Romance. Lou Holtz	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
No. 4—Love Detectives. Frank Albertson	Feb. 28,'34	2 rls.
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse		1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million? Ken Murray	Sept. 13	17
Entertainer, The. Will Mahoney	Oct. 4	20
WORLD OF SPORT
It's Sport in Any Language		1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9
Winter Thrills		1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1,'34	26
Dawn to Dawn. Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness	Dec. 25	35
Lot in Sodom. Frederic Haak	Dec. 25	26
No Woman's Land. (Travelogue)	Apr. 15,'34	34

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17	20
Hello, Prosperity	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13	2 rls.
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16,'34	1 rl.
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3	2 rls.
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8	19
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34	2rls.
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6	2 rls.
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
What's To Do	Nov. 24	17
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8	2 rls.
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	20
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27	2 rls.
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15	24
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby. Helen Morgan	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Slow Poke. Stepin Fetchit	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Trav'lling the Road. Alexander Gray	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16,'34
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17	2 rls.
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8	1 rl.
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30	2 rls.
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11	2 rls.
Statie	Sept. 29	20
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15	16
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22	16
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9,'34

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family In America		1 rl.
2. A Visit to West Point		1 rl.
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		1 rl.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills. Radio Rubes		6
Sally. Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance. Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams. Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again. Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes. Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy. Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival. Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour. Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits. Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8
Melodies of Love. Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range. Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody in Black. Gary-Rawlinson-White		1 rl.
Wine, Woman and Song. Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		1 rl.
Eili Eili. Charles Carlile-Lew White		1 rl.
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt. Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer. Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard		2 rls.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17,'34	19
Next Week-End	Apr. 7,'34	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	19
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Four Parts	Mar. 31,'34	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call		9
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	9
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Feb. 17,'34	9
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
Perils of Arsenic Annie		1 rl.
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13,'34	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Jail Birds In Paradise	Feb. 24,'34	2 rls.
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody In Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	17
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Roping Wild Bears	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
Trick Golf	Mar. 3,'34	8
Vital Victuals	Feb. 10,'34	10
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10,'34	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
Hi, Neighbor	Dec. 16	18
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31,'34	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker (Cinecolor)	Dec. 9	7
Hell's Fire	Jan. 6,'34	7
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Robin Hood	Feb. 3,'34	8
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1	1 rl.
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1,'34	1 rl.
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1,'34	1 rl.
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1,'34	1 rl.
6. Jungle Bound	May 1,'34	1 rl.
7. The Last Resort	June 1,'34	1 rl.
8. Mother Ganges	July 1,'34	1 rl.
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1,'34	1 rl.
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1,'34	1 rl.
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1,'34	1 rl.
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1,'34	1 rl.
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1,'34	1 rl.

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
I Heard. Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night. Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	7
HEADLINERS
Broadway Knight. Yacht Club Boys	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Bundle of Blues, A. Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10
Little Broadcast, The. Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell	Oct. 27	11
Radio Roundup, A. Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters	Nov. 24	11
Rumba Rhythm. Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	10
Where's That Tiger? Borrah Minnevitch	Dec. 22	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	11
No. 8	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
No. 10	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	11
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
No. 8—	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
Can You Take It	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	6
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	6
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
I Like Mountain Music. Eton Boys	Nov. 10	10
Keeps Rainin' All the Time. Gertrude Niesen	Jan. 12,'34	10
Lazy Bones. Borrah Minnevitch	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	8
Sing, Babies, Sing. Baby Rose Marie	Dec. 15	9
Tune Up and Sing. Lanny Ross	Mar 9,'34	1 rl.
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba. Mills Bros.	Sept. 16	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 8	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	11
No. 8—Horse Power	Feb. 16,'34	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23,'34	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo Harry Langdon	Feb. 16,'34	21
Cold Turkey Joseph Cawthorn	Dec. 1	19
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19
Gold Nuggets Walter Catlett	Feb. 2,'34	18
Just an Echo Bing Crosby	Jan. 19,'34	20
New Dealers, The Pallette-Catlett	Apr. 6,'34	2 rls.
No More Bridge Leon Errol	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The Chic Sale	Jan. 5,'34	20
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21
Please Bing Crosby	Dec. 15	22
Roaming Romeo, A Harry Langdon	Dec. 29	21
Sailors, Beware Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18
Three Little Swigs Leon Errol	Nov. 10	21
Up and Down Franklin Pangborn	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34	7
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20	9
Polynesian Follies		27
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9,'34	21
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissue)
The Count	Nov. 17	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19,'34	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2,'34	21
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	7
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl.
Good Knight	Feb. 23,'34	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	18
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over Ethel Waters	Jan. 5,'34	20
Henry the Ape Bert Lahr	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
Hizzoner Bert Lahr	Nov. 17	21½
Knife of the Party Lillian Miles	Feb. 16,'34	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy Cliff Edwards	Dec. 8	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
Torch Tango	Feb. 23,'34	21

Title	Rel Date	Min.
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Elv Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29	21
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
Marching Along	Oct. 27	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8	10½
Cuba	Nov. 10	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean
Holy Land	Feb. 16,'34	10
Madeira, Land of Wine
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		18
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAPITAL
Dance Parade		17
CELEBRITY
Jack and the Beanstalk		6
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVINCIBLE
Snowman		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34	7
3. Playful Pluto	Mar. 1,'34	7
4. Camping Out	Feb. 16,'34	7
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 15,'34	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	1 rl.
No. 4	Jan. 29,'34	9
No. 5	Mar. 5,'34	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 19,'34	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5,'34	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16,'34	1 rl.
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12,'34	1 rl.
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19,'34	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2,'34	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Peeping Tom Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17
Boswell Sisters, The Nick Kenny—No. 4	Dec. 6	21
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26,'34	1 rl.
No. 38—Novelty	Mar. 26,'34	1 rl.

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Born April First Sterling Holloway	Mar. 14,'34	2 rls.
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
Ceiling Whacks Henry Armetta	Mar. 28,'34	2 rls.
Full Coverage Henry Armetta	Feb. 28,'34	2 rls.
Meeting Mazie Sterling Holloway	Dec. 20	20
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda	Jan. 3,'34	18
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	20
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	21
Palsie Walsie Henry Armetta	Jan. 31,'34	20
Pie for Two James Gleason	Dec. 13	21
Stung Again Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A Vince Barnett	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21,'34	2 rls.
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Where's Elmer? Vince Barnett	Feb. 7,'34	20

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy Jack Haley	Sept. 16	21
No. 2—Close Relations Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Sept. 30	20
No. 3—Gobs of Fun George Givot-Charles Judels	Oct. 21	21
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy	Nov. 4	21
No. 5—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Nov. 25	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie Ben Blue	Dec. 9	18
No. 7—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	Dec. 30	21
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels	Jan. 13,'34	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands Ben Blue	Feb. 3,'34	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses Charles Judels	Feb. 17,'34	21
No. 11—Mushrooms Harry Gribbon	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
No. 12—Foiled Again Ben Blue	Mar. 24,'34	2 rls.
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34	2 rls.
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34	2 rls.
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34	2 rls.
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 1—Use Your Imagination Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair	Sept. 2	18
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President Ethel Waters	Sept. 9	20
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings Lita Grey Chaplin	Sept. 23	20
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. Gusy Shy-Janet Reade	Oct. 7	21
No. 5—Operator's Opera Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys	Oct. 14	21
No. 6—'Tis Spring Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins (Technicolor)	Oct. 28	19
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast Tom Patricola	Nov. 11	20
No. 8—The Mild West Janet Reade-Olive Borden	Nov. 18	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble Mitchell and Durante	Dec. 2	23
No. 10—Around the Clock Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys	Dec. 16	29
No. 11—Plane Crazy Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel	Dec. 23	22
No. 12—Kissing Time Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa	Dec. 16	22
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas Molly Picon	Jan. 20,'34	29
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)	Jan. 27,'34	21
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34	10
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure Dorothy Stone	Mar. 3,'34	2 rls.
No. 18—Silver Living Hal LeRoy	Mar. 17,'34	2 rls.
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office Jean Sargent	Mar. 31,'34	2 rls.
No. 20—Story Conference Lillian Roth	Apr. 7,'34	2 rls.
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21,'34	2 rls.
No. 22—Private Lessons Hal LeRoy	June 5,'34	22
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	8
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	May 12,'34	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34	1 rl.
No. 5—Buddy and Towser		1 rl.
No. 6—Buddy's Garage		1 rl.
MELODY MASTERS
No. 1—Hot from Petrograd Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 2—Barber Shop Blues Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 3—Rubinoff and Orchestra		10
No. 4—Eddie Duchin and Band		10
No. 5—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		10
No. 6—Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band		10
No. 8—Isham Jones	Mar. 17,'34	10
No. 9—Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34	10
No. 10—Vincent Lopez	May 12,'34	1 rl.
No. 11—Tin Hat Harmony Abe Lyman	May 12,'34	1 rl.
No. 12—B. A. Wolfe	July 7,'34	1 rl.
No. 13—D. Mendoza and Vitaphone Band	Aug. 4,'34	1 rl.
MERRY MELODIES
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—I've Got to Sing a Torch Song		7
No. 2—Sitting on a Back Yard Fence		1 rl.
No. 3—Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27,'34	1 rl.
No. 4—Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17,'34	7
No. 5—Beauty and the Beast		1 rl.
PEPPER POT
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Admission 5c		10
No. 3—Rock-a-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell		11
No. 4—Laughs in the Law		8
No. 5—Notre Dame Glee Club		8
No. 6—Harry Warren		10
No. 7—Easy Aces		10
No. 8—Little Miss Mischief		10
No. 9—Movie Memories		9
No. 10—The Tune Detective Sigmund Spaeth		9
No. 11—Mississippi Suite		9
No. 12—The Wrong Wrong Trail Block and Sully		10
No. 13—Song Hits, with Roy Turk		11
No. 14—Easy Aces, No. 2		1 rl.
No. 15—Pure Feud		1 rl.
No. 16—Radio Ramblers		1 rl.
No. 17—Lulu McConnell		1 rl.
No. 18—Good Old Days		1 rl.
No. 19—Radio Reels Jessel—Van		1 rl.
No. 20—Charles Ahearn		1 rl.
No. 21—Little Jack Little		1 rl.
No. 22—Radio Reel No. 2		1 rl.
No. 23—Dad Minds the Baby		1 rl.
No. 24—Bergen in at the Races		1 rl.
No. 25—The Stolen Melody Sigmund Spaeth		1 rl.
No. 26—Camera Speaks		1 rl.
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		10
No. 4—Italy, the Old and the New		11
No. 5—Cannibal Islands		1 rl.
No. 6—Spanish America		1 rl.
No. 7—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl.
No. 8—Picturesque Siam		1 rl.
No. 9—Slackers of the Jungle		1 rl.
No. 10—East Indies		1 rl.
No. 11—Central America		1 rl.
No. 12—Dark Africa		1 rl.
No. 13—South Sea Islands		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.

FIRST DIVISION

Young Eagles

MASCOT

Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6	20 (each)
Lost Jungle, The Clyde Beatty	Apr. 1,'34	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The Bob Steele	Dec. 23	20 (each)
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30

PRINCIPAL

Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Lost World		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	20 (each)

UNIVERSAL

Gordon of Ghost City Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Phantom of the Air Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22	20 (each)
Pirate Treasure Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince	Apr. 23,'34	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

ONE PAIR REFLECTOR ARCS, $150.00; 5 HORSE, single phase motor, $50.00. BOX 445, GLASGOW, KY.

BARGAIN: COMPLETE REBUILT SIMPLEX projectors and low intensity lamps. Also 75 to 150 ampere Hertner generator, good as new. JOE GOLDBERG, Inc., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

600 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS CHEAP. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

PATRONIZE MONARCH'S SPECIAL BARGAIN counter: Rebuilt projectors, generators, rectifiers, reflector arc lamps, Mazda lamphouses, screens, chairs, lenses, portables, amplifiers, sound heads. All theatre equipment. Satisfactory trades completed. Expert projector repairing and service. Established 25 years. Free list. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

BARGAINS! RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers, noiseless drives. Write for prices. SOUTHERN FAN COMPANY, Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

OUTSTANDING BARGAINS FOR CASH ON complete rebuilt portable 35 mm. sound-on-film projector outfits made by one of the most reliable manufacturers. BOX 375, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

COME TO HEADQUARTERS — SAVE ON Reflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

USED THEATRE CHAIRS, LOWEST PRICES, largest stock, all kinds, parts for all chairs. GENERAL SEATING CO., 2035 Charleston St., Chicago.

REAL BUYS! REBUILT SIMPLEX MECHANisms, $135.00, complete machine $175.00; Morelite de luxe rebuilt lamps, $125.00; Peerless, $175.00; Mazda lamps and transformers, $90 pair. Machine parts at lowest prices. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

YOUNG MAN, ASSISTANT MANAGER, DESIRES position. Will invest. BOX 367, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

UNION PROJECTIONIST EIGHTEEN YEARS' experience — 5 years' sound — married — references. GEORGE GODLEY, Pollock St., New Bern, N. C.

PROJECTIONIST — EMPLOYED AT PRESENT, desire change. Operate Western Electric. Go anywhere. BOX 376, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST, NON-UNION, STEADY OR RELIEF. BOX 377, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONISTS FURNISHED. H. S. I., P. O. Box 88, Station C, Los Angeles.

MANAGER OR SOUND OPERATOR, 15 YEARS' experience, married, reasonable salary. H. SWATEK, 260 Cedar, Highland Park, Ill.

NEW EQUIPMENT

TRADE WITH "OLD RELIABLE MONARCH." Established 25 years. Most complete stock theatre equipment, sound accessories, supplies. Money saving prices. Our central location assures snappy service. Catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

COMPLETE LINE OF BABY SPOTS, SPOTlights, floodlights, special stage scenic effects at attractive prices. C. NEWTON & CO., 253 West 14th St., New York.

PARTS FOR SIMPLEX, POWERS, 32% OFF—IF you didn't get our new catalog, write S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

HOW ABOUT CHANGING YOUR LAMP TO A.C. type? Transformers—rectifiers, $250.00 pair. A slight additional charge for necessary lamp changes. Write us details. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED PIPE ORGAN. NO AUTOMATICS. State particulars and price wanted in first letter. Cash. HODGSON ORGAN CO., 608 Duke St., Norfolk, Va

WANTED: USED SIMPLEX PROJECTORS FOR cash. State price wanted and serial number. BOX 378, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTION AND BOOTH EQUIPMENT, parts and accessories. Simplex mechanisms, arc lamps, rectifiers, generators, etc. Give full particulars. Spot cash. BOX 374, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PRINTING SERVICE

100 WINDOW CARDS, 14 x 22, 3 COLORS, $3.25 F.O.B. BERLIN PRINT, Berlin, Md.

NEARGRAVURE—250 2-COLOR LETTERHEADS, 250 envelopes, $2.99 prepaid. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Ind.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"YOUR AMPLIFIER IS THE BERRIES!" SAYS Abernathy, Royal Theatre, Fairview, Okla. You'll say the same when you install S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WIDE RANGE OPTICAL SYSTEMS — FIT ANY make soundhead. Lenses by Bausch & Lomb, 9,000 cycle frequency response, slit image, .0008 high. Specially priced, $19.75. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"MIEHLINGS SOUND PROJECTION" FORMERly $6.00, now $1.49. All fundamentals of sound, profusely illustrated, wiring blue prints, charts. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, MINIMUM POPULation 15,000, in the East or Middle West. BOX 370, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO LEASE THEATRE ANY SIZE in any of the western states. BOX 373, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WILL RENT 600-SEAT THEATRE WITH privilege to lease or buy. R. MUELLER, 1623 Bruce Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE BOOTH AND SOUND EQUIPMENT, New and rebuilt. Accessories and Supplies. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

BARGAINS — NEW AND USED EQUIPMENT supplies. Expert projector overhauling—What do you need? Ask us. MIDWEST THEATRE SUPPLY CO., 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

DRAPERY FABRICS, VELOURS, SATEENS, ETC. ASSOCIATED FABRICS, 723 Seventh Ave., New York.

GET WISE, QUIT PAYING TRIBUTE—S. O. S. Wide Fidelity guaranteed to equal any sound, $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; unified control amplifiers, $55.00 up, Trades taken. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THEATRES

WILL SELL FIVE-YEAR LEASE ON PAYING theatre for $1,000.00 cash. BOX 372, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

FOR SALE: THEATRE, BUILDING AND EQUIPment. If interested write: CITY THEATRE, Philadelphia, Miss.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN THEATRE POSTER PAINTING. NATIONAL ACADEMY OF LETTERING, Box 102, Aurora, Ill.

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

Used in 7 out of 8

American Pictures in

"1933's TEN BEST"

OF THE Ten Best Pictures of 1933 chosen in the Film Daily's poll, eight were American productions. Of those eight, seven were photographed on Eastman "Gray-Back." This is outstanding evidence of the acceptance enjoyed by Eastman Super-Sensitive Panchromatic Negative among cameramen and producers . . . and a signal tribute to the versatility and unfailingly high quality of the film itself. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive

Panchromatic Negative (Gray-Backed)

PARAMOUNT

72 PLAYERS ON THE ROSTER

22 DIRECTORS UNDER CONTRACT

58 WRITERS PREPARING MATERIAL

22 PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

MOTION PICTURE
HERALD

Better Theatres

WITH WHICH IS COMBINED "THE SHOWMAN"

MARCH 10, 1934

Remodeling

IDEAS FOR YOU IN AN UNUSUAL PROJECT

Theatre Cooling

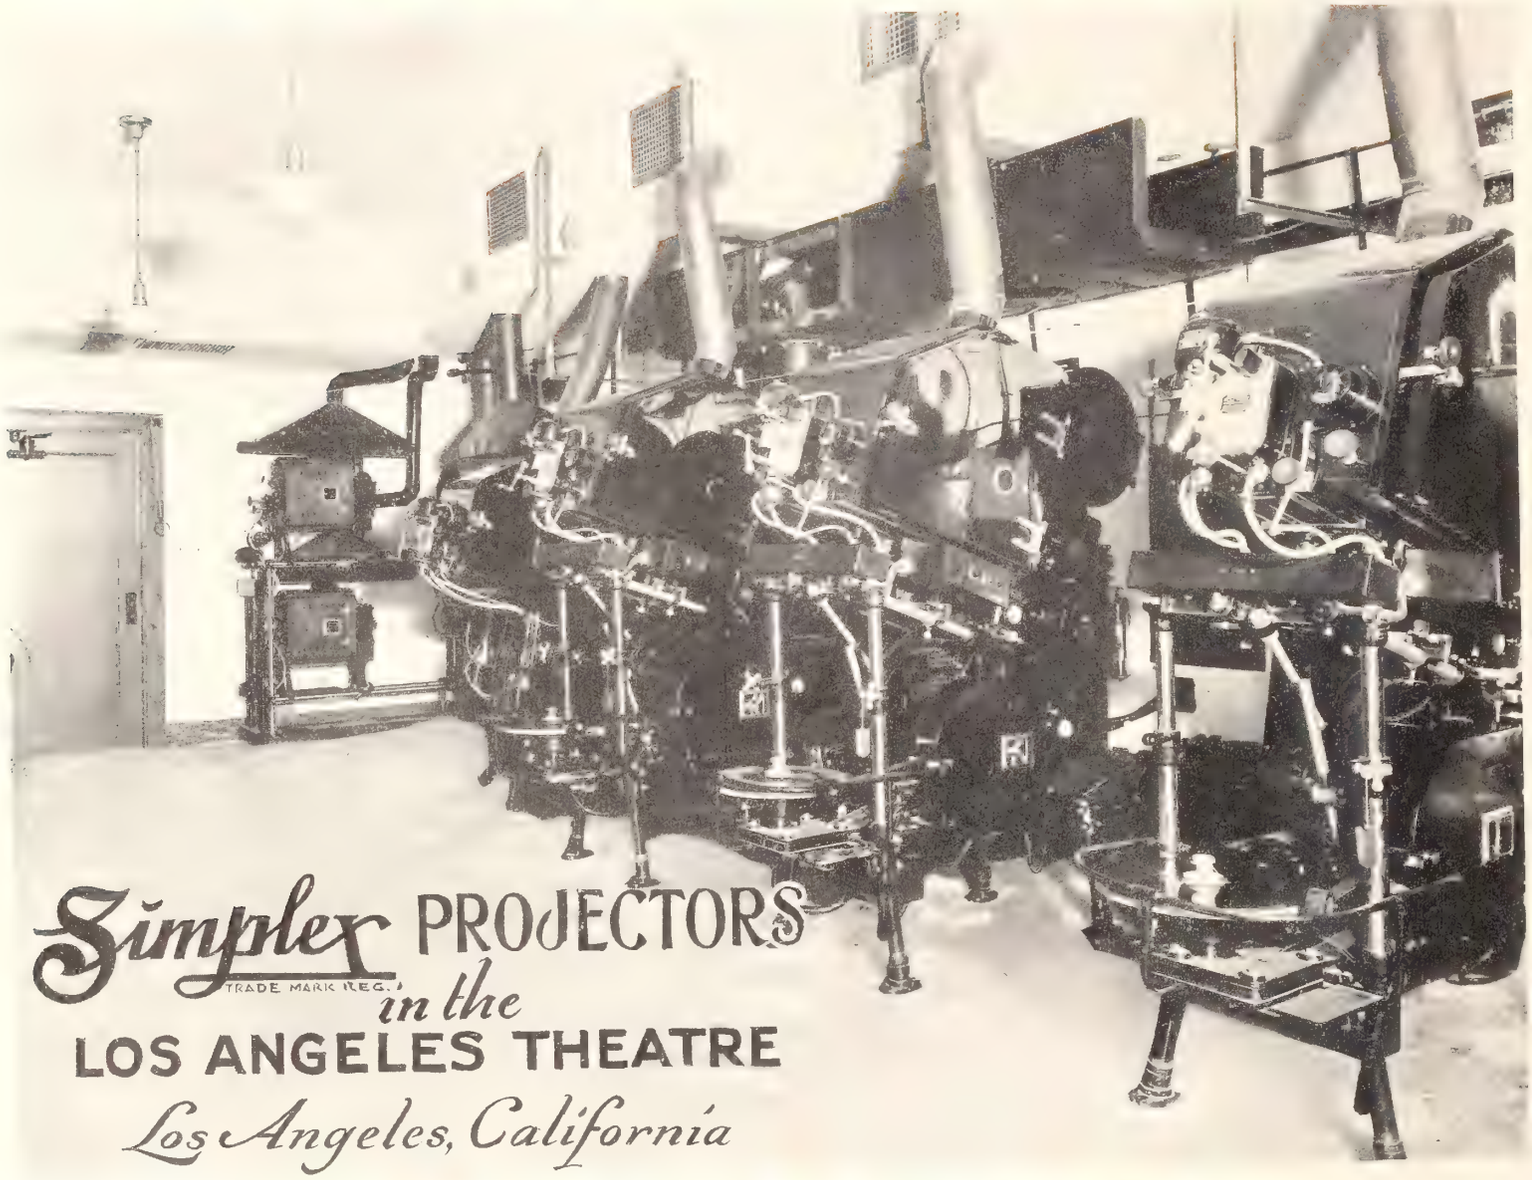
KNIGHT HELPS YOU GET READY FOR IT

Advertising

BEGINNING THE CONSIDERATION OF TYPE

NEXT ISSUE OF BETTER THEATRES: SPRING BUYERS NUMBER

In 2 Sections—Section 2



AROUND THE WORLD

WITH

Simplex

TRADE MARK REG'D.

THE INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR

Simplex PROJECTORS

TRADE MARK REG.

in the

LOS ANGELES THEATRE

Los Angeles, California

Super Simplex

MECHANISM

REDUCED from $825 to $700

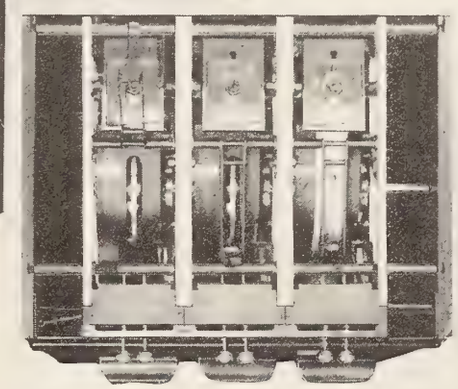
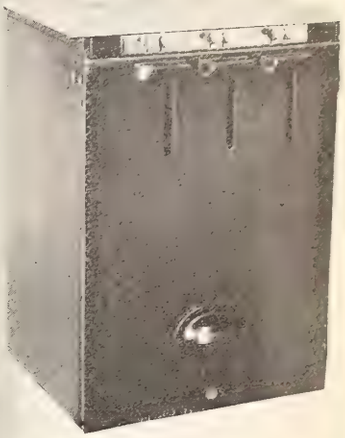
INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION

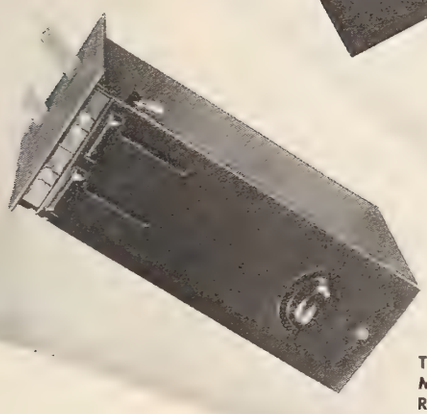


88-96 GOLD STREET

NEW YORK, N.Y. U.S.A.



The GREATEST IMPROVEMENT in TICKET ISSUING MACHINES



Three Unit NEW MODEL H ALL PURPOSE REGISTER showing detail of finger tip control.

Three Unit NEW 1935 MODEL H ALL PURPOSE REGISTER with top plate removed showing mechanism.

Three Unit NEW 1935 MODEL H ALL PURPOSE REGISTER showing door in place.

Two Unit NEW 1935 MODEL H ALL PURPOSE REGISTER showing door in place.

MORE SPEED! COMPLETE QUIETNESS! LESS COST!

AT 50% SAVING

PERFECTION of 50 years embodied in the NEW 1935 MODEL 'H' ALL PURPOSE TICKET REGISTERS brings to the motion picture theatre, cash control equipment that is without equal in accuracy and speed. Low cost... noiseless hand operation... reliability... sturdiness... attractiveness in design and appearance... makes this register adaptable to any type house.

WRITE TODAY TO OUR NEAREST REPRESENTATIVE FOR FULL DETAILS.

FOR 20 YEARS... General Registers have been standard cash control equipment for theatres... restaurants... cafeterias... soda fountains... Designed by foremost engineers... manufactured by skilled technicians... serviced by expert mechanics... they are the infallible guardians of cash receipts.

CASH CONTROL GRC SYSTEMS

GENERAL REGISTER CORPORATION

1540 Broadway, New York

1018 SO. WABASH AVENUE CHICAGO, ILL.

57 COLUMBUS AVE. BOSTON, MASS.

1726 SO VERMONT AVENUE LOS ANGELES, CAL.

307 NO. 13th STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Better Theatres

March 10, 1934
Vol. 114, No. 11

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the operation . . . design . . . maintenance . . . and equipment of the motion picture theatre

GEORGE SCHUTZ, Editor — C. B. O'NEILL, Advertising Manager — RAY GALLO, Eastern Advertising Manager

GENERAL FEATURES

Building in the Face of Obstacles: By Robert O. Boller 8
Constructing Theatre Advertising: By George Schutz 10
Getting Ready to Cool Your Theatre: By J. T. Knight, Jr. 12
Maintenance Tabs 13
The Fundamentals of Contract Law: By Leo T. Parker 14

DEPARTMENTS

Modern Projection 16
Amplification in Reproduction Today: By Kendall Clough 16
F. H. Richardson's Comment 19
Planning the Theatre: Conducted by Peter M. Hulsken 28
New Theatre Projects 31

MISCELLANEOUS

Editorials 7
Electrograms 14-25
The Law of Written Contracts: By M. Marvin Berger 15
Equipment Affairs: Equipment News and Comment 26
Index to Advertisers 32
Better Theatres Catalog Bureau 33

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief — COLVIN W. BROWN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

CHICAGO: 407 South Dearborn Street — HOLLYWOOD: Postal Union Life Bldg.

LONDON: 6 Brookland Close, Hampstead Garden Suburb

CABLE ADDRESS: Quigpubco — NEW YORK TEL.: Circle 7-3100

Better Theatres (with which is incorporated The Showman) is published every fourth week as Section Two of Motion Picture Herald: Terry Ramsaye, editor. Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations. All editorial and general business correspondence should be addressed to the New York office. All contents copyrighted 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company and, except for properly accredited quotations, nothing appearing herein may be reproduced without written permission. Every precaution is taken to ensure the safety of unsolicited manuscripts and photographs submitted, but the publishers herewith deny all responsibility for them in case of mutilation or loss. Manager Chicago office, E. S. Clifford. Manager Hollywood Bureau, Victor M. Shapiro. London representative: W. H. Mooring. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac (published annually) and The Chicagoan.

BIGELOW RUGS and CARPETS CAN TAKE IT!

THEY'RE MADE OF LIVELY WOOL!

Heavy traffic grinds in grit . . . powerful vacuum cleaners whip it out. After years of daily punishment, Bigelow rugs and carpets still look beautiful, still feel luxurious!

Theatre men find that Bigelow costs less per year—its Lively Wool resists matting, is easier to keep clean, lasts longer. Result: theatres everywhere (like 90% of the country's hotels) are consistent users of Bigelow.

Whatever you want to pay, you'll find a Bigelow grade, color and pattern that fills the bill.

★ HARTFORD SAXONY—long a favorite fabric for theatre lobbies and foyers.

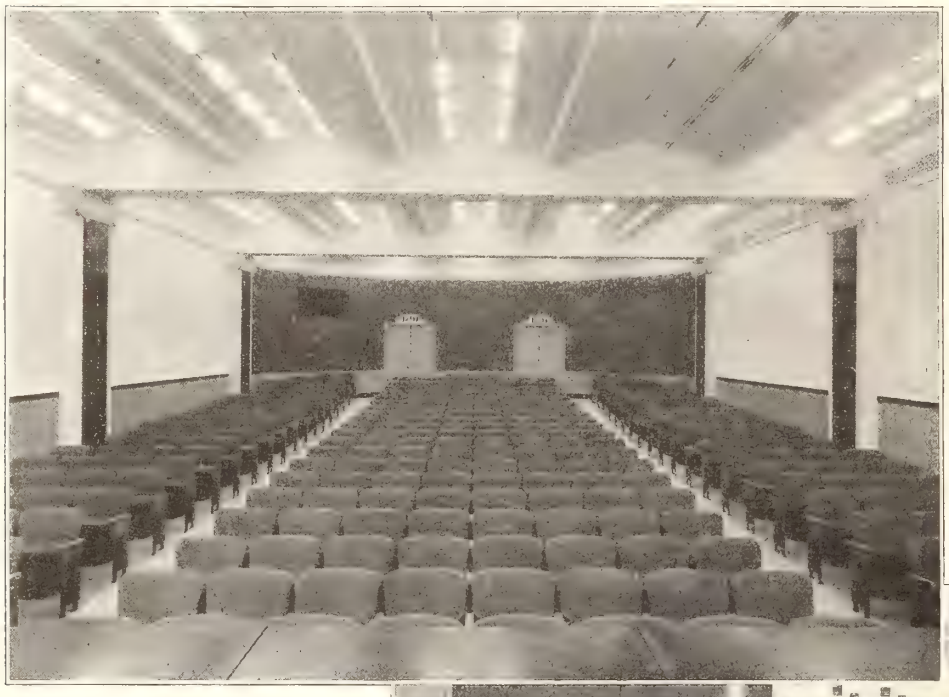
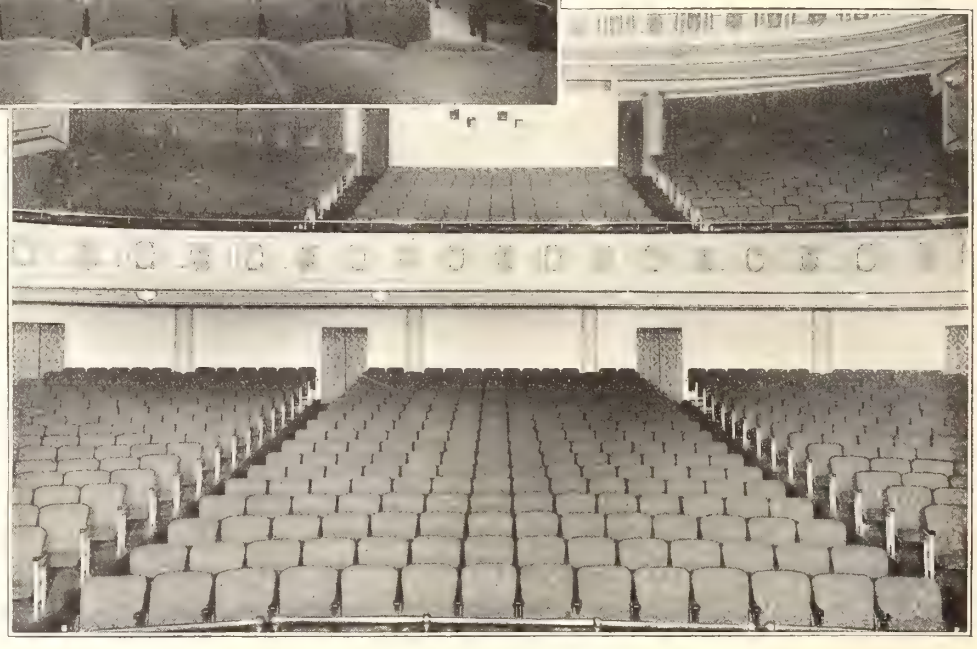
The BIGELOW WEAVERS



WOVEN BY THE BIGELOW WEAVERS

NRA



BRANCH OFFICES AND WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS' SHOWROOMS AT 38 CONVENIENT POINTS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY

New Seating and Reseating

Right Across the Continent

In New York City
New Modern H-W seats furnished to the Port of New York Authority, Port Authority Commerce Building, New York City.

In Seattle, Wash.
H-W reseating adds modern comfort and great beauty to the Metropolitan Theatre of Seattle, Washington.

Sales Offices

Boston, Massachusetts
New York City
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Baltimore, Maryland
Chicago, Illinois
Los Angeles, California
San Francisco, California
Kansas City, Missouri
St. Louis, Missouri
Tampa, Florida
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
Houston, Texas
New Orleans, Louisiana
Seattle, Washington
Denver, Colorado
Minneapolis, Minnesota
Birmingham, Alabama
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
Cleveland, Ohio
Richmond, Virginia
Savannah, Georgia

• • • Seating or re-seating, modern style or traditional design, little theatre or collossal interior—whatever the problem there is an H-W style to meet it—wherever the interior, there is an H-W seating engineer close by. HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD'S service is nationwide—as much so as its reputation for furnishing seats in the theatre that help furnish dollars to the box office.

Heywood-Wakefield
Theatre Seating

Better Theatres
March 10, 1934

Observations

¶ As we approach the time of the year most suited to major alterations and reconditioning measures, we urge upon theatre operators a close examination of their seating. Not that seating was neglected the most during the period of necessarily extreme economy. It merely is one of the things that should have been neglected the least.

Believing that the value of comfort to the box office cannot be overestimated, we should find it difficult to justify the attitude of the exhibitor who failed to reseat his house at the earliest possible moment if his present seating was found to be no longer brightly attractive and to be incapable of giving the comfort of well designed new chairs.

In view of its importance, new modern seating is cheap. During the high-price years, the cost of auditorium seating was only about 15% that of the total equipment of the theatre—and less than 5%. of the total cost of the theatre. And of course prices are substantially lower today. Thus failure to reseat may very well jeopardize from 85% to at least 90% of the investment.

Knowing the physical condition into which the average theatre lapsed during the last few years—though it is steadily improving—we probably should not confine these earnest remarks to seating. But we do—for purposes of emphasis. If while viewing the performance, patrons stood up, we should be concerned about resilient flooring, shoes and maybe canes, for patron-comfort is utterly imperative, no matter how it can be achieved. Under the circumstances, we cannot achieve it without well designed, properly installed chairs having the essential qualities of newness.

We therefore respectfully urge careful inspection now of all theatre seating, to determine whether repairs or replacements are needed, whether a better arrangement could be made with reference to sightliness, or whether a complete job of reseating is really required. Neglect to do this may well represent neglect to place your theatre in a position to enjoy to the full the benefits accruing from current movements toward economic recovery.

¶ There was a theatre fire in New York the other day—a fire of interest to us only, however, because it happened in a Broadway theatre known nationally, and because it recalls some agitation of our own respecting insurance.

Some months ago we were privileged to publish a very comprehensive survey of conditions under which the motion picture theatre operator acquires fire insurance. The article was based on a private investigation conducted with the co-operation of industry groups, and its allegations, pointing to a rather haphazard rate-making system, were based on findings unquestionably authentic. The author declared that the motion picture industry was paying twice as much as it should for fire insurance.

The reason given was that the modern motion picture theatre, in which one could build a good-sized bonfire without incurring a great deal of damage, is placed in the same risk class as the wooden, irresponsibly designed stage theatre of many years ago.

As to the recent Broadway incident, the newspaper before us said, "Only fifty persons of a capacity audience of 5,200 left the Capitol theatre, Broadway and 51st Street, yesterday about noon when a short-circuit caused a small fire backstage. The fire was extinguished quickly by a fireman. The automatic sprinkler system gave the alarm. . . · A silk curtain was damaged by the blaze."

This well represents the vast change properly applying to the insuring of theatres today, yet few operators other than the larger circuits get the benefit of it. It has been suggested that the theatre business, as a whole, is unable to effect more favorable basic rates because it does not have experience data with which to back up its contention of almost perfect safety. If this is true, the compilation of such statistics is an activity which exhibitor organizations might well consider.

¶ Ever so often, if not oftener, someone waxes loud and resentful about "overseating." There are too many theatres! So many seats now that present operators cannot make any money! Perhaps. But there will always be the need of new theatres. If not more, at least others. Advancements in theatre engineering, shifts in population, changing economic setups, sheer obsolescence will always work their inexorable if not so wondrous ways. In a certain period there may not be room for more seats. But there will always be room for other seats—and better ones.—G. S.

For identification of writers and editorial notes on articles in Better Theatres refer to Among Contributors to This Issue, on page 32.

BUILDING IN THE FACE OF OBSTACLES

By ROBERT O. BOLLER

The true story of a remarkable effort and how it turned a garage into a theatre and defeat into victory

BROWN WAS in a quandary. It was mid-winter, 1932, with storms and sub-zero weather clamping down on his small Midwestern town, and the depression doing its utmost to put the finishing touches to his once flourishing show business. The 7,000 people in the community were struggling with unemployment, and box office receipts had fallen off alarmingly. Backed by many years of ups and downs as an exhibitor, and sustained by the goodwill of his remaining patrons, Brown had limped along through the lean years, hanging onto his theatre in the faith that the return of better days would eventually crowd his house with amusement seekers.

Now he faced a situation more critical than any brought about by business conditions obtaining at that time. A competitor had overbid the usual price paid for his lease, and in six weeks his equipment literally would be set out in the street, and he would find himself in the unenviable predicament of holding contracts for all the choice films for the coming season, with no house in which to show them!

He lacked funds with which to complete a new show house, even on the most modest scale. He had no real estate holdings suitable for a theatre site, and he knew the banks were holding securely on to the loan funds in their vaults, and were, for the present frowning on commercial ventures of this type.

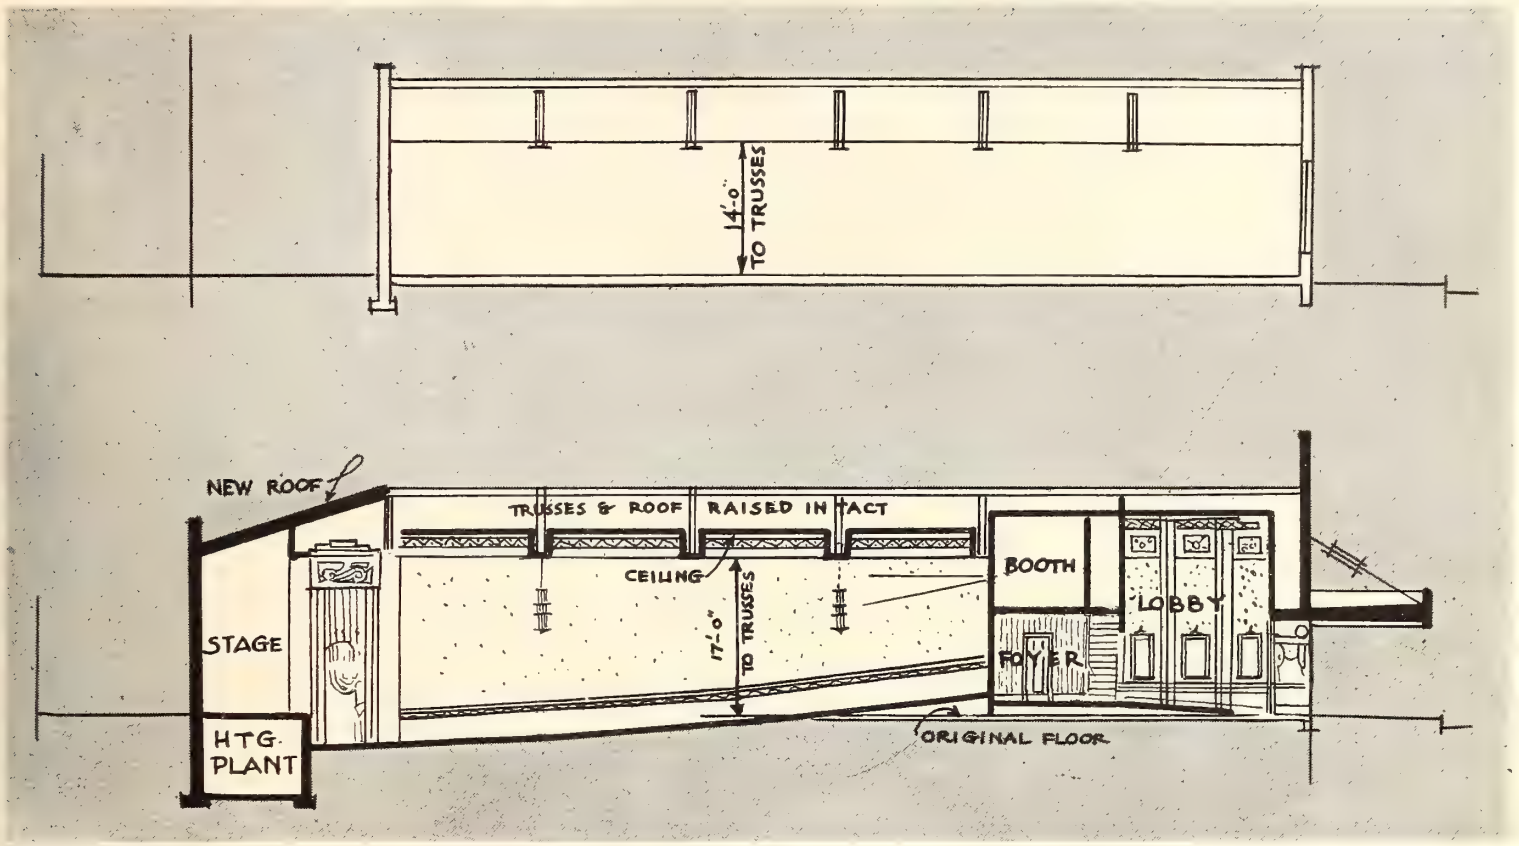
Here was a problem so full of seemingly insurmountable obstacles and untoward conditions that many exhibitors would have considered it impossible of solution.

Because the methods used by Brown (which is not his real name) to meet and solve this perplexing situation, offer suggestions for study by other exhibitors who for one reason or another wish to change their accommodations, his plan of procedure is set down in some detail below.

THE PROBLEM

BROWN'S VILLAGE was one of those typical communities centered around a courthouse in the town square. Most of the mercantile establishments were grouped about this area, but Brown could locate nothing suitable for his purpose on the four main streets at a price within his reach. By inquiry and search he finally located, half a block off the square, a vacant building formerly occupied by an automobile sales and service concern, and now held by a local bank after foreclosure proceedings. Brown concluded that since he was the favorite showman of the town, and since he had the choice product for 1933, half a block one way or the other would make little difference in the total volume of his patronage.

ORIGINAL BUILDING



THE OLD BUILDING was not particularly promising in appearance. It was rather short, 42 x 100 feet, with a front of red brick broken up by two large display windows and a central garage entrance. Inside, the distance from the floor to the bottom of the ceiling trusses was only 14 feet. However, he found that the walls and roof seemed in fair condition, and that a small plot of ground in the rear, 42 x 20 feet, also belonged to the lot.

Brown's first step, after ascertaining that the bank would let him have the property for $8,000, was to call in an experienced theatre architect. He laid the whole problem before him, told him he needed a house seating between 500 and 600, at the lowest possible cost, and inquired whether, in the time allowed, anything could be made of the vacant garage.

A thorough examination of the old building showed the walls to be safe and substantial and that the roof was in good condition. A preliminary architectural sketch and estimate showed that by raising the roof and extending it over the additional twenty feet of ground lying in the rear, a cozy little motion picture theatre

Sketches by the author showing front elevations of the building, as a garage and as a theatre.

Author's sketches showing in cross section the changes made in the original building (upper sketch) at the ceiling, floor and elsewhere.

seating 559 persons could be obtained at a cost of about $15,000.

FINANCING

HAVING SATISFIED himself as to the possibilities of the site, Brown secured an option on the building for thirty days, and at once set about arranging various matters of financing. The merchants in the block, glad to have a theatre in the vicinity to draw the crowds their way, pledged small sums to help the project, even though some of them were trembling on the edge of bankruptcy.

No greater compliment could have been paid an exhibitor than the rallying of these fellow business men to Brown's support and their encouragement of his new venture during the most difficult period ever experienced by merchandising. Even the bankers holding the foreclosed property promised a very small loan for the development of the building, in the event the purchase was made. Brown was able to make a small down payment, and the bank, to help matters along, agreed that if he would pay his interest promptly at due dates, no principal payment would be required for two full years.

Assured of this aid, as a beginning, Brown attacked the problem of obtaining labor and material for his new building.

He visited the home town lumber yard and agents for various materials he would need. Local electrical, plumbing, and heating contractors were conferred with. All were idle, and when he explained the circumstances and asked for a year's time on each of their bills, or until he could secure a loan sufficient to care for all bills on the remodeled structure, they each expressed a willingness to co-operate to the utmost, pleased at the opportunity of operating again with a prospect of future receipts for time and materials.

A conference with the leaders of the local labor organizations took place shortly in the theatre man's office, and the situation was again explained. Brown proposed to hire his labor on a basis of paying 25% of the amount due each pay day, with 75% of the weekly wage reserved until he could pay the balance out of box office receipts. He offered only his personal word and reputation as security.

It didn't take long for men who had been loafing for months to come to a decision. Carpenters, masons, plasterers and other artisans fell behind Brown's plan enthusiastically, feeling that a 25% wage was more interesting than idleness, and signifying their wholehearted desire to gamble with him on the future of his show business.

IT scarcely needs to be pointed out, perhaps, that Mr. Robert O. Boller is himself the "experienced theatre architect" called in to design this theatre out of a garage. The adjective is well advised, for well over a hundred theatres have been designed by Mr. Boller. Here he tells just half the story of this most interesting project. What was done structurally and otherwise to create this theatre will be told in the April 7 issue.—THE EDITOR.

RECONSTRUCTION

HAVING COMPLETED these essential financial arrangements, Brown purchased the old garage and turned it over to his architect.

By this time winter was at its worst, and storms made outside work impossible, but much work on the interior of the building proceeded from the architect's sketches while final plans were being drawn. Jackscrews were set on posts under each truss, the roof was cut loose at the side walls, brick work was cut away above truss bearings, and the roof was raised intact to a new position three feet above the original level. The bearings in the walls were bricked up, the trusses securely anchored, and the roof reflashed, at a total cost of less than $250.

When the weather had moderated somewhat, the rear wall was removed and rebuilt on the new building line, salvaged bricks from the old wall being reused wherever possible. A new roof was built over the 42 x 20 foot area at the stage end of the building, making the entire structure 42 x 120 feet, with a clearance of 17 feet from the floor to the bottom of the roof trusses. Those portions of the floor not to be reused were torn out, and at the same time partitions were placed at points designated on preliminary sketches, in order to speed up the work of completion. By the time these details were complete, final plans were issued, and the work proceeded without interruption.

CONSTRUCTING THEATRE ADVERTISING

An Introduction to Type

The sixth article of a series on the mechanical processes and physical factors involved in creating the advertisement

By GEORGE SCHUTZ

THERE IS A certain analogy between type and color. If we break up white light by means of a prism we get seven colors, as in the rainbow—violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red. Yet by proper mixing of pigments we can (with the aid of black, which is no color) attain any of these colors and all their variants with merely blue, yellow and red. Therefore, which really are the primary colors?

In approaching typography today, one finds so many different kinds that even if one were to make the study of type one's life work it would be impossible to know them all intimately, without the necessity of frequent reference to printed forms. Nevertheless, and fortunately, out of these may be selected patterns which easily serve the purposes of all, and even these representative patterns are in general subject to group division based on similarities.

The problem confronted all through this series on advertising layout—not how much, but how little to tell—is especially present in a discussion of type. Some phases of the matter have been touched on previously, particularly in the article on printing terms and practices. Many others will be left out altogether in the belief that the theatre advertiser's interest will be better served without them. A few words about the origin of type are in order, however, if those totally unfamiliar with the subject are to be placed in a position to have a proper appreciation of the meaning of type styles.

The story of type is as human as the story of writing. The mass and maze of printed letters with which thoughts are so prodigiously conveyed today, are themselves artful creations of the human mind and spirit. Each, with its line and curve, its gradations of stroke, its specific height and shape and width, has been derived from the human urge to create beauty. Thus type is not just a mechanical means of spelling out the words which express feeling and idea—it is itself an expression of feeling and idea in the abstract forms of the alphabet. And when these purposes are made to harmonize, thought is conveyed more effectively.

At first printing types resembled handwriting. Later letters imitating those chiseled into the stone of Roman buildings —capitals—were introduced, together with small manuscript letters of Germanic origin. Here was the beginning, in the middle of the 15th Century, of our upper case—capital—and lower case letters, these designations being derived from the later location of the characters in the type case (a style of case, incidentally, that is no longer generally used).

A short time after this beginning, giving us the basis of what is now called the roman style of letter formation, a Frenchman named Nicolas Jenson cut a roman type face of unusual beauty, and others

Type is the hand

An Old Style Caslon

elsewhere lent their creative genius to the development of the roman pattern. This is the general style of type which has come down to us as the one best to combine for most purposes, legibility and beauty.

There are Jenson faces in type catalogs of today, just as there are Garamonds, Caslons, Baskervilles, Bodonis and others bearing the names of original type creators or at least closely following patterns they conceived. But today there are large commercial type making establishments who have not only added a great many variants of these original designs, but have vastly extended the quantity of available type

Type is the

An old style italic with swash initial styles with patterns more or less of their own conception. This explains why a style of type exclusively belonging, for example, to a manufacturer of hand-set type may not be available for machine composition. Types based on what may be called classic patterns—those of the earlier originators —will be found generally available, however, and although the face produced by one company will have certain differences from that of another, the dissimilarity, for most practical purposes, will be unimportant. Moreover, when one type maker brings out a rather original face that proves popular, his competitors are in the habit of producing a face that comes as close to its essential style as possible. Thus, for example, in the modern sans-serif faces, when one title is not available at your printer's, he will probably be equipped with another designed for precisely the same typographic effect.

Type is the Type is the Lining Caslon—roman and italic

The roman pattern permits considerable variation, but all roman characters have certain features which link them to their class. It is upright, it has a contrast of bold and light strokes, and it has serifs. The vertical strokes are the most part relatively bold, the horizontal strokes are light in contrast. The angle that the serif forms with the main stroke is more or less rounded out by a broadening curve. This Type is the h

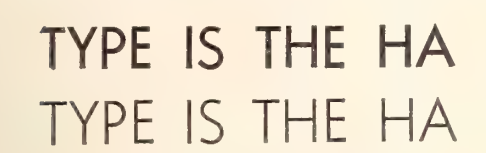
Type is the ha



Bodoni and Modern Sans-Serif

pattern is in distinct contrast to the italic and gothic, the two other main classes of type.

In describing the principal classes of type in a previous article, it was stated that a certain confusion sometimes results from calling some roman types "modern," whereas the recently developed san-serif faces are also called "modern." This is because the adjective modern as here applied properly refers to usage rather than intrinsic character. Bodoni is a "modern" face in contradistinction to "old style" roman types. The new sans-serif faces really belong to the gothic class, which also are sans-serif and have an equality of stroke. The modern gothic, however, is more stylized, squarer, less monotonous in composition, yet having fully as much simplicity as old gothic.

The reason some roman faces are called modern is that their development, introducing flatter serifs and for the most part, greater contrast between the heavy and light strokes, together with a certain squareness, followed the establishment of many, fine roman styles, which, rather superficially, became designated as old style.

Bold and light faces of same face

Other general groups of type, some of them no more than specific adaptations of the main classes include cursive (script), outline, tooled, square-serif gothic, and those ornamental faces commonly referred to as Old English. In addition, various styles of type are to be had in condensed or extended forms; i.e., narrow (requiring less width of line for the same number of characters), or wide (requiring a greater width of line, and permitting a higher degree of legibility, filling of necessary space, and emphasis). In general, it is good practice to specify a condensed face for extremely narrow measure, unless a very small size is to be used. And of course the taller the block of type, the wider must be the measure if it is not to be adjudged narrow.

Italic type is to be classed as a basic class of face, yet in general it is really correlative with roman. In the history of type, it is an afterthought, following the development of roman (if we can disregard certain tendencies toward the slant of handwriting assumed in the birth of type). Italic introduces relief into roman composition, possesses some amount of decorative character, and is today especially used for emphasis. In text composition (as distinguished from display or headline matter), emphasis is the principal mission of italic. Because it is likely to look radically different from the main body of matter, it is also used for captions under pictures and for other small blocks of type to be set off by themselves. A little italic goes a great way. It is not nearly so legible as roman or gothic (upright forms).

Bold and light roman, and bold italic of same family

Italic is well suited to display matter, of course, if the message advises it. A few words, such as in a headline, stated in the larger sizes of type, can be entirely legible in italic, and italics are indicated if the message (1) is associated with the idea of swiftness, (2) is a quotation or of conversational character, (3) requires extreme emphasis, particularly without the use of heavy black type. Italic, it is to be remembered, may be decorative, but it is not dignified. Sometimes emphasis can be better achieved with a smaller but blacker upright face.

Because of these special uses in conjunction with, and properly subordinate to, roman or other upright faces, italic appears in many type families. These lines, for example, are set in a Caslon (roman) face. But this line is set in the italic of the same Caslon face. Thus is italic correlative with roman.

Not all roman faces have a corresponding italic, hence (although a suitable italic might be found for cutting in) it is well to be sure about this before specifying a type style if italics are to be used within blocks of type to be set otherwise in roman. In program work, if not so much in newspaper advertising, it is also well to remember that some beautiful roman faces do not have corresponding italic of equal appearance on the page.

Gothic (upper line) and Modern Sans-Serif (Ludlow's Tempo)

We have not touched in this discussion on one or two other divisions of type. Let us consider them as additional members of a type family. A family of type consists in all the available variants of the same specific style. In a fairly large number of styles, these members will be upper and lower case roman, italic, bold face, and small capitals (capital letters of the same height as the main body of the lower case characters). In some faces, the family will include swash letters—fancy capital characters designed to harmonize with the style with which it is associated. In the families more widely used for text purposes, certain letters form single units called ligatures, and these sometimes augment the beauty of the composition. Almost always, of course, the characters ff in sequence, are physically attached in such a ligature. Similarly ffi and fl. But there are some other sequences possible in ligatures, such as st, ct and so on, depending on the type family and type size. As has been pointed out, characters of the same family and same size compose a font.

Tooled characters

Formerly it was more or less of a rule that an advertisement should be entirely set in the same family of type. Today, however, typographers in no wise feel so confined. The result is lots of topsy-turvy advertisements which are at least unattractive when they are not repellent. This does not mean that various families cannot be inter-wed. It does mean, however, that the ceremony must be performed by someone who knows type and has an innate sense of harmony.

Bodoni bold and Bodoni light-face

Thus when the modern gothic styles became rampant, some typographers not only renounced all knowledge of the roman faces, but insisted that there should be no communion between the two. In this they doubtless acknowledged a basic difficulty. That difficulty, however, can be overcome, and is being overcome today. There is no disharmony in a layout containing both modern gothic and roman faces if the combination has similar weight, tone and spirit. Examples of this will be given in another article, for we are by no means through with type. Before we are through, it will be our purpose to discuss the psychology of type styles, to demonstrate good and bad practices in style combinations, to illustrate type families most widely used in advertising today, and to offer a convenient method of type measurement.

Modern square-serif gothic

In the meantime, the manager or such other person who has been delegated to prepare the newspaper advertising, could easly add to what has been said here, and so prepare himself the better for what is to follow, if he got hold of a type catalog or two and browsed through them. Perhaps

Cheltenham bold, extended and condensed this series has stimulated a bit of a taste for matters typographical. But even if advertising is only a job to perform, a passing acquaintance with a variety of type styles is worth the effort it takes to acquire it. For despite the tricks that have crept into typography today, it is type that really tells the story. And so you'll tell your story better if you acquire some knowledge and some feeling for type.

Any newspaper can tell you where to obtain type catalogs free. Look through the pages. You will get to recognize, not mere patterns, but personalities.

GETTING READY TO COOL YOUR THEATRE

By J. T. KNIGHT, Jr.

The first of two discussions of air conditioning equipment and methods in preparation for the coming warm months

WITH THE COMING of March the thoughts of the theatre manager and owner are turning toward the detailed consideration of spring and summer business problems. Perhaps paramount among those problems is the perennial question of air conditioning. In those theatres that have air conditioning equipment the problem is one of overhauling and reconditioning. In those theatres without such facilities or equipment certain questions arise, whether the installation should be made, and what in terms of business returns can be expected from an installation of air conditioning equipment.

It is believed that a discussion of air conditioning equipment generally, with some suggestions for its care, dealing with its troubles and repairs, combined with routine and detailed inspections, will aid theatre operators at this season of the year.

The term "air conditioning" includes "refrigeration," and refrigeration in reference to air conditioning should be almost synonymous with the function of dehumidifying. Therefore, it is of importance to point out the refrigeration cycle and to explain the de-humidifying function before generally considering the most important types of equipment.

TERMS USED IN AIR CONDITIONING

IN THIS CONNECTION there are some terms in general use which all theatre men should understand. The most important of these terms are here defined:

Air Conditioning—The constant and simultaneous control, in relation to each other, of temperature (dry bulb), moisture (relative humidity determined by wet bulb), and air motion; so that the resulting condition (or effective temperature) will conform to desirable and established standards of comfort.

It is suggested that the reader return to the Air Conditioning Guide Sheets which appeared in BETTER THEATRES for July 1 and 29, August 26, and September 23, 1933, for some terms used but not defined in this article.

B.T.U. (British Thermal Unit)—A quantitative measure or unit of measure of heat produced or heat transferred. Exactly, it is the amount of heat required to raise one pound of water from 63° to 64° Fahrenheit. So that some idea may be formed of B.T.U. value: The average person at rest throws off heat to the surrounding atmosphere at the variously calculated rate from 400 to 460 B.T.U. per hour. It is preferable to use the higher rate for calculating theatre requirements. Ice at 32° F., in order to change into water at 32° F., requires or absorbs 144 B.T.U. per pound of resulting water. It must be noted that B.T.U. as a quantitative measure of heat transferred in refrigeration must have a time element (per minute, per hour, etc.) coupled with it; in this it truly becomes a rate (rate of heat transfer).

Convection—The transfer of heat from one substance through a surface to another, by circulating air or gas or a liquid, such as brine or water, over that surface.

Refrigerating—The lowering of the temperature of air (or any substance) by the removal of heat from it. It was pointed out above that the melting of one pound of ice absorbs 144 B.T.U. As there are 2,000 pounds to the ton (short ton) it follows that 2,000 x 144, or 288,000 B.T.U., is equivalent to one ton of refrigeration. Most refrigeration machinery is rated by the manufacturer and referred to by others as a 10-ton, 30-ton or 50-ton, etc., machine. This means that the machine is capable of producing 10, 30 or 50 tons of refrigeration in 24 hours of operation.

Refrigerant—That substance which is used in refrigerating machines for the purpose of abstracting heat from some other substance. Many gases under high pressure and reduced temperatures that condense into liquid or semi-liquid (very dense and fog like) form may be used as refrigerants.

Compressor—Perhaps more generally referred to as the "ice machine," is the mechanical device for compressing the gas (refrigerant).

Condenser—Generally a series of pipes or tubes through which the compressed gases pass and are cooled by water.

Cooling Coils—Sometimes more accurately called evaporators. A series of pipes or tubes into which the compressed and cooled gas is expanded or vaporized. It is this step that results in the cooling of the water which passes over, or into which these tubes are submerged. Or in some designs the gas is expanded into an enclosed tank through which tubes pass which contain the water to be cooled.

With these rather brief and incomplete definitions appreciated and understood a description may be given of the refrigerating cycle

THE CYCLE OF REFRIGERATION

THE COMPRESSOR compresses the refrigerant (a gas) to a predetermined pressure, and discharges it from the compressor cylinders into the condenser. During this process of compression the refrigerant has gained heat units. It is the function of the condenser to remove these heat units, reducing the temperature of the compressed refrigerant to a point where it becomes liquid. This particular step in the refrigerating cycle is of great importance, and as this cooling of the compressed refrigerants is accomplished by water, generally from the city mains but in some few instances from wells, much depends upon the temperature of the water supply available during the warm months of the year. It is the condenser water which in most localities must be discharged into the sewer that represents a substantial item of cost in the operation of the air conditioning plant.

In some localities this can be overcome to some extent by cooling condenser water in spray ponds or cooling towers and then using it over again, but the construction of spray ponds or cooling towers adds appreciably to the capital investment. In most localities and in most incidences this means very little net gain, but the transfer of an expense item in the form of large water bills to a capital charge in the form of the construction cost of either spray pond or cooling tower.

IN this article Mr. Knight discusses the more elaborate facilities for cooling. In the April 7th issue he will stress ventilation and general air treatment, with consideration of the various types of equipment in their application to the summer needs of the average theatre.

COOLING COILS

From the condenser the now liquid or semi-liquid refrigerant is passed into the cooling coils by a series of valves generally referred to as expansion valves. The pressure maintained in the cooling coils is so much less than in the condenser coils that the refrigerant expands to the point of vaporization; hence these cooling coils are correctly called exaporators. The point in temperature where a liquid becomes a vapor is specifically the boiling point of that liquid. It therefore follows that the condition which must exist within the cooling coils must be the boiling point of the refrigerant. The refrigerant having been selected because of certain characteristics, and the equipment having been so designed in accordance with those characteristics of the refrigerant, the proper conditions for each step in this cycle will only exist when the entire machine is in good condition and properly operated—maintenance in its fullest meaning.

The rate at which the liquid refrigerant may be fed to the coolers is determined and dependent upon the rate that the refrigerant may be evaporated. This fact emphasizes the importance first, of proper design and, second of proper adjustment (part of maintenance).

COOLING OF AIR

Heat is required to turn any liquid into a gas or vapor and this required heat is the latent heat of vaporization of the refrigerant. Consequently the refrigerant picks up this quantity of heat by convection from the water that is sprayed or permitted to drip over these cooling coils or into which the cooling coils may be submerged. The water thus made cool or cold is pumped into the air washer sprays, and the air being drawn through that curtain of cold water is cooled.

Returning to the refrigerant: After having vaporized in the cooling coils and, as explained, picked up the heat of vaporization, it is sucked or drawn back by the compressor and compressed again, here beginning the same cycle over again.

CONDENSATION

The refrigerant, having picked up the latent heat of vaporization and thereby cooled the air washer water, retains this heat. Under the compression by the compressor the energy consumed by the compressor in this operation is reflected in increased temperature (heat) in the compressed gas. So again, as this gas is discharged into the condenser coils, the latent heat of vaporization, plus the heat of compression, has to be removed by the condenser water before proper condensation or liquefaction takes place. This step is repeated for emphasis, as an adequate water supply at a proper temperature is a most important consideration for those contemplating the installation of refrigerating or air conditioning equipment.

FUNCTIONS OF AIR CONDITIONING

FROM THIS DISCUSSION it can be seen that the refrigeration machine does not directly cool or refrigerate air. It cools a quantity of water, which in turn is used to cool the air or part of the air delivered to the theatre auditorium. Perhaps the principal reason for refrigeration in air conditioning is the function of dehumidifying the air. It consequently follows that unless the refrigerating machine is of sufficiently large capacity to perform properly this function there will not be present all of the facilities for proper air conditioning.

COMPLETE CONDITIONING

The refrigerating machine must be able to reduce the temperature of the air washer water so that it (air washer water) may in turn reduce the temperature of a substantial portion of the incoming air to a point below the dew point of that air. (See Air Conditioning Guide Sheet No. 4, BETTER THEATRES, September 23, 1933.) If the installation is not capable of this it leaves only temperature (dry bulb) and air motion available for use in the struggle for comfortable conditions in the theatre—and, truly speaking, there is no air conditioning. (Refer to the foregoing definition of air conditioning.) Unless there is control in some measure over the three elements of temperature, humidity and air motion, there is not complete air conditioning, in an exact sense.

Before discussing the most important types of refrigerating machines it is necessary to explain what may be a somewhat different conception of the term pressure. The custom is more or less universal to call any weight in excess of atmospheric weight (14.7 pounds per square inch) pressure when applied to completely enclosed space; while any weight less than

(Continued on page 29)

Title and text copyrighted 1934. Reproduction of any part without permission is expressly forbidden

ROOF DAMAGE, While Removing Snow: Annually considerable damage is done to the roofs of theatres and marquees by employes while removing snow. Snow should be removed, but without damage to the roof. A roof does not have to be shoveled as clean as a sidewalk. If the snow has become frozen hard or turned into ice, don't make any effort to break it up by chopping, after the fashion of chopping ice from the sidewalk; if you do you're going to cut some holes in the roof.

•

TO THE MANAGER: As an executive a manager must be able to distribute work, distribute responsibilities, and supervise, control and direct the efforts and training of all employes of the theatre, the manager should be the model for the entire staff. He can expect that even his most personal mannerisms will be acquired by his employes. Cheerfulness, enthusiasm and energy displayed by the manager will be reflected by every employe. There is no split responsibility here, it rests squarely on the shoulders of the manager.

Take hold and inspire every one on your pay roll. Our business is a great business, and enthusiasm goes a long way. You cannot help but succeed if there is reflected in your very nature an earnest, enthusiastic and conscientious effort to advance and promote the success and prestige of the motion pictures entrusted to you to sell and display to the public.

•

LAMPS IN SIGNS: Where the lamps in outside signs stick when being removed for cleaning or replacement, it means that corrosion has taken place between the base of the lamp and the inside shell of the socket. To save time in removing "butts" when the bulbs have been broken or twisted off, be sure that all lamp bases are smeared with a little grease or vaseline. Lamps installed this way will never cause trouble when removing them or the "butts."

CLEANING GLASS AND MIRRORS: In cleaning windows, glass panels in doors, and all mirrors, the usual run of commercial glass cleaners will prove satisfactory. Be sure to follow the instructions that come with them.

When there is a great deal of glass to be cleaned, the various kinds of liquid cleaners will speed up the job; but for small surfaces the powdered or caked cleaners will do a satisfactory job.

If the glass surface is greasy or oily, or very dirty, add a little ammonia to the water. In very cold weather alcohol added to the solution will prevent it from freezing on the glass.

Successful results in cleaning glass surfaces is dependent upon the final polishing with a soft chamois.

•

CARPETS: The following are standard weaves of carpets, listed in order of price from the highest to the lowest:

1. Chenille.
2. Saxony.
3. American Oriental.
4. Wilton.
5. Axminster.
6. Velvet.
7. Tapestry.

Any of the grades from Saxony to Axminster, inclusive, have been used successfully in theatres.

•

GREASE ON CARPETS: If the oil or grease is fresh, remove as much as possible by absorbing with an ordinary desk blotter. Then cover the spots with about a quarter of an inch with fuller's earth. When the grease has been absorbed, remove the fuller's earth with a whiskbroom and dust pan.

After this, sponge the spots with carbon tetra-chloride applied with a soft clean cloth; then as the remainder of the grease or oil dissolves, absorb it with a blotter or clean soft cloth.

•

YOUR QUESTIONS: Just send 'em in! Always glad to help you if I can.

THE FUNDAMENTALS OF CONTRACT LAW

By LEO T. PARKER

Legal attitudes governing contractual relations, analyzed for the owners, managers and employes of screen theatres

THE MAJORITY of common contracts made by theatre owners and operators relate to purchase of theatre supplies, employment of people, lease or rental agreements, insurance policies, and the like, all of which are subject to considerable misunderstanding and frequently inevitable legal controversies result. However, in almost all contracts in these classifications the opportunity and probability of litigation can be greatly reduced if, before the contract is made, the theatre owner or operator has obtained knowledge of the fundamental principles of law relating to common contracts.

No doubt the most important consideration, when contemplating entering into a contract, is determination of who may make a valid contract. (1) Obviously, if a theatre owner individually operates a theatre he may make valid contracts under the above mentioned classifications, or he may authorize any employe to make valid contracts. (2) If the theatre business is conducted by a partnership, either of the partners may make a valid contract relating to the theatre business. (3) If the theatre is owned and operated by a corporation, a proper official, usually the president or one authorized by the directors or by-laws, may enter into a valid contract.

In other words, a valid contract is not completed unless originally the agreement was made by the proper or properly authorized parties. Also, it is important that theatre owners and operators obtain knowledge of the law on this subject in order to avoid liability on contracts for which no liability was intended.

CLASSIFICATIONS OF EMPLOYES

ORDINARY EMPLOYES are legally classified as general and special agents of their employers. It is well established that employers are liable for all acts of general agents which relate to the employment, whereas an employer is responsible for only such acts that a special agent performs within the actual scope of the authority given him.

General agents are those employes who have general authority to manage a theatre business or a department of the business. A special agent is one who has authority to perform only one particular act or a special kind of acts for his employer. For example, a salesman is a special agent whose implied authority extends no further than to solicit orders from theatre owners and submit such orders to his employer for approval. Failure of the employer to accept an order thus submitted results in the contract being incomplete, and neither the manufacturer nor the theatre owner may sue and recover damages.

Another example of a special agent is a ticket seller, an usher or a doorman who has been extended special authority to perform certain acts outside the usual authority of the regular employment.

Therefore, theatre owners are not responsible for contracts, guarantees or promises made by ushers, ticket sellers or doormen or other workers having special duties, whereas a manager is a general agent and has implied authority to bind his employer on all ordinary transactions relating to the theatre business.

LAW OF SIGNATURES

FREQUENTLY litigation arises where a theatre employe signs a contract intending to bind his employer when in fact he makes himself personally liable without obligating the employer in any way.

Sometimes a theatre employe is solely liable for obligations created by signing a contract, when intending to bind his employer. In other instances, his employer also is liable. However, as a general rule the employer is relieved of liability where the employe exceeds his authority and affixes a signature outside the scope of the employment. But the employe may be liable for resulting damages.

CASE

For illustration, in a higher court case (101 Pa. 311), it was disclosed that an employe exceeded the authority given by his employer and signed a contract intending to obligate the latter. When the employer learned of the nature of the contract he refused to fulfill the agreement. The other party to the contract sued the employe who attempted to avoid liability and testified that he had acted in good faith when signing the instrument and believed he had authority to make valid contracts for his employer. However, the court held the employe personally liable, and said:

DECISION

"The reason why an agent is liable in damages to the person with whom he contracts when he exceeds his authority, is that the party dealing with him is deprived of any remedy upon the contract against the principal, which is not his in fact, and it is but just and fair that the loss, occasioned by there being no valid contract with him, should be borne by the agent who contracted for him without authority."

CASE

Other courts have held that an employe may be solely liable on a contract which he signs by authority of his employer. For example, in a leading case (17 O. S. 215), it was shown that an employer authorized his employe, named Ed Collins, to sign a valid contract. The employe failed to include his employer's name in the contract, but signed it "Ed Collins, Agent." The employer refused to assume the obligations under the contract and the other party sued Collins.

DECISION

During the trial Collins introduced evidence proving that his employer had given him authority to sign the contract. Notwithstanding this testimony the court held Collins personally liable. This court stated the law to the effect that an employe is personally responsible on a contract which is written and signed in a manner which indicates that the employe intended to be bound. This leading case clearly established the law that an employe, who signs obligations as agent for his employer, should be certain that the body of the contract which he signs contains the name of the employer.

Another important rule of the law is that an employe may be personally liable on a contract, the body of which contains his employer's name, providing the signa-

electrogram

BULB DEPOSIT—The dark gray or silvery color on the inside of a rectifier bulb, is caused by condensation of the chemical agent used for purifying at the time of manufacture, usually magnesium, which is deposited on the inside of the glass. This does not hurt the bulb and gives no indication of the "life" of the bulb.

Write us your electrical problem. An expert reply will be promptly Electrographed.

ture indicates that the employe intended to be personally bound.

CASE

For instance, in (129 F. 350), a contract was litigated which contained the employer's name. However, an employe named Gill, by authority of his employer, signed his own name "W. B. Gill." Suit was filed against Gill although the body of the contract indicated that the same was intended to bind the employer.

DECISION

In view of the fact that the employe signed his name without indicating that he was an employe, the court held him personally responsible explaining that the contract, when read with the signature, was ambiguous and did not disclose that the obligation was solely the employer's.

CASE

On the other hand, in another leading case (56 Ky. 490) an employe was held not personally liable on a contract signed for a corporation, where it was shown that the corporation's name appeared in the body of the agreement and all parties to the contract were informed that the employe signed his name with proper authority and intended to bind the company. This court explained that a corporation employe is not personally bound on a contract providing the other party knows that the agent is acting for the corporation.

METHOD OF SIGNING

In view of the numerous past litigations involving signatures affixed by agents, it is well established that an employe, who signs contracts, letters, orders for merchandise, or other instruments by authority of his employer, positively is relieved of personal liability on the obligations if he is careful to observe that (1) the name of his employer appears in the body of the contract, or on the letter-head; (2) the word "by" or "per" precedes his signature; (3) the word "agent" or "manager" or other official title follows his signature; (4) and the employer's name precedes the agent's signature, as follows: "The National Theatre Corporation, By John Smith, Manager."

WHEN SIGNATURE BINDS OWNER

CONTRARY TO THE opinion of many theatre owners and managers, any form of an authorized employe's signature, such as that made with a rubber-stamp, typewriter, symbols, initials, and the like, may be enforceable against the theatre owner.

CASE

For illustration, in the leading case of Mayers v. McRimmon (53 S. E. 447), the higher court considered the rights of an employe to bind his employer by endorsing the latter's name with a rubber-stamp. This court said:

"Where the name required has been so placed by one having authority to do it and with intent to endorse the instrument, the authorities hold that this is a valid endorsement."

CASE

In still another case, Carrol v. Mitchell (128 S. W. 446), it was disclosed that an authorized employe affixed his employer's signature with a rubber-stamp to a note which read, as follows: "One month after date, for value received, we promise to pay to the order of Mitchell Company $112.50, with 6 per cent. interest from date. Negotiable with exchange."

When controversy developed, the employer contended that the obligation was void because his written signature was not

(Continued on page 34)

THE LAW OF WRITTEN CONTRACTS

By M. MARVIN BERGER
MEMBER NEW YORK BAR

IT MAY BE RECALLED that in a recent article dealing with employment agreements, I made the statement that business men, as a matter of good business, were relying to an increasing extent in their transactions upon written rather than oral agreements. It could very aptly have been added, that as a matter of law, certain types of agreements must be in writing if they are to be capable of enforcement in the courts. With those types of contracts, it is proposed to deal here.

A contract, to be enforceable at all, must of course be the true agreement of competent parties. In addition, certain contracts must observe the Statute of Frauds, a law enacted in England over 250 years ago for the purpose of preventing fraud and uncertainty in proving the existence of a contract, and adopted by most of our States.

The practical operation of the Statute of Frauds is to prevent a party to an agreement which, by the terms of the Statute, must be in writing, from recovering damages in a law suit in the event that the agreement is breached by the other party.

One of the most important sections of the Statute of Frauds provides that in order to be enforceable, certain contracts, or a note or memorandum of them, shall be in writing. In addition, they shall be signed by the party whom it is sought to make live up to the agreement, or by his authorized agent. These contracts are:

1. A contract to sell, lease or dispose of real estate or any interest in real estate, with the general exception of leases for less than one year.
2. A contract which, by its terms, is not to be performed within one year from the date of the making of the contract. (For example, a contract of employment for three years.) Such an agreement, however, is enforceable if it may be fully performed within one year.
3. An agreement whereby one person promises to be responsible for the debts, legal obligations or defaults of another person, such as a surety agreement.
4. An agreement whereby a person promises to pay a debt which has been discharged by bankruptcy, or which is otherwise legally unenforceable.

Another important section of the Statute of Frauds, deals with agreements for the sale of personal property, as distinguished from real estate. This part of the Statute declares that a contract to sell, or a sale of personal property over a certain value, shall not be enforceable by legal action, unless:

1. There is a written agreement or memorandum signed by the party whom it is sought to make live up to the agreement of sale or by his authorized agent; or
2. The buyer accepts part of the goods or personal property so sold and actually receives such part of the goods; or
3. The buyer gives something in earnest—something to bind the contract—or makes part payment of the purchase price.

The value of the personal property, below which no written agreement of sale is necessary, is fixed by a majority of states at $50. Other States fix it as low as $30, and one State as high as $2,500.

In several States no written agreement of sale is required at all. In such States a verbal contract for the sale of personal property, regardless of value, may be sued upon, even though no part has been delivered or part payment made.

It is dangerous to apply the general statement here made to a particular State without reference to the laws of that State. The Statute of Frauds of some States, in addition to the contracts given above, require still other agreements to be in writing. In other States the number of required written contracts is not as large as the list given here.

However, a careful business man, if he wishes to be able to call upon the courts to enforce his agreements, will always put them in writing, state simply and clearly the complete terms of the agreement, and have them signed by himself and the other parties to the contract.

[With this article, Mr. Berger has begun a series on elements of business law. He will welcome suggestions from theatre operators of subjects for future discussions.—THE EDITOR.]

MODERN PROJECTION

PROJECTION • SOUND REPRODUCTION • ACOUSTICS

AMPLIFICATION IN REPRODUCTION TODAY

By KENDALL CLOUGH

The second article on extension of the frequency range, representing a view of its practical benefits and limits

IN A PREVIOUS article the writer discussed the response of the human ear and pointed out that it is a device of tremendous range, both in frequency and volume. In the present article we will consider what portion of this tremendous range must be appealed to in order that the auditor shall experience an illusion of reality that is expressed popularly as "good sound." In addition we will discuss some of the practical considerations involved in the realization of this goal.

It was pointed out in the previous article that the average human ear is capable of responding over the range of 20 to 18,000 cycles per second. Were it not for certain practical considerations it would be simple to regard these figures, per se, as the ultimate frequency requirement of sound reproducing devices and drop the matter at this point. There are certain very definite reasons for limiting the frequency range to less than the above figures, however, and it has been found that this can be discreetly done and at the same time attain a result that is at once practical and realistic. The justification for doing this resides in the fact that all frequencies of the scale are not of equal importance in the creation of the perfect sound.

Consider for a moment the ordinary telephone, which has a frequency range of approximately 200 to 3,000 cycles per second. We know it to be a long way from perfect sound reproduction, and yet it is a matter of common experience that such reproduction is not only intelligible, but that in the majority of cases it is sufficiently good to permit the recognition of familiar voices. This device, however, indicates that this limited frequency range of 200 to 3,000 cycles contains the elements of speech of both the male and female voices.

Until recent advances the frequency range of sound-on-film equipment of average quality could be considered to be 100 to 5,000 or 6,000 cycles. This indicates an increase in range over the telephone of about two full octaves of the musical scale. If the reader will make a mental comparison of ordinary sound-on-film and telephonic reproduction, it will not be difficult to place in the mind the more melodious character of the voice due to the lower fundamental tones transmitted by the sound-on-film equipment, and the increased crispness of the consonants of speech, in particular, made possible by the greater response in the treble.

IT HAS BEEN found through exhaustive study by several independent investigators that increase in naturalness in speech reproduction continues with the extension of the frequency range in the trebles until frequencies of the order of 10,000 cycles are reached. Frequencies higher than this, while audible, do not contribute any very perceptible reality to the reproduction. At the same time extension of the range in the bass frequencies does not add anything to the reproduction of speech, even in the case of the male voice; but is important for musical selections, as will be apparent in referring to the chart (Figure No. 1) submitted with the previous discussion in the February 10th issue. We showed these two considerations graphically by the two lower curves. It will be noted that a substantially perfect transmission of speech requires a range of 100 to 10,000 cycles, and the transmission of music requires a range of 40 to 10,000 cycles, or a total range of 40 to 10,000 cycles for both speech and music. This corresponds to an increase of a full octave in each direction over the response of the older sound-on-film systems.

The extension of the range of sound-on-film equipment to include the frequencies from 5,000 to 10,000 cycles has been electrically possible for years, but was not applied in practice until improved film technique made it of value. Before the introduction of noiseless recording it was found that if the equipment was so arranged as to pass these higher frequencies, the noise present in the reproduction due to the passage of the granular structure of the emulsion across the light path of the optical system completely offset the improvement in realism brought about by the inclusion of these frequencies in the reproducing system. Improvement in the technique of emulsion preparation, as well as in the recording and processing of the film, has largely eliminated this consideration, so that the range from 5,000 to 10,000 cycles may be included with an increase in realism that is the audible difference between ordinary "sound" and "wide range" sound. We will now consider the technical problem of securing the increase in frequency range necessary for "wide range" reproduction.

The whole reproducing system may be regarded as a chain of many links, and we enumerate these as follows:

(1) The optical system in the soundhead. (2) The coupling system between the soundhead and the amplifier. (3) The amplifier. (4) The stage line transmission system. (5) The electrical-acoustic or speaker system. (6) The acoustics of the auditorium.

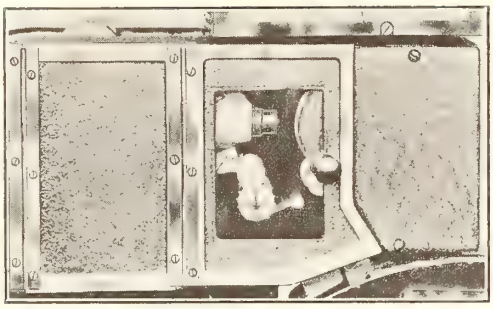
We will follow with a discussion of some of the individual links, for they may be regarded separately in their ultimate effect; and weakness in any will result in something less than ideal sound effect from film to an auditor seated anywhere in the house.

WITH REGARD to the optical system in the soundhead it is possible to do very well in "wide range" reproduction with a good lens having a one mil aperture, provided the optical system is properly adjusted. Such an aperture in

LET'S START NOW!



Definitely the time is here when the well directed sales message addressed to the motion picture theatre finds interested readers able to act. Interest did not drop. But purchasing power did. That purchasing power is returning steadily. At the same time its release is demanded by the shabby condition into which theatres were forced by extreme economy. Indeed, extensive buying of the things long needed for rehabilitation, and loosening up of the regular operating budget to something approaching the normal, have been reflected in the reports from theatres and dealers for several months—steadily, increasingly, as Recovery's billions have begun to get through to the average family in both agricultural and industrial areas. We know that the average increase in theatre receipts is already nearly 20% over the average of a year ago. The number of operating wired theatres has risen to 14,000, which number normally spent $50,000,000 each year for general operating and maintenance supplies alone. Let us not miss the growing opportunities of Spring 1934 created by these many constructive developments—and, therefore, the opportunities represented in Better Theatres' this new year's first guide to the motion picture theatre equipment market, appearing just as we find the industry equitably stabilized under its own Code, as Production has proved that it is more shrewdly attuned than ever since the coming of sound to the tastes of the general public, as theatres at last are realizing the ability to respond to their extraordinary needs. Included in this issue will be The Equipment Index, describing the materials the theatre uses and listing their manufacturers. Territorial dealers will also be listed. Among the editorial features will be special material on remodeling, air conditioning, and sound equipment.

SPRING BUYERS NUMBER: APRIL 7

Better Theatres

1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Syncrofilm
SOUND EQUIPMENT

In Step With Modern Recording

Your sound performance must deliver everything put on the sound track by the recent great advances in recording, under penalty of decreased attendance. The new Model D Syncrofilm Sound Heads will enable you to get the benefit of these new recordings.

Syncrofilm keeps in step! Always in the line of march.

Syncrofilm has an exclusive feature that no advance in recording can outmarch. Four times the usual amount of light is thrown through the sound track. All the delicate overtones now caught by improved recording are reproduced by Syncrofilm at all fundamental frequencies.

Made with watchmaker precision, there is practically no chance for trouble to develop. All moving parts are armored against wear with chrome plate, harder and smoother than steel.

Your money back if you are not satisfied.

Write now for particulars.

WEBER MACHINE CORP.
59 Rutter St., Rochester, N. Y.
Export Office: 15 Laight St., New York City
Cable Address: Romos, New York
Representatives in all principal cities

SUPER-LITE LENSES
and
PRO-JEX SOUND UNITS are giving universal satisfaction
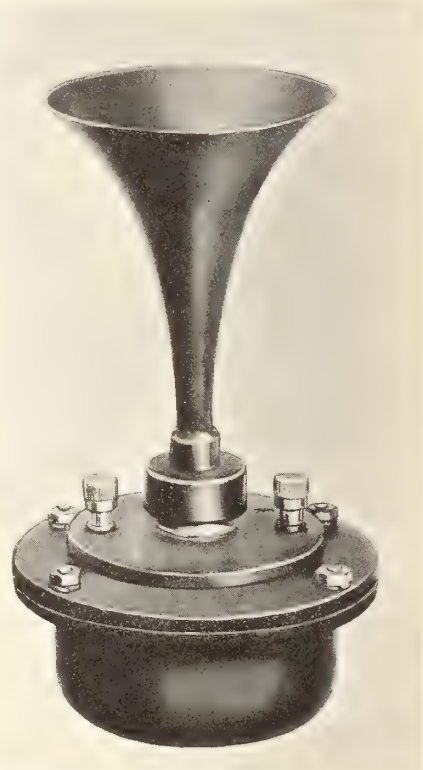
A TRYOUT WILL CONVINCE YOU
Projection Optics Co., Inc.
330 Lyell Ave., Rochester, N. Y., U. S. A.

perfect adjustment gives an attenuation, at 10,000 cycles frequency, of as much as 10 decibels. This corresponds to a reduction of about one-third of normal amplitude. A portion of this loss can be compensated for in the adjustment of the amplifier and speaker system, but it is advisable to use one of the newer optical systems having a narrower slit and less attenuation at the very high frequencies.

The second feature, and one that is most frequently disregarded, is the coupling system between the soundhead and the amplifier. In the older and more cumbersome equipments this problem was increased by the use of a pre-amplifier that was part of the soundhead itself or mounted in very close proximity thereto. While this provides a satisfactory coupling method, regarding only the frequency transmission characteristics, practical drawbacks, including microphonic noises developed in the tubes by the vibration of the projector, maintenance of the batteries for the operation of the pre-amplifier, and allied troubles apparent to all who have used equipment of this type, mitigate the advantages of the pre-amplifier.

Fortunately there is a better method for the transfer of the high frequency currents from the soundhead to the amplifier with less loss than is experienced with the pre-amplifier system. This method consists in connection of the soundheads directly to the amplifier by means of low-capacity shielded leads, and feeding the amplifier with a sufficiently low input resistance so that the bypass effect of the lead capacity is negligible.



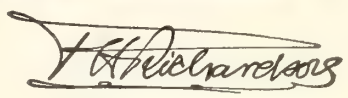
There is a temptation for many designers to use the higher values of input resistance in theatre amplifiers, principally because these higher values develop higher signal voltages at the input end and thus reduce the gain necessary in the amplifier to bring the signal to the proper level for stage speakers. It is necessary for the careful purchaser of amplification equipment for sound-on-film purposes to inquire as to the input resistance of the amplifier as well as its gain in order to be sure that it is suitable for connection to the photocell circuit, and that the input resistance is of a value that will give reproduction of the higher musical and speech frequencies.

Possibly a simpler way for the exhibitor to assure himself that he is getting suitable equipment is to inquire as to the manner in which the characteristic curves of the proposed amplifier were taken. In the preparation of such curves the audio oscillator is sometimes connected directly to the input of the amplifier. In this way the matter of coupling to the soundhead is dropped out of consideration, and the resulting curves indicate an ideal amplifier system. A curve showing the performance of an amplifier, when taken without the use of proper or standard photocell coupling equipment, may give a very fine impression of its broad frequency range capabilities. When taken on the same amplifier with the test currents flowing through a resistance simulating the resistance of the photocell and all connecting cables in circuit, the effect of the coupling circuit has lowered the high frequency end of the curve and the performance of the circuit, as the exhibitor will use it, is a far cry from the requirements of "wide range" reproduction, the response at 10,000 cycles being diminished by 18.7 decibels, or about one-ninth of the correct amplitude.

As regards the third feature, curves taken from a correctly designed amplifier having suitable resistance input, will show that due to the lower resistance of the input circuit, together with a little "peaking" effect that occurs in the amplifier stages, the response holds up to 10,000 cycles in a manner destined to give fidelity of reproduction under actual operating conditions.

There is a further advantage to the use of a low input resistance in amplifier design besides the improved frequency characteristic. With the lower value the photocell is operated under better load conditions which result in truer wave form and lower distortion of the musical tones printed on the film. While it is true that more voltage amplification is required of amplifiers having low input resistance, this requirement is not difficult to meet with the modern commercial tubes which, in properly designed circuits, are capable of producing very high voltage amplification with a minimum of distortion.

IN THE NEXT ISSUE, the Spring Buyers Number, April 7— Sound Reproduction and Its Equipment Today.



Electrodynamic speaker with horn, recently brought out by Racon Electric Company, Inc., of New York. Designed to cover frequency band from 3,000 to 10,000 cycles. Field rating, 6 or 110 volts, as specified. Voice coil impedance, 15 ohms. Height, 6¾ inches. Horn bell, 3 inches. Weight, 3 pounds.

F. H. RICHARDSON'S COMMENT

• • AND ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES •

EFFECT OF WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS

THIS LETTER and my remarks concerning it are respectfully dedicated to, and intended for, very serious consideration by exhibitors and theatre managers. The letter is by W. P. Stone, projectionist of Asheboro, N. C. I have had its publication under consideration for some while, finally coming to the conclusion that it should be laid before theatre executives, whom I ask to read it thoughtfully. First, Friend Stone:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: Will you grant me the privilege of commenting upon the letter by the Texas projectionist in the December issue of BETTER THEATRES? It seems to deserve comment and further attention.

"First, the Texas man should be censured for working under such conditions. It is extremely doubtful that prisoners in the State road camps (if any) or even in the Texas penitentiaries could be found working 74 hours per week. Certainly no human could remain healthy and in condition to put on good and efficient projection results, working such hours as does this man, particularly in such conditions as obtain in the average projection room. The thing is totally unreasonable. Like you, Mr. Richardson, I am unable to understand how any man could possibly have much interest in his work under the setup described.

"Second, the employer of the Texas man must himself be a man of iron, having little or none of the milk of human kindness in his breast. It is verging upon the inhuman to require such service. His comeback may and probably will be that hoary old bromide, 'Business does not justify higher pay or shorter working hours,' which may or may not be true. If it is true, then that theatre has no business operating. It should close down. A theatre unable to grant reasonable working hours, and at least a fair rate of pay, taking local conditions into account, has no right to exist. President Roosevelt terms men operating such businesses 'chiselers,' which surely is as high in the order of human affairs as they can rightly be placed. Rough talk, but fully justified, don't you think?

"When the Code is in effect our Texas brother should be one of the very first to take advantage of it. Such working conditions are totally unfair, not only to the projectionist himself, but to other exhibitors who are forced to compete with theatres imposing them.

"May I set forth our own working conditions, the local setup being very similar to that of the Texas man. Our town has approximately 5,000 population. It has two theatres, both owned by the same man. [The Texas town has 3,000 population and two theatres, both owned by the same company. Nothing said about surrounding territory in either case.—F. H. R.] The smaller one runs ten hours, and the larger one (in which I work) runs nine hours a day.

"I have an assistant projectionist, with whom I split the day, each being off alternate afternoons and evenings. That is to say, we both work afternoons one day and evenings the next. The night shift works only four hours. We of course do all the upkeep and repair work it is possible to do, including sound equipment.

"We have not been obliged to demand these conditions of labor from our employer. We have always found him ready and willing to do any reasonable thing, and we all try to co-operate and work together. As to wages, we believe them to be as high as those of any projectionist in North Carolina.

"Mr. Richardson, it is discouraging to read of such conditions as set forth by Texas. They are, however, not confined wholly to exhibitors having poor business. We personally know of a theatre owned by two men who admit its income is making them wealthy, yet the projectionists in that house are among the poorest paid in the whole state, if not in the entire South."

Now I am not laying all this before you to discuss an individual case of hours and wages. It most emphatically is not the office of this department to enter into fights over wages and working conditions. On the other hand it most decidedly is its duty to discuss with owners and managers the relative effect of low wages and poor working conditions, as against high wages and good working conditions.

Taking the conditions of Friend Stone as an example, they are such as make the position he holds very desirable. He and his partners, being well treated and well paid, are satisfied. Evidently they are not treated as "servants," but as an important part of the organization. Is it not then reasonable to suppose they will do everything possible to give the very best service they can? Is it not just plain common sense to presume they will take good care of the equipment, thus prolonging not only its life but materially improving its performance? Is it not logical that they will keep from wasting electric power in projection processes?—and a lot can easily be wasted too, mark you well!

It is certainly to be expected that these projectionists will get the very best sound and picture results of which the equipment is capable, working efficiently—all of which means not only increased box office receipts, but also decreased expense in repairs and equipment renewal.

But how about the opposite conditions? Is it not reasonable to asume that men

Other Articles

In addition to the material on this page, Mr. Richardson's columns of this issue also contain:

Lamp for AC Carbon But Direct Current.....Page 20
I Visit Two Theatres.....Page 20
A Travel Ghost Puzzle.....Page 21
Just Sound, or Image Too?..Page 22
Elimination of Film Defects..Page 22
New Screen for Rear Projection.....Page 23
Port Glass Magnification....Page 24
Pictured Craters Are Magnified.....Page 24
Arc Separation at 120 Amperes.....Page 24
What You Know, Not Where You Live.....Page 24
Sees Manager Once in 90 Days.....Page 25

working under conditions which they feel are unfair, and which are actually unhealthful, will have little real interest in their work? Don't you believe they will take little real pride in producing the best possible results? Will they not be inclined to do only what they must to hold their jobs? Don't you think they may waste electric power if it takes work and care to save it? Don't you believe they probably won't make any very strenuous effort to keep the equipment in the best possible condition? And don't you know that failure to do all those things means loss to the exhibitor, both at the box office and in overhead?

Taking local conditions (cost of living and wages paid in other lines) into consideration, the projectionist should be paid enough to make the job desirable. Remember they must work alone, much of the time beside a hot light source, and for best results, be "on their toes" every minute of the time. Six hours should be an absolute maximum day in projection and I don't mean perhaps. Projection is hard on the eyes, for one thing. Another thing is that in projection no man can be expected to do his best work longer than six hours. Also, working in dim light, often in considerable heat, is not healthful and may have extremely injurious effect if a man becomes weakened by weariness.

I could go on for many pages producing perfectly valid arguments why poor pay and long hours are not in the exhibitor's best interest, but surely that should be unnecessary. The dollars-and-cents effect of slave-wages and drudge-hours in a responsible, technical field like modern motion picture projection, should be self-evident. Certainly the industry as a whole cannot permit it.

LAMP FOR AC CARBON BUT DC CURRENT

C. S. ASHCRAFT of the Imperial Electric Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles, who has been designing excellent projection equipment for many years, recently introduced his Sterling Suprex projection lamp and its auxiliary equipment, and learning that a lamp of this distinctly new type was on trial in a New York theatre, I went to examine it in operation. The theatre was the Manhattan, and I found that three days prior to my visit, a second lamp had been installed.

The Sterling Suprex is a development resulting from the introduction of the a.c. carbon. The carbons are of the a. c. type, but the current employed is d. c. The term "suprex" has been generally adopted to designate lamps of this type. A careful examination of the Sterling disclosed that the design is excellent, while construction is apparently sturdy. The design seems also very simple, without any great number of gadgets to complicate operation and maintenance. (See accompanying diagram.)

The projectionist (this was a one-man room) stated that he was using approximately 45 amperes and getting what he judged to be screen illumination very nearly equal that got previously with hi-low equipment at 75 amperes. He said that he was burning both positive and negative carbons down to a stub about 1½-inches in length. My own observation was the screen was well lighted, and I noted that instead of the usual brilliant blue-white effect, the light, while white, seemed to have quite a soft tone. I don't know whether that condition obtains at all times, but it was noticeable during my visit to the Manhattan. The carbons used are 7-mm. positive, and 6-mm. negative, copper-coated.

After a changeover I opened the lamphouse door and very cautiously touched the metal of the mirror mount. I found I could lay my hand flat upon it without discomfort.

The outfit includes a Sterling air-cooled converter having a capacity of 65 amperes, using argon gas electronic tube, and measuring 13½ x 14 inches with a height of 24 inches. I was told that there is no falling off of light upon lighting the second arc, which logically must mean that it will bear at least a 15-ampere overload for a limited time.

I have lettered the diagram to indicate the principal parts. A is the arc control motor, B the knob by means of which the negative carbon is clamped into place, D the knob with which the negative carbon may be adjusted, E the means of striking the arc, F the hand control, G the focusing knob by which the mirror is advanced or retarded, H a lever which, upon being raised or lowered, releases or clamps the positive carbon.

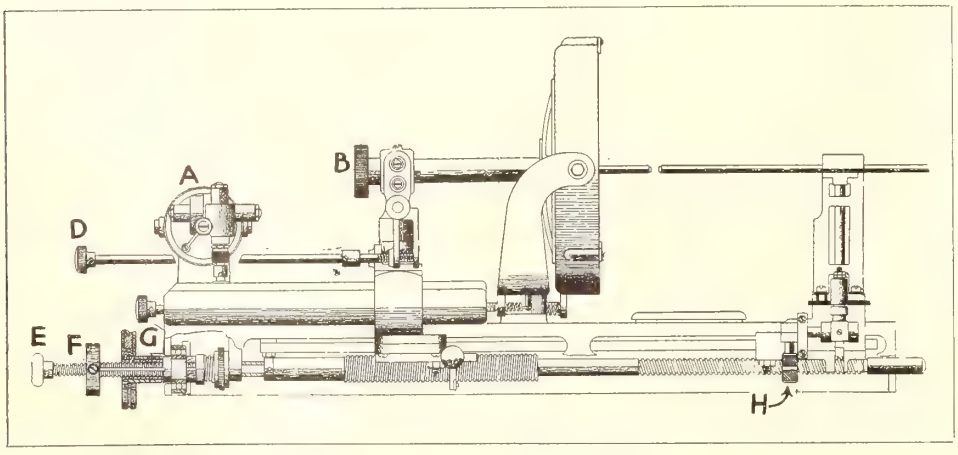


Diagram of parts of Sterling Suprex lamp mechanism. See text.

A MEANS TOWARD SUITABLE DENSITIES

ATTENTION IS directed to a suggestion made by the Projection Practice Committee of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers some while ago. Whether or no it has been heeded I cannot say. If not, it certainly should be.

The suggestion was that studio screening room projectors be provided with an iris diaphragm, one for each projector, to the end that it be possible, instantly and without a bit of trouble, to reduce screen illumination to the approximate values of theatres of various types. To accomplish this it would only be necessary that the projector light be maintained at an approximately constant level—not at all a difficult thing to do. A little time expended in measuring screen illuminations of theatres of various types would enable studio men to set the diaphragm so that light values would be very close to the different types. With these diaphragm positions being marked, it would be easy for directors and producers to view results at the various light values used in theatres of different types merely by ordering various diaphragm settings.

True, the Mazda could not be reproduced exactly because of the large difference in its amber content as compared with arc light sources universally used in studio screening room projection rooms. However, all the rest could be simulated with a high degree of accuracy, and such action surely would be a great aid to producers in arriving at an intelligent estimate of exactly what film density will best serve theatres of all types.

At a recent meeting of the New York branch of the S.M.P.E. I obtained a frank statement from studio men that it was not practicable under present conditions to produce films of different density for use in theatres of different types. It would involve an added expense which, said they, the smaller theatres would not assume.

Granting that this is likely to be true, it still is possible for some consideration to be given the small town theatres, and through them, the enormous number of people who must patronize them. That certainly is something that can and should be done. The Projection Practice Committee points a feasible way to do it.

We now have many over-illuminated screens, and thousands of screens having far less illumination. Would it not be wise to examine a few productions under the low illumination conditions in which thousands of people will see them?

I VISIT TWO OHIO THEATRES

ON MY WAY back to New York from a trip to Missouri, a broken spring compelled pause near Zanesville, O., and the time was used, nasty as was the weather, to call at two theatres. Knowing nothing of labor conditions, I called first at the Liberty theatre, managed by Mr. C. H. Brown, who is also secretary of the company which operates the Liberty and three others, the Imperial, the Quimby and the Grand. Mr. Brown was most affable, and though in a hurry to leave to look over a new show, spared a few moments to chat. Incidentally, he was not very enthusiastic concerning the business outlook—the first manager I talked with on the entire trip who felt that way.

I had not time to check closely on the sound, but the Liberty screen displayed one of the best illuminated, most beautifully projected pictures I have looked at in quite some while. The theatre seats 1,400.

I next called at the Weller theatre which recently was remodelled. It is owned by the M. A. Shea interests and is managed by Mr. E. W. Smith. I was unable to take time to check up closely on the sound, but did find the screen image, during the brief time I observed it, not as clear as it should have been. Of course this matter of brilliancy is frequently overdone, but the Weller screen might well have had decided increase in illumination. Also, the illumination was spotty, though that may have been due to the print. However, in the clean-as-a-new-pin projection room, I found the projectors equipped with small, low-intensity lamps, with which quite possibly the projectionists were unable to secure additional screen illumination. In my judgment those lamps should be discarded and light sources of greater power installed. I am pleased to add that Manager Smith spoke highly of the Projectionists. S. B. Tuttle and Howard Winkleman.

The rewinder was not geared down at all, which is very bad. Rewinding at high speed is, as I have many, many times pointed out, both unnecessary and a source of film damage. The Liberty rewinder was geared down to some extent, but not nearly enough. Film should not be rewound in less than from five to six minutes for a thousand feet. The need for faster rewinding is purely imaginary.

A TRAVEL GHOST PUZZLE

FROM A North Carolina projectionist who wants an immediate reply by mail and probably would not wish to have his name used, comes this letter:

"I write with regard to a travel ghost I have been unable to clear up. It is not noticeable in the picture itself, but in black and white titles it is. Naturally, even though invisible in the picture, it nevertheless is there.

"I have been in the projection racket for years and am able to trim a shutter properly, but this ghost is both up and down. I have added to the blade width and also have tried both two and three-wing shutters, all without avail. The gears are practically new, and I don't believe there is sufficient backlash between the shutter and intermittent movement to cause the trouble. We use Ross 5.75 E.F. projection lenses. Projection distance 110 feet."

This is a bit of a puzzle. The man seems to know pretty well what he is talking about, yet the thing just cannot be—or else he has not set the matter forth correctly. If there is travel ghost both up

The New Brenkert
Alternating Current Projection Lamp

Using alternating current at the arc produces snow-white light and more light than low-intensity lamps, at slight extra operating costs.
Eliminates generators, rheostats and rectifiers.
The BRENKERT "K" Lamp is quiet, dependable, and a revelation in truly automatic operation.
This "K" Lamp is now in successful use in most sections of this country.
Wouldn't you like to know more about this latest A.C. lamp development? Write today for literature of facts and the name of the nearest Brenkert distributor.

BRENKERT LIGHT PROJECTION CO.
Engineers and Manufacturers
7348 ST. AUBIN AVENUE DETROIT, MICH.

TWO NEW SERVICES

giving in a few words advice to the manager in his own problems:

MAINTENANCE TABS

by J. T. Knight, Jr., offers the theatre owner and manager the help of an accredited engineer who has spent years in supervising the operation and maintenance of motion picture theatres.

Each "ELECTROGRAM" is an authoritative bit of advice on the operation and maintenance of your electrical equipment.

Your questions are welcome. Send them in. You will be identified by only your personal initials in the reply. Merely write . . .

Better Theatres, 1790 Broadway, New York

MELLAPHONE
WIDE RANGE
SOUND-ON-FILM

Buy the Sound Equipment you need at the present low prices. Take advantage of our SPECIAL WEEKLY PAYMENT PLAN.

Choice of the UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

Super Cinephor!

the true anastigmatic projection lens which improves the image quality and gives increased angular covering power.

BAUSCH & LOMB
OPTICAL COMPANY
679 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

NOTICE!

Our business has increased to such an extent on our wide range Theatre reproducers and on our general line . . . that we cannot promise delivery in less than ten days. Our plant is working at full capacity and orders will be filled in the order received.

Theatre owners everywhere are finding that it pays to modernize their Sound Equipment with the Wright-DeCoster Model 309 full range reproducer and horn. Send complete details of your theatre and sound equipment for free suggestions by our Engineering Department.

WRIGHT-DECOSTER, Inc.
2225 University Ave. St. Paul, Minn.

Export Dept.:
M. Simons & Son Co., 25 Warren St., New York
Cable Address: Simontrice, New York

REVOLUTIONARY

Practical theatre chair and seating system efficiently eliminates the necessity of passing or being passed by fellow patrons within a row of seats, earns additional revenue and offers many signal advantages to theatre owners and patrons. Patentee desires theatre interests or manufacturer to financially promote initial installation and eventual exploitation in licensing to theatres. Give business details, references, for complete description.

BOX 371, BETTER THEATRES
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

and down, then one of two things is certain. Either the shutter master blade is too narrow, or there is too much lost motion somewhere—or it may be a combination of both.

Lost motion may be tested as follows: Hold the shutter, regardless of what type it may be, stationary. Rotate the flywheel as far as you can in either direction (it does not matter which). Make a slight scratch mark on its rim and on some stationary object near by. Now rotate it, still holding the shutter immovable, as far as you can in the other direction. If you can rotate it more than three-sixteenths of an inch, measured at its rim, then there is too much lost motion between flywheel and shutter, which of course means, in effect, between intermittent and shutter.

Where is it? Well, that is for you to find out. It may be in one or more of the gears. It may be due to worn shaft bearings, which, whether you realize it or not, operates to set up lost motion in the assemblage. I would try that first. Then using some good glue, affix a paper blade to the master blade of one of the projector shutters, the said blade projecting, say, one-fourth of an inch on each side of the metal blade. Try that out, trimming off a little and trying, just to ascertain how much additional blade width is necessary to eliminate the ghost. One thing is certain: If you have travel ghost both ways it is due to one of the two things named, or to a combination of the two.

And now for a bit of a scolding. This gentleman undoubtedly meant no wrong, still he should not have coupled the term "racket" with projection. Respect your profession, brother, too much to associate it with the word racket, even facetiously.

JUST SOUND— OR IMAGE TOO?

EDWARD F. GOWS, as nearly as the signature may be deciphered, of Fort Kamehameha, Hawaii, writes, in course of a letter on various matters, "I have to do all my own servicing, and have been told we have the best sound in the islands."

That's fine, of course. But how about the picture?

Entirely too many projectionists feel lots of pride over their achievements in sound, but don't bother even to mention the image. That is not so good. In motion-picturedom, permit me to suggest, there are two distinct elements, each of which requires approximately equal knowledge and attention. There is the picture as well as the sound.

It is rank nonsense to think the reproduction of sound is any more important than projection of the pictorial elements. Both are important, but because so much sound equipment has a lot more gimcracks and doodads than the projector, some projectionists have rather adopted the idea that effective picture projection is less difficult than the reproduction of sound.

Nothing of the sort! Skill and knowledge a-plenty are required to achieve excellence in sound, of course, but don't overlook the fact that skill and knowledge a-plenty are also required to attain excellence in the screen image. You are working with a high-speed, rather heavily constructed mechanism that must function, for real excellence, in tens of thousandths of an inch. The film itself involves the need for accuracy measured by as little as a twenty-thousandth of an inch. Often that accuracy is not maintained because of incompetent or careless projectionists, or because some manager has compelled the use of projector parts long after they should have been discarded.

The real projectionist well knows that sound and screen image are equally important.

ELIMINATION OF FILM DEFECTS

PAUL L. DOUGHERTY, chief projectionist of the Majestic theatre in Gettysburg, Pa., hands me four samples of film clippings containing defects in sound recording, and explains:

"Three were taken from "Saturday's Millions," and one from "Love, Honor and Oh Baby." You will note in the sound recordings, shades that might very realistically portray a violent thunder storm or a gang of riveters hard at work, though it really is neither. In fact at those points there is no unusual noise, insofar as concerns what is portrayed on the film picture. You may also note that each such fault occurs directly opposite a changeover cue mark.

"When the reels were projected the first time I was startled at the terrific burst of noise. I am not certain whether or not the producer meant the Fourth of July celebration as an added changeover warning, but certainly it represents the worst projection 'bull' I have encountered in eight years of shooting shadows at the screen, and several of trying to make sound sound natural. Of course, if one cuts out the faults, one also deletes the cue marks.

"What, I want to ask, Brother Richardson, is: Do you regard my action in cutting out the fault as right or wrong?

"Here in this national battlefield town we have one of Pennsylvania's most perfect sound theatres, the Majestic. We work hard to keep it that way. When faults such as these appear it does not make us overly happy. May I ask whether or not other projectionists have encountered the same trouble?

"Stimulated by your Bluebooks and HERALD and BETTER THEATRES departments, I have high ideals. I regard projection as a very real profession and work hard to try to obtain maximum results. It would really seem that producers should be more careful to not permit avoidable faults which will discredit our work in projection."

It is the men who have high ideals, who regard projection as a profession and strive constantly for excellence that we must depend on. They are the ones who will finally leaven the whole loaf and eliminate the "aw-that's-good-enough" chaps.

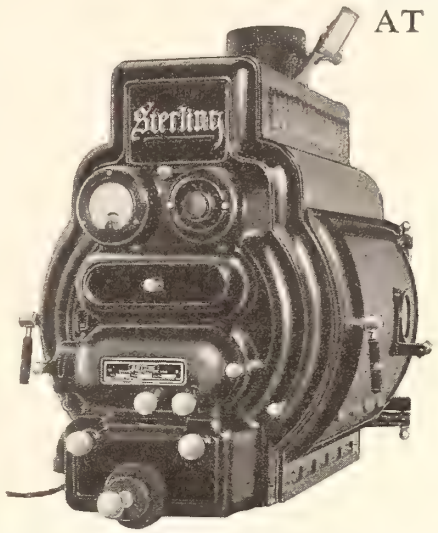
From the sound track clippings and the various scenes where the eruption of sound occurs, I would say it certainly is a defect. It would seem that whoever inspected the negative from which the prints were made was careless.

As to the elimination of such faults by the projectionist, most emphatically he has every moral right to do that very thing, whatever his legal right may be. Certainly it is too bad the changeover cues must also go, but after all even that is better than having the ears of patrons outraged. The projectionist is in no degree responsible, but he must bear the blame of his audiences.

In this particular case, however, since the faults all come opposite cue marks, I believe not cut them out. Neither would I project them. Instead, I would carefully make note of the action just preceeding the beginning of the fault (Crawford touches bell for example), and would changeover on the action instead of the cue.

Then upon shipping the films away I would include a note descriptive of the faults and their location, suggesting that the reels be sent back to the distributor for elimination of the fault.

NEW SCREEN FOR REAR PROJECTION



I RECENTLY received from the Meer Made Products Company of Chicago an invitation to meet their Mr. O. Eidinger when he made his next visit to Gotham. I have just had an informative talk with Mr. Eidinger with relation to certain products put out by his company of interest in projection. One is a transparent rear projection screen.

This screen seemed to me to have an excellent rear projection surface. For one thing, one cannot see any bright spot whatsoever with the projector lense straight in front of the screen and the observer looking through the screen towards it. Under this condition the screen appeared absolutely evenly illuminated.

The screen is of fine silk fabric, which is coated. It also gives an adequate picture on the other side, but I understand the company is now trying to improve the surface in this latter respect. There is, of course, considerable light loss, the surface being translucent. To date, this screen can be had only in a height no more than 7 feet, for the reason that as yet no satisfactory process has been found for cementing two pieces of the fabric together.

I was also introduced to a film cleaning outfit, consisting of a specialy made glove designed to be placed on the hand of the one to clean the film. This glove is moistened with a lotion, and the film is passed through the surface of the glove. My reaction to this is that projectionists might have their managers obtain one of the outfits and give it a thorough try-out. Not infrequently films are received which are smeared with oil and dirt. If it were possible in process of rewinding to remove a portion or all of this smear, certainly the screen image would be sometimes improved. I have not personally witnessed a demonstration of this particular article, nor would

PURE WHITE SUPER BRILLIANCY FOR YOUR SCREEN WITH STERLING SUPREX PROJECTION LAMPS
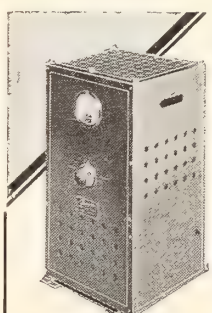
AT LOW INTENSITY COST

The STERLING SUPREX PROJECTION LAMP operates on 40-50 amperes direct current, consuming only 2500 watts when used in conjunction with the Sterling Converter. The illumination produced is ample for large theatres. This lamp produces more light per ampere than any other type, and the many installations have proved its merits.

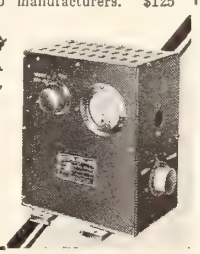
Manufactured by
IMPERIAL ELECTRIC & MFG. CO.
1062 No. Orange Grove Avenue
Los Angeles, Calif.
Send for Literature

GREATER BOX OFFICE VALUE



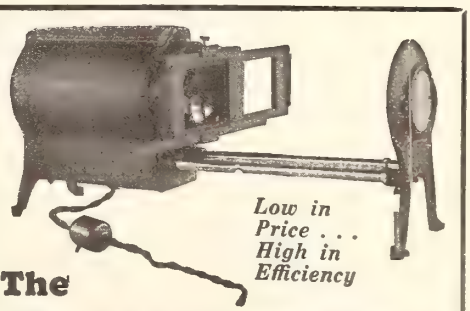
THE box office value of the brilliant, snow white light from National High Intensity Projector Carbons has placed them in most of the large down-town theatres.

Smaller theatres may gain a like advantage through the use of National Copper Coated High Intensity A.C. Projector Carbons. These carbons, in the new lamps built especially for their use, give a brilliant, snow white light and a higher level of screen illumination than the low intensity D.C. arc.



National Projector Carbons

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.
Carbon Sales Division, Cleveland, Ohio
Unit of Union Carbide UCC and Carbon Corporation
Branch Sales Offices: New York • Pittsburgh • Chicago • San Francisco



For the Kind of Projection You'll Brag About

THE GARVER KURRENT CHANGER eliminates changeover troubles. Saves 20-30% changing A.C. to D.C. Delivers 15-30 amps. constant, pure white light quietly, dependably, without sound interference. Recommended by leading lamp manufacturers. $125 complete.

THE NATIONAL REGULATOR for brilliant mazda projection. Small, sturdy, simple, dependable, quiet. Ideal for highly concentrated spot or floodlighting. 110 or 220 volts. $60.

Garver Electric Co.
Union City, Indiana

Low in Price . . . High in Efficiency

The Besteropticon

Range 75 feet or less. Cooling for 500-watt lamp. 9" to 30" focus. Price complete (less lamp) only, at your dealer $23

BEST DEVICES COMPANY
200 FILM BLDG. CLEVELAND

I be willing to express a decided opinion until I had tried it out on a full reel of film. I do say, however, that dirty film is an abomination.

I was also shown a lotion which, when placed in a humidor with 1000 feet of dry, brittle film, will make it almost, if not quite as flexible as when it was new, according to Mr. Eidinger. At any rate, here is something for the exchanges to look into.

PORT GLASS MAGNIFICATION

HAROLD W. WOTT of Oak Arbor, O., asks an interesting question as follows:

"With regard to the practice of putting glass in projection ports, I would appreciate your advice and comment on the following. In other words are the following statements correct?

(a) "A picture may be focussed through glass of good quality and even density, the surface planes of which are exactly parallel to each other, without loss of definition. However, (b) a picture so projected would be slightly smaller in dimensions than one projected through an open port.

"I tried a somewhat crude experiment, as follows: Assuming a lens of 1-inch focal length, I plotted out the various lines, first assuming no glass to be present in the port. I then placed a heavy sheet of plate glass in front of the lens and, placing needles in the paper, I sighted through the glass, traced the ray paths to where an image was formed back of the screen plane. The image thus obtained was slightly smaller than was the one without the glass present.

"Personally I am not sold on the idea of glass in the projection ports, but after discussion with local projectionists I became curious and tried the foregoing experiment. I now pass the matter along to you for comment."

Friend Wott is a projectionist formerly associated with Old Royal theatre in Oak Harbor. I am not myself "sold" on projection port glasses, though not for the reasons here set up. Frankly I was not very certain as to the question of change in dimensions, so relayed the question to the Bausch & Lomb engineers. Here is the answer, prepared by Mr. Alan A. Cook of the Bausch & Lomb Scientific Bureau:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: It is quite true, as Mr. Wott suggests, that the mounting of a plate of glass in the projection port does make a slight change in magnification on the screen. The simplest way to study such a question is to remember that, from the optical viewpoint, 1 inch of glass thickness is equivalent to 2/3-inch of air thickness, therefore the amount that magnification is altered by causing the light beam to pass through a glass-covered port is dependent upon the total projection distance and the thickness of the port glass.

"Suppose, for example, we have a port glass ¾-inch thick. The equivalent air length then would be ½-inch, hence the path of the light from lens to screen is shortened by the difference, or ¼-inch, when the glass port cover is in place.

"If the projection distance be 100 feet, it would mean the magnification would be reduced, but only by one part in 4,800, which, as you will agree would be absolutely unnoticeable under projection conditions.

"You then are safe in advising Mr. Wott that if the port glass cover be well made, from optical glass, the magnification effect, while present, would nevertheless be absolutely unnoticeable under projection conditions. Moreover, the interposition of such a glass port cover would not have the slightest effect on the quality of the screen image."

My own objection to glass port covers is also derived from the belief that there is a damage to the screen image for the reason that light is lost by reflection from both surfaces of the glass. Moreover, it is always a question whether or not the surfaces are absolutely clean. If they are not, then it is probable that screen definition will suffer.

I did not quite understand the statement that 1 inch of air is equivalent to 2/3-inch of glass, unless it had reference to the relative length of time required to traverse the two mediums. I therefore wrote Mr. Wott asking for an explanation, to which query he replied as follows:

"It is a bit difficult to answer the question set forth in your letter. The fact is that while we do not know what light consists of, we do know that it has certain definite properties, one of which is definite velocity, and it has different velocities in passing through different materials.

"Transparent materials, such as glass, are so much denser than air that in them the velocity of light is considerably reduced. The ratio of the velocity of light in any substance to the velocity of light in free space is a definite property of that substance, called its refractive index. Ordinary glass, for example, has a refractive index of about 1.5, which means that light travels in it 1/1.5 times as fast as it does in free space.

"When we translate this fact into optical terms and express it as a mathematical relationship, we find that a glass block, such as a plane parallel plate, has an actual length only 1/1.5 or two-thirds that of a block made of air of the same length. It may be expressed in other words by saying that light will travel through a 2-inch block of glass in the same length of time that it would take for it to get through 3 inches of air. This is the fundamental reason for the effect that you discussed in your last letter."

PICTURED CRATERS ARE MAGNIFIED

ON SEVERAL occasions correspondents have asked about the arc crater photographs on pages 22 and 23 of the National Carbon Company's booklet on carbons. In each case the inquiry was, in effect: "The statement is made that these are photographs of arc craters, but how can such amperages produce craters of such diameters?"

The answer is simple. They cannot and do not. True, the text may easily be construed as a statement that they are "life-size" craters, but as a matter of fact they are magnified several times. The photos are really designed to illustrate the relative diameters of craters produced by different amperages, or at least that is the way I understand the matter.

The text should have set forth the exact magnification. That it does not do so evidently is an oversight. I respectfully recommend to the National Carbon Company that this defect in its useful booklet be remedied in future printings.

PROJECTION CAN USE SUCH YOUNG MEN

I HAVE a letter from a young man 20 years old who is at present an electrician's helper. His name is George A. Bishop, Jr., and he lives in Fall River, Mass. This young man tells me that although he is not a projectionist, his ambition is to be one. Says he:

"What would I give to be beside a projector!"

May I respectfully suggest to local No. 424 and to its business agent, Herbert Slater, that an eye be kept on this young man. If his ambition keeps up, he certainly wil be "beside a projector" one of these days, he should by all means be there. Projection needs young men of that sort, the kind that has real interest and ambition. The I. A. needs them too.

ARC SEPARATION AT 120 AMPERES

J. L. SPOONBROOKE of Ashland, Wis., asks, "To decide a dispute will you be good enough to advise what the carbon separation should be when using a 120-ampere high-intensity arc, and just how one may know when the arc is operating to best advantage?"

The carbon separation for a 120-ampere straight high-intensity arc should be approximately ¾-inch. The arc will be operating at its highest efficiency when the flame from the negative carbon just barely overlaps the lower edge of the positive crater. If it does not reach the lower edge of the crater the highly incandescent gasses, upon which the H.I. arc depends for its best illumination, will not be held or compressed in the deep positive crater as they should be. The same thing occurs if it happens that the negative flame overlaps too much.

Never mind arguing about arc length as measured in inches. Keep the negative flame in correct position and the arc length takes care of itself. Just advance the positive carbon until the condition named is set up, and you need not worry so long as it is maintained.

WHAT YOU KNOW, NOT WHERE YOU LIVE

A. L. PARSONS, projectionist of the Liberty theatre in LeLeon, Tex., asks for a copy of the 365 examination questions and answers mentioned recently, then says:

"You are about the only one who seems to realize there really is such a thing as the small town, or "sticks" man, and that he does amount to something in the scheme of affairs. All the other fellows don't seem to think we amount to anything at all, but you are like a brother to them all, both large and small."

Well, now, that is one of the finest, most sincere compliments I think I have yet received. I once was a small town man myself. Also, I once was a farmer. In fact, I was raised on a farm until I became ten years old. In projection, I know your problems and can appreciate your difficulties, Friend Parsons. They very often are far greater than those of the city projectionist, who has all sorts of special help within call. Some of the smartest projection work is being done daily in small town theatres. After all, its knowledge, not geography, that counts in projection.

SEES MANAGER ONCE IN 90 DAYS!

HOWARD FOLEY, projectionist of Kingman, Ariz., writes at some length on another matter, and then says, "Have been projecting for about a year. Have the Bluebook and read your articles in Better Theatres regularly. Try to follow your instructions as closely as I can, but there are no other projectionists near that I can talk matters over with, and the manager is away most of the time. Only see him about every three months. I do the repair work and take care of all equipment. Have Simplex projectors, with Douglass soundhead and Operadio amplifier."

Well, anyhow I guess you don't get "put on the carpet" very often. I know some projectionists who would feel that Heaven was real close if they only had to interview friend manager once in ninety days!

electrogram

BULB INSTALLATION—It is good operating practise to follow out this procedure when installing a new bulb in an arc rectifier. Clean the inside of the bulb sockets with fine sandpaper; also the connectors which go to the bulb tip terminals. Turn off the load switch, put the bulbs in the sockets (do not connect the wires to the bulb tip terminal), turn on the a.c. power and let the bulbs burn for about 10 minutes, then turn off the a.c. and connect the bulb tip terminal connector. The rectifier is then ready for use. This prevents a flashover, which might have been caused by particles of black manganese deposit, getting on the filament.

● Write us your electrical problem. An expert reply will be promptly Electrographed.

No Other Letters  Like These! . . .

ADLER CAST ALUMINUM CHANGEABLE LETTERS

Give your attraction board every chance to make good—brighten it up with ADLER LETTERS. The solid aluminum construction eliminates bending and breakage—saves all repairs and replacements. Scientific design makes reading easy from any angle day or night. Prices now even lower than formerly paid for old style letters. Sample on request.

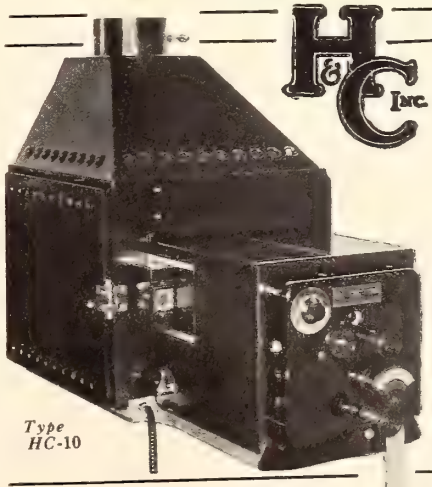
Approved and used by leading theatre interests and maintenance companies.

BEN ADLER SIGNS, INC.
STATE-LAKE BLDG. CHICAGO
190-B North State St. Ph. Ran. 4747

Richardson's Handbooks on Projection

IN THREE VOLUMES

Universally accredited as the best and most practical treatise ever published on projection and the many problems daily confronting the man in the projection room. The remedy for hundreds of every day perplexing annoyances is explained in detail and in simple language.



Volume 1-2 is devoted to the general subject of projection including its allied activities, but without information on sound. Volume 3 deals exclusively with sound. All three volumes are profusely illustrated and contain over 1400 pages of information and helps. Each volume contains Richardson's famous Question and Answer Series.

VOLUME 1-2 (one unit).....$ 6.20
VOLUME 3 ..... 5.10
VOLUMES 1-2 and 3 (complete set)..... 10.20

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

The Symbol of Perfection in Projection

H & C Inc.

Type HC-10

Always Improving

THE identification of "H & C" with Perfection in Projection Lighting is the result of many years of research and the active technical skill in the manufacture of "H & C" products.

HALL & CONNOLLY, INC.
24 VAN DAM STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

Write for Illustrated Booklet

EQUIPMENT AFFAIRS

Equipment News and Comment

BRASS SPEAKERS

• Speakers made of tempered brass and combined in a single operating unit, have been brought out by the Martin Band Instrument Company of Elkhart, Ind., for use in theatre sound reproduction systems. Combinations of from two to five speakers are obtainable.

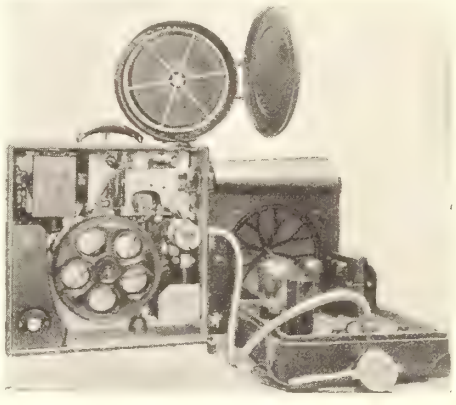
Use of brass is based on the principles this manufacturer has long followed in the production of band instruments, with the several speakers in each group tempered according to the frequency range to which it is adapted by its band pass filter. The filter net-work is designed for use with any sound system with 200-ohm or 500-ohm speaker line.

In general, the speakers are divided according to the low, the middle and the high frequencies. In the two-speaker system, however, one is designated a bass, the other an intermediate. The three-speaker system has a bass, intermediate and high, while in the five-speaker system there is one bass, two intermediates and two highs, with the middle- and high-frequency speakers having double throats and being operated by a single speaker unit per pair.

The two-speaker system is designed for theatres having not more than 400 seats; the three-speaker system for theatres having not more than 600 seats; the five-speaker system for theatres of not more than 1,500 seats. For larger houses, two three-speaker systems must be used.

The Martin company has also put on the market a complete sound reproducing system consisting in two soundheads with exciter lamps, photocells, motors and necessary attachments, amplifier and brass speakers. Amplifier specifications stated for theatres up to 1,000 seats are: Gain at 10,000 cycles, 92 decibels; at 12,000 cycles, 93.5 decibels. Line output, 500 ohms. Voltage supply for exciter lamps of 4, 5 or 7.5 amperes. Provides for tone control and photocell regulation.

Martin three-unit speaker system.



NEW COOLING SYSTEM

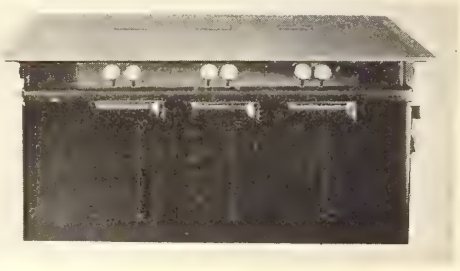
• A system of air conditioning including cooling facilities designed according to principles of "heat transference," has been developed by the United States Air Conditioning Corporation of Minneapolis.

The system involves the use of water-spray in the cooling process, but does not employ any special refrigerating equipment. A complete description of this equipment will be published in the April 7th issue.

PORTABLE REPRODUCER

• A new portable sound-on-film unit has been brought out by the Herman A. DeVry Company of Chicago, including a projector, soundhead, amplifier and speaker. The projector is of the same design as this company's Model E projector, and is of the straight-feed type. Intermittent star, cam and shaft are finished to a machine tolerance of five-tenths of 1/1000-inch. Film tension is taken care of at the aperture, sprockets and takeup. Light is from a 1,000-watt concentrated biplane filament lamp. Projector speed is controlled by an electric governor designed to make the rate of passage independent of fluctuations in current.

DeVry portable sound projector.



The sound head has a drum removable by the turn of a single thumbscrew. It encloses the photocell, which is of DeVry manufacture. Drive is through silent chain and sprockets, and a W. E. Robertson "centripetal compensating" wheel is the absorption medium. An adjustable film gate permits silencing of the sound track in operation without further manipulation.

The amplifier is of 15-watt capacity and designed for smooth changeover if operation of two projectors is desired. A phonograph may be attached, and a socket is provide for microphone and monitor.

The speaker is built into the top of the amplifier case. It has 65 feet of cable and the volume is controlled from the amplifier. An auxiliary speaker may also be hooked up.

TICKET RGISTERS

• Two new models of ticket issuing machines have been brought out by the General Register Corporation of New York. One is referred to as the Model H, the other as Model C.

General Register Model H ticket machine.

The Model H is a manually operated machine manipulated by the tap of a fingertip. It is entirely of metal construction and is installed to set flush with the counter. A single unit holds 3,000 tickets, and units up to six may be combined. Tickets may be issued at the rate of 120 per minute.

The Model C is of portable type which may be set on top of the counter or installed flush with the top. The mechanism is enclosed in a metal case of bronze finish with a top plate of chromium-plated brass secured to the case by a lock. The ticket plates are at the operator's side, and carry the price discs, the feed control and the recorders. The magazine is toward the rear.

Operation is manual, pressure of the ticket plate releasing the ticket and enabling it to be drawn forward for detachment. Multiple deliveries are possible by retaining the ticket plate in its backward position. Each ticket is recorded. The Model C may be had in types of two or five units.

SOUND MANUAL

• A publication on a line of product which also has considerable value as a source of instruction in modern speaker technique, has been issued by the Jensen Radio Manufacturing Company of Chicago. The book is called "Modern Sound Manual" and may be procured from the company

(6601 South Laramie Avenue, Chicago) for 25c.

The contents covers the full line of full-range speakers and speaker accessories manufactured by this concern, with complete technical descriptions and halftone reproductions of each type. General information on the application of various types of speakers is also included in the text, while technical specifications are given in diagram. Pages bearing title and text matter number 25, fastened in a loose-leaf binder.

REPLACE SCREENS

• Reports from a single branch territory of the National Theatre Supply, and covering but a short recent period, show the installation of 27 new screens. According to Arthur de Stefano, manager of the Memphis office, twenty Walker "Silversheets" were installed in the following houses:

Imp, Benton; Rialto, Camden; Dunlap, Clarksville; Conway, Conway; Star, El Dorado; Saenger, Hope; Princess, Hot Springs; Strand, Jonesboro; Rialto, Lepanto; Ritz, McGehee; Capitol, Newport; Princess, North Little Rock; Seanger, Pine Bluff; New, Sheridan; and Majestic, Stuttgart—all in Arkansas.

Southland, Brownsville, Tenn.; Linden Circle, Memphian, Princess, and Rialto, Memphis.

Also acquiring new screens were the Ritz, Parkin, Ark; Strand, Obion, Tenn.; Suzore, Memphis; Community, Pine Bluff, Ark.; New, Monette, Ark.; New, Sardis, Miss.; Joie, Fort Smith, Ark.

BY WAY OF NEWS

• J. J. Ferretti, formerly Eastern representative of the United States Air Conditioning Corporation of Minneapolis, manufacturers of Kooler-Aire and Arctic-Nu-Air equipment, has joined the Kooler-Aire division of the Sperry Products Comtors. Mr. Ferretti is general sales manager in charge of theatres.

A permanent display of ticket register equipment in an exhibit that includes a full-sized ticket booth, has been established by the General Register Corporation at its headquarters in the Loew State Building in New York. . . . And similarly the International Seat Corporation, which has opened a showroom in the Paramount Building, New York, under the supervision of J. George Feinberg, vice president.

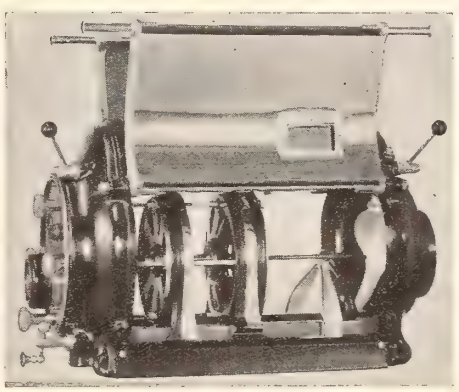
B. B. Buchanan, formerly of Balaban & Katz and Paramount Publix, has become vice president of Ben Adler Signs, Inc., of Chicago, developers of the Adler cast aluminum letter and manufacturers of marquee and display board equipment. Mr. Buchanan has been associated with theatre construction and maintenance for 16 years and was head of the B. & K. construction department.

N. C. Nussbaumer has opened offices in Chicago as a consultant in stage mechanics, covering hardware, rigging and related apparatus. Mr. Nussbaumer was formerly connected with such stage equipment manufacturers as Channon, and Klemm.

Your Guide in Remodeling

Peter M. Hulsken, Architect. Though born in Holland, Mr. Hulsken adopted the United States as his own country. He studied architecture, however, in Amsterdam and Paris. In this country he has been associated with architectural firms in New York, Chicago and other cities, but has been maintaining his own office since 1909. He has designed all types of buildings, but declares, "I like theatre designing really best of all."

That is the function of Better Theatres in general, and the particular function of the department, Planning the Theatre, published in each issue. This department has nothing to sell except practical architectural knowledge, which it offers absolutely free. Planning the Theatre is purely a readers' service department conducted by Peter M. Hulsken, who is a member of the American Institute of Architects and a specialist in designing theatres adapted to the average community. He will be glad to advise you—and will do so in his department without giving your name or address.



BETTER THEATRES
1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

When Buying Lamps Consider What's Back of the Name "STRONG"!

Presenting the New

STRONG

A. C. MOGUL

An arc lamp that operates smoothly and quietly on alternating current, and is intermediate in light intensity and operating costs between the present low intensity and the Hylo.

NRA

For Sale by Trustworthy Independent Supply Dealers Everywhere

The Strong Electric Corporation
2501 LAGRANGE STREET, TOLEDO, OHIO
Export Office: 44 Whitehall Street, New York City, N. Y.

Write today for free circular. No obligation.

PLANNING THE THEATRE

A SERVICE CONDUCTED BY PETER M. HULSKEN, A. I. A.

The Question:

WE WANT to construct a new theatre with a capacity of over 5,000, and enclose herewith a plan of the actual ground. The actual size would be enough for a capacity of 5,100, but probably we will obtain neighboring ground, a slide 10 meters (about 11 yards) from front to back, which would give a capacity of 6,000. As you offered in your monthly, we ask you to kindly let us have your help.

San Salvador is a tropical city, mostly very hot, and frequent temblors (slight earthquakes). We give several shows a day, the time between shows being only 30 minutes. For this reason ample stairs must be provided.—C. N. D. E.

The Answer:

AFTER GIVING the sketches careful study, I do not believe that your plans are practical. I am at a loss to figure out how you arrived at a seating capacity of 4,800 for such a small floor area. The sketch shows that you are using 16-inch wide seats placed 2 feet, 5 inches back to back. A 16-inch seat is entirely too narrow to be comfortable, and the distance of 2 feet, 5 inches from back to back is not advisable.

The building is entirely too short for two balconies of the size you indicate, and even if it would be possible to build those balconies, their incline would be so steep that the vision lines would be bad. I am sorry, but not being familiar with the theatre code in your territory, I do not know how many seats are allowable in a row between the aisles. I never have heard that a 16-inch seat is permissible to be used in theatres, but your code may mention something about that, too. At any rate, I will try to figure out how many seats of your dimensions and spacing could be placed in a theatre of that size.

Since the front and the rear dimensions vary, I will take the average width of the auditorium at 81 feet. After making an allowance for wall thickness and aisle space, there will be room for 48 seats across the width of the auditorium. According to your sketch, 85 feet are allowed for seats, which will give 35 rows, or a total capacity of 1,680 for the lower floor. The balcony circle is figured for 7 rows having 336 seats; the first balcony of 23 rows having 1,104 seats; and the second balcony of 24 rows having 1,152 seats, making the total seating capacity of the theatre 4,272. I doubt if this amount of seats really can be obtained after the plans have been drawn and allowances made for structural details, stairways, aisles, railings, etc. There are so many items which can not be visualized until actual plans are started and the whole matter gone into in detail.

My advice to you is, if you want to build a modern theatre of such a capacity, do not consider any seats less than 20 inches wide for the lower floor and do not space them closer than 31 inches from back to back. If the code allows, you could use 19-inch or 18-inch seats for the balcony. In the majority of cases the first balcony, or mezzanine, has the choice seats, and the most comfortable type of a seat, such as fautuels, are used in that case. The space from back-to-back should be at least 36 inches. Also let me strongly advise you against the building of the second balcony unless you have a deeper theatre. And by all means, consult a reputable theatre architect.

If, after you have gone over your plans again, you have any further questions, I shall be glad to answer them as fully as possible. I cannot give you any plans, for only an architect engaged to design you a theatre and who therefore had studied all your conditions to their fullest extent could give you plans that would have any value. Certainly you will have to engage an architect for such a project. But I shall be glad to advise you in any reliable and ethical way I can.

NOTE:

IN THIS department Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions pertaining to the preliminary consideration involved in the planning of a new theatre or in the remodeling of an existing one. Only requests for ideas will be answered, since this department cannot assume the practical functions of an architect. All communications intended for this department should be addressed to "Better Theatres," 1790 Broadway, New York. They will be answered in this department. None will be answered by mail. Although only initials will be used in signing the questions published, it is a requirement that all letters bear the signature and address of their writers. The replies will be prepared personally by Mr. Hulsken, who is a practical architect and a member of the American Institute of Architects.

The Question:

I HAVE a theatre, capacity 700, and the lobby is mainly the entrance of the City Hall also, as the Theatre is situated in the rear of the City Hall, and, you may understand that it is a hard proposition to make a neat lobby and keep it thus, as the population has access to it, in order that they can drop in and pay their taxes to the secretary of the city. Also, the Knights of Columbus have their hall in the third story of the building. This is to say that there are many people coming and going each day of the year.

The entrance to my theatre begins at the sidewalk; then there is a cement road coming to the doors of the City Hall, situated 30 feet distant. Then there is the entrance, and then six steps. The walls of the lobby are 12 feet apart and the height of the ceiling is 11 feet. The lobby is 22 feet long. There are two windows, each side of the entrance doors in the walls. These windows are 2 feet wide and 3 feet high.

In the lobby, I have the box office, which is a very nice one. It is portable. It is situated at the right coming in, just 4 feet before five other steps to the door of the theatre. In the lobby I now have four frames (brass for one-sheets). I have also installed one beaver-board on each side of the entrances, about 4 feet from the floor, where the wooden (lower) portion stops. On each of these beaverboards, which I painted in blue-black (mustached in light blue) I have installed eight frames for 11 x 14 photos, and one large one in the middle for 22 x 24. This beaverboard is 3 feet high and framed with an orange moulding all around. The frames for the 11 x 14 photos are made of strong cardboard, decorated with gold particles dusted on the glued cardboard. Please tell me how you would do a neat job with this lobby.

The ceiling is painted white. What color would you use for the ceiling, walls and the floor, which is covered with linoleum (battleship gray)? The box office is solid mahogany.

Although the steps in the lobby are of very strong wood and were well installed, with the passing of so many people they are squeaking. Can you tell me how to overcome this?—U. S. A.

The Answer:

YOUR PROBLEM certainly is a tough one to solve, as no matter how much you try to keep the lobby clean and neat, it will be practically impossible to do so, as so many people other than your patrons are constantly using it. Therefore, I suggest that you separate the theatre lobby from the entrance to the City Hall.

I believe that, according to your sketch, this can be accomplished by moving the doors in the side walls, which lead to the City Hall, forward to a position near the front entrance steps, then place a partition about 6 feet from the front steps, separating the theatre lobby from the City Hall entrance. Place the ticket booth in the center of this partition with doors on each side. This would give you an independent lobby, which could be made very attractive by using wood-grained materials or even linoleum, or some similar material, for the walls.

As the poster cabinets will be placed on the side walls, there will be only a small area left to be covered, so the cost of this material will be very small and the effects obtained satisfactory. If linoleum or any other similar material is to be used, I suggest a vivid red tone with horizontal strips 2 inches wide every 30 inches, these strips to be finished in old gold. The ceiling could be suitably painted a light orange. Should you use the wood-grained materials, either in walnut or mahogany finish, the ceiling should be finished in ivory.

Use concealed lighting fixtures, and if possible, equip the poster cabinets with a strip-light at the top.

If this scheme can be carried out, why not cover the lobby floor with carpet? It would give a much richer atmosphere. If it is not possible to separate the lobby from the City Hall entrance, I advise you to cover the walls with some kind of material which will stand the wear and tear better than an ordinary paint job.

The trouble of squeaking steps can be overcome by keying the treads where they house into the stringers fom underneath, and also by keying up under the center horses, but be sure that this is done evenly.

●

The Question:

WE ARE contemplating the erection of a small theatre and would appreciate your ideas on same. Size of town is less than 1,000. Size of lot is 50 x 150 feet. We want about 450 seats and an apartment above the theatre.

Would tile and stucco be advisable? Would ———— [acoustic tile] for sound be advisable? Would a 12-foot ceiling auditorium be high enough? Could you give me an idea for a lobby?

We cannot have an expensive layout, but do want it nice and with good sound. —E. C. D.

The Answer:

AS THE SIZE of the town in which you contemplate the erection of a new theatre is less than 1,000 population, there must be a large rural community to draw from, otherwise a 450-seat theatre may prove too large. I advise against investing more than a very small amount of money in such an enterprise, unless you are absolutely convinced that there are enough people in your locality to patronize your theatre and make this venture a profitable one.

The lot size, 50 x 150 feet, is large enough for a 450-seating capacity. I suggest that you plan a center section of twelve seats, with an aisle on each side, and two wall sections of six seats each, making a total of 24 seats across the width of the auditorium.

I do not advise tile and stucco for the exterior walls. Use face or common brick with hollow tile backing, or build the walls out of reinforced concrete. I have found this method least expensive in several localities. Use sectional forms not over 5 feet high. The wall thickness will be 9 inches, with 12-inch piers to support trusses.

The acoustic tile you name will give you very satisfactory results. By stripping or furring the walls all plaster work can be eliminated, and that certainly is a saving and speeds up construction. The manufacturer of this material can supply you with some very interesting designs, obtained by the use of a V-grooved plane. This material also comes in various colors and does not require painting or decorating.

A 12-foot ceiling is entirely too low. Do not make the ceiling height less than 18 feet.

Why not use the same material you are using for the auditorium, for the lobby? Some of this is made with a finish resembling stone. Or you could use a plaster board with a wood-grained finish. For the floor use terrazzo, tile or composition. Provide for plenty of display frames, along the side walls of the lobby.

Getting Ready to Cool Your Theatre

(Continued from page 13)

atmospheric weight is generally referred to as a vacuum, or partial vacuum. In reality less than atmospheric pressure might be considered as a negative pressure, and more than atmospheric pressure might be considered as positive pressure. In mechanical practice both situations are considered similar, both pressure conditions differing only in the degree or differential in terms of pressure.

It is important to appreciate this conception for there are some refrigerants with characteristics which react under this negative pressure or vacuum just as others respond under positive pressures. As a matter of fact, one of the types of air conditioning equipment in use in theatres functions on this principle of vacuum rather than the conception of positive pressure. With the whole system under a partial vacuum the

"MAGIC-WEATHER"
REG. U. S. PATENT OFFICE
• FANS
• AIR-WASHERS
• COOLING EQUIPMENT
SCOTT BALLANTYNE CO.
TELEPHONE ATLANTIC 3345
219 NORTH 16th ST., OMAHA, NEBR.

GORDOS

AMPLIFIER TUBES
Featuring the new carbon plate, having rigid six point support insuring maximum efficiency.
Complete line of power tubes, rectifier tubes and photo-cells.
Inquiries Invited
GORDOS PRODUCTS COMPANY
17 W. 60th St., N. Y. C.
G.-211 and 242

SOUND EQUIPMENT
Rebuilt and New

Projectors, Screens, Booths, Opera Chairs, Spotlights, Stereopticons, Film Cabinets, Portable Projectors, Arc Lamps, M. P. Cameras, Carbons, Mazda Lamps, Tickets and Machines. . . .
Projection machines repaired and overhauled. Repair parts for all makes of opera chairs. Equipment bought at highest prices.
S. O. S. CORP.
1600 Broadway, New York City

Motion Picture Patents My Specialty
PATENTS
William N. Moore
Patent Attorney
Loan and Trust Building
Washington, D. C.
The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $10, and I will examine the pertinent U. S. patents and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure. Personal attention. Established 35 years.
Copyright your play $5.00
Trade-Mark your goods or titles $30.00 refrigeration cycle occurs just as described. Either of these systems is in reality a vapor-compression system.

TYPES OF REFRIGERATION

PERHAPS THE EARLIEST type of refrigerating machine, and a type very generally used today, is the carbon dioxide (CO_2) vapor-compression type. It was first believed that perhaps this type was the most acceptable due primarily to certain favorable characteristics of the refrigerant, carbon dioxide.

CARBON DIOXIDE

Carbon dioxide is a colorless, tasteless, odorless, non-poisonous, non-explosive gas, which means that it is safe to use in a theatre. There is one other characteristic of CO_2 which, though not distinctly of disadvantage, certainly does not make the refrigerating cycle any easier. Carbon dioxide must be subjected to very high pressure in order to liquefy in ordinary temperature ranges. For instance, the absolute vapor pressure of carbon dioxide at 70° F. is 849.3 pounds per square inch. Such pressures require that the compressor be built extremely rugged. The handling or responsibility for a machine operated under such pressure should have the attention of a thoroughly trained and capable engineer. Maintenance on such machinery is extremely important and repairs are usually expensive. The theatre manager or owner who is satisfied or willing to have a man of no training handle and care for such equipment is not properly protecting the investment represented by such an installation.

COMPRESSOR

The carbon dioxide refrigerating machine is composed of the compressor, the condensing coils, the cooling coils, and the motor that drives the compressor. In addition there are valves, gauges, lubricating equipment, pumps and many other accessories peculiar to the particular make of machine and specific job. The compressors of the CO_2 type can be of any one of several designs—double acting, single cylinder; single acting, single cylinder; single acting, double cylinder. Sometimes the action may be vertical instead of horizontal. However, the particular type of compressor has usually been thoroughly studied by the manufacturer and to a large extent must be left in his hands. These various types are pointed out because many times there is a question of available space, and that problem can often be solved by going to the manufacturer who makes a type of machine that would fit into it.

CONDENSERS

The condensers generally consist of several tiers of tubes or pipes, connected at the ends by return bends through which pipes the condenser water flows. Each of these tubes or pipes pass through a still larger pipe, and it is through this annular or ringlike space between the pipes that the compressed refrigerant flows and is cooled by the water in the smaller pipe. These banks or tiers of pipes within pipes look very much like the banks of pipe radiation often seen back stage along the rear or side walls. In these condenser banks the inlet for the water is at the bottom while the refrigerant enters at the top. This means that the hottest refrigerant gas comes in contact with the warmest condenser water first, and the coldest condensed refrigerant comes in contact with the coldest water. Obviously an efficient arrangement.

COOLING COILS

The cooling coils for this type of plant look very much like the condensing coils; they, however, are not of the double pipe construction. The condensing coils are usually located in the engine room or at least as close as possible to the compressor, while the most common practice is to locate the cooling coils in the incoming air duct and to spray them with regular air washer sprays. The spraying of water over the cooling coils is not only a very satisfactory method of effecting the heat transfer, but also serves to prevent the coils from freezing up solid with the frost condensed and frozen from humid air. Without this water spray, the coils would freeze solid and block the free passage of air to the ventilating fan.

PREPARING TO OPERATE

In preparing one of these CO_2 installations for operation this coming season proceed according to the following schedule:

1. Check for leaky compressor valves.
2. Check for defective packing.
3. Be sure the whole system is clean.
4. Be sure the oil lines and lubricating systems are clean.
5. Check for leaks in the system.
6. Be sure all gauges register accurately.
7. Check motor and circuit breakers.

Frankly, unless there is a very capable engineer in charge of the plant, the wisest thing to do is to call on the company that manufactured or installed the plant, to make an inspection and render an estimate and detailed list of conditions that must be cared for. If the engineer is capable, and particularly if he operated the plant last season, he should have now in his possession a complete list of the work necessary to condition the plant for the coming season. Everything needed should be taken care of, because with the very substantial investment and the expense of operation, it is penny-wise and pound-foolish not to obtain maximum benefits from it.

PART-VACUUM SYSTEM

The other type of refrigeration machine which has proved generally acceptable for theatre air conditioning is also of the vapor-compression principle, but the entire system operates under a partial vacuum. This system uses as a refrigerant a gas known by various trade names, such as Dieline, Refrigerant E, Trielene, Carrene. Though chemically these refrigerants are not identical they are basically chemical derivatives of the hydro-carbons. These refrigerants have a specific gravity of 1.25, approximately, and are capable of absorbing a small amount of water, and they are also slightly soluble in water. From their chemical composition these refrigerants can best be referred to as dichlorethylenes. No attempt is being made here to go into the thermodynamic characteristics of any of the above refrigerating fluids, and the desire is only to emphasize that the equipment about to be briefly described though a vapor-compression system may operate with any one of a group of refrigerants which differ somewhat in character, but all of them function through the refrigerating cycle, with pressure differentials below atmospheric pressure.

ELEMENTS OF SYSTEM

Essentially this equipment is composed of the compressor, the condenser and the cooler. The compressor is of the rotary or centrifugal type of from one stage to several stages. The condenser is really an enclosed tank, and through this tank pass many rather small tubes. It is through these tubes that the condenser water passes. The cooler is also an enclosed tank, and through the cooler the many small tubes carry the water that is to be cooled for use in the air washer. There are many other accessories, such as traps, valves, pumps, eliminators, etc., and usually a directly connected air- and water- cooled motor to drive the centrifugal compressor.

COOLING PROCESS

Remember in this description that high vacuum means low pressure, and low vacuum means high pressure. The centrifugal compressor maintains a high vacuum in the cooler tank. An enclosed centrifugal liquid pump located in the bottom of the cooler tank lifts the liquid to a distributing plate over the coils (containing the water to be cooled), where it falls or trickles down over the cooling tubes. Remember, a high vacuum is maintained in this cooler, which means low pressure, and at this low pressure the refrigerant evaporates rapidly. In evaporating rapidly the refrigerant absorbs the necessary heat of vaparization from the water passing throgh the thin bronze tubes, and in this way it accomplishes the cooling of the water later to be used in the air washer for cooling the air.

The vapor from the cooler is drawn off by the compressor. The action of the compressor is to reduce the vacuum (increase the pressure), and from the compressor the vapor under low vacuum (high pressure) passes into the condenser. In passing over the many bronze tubes in the condenser, which tubes carry the condenser water, the vapor drops its heat of vaporization and heat of compression, condenses into a liquid and passes through a pipe outlet equipped with a special trap into the reservoir at the bottom of the cooler tank. From here it is again picked up by the centrifugal pump and the cycle begins over again.

There are some very definite scientific and technical advantages to this type of equipment, but to explain them would re-

(Continued on page 34)

NEW THEATRE PROJECTS

Following is a list of theatre projects involving new constructions, remodeling and re-equipping. This last has been compiled from the latest reports available on March 6. The listing is arranged alphabetically by states. An asterisk indicates information received since a prior report.

California

INDIO—Egyptian Theatre, L. A. Pawley, proprietor. Will remodel theatre and install new stage and screen equipment, cooling plant, seats, floor covering and floodlights. Population 1,900.

LONG BEACH — Ocean Boulevard Co., 313 E. Ocean Boulevard. Architect, Clifford A. Balch, 1914 S. Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles. Plans for repairing hotel and theatre building.

Colorado

LITTLETON — Population 2,000. Fred Lind, Steamboat Springs. Remodeling and rebuilding old Lux Theatre. To install 350 seats, lighting fixtures and sound.

Georgia

ATLANTA—W. M. Buttrill, contractor, 109 Candler Road, Decatur. To erect theatre building.

GRIFFIN—Population 10,000. Owner, care of Gresham Lumber Company. Alterations to theatre building.

Illinois

CHICAGO—Owner care of architect, L. E. Russel, 105 W. Adams Street. To erect theatre. Cost $40,000.

CHICAGO—Parkway Theatre, 2736 N. Clark Street. Remodeling. Cost $15,000. Architect, D. S. Charvat, 822 W. 70th Street. Work will consist of new marquee, 1,000 new seats and projection booth, etc. General contractor, R. LeVine & Co., 822 W. 79th Street.*

Indiana

PERU—Wallace Theatre, Thomas K. Valos, proprietor. Will remodel theatre. Population 15,000.

Iowa

DES MOINES—Shopping Districts Builders, care of T. I. Stoner, president, Stoner-McCray System, 1213 Grand. To erect apartment and theatre building. Seating capacity of theatre 550. Cost $100,000.

Louisiana

OPELOUSAS — Collins Conrad, Breaux Bridge altering old Christman & Riseman Building into modern motion picture theatre. Population 6,300.

Maryland

BALTIMORE — Perry Amusement Company, Liberty Hights Avenue, south of Gwynn Oak Avenue. Architect, John J. Zink, 2826 Overland Avenue. To erect theatre building.

BALTIMORE—I. L. Hornstein, care of Regent Theatre, 1627 Pennsylvania Avenue. Architect, David Harrison, 2431 Callow Avenue. To remodel two buildings into a theatre.

Montana

GLASGOW — John Survant, Malta, Montana. To erect theatre building. Architect, F. F. Bussuot, Havre. Seating capacity 874. Population 22,000.*

New York

NEW YORK CITY—Nissel Realty Corporation, William Klein, president, Remick Building, 219-221 West 46th Street. Alterations to building to include restaurants, banquet halls and a motion picture theatre. Cost, $50,000.

North Carolina

BURLINGTON—Population 9,700. North Carolina Theatres, Jack E. Austin, Manager. To improve and enlarge theatre. Cost $10,000.

Ohio

GRANVILLE—Granville Townpeople Trustees, H. L. Williams, clerk. Remodeling theatre. Architect, Merle Orr, Newark. To make stage improvements, ceiling insulation, new heating plant, etc. Population 1,400.

WILLSHIRE—I. A. Kalver, W. Monroe Street. To remodel building for theatre. Seating capacity 600.

Texas

BROWNSVILLE—Population 22,000. Dreamland theatre, corner 11th and Washington. Remodeling and installing new sound equipment.

HARLINGEN — Population 12,000. Texas Consolidated Theatres, Inc., care of Carl Hoblitzel, 1921 Elm, Dallas. To erect theatre. Ed. F. Brady, San Benito, local manager. Seating capacity, 1,500. Cost, $125,000.

Virginia

HARRISONBURG — Population 7,200. Valley Enterprises, Inc., S. Main Street. To erect theatre. Seating capacity, 600. Cost, $35,000.

INCORPORATIONS

Fine Arts Theatres, care of C. E. Kennemer, Jr., 2834 N. Haskell, Dallas, Texas. Increased capital $2,000. Incorporators, C. E. Kennemer, Jr., and others.

Waverly Theatre Company, care of Hugh F. McKee, 1929 65th Street, S. E., Portland, Ore. Increased capital $1,000. Incorporators, Hugh F. McKee and others.

Howard Theatres, care of James Howard, Wilmington, N. C. Increased capital $100,000.

Norwood Theatre Company, 6531 Woodward, Detroit, Mich. Increased capital $25,000.

South Pasadena Theatre Corporation, care of Charles A. Buckley, care of Fox West Coast Theatres, Inc., 1609 W. Washington Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal. Increased Capital $1,000. Incorporators, Charles A. Buckley and others.

Courter Amusement Company, Inc., care of Adolph J. Retting, 508 Main Street, East Orange, N. J. Increased Capital $125,000.

Spring
BUYERS NUMBER
APRIL 7
Goes to Press April 2
Better Theatres
A Quigley Publication
1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ADVERTISERS

A

Adler Signs, Inc., Ben 25

B

Bausch and Lomb Optical Co 22
Best Devices Company 23
Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co 5
Brenkert Light Projection Co 21

E

Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co .....Fourth Cover

G

Garver Electric Company 23
General Register Corporation 3
Gordos Products Company 29

H

Hall & Connolly 25
Heywood-Wakefield Co. 6

I

Imperial Electric & Mfg. Co. 23
International Projector Corporation. Second Cover
International Seat Corporation .....Third Cover

M

Mellaphone Corporation 22
Moore, William N. 29

N

National Carbon Company Inc 23

P

Projection Optics Company, Inc. 18

S

S. O. S. Corporation 29
Scott-Ballantyne Company 29
Strong Electric Corporation 27

W

Weber Machine Corporation 18
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 22

Among Contributors to This Issue:

¶ Robert O. Boller (Building in the Face of Obstacles) is a Kansas City architect who has designed over a hundred motion picture theatres, large and small, in city and town. He has frequently contributed to Better Theatres, and his present discussion marks his reappearance in our pages after quite an absence. With the more human side of "Mr. Brown's" remarkable venture told, Mr. Boller will tell more fully of the architect's part of the job in the April 7th issue.

¶ The series, Constructing Theatre Advertising, is running in alternate issues. Having reached consideration of type, it will be devoted to this subject in the two following articles, which will appear in the May 5th and June 30th issues.

¶ J. T. Knight, Jr. (Getting Ready to Cool Your Theatre) is an engineer in several technical fields and has been in theatre maintenance work for many years. He is now in charge of maintenance for Paramount Publix, with headquarters in New York. His present article will be followed by a discussion of other types of air treatment especially in their relation to cooling. This will importantly involve ventilation systems, but while ventilation is principally concerned with the provision of pure fresh air at proper pressures, it has decided bearing upon the cooling problem, hence this second article, like the present one, will be an attempt to guide the theatre owner and manager in his preparation for the approaching warm months.

¶ Leo T. Parker (The Fundamentals of Contract Law) is a Cincinnati attorney who contributes regularly to Better Theatres on legal phases of theatre operation. Usually discussions of specific classes of law are alternated in successive issues with reviews of late higher court decisions. His present analysis of contract law, however, will carry through into the April 7th issue.

¶ Kendall Clough (Amplification in Reproduction Today) is president and chief engineer of the Clough-Brengle Company of Chicago, manufacturers of amplifiers and speakers used in theatre reproduction.

BETTER THEATRES CATALOG BUREAU

"Better Theatres" offers on this page an individual service to its readers. Detailed information and catalogs concerning any product listed herewith will be sent to any theatre owner, manager, architect or projectionist. Just fill in the coupon below and mail to "Better Theatres" Division of Motion Picture Herald. Readers will find that many of the products listed by this Bureau are advertised in this issue.

A
Accounting systems
Acoustical installations
Adapters, mazda
Advertising novelties
Advertising projectors
Air conditioning equipment
Aisle rope
Amplifiers
Arc regulators
Automatic curtain control

B Banners Batteries
Blocks, pulleys, stage-rigging
Bolts, chair anchor
Booths, projection (portable)
Bulletin boards, changeable

C Cameras
Canopies for fronts
Carbons
Carpets
Carpet cushion
Cement, film
Cement for fastening chairs
Chairs, theatre
Change makers
Changeable letters
Changeovers
Color hoods
Condensers
Cutout machines

D Dimmers
Disinfectants—perfumed
Doors, fireproof
Draperies
Drinking fountains

E Earphones
Effect machines
Electric measuring instruments
Electric fans
Electric motors
Electric generating plants
Electric signs
Electric signal and control systems
Emergency lighting plants

F
Film cleaning machines
Film processing machines
Film rewinders
Film shipping cases
Film splicing machines
Fireproof curtains
Fireproof doors
Flashers, electric sign
Flood lighting
Footlights
Fountains, decorative Frames, poster, lobby display

H
Hand driers
Hardware, stage
Heating systems
Horns
Horn lifts and towers

L
Ladders, safety
Lamps, decorative Lamp dip coloring
Lamps, general lighting
Lamps, incandescent projection
Lamps, high intensity
Lamps, reflecting arc
Lenses
Lighting systems, complete
Linoleum

M Marquees
Mats and runners
Motion picture cable
Motor generators
Music stands

O
Orchestra pit fittings, furnishings
Organs
Organ novelty slides
Organ lifts

P Perfumers
Photo-electric cells
Plastic fixtures and decorations
Pop-corn machines
Portable projectors
Portable sound equipment
Projection lamps
Projectors
Projection room equipment
Public address systems

R Rails, brass
Rectifiers
Reflectors
Regulators, mazda
Reels
Reel end signals
Reel cases
Resonant orchestra platforms
Rheostats

S
Safes, box office
Safes, film Schools
Screens
Screen masks and modifiers
Screen resurfacing service
Seat covers
Seat indicators
Seats, theatre
Signs, directional
Signs, marquee
Slides
Shutters, metal fire
Sound equipment, complete
Sound heads
Speakers, dynamic
Speed indicators
Spotlights
Stage lighting equipment
Stage scenery
Stage rigging
Statuary
Stereopticons
Switchboards
Switches, automatic

T
Tapestries
Telephones, inter-communicating
Tickets
Ticket booths
Ticket choppers
Ticket selling machines
Transformers

U Uniforms
Upholstery materials

V
Vacuum cleaning equipment
Ventilating systems
Vending machines

W
Wall coverings

"BETTER THEATRES" DIVISION, Motion Picture Herald,
1790 Broadway, New York

Gentlemen: I should like to receive reliable information on the following items:

(Refer to items by name, as listed above)

1 ..... 7 .....
2 ..... 8 .....
3 ..... 9 .....
4 ..... 10 .....
5 ..... 11 .....
6 ..... 12 .....

Remarks: .....

.....

Name ..... Theatre ..... City .....

State ..... Seating Capacity .....

Getting Ready to Cool Your Theatre

(Continued from page 30)

quire delving into the thermodynamics of refrigerants. There are also some practical advantages—and disadvantages. (1) The fact that such equipment is built as a unit, including motor, compressor, condenser and cooler, means economy of space and compactness. (2) Getting away from the excessively high pressures of CO_2 is distinctly an operating advantage.

However, it seems to be harder for the average operating engineer or theatre manager to gain a clear conception of pressure differential expressed in terms of vacuum than expressed in positive pressures on the CO_2 system. This difficulty, combined with the attitude of some of the manufacturers and their engineers, seems to have given everybody the idea that there is some great mystery about this type of refrigerating cycle.

There is one other point: Because the whole equipment is built as a unit and completely housed-in and insulated, it seems to be very much more difficult to make repairs, because so much of the equipment must be taken down; in brief, it is not accessible. Consequently it is imperative that this type of machine be gone over most carefully before the beginning of the air conditioning season.

PREPARING TO OPERATE

In planning the overhauling of this type of equipment check carefully the following parts:

1. The motor.
2. The compressor, especially the seal.
3. The liquid pump and trap in the return liquid line.
4. The purge units, which are used to keep air and other non-condensible gases out of the system.
5. Rectifier unit.
6. Check carefully all controls, gauges, etc.
7. Check for leaky condenser or cooler tubes, and if necessary (because replacement cannot be made) remove the leaky tubes and close holes in header plates with screw plugs of bronze.

In this overhauling consult the engineer and examine his operating log for last season, get prices and detailed estimates from the manufacturers of the equipment, but remember that there are other concerns who can do such overhauling jobs in a very satisfactory manner—provided, of course, that the original manufacturer will sell necessary parts at fair prices for others to install.

STEAM-JET TYPE

A rather new development in air conditioning, though the principle is very old, should be discussed. This is especially for the consideration of those theatre owners who are thinking of installing air conditioning equipment. There is absolutely no basic reason why a system of this type should not prove highly successful and economical for theatre operations.

This new system is the steam-jet refrigeration unit. Many features of this principle tend to indicate a most satisfactory installation for theatre purposes, such as:

1. Absence of chemical refrigerants.
2. Minimum number of moving parts.
3. The elimination or minimizing of noise and vibration.
4. Light in weight.
5. Rather low in first cost.
6. Minimum operating cost, the elimination of the excessive electric power bills.
7. The fact that it operates with 5 to 6 pounds of steam (any low pressure boiler plant can provide this).
8. Maintenance costs are reduced to a minimum.

USE OF "DRY ICE"

Here is another thought for those who have theatres equipped with CO_2 machine, especially if the theatres are located at some distance from the source of supply of CO_2 gas in drums.

Carbon dioxide solidified (dry ice) is quite cheap as compared to CO_2 in drums, and it can be shipped substantial distances very inexpensively. The cost of transporting the heavy drums or cylinders of CO_2 must be borne by the theatre, and in addition, as these cylinders are very expensive, the theatre ultimately pays for them in the price they pay for the gas. But the use of solid CO_2 necessitates additional equipment known as converterters, into which the solid CO_2 is placed. The cover of the converter is secured, and the CO_2 begins to evaporate and will continue to do so until it develops it characteristic vapor pressure within the converter. This, of course, provided that the converter has been properly designd and the proper charge of solid CO_2 has been placed in it. After a certain pressure has been reached within the converter, the gas can be fed or loaded into the compressor and system.

This idea is well worth investigation, for the converters are not particularly expensive and they need no foundations.

Complete air conditioning as I have indicated it in these general systems, and even refrigeration in an exact sense, are not always available. Fortunately, they frequently are unnecessary. Atmospheric comfort as applied to theatres, really divides itself into two distinct functions: First, ventilation, which means the delivery and proper distribution of a sufficient quantity of air to the auditorium. Second, the conditioning of the air to be delivered. It is emphatically pointed out that the theatre owner or manager should devote much attention to the first function, ventilation, and get all possible results and returns from that. If refrigeration proves necessary, it can then be installed.

The Fundamentals of Contract Law

(Continued from page 15)

affixed to the note. However, the court held the employer liable and in effect said that since it was proved that when the signature was affixed both the employer and the employe intended to be bound, the rubber-stamp signature was equally as binding as one pen written.

In still another case (190 S. W. 1045), where the same point of the law was involved, a higher court said:

"The word 'writing' in law not only means words traced with a pen or stamp, but printed or engraved or made legible by any other device."

Also, the same law is effective where a manager affixes a signature with a typewriter intending to make a valid contract. (195 Pac. 316).

Moreover, it is immaterial whether a theatre owner or his authorized employe signs a contract by full name or initials, providing the theatre owner intended to be bound when the signature was affixed.

For example, in the case of Meaton v. Meyers, 33 Ill. 424, it was disclosed that a principal signed a contract "H.C.M." In the later litigation which developed the court was presented the question whether or not the contract was valid.

After carefully considering all details of the controversy the court held the signer liable and stated that any person or his authorized agent may make a valid legal obligation by using any form of signature or mark if the signature is substituted for the signer's name with intentions to bind the employer.

On the other hand, it is important to know that a party suing on a contract or other instrument signed with a rubber-stamp, typewriter, or initials, is bound to prove to the satisfaction of the court that the signature was affixed by the employer or authorized employe with intentions of making a valid contract.

However, in view of these past higher court decisions involving various phases of the law, it is interesting to observe that the mere act of a theatre employe in signing his employer's name by means of a rubber-stamp, typewriter, initials or otherwise, for the purpose of defrauding the employer, renders the employe liable to conviction of the crime of forgery.

Notwithstanding this legal rule the theatre owner always is liable on the contract or obligation if he has placed the employe in a responsible position, or has by word or act led the other party to the contract to believe that the employe possessed authority to make binding contracts of the kind involved in the litigation.

[TO BE CONTINUED]

YOU WILL RESEAT

. . . and when you do . . . you will demand . . . the acme in comfort . . . low initial cost . . . ease of installation . . . minimum maintenance . . . enduring quality . . . color scheme to match your decorations at no extra cost . . . a chair that will not cause distress to your patrons by ripped clothing.

SO . . . you will naturally select U16 because for the first time in history you can have all these features in ONE chair.

The complete FLOATING COMFORT of U16 is unexcelled. Designed by automobile body engineers on the principle of unit construction, each chair is an individual unit of interchangeable parts.

YOU SHOULD SEE THIS CHAIR AND BE CONVINCED!

It is on permanent exhibit in the U16 showroom in the Paramount Building, New York . . . or at any of the company's representatives in the key cities.

U16 PHAETON

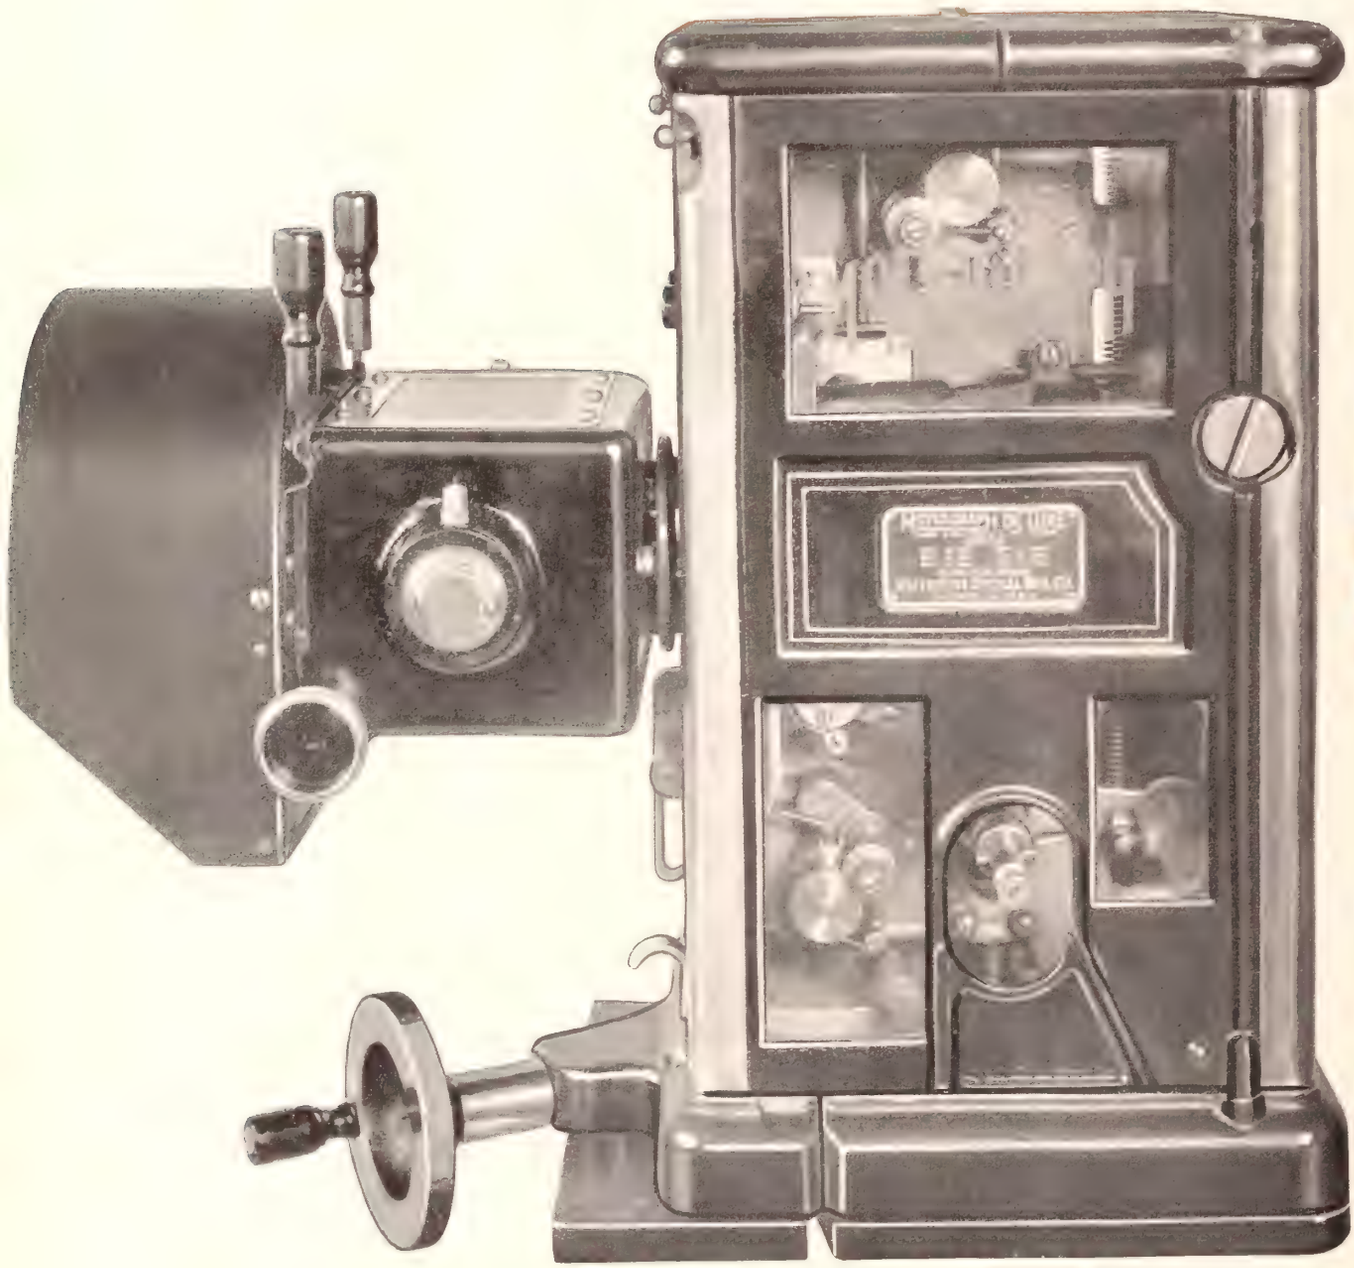
The U16 PHAETON is equipped with a soft mattress welted seat . . . 12 auto springs . . . soft boxing which prevents cracking at the corners . . . 2" upholstered back. Its parts are steel units, interlocking, without the use of bolts, nuts or screws.

The Luxurious FLOATING COMFORT of U16 is made possible by the application of the identical "POSTURE ANGLE" of the automobile seat to the fixed chair. Designed and built of quality material by the Union City Body Company, makers of fine automobile bodies for over a quarter of a century, it brings the easy comfort of the auto to the motion picture theatre.

INTERNATIONAL SEAT CORPORATION
A subsidiary Union City Body Co.
PARAMOUNT BUILDING, NEW YORK, N. Y.
J. George Feinberg, Vice-President in charge of sales

INTERNATIONAL SEAT CORPORATION
A subsidiary Union City Body Co.
PARAMOUNT BUILDING, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Gentlemen:



Please send me complete details about your U16 PHAETON. I am interested in reseating my theatre of ..... seats, located in .....

Name .....

Address .....

City ..... State .....

THE NEW MODEL H-U MOTIOGRAPH DE LUXE
MECHANISM

A NEW MODEL OF THE FAMOUS MOTIOGRAPH DE LUXE MECHANISM EMBODYING MANY NEW FEATURES AND IMPROVEMENTS.

IT IS UNIVERSALLY ADAPTABLE TO DIFFERENT PROJECTOR STANDS AND SOUND HEADS!

SEE YOUR INDEPENDENT THEATRE SUPPLY DEALER. HE HAS NEW LOW PRICES AND INTERESTING INFORMATION FOR YOU.

(If your dealer is unable to supply you or give you this information, write us, giving his name and address.)

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MANUFACTURING CO.

4431 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

NAMING 200 FILM PERSONNEL APPEARING IN RADIO BROADCASTS

BOARD OF REVIEW'S 250 SELECTED PICTURES

Vol. 114, No. 12 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879 ... lished Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 ... March 17, 1934

Seen It?

has already won the applause of filmdom's severest critics. She has been awarded the Honor Page, Screenland's highest tribute, by editor Delight Evans, who says that Jean Muir "seems inspired to present the ideal of wholesome American womanhood as no other movie girl has ever done before"... Variety Daily calls her work "a topping performance, rounded and mellow"..."She reveals not only her fresh beauty but her poignant acting ability" says Lawrence Reid, editor of Motion Picture Magazine and Classic... And Film Daily declares that "Jean Muir looks like a star of unique qualities." Warner Bros. believe that these significant tributes presage many more triumphs to follow the definite success this new star has already recorded in pre-release engagements of

"AS THE EARTH TURNS"

With Donald Woods, Russell Hardie, Emily Lowry, Arthur Hohl, Dorothy Peterson, David Landau, Clara Blandick. From the best-seller by Gladys Hasty Carroll. Directed by Alfred E. Green. Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

"As The Earth Turns" can be profitably sold as the "First Bankless Picture." Complete material from the record-breaking Dallas campaign, available now from Warner Bros. Advertising Dept., will show you how

Sparkling

SYLVIA FROOS

A million conversations hush . . . millions of fingers tune in more sharply...Sylvia Froos is on the air. Hers is one of radio's most beautiful voices . . . and highest-priced. In that musical hit "Gay Paree," Sylvia stopped the show. And now she's on the screen for FOX. Motion picture audiences will first thrill to the full charm of her personality when she sings "This Is Our Last Night Together" and "Broadway's Gone Hill Billy"... in "Stand Up and Cheer!" (formerly "Fox Follies"). She's one of the 1,001 delightful surprises.

★ ★ ★ ★ FOX ★ PERSONALITIES ★ PARADE

MAR 16 1934
©C1B 219797

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 12 — March 17, 1934

MORE "EDUCATIONAL" PIFFLE

AMONG the greatest of popular fallacies concerning the motion picture is the currently and widely accepted notion of its potential value and responsibility to education.

The formulae of the Motion Picture Research Council being what they are, it is inevitable that we should discover another twanging of the old educational chord coming from Mrs. August Belmont, the newly cast president of the Council. And so one reads in the New York Herald-Tribune:

"When Mrs. Belmont says 'most important of all we must seize upon this powerful instrument as a technique of education in schools,' she tosses the cinema world a suggestion which it will ignore at its peril."

This is the sheerest balogna. "Seize upon," indeed! The Eastman interests "seized upon" the educational or pedegogic film idea with "Teaching Films," about two million dollars' worth. Pathe Exchange, Inc., made alleged educational pictures in a half-baked alliance with Harvard University and spent something close to half a million. Mr. Harley Clarke of Chicago, enthusiastic believer in the motion picture as an instrument of education, supported the idea with expenditures of certainly not less than a million. And need we ask what has resulted of all this sincere effort? It is proved that the educational machine is not yet able to adjust itself to the screen as an instrument. It is also proved that motion picture people are not educators.

Equally absurd is the Tribune's share in the expression quoted, in discussing "the cinema world." There is no cinema world. What the Tribune thinks it was talking about is the amusement industry which has found the motion picture its most valuable tool.

This amusement world which is the chief user of the motion picture has no more obligation to education, than has the circus, the stage, organized baseball or the ping pong manufacturers.

This industry of the screen theatre is accursed on two sides; first, by its own spokesmen who palaver against the reformers by silly claims of vast public service; second, by the reformers, radicals and idle society and clubwomen who want the screen to do tricks at their bidding.

Once again let us state that this is the amusement business and that its sole social and moral obligation is to be adequately and properly amusing.

△ △ △

IT will be a joy to these frowning old eyes to see Miss Aline MacMahon starring and strictly on her own. She has been, for the past two years, so often called as first aid to the casts of limping pictures that we got the impression she was at least three other girls.

MOVIES A LA RADIO

THE years bring no relief. The first half of our working life was saddened by the amazingly inept portrayals of the newspaper reporter on stage, screen and printed page. More recently the reporter has been limned all to well. But now a new curse is upon us in the radio portrayals and re-creations of the movies. The other night an unctuous voiced cast aired "Talking Movie Hour," a program in behalf of Luxor cream. The audience was transported "in imagination" to a studio where the scene, recording the shooting of the first sequence, ended with the director shouting to the players: "Everybody meet me in the casting director's office in the morning to go over the script—now let's hurry along and look at the rushes."

△ △ △

PANTS AND PICTURES

THE very young Mr. Dan Thomas who is Hollywood correspondent for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, discussing some current motion picture problems, solemnly remarks to his papers: "By executive order the President can put a stop to the showing of two feature pictures on the same program."

This phrase, "executive order," so nonchalantly applied, tends to indicate the state of mind which seems to have overtaken the Republic with reference to government.

By the same reasoning one might assume that in behalf of the merchant tailors an executive order might also forbid the dealers in ready-made clothing selling two pairs of trousers with one coat and vest.

△ △ △

FIRESIDE RESEARCH

THE wavering blue flame of midnight eats slowly into the heart of an old apple log and the hours are unhurried on a snowbound Connecticut farm in the valley of the Silvermine up where the brook tinkles into river under the frost fingers of a boulder rimmed pool. The Sears-Roebuck catalogue becomes literature and the seedsmen's catalogues stacked by the hearthside, in all the bawdy promise of their color plates, find welcome as evangels of the spring that may come sometime. In such a setting we researchingly find that the Herbert Hoover rose, the five dollar sensation of a few seasons ago, is now to be had at only seventy-five cents the plant; whereas, to our delight, the Mary Pickford gladiolus and the Gloria Swanson dahlia both maintain their rate at $1.50 each.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD — MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 6 Brookland Close, Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative, Manchar, London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable, Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

VITAL DECISION

Affirmed in Albany last week by the New York court of appeals was a far-reaching decision of the supreme court, which held that conveyance of dramatic rights to a story before the advent of talking films carried with it talking picture rights as well. The decision had its inception in a suit filed by Konrad Bercovici, author, over "The Volga Boatman," made as a silent, later as a talking film. . . .

QUOTA PICTURES

A "boomerang" was the manner in which Phil Reisman, RKO foreign head, last week characterized quota pictures made in England. Quota films are not well received abroad, he said. Unsettled European conditions have caused several companies to close branches. Europe's public still wants action films, likes musicals if American jazz is minimized. . . .

ST. LOUIS THEATRES

Addressed to Harry M. Warner last week by Fred Wehrenberg, president of the MPTO of St. Louis, Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois, was a letter protesting the reported plan of Warner to build new theatres in St. Louis. The letter grew out of an exhibitor meeting called when Warner announced a lease on the Shubert-Rialto as an exclusive Warner first-run house. No immediate reply is contemplated, said Warner executives in New York. . . .

INDIAN FILM SESSION

Following requests from foreign manufacturers, the planned Photo-Cine-Radio Exhibition and first Indian motion picture convention scheduled for April in Bombay by the Motion Picture Society of India, has been postponed to November-December, 1934. . . .

CENSOR CONDEMNED

"It would be hard to find a case in which the ridiculous nature of censorship is illustrated more clearly." Thus editorially last week did the Cincinnati "Post" express its opinion of the action of the Ohio censor in forcing a major operation on Universal's release, "Midnight," in which, they believe, a district attorney is pictured in a manner detrimental to that office in general. . . .

"ROXY" BLANKED OUT

Blanked out by efficient electricians last week at New York's Radio City Music Hall, was the neon lighted signature of Samuel L. (Roxy) Rothafel, since the theatre opened a decorative feature of the marquee. . . .

DETROIT SUIT SET

In Detroit circuit court, on March 20, will be tried as companion cases the suits of Al Ruttenberg of the Iris, Ruby Fischer of the Plaza, Lew Kane of the Mayfair (now closed), against Mid-States Theatres, Inc., and its head, Ray Moon, charging conspiracy to prevent them from buying film on the part of the booking combine. . . .

QUITTNER MOTION

On March 19 the U. S. circuit court of appeals, in New York, will hear a motion of Joseph Quittner to appeal his anti-trust case against major companies to that court as a pauper, thus permitting the former Middletown, N. Y., exhibitor to proceed without printing the record of the suit dismissed last year. . . .

SCREEN PAPERS

As a protective measure against fly-by-night screen periodicals, the publicity executive committee of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, on the Coast, last week passed a resolution compelling members to refuse recognition to such publications until they are proved bona fide. . . .

In This Issue

More than 200 motion picture players participated in radio programs during the past year, while exhibitors complained of the practice — Page 9
Six more local boards named; all units start duties in April — Page 11
John C. Moffitt, Kansas City "Star" film editor, points out value of "What the Picture Did for Me" department as indicating public preferences — Page 12
Additional pictures of members of local Code boards — Page 20
Code Question Box — Page 29

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 15
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 67
The Hollywood Scene — Page 13
Asides and Interludes — Page 19
The Cutting Room — Page 46

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 55
Showmen's Reviews — Page 35
Managers' Round Table — Page 59
Technological — Page 47
Short Feature News — Page 68
Chicago — Page 68
The Release Chart — Page 69
Box Office Receipts — Page 50
Classified Advertising — Page 74

SUES SKOURAS

Placed in a "foolish position" by what he called a likeness of himself on the front of the New York Academy of Music, Attorney Philip A. Levine has sued Skouras Theatres for $15,000, claiming to have been billed as a vaudeville actor. Theatre attendants said his name had not been used. A picture, taken when he was an Assembly candidate in 1931, was used, claimed the attorney. . . .

SENTENCE SUSTAINED

Last week the Alabama court of appeals at Birmingham denied to former Senator E. D. Jordon a rehearing on his conviction of offering to take a bribe from Lee Castleberry, Gadsden, Ala., theatre manager, in return for support of a bill legalizing Sunday films. Certain it seems now that Jordon will serve his sentence of from two to two and one-half years in the penitentiary.

LONDON BENEFIT

On the occasion of a benefit performance in London for the Cinematograph Trade Benevolent Fund, Thursday of this week, a "midnight matinee" was to be broadcast to the United States over an NBC-WEAF network. Later in the evening American film stars were to broadcast their greetings to London. . . .

FILM EXHIBITION

Preparations for the second international exhibition of cinematographic art, scheduled for Venice, Italy, in August of this year, are well under way. Already having promised entries for the awards are the United States, with most major companies represented; Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, France, Germany, India, Italy, England, Holland, Poland, Russia, Spain, Switzerland, Hungary. . . .

RECOVERY

Promising is the news of returning normalcy in the Cincinnati territory, reflected in better theatre receipts, reopening of closed houses, wiring of long closed silent theatres. Kentucky and the West Virginia coal regions apparently are experiencing a similar pickup. . . .

U. S. BANDS

Six new sound pictures, produced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have the background musical innovation of selections rendered by the three great service orchestras, U. S. Marine band, Army band and Navy band. The subjects may be borrowed from the department at Washington. . . .

200 FILM PERSONNEL NAMED APPEARING IN BROADCASTS

Hundred Participate in Sponsored Programs on Air, but Practically All Appearances Are Reported in Newspapers

Figures Do Not Include Broadcast Openings of New Pictures; Exhibitors Protest Appearances as Reducing B. O.

More than 200 motion picture stars and featured "name" players have participated in radio broadcasts in the past year, while exhibitors in the field, in addition to their contention that free radio broadcasts constitute unfair competition, have been complaining over the widely publicized radio "appearances" of Hollywood luminaries. The number of such appearances in 1933 and early 1934 is estimated at between 200 and 250. On this page and the next are given the names of more than 200 who have engaged in radio programs in the past year.

The figures do not include the much celebrated "microphone openings" at such centers as Grauman's Chinese in Hollywood and in New York, each of which the fan public eagerly awaits at its home receiver.

Half on Sponsored Programs

Obviously, a great many of such appearances constituted interviews only, or incidental appearances on sustaining programs. About one-half of the number of motion picture player broadcasts have been sponsored programs. However, practically all interviews and incidental broadcasts have been advertised in advance—at the very least in the radio columns of the country's newspapers. In many instances player broadcasts have been confined to specific localities, although most of the better known stars have participated over national networks.

An example of the territorial broadcast is seen in the Warner Bros. situation—with the studio maintaining its own broadcasting facilities. Practically every Warner contract player has broadcast at some time or other during the year.

Source of Exhibitor Complaint

Of the foregoing figures 102 players appeared during the year on sponsored programs. Of these 31 appeared regularly. Notably among sponsored programs on which motion picture names have appeared from time to time is the Rudy Vallee variety program, broadcast over the nationwide NBC network on Thursday nights at 8 o'clock. Another sponsored program on which stars and featured players regularly appear is "45 Minutes in Hollywood," and still another is "Hollywood on the Air."

Until recently Raymond Paige's orchestra constituted one-half of a star interview program conducted by Eleanor Barnes, film reviewer on a Los Angeles newspaper.

The exhibitor, seeing in the situation a handicap to the box office, has complained not only of a motion picture player's appearance on a broadcast but also of the nationwide publicity attendant thereto. And in addition to the actual broadcast, with the consequent "stay-at-homes," studios have been swamped with seekers after admittance to watch their favorites during the broadcast.

Motion picture names appearing regularly during the year for more than six broadcasts on sponsored programs include Eddie Cantor, Will Rogers, Bing Crosby, Al Jolson, Ruth Etting, George Jessel, Jack Benny, George M. Cohan, Burns and Allen, Stoopnagle and Budd, Amos 'n' Andy, Major Edward Bowes, S. L. "Roxy" Rothafel, Morton Downey, Jimmie Durante, Alice Faye (Rudy Vallee program), Jeanie Lang, Four Marx Brothers, Ed Wynn, Graham McNamee, the "voice" of Universal's Newsreel, Mills Brothers, Jack Pearl, Joe Penner, Dick Powell, Lanny Ross, Rubinoff, Kate Smith and practically every orchestra in the ensuing list.

Some of those names given in the lists as working on sponsored programs are for one or two appearances only. Interviews and incidental work on sustaining programs predominate throughout.

The list follows.

KEY TO NAMES OF FILM FOLK ON RADIO

On these pages appear the names of more than 200 stars, featured players, contract talent, executives, singers—in fact, virtually every classification of the creative personnel of the amusement world—who at one time or another within the last year have broadcast on radio programs.

A number of these have come from the ranks of the radio itself, and through their work in this field gained prominence in films. As a guide to the reader, therefore, the initial "R" has been placed after the names of radio players who made their initial picture appearances subsequent to their radio work. If their radio work after initial picture appearances has been sponsored, further identification is provided by the letter "S". Interview broadcasts are designated by the letter "I" and dramatic radio appearances identified by "D". Thus, Bing Crosby, whose voice was heard over the radio long before he appeared in films, would be identified as follows: "Bing Crosby—R., S.,"

A

Brian Aherne—I.
Judith Allen—I.
Adrienne Ames—I.
Amos 'n' Andy—R., S.
Fred Astaire—D.
Richard Arlen—I.
Gus Arnheim—Orchestra
Mary Astor—I., D.
Lionel Atwill—D., S.

Phil Baker—Accordion, S.
Tallulah Bankhead—D., S.
Robert Barrat—D.
Ethel Barrymore—D., S.
John Barrymore—D., S.
Lionel Barrymore—D., S.
Richard Barthelmess—I.
Warner Baxter—I.
Constance Bennett—D., I.
Jack Benny—S.
Joan Blondell—I.
John Boles—I.
Boswell Sisters—S., I.
Major Edward Bowes—S.
Alice Brady
George Breakston—R.
El Brendel—S., D.
George Brent—I., D.
Joe E. Brown—I.
Frank Buck—I., S.
Burns & Allen—R., S.

C

James Cagney—I., D., S.
Eddie Cantor—S.
Mary Carlisle—S.
Tulio Carminati—I.
Enrico Caruso, Jr.—Songs
Hobart Cavanaugh—D.
Charlie Chaplin—Speech
Ruth Chatterton—I.
Maurice Chevalier—I.
Mae Clark
Clark & McCullough—S.
George M. Cohan—S.
Claudette Colbert—S., I.
Russ Columbo—R., S.
Walter Connolly—D., I.
Gary Cooper—D., S.
Jackie Cooper—I., D.
Ricardo Cortez—I.
Richard Cromwell—I.
Bing Crosby—R., S.
Constance Cummings—I.

D

Bebe Daniels—I., Songs
Bette Davis—I.
Frances Dee—I.
Dolores Del Rio—I., Songs, S.
Dorothy Dell—Songs
Florence Desmond—S.
Walt Disney—S.
Claire Dodd—I., D.
Ruth Donnelly—I., D.
Morton Downey—R., S.
Marie Dressler—I.

(Continued on next page)

FILM PERSONNEL IN RADIO PROGRAMS

Irene Dunne—I., D., S.

Jimmie Durante—S.

Ann Dvorak—I.

E

Nelson Eddy

John Eldredge—D.

Patricia Ellis—I., D.

Eton Boys—R., S.

Ruth Etting—R. S.

F

Glenda Farrell—I., D.

Phillip Faversham—D.

Alice Faye—R., S.

Louise Fazenda—I., D., S.

Leslie Fenton—I., D.

Ted Fiorito—Orchestra

Sidney Fox—I., D.

Kay Francis—I.

Irene Franklin

G

Clark Gable—S.

George Givot—D.

Cary Grant—I.

Alexander Gray—Songs

Johnnie Green——Musical

Mitzi Green—D., S.

D. W. Griffith—D., S.

H

Jack Haley—S.

Jean Harlow

Helen Hayes—D., S.

Will H. Hays—Speech

Peggy Healy—Songs, S.

Ted Healy

Charlotte Henry—I., D.

Katharine Hepburn—D., S.

Hugh Herbert—D.

Jean Hersholt

Arthur Hohl—D.

Sterling Holloway—D., S.

Phillips Holmes—D., S.

Jack Holt—I.

Lou Holtz—R., S.

Claude Hopkins—Orchestra

Miriam Hopkins—I., D.

Leslie Howard—I.

Tom Howard—D., S.

Walter Huston—I., D.

J

Art Jarrett—Songs

Allen Jenkins—D.

George Jessel—Songs, S.

Al Jolson—Songs, S.

K

Boris Karloff—I.

Buster Keaton—I., D.

Ruby Keeler—I., S.

Pert Kelton—D.

Guy Kibbee—D.

Alexander Kirkland—D.

June Knight—S.

L

Jack La Rue—I.

Bert Lahr—S.

Elissa Landi—I.

Jeanie Lang—S.

Evelyn Laye—Songs, S.

Hal LeRoy—I.

DELAWARE BILL BANS DIVORCEES

The showing in film theatres of Delaware of pictures in which a divorced actor or actress appears, would be prohibited under a new censorship measure in preparation by Robert D. Hopkins of Milton. A board of three censors would pass on all films, and have the further responsibility of determining the past marital state of the players. The bill provides a fine of $100 for the initial violation, padlock proceedings following other offenses.

Francis Lederer—I.

Margaret Lindsay—D., I.

Carole Lombard—I., D.

Guy Lombardo—Orchestra

Edmund Lowe—I.

Helen Lowell—D.

M

Aline MacMahon—I.

Joan Marsh—Songs, S.

Four Marx Brothers—D., S.

Louis B. Mayer—Speech

Ken Maynard—I.

Jeanette McDonald—I., Songs

Frank McHugh—D.

Graham McNamee—D., S.

Adolphe Menjou—I., D.

Ethel Merman—R., Songs, S.

Mills Brothers—R., S.

Douglass Montgomery—I., D., S.

Robert Montgomery—I., S.

Colleen Moore—D., S.

Grace Moore—Songs, S.

Polly Moran—I., Speech

Moran & Mack—R., S.

Helen Morgan—Songs, S.

Joe Morrison—Songs, S.

Jean Muir—D.

Myrt & Marge—R., D., S.

N

Theodore Newton—D.

Ramon Novarro—I., Songs

Donald Novis—R., Songs, S.

O

Jack Oakie—I., D.

Pat O'Brien—I.

Henry O'Neill—D.

P

Raymond Paige—Orchestra

Seth Parker—R., S.

Eddie Peabody—Musical, S.

Jack Pearl—R., S.

Joe Penner—R., S.

Pickens Sisters—R., S.

Mary Pickford——I., Speech

Dick Powell—I., S.

William Powell—I.

Roger Pryor—D., S.

R

George Raft—I.

Sally Rand—I.

Gregory Ratoff—D., S.

Gene Raymond——I.

Phillip Reed—D.

Phil Regan—R., S.

Freddie Rich—Orchestra

Harry Richman—I., Songs, S.

Lyda Roberti—Songs, S.

Edward G. Robinson—I.

May Robson—I., D.

Ginger Rogers—Songs, I.

Will Rogers—S.

Baby Rose Marie R., Songs, S.

Lanny Ross—R., Songs, S.

Lillian Roth—Songs, S.

S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel—S.

Rubinoff—R., S.

The Rhythm Boys—R., S.

S

Chic Sale—R., S.

Kathryn Sergava—D.

Norma Shearer—I.

Alison Skipworth—I.

Kate Smith—R., S.

Louis Sobol—Columnist, S.

Barbara Stanwyck—I.

Stoopnagle & Budd—R., S.

Gloria Stuart—I.

Margaret Sullavan—S.

Ed Sullivan—Columnist

T

Lyle Talbot—I., D.

Verree Teasdale—D.

Lawrence Tibbett—S.

Genevieve Tobin—D.

Arthur Tracy—R., S.

Sophie Tucker—D., S.

Helen Twelvetrees—I.

V

Rudy Vallee—Orchestra, D., S.

W. S. Van Dyke

Lupe Velez Songs, I., D., S.

Evelyn Venable—I.

W

Jimmy Wallington—Announcer, D., S.

Fred Waring—Orchestra, S.

Ethel Waters—Songs, S.

Reinald Werrenrath—Opera, S.

Mae West—D., S.

Gordon Westcott—D.

Wheeler & Woolsey—I., D., S.

Paul Whiteman—R., I., S.

Warren William—I., D.

Walter Winchell—S.

Donald Woods—D.

Fay Wray—I., D.

Ed Wynn—R., S.

Y

Cal York—Interviewer, S.

SIX MORE LOCAL BOARDS NAMED; ALL UNITS START DUTIES IN APRIL

Code Authority Announces 22 Non-Industry Appointees to Boards Selected Earlier; Several Personnel Changes Made

The industry's machinery for operating the code in the field moved nearer completion late Tuesday, as the Code Authority in New York selected the personnel of Local Grievance and Local Clearance Boards for Boston, San Francisco and Washington. Appointees for New York and Philadelphia will be announced next week.

The Code Authority this week also announced NRA-approved appointees of 22 "impartial" non-industry representatives. Impartial members probably will meet in Washington about May 15.

In addition, 10 replacements and transfers to boards already appointed were announced.

It is expected the boards will commence activities on or about April 1.

Meanwhile, the Code Authority was tabulating the last of the code assent blanks filed before the deadline of midnight, March 10. The NRA announced no further extension of deadline would be made. While 20,000 blanks were mailed, it is expected the total assent returns will not exceed 11,000.

The Authority may place the Code assessment on a nine months basis, probably collectible twice a year. Expenses are expected to run about $360,000 a year, with the amount assessed exhibitors likely small.

Names of the new boards appointed for Boston, San Francisco and Washington follow:

BOSTON

Grievance Board

1. Thomas B. Spry, Warners.
2. Herman Rifkin, Monogram.
3. John M. Brennan, Loew's.
4. Martin Touhy, Pawtucket.

Impartial Member—George R. Farnum, attorney; former assistant United States attorney.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. R. C. Cropper, RKO.
2. John Dervin, United Artists.
3. Martin J. Mullin, Publix.
4. Max Levenson, Boston.

5 and 6. Charles Hodgdon, Wakefield; Frank Lydon, Boston.

Impartial Member: Judge Robert Walcott.

▽

SAN FRANCISCO

Grievance Board

1. Charles H. Muehlman, Warners.
2. Barney Rose, Universal.
3. Cliff Work, RKO.
4. Aaron Goldberg.

Impartial Member—A. C. Scales, Chamber of Commerce.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. G. C. Parsons, M-G-M.
2. Floyd St. John, Monogram.
3. A. M. Bowles, Fox West Coast.
4. H. V. Harvey, Watsonville, Cal.

5 and 6. George Nasser, San Francisco; Morgan Walsh, Oakland.

Impartial Member—W. W. Chapin, publisher, San Francisco Argonaut.

CLEARANCE - ZONING BOARDS

1. Distributor representative with theatre affiliation.
2. Distributor without theatre affiliation.
3. Affiliated first-run theatre.
4. Independent first-run.

5 and 6. Independent subsequent runs.

GRIEVANCE BOARDS

1. Distributor with theatre affiliation.
2. Distributor without theatre affiliation.
3. Affiliated theatre.
4. Independent exhibitor.

WASHINGTON

Grievance Board

1. Robert Smeltzer, Warners.
2. Sam A. Galanty, Columbia.
3. Carter T. Barron, Loew's.
4. Herman Blum, Maryland.

Impartial Member—Edmund M. Toland, attorney.

Clearance and Zoning Board

1. Rudolph Berger, M-G-M.
2. Sam J. Flax, Liberty Pictures.
3. John J. Payette, Warners.
4. William S. Wilder, Norfolk, Va.

5 and 6. Lou Garman, Baltimore; Sidney Lust, Washington.

Impartial Member—Professor Hector G. Spaulding, George Washington University.

Replacements and changes, as a result of declinations, are:

ATLANTA GRIEVANCE BOARD:
Herbert Lyons of RKO succeeds Dave Prince of Paramount as national affiliated distributor representative. Arthur Lucas has been named in place of Lionel H. Keene of Loew's as affiliated exhibitor.

CINCINNATI CLEARANCE BOARD:
W. A. Keyes of Dayton, formerly listed as subsequent run unaffiliated exhibitor member, now represents first-run unaffiliated exhibitors. J. Real Neth of Columbus is now subsequent-run unaffiliated exhibitor.

DES MOINES CLEARANCE BOARD:
L. A. Kuhl of Corning, Iowa, has replaced Abe Frankel as subsequent-run unaffiliated exhibitor.

INDIANAPOLIS GRIEVANCE BOARD:
Roy Churchill of RKO instead of J. Harold Stevens of Paramount is now affiliated national distributor representative. Mr. Stevens recently was transferred to Boston.

MEMPHIS CLEARANCE BOARD:
Hoyt Kirkpatrick of Ft. Smith, Ark., has replaced T. W. Sharpe of Little Rock. Mr. Sharpe recently sold his theatre interests.

MINNEAPOLIS GRIEVANCE BOARD:
The unaffiliated exhibitor post on the grievance board is now filled by Edward Ruben. He succeeds Joseph Friedman of St. Paul. Mr. Friedman notified the Code Authority he was too busy to serve.

ST. LOUIS GRIEVANCE BOARD:
David Nelson has succeeded Louis Ansell as unaffiliated exhibitor.

In addition to the 22 impartial non-industry members appointed this week to 11 Grievance and 11 Clearance Boards, the Authority made known one appointment to a board on which the previous appointee had declined to serve. The new impartial appointments follow:

CINCINNATI
Grievance Board: IRWIN S. ROSENBAUM, attorney.
Clearance Board: JOSEPH MARX, Solo Manufacturing Company.

DALLAS
Grievance Board: S. E. TIGERT, Tigert Publishing Company.
Clearance Board: CAPTAIN J. F. LUCEY, Lucey Manufacturing Company.

DES MOINES
Grievance Board: DR. ARTHUR A. MORROW, Dean, Drake University.
Clearance Board: CLYDE HULSIZER.

INDIANAPOLIS
Grievance Board: GEORGE S. OLIVE, accountant.
Clearance Board: PAUL RICHEY, Russell Seeds Company.

KANSAS CITY
Grievance Board: THOMAS FINNEGAN, district representative, Colliers.
Clearance Board: E. A. WILKIE, furniture dealer.

LOS ANGELES
Grievance Board: BERNARD KREISELMANN, research engineer.
Clearance Board: W. C. MATHES, attorney.

MEMPHIS
Grievance Board: MAX BRESLER, attorney.
Clearance Board: FRANK STURM.

NEW HAVEN
Grievance Board: PROFESSOR WESLEY A. STURGES, Yale University.
Clearance Board: GEORGE S. STIRLING, Stoddard & Williams, investments.

OMAHA
Grievance Board: HENRY MONSKY, attorney.
Clearance Board: G. F. NYE, city official.

SALT LAKE CITY
Grievance Board: M. A. KEYSER, former president Chamber of Commerce, replaces SAMUEL C. POWELL.

ST. LOUIS
Grievance Board: ROBERT BURNETT.
Clearance Board: FRANCIS R. STOUT, attorney.

SEATTLE
Grievance Board: JUDSON T. JENNINGS, public library.
Clearance Board: O. J. C. DUTTON, retired banker.

Total Assent Blank Returns, with Deadline Passed March 10, Is Expected to Approximate 11,000 Out of 20,000 Mailed

Sol A. Rosenblatt, division administrator, was appointed this week to supervise the advertising code.

Interpretations of the code recommended by the extras' committee became effective on Monday. The recommendations include a $25 a day proviso for all extra speaking "atmospheric" or other lines.

George Creel, California state NRA administrator, on Monday took over enforcement of the code and announced a special administrator would be placed in charge.

'WHAT PICTURE DID FOR ME' TELLS WHY

Moffitt in Kansas City Star Points to Exhibitor Reports in Motion Picture Herald as Evidence That Public Welcomes Return of Hokum to Motion Pictures

By JOHN C. MOFFITT

Motion Picture Editor, Kansas City Star

Critics may come and critics may go and some, unfortunately, seem to go on forever, but there is no more potent sort of criticism than that exercised by the man or woman who spends his money for a theatre ticket, unless it is that exercised by one who refuses to spend his money for one.

It costs in the neighborhood of $100,000 to make even a modest motion picture. In these days of double features for 25 cents and a dime it takes a world of movie fans to bring $100,000 home to the producer.

Because he likes his money well enough to want to see it again (together with any stray friendly dollars it might want to bring home with it), he is very willing to listen to such criticism, much more willing than he is to listen to the boys and girls who work on the magazines and newspapers and who believe they know all the answers.

Of late the motion picture department of The Star has been besieged by letters and telephone calls from folks who apparently are letting the return to hokum trouble them. They feel that hokum is a base thing to be shunned by producers despite the fact that it is the only thing that seems apt to put two chickens in the garage of a producer (he doesn't even hope to get the car back?). They think that the higher forms of art and intellectual drama should be given a preeminent place on the screen, unadulterated by box office angles, despite the fact these were the pictures that bankrupted the motion picture industry.

When it is explained to them that art is a matter of finance they find it difficult to understand that most people do not believe as they do.

Horror of Hokum

Most of them represent a type of person who forms his theatrical preferences in reflections from the New York stage. They neglect to note that the New York stage is a parochial theatre and that the motion picture is a national one. A national theatre reflects the preferences of a nation and the preferences of the nation happen to be for a certain amount of hokum. That is a painful realization, but it grows less painful with every year you are out of college and with every year that transpires after your first reading of Ernest Hemingway and James Branch Cabell. The more you get to know the run of human beings the more you come to sympathize with their needs for unaffected recreation and entertainment, and the less apt you are to become disgusted with their fondness for old jokes and sugary romance. The older you get and the more tired, the more need you yourself begin to feel for simple, uncerebral entertainment. By the time the Princeton professor, Woodrow Wilson, was buried deep in the problems of the war he was finding his recreation in vaudeville shows, cheap detective stories and penny dreadfuls. That did not mean that he had become less intelligent. It simply meant that he was obliged to do so much serious thinking that serious thinking no longer came under the head of recreation.

Under the forthright title of "What the Picture Did for Me" an array of some two thousand American showmen, with an occasional contributor from abroad, tell each week in the pages of MOTION PICTURE HERALD their pulse counts on the theatre audiences of the nation.

Nowhere else in all the floods of published words and reports of and about the motion picture is there to be had so direct, so intimate, so vitally representative expression from the customers.

In "What the Picture Did for Me" is the voice of the box office of great mass America, not New York, not Chicago, not any metropolis, but the great real America itself.

The sincere ring of these pages has won them a great following of readers among the workers of the screen, the students and the critics. "What the Picture Did for Me" goes home under the arm of many a Hollywood executive. It is to be found marked and folded open on the desk of many a New York agent for stories and talent. It is on file in many an advertising office.

Interesting comment and observation on this department and its meaning was presented in the Kansas City STAR'S motion picture section of the issue of March 4, coming from the pen and hand of Mr. John C. Moffitt, who has come forward in the last few years among the few more serious and informed of the nation's newspaper commentators on the screen and its products. Mr. Moffitt's article is presented herewith.—

TERRY RAMSAYE

What the Small Towns Like

There are a lot of people in the country today who feel the same way about their movies. Their preferences (the preferences that tell the producer what to make) are reflected in the opinions of theatre managers who have played various of the current films. These opinions were taken from a department of the Motion Picture Herald, entitled "What the Picture Did for Me." In this department of a national theatrical trade paper, theatre owners and managers voice the criticism of the American public in the cold metallic tones of dollars and cents.

It will be noted that a great many of these opinions are from small towns. It is particularly interesting to see that the American yeoman has the same tough independence in his opinions that he always has had. He cannot be shamed or bullied into liking something simply because New York likes it. Given half a chance, he'd still like to empty his six-shooter at an easterner's plug hat. In the mass he is of tremendous importance to the men who invest their money in movies, and he gives the answer to the people who are asking why the movies are not more arty and more "intelligent."

Reich Bars "Catherine" After Lobby Demonstration

Further showings in Germany of the British film, "Catherine the Great," with Elizabeth Bergner, former toast of the Berlin stage, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., were forbidden late last week after a demonstration in the lobby of the theatre at which it was playing in Berlin.

Concurrently, Paul Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, openly proclaimed an anti-Jewish boycott affecting all cabarets and theatres. According to Der Deutsche, Nazi organ, the situation in Berlin has reached "astounding proportions."

"During recent weeks," the publication said, "one has been able to see SA men (Storm Troopers) stationed before certain entertainment places to ask the public to remove their party emblems before entering. The fact is, the employment of Jewish actors has become so scandalous that the public had to take to self-help."

LaGuardia To Install Officers of the ITOA

Mayor LaGuardia of New York and other municipal officials have accepted invitations to attend the banquet of the Independent Theatre Owners Association, to be held at the Hotel Astor, March 19. Officers for 1934, to be installed then, include Harry Brandt, president; Leo Justin and Bernard Barr, vice-presidents; Maurice Brown, secretary; Hyman Rochmil, treasurer; Charles Oppenheimer, sergeant-at arms, and William Small, executive director.

The directors to be installed are Leo Brecher, Charles E. Lewis, Jack Shapiro, M. Fleischmann, Eugene Zerner, Lou Blumenthal, Louis Nelson, A. H. Eisenstadt, L. Meyers, L. Bolognino, Sam Schwartz, William Landau, H. Reisner, Doc Greenfield, Fred Small, S. Weinberg, Rudy Sanders, Stanley Lawton, Leon Rosenblatt, D. Davis, R. Rosenzsweig, Bernard Pear.

The Hollywood Scene

NO HOLLYWOOD FEVER FOR ENTIRE WEEK
SEVEN FILMS START, FOUR COMPLETED
PHONE SERVICE FOR STARTING TIME
WHY RAFT IS NOT IN MAE WEST FILM

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

HOLLYWOOD did not run a fever about anything this week—that's news. Outside of a few nip-ups and conniptions about nothing, producers started getting their 1934 pictures lined up.

The Patman bill caused a mild flurry. George White's exited after a few hectic previews of his "Scandals." Thursday and Friday were the hottest days the town's had in years.

Advance guard of exhibitors are getting things tip-top for the convention of the MPTOA at the Ambassador, April 10th.

Everybody's still talking about "House of Rothschild" and "No Greater Glory."

George Raft seems to be following in Valentino's footsteps in one respect at least —constantly bickering with his studio.

A financial agent who does personal management called up and said he wasn't running a racket, which is protesting too much.

Lew Brown, unable to find a real hillbilly in Hollywood, decided to play one himself.

Will Rogers says he can't be responsible for all the bum jokes the publicity department sends out about him.

Sally Eilers is going to have a baby.

Lloyd Pantages, son of the noted showman, is now doing a smart column alongside of Louella Parsons' on the Examiner.

And the ten per cent player-peddlers may be put on the spot by exhibitors for their part in jacking up salaries.

Mae West says she does not excite passion.

Stepin Fetchit got his tonsils sunburnt watching the Shriner's parade.

Everybody's wondering who will be the first to be caught violating Code regulations and what the penalty will be, if any.

The split in Writers' Guild ranks got hot this week, both factions arriving for a drag-'em-down finish fight.

▽

Seven New Pictures Start

Maintaining an average fairly consistent the last month or so, Hollywood started seven new pictures in the week as four were finished.

With three starting, Universal assumed top activity honors. One each went on the stages at Twentieth Century, Monogram and Paramount, and Willis Kent checked in with one.

Those finished were "Firebrand" at Twentieth Century, "One Man Woman" at Warners, "I'll Tell the World" at Universal, and "Melody in Spring," Paramount.

Varied themes described both starting and completed pictures with no definite tone trend visible similar to last week's crime rhyme.

Of the three starting at Universal, "Little Man, What Now?" looks important in presenting Margaret Sullavan, star of "Only Yesterday," with Douglass Montgomery in the leading male role. Yet the picturization of the famous stage play "Alias the Deacon," which features Joel McRae, promises good entertainment as does the exciting comedy "The Humbug," featuring Nils Asther and Gloria Stuart.

The two M'dvani brothers who impinged on the screen scene a la Negri and a la Murray, and later exerted their vigors by sinking oil wells which spouted in the courts, are now preening their pristine prowess on the polo fields.

In blue and white, those two princes from Russia's Georgia bounced fresh from the court room to the jousting green, cutting rakish figures as they pranced onto the field astride their ponies.

Will Rogers gave his cowboy yell as they galloped up and hailed them with a "Whoopee!!! Here come the two fighting cocks of the Caucasus."

—

P. S. Another M'dvani brother, unknown to the public, is said to be a bachelor, married only six times.

Another Arliss Picture

Always significant, but particularly in view of "House of Rothschild," a George Arliss picture is welcome news. Thus Twentieth Century's starting of "The Head of the Family," in which Janet Beecher, Edna May Oliver, Ralph Morgan and Charlotte Henry ("Alice in Wonderland") will be seen with Arliss, looms high in the week's events.

At Paramount, the Charles R. Rogers feature, "In Conference," got underway with Zasu Pitts, Helen Mack, John Halliday, Grace Bradley, Phillips Holmes and Ned Sparks in the cast. Monogram started "Numbers of Monte Carlo," starring Mary Brian, as did "Valley of the Lawless," a Willis Kent production.

Pictures moving off the stages were Twentieth Century's "Firebrand", a Sixteenth century romance drama based on the life of Cellini, with Constance Bennett and Fredric March in the leading roles; Warner's "One Man Woman," with Pat O'Brien and Glenda Farrell, and Universal's "I'll Tell the World," Lee Tracy's first start since the Mexican episode.

A glimpse at the pictures in preparation is indicative that spring and summer programs will not be lacking in quality entertainment. All studios have unusual material.

Bing Crosby's brother Joe will soon make his debut in films.

In order to avoid confusion, Bing's brother will be called Bang.

From MGM will come "Manhattan Melodrama," an Arthur Caesar original, featuring Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy, and Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," a Thalberg production; "David Copperfield," Charles Dickens' famous story; "Treasure Island," teaming Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper again; and Norma Shearer and Charles Laughton in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Paramount will bring out Cecil DeMille's "Cleopatra"; "Canal Boy," a Charles R. Rogers production; "Grease Paint," featuring W. C. Fields; "Often a Bridegroom," and "The Great Magoo," in which Jack Oakie, Dorothy Dell, Ben Bernie, Alison Skipworth and Roscoe Karns will be seen.

On the Warner list are "Anthony Adverse," currently a big selling novel; "British Agent," which will star Leslie Howard; "Dames," a musical with Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler; Dolores Del Rio in "Madame DuBarry"; "A Lost Lady," Pulitzer prize play; "Old Doll's House," a Damon Runyon story with Barthelmess and Margaret Lindsay, and "A Tale of Two Cities," another Dickens story in which Leslie Howard will head the cast.

Universal is preparing "I Give My Love," for Wynne Gibson; "The Practical Joker," for Chester Morris, and "Affairs of a Gentleman," for Paul Lukas. Additionally there are the Fanny Hurst novel, "Imitation of Life," and "Sutter's Gold." Fox is meeting the competition with "Grand Canary," "Call It Luck," "Always Honest" and "Charlie Chan's Courage."

▽

Of Thee We Fling

The particular producer who has made some pediculous pictures, speaks out in meeting this week and flings the gauntlet at the feet of the exhibitor.

This producer says "there's nothing wrong with my pictures, except that the exhibitor shows 'em wrong."

Flying to the exhibitor's defense, as always, we asked, pointblank, just what he meant.

"I mean that the exhibitors show my right pictures wrong, when they show my pictures backwards," he explained, and there seems to be more irony than fiction in what he says.

"When people come into a theatre in the middle or at the end of a picture, they're seeing it cockeyed," he went on. "There should be a law prohibiting exhibitors showing pictures back-end to. Patrons should not be allowed into a theatre after a feature starts. It's o.k. to let 'em in during a news reel or a short, but if they come in during a feature, it kills their entertainment and they go out and say, 'a lousy picture'—pediculous to you."

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

We asked him to be constructive, which is what every producer tells his help to do, but in this case we turned the tables. And the chap surprised us.

"I'd make it mandatory with every theatre to display outside, the exact time the feature goes on the screen.

"I'd make it imperative that the time schedule be given to the theatre telephone operator in every house so that people calling to find out what time the feature goes on, could be told with impunity.

"I'd carry on a newspaper campaign, advising my patrons that I want them to get full entertainment from films. I'd sell them the idea of attending when the feature starts, until it got to be a habit. Once they get the habit, they'll wonder how they ever sat through a film upside-down.

"I'd even go further and get my local telephone company to install a central theatre service exchange, so people could call a certain number and a girl employed by the telephone company, who would reel off the feature, theatre, and exact time it went on, when people called to get that information.

"Los Angeles has such a system and it works fine. Fox West Coast central exchange receives over 18,000 calls every week, requesting information when the feature goes on.

"On a basis of 5 cents a call, the telephone company takes in over $900 a week, about $46,000 a year, by just installing a station and having one girl tend it.

"It's a profitable business for any telephone company in any city to go into, except, of course, maybe New York, where they are too many theatres.

"And while I'm talking out loud," said the producer, "this sounds like such a good business, I think I'll go into it myself. Maybe I'll make more money than I've been making producing pediculous pictures which the exhibitor shows just as pediculously."

Will the exhibitor accept the challenge that this producer flings so gaily?

▽

Raft's Ride

The inside on Georgie Raft's inability to play opposite Mae West in "It Ain't No Sin" may be illness and the need of a much desired rest by Raft, but facts are to the contrary. Raft really took a walkout from Mae West's film, considering the part too puny. He had walked before, too.

The inside of his stroll from "The Story of Temple Drake" is revealed here for the first time.

After the blasts from women's clubs and others anent the filming of "Temple Drake," Raft came in and demanded $50,000 to play the part. The studio, which had been grooming Raft, considered his peremptory demand exorbitant, refused to accede. Raft immediately stepped into print with his defense that he wouldn't demean himself by playing such a low role as "Temple Drake." The studio suspended him.

What will happen when he gets back from abroad may be news, or just "innocuous desuetude."

▽

Elissa Landi, once tied up with Fox, then tied and untied with Columbia, is now tied up by her agent, who has tied up her shekels until she pays what he claims are his claims.

Judging from reports, La Landi, oft torridly alluded to as la Icicle, is anything but cold when it comes to matters of money.

Gangsters Out!

Gangster films may rear their ugly heads if the projected Dillinger yarns, considered by three studios, ever see the light of day.

It seems high time that someone "took the bull between the teeth," as one producer says, and splashed the plain unvarnished truth about the gangster situation from hell to breakfast.

Gangster films are glamorous, full of action, a reflection of front page news.

Take gangland off the front page and you take it out of pictures.

Youngsters and grownups revel in gangster yarns. The danger and adventure thrill attracts them. Bumping the bad man off at the finish, vivid evidence that crime doesn't pay, takes the fire away from the argument that films of criminals encourage crime.

So why not portray the gangster as he is? Why not go behind the scenes and picture the real rise of the gunman, put those responsible for the gangsters' growth right on the spot, and give them a screen ride that will exterminate them once and for all.

It's common knowledge today how the gangsters spawned. Big business wanted them to crack their strikes or bludgeon their competition. Labor wanted them to retaliate.

Finding their services in demand, gangmen were on the payroll of whoever spoke first and paid most. Sometimes they were on both sides. Sensing graft, the gangster then went on his own, bloomed first as an individual, then in mobs, then in syndicates which girdled the globe, dealing in all kinds of malodorous trades from dope to cannon. The armament gangster is the one on the spotlight today.

In the great work of ridding the country of their sordid depredations the screen should, and must, be used.

Joe Cunningham, fast earning for himself the same reputation in Hollywood as he had on Broadway for humor, wit and hair trigger observation, played a round of golf through a Hollywood fog.

Said Joe, "I've lost golf balls on every course I've ever played. In Philadelphia once I even lost a golf bag and a set of clubs in the rough, but it was in the Hollywood fog that I mislaid my Caddy."

▽

Out of the Notebook

Bill Dover is now assistant to Darryl Zanuck at Twentieth Century vice Rufus LeMaire, resigned.

Studio shut down, Hal Roach is off on a ten days' polo vacation.

Radio is entertaining another visiting eastern executive, general sales manager Jules Levy, who has come to town for a few weeks.

Universal is celebrating its nineteenth birthday anniversary with eight features in work.

No more "Baby Burlesks"—Educational drops the Jack Hays idea. Four-year-old Shirley Temple, star of the series, moves on to greater glory with a part in "Little Miss Marker."

Clark Gable's address is still MGM, that company adding another year to his contract, with a salary tilt.

Much excitement at Universal's "Let's Be Ritzy" preview. First the film caught fire. Then between breaking down and getting out of synchronization about 15 times, what happened to the picture rather than what happened in it, amused the audience mostly.

John and Lionel Barrymore will co-star in MGM's "All His Geese Were Swans." What, no penguins!

Harry Maizlich, Warner's Hollywood theatre exploiter, is up to his neck in a bang-up campaign for the "Wonder Bar" western premier.

Having finished his part of the writing job on "Hollywood Party," Howard Dietz dashes back east to start his other job to tell exhibitors how to sell it.

Joe E. Brown, ex-major leaguer, is sandwiching in trips to the Pasadena training camp of the White Sox and Catalina Island headquarters of the Cubs between scenes of "Sawdust."

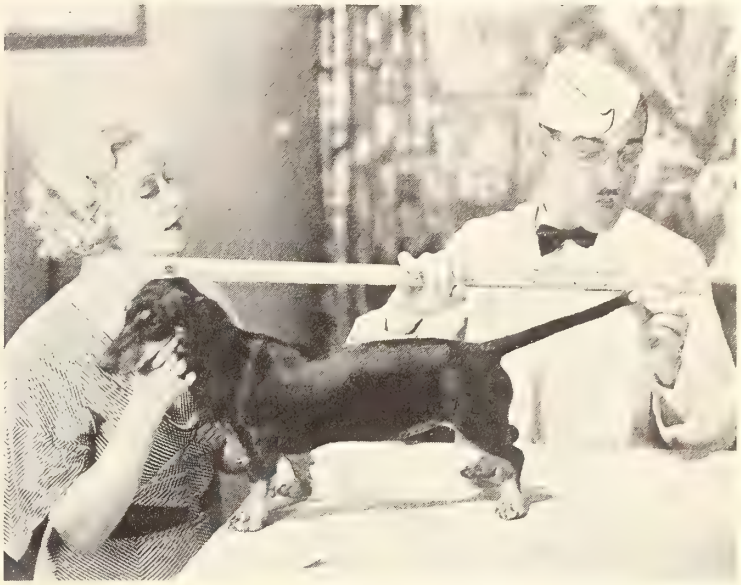
Gabe Yorke, Fox studio publicity head, takes a house in Santa Monica.

Europe first, then big game hunting in Africa, is the change of scenery and recreation which Darryl Zanuck firmly believes will fit him for his second year as Twentieth Century's production head.

Stage diversions got a play this week when Francis Lederer sponsored the Tingel-Tangel, a sort of Continental Chauve Souris, presented by Fred Hollander.

Another gorgeous opus was "Sweeny Todd, the Demon Barber of Fleet Street," played as burlesque on the English melodrama, giving audiences a chance to hiss the villain and cheer the hero. Pretzels and beer are served during the show.

The Yale Puppeteers are giving "Mr. Noah" and the "Pied Piper" in their colorful shack on Olivera Street, which avenue purports to be the Greenwich Village of Los Angeles.



THE CAMERA REPORTS

NEWLYWEDS. Ricardo Cortez, Warner star, and his bride, the former Miss Christine Lee. They were married following completion of Cortez's role in the Al Jolson production, "Wonder Bar."

TRAVELING. (Right) Sam Sax, production chief of the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio, who left this week for a tour of Europe and the Near East, accompanied by Mrs. Sax.

TAIL'S END. Located by the hyper-curious Charley Chase just 31 inches from the nose's tip of his favorite dachshund. Assisting the Hal Roach-MGM comedian is Betty Mack.

PATRICIAN. (Left) By virtue of at least two coincidences. For she is Patricia Ellis—and now she has been cast with Lew Ayres in Universal's "Let's Be Ritzy," which has just been completed.

IN COMEDY. (Above) Betty Compson, dramatic favorite of another day, who has been signed by Educational for "Breakers Ahead."

BERMUDA BOUND. (Left) Howard S. Cullman, operating receiver of the Roxy in New York, as he sailed with his sons, Paul and Hugh.

FURTHER MEASURES. This time (at right) drastic ones taken on "Strictly Dishonorable" set at RKO Radio by hyper-curious Lupe Velez. Subject, the Durante trumpet.

BACK ON BROADWAY. George White being greeted by Gregory Ratoff and feminine co-players in the "Scandals" which White has made for Fox on the pattern of his celebrated "Scandals" stage revues.

BACK TO DESK. (Below) Phil Reisman, newly elected vice-president of the RKO Export Corporation, here shown arriving in New York on the Berengaria following visits to the company's European branches.

GOES PICTURE-WISE. (Left) Drue Leyton, who adds her interesting name to those of stage players turning to the screen. She has a Fox contract and will make her debut in "Now I'll Tell."

BLACK AND WHITE. Shadows and a dark mood. A trickle of sunshine—and Alice herself, Alice White, currently one of the affairs of Paul Lukas in the forthcoming Universal production, "The Affairs of a Gentleman."

YOU'RE WRONG! Looks as though the still photographer was around shooting the producing company at work. But as a matter of fact it all will be on the screen, just like this, when "Orders Is Orders" is shown. This is an actual scene from this Gaumont British production, which co-stars the well known American players, Charlotte Greenwood and James Gleason.

MPTOA INVITES ADMINISTRATION TO SIT IN ON COAST CONVENTION

More Independent Ownership Needed, Says Miss Pickford

From the celluloid cloudburst in "Tess of the Storm Country" to the haloed throne of "America's Sweetheart," and finally an expert diagnostician of motion picture ailments. With the recording disc of her stethoscope rambling over the convalescing form of entertainment known as the motion picture, Mary Pickford found the symptoms indicated too much monopolization and not enough independent ownership; too much manufacturing and not enough artistic creation; too much getting and not enough giving, and too few of the pioneers to effect quick recovery.

Miss Pickford was the luncheon guest last Thursday at the regular weekly meeting of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, at the Motion Picture Club quarters, New York.

She was not bitterly critical, nor did her voice indicate a tone of futility. She merely passed on to the New York motion picture advertising impresarios, publicists and trade and newspaper representatives "a few observations" gathered in a quarter century of motion picture activities.

Sees Break for Independents

Miss Pickford warned that the independents could not get a break because of the extent to which the industry has been monopolized, and that there was all too little cooperation by the "big fellows." "That situation is going to be changed, and soon," she said with some definiteness, but she did not get down to specific cases. It was assumed that she was discussing independents in their relation to production and distribution. Miss Pickford still owns one-sixth of United Artists.

The industry is entirely too mercenary, in her opinion. That, too, will be changed, she said, because it has become more of a business of manufacturing motion pictures, with too little attention paid to artistic creation. "This business is held together by a thin thread in the nature of creative art, or inspiration," she added.

Miss Pickford bemoaned the inactivity of the "old pioneers" of the days before sound.

Says Pioneers Are Needed

"The industry needs stimulation, but where it is coming from I do not know," Miss Pickford said. "We need more pioneers, men who think of giving rather than getting.

The star said she has no difficulty with her releases, the chief trouble being in trying to get other studios to lend contractees for her pictures.

On the AMPA program with Miss Pickford were John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Motion Picture Code Authority; Edward Kuykendall, MPTOA president, who declared that the "long-talked-of round-the-corner is finally here"; Miss Catherine McNeilis, publisher of Tower Magazines; other executives of the Tower fan publications, and Louis Nizer of the Film Board of Trade.

NRA Executives Asked to Participate as Observers at Round Table Conference at Los Angeles, April 10 to 12

The motion Picture Theatre Owners of America sent an open invitation this week to the Administration at Washington and to the NRA to participate officially, as observers, in the round table conference of producers, distributors, exhibitors and the public, which will be a highlight of the 14th anuual MPTOA convention in Los Angeles, April 10 to 12.

Executives of the theatre owners' organization have extended invitations to Postmaster James Farley, to Frank Walker, head of the President's emergency recovery council, and to General Hugh Johnson, Sol A. Rosenblatt, Senator William G. McAdoo and Senator Hiram Johnson.

Will Rogers for Banquet

Will Rogers has been asked to preside at the convention banquet, and mayors of the large California cities are expected to be on hand. In addition to events previously reported, the Independent Motion Picture Producers Association, of Hollywood, will fete the conventioners at a "Wild West" show and barbecue. Trem Carr, president, this week appointed Sam Wolf, I. E. Chadwick and Ken Goldsmith a committee on arrangements.

Producers, distributors and exhibitors in the Los Angeles territory started this week to plan a reception to the MPTOA delegates, who will arrive in Los Angeles on Tuesday morning, April 10. Under the chairmanship of Ben Berinstein, Los Angeles exhibitor, California committees already have arrangements under way.

Los Angeles Committees

Committees appointed in Los Angeles this week follow:

General

B. N. Berinstein, chairman; R. D. Whitson, George F. Bromley, Arnold Shaak, H. W. Chatiner, George L. Hanes, Harry H. Hicks, Russell Rogers, H. J. Siler, Lou Halper, J. Reeves Espy, Mike Rosenberg, John M. Young, Milton Arthur, Simon Lazarus, Glenn Harper, B. H. Lustig, Dave Bershon, Victor M. Shapiro, Arthur Ungar, Ralph Wilk, Warren Stokes and W. R. Wilkerson.

Reception

Henry H. Hicks, chairman; W. W. Whitson, A. Aalperstein, G. A. Metzger, M. Raymond Peterson, Irving Carlin, Lazarus, J. Leslie Swope, K. C. Manny, Lustig, Harry Vinnicof, Al Bowman, R. P. Jamison, Glenn Harper, Chotiner, W. H. Lollier, Sherrill Cohen, George H. Hines, H. Y. Herond, Mike Gore, M. E. Bayliss, William C. Ritter, J. N. Dillon, J. J. Milstein, Carroll N. Peacock, N. P. Jacobs, E. W. Maclean, Al J. O'Keefe, Harry Lustig, Howard Stubbins, George Montgomery, Sam Berkowitz, M. A. Hulling, Jack Drum, Dick Mitchell, Ray Olmstead, Harry Millstein and A. Aronson.

Entertainment

Mike Rosenberg, chairman; Whitson, Halper, Siler, Ralph Grunauer, Espy, Metzger, Jamison, Chotiner, Doc Howe, Marco Woolf, Sid Grauman and Bruce Fowler.

Publicity

George F. Bromley, chairman; Warren Burgess and Harry Hammond Beall; Programs and badges, George L. Hanes and Bernard Loper; Registration, Lola Adams Gentry, chairman; Minnie A. Kopple, Jennie H. Dodge and Mildred Landreau; transportation, Arnold Shaak and Robert Gumbiner. Contracts, W. H. "Bud" Lollier.

Lowest Rail Rates Ever

The MPTOA has concluded negotiations with the national railroad systems for the lowest convention rates ever accorded transcontinental travelers. Rates will be fare and one-third for the round trip, with special west bound trains leaving from several key points. The New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Southern Railroad will run special through cars, joining the MPTOA-"Golden State" special of the Rock Island Railroad and the MPTOA-"Sunset Limited." These are the official convention lines.

The MPTOA board of directors, comprising 24 members, all state leaders, will meet in Los Angeles April 9 to nominate officers. Ed Kuykendall is now president.

Each exhibitor delegate must obtain from National MPTOA headquarters, 1600 Broadway, New York, an official identification certificate, which must be presented to the local railway ticket agent at the time he purchases the round trip ticket. Names of members of an exhibitor's family and names of his guests shall also be included on the same identification certificate.

The round trip railroad tickets at the special MPTOA convention rates will be on sale at the railroad ticket offices on the following dates:

Arizona, California, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and El Paso, Texas—April 3-11.

Idaho, Oregon, Washington—April 3-10.

Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Wyoming—April 2-10.

Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesotafi, Missouri, North Dakota, Michigan, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Memphis, Tenn.—April 1-9.

Eastern states will start their sales on earlier dates.

Motion Picture Club Roll Now Totals 204

The New York Motion Picture Club now has a total membership of 204 as of last Saturday. According to directors of the club, the membership includes virtually every ranking executive in the industry. A substantial initiation fee is to be levied following reorganization. Dues at present are fixed at $75 per year, without an initiation fee.

Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Distributing Corporation, has been elected a director of the club, supplementing a board which includes Jules E. Brulatour, Jack Cohn, Will H. Hayes, Al Lichtman, Carl Laemmle, H. J. Yates and Adolph Zukor. Additional directors will be named later.

Wilson Leaves NRA

Frank R. Wilson, NRA publicity representative at Washington, in charge of the film campaign last year, has resigned to return to the film business in York.

Fox's 39-Week Net $1,410,793

Fox Film Corporation, in its first financial report since its reorganization, on April 1, last year, reports a net profit for the 39 weeks ended December 30, 1933, of $1,410,793 after all charges, which compares with a loss of $7,595,000 for the 40 weeks ended December 31, 1932.

On the basis of the 2,436,409 shares of Class A and Class B common stock outstanding, the 1933 net equals 58 cents per share. During the first quarter of 1933 (the period prior to reorganization) operations resulted in a loss of $557,122. During the last quarter of the year net earnings were $1,080,015.

Gross revenue for the 39 weeks totaled $24,288,824, which compares with $20,229,900 for the same period in 1932. Current assets on December 30, 1933, totaled $18,264,086, against current liabilities of $3,910,292. Cash on hand totaled $5,021,932 and inventories were $11,123,541. The net worth of the corporation on December 30 was $35,185,569, including earned surplus of $1,674,453. The foregoing figures exclude the operations of Wesco and its subsidiaries, which operate all of Fox Film's theatre interests in the United States. Important subsidiaries of Wesco are still in bankruptcy and therefore are under the jurisdiction of the courts. Fox Film's investment in Wesco has been written down to $1 and its advances to Wesco and its principal subsidiary, Fox West Coast Theatres, are carried at the full amount, with an adequate reserve for any adjustments of value which may be deemed advisable upon termination of the various bankruptcies.

Milwaukee Houses Give Pay Increase

The threatened strike of members of the new Milwaukee doormen's and ushers' union this week was finally averted with the raising of all salaries $2.50 weekly and a guarantee of a maximum 40-hour week.

Fred S. Meyer, president of the MPTO of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, in a biting statement had declared:

"For the first time in theatre history in Milwaukee, all theatre owners and operators have joined together collectively to iron out the question of 'what is wrong with the theatre business.' We have agreed that the big trouble is outside interference in conducting our business, and the ushers' strike is but a minor matter in this controversy."

In St. Joseph, Mo., another chapter in Ed Dubinsky's dispute with the unions was written Tuesday when Federal Judge Otis granted a temporary injunction to Dubinsky Bros. against IATSE operators and stagehands and one member of the musicians' union enjoining them from committting "violent or fraudulent acts against the Dubinsky circuit or its three theatres" in St. Joseph.

The Regional Labor Board in St. Louis recently ordered Mr. Dubinsky to reinstate IATSE projectionists. It was said this week that union officials will carry their fight to the Department of Justice at Washington.

Another development was a "warning" issued by Allied States Association to all exhibitors to "watch their steps."

Charles R. Rogers To Withdraw from Paramount

Charles R. Rogers announced in Hollywood last week that he would withdraw from Paramount upon completion of the remaining four productions on this season's program. He plans to continue production independently.

Film Attacks In House Anticipated

By FRANCIS L. BURT
Washington Correspondent

Hearings at Washington next week on the Patman censorship bill may prove to be but the first of a series of attacks on the motion picture industry, it is believed by observers there.

A straight one per cent tax on all admissions, regardless of prices, was proposed Wednesday to the Senate finance committee, by John K. Kelly, representing circus interests.

There are available a number of bills and resolutions which it can dig up for committee hearings to occupy its time, among them resolutions introduced a year ago by Representative Sirovich of New York, for an investigation of the motion and sonant pictures industry; the resolution of Representative Patman of Texas asking an investigation of the production, distribution and exhibition of films by the attorney general; several bills to amend and consolidate the copyright laws; the bill introduced by Congressman Celler of New York on block and blind booking, and measures removing the present restrictions on the interstate transportation of fight films.

Although, apparently, no effort was made to head off Representative Patman's demand for hearings on his film control bill, it is not considered likely that any measure along that line will be given favorable consideration this session. It is not, so far as can be learned, an Administration measure, and the Administration today is more concerned with getting business moving than with placing handicaps in its way, so long as the abuses complained of do not adversely affect the public's pocketbook.

The hearings on the Patman bill, it might be pointed out, will be important to the film industry, for they will offer the first opportunity since the repeal of prohibition for the reform elements to disclose their future activities.

Rosen to Philadelphia

The appointment of Sam Rosen as special representative for the Gaumont-British Picture Corporation of America, in charge of the Philadelphia territory, was announced this week by Arthur A. Lee, executive vice-president of the company.

MPPDA to Elect

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., will be held in New York March 26.

Warner to Sail

Harry M. Warner, president of Warner, will sail March 17 for a five weeks' tour of Europe. He will be accompanied by Sam Sax.

Reorganizing of RKO Is Planned

A plan of reorganization for Radio-Keith-Orpheum which would create a new corporation to take over RKO's assets, is understood to have been broached this week by principal creditor groups of the company in conjunction with the Radio Corporation of America. Claims against RKO are said to aggregate $38,000,000, and under the proposed reorganization plan, the new corporation would make no bids for RKO assets until the amount of the claims to be allowed are known.

It is understood the two principal creditors' committees, the RKO debenture and gold bond protective committee and the RKO Stockholders' Protective Committee, are supporting the plan.

The leases of the two RKO theatres in Radio City—the Music Hall and the RKO Center—were approved last week in New York by U. S. district court judge William Bondy. However, Judge Bondy inserted an added stipulation in his approval, agreed to by Rockefeller Center, the lessor, that annual rent payments by RKO under the percentage payment provisions of the lease shall not exceed $953,972, the amount fixed as annual rental on the two houses by the original lease drawn by RKO and Rockefeller Center in 1930.

Radio City For London Planned

Plans for a $5,000,000 amusement center in London's West End, comparable to New York's Radio City, were confirmed Tuesday by Sir Malcolm McAlpine, one of the largest contractors in the British Empire.

Sir Malcolm told MOTION PICTURE HERALD's London correspondent that he could not confirm the rumored connection of S. L. "Roxy" Rothafel, now in the British capital, with the project, as theatre executive.

According to the report, the project would include a 6,000-seat motion picture theatre.

Studio Pact Extended

The basic agreement entered into in 1926 between major producers and the I. B. E. W., the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Jobbers of America, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers, the I. A. T. S. E. and the American Federation of Musicians, has been extended for two years, with no changes except those specified by the code.

Cocktail Party for Jolson

Warner gave a cocktail party in honor of Al Jolson in New York on Tuesday. In addition to an imposing array of Broadway and Hollywood celebrities, there were many trade, newspaper and magazine representatives present.

Hear Tri-Ergon Appeal

Arguments on Tri-Ergon's appeal from a sound patents decision favoring New York exhibitors and distributors were submitted in the form of briefs Tuesday in the appellate division of the New York supreme court. Decision was reserved.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

"Hitting the 'toboggan' from fame was the greatest thing that ever happened to me," confessed Betty Blythe, onetime "Queen of Sheba," and now one of Hollywood's bit players. Old-timers remember when the statuesque Betty started in pictures with Vitagraph, almost at the very beginning, and worked up successfully through World Film, Selznick, Sam Goldwyn, Brentwood, Curwood-Carver Productions, First National and Fox.

"Things looked so bad," she said the other day, "that I debated for half an hour the question of stealing a penny from a pile of newspapers in a New York hotel lobby to put with the four I had, in order to get to the Shubert office for an interview."

Miss Blythe revealed she didn't steal the penny—and so another victory was chalked up against the pro-Satan forces.

Back in 1925, the George H. Doran Company published "Famous Film Folk." On page 116 appeared a sketch of Betty Blythe's motion picture career. It said, in part: "Hers is a splendid personality, and her ability as an actress has stamped her as one of the screen's brightest stars."

▽

A sequence in Educational's new two-reel comedy, "Managed Money," depicts Junior Coghlan "discovering" gold on the desert. To make the scene appear realistic, several pounds of copper-and-brass shavings were mixed with the sand on location on the Mojave Desert, near Palmdale. The scene was shot, and the company moved on.

Some few days later, a native, passing the spot, was attracted by the unusual glitter of the metal in the sun. Breathlessly arriving back in the small desert town, he soon had the populace in an uproar. Word of the discovery of "Gold!" echoed throughout the place and a gold rush was under way in two seconds, or thereabouts. However, a test proved the "gold" to be nothing more than some good old Educational studio pipe fittings. And were their faces red.

▽

Civilization is making progress. Bullet-proof vests have been issued to Universal Newsreel cameramen stationed in Cuba and China.

▽

Miss Jeanette Meehan, of our Hollywood reportorial staff, overheard this conversation between two of the colony's art directors:

First art director: "What, in your opinion, are the two greatest miniatures in studio history?"

"Oh," niftied the second, "I'd say the miniature hired and the miniature fired."

▽

The Music Users' Protective Association has accused the American Society of Composers of violating the anti trust laws, and of unfair methods of competition. Among other things, the Music Users cite incidents where composers have sold their compositions for as little as $25 to music publishers, who, in turn, have made profits as high as $135,000. Old-timers will remember when Gus Edwards struggled along for years before his first number, "Stella," was accepted. Gus got $7.50. George Cooper got $5 for "Sweet Genevieve." Charles K. Harris netted 85 cents on "When the Sun Has Set," while Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home" brought him only $50.

▽

"And efficiency," says Ted Cook, "seems to be the art of making two mistakes where you had time for only one before." Mr. Cook is a Californian—he should know.

THE OLD GUARD OF THE SILVER SCREEN

We wonder how many of the starring youngsters of this day will troupe down through the years as have these bright lights of the silent screen, all past the age line of forty, whose names are still visible in marquee lights, even though some appear only occasionally:

	Age		Age
George Arliss	66	Wallace Beery	48
May Robson	66	James Gleason	48
Marie Dressler	65	Adolphe Menjou	44
Lionel Barrymore	56	Clive Brook	43
Conway Tearle	56	Ronald Colman	43
Tom Meighan	55	Hoot Gibson	42
Will Rogers	55	Edmund Lowe	42
John Barrymore	52	Ruth Chatterton	41
Douglas Fairbanks	51	Harold Lloyd	41
Lowell Sherman	49	Mary Pickford	41

The vital statistics were supplied by the World Almanac, and therefore we cannot guarantee their authenticity, especially when, as a result of a typographical error, the age of young Charles (Buddy) Rogers was given as 51 years.

Interesting is the scarcity in the compilation of women players above forty, there being only four, as against sixteen males. The reason may be attributed to the belief of the fair sex in perpetual youth, and, as proof, we point to Fanny Ward who is still young at 72.

If we are to believe John C. Moffett, writer of things Hollywood, Metro's highly organized Culver City studio has arranged cubbyholes for most of the major emotions, and tries to maintain a staff that can handle most of them, thusly:

DEPARTMENT	FOREMAN
Divine One or Highfaluting Department	Greta Garbo
Hot Department	Joan Crawford
Hot Department (First Assistant)	Jean Harlow
Honest Worth Department	Lionel Barrymore
Department of Smartness, Sophistication and Genteel Standing	Norma Shearer
Department of Physique and Moron Control	Johnny Weismuller
Department of Uncouth Hearts of Gold	Wallace Beery
Class Department	John Barrymore
Down-to-Earth Department	Lee Tracy
Department of Passion (Rugged)	Clark Gable
Department of Passion (Romantic)	Left vacant by decline of John Gilbert
Ga-Ga Department	Vacant

▽

An amusing picture of the effect of motion pictures when first screened in East Africa, recently, is painted in a dispatch from Dar-Es-Salaam. An agricultural show intended to educate the natives in the improvement of farming methods was flashed on the screen, after the doors had been closed and the windows curtained. It was greeted with loud cries and wailing from the spectators. The doors were opened quickly and the whole audience rushed out into the daylight and safety.

Some sweet soul sent us one of those chain letters the other day with instructions to rush nine copies to nine of our "most intelligent friends" to whom we wish happiness. If the instructions are carried out, it says a happy event will take place during the nine days that follow, and, if they're not, we are told bad luck will befall us. "A Mr. Dirno, of Victoria, won a large prize in a lottery—250,000 lires"—" for being a good little boy, while "the Nelson house was destroyed by fire on the ninth day for not taking the chain seriously. Mrs. Fox lost her only son on the third day. Pola Negri owes her fortune to having followed and carried out instructions." In the first place, Pola Negri has been having pretty tough sledding, which is generally known, and, secondly, Ben Blumenthal, who brought Miss Negri to these shores for Paramount in about 1921, should get a little credit for that alleged "fortune."

Anyway, the chain was started in Flanders by an American general. Eventually it found its way to Hollywood, where Joan Bennett passed it to Spencer Tracy who passed it to Harry O'Neil who passed it to Ann Pennington who passed it to Vivienne Segal who passed it to Mrs. Santa Ortega who passed it to George Fleming who passed it to Portia Hall who passed it to Gordon Richards and then it took another course until it got back to Dorothy Lee who passed it to George O'Neill who passed it to Zoe Atkins who passed it to George Cukor who passed it to Johnny Farrow who passed it to Margaret Ettinger, and so on, ad finem.

▽

We hear that Mr. Charles Laughton, Englishman, who deserted Hollywood last year at the peak of his career, to dabble in Shakespeare, is doing very nicely. He'll be back in the cinema capital, on the Paramount lot, shortly, but in the meantime, he is filling London's "Old Vic" theatre in a repertoire of Shakespeare, acting a month for what Hollywood paid him a day, and liking it.

Odd McIntyre, who watches such things, tells us that "Old Vic" still preserves audience affection. When German bombs were dropping around London's Waterloo station, crowds at "Old Vic" were cheering "Macbeth." It seems that the personal sales efforts expended on the English, some 300 years ago, by the "Bard of Avon," will never be undone—in England.

▽

The rapidity of the growth of the motion picture army of Kentucky colonels, in command of General Charles Clyde Pettijohn, has been keeping pace with the expansive development of Hitler's Nazis in Germany, and Representative Cannon, from Wisconsin, has asked Congress to stop it. Legislator Cannon has introduced a bill at Washington to abolish Kentucky's greatest industry, principally because too many motion picture people who have not seen military service of any kind, "are cavorting about with titles of 'General,' 'Colonel,' 'Major,' or something or other." Evidently the Congressman has never witnessed distributors and exhibitors in battle on the field.

As if it was necessary to prove that a Kentucky colonelcy doesn't mean any more than a generalcy in the Cuban army, Representative Cannon added he understood Colonel Will Rogers got his commission for a nickel cigar, which, he said, Governor Ruby Laffoon gave to someone else anyway. For a dime smoke, Will could have gotten the same ranking as General Pettijohn.

HERE ARE 44 MORE BOARD MEMBERS

GEORGE JACKSON, (above), Portland Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, is executive of Woodlaw theatres.

E. E. WEBBER (above), Kansas City Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates the Mary Lue Theatre.

FRANK P. BRYAN (above), Charlotte Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Warner manager.

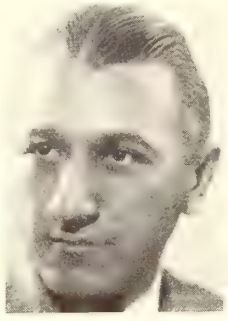
J. J. PARKER (above), Portland Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, heads Parker's Portland Theatres.

HAROLD J. FITZGERALD (below), Milwaukee Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, manages Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises.

FRANK NEWMAN (below), Seattle Clearance Board, affiliated first-run, is associated in Evergreen Theatres.

CLARENCE D. HILL (below), St. Louis Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Columbia manager.

D. V. MCLUCAS (below), Omaha Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is United Artists manager.



HARRY TAYLOR (above), Kansas City Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Columbia manager.

FLOYD BROWN (above), Indianapolis Grievance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, has the Kenton Theatre.

J. J. SPANDEAU (above), Omaha Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

DAVID E. WESHNER (above), Milwaukee Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, is Warner zone manager.

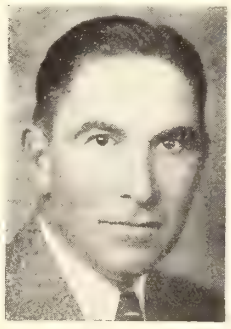
EARL A. BELL (below), Denver Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Warner manager.

JACK ROSE (below), Chicago Clearance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, has his own booking exchange.

WALTER CREAL (below), Omaha Grievance Board. Picture in last issue was of another Mr. Creal.

JOHN HAMRICK (below), Seattle Grievance Board, unaffiliated theatres, heads Hamrick circuit.

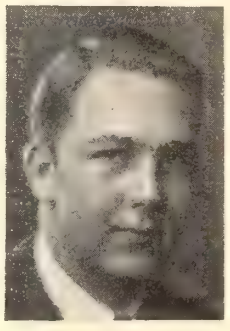
MORE PICTURES OF BOARDS' MEMBERS



On these two pages apppear the pictures of 44 more members of the Local Grievance and Clearance and Zoning Boards under the Motion Picture Code. In last week's issue, March 10th, 44 pictures also were reproduced. The purpose is to acquaint all exhibitors and distributor personnel in all territories with the men who are representing them on the boards. Additional pictures will appear in succeeding issues.

ANDREW SASSO (above), Portland Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, manages the Music Box.

TED MENDENHALL (above), Omaha Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Paramount manager.



GEORGE LANDIS (above), Indianapolis Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Fox manager

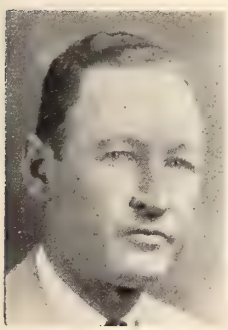
BURNS ELLISON (below), Denver Grievance Board, unaffiliated theatres, owns Federal theatre.

J. M. GREGG (below), Charlotte Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, manages Criterion Theatres.

HENRY M. HERBEL (below), Chicago Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Universal manager.

ON GRIEVANCE AND CLEARANCE UNITS

REPRESENTATION ON THE BOARDS

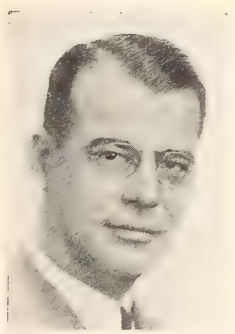


Clearance and Zoning Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated first-run theatre; one independent first-run theatre; two independent subsequent runs; one impartial.

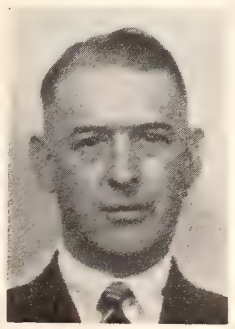
Grievance Boards: One distributor representative with theatre affiliation; one distributor without theatre affiliation; one affiliated theatre; one independent exhibitor; one impartial.

TOM SAXE (below), Milwaukee Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, is associated in Saxe Amusement Management, Inc.

L. FRANK STOCKER (below), Oklahoma City Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Columbia manager



JACK FLEX (below), Indianapolis Clearance Board affiliated first-runs, manages Loew's Palace.



JACK MILLER (above), Chicago Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, is in Simansky-Miller partnership.

H. H. EVERETT (above), Charlotte Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, is Bromberg Attractions manager.

HOWARD MAPES (above), Portland Grievance Board, unaffiliated distributors, operates Star exchange.

FRANK HARRIS (below), Pittsburgh Clearance Board. Picture in last issue was of another Frank Harris.

RICK RICKETSON (below), Denver Clearance Board, affiliated first-runs, operates for Skouras Fox West Coast.

H. F. KENNEDY (below), Omaha Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-run, operates Broken Bow Lyric.

W. L. AINSWORTH (below), Milwaukee Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates Fond du Lac Garrick.

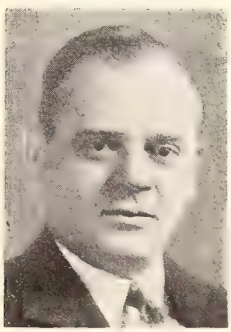
JOHN VON HERBERG (above), Seattle Clearance Board, unaffiliated first-runs, heads Jensen-Von Herberg circuit.

A. M. AVERY (above), Omaha Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Radio manager.

A. C. ZARING (above), Indianapolis Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates the Egyptian theatre.

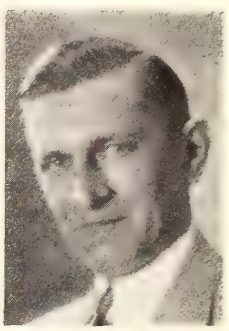
JOHN J. MALONEY (above) Pittsburgh Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is MGM manager.

I. M. HALPERIN (below), Indianapolis Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, is Indiana theatre managing director.



GEORGE FISCHER (below), Milwaukee Clearance Board, unaffiliated subsequent runs, operates four theatres.

FELIX MENDELSSOHN (below) Chicago Clearance Board, affiliated distributors, is MGM manager.



B. B. REINGOLD (below), St. Louis Grievance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Fox manager.

H. F. KINCEY (above), Charlotte Grievance Board, affiliated exhibitors, is Paramount operating partner.

RAY A. HIGDON (above), Oklahoma City Clearance Board, affiliated national distributors, is Fox manager.

JAMES H. ALEXANDER (above) Pittsburgh Clearance Board, unaffiliated distributors, owns Alexander Film Service.

NATE WOLF (above), Chicago Grievance Board, unaffiliated exhibitors, operates four theatres.

ARTHUR MAYER FINDS SELWYN IS 'SPOOFED'

Rialto Executive Says Exhibitor Has About as Much Control Over Films as Any Retailer Over Manufactured Product

The average exhibitor "has about as much control over the type and quality of pictures produced as any other retailer has on the manufacture of the commodity he handles," and the producer's infallable guide to public reaction lies rather in the weekly intake at the box offices of the country, says Arthur L. Mayer, formerly of the theatre advertising and publicity department of Paramount Publix and now managing director of the New York Rialto theatre, which he has leased.

Answering Edgar Selwyn's charge that "the strange and subtle business of emasculating and rendering ordinary always happens when a picture has been completed—the villain is the exhibitor," Mr. Mayer wrote in the New York Times of last Sunday that "it became obvious that some quasi-friends in Hollywood had been spoofing this newcomer to their ranks and that his commendable zeal for reform of the movies was only surpassed by his complete ignorance of the subject."

A Pretty Lively Corpse

"If the movie reviews in my favorite newspaper interfere with my digestion, I take out my wrath on Mordaunt Hall, not on the newsstand dealer," Mr. Mayer commented, in his contribution to the Times symposium on "the best seller of all mysteries—the mystery of who murdered the movies." And as for that, he added that "when last seen, it must be admitted that the reputed corpse was moving rapidly around the corner toward prosperity, with every indication of his demise having been slightly exaggerated."

"I have been connected with the distribution and exhibition of motion pictures for some twenty years," he said. "In that period of time I have heard exhibitors denounced by film salesmen as niggardly chiselers; by church organizations as purveyors of filth and lewdness; by advertising experts as the ultimate offenders in the misuse of hyperboles and superlatives. I have heard innumerable unpleasant comments about their business methods and their morals; about their military ushers, their rococo theatres and their thirst for publicity, but never before have I heard any one say, in print or out, that after pictures had been completed the exhibitor emasculated them."

Eyes and Ears of the Business

But while the box office is what tells the story, the exhibitor is "necessarily the eyes and ears of the business," the theatre executive declared. "He comes into close daily contact with many ultimate consumers in a way that no motion picture producer or director exiled in Hollywood can. He stands in his lobby to hear, or hides in his office to avoid, the comments of his patrons. He checks up his daily receipts and is intently aware what sort of pictures his customers patronize and which they honor with their absence. This information he can send to Hollywood, if he so desires, through the indirect and unreliable medium of a film salesman who calls upon him a few times a year. He also sends it to Hollywood unwillingly, but necessarily through the accurate and sensitive barometer of a box-office report.

"For most pictures of consequence are played on the basis of a percentage of the gross receipts. No Hollywood studio need wait for Mr. Exhibitor to unburden himself relative to which pictures should be emasculated and which should take thyroid for greater virility. The weekly intake on every production in current release gives the distribution and studio executives an infallible guide to the public reaction.

"Primed with this information, the studio proceeds with its production plans, the distribution department with its sales campaign."

Says Veterans Favor Block Sales

Mr. Mayer mentioned the block booking system "against which President Lowell has been fulminating but which to most picture veterans would appear the only feasible method of selling motion pictures," and the production book which "has as much bearing upon actual performance on the part of the motion picture producer as the average political platform has on the subsequent policies of a successful candidate."

Then this parting shot in the general direction of Mr. Selwyn:

"Two weeks ago Mr. Selwyn's ingenious little picture, 'The Mystery of Mr. X,' played at the Capitol. I search in vain for any announcement on the part of Metro that this picture was to be included in their contract. What exhibitor wired to Mr. Selwyn that he should make 'The Mystery of Mr. X,' and after it was made was responsible for any weakening or emasculation that may have occurred?"

Stick to Stage Knitting: Carroll

Earl Carroll, creator of the "Vanities" and now associated with Paramount in filming "Murder at the Vanities," this week aimed a friendly warning at such theatrical producers as Sam Harris, Al Woods and Arthur Hopkins, who are thinking of making motion pictures, suggesting that they should stick to their theatrical knitting.

"In the first place," Mr. Carroll said, "there is too much detail to attend to. It would kill their enthusiasm. This film game isn't a personal enterprise like a stage show, in which you do most of the work yourself.

"Too many technical factors enter into screen production. Sound, photography, direction, cutting and distribution are only a few of the items that would break the average New York producer's back. It's a new business—and most Broadway producers won't learn anything new. The past history of the legitimate theatre proves that."

Mr. Carroll didn't include George M. Cohan, explaining that "Cohan is a musical comedy man, and producers of musicals are always susceptible to new trends and techniques."

Columbia Party Draws More Than 1,000 Guests

The Columbia Pictures home office staff, with their friends, turned out in force last Saturday evening when the annual party was held at the Waldorf Astoria. More than a thousand were present. Numerous acts were on the program, with music furnished by Ozzie Nelson and his orchestra. Harry Hershfield, Julius Tannen and Milton Berle were toastmasters.

SIGNED . . .

All Star Productions

Percy Helton, Frederic Worlock and Sigmund Spaeth added to "Frankie and Johnny."

▽

Columbia

Arthur Rankin awarded player's contract. Tullio Carminati in Grace Moore's forthcoming musical. . . . Ann Sothern and Patsy (from Hal Roach) selected for "The Party's Over." . . . Shirley Grey opposite Ralph Bellamy in "Murder in the Studio." . . .

▽

Educational

Betty Compson, Dorothy Sebastian and Don Alvarado sign for "Breakers Ahead." . . . Ernest Truex given contract, to appear in two-reelers. . . .

▽

Fox

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell reunited in "The World Is Ours," with Ginger Rogers and James Dunn. . . . Barbara Weeks and G. P. Huntley join "Now I'll Tell." . . .

▽

Invincible

James T. Mack, Clarence Eldert and Lloyd Ingraham go into "Together Again." . . .

▽

Liberty

Leila Hyams and Phillips Holmes engaged for "The Quitter," with Jack La Rue and Eddie Nugent.

▽

MGM

Joan Crawford to star in "Sacred and Profane Love." . . . James M. Cain to scenarize "The Duchess of Delmonico's."

▽

Monogram

Ben Verschleiser to supervise "Money Means Nothing" and Paul Malvern to produce "Border Patrol." . . . Mary Brian cast for "Numbers of Monte Carlo." . . .

▽

Paramount

Jack Haley will star in "Here Comes the Groom," Ralph Murphy to direct. . . . John Miljan goes into "It Ain't No Sin." . . . John Halliday, Gertrude Michael and Richard Carle join "The Witching Hour." . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Billie Burke and Edna May Oliver assigned to "And Let Who Will Be Clever." . . . Wanda Tuchoch given writer-director contract. . . . Lionel Barrymore to star in "Wednesday's Child," with Frank Thomas, Jr. . . .

▽

Showmen's

Jeannette Loff, Johnny Mack Brown and Roberta Gale in "St. Louis Woman," Albert Ray directing. . . .

▽

United Artists

Charlotte Henry (from Paramount) and Frank Albertson sign for "Head of the Family" (20th Century). . .

▽

Universal

Alice White opposite Paul Lukas in "Affairs of a Gentleman." . . . Karen DeWolf to do screen play of "The Humbug." . . . Berton Churchill to star in "Alias the Deacon." . . .

▽

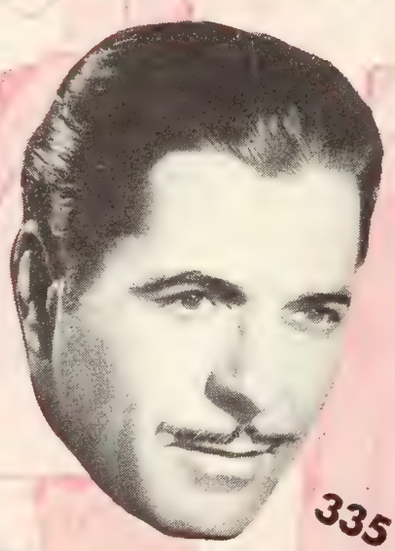
Warner-First National

Osgood Perkins, Victor Jory and Dolores Del Rio assigned to "Madame Du Barry." . . . Richard Barthelmess and Helen Lowell in "The Old Doll's House." . . . Dorothy Burgess and Dorothy Lee join "Friends of Mr. Sweeney."

Hooray!
Here comes...
THE SHOW OF
1,001 SURPRISES

THE MASTER CREATION OF MASTER SHOWMEN

1,000 PLAYERS!



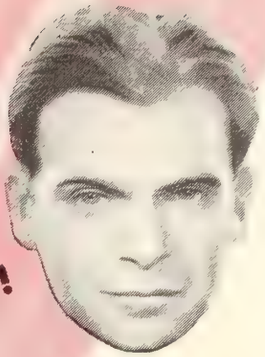
VOCAL CHORUS OF 500!

"STAND

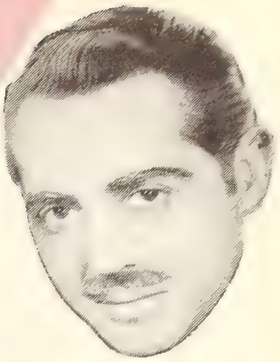
- Conceived in daring... dedicated to box-office... a new show thrill is about to sweep across the nation's screens... as inspired FOX showmen blaze the way to an utterly new idea in entertainment. Dazzling, surprising, amazing... resplendent with beauties, song and spectacle... and it goes even beyond that... to excite every emotion the human heart has known!

5 BANDS OF MUSIC

335 SCENES



WILD ANIMALS!



THE SHOW OF 1,001 SURPRISES!

ITS MARVELS NEVER CEASE!

1,000 DAZZLING GIRLS!

4,891 COSTUMES!

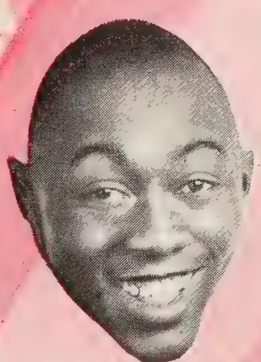
UP and CHEER!

(Formerly "FOX FOLLIES")

WARNER BAXTER

MADGE EVANS · SYLVIA FROOS

JOHN BOLES · JAMES DUNN



"AUNT JEMIMA" · SHIRLEY TEMPLE

ARTHUR BYRON · RALPH MORGAN

NICK FORAN · NIGEL BRUCE

MITCHELL & DURANT

and STEPIN FETCHIT

SONG & DANCE TUNES

of the world for 1934.

"Broadway's Gone Hill Billy"

"We're Out Of The Red"

"Stand Up And Cheer"

"This Is Our Last Night Together"

"I'm Laughing"

"Baby Take A Bow"

Made for your amazement by these great showmen:

Produced by WINFIELD SHEEHAN

Associate Producer and Collaborator on Story and Dialogue: LEW BROWN. Director: Hamilton MacFadden. Lyrics: Lew Brown. Music: Lew Brown and Jay Gorney. Dances Staged by: Sammy Lee. Dialogue: Ralph Spence. Story Idea Suggested by: Will Rogers and Philip Klein.

A FOX PICTURE

250 FILMS PROPOSED TO EXHIBITORS FOR SPECIAL USES IN COMMUNITY

Features Selected by National Board of Review Present Opportunities for Enlisting Cooperation of Previewing Groups; Films Classified on Suitability for Family, Adults and Children

Suggestions for motion picture entertainment for socalled "family" programs and for shows staged especially for juvenile audiences were offered to exhibitors this week by the National Board of Review in a compilation of 250 feature films chosen from 1933-34 releases. Motion picture theatre owners, particularly that vast majority not operating socalled "downtown" or "de luxe" runs which call upon transient trade, will discover many openings for special merchandising treatment in the list.

The record already has been placed before numerous reviewing groups in the field and before citizen contacts interested in motion picture development, and while many of the pictures selected have penetrated the market to some extent, there exist valuable possibilities to the exhibitor in enlisting new or additional support of the various groups for the selected product.

The compilation is basically one of selections for family programs and for juvenile audiences, although it does contain many films designed for "mature" audiences only, and these are so indicated by the lettering preceding the film title. Some of the films selected are suggested for library tieups, and for school or church showing. There is an unusually large number of pictures released by independents, the list containing features of the ten large distributors and some 27 independents.

The community or field work of the National Board is conducted under its Better Films National Council through affiliated membership groups, service contact groups and correspondents in the field. Exhibitors may easily arrange with these groups and contacts for sponsored showings of the pictures selected. In any event, the selections may serve as a guide to theatre owners who see possibilities of staging any of the special types of showings for which purpose the selections were made.

It is generally believed in the industry that the socalled "family" programs and junior matinees are growing in favor, especially at neighborhood houses and in small communities.

In the record are given the title, name of distributor, number of reels, star or featured players and source of the story. Audience suitability symbols used before the title indicate: "f", pictures recommended for the family audience, 12 years and up, or for "family" programs; "m", pictures recommended for the adult audience, 18 years and up; "j", pictures suitable for children under 12 years, or for juvenile programs; an asterisk (*), pictures with unusual qualities considered especially worth seeing as above the average selected picture. The compilation follows:

A

f ABOVE THE CLOUDS, Columbia, 7 reels, Robert Armstrong.
f ADORABLE, Fox, 8 reels, Janet Gaynor, Henry Garat.
f AFTER TONIGHT, RKO Radio, 8 reels, Constance Bennett.
f AIR HOSTESS, Columbia, 7 reels, James Murray, Evalyn Knapp.
fj *ALICE IN WONDERLAND, Paramount, 8 reels, Charlotte Henry, "Alice in Wonderland" and "Alice Through the Looking Glass" are combined into one story. Suggested for libraries. (Books by Lewis Carroll).
f ALONE (Odna), Amkino, 7 reels, Elena Kuzmina. Russian Production.
f ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION, Columbia, 7 reels, Fay Wray, Gene Raymond. (Novel "Rules for Wives" by Robert Riskin). m ANN VICKERS, RKO, 9 reels, Irene Dunne, Walter Huston. (Novel by Sinclair Lewis).
f *ANOTHER LANGUAGE, Metro, 8 reels, Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery. (Play by Rose Franken).
f ANOUSH, Armenkino, 7 reels. Armenian silent production.
f ARIZONA TO BROADWAY, Fox, 7 reels, James Dunn. Joan Bennett. f AS HUSBANDS GO, Fox, 8 reels, Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson. (Play by Rachel Crothers).

B

f *BE MINE TONIGHT, Universal, 9 reels, Jan Kiepura.
f BEAUTIFUL, RKO, 7 reels, Ann Harding.
m BEAUTY FOR SALE, Metro, 9 reels, Madge Evans, Una Merkel. (Novel "Beauty" by Faith Baldwin.)
m *BED OF ROSES, RKO, 7 reels, Constance Bennett.
f BEDTIME STORY, Paramount, 9 reels, Maurice Chevalier, Baby LeRoy. (Novel by Roy Horniman.)
m BEFORE MORNING, Stage and Screen Prod., 6 reels, Leo Carrillo.
f BELOW THE SEA, Columbia, 8 reels, Ralph Bellamy.
f *BERKELEY SQUARE, Fox, 9 reels, Leslie Howard, Heather Angel. (Play by John Balderstone.)
f BEST OF ENEMIES, Fox, 7 reels, Marian Nixon, Buddy Rogers.
fj *BIG CAGE, Universal, 8 reels, Clyde Beatty. (Book by Clyde Beatty.)
f BIG DRIVE, First Division, 9 reels. Chronologically arranged compilation of authentic newsreels taken by various countries engaged in the World War. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f BIG EXECUTIVE, Paramount, 7 reels, Ricardo Cortez, Richard Bennett. (Story by Alice Duer Miller.)
f BILLION DOLLAR SCANDAL, Paramount, 8 reels, Robert Armstrong.
f BITTER SWEET, United Artists, 8 reels, Anna Neagle, Fernande Graavey. British production. Operetta by Noel Coward.)
fj BLACK BEAUTY, Monogram, 6 reels, Alexander Kirkland. (Novel by Anna Sewell).
f BLARNEY KISS, British & Dominions, 7 reels, Tom Walls. British production.
f BLIND ADVENTURE, RKO, 7 reels, Robert Armstrong.
m BLONDIE JOHNSON, First National, 6 reels, Joan Blondell.
f BOMBAY MAIL, Universal, 8 reels, Edmund Lowe.
f BOMBSHELL, Metro, 10 reels, Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy.
m BONDAGE, Fox, 7 reels, Dorothy Jordan. (Novel "The House of Refuge" by Grace S. Leake.)
m BOWERY, THE, United Artists, 8 reels, Wallace Beery, George Raft.
m BROADWAY BAD, Fox, 6 reels, Joan Blondell.
f *BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD, Metro, 10 reels, Frank Morgan, Alice Brady.
f BROKEN DREAMS, Monogram, 6 reels, Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper.
f *BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS, First National, 7 reels, Pat O'Brien, Lewis Stone.
m BY CANDLELIGHT, Universal, 7 reels, Paul Lukas, Elissa Landi. (Play by Harry Graham.)

C

fj CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE, Columbia, 7 reels, Buck Jones.
m *CAPTURED, Warners, 6 reels, Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. (Novel "Fellow-Prisoners" by Sir Phillip Gibbs.)
f *CAVALCADE, Fox, 11 reels, Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard. (Play by Noel Coward.)
f CENTRAL AIRPORT, First National, 7 reels, Richard Barthelmess. (Story "Hawk's Mate" by John C. Moffitt.)
f CHANCE AT HEAVEN, RKO, 8 reels, Joel McCrea.
f CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE, Fox, 7 reels, Warner Oland. (Novel "The House Without a Key" by Earl Derr Biggers.)
f CHARMING DECEIVER, THE, Majestic 7 reels, Constance Cummings.
f CHILD OF MANHATTAN, Columbia, 7 reels, Nancy Carroll.
m CHRISTOPHER STRONG, RKO, 9 reels, Katharine Hepburn. (Novel by Gilbert Frankau.)
f CIRCUS QUEEN MURDER, THE, Columbia, 7 reels, Adolphe Menjou. (Novel by Anthony Abbott.)
f *CLEAR ALL WIRES, Metro, 8 reels, Lee Tracy.
f COLLEGE HUMOR, Paramount, 7 reels, Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie.
m CONSTANT WOMAN, World Wide, 6 reels, Conrad Nagel. (Play "Recklessness" by Eugene O'Neill.)
m CONVENTION CITY, First National, 6 reels, Joan Blondell, Adolphe Menjou. fj COUGAR THE KING KILLER, Master Art, 6 reels, R. C. Bruce and his dogs.
f *COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW, Universal, 9 reels, John Barrymore. (Play by Elmer Rice.)
f *CRADLE SONG, Paramount, 8 reels, Dorothea Wieck. (Play by Marc Connelly.)
f CRIME OF THE CENTURY, THE, Paramount, 8 reels, Jean Hersholt, Stuart Erwin. (Novel "The Grootman Case" by Walter Espe.)
f CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE, Universal, 8 reels, Lew Ayres, June Knight.
f CROSS FIRE, RKO, 6 reels, Tom Keene.

D

f DANCE GIRL DANCE, Invincible, 7 reels; Alan Dinehart, Evalyn Knapp.
f DANCING LADY, Metro, 10 reels, Joan Crawford, Clark Gable. (Novel by James W. Bellah.)
m DANGEROUSLY YOURS, Fox, 7 reels, Warner Baxter, Miriam Jordan.
f DAY OF RECKONING, Metro, 7 reels, Richard Dix.
m DESIGN FOR LIVING, Paramount, 10 reels, Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins. (Play by Noel Coward.)
f DESTINATION UNKNOWN, Universal, 7 reels, Pat O'Brien, Ralph Bellamy.
f DEVIL'S BROTHER, Metro, 9 reels, Dennis King. (Operetta "Fra Diavolo" by Daniel F. E. Auber.)
f DEVIL'S IN LOVE, Fox, 7 reels, Victor Jory, Loretta Young.
f DEVIL'S MATE, Monogram, 6 reels, Preston Foster.
f *DINNER AT EIGHT, Metro, 11 reels, Marie Dressler, John and Lionel Barrymore, Jean Harlow. (Play by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber.)
f DR. BULL, Fox, 8 reels, Will Rogers. (Novel "The Last Adam" by James G. Cozzens.)
m DOUBLE HARNESS, RKO, 8 reels, Ann Harding, William Powell.
f DUCK SOUP, Paramount, 6 reels, Four Marx Brothers.
fj DUDE BANDIT, THE, First Division, 7 reels, Hoot Gibson.

E

f EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE, Paramount, 8 reels, Fredric March, Cary Grant.
m EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT, Paramount, 9 reels, Dorothy Wilson, Douglass Montgomery.
fj ELMER THE GREAT, First National, 7 reels, Joe E. Brown. (Play by Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan.)
f EMERGENCY CALL, RKO, 7 reels, Bill Boyd.
m *EMPEROR JONES, THE, United Artists, 7 reels, Paul Robeson. (Play by Eugene O'Neill.)
f *ESKIMO, Metro, 12 reels, Native cast. (Novel by Peter Freuchen.) IX, 2, Ex. fj ESKIMO PERILS, AmerAnglo, 6 reels. Expedition into Alaska.
f EVER IN MY HEART, Warners, 6 reels, Barbara Stanwyck, Otto Kruger. Suggested for church use.

F

f *F. P. 1, Fox, 7 reels, Conrad Veidt, Leslie Fenton. British production.
f FACE IN THE SKY, Fox, 7 reels, Spencer Tracy, Marian Nixon.
m FEMALE, First National, 5 reels, Ruth Chatterton. (Novel by Donald H. Clarke.)
f FIGHTING PRESIDENT, THE, Universal, 6 reels. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f FLYING DEVILS, RKO, 7 reels, Eric Linden, Bruce Cabot.
f *FLYING DOWN TO RIO, RKO, 10 reels, Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Fred Astaire.
f FOG, Columbia, 7 reels, Mary Brian, Donald Cook.
f FOOTLIGHT PARADE, Warners, 9 reels, James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler. f FORGOTTEN, Invincible, 7 reels, Lee Kohlmer, June Clyde.
f 42ND STREET, Warners, 8 reels, Ruby Keeler, Bebe Daniels, Warner Baxter. (Novel by Bradford Ropes.)
f FROM HEADQUARTERS, Warners, 6 reels, George Brent.

FILMS SELECTED FOR JUNIOR SHOWS

m From Hell to Heaven, Paramount, 7 reels, Carole Lombard, Jack Oakie.
f Fugitive, The, Monogram, 5 reels, Rex Bell.

G

f *Gabriel Over the White House, Metro, 10 reels, Walter Huston. (Novel by Thomas F. Tweed.)
m Gallant Lady, United Artists, 7 reels, Ann Harding.
f Girl in 419, The, Paramount, 7 reels, James Dunn, Gloria Stuart.
m Girl Missing, Warners, 6 reels, Ben Lyon, Mary Brian.
f Girl Without a Room, Paramount, 8 reels, Charles Farrell, Marguerite Churchill. (Novel by Jack Lait.)
f *Going Hollywood, Metro, 9 reels, Marion Davies, Bing Crosby. f *Gold Diggers of 1933. Warners, 11 reels, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler.
f *Golden Harvest, Paramount, 8 reels, Richard Arlen, Chester Morris.
f Good Companions, The, Fox, 8 reels, Jessie Mathews. British production. (Novel by J. B. Priestly.)
f *Great Jasper, The, RKO, 9 reels, Richard Dix. (Novel by Fulton Oursler.)
f *Grosse Tenor, Der (The Great Tenor), Protex, 10 reels, Emil Jannings. German picture.
j Gun Justice, Universal, 6 reels, Ken Maynard. Western with plenty of good riding amid glorious scenery—the horse Tarzan does his share towards making the picture interesting for children.
fj Gun Law, Majestic, 6 reels, Jack Hoxie. In this Western a reformed outlaw tries to help the blind mother of his pal.

H

f Hallelujah I'm a Bum, United Artists, 7 reels, Al Jolson.
f Hard to Handle, Warners, 7 reels, James Cagney.
f *Hauptmann von Koepenick, Der (The Captain of Koepenick), Kinema., 9 reels, Max Adalbert. German production.
f Headline Shooter, RKO, 7 reels, William Gargan, Ralph Ballamy. (Story "Muddy Waters" by Wallace West.)
f Hell and High Water, Paramount, 8 reels, Richard Arlen. (Story "Captain Jericho" by Grover Jones and W. S. McNutt.)
f Hell Below, Metro, 10 reels, Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston. (Novel "Pig Boats" by Edward Ellsberg.)
f Hello Everbody, Paramount, 7 reels, Kate Smith.
m Her Bodyguard, Paramount, 7 reels, Wynne Gibson, Edmund Lowe.
f *Her Sweetheart, Metro, 9 reels, Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore. (Play "The Late Christopher Bean" by Sidney Howard.)
f Heroes for Sale, First National, 7, Richard Barthelmess.
f His Double Life, Paramount, 8 reels, Roland Young, Lillian Gish. (Novel "Buried Alive" by Arnold Bennett.)
f Hold Me Tight, Fox, 7 reels, James Dunn, Sally Eilers.
f Horseplay, Universal, 7 reels, Slim Summerville, Andy Devine.
m House on 56th Street, The, Warners, 6 reels, Kay Francis.
f Humanity, Fox, 7 reels, Alexander Kirkland, Ralph Morgan. Novel "The Road to Heaven by Harold Fried.)

I

f I Cover the Waterfront, United Artists, 7 reels, Ben Lyon, Claudette Colbert, Ernest Torrence. (Book by Max Miller.)
m I Loved a Woman, First National, 8 reels, Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis. (Story "Red Meat" by David Karsner.)
m I Loved You Wednesday, Fox, 7 reels, Elissa Landi, Warner Baxter.
m I Was a Spy, Fox, 8 reels, Conrad Veidt, Madeleine Carroll. British Made.
f *Ich Will Nicht Wissen Wer Du Bist (Don't Tell Me Who You Are), Interworld, 9 reels, Gustav Frölich. German production.
m *I'm No Angel, Paramount, 9 reels, Mae West.
m *If I Were Free, RKO, 7 reels, Irene Dunne, Clive Brook.
f In the Money, Invincible, 7 reels, Skeets Gallagher, Lois Wilson.
f India Speaks, RKO, 8 reels, Richard Halliburton.
f International House, Paramount, 8 reels, W. C. Fields.
f Infernal Machine, Fox, 6 reels, Chester Morris. (Novel by Carl Sloboda.)
m Invisible Man, The, Universal, 8 reels, Claude Rains. (Novel by H. G. Wells.)
m Isle of Doom, The, Amkino, 5 reels, Peter Sobelevski. Russian picture.

J

m Jennie Gerhardt, Paramount, 9 reels, Sylvia Sidney. (Novel by Theodore Dreiser.)
f Jimmy and Sally, Fox, 7 reels, James Dunn, Claire Trevor.

K

m Kadetten (Cadets), Film Exchange, 8 reels. German production. (Novel by Peter Muss.)
f Kennel Murder Case, The, Warners, 7 reels, William Powell. (Novel by S. S. Van Dine.)
f King for a Day, Universal, 8 reels, Chester Morris.
m *King Kong, RKO, 11 reels, Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong.
fj King of the Jungle, Paramount, 8 reels, Buster Crabbe.
f King's Vacation, The, Warners, 6 reels, George Arliss. m Kiss Before the Mirror, The, Universal, 7 reels, Nancy Carroll, Frank Morgan.

L

f *Lady for a Day, Columbia, 10 reels, May Robson. (Story by Damon Runyon.)
m Lady Killer, Warners, 7 reels, James Cagney.
m Lady's Profession, A, Paramount, 7 reels, Alison Skipworth.
f Last Trail, The, Fox, 6 reels, George O'Brien.
f Laughing at Life, 7 reels, Victor McLaglen.
f Let's Fall in Love, Columbia, 7 reels, Edmund Lowe.
f Life in the Raw, Fox, 7 reels, George O'Brien.
f Life of Jimmy Dolan, The, Warners, 8 reels, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. (Novel by B. Millhauser and B. M. Dix.)
m Little Giant, The, First National, 7 reels, Edward G. Robinson.
fj *Little Women, RKO, 12 reels, Katharine Hepburn. Suggested for libraries. (Novel by Louisa M. Alcott.)
fj Lone Avenger, The, World Wide, 6 reels, Ken Maynard.
fj Lone Cowboy, Paramount, 8 reels, Jackie Cooper. (Book by Will James.)
f Looking Forward, Metro, 9 reels, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone. (Novel "Service" by C. L. Anthony.)
f Lucky Devils, RKO, 7 reels, Bill Boyd, William Gargan. fj Lucky Dog, Universal, 7 reels, Chic Sale, Buster.
m Luxury Liner, Paramount, 7 reels, George Brent. (Novel by Gina Kaus.)

M

f *Mad Age, The, Beekman, 6 reels. America's past fifteen years as culled from newsreels. Suggested for schools, libraries, and churches.
m Mad Game, The, Fox, 7 reels, Spencer Tracy.
f Madame Spy, Universal, 7 reels, Fay Wray, Nils Asther.
m Made on Broadway, Metro, 7 reels, Robert Montgomery.
f *Mama Loves Papa, Paramount, 7 reels, Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland.
f Man from Monterey, The, Warners, 5 reels, John Wayne.
fj Man Hunt, RKO, 7 reels, Junior Durkin, Charlotte Henry.
f Man They Couldn't Arrest, The, General Talking, 6 reels, Hugh Wakefield, British mystery.
f *Man Who Dared, The, Fox, 8 reels, Preston Foster.
m Man's Castle, A, Columbia, 8 reels, Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young.
m Mary Stevens, M.D., Warners, 6 reels, Kay Francis.
f Masquerader, The, United Artists, 7 reels, Ronald Colman, Elissa Landi. (Novel by Katherine C. Thurston.)
f *Massacre, First National, 6 reels, Richard Barthelmess. (Novel by Robert Gessner.)
Master of Men, Columbia, 8 reels, Jack Holt.
f *Mayor of Hell, The, Warners, 8 reels, James Cagney, Frankie Darro.
f Meet the Baron, Metro, 7 reels, Jack Pearl.
f Melody Cruise, RKO, 9 reels, Charles Ruggles, Phil Harris.
f *Men Must Fight, Metro, 8 reels, Diana Wynyard, Phillips Holmes.
m Midnight, Universal, 8 reels, Sidney Fox, Henry Hull.
f Midnight Club, Paramount, 7 reels, Clove Brook, George Raft. (Novel by E. Phillips Oppenheim.)
m Midnight Mary, Metro, 8 reels, Loretta Young.
fj *Midshipman Jack, RKO, 8 reels, Bruce Cabot.
f *Miss Fane's Baby is Stolen, Paramount, 7 reels, Dorothea Wieck, Baby LeRoy. (Story by Rupert Hughes.)
f Mr. Skitch, Fox, 7 reels, Will Rogers. (Story "Green Dice" by Anne Cameron.)
f *Moonlight and Pretzels, Universal, 9 reels, Roger Pryor.
m *Morning Glory, RKO, 8 reels, Katharine Hepburn.
m Murders in the Zoo, Paramount, 7 reels, Charles Ruggles, Lionel Atwill.
f Mussolini Speaks, Columbia, 8 reels, Compound of newsreels and travelogues glorifying the achievements of Mussolini in Italy. Comments by Lowell Thomas. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f My Lips Betray, Fox, 8 reels, Lilian Harvey.
f My Weakness, Fox, 7 reels, Lilian Harvey.
f My Woman, Columbia, 8 reels, Helen Twelvetrees. fj Mysterious Rider, The, Paramount, 6 reels, Kent Taylor.
m Mystery of the Wax Museum, The, Warners, 7 reels, Lionel Atwill. Done in color.

N

f Nacht Im Paradise, Eine (A Night in Paradise), Kinema, 8 reels, Anny Ondra. German production.
fj Nagana, Universal, 8 reels, Tala Birell.
m Narrow Corner, The, Warners, 6 reels, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. (Novel by Somerset Maugham.)
f *Night Flight, Metro, 9 reels, John and Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Helen Hayes. (Novel by Antoine de Saint Exupery.)
f Nuisance, The, Metro, 9 reels, Lee Tracy.

O

f Obey the Law, Columbia, 7 reels, Leo Carrillo. fj Oliver Twist, Monogram, 7 reels, Dickie Moore, Irving Pichel. Suggested for libraries. (Novel by Charles Dickens.)
f Olsen's Big Moment, Fox, 6 reels, El Brendel.
f *One Sunday Afternoon, Paramount, 8 reels, Gary Cooper, Frances Fuller.
f One Man's Journey, RKO, 8 reels, Lionel Barrymore. (Story "Failure" by Katherine Taylor.)
m *Only Yesterday, Universal, 11 reels, Margaret Sullavan.
m Our Betters, RKO, 9 reels, Constance Bennett. (Play by W. Somerset Maugham.)
f Outsider, The, Metro, 8 reels, John Huth.

P

f Paddy, The Next Best Thing, Fox, 8 reels, Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter. (Novel by Gertrude Page.)
f Parachute Jumper, Warners, 7 reels, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.
f *Past of Mary Holmes, The, RKO, 7 reels, Helen McKellar. (Story "The Goose Woman" by Rex Beach.)
m *Patriots, The, Amkino, 8 reels, Hans Klering. Russian film.
f Peg O' My Heart, Metro, 9 reels, Marion Davies. (Novel by J. Hartley Manners.)
m Penthouse, Metro, 10 reels, Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy. (Novel by Arthur Somers Roche.)
m Perfect Understanding, United Artists, 7 reels, Gloria Swanson.
f Phantom Broadcast, The, Monogram, 6 reels, Ralph Forbes.
fj Phantom Thunderbolt, The, World Wide, 6 reels, Ken Maynard.
m Pick-Up, Paramount, 8 reels, Sylvia Sidney, George Raft. (Story by Vina Delmar.)
m Picture Snatcher, The, Warners, 7 reels, James Cagney.
f *Pilgrimage, Fox, 9 reels, Henrietta Crossman. (Story by I. A. R. Wiley.)
m Pleasure Cruise, Fox, 7 reels, Roland Young.
f Police Car No. 17, Columbia, 6 reels, Tim McCoy.
m *Power and the Glory, Fox, 8 reels, Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore.
m Private Detective No. 62, Warners, 6 reels, William Powell.
m *Private Life of Henry VIII, United Artists, 9 reels, Charles Laughton. Suggested for schools and libraries.
m Prizefighter and the Lady, The, Metro, 9 reels, Max Baer, Myrna Loy.
f Professional Sweetheart, RKO, 8 reels, Ginger Rogers.

R

f Rainbow Over Broadway, Chesterfield, 7 reels, Joan Marsh, Frank Albertson.
f *Rasputin and the Empress, Metro, 13 reels, Ethel, Lionel and John Barrymore.
f Rebel, The, Universal, 8 reels, Luis Trenker, Vilma Banky. fj Return of Casey Jones, The, Monogram, 6 reels, Charles Starrett. (Novelette by John Johns.)
m *Reunion in Vienna. Metro, 10 reels, John Barrymore, Diana Wynyard. (Play by Robert E. Sherwood.)
f Rome Express, Universal, 9 reels, Conrad Veidt, Esther Ralston. British production.
f Ronny, Protex, 8 reels, Willy Fritsch. German production.
fj Rustlers Roundup, The, Universal, 6 Tom Mix.
fj Rusty Riles Alone, Columbia, 6 reels, Tim McCoy.

S

f *S O S Iceberg, Universal, 9 reels, Rod La Rocque, Leni Riefenstahl. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f Sagebrush Trail, The, Monogram, 5 reels, John Wayne.
f Saturday's Millions, Universal, 8 reels, Robert Young. (Story by Lucien Cary.)
f Savage Gold, Auten, 6 reels. fj Scarlet River, RKO, 6 reels, Tom Keene.

(Continued on following page, column 2)

ALLIED OPENS ATTACK ON PERCENTAGE SALE

Leaders Confer in April to Organize "Individual Resistance" to "Greatest Menace"; Say Product Doesn't Justify Plan

Allied's protestations against the structure and machinery of the motion picture code, and the efforts which the association has been expending, unsuccessfully, for a rewriting of the document, will be terminated, at least temporarily, in favor of an entirely new campaign of militancy, "a far-flung program" to destroy the "menace of high percentage contracts" for 1934-35 features.

The first shot will be fired at a conference of Allied leaders some time in April, probably in New York. The organization may be in session in the East at the same time the MPTOA national convention is holding forth on the West Coast, April 10 to 12. Allied's current move, therefore, again brings these two rival exhibitor organizations in direct competition for industry attention.

Charge Percentages Not Justified

Charging that "current product does not justify high percentage contracts next season," and demanding "individual resistance" by exhibitor members to such contracts, the Allied offices of Abram F. Myers in Washington, this week sent forth to its affiliates a warning that "there is far more interest in and concern over methods and means of combating the anticipated exorbitant demands of the producers during the forthcoming selling season than there is over any other exhibitor problem."

Allied said that its correspondence with exhibitors indicates a "marked falling off of interest in the motion picture code. The manner in which the code proceedings were handled as well as the provisions of the code have convinced the exhibitors that they can expect substantial benefits from the code. The Johnson-Richberg interpretations, made at the behest of Allied, have allayed their fears of oppression and discriminatory action by the major producers through their control of the code machinery. The unusual problems growing out of the code having shrunk in importance, exhibitors are again considering problems which are wholly unaffected by the code. They are turning their thoughts to the economic side."

Called "Greatest Menace"

"Excessive percentage contracts are by far the greatest menace confronting the exhibitors today," said the statement.

"It is perfectly plain that the independent exhibitors can hope for no relief from percentage contracts by 'whereasing' either the producers or the government. The devising of these contracts was a stroke of genius on the part of producers, in that it enabled them to become partners in and control the policy of the independent theatres without investing a penny in good brick and mortar. By demanding a fixed percentage of the gross receipts, the producers have insured participation in the profits and practically eliminated participation in the losses. Therefore, no relief can be expected from the voluntary action of the producers.

"In like manner, no help can be expected from the government. This should be obvious from the attitude of the government in matters such as the prevention of salacious pictures, etc., in which it could properly act.

Declare Adjustments Vital

"To contract for pictures at more than an exhibitor can possibly afford to pay and then rely on the producer to make an adjustment is folly; yet the reports coming to this office indicate that hundreds of exhibitors who bought at increased prices last year must have adjustments to break even, with all hope of profit thrown overboard.

"These producers undoubtedly will attempt to again hoist their prices this year. This they must not be allowed to do; in fact, a renewal of existing contracts at the same rates would spell ruin for most of the exhibitors.

"Allied exhibitors are being educated not to commit suicide with a fountain pen—although at this time little instruction is necessary. Their leaders are pointing out the unwisdom of signing more vicious forms of contracts."

---

250 Films Selected by Board of Review

(Continued from preceding page)

m SECRET OF MADAME BLANCHE, THE, Metro, 9 reels, Irene Dunne.
f SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE, Universal, 7 reels, Lionel Atwill.
f SECRETS, United Artists, 8 reels, Mary Pickford, Leslie Howard.
f SHADOW LAUGHS, THE, Trojan, 7 reels, Hal Skelly.
m SHADOWS OF SING SING, Columbia, 7 reels, Bruce Cabot.
f SHALL WE TELL OUR CHILDREN, Columbia, 7 reels, Jean Parker.
f SHAME, Amkino, 7 reels, Vladimir Gardin. Russian film. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f SHANGHAI MADNESS, Fox, 6 reels, Spencer Tracy.
m SHE DONE HIM WRONG, Paramount, 7 reels, Mae West.
m SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE, Metro, 9 reels, Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore. (Play "The Vinegar Tree" by Paul Osborn.)
fj SILENT MEN, Columbia, 6 reels, Tim McCoy.
f SILK EXPRESS, THE, Warners, 6 reels, Neil Hamilton.
f *SILVER CORD, THE, RKO, 8 reels, Irene Dunne, Laura Hope Crewes. (Play by Sidney Howard.)
m SING SINNER SING, Majestic, 7 reels, Paul Lukas, Leila Hyams.
f SITTING PRETTY, Paramount, 8 reels, Jack Oakie, Jack Haley.
m SLEEPERS EAST, Fox, 7 reels, Wynne Gibson. (Novel by Frederick Nebel.)
fj SMOKED LIGHTNING, Fox, 6 reels, George O'Brien. (Story "Canyon Walls" by Zane Grey.)
fj *SMOKY, Fox, 7 reels, Victor Jory. (Book by Will James.)
m SOLITAIRE MAN, THE, Metro, 7 reels, Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland.
fj SOMEWHERE IN SONORA, Warners, 5 reels, John Wayne. (Story by Leslie Mason.)
fj SON OF A SAILOR, First National, 7 reels, Joe E. Brown.
j SON OF KONG, THE, RKO, 7 reels, Robert Armstrong.
m SONG OF SONGS, THE, Paramount, 10 reels, Marlene Dietrich. (Novel by Hermann Sudermann.)
f SONG OF THE EAGLE, Paramount, 8 reels, Richard Arlen, Jean Hersholt.
f SOVIETS ON PARADE, Kinema, 5 reels.
f *STAGE MOTHER, Metro, 9 reels. Alice Brady. (Novel by Bradford Ropes).
f *STATE FAIR, Fox, 9 reels. Will Rogers. (Novel by Phil Stong.)
f STATE TROOPER, Columbia, 7 reels. Regis Toomey.
f STORM AT DAYBREAK, Metro, 8 reels. Kay Francis, Walter Huston.
m STORY OF TEMPLE DRAKE, THE, Paramount. 8 reels. Miriam Hopkins. (Novel "Sanctuary" by William Faulkner).
f STRANGER'S RETURN, Metro. 8 reels. Miriam Hopkins, Lionel Barrymore. (Novel by Phil Stong). fj STRAWBERRY ROAN, Universal. 6 reels. Ken Maynard. Based on poem by Curley Fletcher).
f STUDY IN SCARLET, A, World Wide. 7 reels. Reginald Owen.
m STUERME DER LEIDENSCHAFT, (Tempest), Protex. 8 reels. Emil Jannings. fj SUNSET PASS, Paramount. 7 reels. Randolph Scott. (Novel by Zane Grey).
m SUPERNATURAL, Paramount. 7 reels. Carole Lombard.
f SWEEPINGS, RKO. 9 reels. Lionel Barrymore. (Novel by Lester Cohen).

T

fj TAMING THE JUNGLE, Monogram. 5 reels.
fj TARZAN THE FEARLESS, Principal. 7 reels. Buster Crabbe. (Novel by Edgar Rice Burrough). fj TELEGRAPH TRAIL, THE, Warners. 5 reels. John Wayne.
m TERROR ABOARD, Paramount. 7 reels. John Halliday, Charles Ruggles. fj TERROR TRAIL, Universal. 6 reels. Tom Mix.
f *THIS DAY AND AGE, Paramount. 9 reels. Richard Cromwell. (Story by Bartlett Cormack). f *THREE CORNERED MOON, Paramount. 8 reels. Mary Boland, Richard Arlen. f THRONE OF THE GODS, THE, First Division. 6 reels.
f THUNDER OVER MEXICO, Principal. 7 reels. Mexican cast. Suggested for schools and libraries.
f THUNDERING HERD, Paramount. 6 reels. Randolph Scott. (Novel by Zane Grey).
f TILLIE AND GUS, Paramount. 6 reels. W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth. (Story by Rupert Hughes).
f TO THE LAST MAN, Paramount. 8 reels. Randolph Scott. (Novel by Zane Grey).
m TODAY WE LIVE, Metro. 11 reels. Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper. (Story "Turn About" by William Faulkner).
f TOMORROW AT SEVEN, RKO. 7 reels. Chester Morris.
m TONIGHT IS OURS, Paramount. 8 reels. Claudette Colbert, Fredric March. (Play "The Queen Was in the Parlor" by Noel Coward). f TOO MUCH HARMONY, Paramount. 8 reels. Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie.
f *TOPAZE, RKO. 8 reels. John Barrymore.
m TORCH SINGER, Paramount. 8 reels. Claudette Colbert. (Story "Mike" by Grace Perkins).
fj TRAIL DRIVE, THE, Universal. 7 reels. Ken Maynard.
f TRICK FOR TRICK, Fox. 7 reels. Ralph Morgan, Victor Jory.
f TUGBOAT ANNIE, Metro. 8 reels. Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery. (Saturday Evening Post stories by Norman Raine).
f TURN BACK THE CLOCK, Metro. 8 reels. Lee Tracy.

U

fj UNDER THE TONTO RIM, Paramount. 7 reels. Stuart Erwin. (Novel by Zane Grey).
f UNKNOWN VALLEY, Columbia. 7 reels. Buck Jones.
fj UNTAMED AFRICA, Warners. 5 reels.

V

fj VIA PONY EXPRESS, Majestic. 6 reels. Jack Oakie.
f VOLTAIRE, Warners. 6 reels. George Arliss.

W

j WAR ON THE RANGE, Freuler. 6 reels. Tom Tyler.
f WARRIOR'S HUSBAND, THE, Fox. 7 reels. Elissa Landi, Marjorie Rambeau. f WHAT! NO BEER?, Metro. 7 reels. Buster Keaton, Jimmy Durante. fj WHEN A MAN RIDES ALONE, Freuler. 5 reels. Tom Tyler.
m *WHEN LADIES MEET, Metro. 9 reels. Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery. (Play by Rachel Crothers).
m WHEN STRANGERS MARRY, Columbia. 7 reels. Jack Holt.
fj WHIRLWIND, THE, Columbia. 6 reels. Tim McCoy.
f WHISTLING IN THE DARK, Metro. 8 reels. Ernest Truex.
f *WHITE SISTER, THE, Metro. 12 reels. Helen Hayes, Clark Gable. (Novel by F. Marion Crawford).
f *WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD, First National. 6 reels. Frankie Darro, Edwin Phillips.
m WOMAN I STOLE, THE, Columbia. 7 reels. Jack Holt. (Novel "Tampico" by Joseph Hergesheimer).
m WOMEN IN HIS LIFE, Metro. 8 reels. Otto Krueger.
f WORKING MAN, Warners. 7 reels. George Arliss.
f *WORLD CHANGES, THE, First National. 8 reels. Paul Muni. (Story "America Kneels" by Sheridan Gibney).
f WORLD GONE MAD, Majestic. 8 reels. Pat O'Brien.
m WORST WOMAN IN PARIS?, THE, Fox. 7 reels. Benita Hume, Adolphe Menjou.
f WRECKER, THE, Columbia. 8 reels. Jack Holt.

Z

fj *ZOO IN BUDAPEST, Fox. 8 reels. Gene Raymond, Loretta Young. Suggested for church use.

Motion Picture Herald is receiving many letters from exhibitors and distributors in the field, and from others, in which various questions are asked concerning certain doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code. All communications immediately are answered directly. In addition, such code questions and the answers submitted are published as a regular service for all readers. They contain many explanatory points pertinent to the business as its conduct is prescribed by the Code.

For obvious reasons, the letters will appear anonymously. However, the originals will remain on file.

Answers to questions about the Code are submitted only after consultation with legal authorities familiar with the technicalities of the document.

This service is available to everyone. Send questions to the Code Editor, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

THE CODE QUESTION BOX

by JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM

No. 5—TEXAS

SALARIES FOR THEATRE MANAGERS

QUESTION—You stated (in code translacion articles) that the maximum hours of employment do not apply to socalled executive employees receiving $35 per week, or more. But, you did not say that the executive should receive that amount, nor did you say that another man should be hired if the executive has been told to work forty hours, his theatre being in operation 73 hours.

During the depression my salary was cut to $25 per week—which is not much for a theatre manager. If I ask for a raise they tell me to work only forty hours. That is easy enough for the saying. Should I ask for overtime or tell 'em to get another manager to help me? Which would mean my job in either case.

ANSWER—If a manager of a theatre receives less than $35 per week, then the maximum hours of employment—forty—specified in the code—shall apply to his case; if he receives $35 per week, or more, then he may work unlimited hours.

The code does not say that a theatre manager shall receive $35 per week, but it does say that unless he does receive $35, or more, per week, then his maximum working hours shall be limited to forty.

▽ ▽ ▽

No. 6—TEXAS

PRIZES AND LOTTERIES WHEN NO COMPETITION

QUESTION—I have one theatre operating in a town of 3,000 population, and the nearest town in which another theatre is running is 30 miles.

Each Tuesday night I conduct a drawing for a cash prize of $25, and if the holder of the first ticket drawn is not in the theatre, the prize is carried over to the next week and another $25 is added to the original—on $50 I draw twice, on $75 I draw three times and when it has reached $100 I draw until someone in the house wins. I have been under the impression that I was not violating the code, because I did not have any competition.

Also, on each Friday night, in conjunction with eight of my local merchants, who are allowed to give free tickets, I give away a four-piece bedroom suite—on this I draw until it is given away each week. Would this also be considered a violation of the code?

ANSWER—If a theatre is not in actual competition with another, and is so thoroughly isolated that cash awards and other prizes can not be construed to be unfair to a competing exhibitor, then the theatre is permitted to continue the practice of making such cash awards and giving other prizes. The code clause which ordinarily outlaws cash prizes and other prizes is intended to stop such practices only when it exists in probable or possible competition with another theatre and when such competition is considered an unfair trade practice. Obviously, the practice is not unfair if no other exhibitor is affected thereby.

However, in some states or cities or towns, local laws or ordinances prohibit lotteries.

No. 7—NEW JERSEY

COUPONS FOR ADMISSION

QUESTION—My competitor shows four features at one performance, and in an attempt to meet such competition I should like to flood the town with coupons saying, "Twenty-five cents and this coupon admits bearer to —— theatre." The admission at the box-office is 25 cents, and, therefore, the patron really does not receive any reduction, the coupon being intended merely to convey the impression that they will receive some reduction or concession. Is this against the code? Does the code prohibit my competitor from showing four features at one performance?

ANSWER—Even though the coupon idea mentioned is a form of deception, the code does not specifically prohibit such a practice. Nor does the code prohibit a theatre from showing four features on one bill. There was considerable agitation during code drafting about the inclusion of a clause in the code which would have prohibited two or more features on one bill, but the clause was rejected by the NRA when opposed by independent distributors and exhibitors.

Industry Aids Charity, Says Kansas City Mayor

Without the assistance of the film industry in Kansas City, many civic and charitable projects would not be possible, Mayor Bryce B. Smith of Kansas City told an audience of 100 Kansas and Missouri exhibitors, guests at a luncheon given by Columbia last week. The mayor expressed his appreciation to the film companies for furnishing screen entertainment at charitable affairs.

Other speakers at the luncheon were Jay Means, president of the Independent Theatre Owners; Mrs. Eleanore Walton and Guy Holmes, city censors. Harry Taylor, Columbia branch manager, was toastmaster. The luncheon followed a trade showing of Columbia's "It Happened One Night" at the Fox Warwick theatre. Similar trade screenings are to be held in the larger cities in the Kansas City area.

New Sound System Claimed By Cincinnati Musician

Theodore Lindenberg, Columbus musician, has taken over the Grandview, a neighborhood theatre, for "a final laboratory experiment" with a new sound system which he has invented.

While details are being withheld and the system is not on the market, it is said that there is no projection, the sound filtering through the theatre without use of horns or speaker.

Paramount Names Six Future Feminine Stars

Paramount has named six feminine newcomers among the company's players, for whom are predicted successful careers, chosen from among more than 30 young players now under contract. The six are Dorothy Dell, Ida Lupino, Frances Drake, Helen Mack, Elizabeth Young and Evelyn Venable. All had had stage training before being signed by Paramount.

French Company Plans to Produce in This Country

Film Union, S. A., distributor of Radio product in France, Belgium and Switzerland, may enter production in this country, making French versions of American films, Valdemar D. Bell, the company's representative here, revealed last week. Production will be on the Coast if plans mature.

The information followed an announcement made recently by Andre Chalus, head of the company, before sailing after conferences with Radio officials, that an American branch would be established in New York to distribute French pictures here.

Insurance Brokerage Firm Undergoing Reorganization

The insurance brokerage firm of Stebbins, Leterman and Gates, Inc., is undergoing reorganization. Herbert R. Ebenstein, formerly an executive, has returned to the company as president and head of eastern activities. Arthur W. Stebbins continues as chairman of the board and as president of the western subsidiary of the corporation. The New York office, under the reorganization, will be the chief branch.

MGM Granted London Stay Pending "Rasputin" Appeal

A stay of execution has been granted Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer by court of appeals Justice Avery in London, in the libel suit brought by Princess Yousoupoff over the picture, "Rasputin and the Empress," pending hearing of an appeal. However, the court ordered that MGM should pay the Princess $25,387 of the damages awarded, by a jury, which totaled $129,375.

CONSOLIDATED'S NET JUMPS TO $909,000

Equivalent to 21 Cents a Share on 524,973 Common After $2 a Share Preferred, Compared with 12 Cents a Year Earlier

Net earnings of $909,000 for 1933 were reported this week by Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., Herbert J. Yates, president. The corporation operates the largest system of laboratory plants in the motion picture business, and was one of the few companies in or affiliated with the industry which finished last year with greater earnings than the previous year, when the net was $862,-228. Increased earnings for 1933 total therefore some $47,000.

The 1933 net, after allowing for $2.00 a share on the preferred stock, was equivalent to 21 cents a share on 524,973 common shares outstanding, as compared with 1932 net earnings of $2.00 a share on the preferred and 12 cents per share on an equivalent number of shares of common.

Mr. Yates' message to stockholders struck an optimistic key regarding the outlook for 1934, based on earnings for the first two months of the year.

Consolidated Film Industries' condensed statement of income and profit and loss and an analysis of consolidated earned surplus, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1933, follows:

STATEMENT OF INCOME AND PROFIT AND LOSS

Net Sales, Patent Royalties....		$8,095,532.39
Cost of Sales and Operating expenses, including Depreciation of $208,207.22		6,931,461.95
Net Profit from Sales and Patent Royalties		1,164.070.44
Other Income:
Interest, Dividends	$175,191.25
Miscellaneous	47,134.34	222,325.59
		1,386,396.03
Deductions from Income:
Provision for Bad Debts.....	281,316.12
Interest	41,132.72
Contributions to Consolidated Associates, Inc.	32,345.41
Idle Plant Expenses.....	30,031.32
Miscellaneous	17,182.38	402,007.95
Total Income for the Year Ended December 31, 1933, before Federal Income Tax		984,388.08
Less, Federal Income Tax, Estimated Liability		75,000.00
Net Income for the Year Ended December 31, 1933, added to Surplus Account		$909,388.08

CONSOLIDATED EARNED SURPLUS ACCOUNT

Consolidated Earned Surplus, January 1, 1933		$2,517,405.26
ADDITIONS:
Net Income for the Year ended December 31, 1933, after deducting Provision for Federal Income Tax.....	$909,388.08
Increased Value of Marketable Securities (Reduction in Prior Years, charged to Surplus)	28,694.75
Federal Income Tax Refunds on Prior Years.....	3,681.84	941,764.67
Consolidated Earned Surplus, December 31, 1933.....		$3,459,170.93

Current and working assets as of Dec. 31, 1933, were almost double the current liabilities. Current and working assets totaled $3,636,000, from which the company deducted reserves of $231,700, as compared with current liabilities of $1,840,181.

The company had cash in banks and on hand totaling $949,000, and a surety account of $206,-300. Marketable securities were worth $161,442, trade acceptances, notes and loans receivable were listed at $2,007,640, and there were $1,628,-360 in trade accounts receivable.

Inventories given as $638,565 included raw materials and supplies, work in process and finished products, less reserves.

There was a note receivable for $600,000, secured by real estate mortgage, due on January 2, 1935.

Total assets of the corporation amounted to about $12,000,000, of which fixed assets were listed at $5,138,013, after giving effect to depreciation of $1,789,773.

Good will, patents and the like were nominally valued at $1.00. The company had $37,000 cash in closed banks, and prints and negatives worth $218,860.

Principal current liabilities were: Notes payable to banks, $275,000; trade notes payable, $843,671; accounts and vouchers payable, $426,-676; payroll and royalty accounts, $133,263; real estate mortgage payable, $19,000, and excise, sales, franchise and federal income taxes estimated at $142,570.

Capital stock was represented by 400,000 shares of $2.00 cumulative, participating, preferred, no par value, authorized and issued, stated value having been fixed by the board at $15 a share, and totaling $6,000,000; also 524,973 shares of common stock, par value $1.00 a share, listed at $524,973. There were 600,000 shares authorized.

Earned surplus was recorded at $3,459,170.

Miss Illington, Stage Star, Dead

Margaret Illington, dramatic star who reached her greatest popularity 25 years ago, and who in private life was the wife of Major Edward J. Bowes, managing director of the Capitol theatre in New York, died late last week in the St. Francis Hospital, Miami Beach, Fla., after an illness of six weeks.

Miss Illington, 52, was born in Bloomington, Ill., and changed her name from Maude Light at the beginning of her stage career. She was educated at Illinois Wesleyan University, and prepared for the stage in dramatic school in Chicago. She was engaged by Daniel Frohman on her arrival in New York, making her first appearance at the Criterion in 1900 in "The Pride of Jennico," in support of James K. Hackett.

In 1903 she married Mr. Frohman. Their divorce in 1907 was followed by Miss Illington's marriage to Major Bowes, then in business in San Francisco. Thereafter he directed her stage career. They had a country home at Ossining, N. Y.

DuWorld Gets Comedies

DuWorld Pictures, Inc., has acquired world distribution rights to a series of feature comedies produced by Screen-Art Productions. Dr. Eugene Frenke is directing, the films to be made at the rate of one each month.

Film Daily's Year Book for 1934 Published

The 1934 Film Daily Year Book of motion pictures was released to the trade this week. It is the 16th edition. John Wilde Alicoate is publisher and editor.

Reporting at the outset various types of industry statistics, the publication then delves into numerous compilations on productions and production people, followed by theatre lists and circuit records, personnel of companies and studios, organizations and film societies and the like.

Code information and exploitation matter are each treated in separate sections, and so are film activities abroad, court decisions, financial structures and the equipment field.

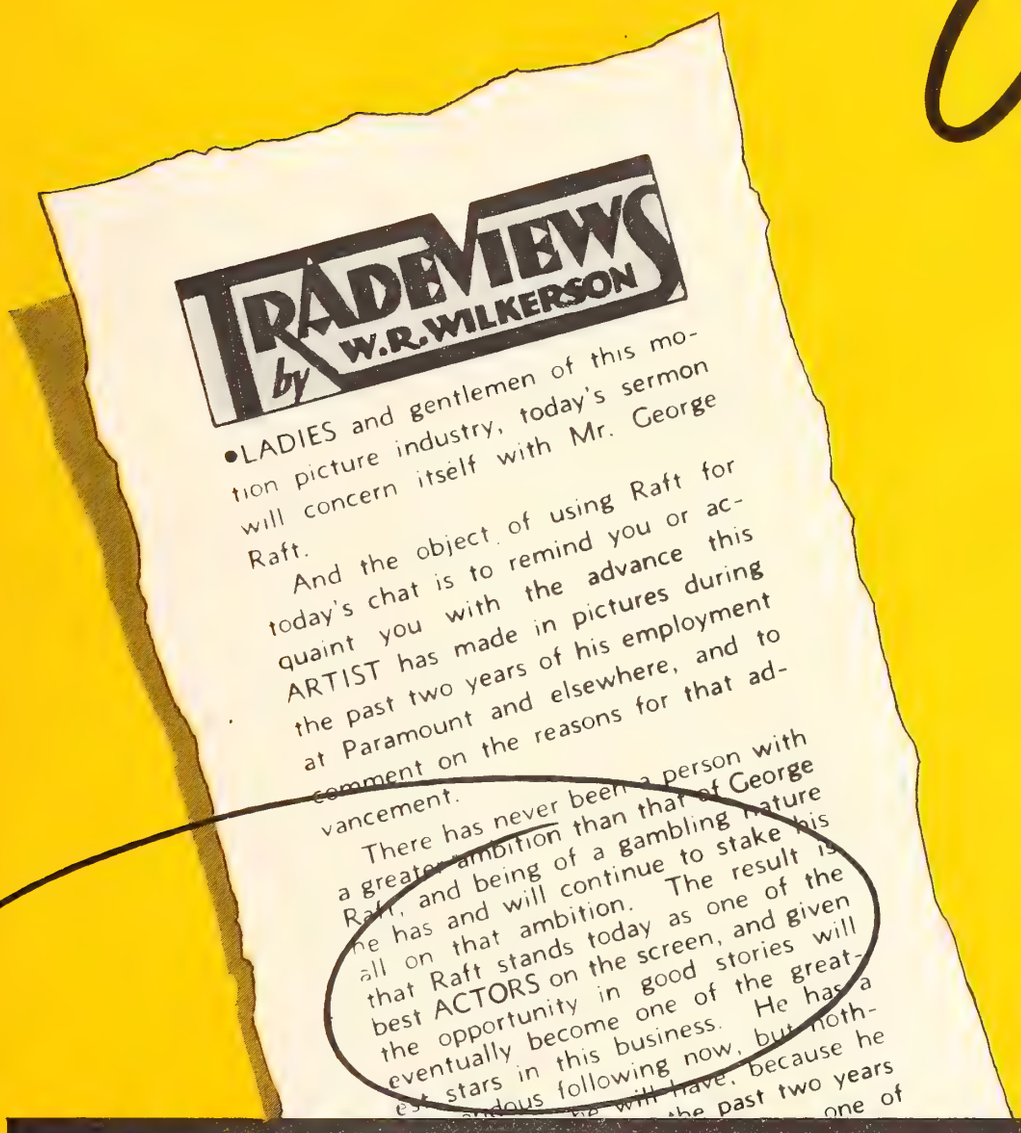
Ohio Tax Fight Splits Exhibitors

With special reconvention of the General Assembly at Columbus, rumblings which to some observers are said to appear more than surface deep this week presaged the imminence of an embittered warfare between the Ohio independent and affiliated exhibitors, with the state amusement tax or the differential of its application as the basis of contention.

It was said by some that the independents are concentrating on an attempt to bring an increased tax on admission in the higher brackets, which resolves itself into a direct blow to the Class A affiliated houses.

In some quarters, it was pointed out an additional 10 per cent will be suggested with an exemption of 25 cents, which otherwise means a 20 per cent impost up to 40 cents, after which an additional 10 per cent Federal tax is imposed.

The affiliated exhibitors, it is understood, will defend their interests by emphasizing to the legislative body that if the state amusement tax is to be continued, it should be levied solely on the smaller houses where a 25-cent top admission obtains, and that the de luxe affiliated operations should be excluded by reason of their present payment of sizable assessments on property holdings in addition to the Federal admission collections over 40 cents.



Simmons Back with U. A.

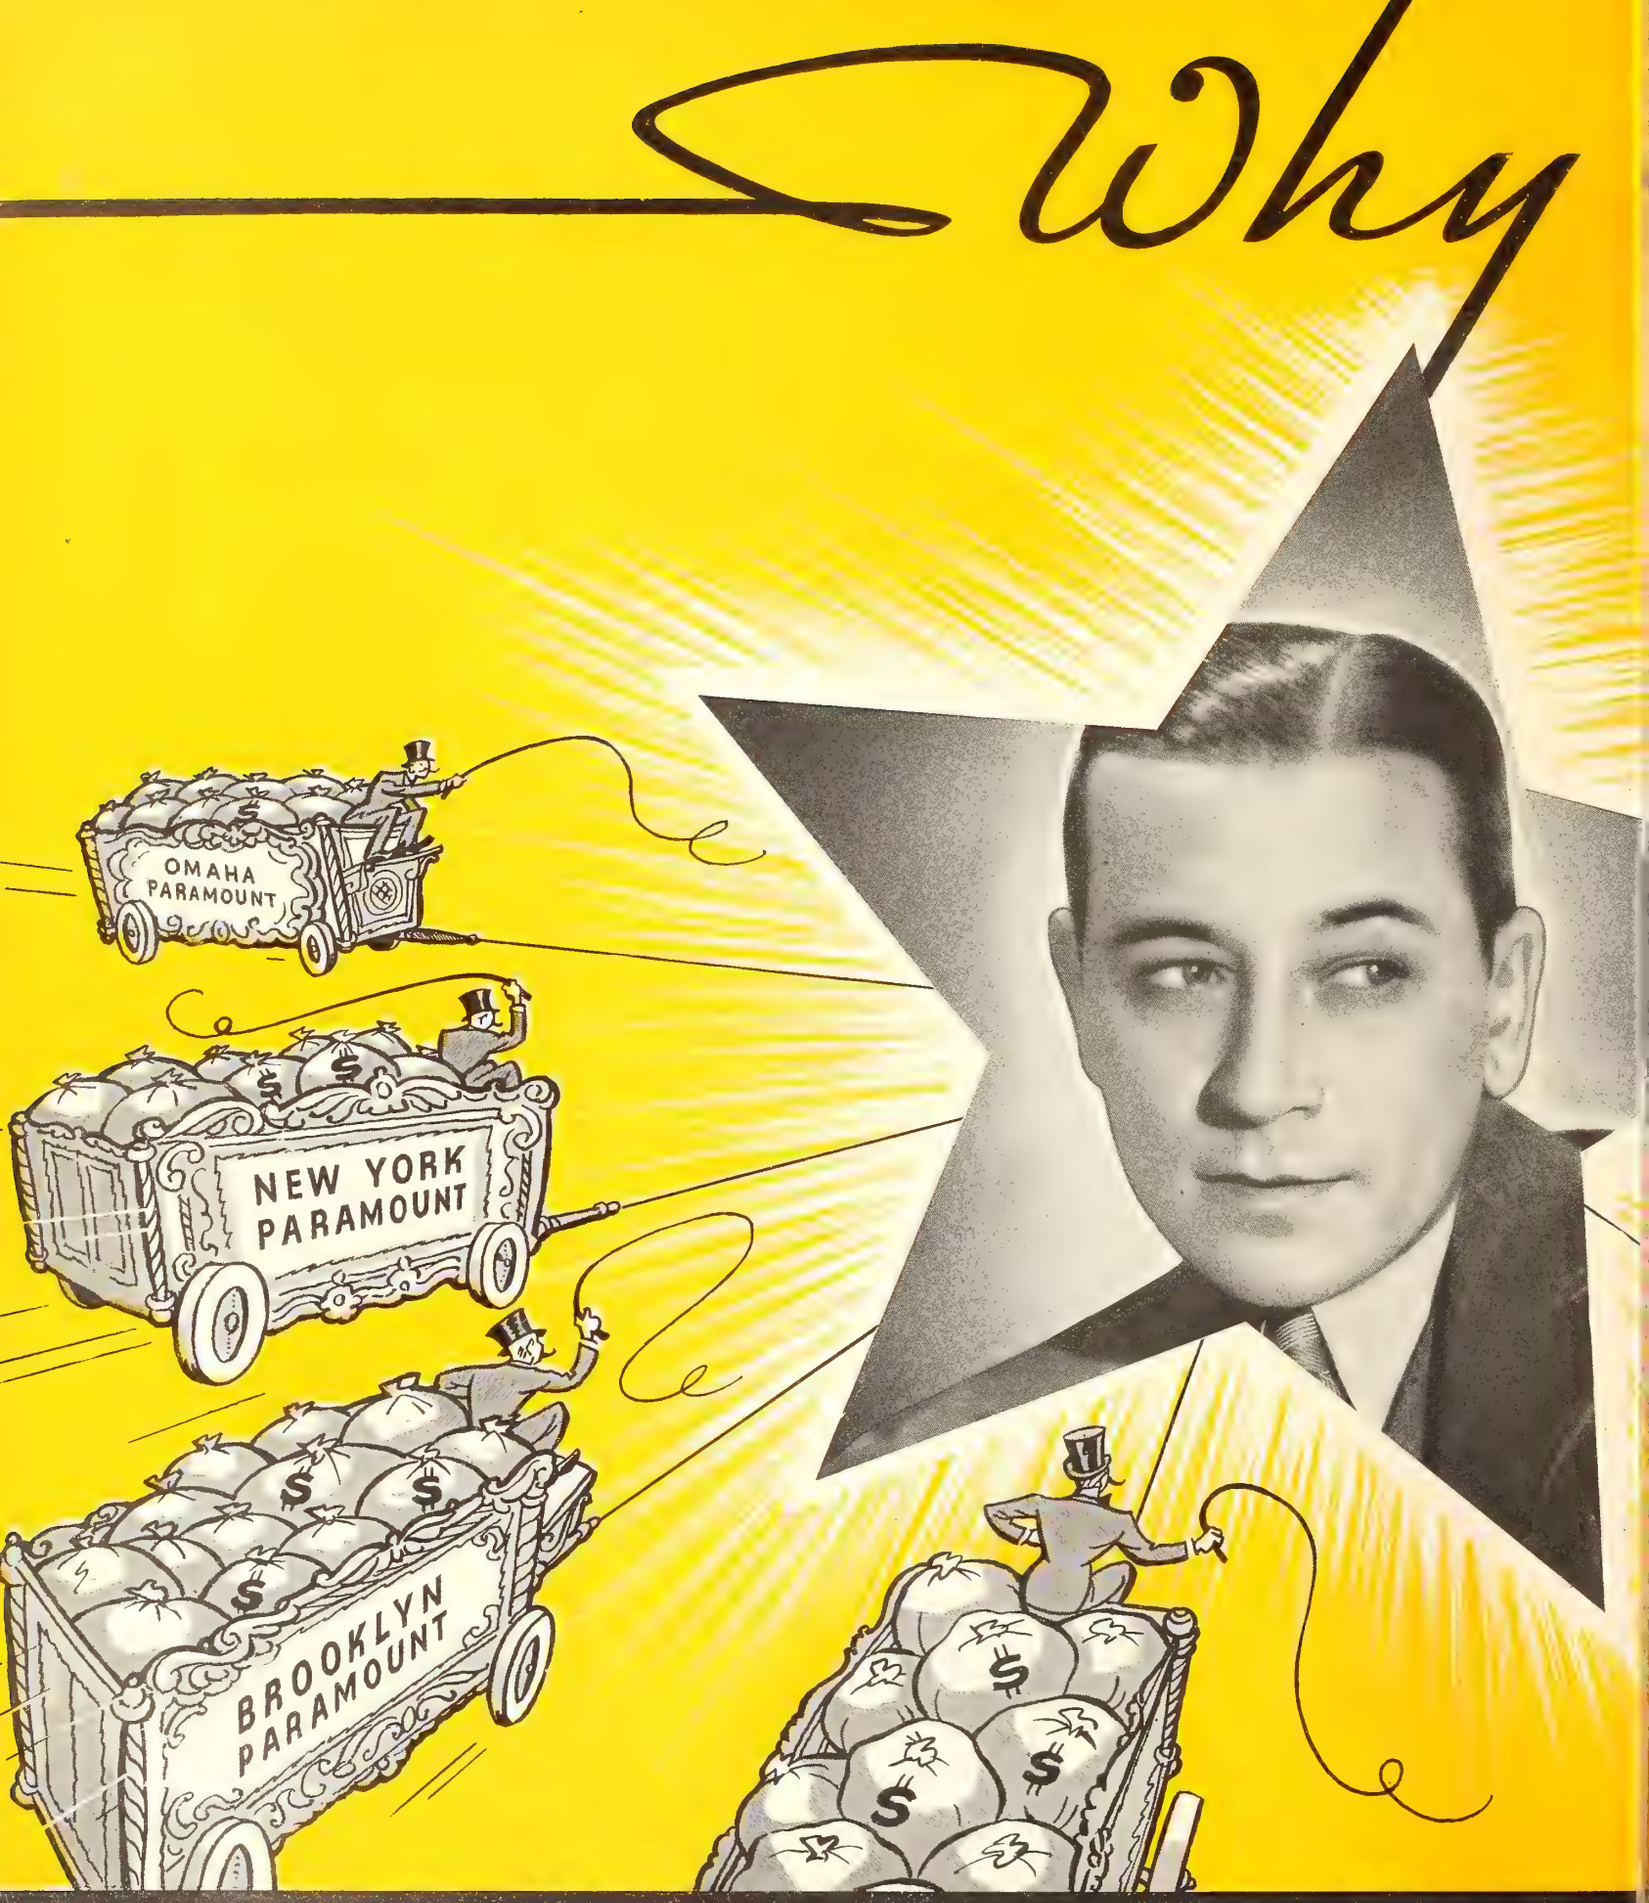
Michael L. Simmons has returned to the United Artists studio in Hollywood to prepare a story for a musical which Edward Small of Reliance will produce for United Artists release. He has completed an original for John Barrymore and Jean Harlow at MGM.

Exchange Head Resigns

Marvin Godwin has resigned as head of Associated Film Distributors, state rights exchange in Kansas City. His interest has been acquired by R. R. Jersey. Mr. Godwin has taken over the Beeson theatre, Dodge City, Kan.

Eventually

TRADE VIEWS
by W.R. WILKERSON



•LADIES and gentlemen of this motion picture industry, today's sermon will concern itself with Mr. George Raft.

And the object of using Raft for today's chat is to remind you or acquaint you with the advance this ARTIST has made in pictures during the past two years of his employment at Paramount and elsewhere, and to comment on the reasons for that advancement.

There has never been a person with a greater ambition than that of George Raft, and being of a gambling nature he has and will continue to stake his all on that ambition. The result is that Raft stands today as one of the best ACTORS on the screen, and given the opportunity in good stories will eventually become one of the greatest stars in this business. He has a tremendous following now, but nothing will have, because he [illegible] the past two years [illegible] one of "RAFT stands today as one of the best actors on the screen . . . and given the opportunity in good stories will eventually become one of the greatest stars in the business . . ."

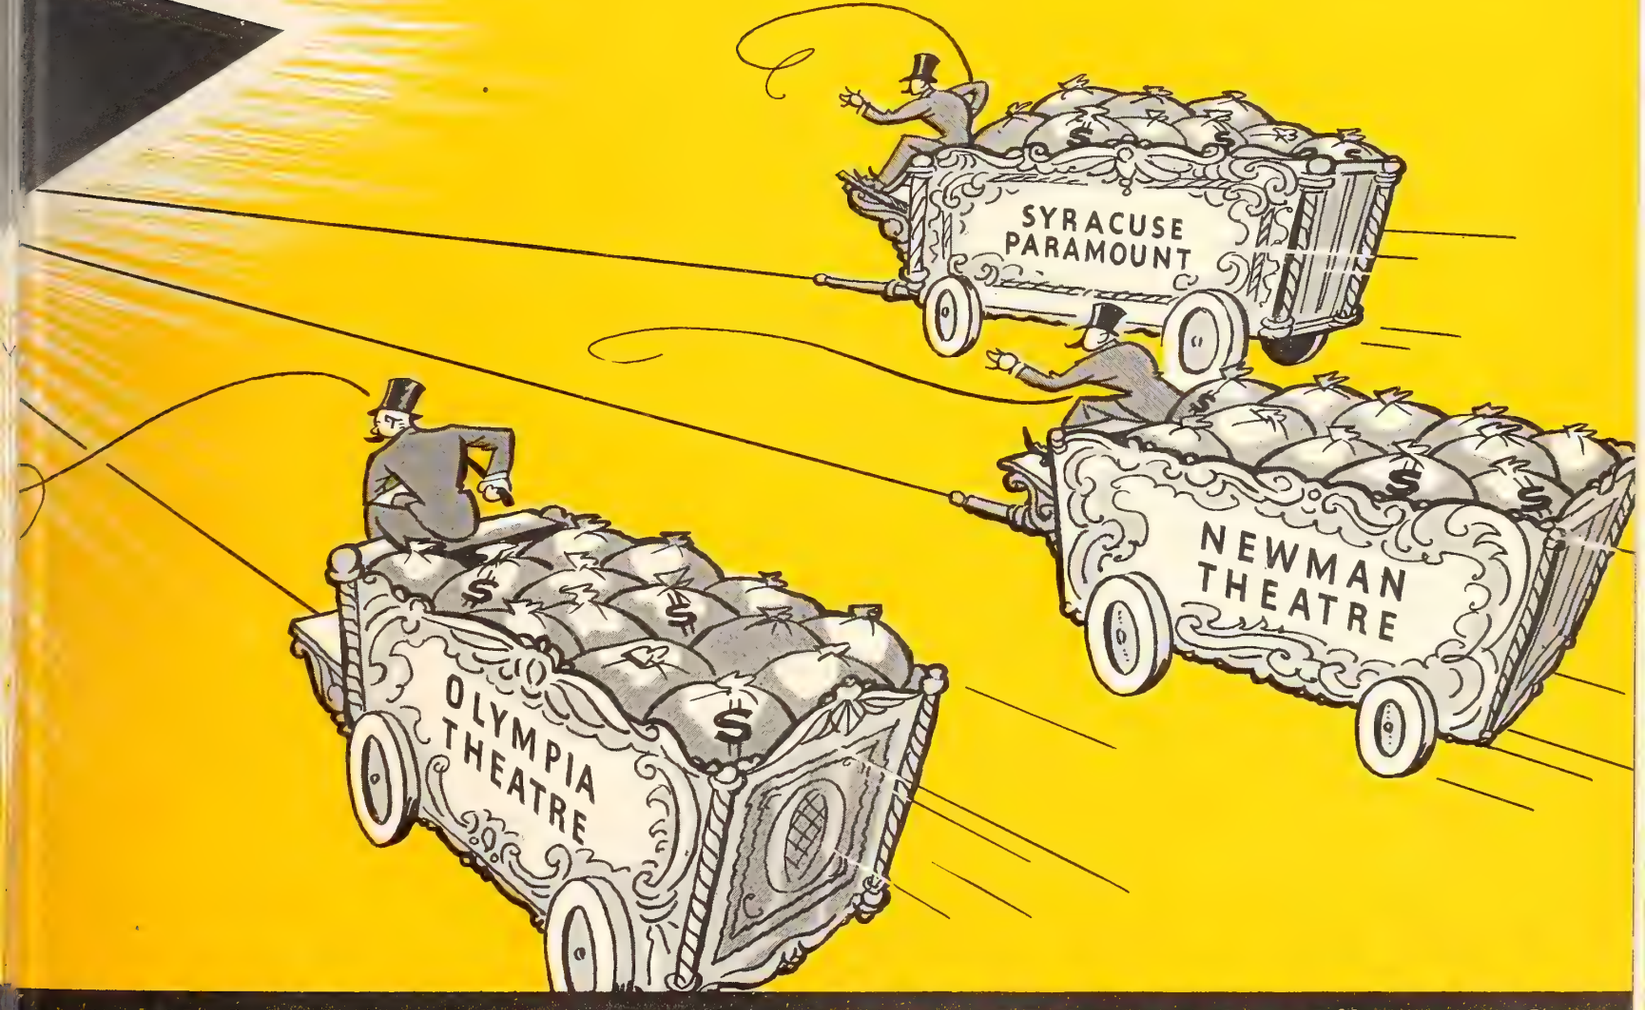
Why



He has a tremendous following now . . . but nothing to what

George Raft starring picture with Adolphe Menjou and France not now?

They Hitched Their Wagons to a STAR!

The Paramount Theatre, New York, Paramount Theatre, Brooklyn, Newman Theatre, Kansas City and Olympia Theatre, Miami report biggest business since "I'm No Angel" on GEORGE RAFT in "Bolero" . . . . and in Los Angeles, Boston, Omaha, and Syracuse the grosses on this picture are at the season's tops!

he will have" . . . after "THE TRUMPET BLOWS", another

Drake. Directed by Stephen Roberts. Released April 13th.

If it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE it's the best show in town!

Paramount Pictures

BRITISH OVERBUILDING CHARGE IS CHALLENGED

Four Thousand Theatres to Forty Million Population Means One House to a Thousand Residents; Local Production Gains

by BERNARD CHARMAN
London Correspondent

The Cinematograph Exhibitors Association of Great Britain and Northern Ireland is a lively body. At least it talks about a great variety of subjects—price cutting, taxation, film rentals, manufacturers' "rings," Sunday opening, and now again the question of overbuilding, owing to distress signals hoisted by a South of England branch of the CEA.

This branch has suggested legislation to prevent indiscriminate building of motion picture houses, and to establish local arbitration boards to decide on each new plan.

But There Are Questions

Just what the members expect the association to do about it is not clear. About the only argument the trade could produce is that, by permitting indiscriminate construction and so forcing existing halls to close, the Government is killing the goose that lays the golden eggs of assessments. It's not even certain that argument would carry much weight, for whether there are two cinemas or three in any stated locality the same public is always there to be entertained. There is also the fear, as one exhibitor wisely pointed out, that restriction of enterprise in theatre building would be a bar to progress.

True it is that many of the new houses give the customer something in the way of entertainment amenities that the older halls haven't got, and it is easy for the proprietor of the outmoded existing hall to denounce his modern rival as a menace.

There is, however, admittedly a tendency to overbuild, both in the well-populated districts and the smaller rural communities, so that it is not unusual to find two theatres of about a thousand seats in a country town of not more than 10,000 inhabitants.

On the Other Hand—

Whether, however, it is safe to claim on the strength of such instances that overbuilding is rampant is a moot point. The population of England exceeds forty millions, and for the entertainment of all these folk there are well under four thousand cinemas. That works out at one theatre for every thousand persons.

At a meeting of the Middlesex County licensing authority, in a reference to the London suburb of Chiswick it was stated that, although the district has a population of between 35,000 and 40,000 persons, there is no motion picture theatre in the town at all. However, it should be added that for a penny carfare the local populace can be brought within access of a number of super theatres.

Board of Trade figures reveal 189 feature films produced by British studios in 1933, and 64 shorts, an improvement on 1932, when 156 full-length subjects were registered.

During the same period 476 foreign films (American and others) were registered.

From the viewpoint of home producers, an encouraging sign is the upward trend indicating the percentage of British films in relation to all product registered in every one year. From 1929 onwards the percentage has increased each year.

These are the percentages: 1929, 11.5; 1930, 14.7; 1931, 16.7; 1932, 22; 1933, 24.2.

One film in four distributed in the British market is now produced in home studios.

▽

Something Different!

Here's something new—a schoolmaster who admits the screen has had no demoralizing influence on modern youth, though he doesn't strew any laurels over the brow of the motion picture.

The name of this curiosity is W. Jenkyn Thomas, and he is president of the Association of Headmasters. Here is what he told them at their annual general meeting:

"For a long time I feared the cinema would gradually bring about some deterioration in the British boy. I am now convinced it has done its worst, or, at any rate, the worst the censor would allow—and failed.

"What has brought about this conviction is this: I have now at the top of my school boys who have gone to the pictures at least once or twice a week ever since they could toddle, and not one parent in a hundred exercises any discrimination with regard to the films he allows his children to see.

"If there were any cumulative deterioration it would now be apparent. But there is no sign of it. The boys at the top of my school now are as good as ever top boys were.

"For this no thanks are due to the cinema itself. The innate soundness and goodness of boys' nature has saved them. Not being sex-conscious, the beastly suggestiveness of many of the films is not realized by them."

Reel life and real life, declared Mr. Thomas, are to these boys quite distinct.

Lesser Sues Wright Over Picture Rights

Sol Lesser has named Harold Bell Wright, the author, as defendant in a case in Hollywood superior court, in which is to be decided whether or not purchase of film rights to a story prior to the sound era also entitles a producer to make a talking picture of the same story.

The case involves Mr. Wright's "When a Man's a Man," picture rights to which are owned by Mr. Lesser. In a New York decision last week the New York court of appeals decided for the producer in a similar case.

Kinematrade Release

Kinematrade is distributing "Crown of Thorns," story of the Christ. Prints in English, Spanish and Polish are available.

VERY USEFUL, INSTRUCTIVE

Writes David Armstrong Stewart, one of the directors of Scottish Cinema and Variety Theatres, Ltd., of Glasgow, Scotland:

"I have to thank you for the prompt delivery of your journal during the past two years. Needless to say, I look forward to receiving it and find it very useful and instructive. It is also very gratifying to know that the American people have now adopted the spirit of reciprocity so far as the showing of British pictures is concerned. This, in my opinion, is all to the good of the industry as a whole, and will tend to further cement the wonderful feeling of friendship which exists between the two nations.

"As a Scotchman I must draw your attention to the fact that the fall in the dollar has meant a saving of nearly 33 1-3 per cent to me this year on your journal—I hardly know whether to be pleased with this or otherwise?"

Amity Opens New Exchange; British Reconsider 2 Films

John M. Crinnion, president of Amity Pictures, who returned last week from a Miami vacation, announced the opening of a new San Francisco exchange, operating as the San Francisco Film Exchange, and under the management of H. Lubfin.

French dubbing rights to "Strangers of the Evening" and "Murder at Midnight," Amity pictures formerly distributed by Educational, were acquired by William Fitelson, attorney for Amity, on a recent trip abroad. He also obtained the British censor board's consent to reconsideration of "Leftover Ladies" and "Morals for Women," which had been banned previously.

Universal Plans 12 Feature Films Abroad

Universal has 12 features scheduled for production in Europe this season, Max Friedland, European manager, said last week prior to sailing for England. Eight will be made in London and four in Vienna. Mr. Friedland indicated that additional features may be scheduled later in the season.

The first to go into work will be "The Four Masked Men," to be produced at the Twickenham studios, in England. Francesca Gaal, Hungarian actress, will be featured in the four Hungarian films. English, French and German versions will be made of these.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

George White's Scandals

(Fox)

Musical

As a backstage musical, this picture differs from all the others in that it devotes itself exclusively to the preservation of the peculiar color, glamour and entertainment values associated with the George White stage extravaganzas. Like a legitimate revue, it's a parade of a dozen or fifteen sketches, all of which are held together by a thin and practically meaningless story. Done in the spirit of a Broadway show, it's racy, vivid in song, gag, dialogue and action expression, and, save in one or two instances, full of the atmosphere that the title tone commonly suggests. It sings and dances almost continuously, interspersing specialty sequences, and, flashing back every now and then to accepted picture-making formula, quickly picks up and drops the story premise.

There's definite charm and heauty to much of the show, particularly the Alice Faye-Vallee duets, "Hold My Hand" and "Sweet and Simple," and the tuneful, eye-pleasing chorus dancing accompanying them. The same is true of Durante's blackface "Cabin in the Cotton." There's punch in Cliff Edwards' "Six Women" and the Edwards-Dixie Dunbar "So Nice." There's comedy in the blackout gags. And though it is hardly possible that the submerged story will interest any one, it has certain theatre values.

But there's much that comes dangerously close to being objectionable in the suggested sense of the Alice Faye "Nasty Man" song, especially when the infants pick up the chorus. Similarly the dog action accompanying the Vallee, Faye, Durante, Dunbar rendered "Your Dog Loves My Dog," as well as in the Vallee, Edwards, Durante "Every Day Is Father's Day," whose action satirizes the geometric dance arrangement of other pictures and in which the win-the-carriage infants give their fathers a realistic raspberry.

For general understanding "Scandals" is an ultra modern combination of Broadway high-class revue entertainment and old-fashioned Fourteenth Street burlesque show technique. It does what it claims to do: put the George White "Scandals" on film.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Fox release. Entire production conceived, created and directed by George White. Directed by George White and Harry Lachman. Music by Ray Henderson. Lyrics by Jack Yellen and Irving Caesar. Executive producer, Robert T. Kane. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, March 26, 1934.

CAST

Jimmy Martin ..... Rudy Vallee
Happy McGillucuddy ..... Jimmy Durante
Kitty Donnelly ..... Alice Faye
Barbara Loraine ..... Adrienne Ames
Stew Hart ..... Cliff Edwards
Nicholas Mitwoch ..... Gregory Ratoff
Patsy Dey ..... Dixie Dunbar
Miss Lee ..... Gertrude Michael
Pete Pandos ..... Warren Hymer
Count Vekker ..... Armand Kaliz
"Sailor" Brown ..... Roger Grey
Harold Bestry ..... William Bailey
John R. Loraine ..... George Irving
Minister ..... Richard Carle
Judge O'Neill ..... Ed Le Fainte
Wives of King Henry VIII: Eunice Coleman, Martha Merrill, Lois Eckhart, Hilda Knight, Peggy Moseley and Lucille Walker.
Eleanor Sawyer ..... Edna May Jones
Jean Moriston ..... Marie Ormiston
George White ..... Himself

Let's Be Ritzy

(Universal)

Romantic Drama

Though this domestic romance drama, pepped up with the characteristic comedy contrasts, follows a familiar formula, it nevertheless offers quite a bit of saleable entertainment. It welds together a series of proved theatre values to deliver a likeable attraction. In the nature of a semi-problem play, it's modern, clean, carries a gentle human interest punch, and as it passes from one situation to another, delves into bits of mundane hopes, ambitions, disappointments, disillusionments, odd surprises and little tragedies that are part of the workaday life of the ordinary rank and file folk. As such, it's family entertainment, the kind whose story moral is more valuable than any production or name asset.

Dialogue and action are equitably balanced. Slow and fast tempo alternate in accordance with the story spirit. While attention consistently is focused on the two central characters, Ayres and Patricia Ellis, production technique taking an odd twist continually brings into prominence Frank McHugh, Isabel Jewell, Berton Churchill and particularly Robert McWade.

The story idea is simple. Jimmy and Ruth, office workers, marry. Combined income isn't enough to keep 'em out of the red as both have a yen for petty extravagances, common to most young folk. As they are about to be thrown out of the apartment for non-payment of rent, Damroy, comedy relief, convinces Jimmy that to get ahead in the world one has to put on the ritz and bluff it. A situation is concocted to impress Landlord Pembrook, but Jimmy's hard boss, Splevin, stumbles into it to receive the full benefit of the bluff. However, it's repeated for Pembroke's benefit, and that wily worthy, on the verge of bankruptcy, falls for the gag and stages a gala social soiree for the youth, during which Jimmy finds out that Ruth is chasing around with Hildreth. Splevin bursts into hash of all Damroy's plans and creates one of those "all is lost" affairs for the young husband and wife. However, Splevin has a heart of gold hidden by his steely manner, and after handing the young pair a lot of good advice, he gives Jimmy a better job that will get him out of debt and keep his wife at home.

Sell it with the type of campaign usually associated with this class of show, with a sincere effort to emphasize the down-to-earth human interest that's the part of almost every ordinary man's and woman's life. —McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Associate producer, Henry Henigson. Stage play by William Anthony McGuire. Screen play by Harry Sauber and Earle Snell Photography by Charles Stumar. Film editor, Milton Carruth. Art direction, Stanley Fleischer. Editorial supervision, Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision, Gilbert Kurland. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, March 26, 1934.

CAST

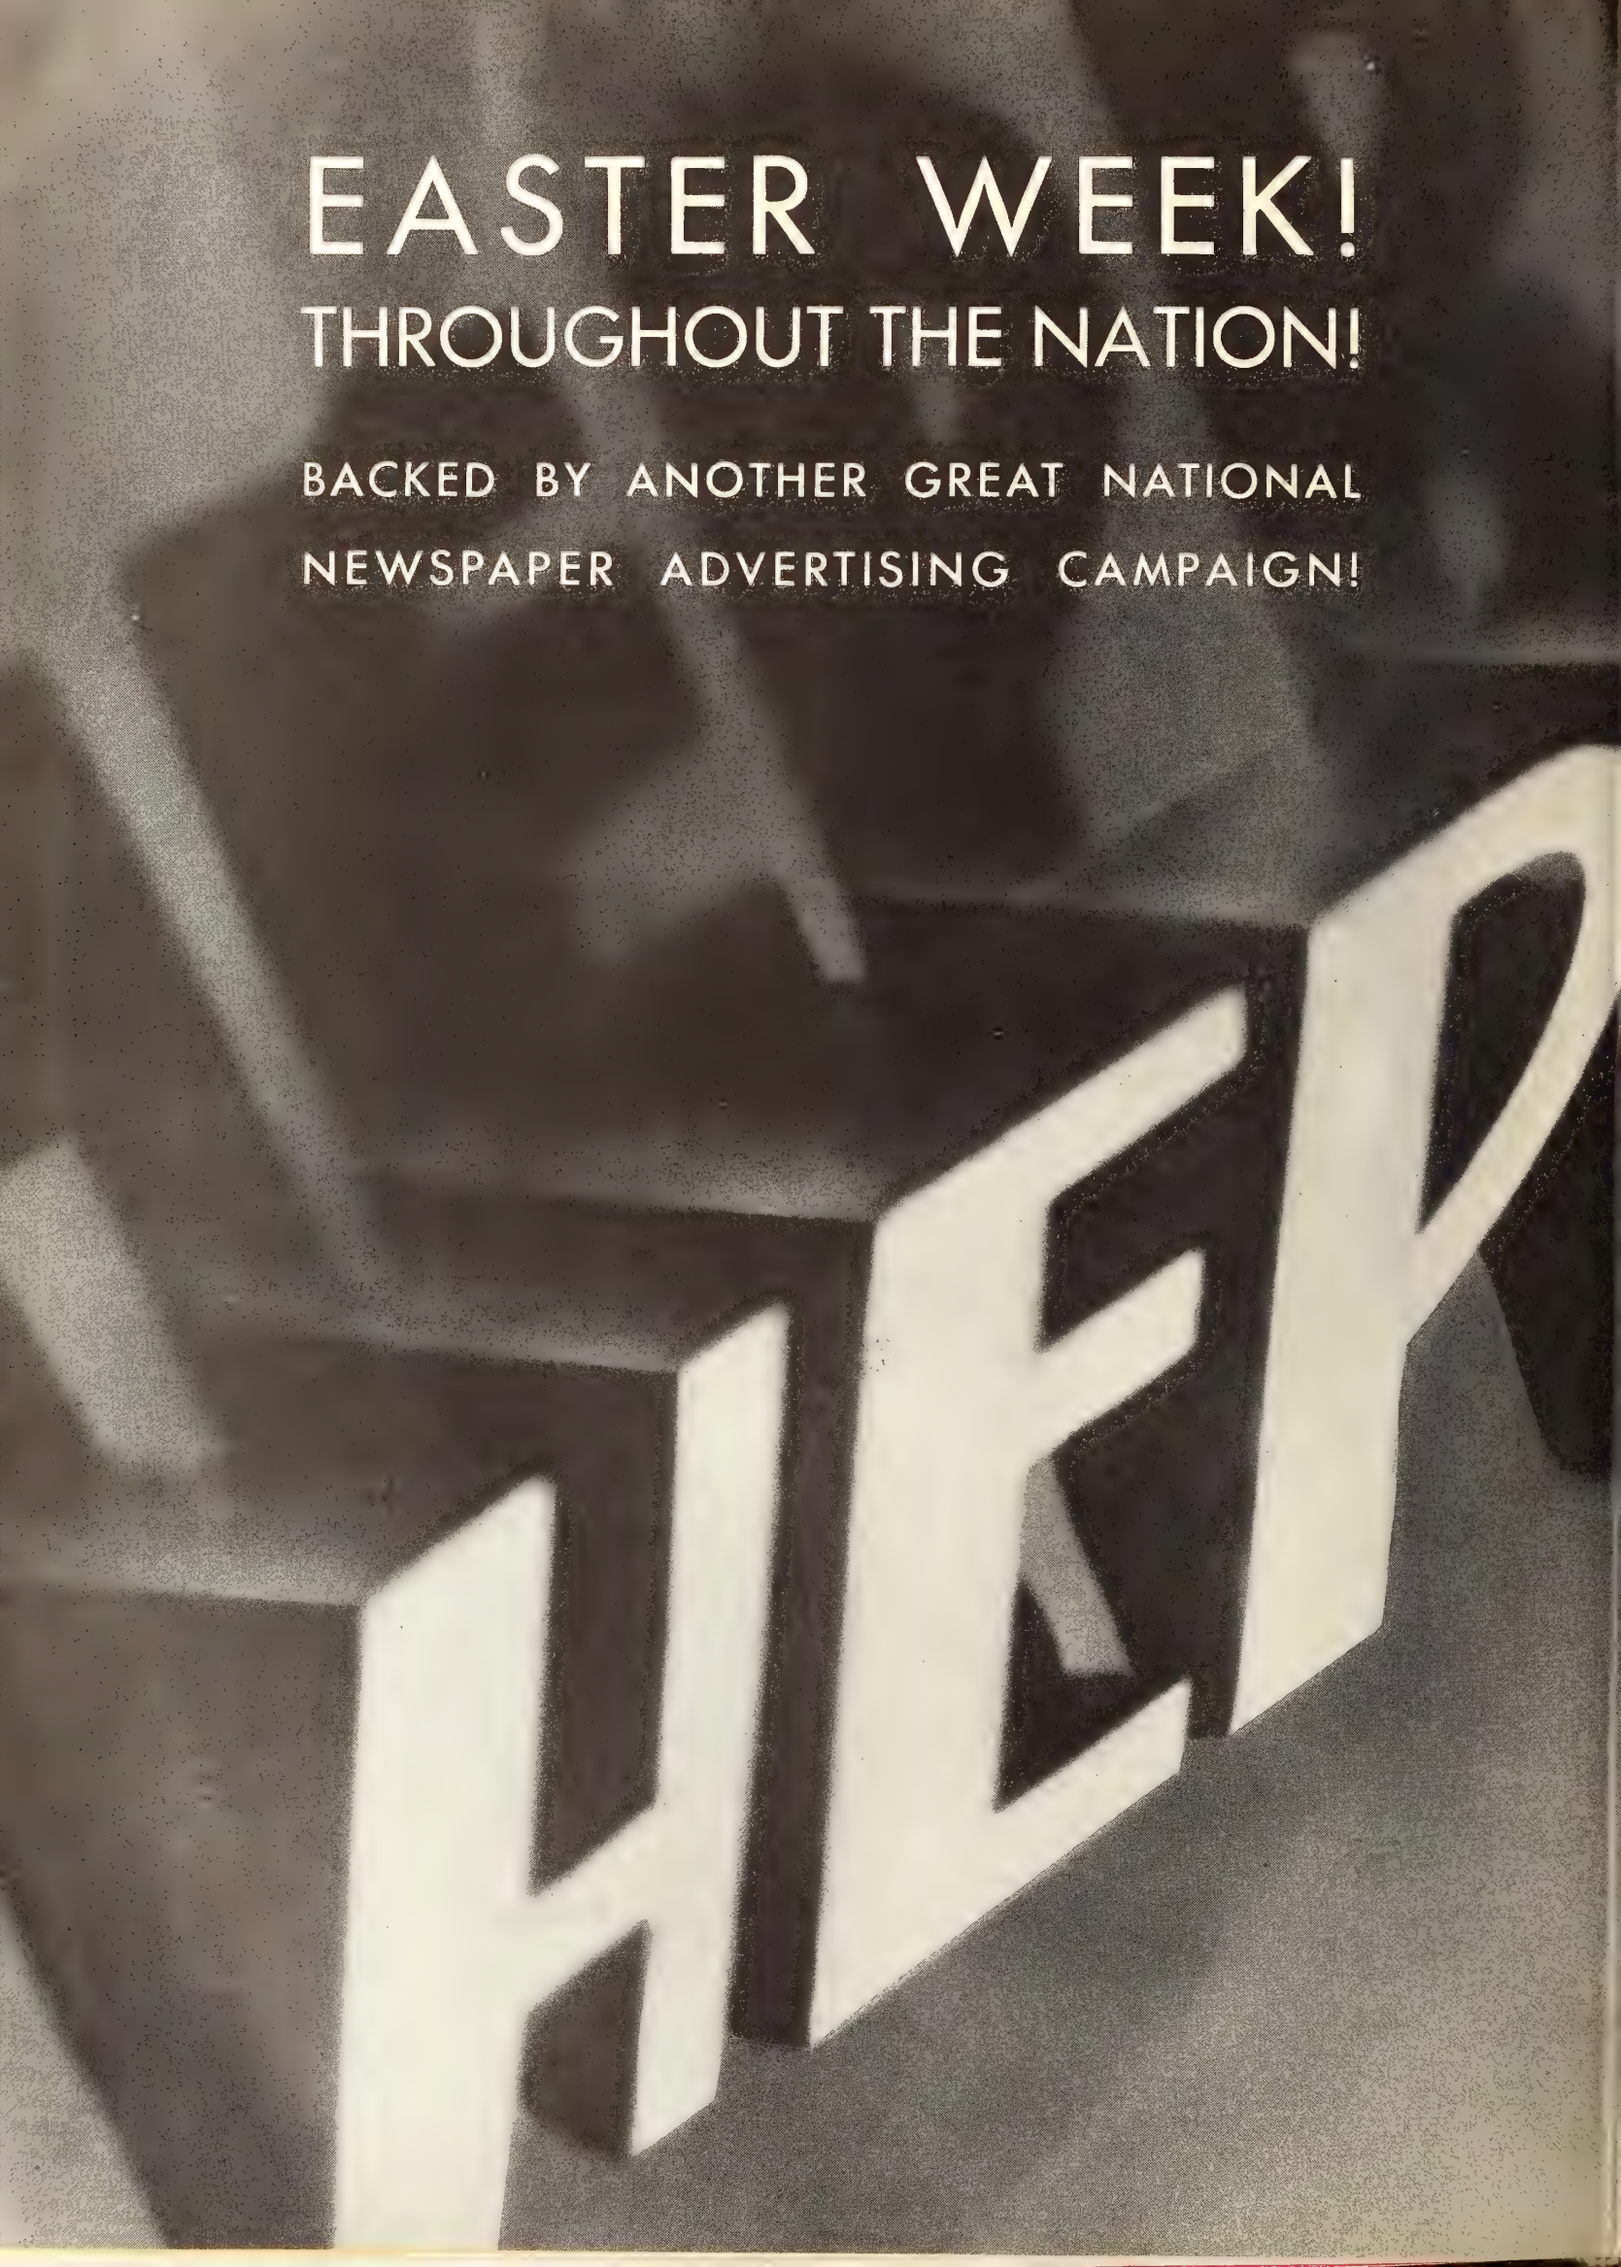
Jimmie ..... Lew Ayres
Ruth ..... Patricia Ellis
Betty ..... Isabel Jewell
Bill Damroy ..... Frank McHugh
Pembrook ..... Berton Churchill
Splevin ..... Robert McWade
Mrs. Burton ..... Hedda Hopper
Lieut. Spalding ..... Addison Richards
Henry ..... Adrian Morris
Mrs. Pembrook ..... Betty Lawford
Mr. Hildreth ..... Clay Clement

Heat Lightning

(Warner)

Drama

"Heat Lightning" has the considerable merit of being decidedly different in situation and locale, especially. At a combination gas station, lunchroom and tourist cabin stopover, set somewhere in the western desert, the entire picture has its action. There, in the space of 24 hours, is recorded the conflict of the two sisters who operate the place, the elder attempting by strict supervision to protect the younger, the latter flaring into open rebellion at the restriction. There comes back to the elder an episode out of her past, and there comes, too an element of engaging comedy, sharp suspense and strong drama.



The single setting should not prove an obstacle to active selling. Rather should it prove an opportunity for unusual exploitation, by reason of the nature of that setting. The lobby may well be transformed into the counterpart of the desert gas station, and the heat lightning, which lights the desert at night and provides the title of the picture, be stimulated to good advantage. The title itself is intriguing, implying not only a mere atmospheric phenomenon but the drama which takes place in the desert setting.

The cast, reasonably strong, provides a starring role for the hitherto popular Aline MacMahon. In support are Ann Dvorak, Preston Foster and Lyle Talbot, while Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh and Ruth Donnelly supply highly amusing comedy relief.

Miss MacMahon, wearing overalls, doing a man's work as mechanic and owner, appears a plain, hard-bitten woman, seeming to have no spark of romance, no thought of anything not "strictly business" in her makeup. Under the tyranny which is imposed upon her by her elder sister, Miss Dvorak rebels, insists she will continue to see the boy Miss MacMahon believes to be no good. In the wearing heat the girl's nerves are worn to a sharp edge, while the elder continues calmly her reserved manner, her apparently unperturbed way.

Then things begin to happen. Up to the station roll Foster and Talbot, quickly established as bank robbers and murderers, escaping across the Mexican border. As quickly it is established that Miss MacMahon's past has caught up with her; that Foster is the man she once loved, is emblematic of a life she has left—for good. The craven Talbot is anxious to push on, Foster content to make the most of an unexpected opportunity. On the scene arrive Miss Donnelly and Miss Farrell, diamond-laden, wealthy, catty, and divorced, en route from Reno. McHugh is their long-suffering chauffeur. They are forced to stay the night.

Foster determines to stay until nightfall, lift the jewelry, then hit for the border. Miss MacMahon, for the first time in years, and under the influence of Foster's presence, dresses her best, succumbs to the wiles of her former lover, while her sister, against orders, escapes to the waiting car of her friend. She returns, shaken and afraid, the two quarrel, and, as Miss MacMahon returns to her room, she comes upon Foster and Talbot robbing the lunchroom safe. She kills Foster, permits Talbot to escape, and

EASTER WEEK!
THROUGHOUT THE NATION!
BACKED BY ANOTHER GREAT NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN!
HELP

BURN
ONE REVIEW THAT ECHOES THE VOICE OF MILLIONS! . . .
"Hepburn is good... more than good... EVEN MAGNIFICIENT!"
N. Y. World-Telegram
"SPITFIRE"
WITH ROBERT YOUNG
RALPH BELLAMY
MARTHA SLEEPER
DIRECTED BY JOHN CROMWELL
FROM THE PLAY "TRIGGER" BY LULA VOLLMER
A PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION
MERIAN C. COOPER EXECUTIVE PRODUCER
RKO RADIO PICTURE

next morning, again in overalls and head band, agrees with a passing motorist that "nothing ever happens" in the lonely, hot desert.

The picture offers the exhibitor an opportunity for unusual exploitation and selling.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. From a play by Leon Abrams and George Abbott. Screen play by Brown Holmes and Warren Duff. Photographed by Sid Hickok. Film editor, Howard Bretherton. Art director, Jack Okey. Release date, March 3, 1934. Running time, 63 minutes.

CAST

Olga	Aline MacMahon
Myra	Ann Dvorak
George	Preston Foster
Jeff	Lyle Talbot
Mrs. Tifton	Glenda Farrell
Frank	Frank McHugh
Mrs. Ashton-Ashley	Ruth Donnelly
Steve	Theodore Newton
Everett	Willard Robertson
The Man	Harry C. Bradley
The Sheriff	James Durkin
The Wife	Jane Darwell
The Husband	Edgar Kennedy
The Blonde	Muriel Evans

The Crime Doctor

(Radio)

Melodrama

Here's an intriguing, entertaining picture, chock full of unique exploitation angles. In a novel way, it wraps up its amusement assets in a veil of semi-mystery and by the logical use of clever suspense moves to an odd climax that completely upsets all anticipations. Comedy tinged melodrama, therefore, is its essence, in which amusing thrill, not fear-engendering terror, predominates.

Not only does the show possess strength in name and production values which proper advance handling should make tempting to men and women patrons of de luxe houses, but it moves in a spirit that the ordinary fan readily understands. Inasmuch as the reasons for the perfect crime, its accomplishment and the turmoil it brings on, are evident to them and the investigator—all the other participants being in the dark—it remains for the unexpected anti-climax to overturn advance solutions. As the picture is convincingly acted, there never once being a hint as to the finale, realism builds a suspense that not only maintains continuous interest but makes gleeful mincemeat of all the amateur sleuths' logical conclusions.

Modernly timed and set, here's what happens. Resentful that his wife, Andra, has a growing infatuation for Anderson, the famous criminologist, Dan Gifford frames Anderson into a clandestine meeting with the adventuress Blanche to prove to his wife that her lover is merely another philanderer. When the gold-digger attempts a little blackmailing on her own part, Dan kills her with one of Anderson's guns and fixes things up so that it appears to every one concerned (save the audience) that Anderson is the murderer.

Scorning Andra's pleas to save the innocent man, he permits the dumb cops, headed by Fraser, to work up an iron-riveted circumstantial evidence case that convicts Anderson and sentences him to death. Then with the picture turning highly dramatic as Andra makes a final frantic plea that Dan put his real talents to work and save the innocent man, the picture moves into its confounding surprise climax. This you should know, but keep from your patrons. Anderson was writing a book and the figures in the picture were his living characters.

There's none of the trite old dream stuff. It's a fresh bit of story telling technique that resolves itself into tricky salable entertainment. Curiosity creating exploitation and publicity stunts are limited only by your own ingenuity to think up odd twists. If you remember "The Trial of Mary Dugan," in which the audience was supposed to constitute the jury, that looks to be an effective idea to adapt in selling this show. Therefore, everything from facsimile jury summons, specially written ads, to tieups with the police department, all of which invite the patrons to sit in judgment of the "perfect crime," should be the basis of the introductory approach. This should be followed up by the admonition to those who have seen the picture to protect its secret.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Associate producer, David Lewis. Directed by John Robertson. Screen play by Jane Murfin. From the story, "The Big Bow Mystery," by Israel Zangwill. Musical director, Max Steiner. Technical advisor, Captain Lon Wilkie. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Al Herman. Photographer, Lucien Andriot. Sound recorder, D. A. Cutler. Film editor, William Hamilton. Running time, 74 minutes. Release date, April 27, 1934.

CAST

Dan Gifford	Otto Kruger
Andra	Karen Morley
Eric Anderson	Nils Asther
Blanche Flynn	Judith Wood
Fraser	William Frawley
District attorney	Donald Crisp
Crowder	Frank Conroy
Kemp	J. Farrell MacDonald
Bloodgood	Fred Kelsey
Walters	G. Patt Collins

Bedside

(Warner)

Drama

An exposé type of story, "Bedside" contains elements of entertainment, yet has its leading character cast almost continuously in the unfavorable light of a four-flusher, a double-dealer and a quack who comes close to endangering the lives of his patients. Not once, until the final sequence, is he shown in anything like a sympathetic position, and then the audience experiences difficulty in believing in him.

It is the yarn of a man who, lacking the gumption to finish the work he planned, and a prey to an easy life and the turn of the cards, plays a coward's game of duplicity. He is shooting for high stakes, but the game gets out of hand, and eventually he is engulfed, exposed and beaten by his own foolishness. The romance of the girl who stayed by him, because she believed in him, and left when she no longer could trust him but nevertheless tried to protect him, is woven into the story of the phenomenal rise of the quack to fame and fortune—and his fall.

Warren William is the "doctor," and the exhibitor himself will best know his strength as a drawing card attraction in the particular situation. Opposite is Jean Muir, who, comparatively unknown, is nonetheless competent and attractive. In support are the good names of Allen Jenkins, David Landau and Donald Meek. The picture is to be sold as drama of the exposé type, with greater concentration on the story than on the cast, title or the like.

William is the x-ray operator in a doctor's office, addicted to cards and women. Urged by Miss Muir, nurse and in love with him, and with the money she gladly gives him, he leaves to complete his medical course and become a doctor. En route he loses the money at cards, obtains a job as orderly in a hospital, and is discharged. Returning, he meets Landau, broken-down physician and a dope addict, and buys his diploma. Name changed, he hangs the diploma, strikes a deal with Jenkins, press agent, hires Meek, an insurance doctor, as his assistant, and with the impetus of Jenkins' selling, and his own way with women, he becomes famous—in the newspapers. Meek actually handles the treatment of patients. Miss Muir, as his chief nurse, looks on while suspicion dawns. That suspicion becomes certainty when Landau breaks in on several occasions, and William refuses to treat a stricken child, when Meek is out.

He becomes the personal physician of Kathryn Sergava, opera star, and through Jenkins' efforts, achieves more publicity. He operates on the singer, and only through the frantic efforts of Meek is her life saved. Miss Muir leaves. Attempting to stop Landau from telling what he knows of William to the authorities, Miss Muir is run over and seriously injured. William is called, stalls, and calls for another doctor, since he cannot operate. A group of important surgeons, who have been suspicious, refuse, until, to save the girl's life, William confesses his duplicity. Let off lightly, on the girl's plea, the two are reconciled to end the film.

It is fast-paced drama of the sort indicated, and is, of course, adult entertainment.—AARONSON, New York.

A First National Production. Distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Robert Florey. Story by Manuel Seff and Harvey Thew. Screen play by Lillie Hayward and James Wharton. Additional dialogue by Rian James. Photographed by Sid Hickok. Film editor, Harold McLennon. Art director, Esdras Hartley. Release date, January 27, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Louis	Warren William
Caroline	Jean Muir
Sparks	Allen Jenkins
Smith	David Landau
Maritza	Kathryn Sergava
Dr. Chester	Henry O'Neill
Dr. Wiley	Donald Meek
Varsova	Renee Whitney
Dr. Michael	Walter Walker
Interne	Phillip Reed
Interne	Philip Faversham
Pansy	Louise Beavers
Joe	Earle Foxe

Horse Play

(Universal)

Comedy

Making no sense whatever, and obviously intending just that, this comedy is engaging and amusing, the situations a succession of episodes which are laugh-laden. Slim Summerville, the elongated comedian, this time has for his partner in nonsense the whining Andy Devine, whose voice is hardly his greatest asset.

"Horse Play" makes rather a salable title for a comedy, but the picture has nothing whatever to do with the races. There are horses, or rather, a horse, as Summerville and Devine are western ranchers. Summerville has considerable difficulty with a romance with Leila Hyams, and at the same time shares his love with a horse, who gives every indication of returning the affectionate regard in which she is held by her master.

There is comedy—and Slim Summerville—to sell in this picture, and the two, plus the engaging title, make for good copy. The fact that Slim and Devine invade the wealthy set of London, clad first in grotesquely fancy cowboy clothes, then in medieval dress, affords an opening for street ballyhoo and lobby exploitation.

Slim is the shy and awkward swain pursuing Miss Hyams, niece of a neighbor, on a Montana ranch. As ranchers they leave much to be desired, and as a lover, Slim is not exactly the answer to a maiden's prayer. To take her away from the dangerous Slim, the family send Miss Hyams to visit an aunt, an English duchess. Unexpectedly, pitchblende is discovered on Slim's ranch and he is given $1,000,000 for his property. His blighted life is lightened by a card from Miss Hyams, and he decides to go to London with Andy, taking the horse for presentation to the object of his devotion.

Miss Hyams meanwhile is pursued in London by Cornelius Keefe, a crook who sees in her relationship with the duchess an opportunity for easy money. She is not averse to his attentions. In London, a lively hotel press agent sees to it that the two are installed, with their horse, in the royal suite. The curiosity of the duchess is aroused and she visits the suite, while the two are calling all over London looking for Miss Hyams. There is a somewhat hilarious party as the duchess and her companion partake of a small drink with the boys, who are invited to attend the costume party to be given by the duchess, who reveals that the sought-after Miss Hyams is staying with her.

The boys discover that Keefe is wanted by the police, and go to work on the Robin Hood assemblage in the woods in search of him, with highly amusing results. Eventually they catch him, have him arrested, and are asked to leave the duchess' castle. But Miss Hyams asks Slim to take her home with him.

It is lively and entertaining, with more than a few laughs. The brief outline of the story should present to the exhibitor ideas for copy and selling angles, while the Summerville-Devine combination should not be difficult to sell. —Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Edward Sedgwick. Story by Ebba Havey and Clarence Marks. Screen play by H. M. Walker and Dale Van Every. Photographed by George Robinson. Release date, November 27, 1933. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Slim Perkins ..... Slim Summerville
Andy ..... Andy Devine
Angelica Wayne ..... Leila Hyams
The Duchess ..... May Beatty
Clementia ..... Una O'Connor
Uncle Percy ..... David Torrence
Philip Marley ..... Cornelius Keefe
Oswald ..... Ferdinand Gottschalk
Emily ..... Ethel Griffies
Iris ..... Lucille Lund

Marriage on Approval

(Freuler)

Drama

In a somewhat intriguing title and in the problem theme which it indicates lie the chief exploitation possibilities for the exhibitor playing this production. Here is a story of a girl's promise to her father not to marry for four years, her unknowing marriage to the man she loves at the height of a gay party, her decision to go away with him as her lover (he keeps secret the fact of the marriage), and what happened when the plan failed to work. The exhibitor should make an effort to see the production in advance so as better to adapt his campaign to the surrounding developments.

The better known principals are Barbara Kent, William Farnum, Leila McIntyre and Donald Dillaway. In Miss Kent and the veteran Farnum are the marquee names, though Dillaway has the largest part in the picture. The story is from the novel of the same title, by Priscilla Wayne, and that fact merits mention.

Farnum, as a pastor who benignly believes that his straightlaced precepts are being followed by his daughter, Barbara Kent, has her promise not to wed until she is 21. He does not know of her clandestine meetings with Dillaway, who is so certain of her father's refusal that he has not asked him. A drinking party winds up at the home of the justice of the peace. Dillaway pledges the witnesses not to let his bride know of the marriage. Next day she tells her father she is sticking to her promise, but is going with her sweetheart as his lover. But the game sours as both realize he cannot have her associate with the wives and friends of his office fellows. When he's sent out of town on the big opportunity, Phyllis Barry, not too scrupulous in her methods of trying to win Dillaway, answers Miss Kent's phone call from Dillaway's apartment. She goes back to her parents. Dillaway follows, explains, and Farnum realizes that his code has been all wrong.

Both in theme and in the frequency of drunken parties the picture is not for youngsters.—Rovelstad, New York.

Produced and distributed by Freuler Film Associates, Inc. Directed by Howard Higgin. From the novel of the same name by Priscilla Wayne. Adapted by Olga Printzlau. Continuity and dialogue by Howard Higgin and Edward Sinclair. Assistant director, Harry Knight. Photographed by Edward Kull. Film editor, Fred Bain. Dance ensembles by Fanchon and Marco. Running time, 78 minutes. Release date, November 22, 1933.

CAST

Elizabeth MacDougal ..... Barbara Kent
Rev. John MacDougal ..... William Farnum
Mary MacDougal ..... Leila McIntyre
Lawrence Bennett ..... Donald Dillaway
William McGee ..... Edward Woods
Hortense Bailey ..... Dorothy Granger
Dorothy Tait ..... Phyllis Barry
Michael P. Connors ..... Otis Harlan
Mrs. Oscar Walker ..... Lucille Ward
Duncan Kilhail ..... Clarence Geldert

Midnight

(Universal)

Drama

A picture of weighty, almost continuously tragic drama, "Midnight" has written all over it the fact that it is a screen adaptation of a stage play; one, incidentally, which was considerably successful on Broadway some time ago. As a motion picture, produced by Chester Erskin in the East, the play moves slowly and ponderously, carefully building its effects, indulging rather over-much in closeup screen technique and not enough in action, pace and rapid comedy relief.

Its chief appeal is perhaps to rather sophisticated audiences, those who can appreciate the attempt on the part of the producer to concoct a study of the human mind, so to speak, as an elderly husband and father, forced by his conception of right, sends a woman to the electric chair while foreman of a trial jury. As the date of execution approaches, he is besieged mentally by the thought that perhaps he did not do the right thing, that he somewhere committed an error, and is severely tried by the fire of tabloid publicity. He insists that he interpreted the law as he saw it, that the law is the law and cannot be evaded, and that he would do the same thing again, were he forced to, even though it involved someone he loved. That opportunity comes unexpectedly upon him, and only through the efforts of others is he prevented from consigning his young daughter to the fate of the murderess.

The players for the most part will be unknown to the majority of the motion picture public, though they are familiar stage names. In the leading role of the father is O. P. Heggie. Sidney Fox, as the daughter, is the only familiar screen name. The others, Henry Hull, Margaret Wycherly, Lynn Overman, Richard Whorf, cannot be used to any advantage on marquees. Helen Flint, appearing in a few sequences as the condemned murderess, handles her role well.

Heggie, at home after the trial, finds himself beset by family troubles as well as the mental turmoil in which he himself is struggling. His stupid son-in-law, Overman, is bribed by a tabloid reporter, Hull, to permit him to get into the house, arrange a radio set so that he may note the reactions of the jury foreman as he hears the broadcast of the last moment of Miss Flint.

His daughter, Miss Fox, believes herself in love with Humphrey Bogart, a gangster. Forced to flee from the police, he tells her they are through. She meets him in his car, kills him with his own gun, returns to the house after the execution of Miss Flint, and confesses what she has done. The reporter, contrite, calls the district attorney, who has benefited greatly from the Flint trial publicity, and the d. a. frames a far-fetched theory to indicate that the girl did not kill him at all, but merely was suffering the delusions of an over-imaginative mind. He convinces Heggie there is no need to prosecute, and that he is not violating the law in shielding his daughter from the police.

It is an adults' picture.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by All Star Production. Distributed by Universal. Directed by Chester Erskin. From the play by Claire and Paul Sifton. Screen play by Chester Erskin. Release date, January 29, 1934. Running time. 80 minutes.

CAST

Stella Weldon ..... Sidney Fox
Edward Weldon ..... O. P. Heggie
Nolan ..... Henry Hull
Mrs. Weldon ..... Margaret Wycherly
Joe Biggers ..... Lynn Overman
Ada Biggers ..... Katherine Wilson
Arthur Weldon ..... Richard Whorf
Garboni ..... Humphrey Bogart
Henry McGrath ..... Granville Bates
Elizabeth McGrath ..... Cora Witherspoon
District Attorney Plunkett ..... Moffat Johnson
Ingersoll ..... Henry O'Neill
Ethel Saxon ..... Helen Flint

Hold Your Temper

(Columbia)

Good Comedy

Leon Errol, comedian of the undependable legs, is chief purveyor of amusement in this number, aptly titled. Errol, after a jolly and laugh-infectious breakfast with his bride, Dorothy Granger, runs into disposition-spoiling trouble from the start. He gets a flat, has a run-in with a neighbor, and is arrested for fighting with another. At the office, his staff greets him with good wishes, and receives a response not in keeping. The office boy is fired, aggravates the temper of the laundry man in a lunchroom, who enrages Miss Granger's maid, who quits. When Errol, himself again, arrives home, he is greeted with a shower of kitchen implements from his aggravated wife. Amusing comedy.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Ha! Ha! Ha!

(Paramount)

Clever

A clever and highly amusing animated cartoon, in which the artist pens Betty Boop on his drawing sheet, and leaves for the night. Ko Ko hops out of the ink well, eats candy and suffers terribly from toothache. Betty steps out of the picture, quickly sketches a dental office and removes the tooth. The laughing gas she uses spreads over the city. A clever side table "battle" between a set of false teeth and a pair of dental pliers highlights the subject.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Born April First

(Universal)

Fairy Comedy

If the timid-soul, almost whining Sterling Holloway, loose-limbed comedian, does not become irksome in two reels, this may be rated as fair comedy. As the pampered nephew of two old maid aunts, Holloway's life is miserable. His girl, in the office, conspires with the aunts to pep him up, and the house is modernistically rearranged—as are the aunts. Sterling, with a few drinks under his belt, goes to work on his rival for the girl's hand, and then shows her what a man he is. Holloway is amusing, but may get tiresome.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Knife of the Party

(RKO Radio)

Fair Comedy

This has amusing moments with the addition of a musical touch and a dance routine, as a show company is permitted to pay out its bills as employees in their debtor's hotel. Jack Good and Lillian Miles are the singing stars, who run into trouble with the knife-throwing debtor when Good makes love to his wife, attempting to get through a long distance call to sell his new song. The knife-thrower goes into action, but they come out clear in the end. A good portion of the comedy is supplied by Shemp Howard and his stooges, who are entertaining.—Running time, 20 minutes.

The Toy Shoppe

(Universal)

Amusing

An amusing and rather entertaining subject among animated cartoons, wherein Oswald, the Rabbit, is proprietor of a toy shop, and manufacturer of its merchandise. One night, after he has retired, the toys stir to "life," and the jack-in-the-box pursues and captures the little Dutch Girl. Her compatriot comes to the rescue, marshals the soldiers, and rescues his sweetheart. The youngsters, especially, should enjoy it.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Pettin' in the Park

(Vitaphone)

Amusing

An amusing cartoon, of the Merry Melodies series, set to the tune of the popular song which is the title of the subject, in which the birds of the park indulge in romance, play and a swimming race. The racers employ various amusing kinds of locomotion in their progress through the water, with the promoters of the race hardly coming out on top.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr., from the book by Erich Maria Remarque. Directed by Lewis Milestone. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

STEP OUT WITH UNIVERSAL

Another great stroke of showmanship by UNIVERSAL . . . re-releasing NOW the greatest WAR picture ever produced . . . giving you the opportunity to tune your theatre in to the current world-wide wave of war talk! . . . Handle this picture like a SHOWMAN right now and you'll CLEAN UP! . . . New ad mats tying up to the present now ready! . . . New paper! . . . EVERYTHING to make it easy for YOU!

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

INDEX TO HERALD'S SERIES

MOTION PICTURE HERALD Recently Concluded a Series of Six Articles in Which the NRA's Motion Picture Code Was Translated from Its Complex Legal Phraseology Into a Working Language for the Industry. Presented Herewith Is an Index to the Translation

DISTRIBUTION—EXHIBITION

First Article, Appeared in December 23rd Issue

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application to Distribution and Exhibition.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Distribution and Exhibition.

(3) ADMINISTRATION
Purposes, Personnel, Jurisdiction, Duties of:
(a) CODE AUTHORITY. (b) LOCAL GRIEVANCE BOARDS. (c) LOCAL CLEARANCE AND ZONING BOARDS. (d) CONTRACT ARBITRATION BOARDS. (e) LABOR ARBITRATION BOARDS. (f) GENERAL ARBITRATION BOARDS.

▽ ▽ ▽

Second Article, Appeared in January 6th Issue

LABOR AND EMPLOYEES

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application of the Labor and Employee Provisions in Distribution and Exhibition.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Distribution and Exhibition Labor-Employee Provisions.

(3) TRADE PRACTICES AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of Distribution and Exhibition Labor and Employees to Trade Practice Provisions.

(4) CODE AUTHORITY AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of the Code Authority to Distribution and Exhibition Labor and Employees.

(5) GENERAL PROVISIONS
Basic and General Provisions Pertaining to Distribution and Exhibition Labor and Employees.

(6) DISTRIBUTION LABOR PROVISIONS
(a) GENERAL. (b) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT. (c) MINIMUM WAGE SCALES. (d) ADMINISTRATION OF LABOR PROVISIONS IN DISTRIBUTION.

(7) EXHIBITION LABOR PROVISIONS
(For Theatre Employees Other Than Stage Actors.)
(a) GENERAL. (b) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT. (c) MINIMUM WAGE SCALES. (d) ADMINISTRATION OF LABOR PROVISIONS IN EXHIBITION.

(8) ARBITRATION OF LABOR DISPUTES IN EXHIBITION
Labor Arbitration Board and Procedure:
(a) PURPOSES. (b) PERSONNEL. (c) GENERAL.

(9) THEATRE ACTORS' LABOR PROVISIONS
Actor Employees in Vaudeville and Presentation Theatres:
(a) GENERAL. (b) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT. (c) MINIMUM WAGE SCALES. (d) AUDITION. (e) REHEARSALS. (f) TRANSPORTATION OF CHORUS. (g) WARDROBE. (h) ADMINISTRATION OF THEATRE ACTOR LABOR PROVISIONS.

Third Article, Appeared in January 20th Issue

TRADE PRACTICES

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application of the Trade Practice Provisions to Distribution and Exhibition.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Distribution and Exhibition.

(3) TRADE PRACTICES AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of Distribution and Exhibition Labor and Employees and Managers to Trade Practice Provisions.

(4) TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION
What Distributors, Exchanges Must or Must Not Do:
COERCION; INTIMIDATION.
DISTRIBUTORS' EMPLOYEE INTERESTED IN THEATRE.
SUBSTITUTIONS.
NON-THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS.
TIEING IN SHORTS WITH FEATURES.
DIVULGING BOX-OFFICE RECEIPTS.
FRAUDULENTLY TRANSFERRING ASSETS.
RENTAL ADJUSTMENTS.
RELIEF TO EXHIBITOR FROM DESIGNATED DATES.
WITHHOLDING FEATURE DELIVERIES.
SELLING SPECIALS.
FIRE REGULATIONS FOR EXCHANGES.
INTERFERING WITH "OUTSIDE" DISTRIBUTOR.

(5) TRADE PRACTICES FOR EXHIBITION
What Exhibitors and Theatres Must Do or Must Not Do:
SELECTIVE SERVICE CONTRACTS.
OVERBUYING.
REDUCED ADMISSIONS, REBATES, PREMIUMS, LOTTERIES, GIVEAWAYS, THROWAWAYS, PRIZES.
FRAUDULENTLY TRANSFERRING OWNERSHIP.
ADVERTISING CONFLICTING WITH A PRIOR RUN.
INTERFERING WITH THEATRE LEASING.
MIDNIGHT SHOWS; PRIOR EXHIBITION TO DAWN.
MISOUTS ON "CIRCUIT SHIPMENTS."

(6) TRADE PRACTICES FOR DISTRIBUTION - EXHIBITION
What Distributors and Exchanges or Exhibitors and Theatres Must Do or Must Not Do Jointly:
DEFAMATION OR DISPARAGEMENT OF CHARACTER.
THREATS OF LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.
SECURING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION UNFAIRLY.
PAYMENT OF EXCESSIVE SALARIES.
OPTIONAL STANDARD LICENSE AGREEMENT.
ARBITRATION OF CONTRACT DISPUTES.
FRAUDULENTLY BREACHING CONTRACTS.
COMMERCIAL BRIBERY; GIVING OF GRATUITIES.
DISCLOSING BOX-OFFICE RECEIPTS.
TEN PER CENT EXCLUSION PRIVILEGE.
PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN MOTION PICTURES.
PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN ADVERTISING.

(7) ADMINISTRATION
Procedure and Methods of Administering Distribution - Exhibition Trade Practices:
(a) LOCAL GRIEVANCE BOARDS. (b) LOCAL CLEARANCE AND ZONING BOARDS.

OF FILM CODE TRANSLATIONS

The Translation of the Code Was Just That. The Code Authority and the NRA Are the Code's Interpreters. Questions About the Code Will Be Answered Immediately. Send Inquiries to the Code Editor, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 1790 Broadway, New York City

PRODUCTION

First Article, Appeared in February 3rd Issue

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application to Production.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Production Sections.

(3) ADMINISTRATION
Purposes, Personnel, Jurisdiction, Duties of:
(a) CODE AUTHORITY. (b) SPECIAL COMMITTEE FOR ACTORS. (c) STANDING COMMITTEE FOR AGENTS AND AGENCIES. (d) STANDING COMMITTEE FOR DETERMINING OFFERS TO CONTRACT TALENT. (e) SPECIAL COMITTEE FOR DIRECTORS. (f) STANDING COMMITTEE FOR EXTRA PLAYERS. (g) STANDING COMMITTEE FOR FREE-LANCE PLAYERS. (h) SPECIAL COMMITTEE FOR TECHNICIANS. (i) SPECIAL COMMITTEE FOR WRITERS.

▽ ▽ ▽

Second Article, Appeared in February 17th Issue

LABOR AND EMPLOYEES

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application of the Labor and Employee Provisions in Production.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Production Provisions.

(3) TRADE PRACTICES AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of Production Labor and Employees to Trade Practice Provisions and Fair Competition Provisions.

(4) CODE AUTHORITY AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of the Code Authority to Production Labor and Employees.

(5) HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT
(a) GENERAL MAXIMUM FOR UNCLASSIFIED WORKERS. (b) FORTY-FOUR HOUR MAXIMUM FOR CLERICAL, OFFICE AND CERTAIN SERVICE WORKERS. (c) THIRTY-SIX HOUR MAXIMUM FOR STUDIO AND LABORATORY MECHANICS AND SKILLED LABOR. (d) FORTY-FOUR MAXIMUM FOR CERTAIN CARTOON WORKERS. (e) MAXIMUM HOURS FOR CAMERAMEN AND SOUNDMEN IN NEWSREEL PRODUCTION. (f) EXCEPTIONS AND EXEMPTIONS TO MAXIMUM HOURS; OTHER STIPULATIONS ON HOURS IN PRODUCTION.

(6) WAGE SCALES
(a) GENERAL MINIMUM WAGES FOR UNCLASSIFIED WORKERS. (b) MINIMUM WAGES FOR CLERICAL, OFFICE AND CERTAIN SERVICE WORKERS. (c) MINIMUM WAGES FOR STUDIO MECHANICS, SKILLED AND UNSKILLED WORKERS. (d) MINIMUM WAGES FOR FILM LABORATORY MECHANICS AND SKILLED AND UNSKILLED WORKERS. (e) EXCEPTIONS AND EXEMPTIONS TO MINIMUM WAGE PROVISIONS.

(7) WORKING CONDITIONS FOR EXTRA PLAYERS
Working Conditions and Hours of Employment and Wage Scales for Extra Players, Atmosphere People, Crowd Players and the Like; Standing Committee for Extra Players.

(8) WORKING CONDITIONS FOR FREE-LANCE PLAYERS
Working Conditions for Free-Lance Players Receiving $150 or Less per Week; Standing Committee for Free-Lance Players—Purposes, Personnel, Jurisdiction, Duties.

▽ ▽ ▽

Third Article, Appeared in March 3rd Issue

TRADE PRACTICES

(1) PREAMBLE
General Application of the Trade Practice Provisions to Production.

(2) DEFINITIONS OF TERMS
Technical Terms Used in Production Trade Practice Provisions.

(3) TRADE PRACTICES AND EMPLOYEES
Relation of Production Labor and Employees and Executives to Trade Practice Provisions and to Fair Competition Provisions.

(4) TRADE PRACTICES FOR PRODUCTION
What Producers and Studios and Film Laboratories Must Do or Must Not Do:
DEFAMATION OR DISPARAGEMENT OF CHARACTER; LIBEL.
THREATS OF LEGAL PROCEEDINGS.
SECURING CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION BY UNFAIR MEANS.
PAYMENT OF EXCESSIVE SALARIES.
INDUCING "LEGIT" TALENT AWAY FROM EMPLOYER.
CONSPIRING TO BLOCK INDEPENDENT PRODUCERS FROM RENTING STUDIO SPACE.
EMPLOYING RELATIVES AS "EXTRAS."
TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING AGENTS AND AGENCIES.
TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING RELATIONS BETWEEN PRODUCERS OR STUDIOS AND WRITERS, DIRECTORS, TECHNICIANS AND PLAYERS.
TRADE PRACTICES GOVERNING PRODUCERS OF CARTOONS.
VIOLATING RELEASE DATE FOR SHOWING PICTURE WHICH IS BASED ON A STAGE PLAY.
INTERFERING WITH RELATIONS OF "OUTSIDE" PRODUCER.
PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN PICTURES.
PROPER MORAL STANDARDS IN ADVERTISING PICTURES.

(5) ADMINISTRATION
Procedure and Methods of Administering Production Trade Practices.

ALL ADVANCE SALE RECORDS at NEW YORK, had been SHATTERED

When

JOSEPH M. SCHENCK presented for the first time

GEORGE ARLISS

in Darryl F. Zanuck's production

The House of ROTHSCHILD*

with

BORIS KARLOFF
LORETTA YOUNG
ROBERT YOUNG

and a supporting cast of 100 distinguished artists

Directed by Alfred Werker

* OPENS TWO-A-DAY
at

BOSTON - March 31st
CLEVELAND - March 31st
UTICA - April 1st
LOS ANGELES - Apr. 3rd
MIAMI - April 3rd
PALM BEACH - April 5th

Released thru

the TWO-A-DAY, $2 ASTOR Theatre up to WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14th

UNITED ARTISTS

A few quotations from the hundreds of enthusiastic reviews following the Hollywood preview:

"THE MOST IMPORTANT MONEY PICTURE IN THE PAST TWO YEARS!"
HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

"EXCEPTIONAL ENTERTAINMENT WITH CLASS, MERIT AND MASS BOX-OFFICE POSSIBILITIES!" — FILM DAILY

"WILL BE ON EVERY LIST OF THE BEST PICTURES OF THE YEAR!"
— N. Y. DAILY NEWS

"SUPERCHARGED WITH ENTERTAINMENT AND ELECTRIC WITH SHOWMANSHIP!" —MOTION PICTURE DAILY

"THE MOST BRILLIANT PICTURE THIS YEAR!" —BOSTON GLOBE

"THE BEST PICTURE GEORGE ARLISS EVER MADE!" —LOS ANGELES TIMES

"THE FINEST ENTERTAINMENT PROJECTED IN A DECADE!"
— Associated Publications

"EVERYTHING AN AUDIENCE COULD WANT IN A PICTURE!" — M. P. Herald

20TH CENTURY PICTURE

THE CUTTING ROOM

Advance outlines of productions nearing completion as seen by Gus McCarthy of Motion Picture Herald's Hollywood Bureau

A WOMAN IN HER THIRTIES

First National

Strong human interest is the essence of this story. Unrequited love is its subject, with drama dominating the romantic contrast. Adapted from an original story by Ann Garrack and Ethel Hill, the screen play was done by Manuel Seff, associated with "Footlight Parade," "College Coach" and "Bedside." Direction is by Alfred Green, credited with "I Loved a Woman" and the current Robinson picture, "Dark Hazard."

Basically a woman's story, women predominate in the cast. Aline MacMahon, most recently in "The World Changes," heads the name list. Opposite her is Paul Kelly, who made his screen comeback in "Broadway Thru a Keyhole." Well known Warner stock names constitute the remainder of the cast, in which Ann Dvorak and the newcoming Dorothy Tree are featured and Patricia Ellis, currently in "Let's Be Ritzy." Philip Faversham, Henry O'Neill, Mayo Methot, Helen Lowell, Dorothy Peterson, Marjorie Gateson and Renee Whitney are included.

Modernly timed, the story concerns itself with a successful business woman, who, seeing something good in a worthwhile roustabout, befriends and marries him. A baby born and dying, the husband returns to his philandering ways, part of which the wife knows and tolerates. The story moves to a vivid climax as while the man plans to elope with his wife's niece, another woman, mother of his child, contacts the wife. About to leave, he hears his wife crooning lullabies which awaken memories of his dead baby. Realization of his perfidity surges, he deserts his paramour as love for the child which he does not know is his own sweeps him into his wife's arms.

In atmosphere, dialogue and action, the story looks like a tear jerker in which emotion stirring ad and publicity copy is the most adaptable showmanship technique.

RYTHM IN THE AIR

Warner

With music serving as a substantial background, this comedy-tinged romance drama deals with the hectic experiences of a group of radio broadcasting folk. An original by Paul Moss and Jerry Walk, it was whipped into screen form by Warren Duff and Harry Sauber and directed by Ray Enright, recently credited with "Havana Widows" and the previous Warner pictures, "Fireman, Save My Child," "Blondie Johnson" and "The Tenderfoot."

Dick Powell and Ginger Rogers have the romantic leads, sharing honors with Pat O'Brien, whose exciting role is similar to the type he portrayed in "Blonde Bombshell" and "Bureau of Missing Persons." The supporting cast is composed of experienced screen players, including Henry O'Neill, Allen Jenkins, Joseph Cawthorne, Grant Mitchell, Johnny Arthur, Joan Wheeler and Grace Hayle. Specialty bits feature the Four Mills Brothers and Ted Fiorito and his orchestra, all established radio personalities. Music and lyrics are by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, and atmospheric girl dance numbers were directed by Busby Berkeley, which combination functioned in the "42nd Street" to "Wonder Bar" musical series.

Story has definite novelty showmanship value in plot and treatment, with four song numbers, "I'll String Along With You," sung by Powell and Ginger Rogers; Powell's "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," "How 'm I Doing," featuring the Mills Brothers; Fiorito's orchestra in "Fair and Warmer," and a second Powell-Rogers duet, What Are Your Intentions," effective in carrying the theme. The script calls for speed in action and dialogue in building romance between the leads, with O'Brien, glib promotor, ringing in surprise developments, both comic and dramatic, that heighten theatre values. Tuned to a popular pitch, the opus has the name, story and production strength that suggests tricky exploitation, with unusual opportunities for legitimate radio broadcasting contacts.

UNCERTAIN LADY

Universal

A different twist given the triangle premise is the showmanship essence of this story adapted from the Harry Segall stage play by Daniel Evans and Martin Brown. The screen version is by George O'Neil, who functioned in a similar capacity on "Only Yesterday," and Doris Anderson, who, among others, has the adaptation of "Wild Girl" to her credit.

The cast, unusually suitable to this type of picture, is worthy of more than usual consideration, in that, while headed by Edward Everett Horton and Genevieve Tobin and composed principally of well known names, it introduces two newcomers, Renee Gadd and Mary Nash, in important roles. Horton recently has been seen in "Design for Living," "The Poor Rich" and "Easy to Love," and Miss Tobin's latest efforts include "Dark Hazard" and "I Loved a Woman." The young women making their Hollywood debut are Renee Gadd, a notable British stage and screen figure, and Mary Nash, fresh from the stage, where she starred in many outstanding plays. Familiar personalities in important parts are Paul Cavanaugh, George Meeker, currently in "Hi, Nellie," "World Changes," "Dark Hazard" and "Hips, Hips, Hooray," and Dorothy Peterson, remembered for "I'm No Angel," "Beloved," "As the Earth Turns" and "Men in White." Karl Freund, who recently finished "Countess of Monte Cristo," is the director.

The story, mixing the entertainment elements and appealing to the masses, is given a smart sophisticated flair in both dialogue and action. Essentially modernly romantic, comedy contrast assumes a more than usual importance in the whole scheme. Based on the dissatisfied wife-husband premise, it creates some novel amusement situations and punches to a different climax.

RIPTIDE

MGM

Title significance to the contrary, "Riptide" is not a waterfront picture. For all practical purposes, it's Norma Shearer—"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," "Divorce," "Free Soul" and "Smilin' Through"—in smart, brilliant romance drama, the kind of picture in which folk like best to see her. The production, given the full benefit of the famed Thalbergian touch, which Edmund Goulding, producer of "Devil's Holiday" and director of "Grand Hotel," wrote, screen-played and directed, has been months in the making. No chances were taken that haste would be conducive to flaws.

The cast is one that showmen expect of a Shearer picture. Robert Montgomery and Herbert Marshall are the principal supports. Mrs. Pat Campbell, noted English actress, who has appeared in this country in several stage plays, makes her second screen appearance in an important role. Lesser lights are all well-known players, including Richard (Skeets) Gallagher, Ralph Forbes, Lilyan Tashman, Arthur Jarrett, Earl Oxford, new from the New York stage, Helen Jerome Eddy, George K. Arthur, Phyllis Coghlan and Halliwell Hobbes.

The story, moving to the tempo of sparkling dialogue, has its action centered in London, Paris, the Riviera, St. Moritz and other European locales.

The showmanship in this picture is evident. It's Norma Shearer's first in more than a year. Elaborately produced in every phase from gowns to settings, it looks to be material with great woman appeal for shopgirls, stenographers and sophisticates, yet sufficiently daring to stir more than ordinary male interest.

FRANKIE AND JOHNNY

All Star Productions

At the rejuvenated Biograph studio in upper New York, Chester Erskin has completed initial shooting on a special screen version of "Frankie and Johnny," an American epic of the middle country and the mid-nineteenth century. Based on the famous Mississippi legend, and picking up its motivation from the widely known—and sung—folk song of the same title, the story was written by Moss Hart, better known for Broadway musical comedies than Hollywood scripts. Erskin, who himself adapted the Hart story, has to his credit "Midnight," released currently by Universal.

Against a support of well known, capable stage players, Erskin has built a cast which offers its motion picture strength in Chester Morris, who hit close to top form in "King for a Night" recently, as Johnny; Lilyan Tashman, who plays Nellie Bly, and the radio, musical comedy-popular Helen Morgan as Frankie. In support are such stage names as Florence Reed, William Harrigan, Walter Kingsford, currently appearing in "Pursuit of Happiness" on Broadway; Jack Hazzard, Cora Witherspoon, Montagu Love and Sigmund Spaeth, the "Tune Detective" of the radio.

Along the Mississippi, in the period about 1849, the scene of "Frankie and Johnny" is set. It is a triangular story of St. Louis girls of doubtful repute, and is, in a sense, a costume picture.

Victor Young and his orchestra are importantly a part of the film, appearing as the musicians at the Mansion House in St. Louis, where considerable of the action takes place. The Chester Hale Girls add a bit of chorus femininity, and Young composed one new number, "Give Me a Heart to Sing To," for the film, which Miss Morgan sings. The rest of the film's scoring is of the vintage of 1850, including negro spirituals.

It would appear to be something different, and something denitely to be sold. An American epic, the saga of a period and an attitude, its origin familiar to millions, "Frankie and Johnny" should have wide exploitation possibilities.—Aaronson, New York.

DIRECTIONS:
Set up 3-sheet in lobby, with tack card as illustrated. Affix pencil on string from each side.

SHOWMEN! HERE'S A GREAT LOBBY IDEA!

And it's FREE! Get this 3-sheet from your M-G-M Exchange today. Keep it in your lobby right up to opening of "RIPTIDE." You can't begin too early to get your patrons excited about this important film event!

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 215.—(A) What effect will finger marks (even though invisible as the lens is looked through) have on the screen image? (B) What is the effect of an even distribution of dust upon the surface or surfaces of a lens? (C) Explain the reason or reasons why a lens surface should be highly polished after each cleaning. (D) Tell us just what method you consider best for cleaning lenses. (Never mind what the Bluebook says. Tell us what you have found best and why you consider it best.)

Answer to Question No. 209

Bluebook School Question No. 209 was: (A) Approximately what is the range of the angles of incidence of light rays upon the projection lens rear surface? (B) Does the reflection loss due to the range of angles above referred to amount to much as compared with incidence that is perpendicular to the lens surface? (C) Is the loss of light between the surfaces cemented together in the front end of projection lenses equal to the loss at uncemented surfaces? (D) What is the ratio of loss through absorption in various grades of glass? (E) What is the total loss in a flint glass lens of 1.61 refractive index?

We have the following acceptable answers: S. Evans and C. Rau; G. E. Doe; D. Danielson; T. Van Vaulkenburg; P. Gaeth, Jr.; H. Edwards; W. Lemke; J. Wentworth; B. S. Englander; H. H. Menefee; R. J. Arntson; R. De Totto; W. Broadbent; D. Ferguson; D. Calladine; G. Johnson and L. R. Spooner; D. Sanders; B. Doe; B. L. Banning and L. Jones; T. T. Golley; Nic Granby; J. Hendershot; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; R. and K. Wells; T. Turk; P. Felt; C. B. and L. N. Traxler; D. H. and L. B. Palmer; B. R. Walker; K. Y. Spencer, D. L. Lode, J. Jansen and B. H. Sanders; L. G. Gregeson; J. J. Richmond; F. and J. L. Hanson; M. Henderson and D. Singleton; B. R. Hanson; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; G. Thompson; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; H. R. Baldwin; T. Wythe and T. Granger; M. F. Surmord; J. J. Richmond; F. H. S. and P. Dalbey; W. Broadbent; A. L. Dodson and F. L. Benton; S. N. Tailer; L. R. Doty; T. H. Morton, L. Klar and F. G. Klar; U. L. Danielson; L. B. Bryant and D. L. Monehan; T. M. Vinson; G. Griener; F. L. Sanderson; M. F. Fallon; O. Allbright and J. Williams; G. R. Squires and B. J. Lyons; O. L. Davis and F. Sims; D. Haber and D. Breaston; A. F. Sprafke; P. H. Cupero; L. M. Richards; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; R. S. Fiedler; T. Malleby; G. Harrison and F. Harlor; M. U. Sampson; D. U. Granger; F. L. Granby; L. Condon and J. Turner; J. G. Paulson; M. Henderson and K. L. Knight; K. L. Hess; D. L. Sinklow; D. Howard and D. Jurts; R. D. Oberleigh and J. Lansing; M. R. Davidson and R. Schuler; N. L. Tomlinson and G. Lathrope; L. Grant and R. Geddings; J. Turner and C. Haugan; L. C. Northup.

(A) G. E. Doe gives what I believe to be the best answer, everything considered. He says, "This, Brother Richardson, would depend upon the working distance of the lens and the free diameter of its rear element. A quarter-size lens at long working distance would have a very low range of angles. True, such a lense should not be used under conditions requiring a long working distance, but they nevertheless are. The half-size at short working distance would include some pronounced angles. I believe you had in mind, when you asked this question, average conditions, under which the range of angles would be from zero to about 30 degrees."

(B) W. Lemke says, "The amount of loss by reflection is negligible between the angles of zero to 30 degrees. With a light ray perpendicular to the lens surface, the loss would be 4.13 with crown glass, and 5.46 with flint glass, and at an angle of 30 degrees the loss would be 4.28 with crown glass, and 5.64 with flint glass. We may therefore say that the loss of light per surface on a crown glass lens amounts to 4.2 per cent, and on a flint glass lens it is 5.5 per cent."

(C) B. S. Englander says, "Because the Canadian balsam used for cementing lenses, as in the front element of a projection lens, has a refractive index approximately the same as that of a good grade of crown glass (1.51), the only measurable loss would be in the passage of the light from the balsam to the flint glass, which would amount to only 0.1 per cent, because the amount of surface reflection largely depends on the difference in refractive indices of the medium the light is leaving, and the medium the light is entering. The greater the difference the more reflection. For the reason that air and glass present a greater difference than the balsam and glass, the reflection loss at surfaces separated by air (uncemented) will be greater than at cemented surfaces."

(D) Evans and Rau say, "The ratio of loss through absorption in various grades of glass are: Crown glass five to one per cent per centimeter; flint glass, one to 1.5 per cent per centimeter; poor glass, three to four per cent per centimeter."

And right there, friends, you accumulate one slap on the wrist! Examine your Bluebook, but be sure what it says covers all the ground the question does. "Poor glass" is a large term. Had you said, three to four per cent in any glass likely to be used in any projector optical train, you would have been correct, but "poor glass" includes even bottle glass. A. L. Dodson and F. L. Benton answer thus:

"If the question included only such glass as may be found in use in projector optical trains, then three to four per cent would cover the losses in poor glass. However, as the question reads it might mean almost anything up to opacity."

(E) M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen answer thus: "The loss at the first surface, disregarding loss due to angular incidence, would be 5.5 per cent, and the second surface, also disregarding angles, 5.2 per cent, to which must be added one per cent for every two centimeters of thickness of lens. In other words, assuming both surfaces to be well cleaned and polished, disregarding angles of light incidence, the total loss would be 5.5+5.2=10.7 per cent, plus one per cent for every two centimeters of thickness of the lense, measurement of thickness for entire lens being, of course, average."

20 FROM MONOGRAM; MASCOT IN FEATURES

Johnston Reducing Schedule for 1934-35 from 36 Pictures to 20 to Aid Double Bill Program of Independent Group

Declaring that a reduction of the Monogram Pictures Corp. production schedule from the 36 features for this season to 20 for 1934-35 would generally help to improve the quality of double feature bills, W. Ray Johnston, Monogram president, this week announced that the company's annual sales convention will be held in Atlantic City April 4 to 7, inclusive. At the same time, Nat Levine, president of Mascot Pictures Corp., announced that his company for the first time will produce feature pictures regularly next season in addition to its usual schedule of four serials. Monogram and Mascot thus are the first two companies to give definite indication of what may be expected in 1934-35.

"As one of the associate companies in the Motion Picture Federation, Monogram is naturally interested in doing everything it can to aid the two feature program policy adopted by the Federation," Mr. Johnston said.

Points to Greater Values

"By producing fewer pictures we are able to inject greater values into these pictures and make them ideal companion features for any program. It has been our observation that the most successful pictures are those that have unusual stories, carefully adapted to the screen and enhanced by intelligent and plausible dialogue. Pictures of this type cannot be produced overnight.

"I believe that all companies are gradually coming to the same way of thinking. A notable case is Columbia, which has achieved a remarkable success with such pictures as 'Lady for a Day,' and 'It Happened One Night,' primarily on the strength of the story values in the pictures. Our latest release, 'Beggars in Ermine,' has confirmed our belief in this method of production."

Coincidentally, Norton V. Ritchey, executive director of Ritchey Export Corporation, foreign distributors for Monogram, announced that the company's product will have 100 per cent distribution in the United Kingdom and Continental Europe next season. Mr. Ritchey, just returned from three months in Europe, said contracts had been closed with W. J. Gell, managing director of Pathe Pictures, Ltd., for distribution of Monogram product in Great Britain. Aurora Films will handle the entire lineup in Belgium, while a Monogram office is being opened this month in Prague by I. Ronin to service Central European countries, including Austria and Germany. Imperator Films will distribute the pictures in Switzerland and France. Mr. Ritchey said distribution has been arranged for all other territories.

20 Mascot Features in 3 Groups

The 20 features on the Mascot schedule will be divided into three groups, according to Mr. Levine. The first will include four exploitation specials, one of which is now in preparation for release June 1. The other three in the first group will be released one every three months.

The program also will include eight Western dramas, the first to be ready May 1, the others releasing one a month.

All Mascot productions, both serials and features, will be released through independent exchanges. Mr. Levine said distribution plans had been completed for the entire United States.

"The Lost Jungle," starring Clyde Beatty, will be the first of the four Mascot serials, releasing with the opening of the circus at Madison Square Garden, New York, April 7.

Six Musicals from Fox

The only other indication of 1934-35 production schedules came this week from Fox, with announcement that six musicals probably will be made. These are said to include Winfield Sheehan's "Follies," now nearing completion; Jesse L. Lasky's "Red Heads on Parade"; "Gypsy Melody," starring Charles Boyer; "Scram," starring Joe Cook; "Music in the Air," and a Harlack-Romberg all-star original.

Invincible Pictures has announced an increase next season from nine to 12 features.

A new company, Royal Pictures, is being formed in New York, planning 18 features the first year and 20 annually thereafter. Adolph Pollak and Ernst Ellis head the company.

Present indications are that as many as 400 fewer shorts may be made during 1934-35.

Code restrictions on the number of shorts a distributor may sell in relation to his feature picture contract are said by both short subject producers and distributors to have no direct contributing effect on an indicated reduction of shorts next season.

Paramount, Fox Shift Publicity Personnel

Frank Pope and Barney Hutchinson have resigned from the publicity department at the Paramount Coast studio. John Miles, formerly with Fox, has replaced Mr. Pope. In a reorganization of the department, Lance Heath is in charge of art work, Rufus Blair national press contacts and Len Boyd planting.

Pat Patterson, formerly with Warner, has joined the Fox publicity department, handling part of the planting and units. Al Parmenter will handle the Jesse L. Lasky unit, recently in charge of Mr. Miles.

Charges Warner Plagiarized

Edward A. Lynch has filed suit in United States district court, Philadelphia, against Warner, charging plagiarism in the film "Son of a Sailor." He contents his story, "When Homer Comes Marching Home," was rejected by the studio, but material from it was "lifted."

Franklin Acquires Novel

Harold B. Franklin has acquired production rights to Frederick Hazlitt Brennan's story, "Battleship Gertie," which recently appeared in Liberty Magazine as "The Saga of Battleship Gertie." A stage version is planned, to be followed by a screen adaptation.

DeSylva To Alternate

B. G. DeSylva, song writer, will in the future produce one Broadway musical and one motion picture a year. He has just completed "Bottoms Up" for Fox. His first Broadway show will be "Napoleon, Jr.," which he and Sid Silvers are writing.

Warner Tilt with Fanchon–Marco Seen in St. Louis

Warner Bros. and Fanchon and Marco, which operates the Fox and St. Louis theatres in St. Louis, this week were said to be embarking on what is expected to be a major conflict when Harry Arthur, of Fanchon & Marco, and Harry Koplar, St. Louis operator, were reported to have made a deal with the committee of bondholders operating the Missouri, Ambassador and Grand Central, whereby they would acquire the houses on a 15-year lease which calls for an aggregate rental of about $175,000 annually.

The situation is regarded in the Missouri city as leading to open conflict because these theatres, originally Warner properties under a deal made five years ago when the Skouras Brothers were bought out, own the third mortgage bonds and are understood to hold several millions in equity on the properties. Those close to Warner Bros. this week declared these bonds and equities will either be wiped out or seriously endangered in the proposed Arthur-Koplar move.

Judge Davis of the federal court must approve the transaction before it can become operative.

The Skouras Brothers will retire from St. Louis theatre operations on September 1, when Fanchon & Marco takes over the Missouri, Ambassador and Grand Central theatres from the bond holders. The Skouases, who originally built these houses and put up a personal guarantee of $6,800,000, are now operating the three under a leasing deal with the receivers.

Levine Forms Company

M. Leon Levine, at one time operator of the Windsor and Senate theatres in Brooklyn, N. Y., has formed Central Distributors to engage in film distribution and financing. Domestic release is planned in the state rights market.

Flinn To Be AMPA Guest

John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Code Authority, will be honor guest of the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers, of which he is president, at a dinner at the Astor Hotel in New York April 21.

Jannings in English Film

British and Continental, English firm backed by Sam Spiegel, plans a series of features in English and French. The first will star Emil Jannings and will be directed by Jacques Feyder.

Warner Signs Dolores Del Rio

Warner has signed Dolores Del Rio to a long term contract calling for three pictures each year. Her first will be "Madame Du Barry."

Start New Exchange

Herman and Phil Silverman at Kansas City have closed the Independent Film Exchange and now have the Silent Film Exchange at 1710-12 Baltimore street.

GEORGE WHITE tops HIS OWN BEST SHOW*

*"All of my fifteen stage productions if rolled into one mighty show . . . would fade by comparison with this, my first screen production of 'The Scandals'."
(signed) George White

No Broadway stage was big enough to house this mighty dream show of George White. Even at $10 top, no crowds however packed, could support such lavishness. Never has there been such a cast . . . so many beauties . . . such dance creations . . . such hit songs . . . as in this crowning triumph of George White's genius.

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

300,000 Fleischmann Dealer's and 65,000 "Liberty" Newsboys are selling it for you!

Greatest exploitation scoop that ever zoomed your profits. Read the amazing details in the Special Exploitation Supplement of the big FOX press book!

RUDY VALLEE • JIMMY DURANTE
ALICE FAYE • ADRIENNE AMES
GREGORY RATOFF • CLIFF EDWARDS
DIXIE DUNBAR • GERTRUDE MICHAEL
RICHARD CARLE • WARREN HYMER
and
GEORGE WHITE

Entire Production Conceived, Created and Directed by GEORGE WHITE · Musical Numbers direction of HARRY LACHMAN · Story direction by THORNTON FREELAND Music and Lyrics: RAY HENDERSON, JACK YELLEN and IRVING CAESAR · Executive Producer: ROBERT T. KANE

FOX PICTURE

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 10, 1933, from 113 houses in 19 major citiess of the country, reached $1,239,265, an increase of $25,967 over the total for the previous calendar week, ended March 3, when 113 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,213,298.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio)	20,500	"I Believed in You" (Fox)	19,000	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,000	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	9,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	21,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week)	19,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	18,000	"Nana" (U. A.)	19,000	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
							High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Mandalay" (F.N.)	33,000	"Bolero" (Para.)	34,000	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,500	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	9,500	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
							High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Bolero" (Para.)	14,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	15,000	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Women in His Life" (MGM) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	5,200	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Cradle Song" (Para.)	5,600	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	6,100	"After Tonight" (Radio) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.)	7,900	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-35c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio)	6,000	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "Sons of the Desert" (MGM)	7,800	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) and "Before Midnight" (Col.)	16,700	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) and "Fog" (Col.)	7,600	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-65c	"Fashion Frolics of 1934" (F.N.)	40,000	"Bolero" (Para.)	34,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM)	12,000	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	12,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) (25c-40c)	23,000	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	21,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Spitfire" (Radio)	27,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	23,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	11,500	"Carolina" (Fox)	8,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Bombay Mail" (U.)	13,000	"Counsellor at Law" (U.)	16,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	10,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week)	21,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Master of Men" (Col.) (25c-35c)	6,500	"Bedside" (F. N.)	2,200	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"David Harum" (Fox)	8,000	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	5,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Spitfire" (Radio)	19,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	28,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Nana" (U. A.)	8,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	7,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "In the Money" (Chesterfield)	4,000	"Four Frightened People" (Para.) and "You Made Me Love You" (Majestic)	3,900	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	25c-35c	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.) and "Above the Clouds" (Col.) (30c-40c)	1,900	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	3,000	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"Beloved" (U.)	4,000	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	3,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Bolero" (Para.)	7,000	"Good Dame" (Para.) (25c-50c)	9,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Nana" (U. A.)	8,500	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	7,500	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	15,000	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	11,000	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (3 days)	2,000	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) (3 days)	900	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
			"Massacre" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,500	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (4 days)	1,600	Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	8,100	"Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	5,500	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	5,400	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	5,100	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"David Harum" (Fox)	23,600	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	26,500	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	19,200	"Good Dame" (Para.)	17,300	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.) (15c-40c)	5,100	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	5,300	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 2-24-34 "The Last Roundup"	3,200
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	11,600	"Nana" (U. A.)	10,600	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

Fear of ghosts handicaps progress more than realities.

Lay the ghost of prejudice. There's no need for fear of the double feature bogey in the house that plays short subjects with big box-office names - one and two-reel ticket-selling attractions such as Educational is furnishing in its new era featurettes of 1934.

Educational Pictures

have brought you such big hit names from the stage, the screen and radio as Ernest Truex, Helen Morgan, Stoopnagle and Budd, Bob Hope and many others that shine bright on the marquee. Now they bring the triumphant return of Buster Keaton in a two-reel comedy masterpiece, "The Gold Ghost."

E. W. Hammons PRESENTS

Buster KEATON in "THE GOLD GHOST"

Directed by Charles Lamont

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Distributed in U. S. A.
by FOX Film Corporation

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.10	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (4th week)	15,450	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (3rd week)	16,800	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
Pantages	3,000	25c-55c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) and "Sleepers East" (Fox) (25c-40c)	2,200	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM) and "The Poor Rich" (U.) (15c-40c)	1,500	High 1-7 "Handle With Care"	13,000
							Low 3-3-34 "Fugitive Lovers" and "The Poor Rich"	1,500
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	10,000	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F.N.)	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox)	6,000	"Palooka" (U. A.)	3,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 1-20-34 "Frontier Marshal"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	5,000	"Bolero" (Para.)	4,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	10,000	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	3,500	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 3-3-34 "No More Women" and "Search for Beauty"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"The Poor Rich" (U.)	5,500	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.)	7,000	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	4,500	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	6,000	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (8½ days and Sat. lat show)	16,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) (6½ days and Sat. late show)	4,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,200	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "His Double Life" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,000	"Bolero" (Para.) and "By Candlelight" (U.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	8,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Royal	900	25c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	2,500	"The Ghoul" (Gaumont-British)	2,000	.....	.....
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	2,500	"As Husbands Go" (Fox) (5 days)	2,000	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Love in Morocco" (Gaumont-British)	1,850	"Beloved" (U.) (3rd week)	1,500	High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,900	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (1st week-6 days)	7,800	.....	.....
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	11,800	"David Harum" (Fox) (25c-50c)	13,863	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"No More Women" (Para.)	18,115	"Bolero" (Para.)	21,750	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	12,700	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,200	High 2-24-34 "The Lost Patrol"	13,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Nana" (U. A.)	10,250	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	8,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	9,000	"Fashion Follies of 1934" (F. N.)	10,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM)	1,500	"Son of a Sailor" (F. N.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	8,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	7,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	6,500	"Massacre" (F. N.)	6,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	5,000	"Hi, Nellie!" (W. B.)	6,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	2,500	"By Candlelight" (U.) (5th week)	3,000	High 1-27-34 "Waltz Time" (2nd week)	3,500
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	10,500	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,000	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-50c	"Madame Sans Gene" (French)	2,000	"Fanny" (French) (revival)	1,500	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	10,500	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox)	11,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	9,000	"Carolina" (Fox) and "Jimmy and Sally" (Fox)	10,500	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 2-10-34 "Sons of the Desert" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) and "East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.)	7,000	"Nana" (U. A.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) (2nd week)	7,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (4th week)	12,702	"Catherine the Great" (U. A.) (3rd week)	14,685	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	42,500	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	49,600	High 2-24-34 "The Cat and the Fiddle"	60,100
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Bedside" (F. N.)	6,100	"Orient Express" (Fox)	7,600	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	16,030	"Carolina" (Fox)	12,200	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.) (2nd week)	36,000	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.) (1st week)	44,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (2nd week-6 days)	9,000	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (1st week)	15,000	High 2-17-34 "Devil Tiger"	23,000
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	40,850	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	14,700	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Carolina" (Fox) (4 days) "Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) (3 days)	6,390	"All of Me" (Para.) (4 days) "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) (3 days)	8,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 2-24-34 "As Husbands Go" and "Four Frightened People"	5,500

Smoke in His Eyes... but it doesn't blind this exhibitor to the fact that he owes it to himself and his business future to go to the MPTOA Convention in April. « He realizes it is important for him to discuss things with those who have the same problems as he has in these days of NRA and Industry Codes. « Yes, sir, he'll write MPTOA National Headquarters in New York for all the dope... and maybe he'll take the wife along. « She'll enjoy the social functions, too.

14th Annual Convention
M·P·T·O·A HOTEL AMBASSADOR
Los Angeles, Calif.
April 10, 11, 12

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
New York (Continued)
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"David Harum" (Fox)	60,115	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	75,900	High 11-25 "Little Women" 109,000 Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession" 44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.)	18,900	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	22,700	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man" 42,000 Low 1-28 "Air Hostess" 9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Wonder Bar" (F. N.)	43,863	"Mandalay" (F. N.) (2nd week-5 days) "Wonder Bar" (F. N.) (2 days)	16,900	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade" 55,190 Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran" 6,850
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	2,800	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.)	3,000	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood" 4,100 Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven" 1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	3,800	"Palooka" (U.A.)	3,800	High 11-18 "College Coach" 11,000 Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires" 1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) (3 days) "I Believed in You" (Fox) (4 days)	1,500 800	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and "The Poor Rich" (U.)	1,800	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 3,900 Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman" 1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"Good Dame" (Para.)	3,200	"Bolero" (Para.)	4,800	High 2-25 "State Fair" 8,500 Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance" 1,400
Warner	1,900	10c-75c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) and "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	3,750	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.) and "Man of Two Worlds" (Radio) (6 days)	3,750	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey" 10,750 Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows" 3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Easy to Love" (W. B.) (25c-50c)	17,250	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.)	6,750	High 3-10-34 "Eas to Love" 17,250 Low 4-29 "Sweepings" 5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) and "The Poor Rich" (U.)	6,750	"Bolero" (Para.) (25c-50c)	9,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 13,250 Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame" 5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and "From Headquarters" (W. B.)	4,250	"Advice to the Lovelorn" (U. A.) and "The Last Roundup" (Para.)	5,000	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding" 7,500 Low 3-10-34 "Devil Tiger" and "From Headquarters" 4,250
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Nana" (U. A.) (6 days)	12,500	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	5,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" 18,000 Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet" 4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (7 days) (2nd run)	3,300	"Going Hollywood" (MGM) (6 days)	2,400	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days) 6,500 Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven" 1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) (6 days)	11,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women" 30,000 Low 12-23 "Right to Romance" 8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) (6 days)	16,000	"Search for Beauty" (Para.) (6 days)	16,000	High 1-20-34 "Bombay Mail" 33,000 Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions" 10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-65c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (6 days)	18,000	"Coming Out Party" (Fox) (6 days) (30c-60c)	15,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade" 29,000 Low 8-5 "F. P. 1" 13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) (6 days)	3,000	"His Double Life" (Para.) (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street" 7,700 Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession" 2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Hold That Girl" (Fox) (6 days)	6,700	"Carolina" (Fox) (7 days)	8,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense" 11,500 Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?" 4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week-5 days)	10,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week-6 days)	14,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel" 32,500 Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord" 9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) (6 days)	7,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) (6 days)	7,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant" 10,000 Low 7-14 "I Love That Man" 4,000
Walnut	1,500	25c-50c	"Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic) (6 days)	4,500	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram) (7 days)	5,000
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "Bombay Mail" (U.)	5,900	"Madame Spy" (U.)	7,500	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny" 11,000 Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?" 3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	3,800	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	4,000	High 12-9 "Little Women" 14,000 Low 5-13 "No More Orchids" 1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Bitter Sweet" (Gaumont-British) and "Scaling Jong Song" (First Div.)	1,900	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram) and "King of Wild Horses" (Col.)	1,900	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day" 10,200 Low 2-24-34 "He Couldn't Take It" and "Wild Women of Borneo" 1,800
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.) (6 days)	4,600	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Sleepers East" (Fox)	5,900	High 11-18 "The Way to Love" 12,000 Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold" 3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Nana" (U. A.)	5,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie" 8,500 Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly" 1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Once to Every Woman" (Col.) and "Murder on the Campus" (Chesterfield)	9,500	"Son of Kong" (Radio)	14,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon" 15,500 Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters" 7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col) (2nd week)	16,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week)	20,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy" 25,500 Low 10-21 "My Woman" 8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"The Song You Gave Me" (Col.) and "The Crosby Case" (Universal)	6,000	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) and "Midnight" (U.)	6,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love" 15,000 Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters" 5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Good Dame" (Paramount)	9,500	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	10,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel" 40,000 Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty" 7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "Ever Since Eve" (Fox)	5,000	"Eskimo" (MGM)	8,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad" 13,500 Low 11-11 "The Mad Game" and "S.O.S. Iceberg" 4,000
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge' (U. A.)	6,500	"Gallant Lady" (U. A.) (3rd week)	7,000	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals" 17,000 Low 8-26 "The Wrecker" 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Bolero" (Paramount)	20,000	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	22,500	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady" 26,000 Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake" 10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio)	3,250	"Roman Scandals" (U. A.) (3rd week)	3,250	High 12-9 "Little Women" 8,500 Low 8-19 "The Rebel" 2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,500	"Carolina" (Fox)	6,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie" 19,250 Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche" 5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-35c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	5,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week)	7,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night" 7,000 Low 6-24 "Uptown New York" 3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	4,500	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio)	4,000	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade" 8,000 Low 12-23 "If I Were Free" 3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and "Devil's Playground" (S. R.)	5,000	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)	6,000	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days) 9,000 Low 2-24-34 "Mandalay" and "Easy to Love" 4,500
Paramount	3,050	20c-30c	"No More Women" (Para.)	5,000	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) (6 days)	5,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms" 9,500 Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run) 4,000

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

FIGHTING CODE: Buck Jones—This picture holds the box-office record for 10 and 15-cent nights. Nothing more needs be said. Running time, seven reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

FOG: Mary Brian, Donald Cook—A good mystery picture, but too dark. Photography very poor. Played Feb. 13-14-15.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. Small town patronage.

FORBIDDEN TRAIL: Buck Jones—Average western which seems to please the majority of my western patrons.—J. C. Darst, Dante, Dante, Va. General patronage.

FURY OF THE JUNGLE: Donald Cook and Peggy Shannon—Good program picture laid in jungle country. Excellent picture for Friday and Saturday. Pleased 100 per cent.—L. J. Bennet, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—Plenty good. Played Feb. 12-13.—W. L. Landers, Landers Theatre, Batesville, Ark. Small town patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—Liberty certainly used their head when they gave this picture four stars, for it certainly deserved it. It is one of the sweetest pictures that I have ever shown. It has everything, mass appeal. Cast excellent and dialogue very good. If Columbia continues like this she will soon be at the top. Running time, 102 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante Va. General patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern—Just fair. There will be no comments of importance on this. Ann Sothern overacts terribly, causing an audience reaction. Don't expect much in this one. Running time, seven reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young—Ran this on a very rainy and cold Sunday and Monday and lost money on this one. I paid just about twice what it was worth. The few people that did come out to see this were not pleased. I personally could not find anything out of the ordinary in it. Nothing but a plain program picture. Played Feb. 25-26.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairland Theatre, White Castle, Louisiana. Small town patronage.

NINTH GUEST, THE: Donald Cook—This outgrossed "Invisible Man" and we played it on 10-15c nights, too. A nice "dressed up" mystery play with a little different twist than the usual run of mystery plays. Running time, eight reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Fay Wray, Walter Connolly—This is rather a hard picture to report on. Some liked it, some said poor. Personally I thought it a very good picture. Excellent photography. Played Feb. 4-5.—Claud Thorp, Gen Theatre, Ryan, Okla. Small town patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—A good picture, but Columbia will do better by keeping Buck Jones in westerns. No drawing power. People want to see western actors in western plays. Played Feb. 9-10.—Claud Thorp, Gen Theatre, Ryan, Okla. Small town patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—A real "Thrill Hunter" for my western fans. Digressed quite a bit from typical westerns. Buck appears pretty timid in this picture, and while there were thrills and a few bandits, there were no stage coach robberies nor wild Apaches. As something different should hold interest. Running time, 58 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Pat O'Brien—A swell picture. Plenty of laughs. Good entertainment all the way, but I think the title kept people away.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Bette Davis, Lewis Stone—Something new and different in pictures. Keeps moving fast from start to finish, while it is quite episodic. As the story demands, it is tied with romance that holds together nicely. It combines comedy with thrills and surprises. Business above average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell—A very nice comedy laid in Atlantic City. Played to best business since last Easter (Sunday). Played Jan. 28.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

FEMALE: Ruth Chatterton, George Brent—A very interesting picture. Gave splendid satisfaction. Story great and Chatterton can act. All say the best she has made to date. Played Feb. 20.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell—Nice picture with no advance. No business first day, but the word of mouth advertising turned out a nice gross on the second day. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Lyle Talbot—This is a wow of a comedy picture. Very funny. Pleased them all. A great cast of good actors.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—Undoubtedly one of the snappiest, fastest, up-to-the-minute pictures produced lately. Although we played this rather late, I would advise any one to play it who hasn't done so. Every line of dialogue carries a swell wisecrack. Every word in this picture was as plain as if the players were there in person. Edward G. Robinson is great as well as the rest of the cast. Warners certainly can make the pictures. Running time, 74 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Hurrah for Joe! Think this is the best Joe Brown yet, Plenty of comedy situations and are taken care of admirably by the sailor himself.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—This is one wonderful picture. A great story and well acted and directed. Should be played in schools and churches. A lesson the youngsters need and the old ones will like it. Played Feb. 16.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Fox

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Garet—Very pleasing picture. A few did not care for it, but we had more people come to us to tell us what a good picture it was than on any picture in a long time. Herbert Mundin very good as the comedian. Personally, thought Janet Gaynor exceptionally good in this one.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

AS HUSBANDS GO: Warner Baxter—Just a fair program picture. No comments either way. Baxter has made much better. Played Jan. 20-21.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon, Buddy Rogers—One of the most entertaining and pleasing pictures we have played in a long time. In fact, we can say it is the best picture we have played from Fox the past year. Frank Morgan contributes much to this one. It is one of those pictures that for some reason or other goes over better with the patrons than most so-called specials. If you have not played it, we believe you are making a mistake in not doing so if you can still get a good print.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

CAROLINA: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore—Don't be afraid of this one. It's by far the best picture that Fox has released under present contract. Every one pleased with it and drew some extra business in the face of the worst blizzard of the year. Barrymore and Stephin Fetchit almost steal the show. Running time, nine reels. Played Feb. 18-19.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE: Warner Oland, Heather Angel—Satisfactory. We played it Christmas week, and it drew the smallest business of the year. It is nothing to rave about, but it is not a poor picture.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

DOCTOR BULL: Will Rogers—A very good picture with Will Rogers in a different role. It pleased about 90 per cent. According to this picture, I can't see that he is slipping as some exhibitors think. Running time, 77 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

FRONTIER MARSHAL: George O'Brien—This is not just a western. It's much more and what a cast they have put into it. Step on this one and you'll please all classes of people that like western dramas. This O'Brien is gaining in popularity.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: Sally Eilers and James Dunn—Very good. Young and old alike were pleased. If you have not played it, pick it up. Well balanced with comedy, action and drama. Frank McHugh certainly adds much to this one. That boy is good.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow, Richard Cromwell—This will be about all for Clara, and Cromwell was decidedly Ham in this one. The audience did not go for her and hence business was down. As an emotional actress she is a washout. Why they waste good film with trying to bring back Clara Bow is beyond me. I know of a dozen girls that we see in small supporting parts that have it all over Bow.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

I AM SUZANNE: Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond—Interesting picture played to a nice Sunday-Monday business. However, there is too much marionettes and not enough Harvey. Do not think it rates with "My Weakness." Running time, 85 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

ORIENT EXPRESS: Norman Foster—This is a fairly good picture, but won't draw a dime's worth of business in any man's theatre. With exception of Foster, every mother's son are foreigners and the great American jubilee absolutely refuse to pay their good money to see them. Wonder what has become of all the American actors. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 27-28.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—The usual Gaynor picture. It seems as if all Warner Baxter does in this one is to add attraction for the women. I don't know of but one picture that he really did act in. That was "Forty-Second Street." In that he was a different Baxter altogether. Running time, 76 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—If you can get them in, your patrons will like it. It has a good story and it is well told. Rather a new way in telling it and apparently a way that will have to be soaked into the public before they will accept it.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

SMOKE LIGHTNING: George O'Brien—Very good western. Fair business. Played Jan. 26-27.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory—Billed as "The best horse story yet"—and as such, is very good. Main difficulty is getting public to believe it is not "just another western."—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

Majestic

CHEATING BLONDES: Thelma Todd—Well, this picture was terrible. Played it on a double bill and got out alive, but it is too bad we have to show this kind of picture. I could not find one redeeming feature in it. I wonder just how green they think we are out in the sticks.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

M-G-M

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Would make an excellent three-reel comedy. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

DANCING LADY: Joan Crawford, Clark Gable—Will please them all. Well made and not a slow moment, which is characteristic of many MGM films. That gal Crawford is an actress. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Feb. 18-19-20.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

FUGITIVE LOVERS: Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans—Good entertainment. Not big, but pleasing. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

GOING HOLLYWOOD: Marion Davies, Bing Crosby—A dandy picture and 100 per cent entertainment. Running time, 79 minutes. Played Feb. 18-20.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—A good picture that did not draw. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—As silly as they can make them, but it brought out a record breaking kid attendance and adults were also above average. Ran this with a double, "The College Coach," but I give "Meet the Baron" credit for the largest share of the attendance as we have had good football pictures before with average results.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Walter Houston—A mighty good picture, but did not draw after the first show. Took an awful flop at the box-office. I can't explain it. I call it one of the most entertaining pictures we have played. But prize fighting has no drawing in this town and that is all I can lay it to. Played Feb. 18.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Walter Huston—A real picture that will please every one, even the ladies if you can get them in on it. Business poor due to the coldest weather in years. Played Feb. 26-27.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore, Conway Tearle—A high-class sophisticated drama for midweek showing. This is more for the women than for the men. Clever dialogue and situations. Conway Tearle does fine work in this. Alice Brady has a swell part and I might add that Lionel Barrymore is at his best. Business a good average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady—Fair. Brady has no draw. People do not seem to care for her. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

Monogram

RANGERS' CODE: Bob Steele—A good fair western. Lots of riding, fighting, and the Nero gets the Girl, and there you are.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SIXTEEN FATHOMS DEEP: Sally O'Neil, Creighton Chaney—Much better than expected. Recording good. Good for a Saturday spot. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry, Edna May Oliver, Jack Oakie, Gary Cooper—Here is a good picture for the children. The adults will not like it and if you are a wise exhibitor you will run this one for a kiddie matinee. We played this on our bargain day and pleased all of the kids, but the adults all kicked on it, even though it was bargain day. Too bad Paramount should waste so much money and so many stars on such a picture as this. Business good. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 23.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—Am sorry to report contrary to opinions of many other exhibitors. Sell this picture. Run a teaser trailer three weeks in advance of screening. Educate the public as to who are behind those masks. The picture is really wonderful. I believe that there have been too many non-encouraging reports and the exhibitor has passed up a wonderful opportunity to cash in. The first picture I have ever run an extra day, and the first I have single featured in nine months. My third day (final) was greater than average, and total gross was the biggest I have ever had on any picture. Educate the masses, and sell it. There's money in "Alice." Running time, 75 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry, Jack Oakie, Gary Cooper—Poor. Neither fish nor fowl. Does not make a hit with either children or adults. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 1-2.—M. W. Mattechek, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

BOLERO: George Raft—Get set, gang. A new Valentino is born. He's been born for some time, but this is his first real opportunity to snow it. If this picture don't set George Raft as a real star with the public, nothing will. I expected much from all the advance ballyhoo. Believe me, I was not disappointed and patrons acclaimed it in great numbers. Carole Lombard is great (except one scene where she tried to go La Hepburn with her hair, and why?) Frances Drake very, very good, and Sally Rand does nicely in an inoffensive way. Wesley Ruggles handled direction superb. Congrats, Paramount; you've given us a picture in "Bolero." Running time, 83 minutes. Played Feb. 25.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothea Wieck—One of the sweetest pictures I have ever seen. Pleased every one that saw it. Don't pass this one up. It will draw anywhere. Played Feb. 22.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, La. Small town patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Gary Cooper, Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins—Failed to hear one good comment on it. Flopped at the box office and the few that saw it failed to appreciate it. Maybe it's good. I don't know. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Feb. 18-19.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Personally, thought it very fine. Lots of remarks that did not fit in with my judgment, though.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT: Douglas Montgomery, Dorothy Wilson—Screened this, but did not play it. We may be a little old-fashioned, but we still like to show pictures that our young people can see without being embarrassed. When they must take a young girl in trouble to make a play of we say material must be running short.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM: Charles Farrell, Marguerite Churchill, Charles Ruggles—This one offers only fair entertainment. It is a light romantic comedy localed in Paris. Plenty of comedy. However, our patrons did not like it. It is just another program picture and is suitable for the whole family. Paramount pictures are on the downslide. Played one day to only a fair business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 21.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Chester Morris—Some good bits in this, but the crop reduction propaganda didn't get any applause from my farmers. Played Feb. 2-3.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

HELL AND HIGH WATER: Richard Arlen, Judith Allen—A nice little picture. Some laughs and action and a pretty good story all around.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Lillian Gish—Isn't it funny how good a producing company can make some pictures and how utterly poor others are made by the same company? This is one of the poor ones. Lillian Gish about the only American in it and what a terrible comeback for her. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 20-21.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—Good business. Some like her and some don't, but they seem to come, anyway. Played Feb. 25-26.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—Did better business than any feature I've had from Paramount in weeks. Seems to me Paramount has slipped in the last two months. Played Feb. 16-17.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

LAST ROUND-UP, THE: Randolph Scott—While this is just another Zane Grey picture don't make a mistake and just play it on Saturday. Because of the title and the popularity of the song, it has a great draw. I believe it will stand two days in any medium or small sized town. However, in your advertising tie up with the song by including "Git Along Little Doggie, Git Along." Played Feb. 4.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN: Dorothea Wieck—Good for picture of its kind. Not the best of entertainment. Propaganda against kidnaping. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Feb. 16-17.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

MYSTERIOUS RIDER, THE: Kent Taylor—We picked up this old one to fill in a date It is fair entertainment. I read Zane Grey's "Mysterious Rider" a few years ago. My memory may be poor, but I did not recognize the story in this picture.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

NO MORE WOMEN: Edmund Lowe, Sally Blane, Victor McLaglen—No story, no direction, no business. This is one of the worst pictures we have ever had from Paramount and we have had some pretty bad ones this year. Would advise you to cancel this one as your Lowe and McLaglen fans will be badly disappointed.—Fred M. Elkin, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Haley, Jack Oakie—Another good musical which somehow did not draw as expected. A satisfactory show for any spot. Played Feb. 6-7.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, W. C. Fields, George Burns, Gracie Allen—Nice picture, but no knockout. Good clean entertainment. All performers fine except Fields. He chalked his cue too long. Will satisfy all classes. Played Feb. 18.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

TAKE A CHANCE: James Dunn, Cliff Edwards—Poor excuse for musical. Good comedy. Good numbers poorly presented. No business. Running time, 82 minutes. Played Feb. 22-23.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—An amusing farce to slim business, cold weather. Played Feb. 11-12.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott—A well made western. Killed them all off, but the cameraman. Fair business on Friday and Saturday—that is, fair for these days. Saturday hasn't meant anything here for the last five years. Played March 2-3.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—This is a very pleasing comedy drama, but cold weather killed my business. Played Jan. 28-29.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix—A mighty fine picture. Gave good satisfaction. Played Feb. 22.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix—Failed to draw on Friday and Saturday. A very good air picture but not enough action for our Saturday fans. They want westerns here. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 23-24.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE: Frank Buck—This is an excellent picture of its kind, but I took a terrible beating on it, partly owing to cold weather. Played Jan. 30-31.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CROSSFIRE: Tom Keene—And still another good western picture from RKO. This has plenty of action, thrills and fighting. It is a good story and should please all western fans. In addition to the regular western story, this one has a wrestling match with Edgar Kennedy as the winner. Kennedy also supplies many laughs and adds considerably to the entertainment. Played one day to good business. Running time, 55 minutes. Played Feb. 24.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: William Powell, Ann Harding—Good picture, bad weather, business just so-so. Played Feb. 4-5.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

EMERGENCY CALL: Bill Boyd, Wynne Gibson—This seemed to please very well, although it is nothing more than a fair program picture, no more, no less. The operating sequence was by far the outstanding part in the whole picture. Below average business. Running time, 60 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

FLYING DEVILS: Bruce Cabot, Ralph Bellamy, Arline Judge—It'll do. Played Feb. 23-24.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Raul Roulien—A wonderful picture. A lot of new features in this one. Splendid music and dancing. You will have to see it to appreciate the bigness of it. But there have been so many big musical pictures in the past few months, they have lost their drawing power here. This is one of the best we have played. Played Feb. 25.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

for Owners and Managers

Motion Picture Theatre Accounting

Tells all the facts about your business each week — receipts, film costs, advertising, depreciation, taxes, insurance, etc.

Lasts a full year and you do not need to be a bookkeeper to use it.

A complete, concise aid to profits at the cost of a blank book.

Can be started at any time.

$3.00 QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY
NEW YORK, N. Y.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—Just the thing for a bilious box-office. Do a little extra advertising and watch results. A musical unusual and pleases 'em. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5-6.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Ginger Rogers—A good musical but not outstanding. Music not catchy. Will get a little extra business. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12-13.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

IF I WERE FREE: Irene Dunne, Nils Asther, Clive Brook—Dodge this one if you can. Too draggy. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Feb. 1.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

IF I WERE FREE: Irene Dunne, Clive Brook—Very slow in action and so-so in entertainment. One a year like this one is enough. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Feb. 21-22.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

IF I WERE FREE: Irene Dunne—Another well acted "triangle" which failed to draw. Well staged and directed. Played Jan. 21-22.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—Extra good show with wonderful drawing power, more, I believe, because of the book than because of anything so superhuman in the picture itself. We have shown many a picture just as good or better, but absolutely none with such drawing power. Running time, 107 minutes. Played Feb. 21-22-23.—E. E. Warner, Opera House, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Phil Harris, Charles Ruggles—A sprightly comedy that seemed to please. Played Jan. 21-22.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Superb art but not much box-office. Played Feb. 18-19.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—Not as good as "King Kong" but good at that. The last reel will make their eyes hang out. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

SWEEPINGS: Lionel Barrymore—A very fine picture. Great acting and fine story but did not draw film rental. Satisfied all that seen it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

TWO ALONE: Jean Parker, Tom Brown—A slow moving story without much punch. This baby proposition on the screen is becoming obnoxious and think it time producers called a halt. No business. Played Feb. 23-24.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

United Artists

BITTER SWEET: Anna Neagle, Fernand Graavey—Another foreign-made picture that should be paid for and shelved. Not one good comment and many walkouts. Just a waste of film. Why do producers insist upon importing pictures from England when they are so inferior to our own productions? Played Feb. 28-March 1.—L. J. Bennet, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

BLOOD MONEY: George Bancroft, Frances Dee—Production casted with all the old land marks of Hollywood. In the words of Al Jolson you may describe the picture very easily, "You ain't seen nothin' yet." Running time too long and should have never been released.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. General patronage.

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, George Raft, Jackie Cooper—Very good picture. It's the old Bowery days with cast, costumes, settings, direction, etc., perfect. While but few people way out here in the West have ever seen the old Bowery days, still the story, the songs, etc., appealed to them and even the children liked it. I have been on the Bowery way back in 1906 and 1908, and personally I enjoyed this picture immensely. I did not quite break even. If you can buy this picture right my advice is to run it, as it is really good and will please.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

YES, MR. BROWN: Jack Buchanan—One awful flop. It's a shame to flaunt pictures like this in the face of the paying public. Just a mess.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

Universal

BELOVED: John Boles, Gloria Stuart—A truly beautiful picture but why are there so few people left that appreciate something worth while like this? Boles and Stuart at their best and can Boles sing. Running time, 82 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—O. K. Pleases those who like to follow the story closely and keep their minds working. No comedy relief, so see that you have plenty of good comedy in your shorts.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—A fairly good mystery drama which seemed to please. Played Feb. 16-17.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

BY CANDLELIGHT: Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas—A very light comedy drama that seemed to give good satisfaction. Running time, seven reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, June Knight—This seemed to please, from the comments. It has some hot lines and situations. Played Feb. 27-28.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

DON'T BET ON LOVE: Lew Ayres, Ginger Rogers—Good picture. Ginger Rogers is certainly miscast in this. She can't play that kind of a part. Marian Nixon would have fit this role perfectly but who are we to offer suggestions or to criticize in this way.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard — A very good western. Lots of action. A regular Saturday nighter.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Not as good as some other pictures we have had from these stars but pleased our family night patronage. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 21-22.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Raines—A very unusual picture, but a big flop at the box-office, even with much extra advertising. My people don't go very strong for this type of picture. Running time, seven reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Raines, Gloria Stuart—Slightly disappointed as business and picture were just average. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris—This is a very excellent program. Splendid acting by all characters. Ends sad. You can bank on this one as being above the average program picture. Running time, eight reels. Played Jan. 30-31. C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris—Well made, but rather depressing. Played Jan. 19-20.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris, Helen Twelvetrees—Good. Lots of comedy and pep all the way through. However, the ending did not please. Most of those who commented on the picture told us so, but could offer no suggestion as to how they would have ended it. The hero generally manages to find some way out before the end of the picture, so it took the patrons "off their feet" when he failed to do so in this one. The last two reels powerfully dramatic. Tears were in evidence everywhere, men and women alike. Acting in this one very good.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: Paul Whiteman and Band, Bing Crosby, Sisters G, John Boles—A wonderful production. It is hard to figure out why it really is so good and pleases so well. There is positively no sign of a story or plot. Just singing, dancing, good music and wonderful color. Don't pass this one up. It is hard to believe that a picture produced in the early days of talking pictures can come back this way, but the evidence is there. M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Fairly good comedy but really not good enough to stand up as the feature on the program. Should be on a double bill or have plenty of good shorts with it. Not outright smutty, but suggestive in places. However, Slim can get away with it without offending.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

MADAME SPY: Fay Wray and Nils Asther—Very good picture. However, it is heavy enough and has to be followed closely to keep up with it. We had plenty of good comments on it. Asther and Wray both excellent. Use plenty of good shorts with it (comedy and musical) and you'll give your patrons satisfaction.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—This is a little old, but if you play them on your bargain nites you'll get by and make some money. This pulled them in and pleased. Running time, nine reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

MYRT AND MARGE: Myrtle Dale, Donna Damerell—Only pleased about 50%. The print I had was very poorly recorded. Ted Healy very good, but the radio stars were not so hot on the screen. Build this one up with good shorts because it has poor drawing power otherwise. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque—A wonderful picture of its kind. Some of the reels very short as it was a nine-reel picture. Did not do any extra business as it was too cold to see a picture of this kind when I played it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 16-17.—W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard—Good western. Fair business considering the cold weather. Played Feb. 20-21.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Warner

EVER IN MY HEART: Barbara Stanwyck—Very sad but also entertaining. Ladies seemed to go for it. Too many deaths. First the boy, then the dog, and to top it off the parents knock themselves off at the finish. Poor title.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

FOOTLIGHT PARADE: James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler—All this picture lacks being a perfect picture is this: Should just have added Ned Sparks and Myrna Loy instead of two that were not so hot. Figure this out yourself. And if the water scene had been in color what a picture it would have been. Songs hot, acting good, in fact the best musical I have had the pleasure of running. Played Feb. 26-27.—W. L. Landers, Landers Theatre, Batesville, Ark. Small town patronage.

HAUNTED GOLD: John Wayne—A good western. Played Jan. 16-17.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

MAN FROM MONTERY, THE: John Wayne—All John Wayne features have plenty of action and always a good story. A good western for the western fans. Running time, 57 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL, THE: James Cagney—Excellent picture. Cagney fits this perfectly and we have never liked Cagney before in those that we have seen him in. He stood out "like a million dollars" in this. We played this rather late but are glad we picked it up.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE 62: William Powell—An interesting drama with Powell doing his usual good work. Played Jan. 23-24.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

World Wide

TRAILING THE KILLER: Francis McDonald. Caesar, the wolf dog—A great animal picture well made and where they like animal pictures, this will check up with any of them. Played on a double bill with a western and pleased a Saturday crowd, and they liked it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

LOVE IN TENTS: Smith and Dale—This is just another comedy. Entirely too silly to be good and a poor story. We had many patrons come out and kick on this one. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Educational

ENCHANTED TRAIL: Romantic Journeys—A travel-tour through the Grand Canyon. Entirely in color and received many comments. Beautiful scenery and excellent photography. Running time, one reel.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

NIGHT DUTY: Harry Langdon—A very funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

M-G-M

BEDTIME WORRIES: Our Gang—This is a dandy. Entertainment in every foot. Spanky is dandy. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

BEER AND PRETZELS: Musical Revues—Just an effort gone wrong. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

BUSY BODIES: Laurel and Hardy—One of the funniest comedies we ever played.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

CHINAMAN'S CHANCE, A: Flip the Frog—A very good cartoon comedy, featuring Flip as the police. Plenty of laughs and is sure to please everyone. We would like to have more like this one. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

FINE FEATHERS: Oddities—A dandy single reel in color. Very entertaining. Running time, 9 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

MIDSUMMER MUSH: Charley Chase—A good funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

OLIVER THE EIGHTH: Laurel and Hardy—Great. It's a real pleasure to run comedies that make your patrons laugh. This is one of the best comedies of the new series.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

Paramount

BETTY BOOP'S KERCHOO: Talkatoons—This was an exceptionally good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

BLOW ME DOWN: Popeye the Sailor—I like to use cartoons as much as possible and believe Popeye to be one of the best on the market. Running time, 7 minues.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HUSBAND'S REUNION: Walter Catlett—Funny comedy. Lots of old-fashioned laughs. Running time, two reels.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

PLEASE: Bing Crosby—I wish that they would get some new ideas for Bing. Always he is the amateur that comes on the scene and turns out to be the radio singer Bing Crosby. They seem to be cut over the same pattern. We have had three that did not vary in theme. They assume that no one knows who he is except the audience and they know Bing's plot by heart. They have seen the same thing so often. He has a certain following that any of them will please. But not much originality is shown. —A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

RADIO ROUNDUP, A: Headliners—Here is one mighty sweet short. It will make a hit on any program. Spot it on a preferred date.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

SAILORS, BEWARE: Walter Catlett, Eugene Pallette—Funny in spots.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SHE WRONGED HIM RIGHT: Betty Boop Cartoon—Paramount's cartoons are good but their two-reelers are terrible. Running time, 8 minutes. —Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SOCK-A-BYE, BABY: Popeye the Sailor—An amusing cartoon.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

RKO

AIR TONIC: Headliner Series—Good musical short that will prove an asset to any program. Running time, 21 minutes.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

ART IN THE RAW: Edgar Kennedy—It seemed to get by.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CALIFORNIA WEATHER: Ruth Etting—Fine two-reeler.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

DRUGGIST'S DILEMMA, THE: Clark and McCullough—Just so-so.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

IN THE DEVIL DOG HOUSE: Clark & McCullough—Give these boys a story and they will deliver. RKO is killing them. This comedy is poor. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

KNEE DEEP IN MUSIC: Ruth Etting—Fine two-reeler—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MOONSHINER'S DAUGHTER: Masquers Comedies—Fairly good burlesque on the old we-uns and you-uns mountaineer drammy.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SNUG IN A JUG: Clark & McCullough—These two comedians are getting as seedy as a field of alfalfa. Not a laugh in a baleful. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

SNUG IN A JUG: Clark & McCullough—This team has never made anything funny yet. Just as well left unrun. Running time, 19 minutes.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

NEW CONTRIBUTORS FROM FOUR STATES

Four exhibitors joining the corps of reporters to "What the Picture Did for Me" this week hail from as many different states. They are:

James R. Partlow, Ohio theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio; A. J. Simmons, Plaza theatre, Lamar, Missouri; M. C. Howe, Erskine theatre, Erskine, Minnesota, and W. L. Landers, Landers theatre, Batesville, Arkansas.

United Artists

NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS, THE: Silly Symphonies—Good cartoon in beautiful colors. Not to be compared with "Lullaby Land" or "Three Little Pigs." I notice a number of other color cartoons appearing on the market. This is probably due to the selling policy of U. A. on these Disney subjects. They have the price so high now that it means a loss to most exhibitors to run them. I tried to buy "Three Little Pigs" second run and U. A. said they had positive instructions to charge double the price of first run. This policy will kill Disney, and if he continues treating exhibitors like this he will see that other cartoons will replace Mickey and Silly. Did you ever hear of such nerve of asking double first run price for second run. Try to buy "Three Little Pigs" and see if I am right. If this is Disney's policy he should be rebuked, and if it is U. A. that is doing it then Disney should place his product with some one who will be fair. Goodbye Disney, Mickey and Silly. At one time you were a great favorite.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Idaho. Town and rural patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHIP: Silly Symphonies—Great, fine, wonderful, splendid. Running time, nine minutes. —A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

WHOOPIE PARTY: Mickey Mouse—Another good Mickey Mouse. Running time, one reel.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

Universal

BEAU BEST: Oswald Cartoon—Oswald the Lucky Rabbit is always good. At least, those we have played so far have been. The adults get a "kick" from them and the children just "eat them up." Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

BOSWELL SISTERS, THE: Radio Star Reels—Another excellent short subject. The Boswell Sisters do not sing but a few numbers which rather disappointed my patrons. Running time, 21 minutes. —W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

CONFIDENCE: Oswald Cartoons—Not a comedy, but propaganda on the subject of supporting the national administration.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

HIS FIRST CASE: Vince Barnett—Pretty good. —Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

HUNTING TROUBLE: Louise Fazenda—Hilarious comedy but gets by as one of the shorts on a program. Running time, two reels.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

KING KLUNK: Pooch Cartoons—Clever burlesque on "King Kong."—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

MEETING MAZIE: Sterling Holloway—A good comedy. This guy is certainly funny—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MERRY OLD SOUL: Oswald Cartoons—One of the best cartoons I have shown for some time. Play it on your best nights and you won't go wrong. Running time, 8 minutes.—W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

MY PAL THE PRINCE: Morton Downey—Not very good. Would have been better if they had not cut in on the singing so much with flash backs. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

SHE DONE HIM RIGHT: Pooch Cartoons—One of the best cartoons we have ever had. A burlesque on Mae West and Cab Calloway orchestra. Runninng time, one reel.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS: (No. 35). These shorts are great. They are very interesting and please everyone. I believe this is the best one I have ever seen.—Hilliard J. Dubreuil, Fairyland Theatre, White Castle, Louisiana. Small town patronage.

WORLD'S GREATEST THRILLS: Graham McNamee—An excellent short subject made up of what the title implies, the world's greatest thrills. Good short for a weak feature. Running time, 19 minutes.—W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BOSKO'S PICTURE SHOW: Looney Tune—Wherein Warners get in a "Rabbit punch" at Metro by burlesquing their various stars, lions, etc. Good. Running time, one reel.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

BORRAH MINNEVITCH AND HIS HARMONICA RASCALS: Melody Masters—One of the best shorts in a long time.—W. L. Landers, Landers Theatre, Batesville, Ark. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY MELODIES: Broadway Brevities—We have played nearly all of the Vitaphone musicals and no need to comment on any individual one. They are all good and among the best on the market. Running time, two reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

BUDDY'S SHOW BOAT: Looney Tunes—This is a very good cartoon comedy. This series of shorts has always been good, and since the improvement, they are much better. Come on, Vitaphone, show the other producers what good shorts will do for them. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DISH RAN AWAY WITH THE SPOON, THE: Merry Melodies—Merry Melodies are always a good addition to a program. Even if they were not so good, they are so short that it would not matter much.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

GOBS OF FUN: George Givot—Rather weak for a comedy but got a few little giggles. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

HERE PRINCE: Joe Penner—Very old comedy. Penner is well-liked by our patrons. His laugh, like the laugh of Frank McHugh, never fails to get a big hand from the audience. Running time, two reels.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

HERE PRINCE: Joe Penner—Joe Penner in a hilarious burlesque of royal life. Drew more trade than the feature picture. Advertise it heavy. Running time, two reels.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

HIGH SPOTS OF THE FAR EAST: World Adventures—If your are using three or four shorts on your program, this kind of a subject makes for very good balance. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

HOW'S TRICKS: Melody Masters—Good. Music and a lot of acrobatic stunts. It will please. Running time, four reels.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

RUNAROUND, THE: William Demarest—About average in a two-reel comedy. Not bad, not exceptionally good. Running time, two reels.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melodies —Good. In fact, almost all the Merry Melodies are very good. They add pep to any program. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

'TIS SPRING: Broadway Brevity—One of Warner's best color Brevities. You cannot go wrong with Warner shorts this year. Running time, 20 minutes.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

TOP OF THE WORLD: World Adventures—Scenes from Norway, Denmark and Iceland. Interesting and especially so in a Scandinavian community. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

YEAST IS YEAST: Broadway Brevities—Just fair. Below par for a Broadway Brevity. Running time, 20 minutes.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Serials

THREE MUSKETEERS, THE: John Wayne, Ruth Hall—One of the best we have played in a long, long time. Good sound and well directed. Have played three chapters and it is still building up.—Fred M. Elkins, Carolina Theatre, Lexington, N. C. General patronage.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

ASSURED RECOGNITION

No finer compliment can be paid the Quigley project than the fact that the winner of the February trophy was chosen only after an extra judging session, and that the entries received for the second month doubled the number forwarded for January consideration.

The final votes of the judges found Howard G. Sweet, of East Lansing, Michigan, chosen by the slimmest of margins for a distinctly meritorious job in his town of some four odd thousand population. But as good as was his campaign, he finished only a step ahead of Gene Curtis and Ken Finlay of Montreal, January First Mention winners, and Bert Albright, of Cortland, N. Y., a newcomer in the chase for honors.

To Sweet therefore the honors, gained in the toughest competition yet faced by Award entrants. Let him take his place at the head of the table with the knowledge that he was mighty fortunate in outfooting so speedy a field of showmen.

That this number was so large and representative is further proof that the Quigley Awards are already established as the most certain way for managers to win universal recognition for their efforts.

▽ ▽ ▽

"BOX OFFICE NATURALS"?

We hear from Alden Brinham, of Massillon, Ohio, who protests against Round Table procedure as follows:

"I have noticed that only ideas and stunts are published on box office naturals or big star productions. Why aren't ideas given on other pictures? Anyone can do business on big ones."

As we have before stated, one of the main functions of the Club is to act as a medium for contributions forwarded by members and these we for the most part publish without comment to the evident satisfaction of the membership as a whole.

The fact that we receive so many campaigns on what Alden terms "naturals" indicates that showmen are not sitting back expecting their pictures to go over unaided And further, the ingenuity and hard work displayed in these campaigns challenges the statement that "anyone can do business on big ones."

Frankly, we do not go for that "natural" thing. No sir, not in these days. With things as they are, plenty of savvy and perspiration is needed to get them in no matter how strong the show may be. The pushover days are gone, and every ounce of showmanship must be exhausted to keep the ship afloat.

The Round Table makes no publication distinction between big and lesser pictures, for we are more interested in how the picture was put over rather than its strength or cast quality.

FREE SPEECH

In almost every issue, we endeavor to run at least one article written by a Round Tabler on some phase of theatre operation of interest and benefit to the membership. Recognizing the principle of free speech, these contributions are printed "as is." Rarely is copy censored, and edited only to conform to our space limitations. Reactions of readers to these opinions obviously are expected, welcomed and published, for only in this manner can theatre issues important to the manager be weighed effectively.

Don Andorfer has written a series of three articles on poster art, the last of which appears on a following page. But it seems that his findings have not been accepted unanimously, for Round Tabler Hal Kopplin, ad chief of the Florida Wometco Theatres, has taken us to task, albeit kindly, for some of the statements Don makes in the March third issue.

In line with our policies, an immediate invitation to Hal to present his views has been accepted and they will appear in next week's Club section. To these opinions, Andorfer may desire to take exception and space is already reserved for his rebuttal. Then possibly other Round Tablers will feel the urge for expression and if so we look forward with pleasure to a continued barrage of further comment that should do much to aid theatremen desiring more expert advice on this important subject.

Thus, free speech is encouraged in the Club columns, for the unfettered utterances of showmen in every part of the world lead the way to better and more profitable theatre procedure.

▽ ▽ ▽

ON GETTING AHEAD

On more than one occasion, we have had the pleasure of utilizing the above head editorially in referring to the opportunities for advancement in the theatre. And though the restrictions of operations nationally have limited promotions, showmen are still being rewarded with more important executive posts. Among the most recently reported are Jesse L. Clark and Vernon D. Hunter, Sparks' Florida Circuit; Ray Hendry, of the Marcus Circuit, Salt Like City, and Harry F. Carasak, of Loew's New York Theatres.

Significant and heartening is the fact that these Round Tablers have proven themselves in theatre operation, a thought to be digested by managers who have not yet arrived.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

He: "What are you playing today?"

She: "'Beauty For Sale' and 'I'm No Angel'."

Milton Rosenfeld
G. H. MERCER
GRIM THEATRE
KILGORE, TEXAS

Use Guild List For "Midnight" Premier

As Chester Erskin, the director of the picture, is closely connected with the world known Theatre Guild, a special arrangement was made to send letters to the 12,000 names on the Guild list to announce the world premiere of Universal's "Midnight" at the New York Roxy. This was the first time, it was announced, that the Guild directors had allowed this list to be used for any purposes outside of the organization's activities.

Following this and in advance of the premiere, a luncheon and special screening was held for the members of the cast, the leading newspaper picture and drama critics and other well known celebrities, many of these attending the midnight opening at the theatre.

Featured on this occasion was a broadcast over WOR from the rotunda of the Roxy, during which the leads in the picture were introduced by Bide Dudley, well known radio personality, acting as master of ceremonies. On the second day of the run, another broadcast was put on in the nature of an interview with the authors and director of the play.

An electric lobby display 40 feet high was the highlight of the advance lobby advertising, wherein the title was done in giant letters with each of the players photographed in a separate panel with a caption stressing the portrayal of the characters in the picture. In addition, the names of these artists were carried in heavily flittered cutout letters.

An intensive newspaper campaign was waged with copy emphasizing the great number of stars who appeared in the picture. Good publicity breaks were also secured, as many of the cast are currently featured in Broadway hit productions and this might be used in other spots, for example, on the current success of the lead, Henry Hull.

The campaign was conceived and executed by the Roxy Theatre publicity department, headed by Morris Kinzler in cooperation with Andy Sharick, Universal exploitation head, and his staff.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Doctor Call Cards

To build up his business from among local physicians, Manager Al Reynolds, Queen, Austin, Texas, puts out a small blank card, 2½ by 2 inches, headed "Doctor's Call Card" with spaces for the name, aisle, row, seat number and time physicians want to be called. These cards are mailed at regular intervals together with a nice build-up letter from Reynolds in which he emphasizes the theatre's conveniences and comforts. A good thought that should work in other spots.

Work for a Quigley Award!

DIFFERENT. Selling away from the costume angle, the Loew Theatres' ad crew created the above newspaper layout and copy for the New York date at the Capitol. This is a reduction of the half page ad.

Two Ace Campaigns Sell "David Harum"

Being located only a short distance from Homer, N. Y., the home town of David Hannum, the original "Harum" character, Manager Bert Albright, State, Cortland, N. Y., availed himself of this opportunity to put on a campaign that was unusual in a number of respects in advance of his "David Harum" date.

Well in advance, the picture was underlined in all ads and two weeks ahead 10 weekly country newspapers broke with front page stories and display ads, the copy recalling that the picture was based on happenings in that section familiar to many of the older residents.

Unusual was a 24-page special edition of the Homer Post in which the make-up and all advertisements were printed exactly as the paper appeared in the days described in the book. These editions were also distributed house to house in other sections as extra advertising.

Also of interest was a tieup with the clothing company in Cortland which had outfitted the original Harum in the early days. A prominent window was given over to the styles of that time and included historical articles, old maps and photos of the Harum haunts. The store further tied this in with a series of ads calling attention to the display.

An interesting advance lobby was made up of actual pictures of the Harum character, photos of locations mentioned in the book, old-time buggy and other curios. The original of another of the book's characters was also presented from the stage during the engagement and a picture showing him standing at the box office waiting for the first showing was carried by local papers.

Eckel, Syracuse, N. Y.

Syracuse also being in the Harum country, Manager Gus Lampe of the Eckel, capitalized on this situation in numerous ways. A display was planted in the main branch of the public library in which was included original manuscripts of the play and plaque of William Crane, who originated the role on the stage. A copy of the book's first edition, loaned by the author's daughter, was also shown and centered in the exhibit was a one-sheet blowup of Rogers in the Harum role.

A personal appearance of the surviving character described in Albright's campaign was also arranged for by Lampe. A tieup was made with a bakery situated in Homer wherein sample cookies in imprinted bags were distributed house to house by girls on the street, wearing sashes with theatre copy. All Syracuse bakeries handling this brand were tied in, this hookin also being a part of Albright's campaign in Cortland.

Invitations to the opening night were sent to President Roosevelt, Governor Lehman and the Mayor of Syracuse, their replies being blown up and exhibited in the lobby. Cooperation was also obtained from Rogers' radio sponsors whose trucks and filling stations carried announcements of the date.

Lampe worked with Albright in advance, these showmen covering every possibility that would help their box offices. The results speak for themselves, as nothing was neglected to make that entire section of the country Harum-conscious.

HOWARD G. SWEET SECOND QUIGLEY AWARD WINNER

State Theatre Manager, East Lansing, Mich., Lands February Trophy on "Christina"; Curtis and Finlay, Montreal and Albright, Cortland, N. Y., Receive First Mention

by A-MIKE VOGEL

Blow the trumpets for Round Tabler Howard Sweet of Michigan. For by a majority vote of the judges, the manager of the State Theatre, East Lansing, of the Butterfield Circuit, is declared the winner of the February Quigley Award for his entry on "Queen Christina." His picture and campaign will be run next week.

But while the trumpets are being blown, don't neglect a couple of strong blasts for Gene Curtis and Ken Finlay, manager and ad chief Palace Theatre, Montreal, for their swell job on "Carolina," these showmen earning the added distinction of winning First Mention for two consecutive months. And a hail for Bert Albright of the State Theatre, Cortland, N. Y., for his work on "David Harum."

To say that these boys finished just about neck and neck is not drawing too fine a finish. For so good were these entries that the judges had to go into extra session before they decided, by one vote, to bestow the honors upon Sweet. Following right behind were the 15 entries listed below for Honorable Mention, certificates to this effect having already been forwarded.

Very gratifying is the interest being displayed in the Quigley Awards by heads of circuits as well as managers, for entries on behalf of their theatremen were forwarded last month by quite a number of well known picture house executives, who by this cooperation indicate clearly they realize the worth of the Awards and are urging their managers to go after them. And judging from the number of entries received in February, which more than doubled those entered in the January competition, livewire showmen need little urging in seeking to capture the highest honors now made possible by the Motion Picture Herald.

▽

The following is again published for the information of those still unfamiliar with Award details:

A Quigley Monthly Award is being presented each month in 1934, for the theatre campaign selected by the judges as possessing the highest merit of all those submitted to the Managers' Round Table Club on pictures played during the month.

The Quigley Grand Award will be given for the campaign submitted during the entire year selected by the judges as possessing the highest merit. Campaigns may be forwarded after the last day of the month, but must be on pictures played during that month.

Every campaign MUST INCLUDE photos, tear sheets, heralds, etc., on all ideas used, without which entries will not be considered for the prizes. Every manager everywhere in the world is eligible for the awards on any product, domestic or foreign, and every campaign receives equal consideration.

▽

And now the pace grows still hotter for the March honors. From what they tell us, managers from other lands are readying campaigns to be forwarded for the third month Award.

This interest added to the enthusiasm of showmen on this side means a pip of a struggle for the March trophy. Campaigns are already coming in to the Committee, so come on you theatremen, for the Big Prize is open to all.

First Mention

GENE CURTIS, MANAGER
KEN FINLAY, EXPLOITEER
PALACE, MONTREAL, CANADA

▽

BERT ALBRIGHT, MANAGER
STATE, CORTLAND, N. Y.

AND HERE ARE THOSE SHOWMEN WHO WON THE HONORABLE MENTIONS

ELMER BRIENT, Manager
FRANCIS DEERING, Asst.
Loew's, Richmond, Va.

△

HARRY BROWN, JR., Pub. Dir.
Scollay, Boston, Mass.

△

HUBERT J. DALEY, Manager
Croswell, Adrian, Mich.

△

J. J. DEMPSEY, Manager
Paramount, Lynn, Mass.

△

CARLOS FRIAS, Manager
Plaza, El Paso, Texas

WALTER L. GOLDEN, Manager
Riverside, Jacksonville, Fla.

△

HAROLD JANECKY, Manager
Jamaica, Jamaica, N. Y.

△

JOHN J. MCMANUS, Manager
Midland, Kansas City, Mo.

△

FRED NAIFY, Manager
Senator, Chico, Cal.

△

FRED REETHS, Manager
Sheboygan, Sheboygan, Wis.

J. J. ROSENFIELD, Manager
Orpheum, Omaha, Neb.

△

EATON SIZER, Manager
Jeffris, Janesville, Wis.

△

S. S. SOLOMON, Manager
Court, Wheeling, W. Va.

△

JAMES TOTMAN, Manager
Warner, Erie, Pa.

△

GEORGE TYSON, Manager
Ambassador, St. Louis, Mo.

"Wild Cargo" Theatre Bulletin Comprises 130 Meaty Pages

To get a complete "Wild Cargo" campaign into the hands of all RKO theatre managers sufficiently in advance of the release date, Bob Sisk's theatre ad staff has turned out a very capable bulletin comprising 130 legal sized mimeographed pages containing about everything in reason to prepare the most elaborate advance on this attraction.

To be especially commended are a number of drawings of complete lobby fronts as they would appear at different RKO theatres; among those being illustrated are the Sioux City Orpheum, where Mickey Gross holds forth, the San Francisco Golden Gate, and also one for the New York engagement.

Also illustrated is a very effective float which is now being made ready for the New York date, constructed by Messmore & Damon, who are known for their animated animal figures. It is intended that after the New York engagement, this float will appear in other RKO cities.

Listed are a number of national tie-ups created by S. Barret McCormick and his Radio Pictures ad crew and numerous other hook-ins covering many angles. Display ads, publicity stories, serials, accessories and novelties are shown in abundance, and from this meaty bulletin the RKO showmen and others using it should find plenty of ideas.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Ace Lobby on Second Run Of "Missing Persons"

Undeterred by the fact that the Seattle premier of "Bureau of Missing Persons" had been put on with a big exploitation spread, the publicity department of the Roosevelt Theatre in that city worked out a real "traffic-stopper" lobby on the second run of the picture, as can be seen in the accompanying photo.

The front was embellished effectively with elaborate cutouts, stills and scare copy, and in the most prominent spot was placed a teletype machine promoted from the local phone company. Tieup copy was placed above the "tele" hooking in the machine to the picture, and carrying a courtesy line for the phone company.

Seattle's "Tele" Tieup

What attracted the most attention, of course, was the constant activity of the machine as it automatically typed messages transmitted by a telephone man stationed in a remote part of the building, many of the wires calling attention to the picture.

All of which indicates that there is plenty of profit to be derived from sock exploitation even when applied to a second run.

M-G-M's Travelling Studio

Traveling Studio Makes 640 Cities

Now in its thirteenth month on tour, M-G-M's exploitation motion picture traveling studio (see photo) has rolled up an impressive total of statistics and is reported to have been of much assistance to managers playing its product in the many towns where this unique ballyhoo has appeared judging by the comments of our members.

Since the start of the tour, in January, 1933, the studio-on-wheels has, at this writing, visited 640 cities and towns and was inspected by considerably over 2,000,000 people. Over 500 newspapers have accorded it stories and pictures and a total of over 86,000 square inches is said to have been secured in free space.

Aside from the public demonstrations of sound recording and projection, contests were conducted for new screen personalities in many key cities in cooperation with theatres playing M-G-M and newspapers in these situations. The screen and voice tests were put on at the theatres as stage attractions and with the page one newspaper publicity brought capacity business in many instances. An additional break was afforded the box office when the tests were screened at these theatres during the following week.

The studio follows the crowd, so to speak, taking part in the inaugural parade at Washington and was also present at a National Veterans' convention in Milwaukee last summer. Recent appearances were also made in the New Orleans' Mardi Gras parades, said to be the first time that a commercial vehicle was allowed to participate in this event.

The traveling unit operates under the supervision of Billy Ferguson, M-G-M exploitation chief, and is managed on the road by Eddie Carrier, assisted by Russ Stewart in advance. In addition, seven others are car ried. Plans have been made for the studio to cover the entire country, after which it is to be shipped overseas for a world tour. Incidentally the screen tests have already produced interesting results, as four girls have already been sent to the studios.

Work for a Quigley Award!

CONGRATS, LEW!

Lew Preston, former managing director of Academy of Music, New York, and who had so much to do with the success of our last New York Club "Get-Together" has just returned from a well earned rest in Florida and has joined up as general manager of the Nelson & Renner Circuit in Brooklyn, making his headquarters at the Endicott Theatre in that borough. We'll hear from him soon.

Citywide Coverage for Cullen's "Scandals" Date

Pittsburgh being quite a newspaper town, Manager Mike Cullen, of Loew's Penn, planted plenty of special feature stuff on "Roman Scandals" in the various newspapers, for in addition to the regular ads and publicity, one paper broke with a two column cut and story on Cantor the opening day, the drama critic on another sheet devoted one entire column to the star, while a third daily went for an extensive feature on the radio activities of Ruth Etting.

An alert tobacconist featured a special Cantor cigar in his various stores and further tied in with window displays and snipes, these last also being used in restaurants and other stores handling these cigars. The Chase & Sanborn angle was also utilized fully.

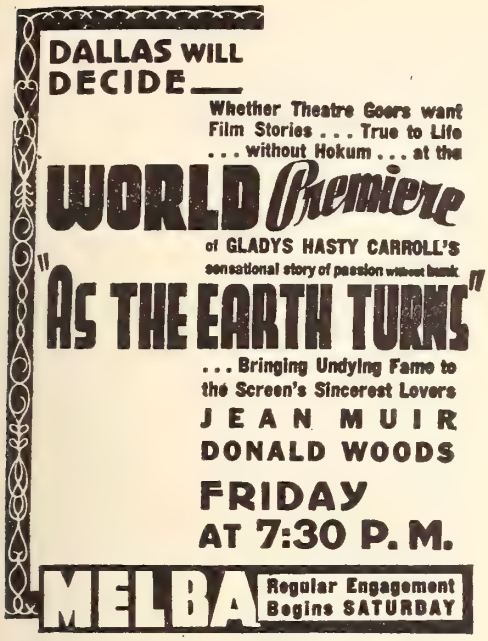
A baking company tieup allowed Cullen to place special heralds in all bread bundles and many book stores featured Cantor's recent book, entitled "Yoo Hoo Prosperity." The woman angle was not neglected, as other tieups were made with perfumes, clothes, etc., plugging Ruth Etting and Gloria Stuart, the female leads.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Senator Endorses "Mad Game" In Nowitsky's Campaign

Using the strong endorsement of a leading State Senator in his newspaper ads and lobby displays, Manager Al Nowitsky, State, Reading, Pa., tied this plug into his campaign on "The Mad Game," in which he circused a number of smart gags to sell the picture from the spectacular side.

Obtaining permission from one of the detective magazines to reprint pictures of criminals for whom rewards were offered, Al made up window cards with these photos, using the reward copy for a headline stopper and tying in the rest of the copy to the magazine and the picture.



A miniature four page tabloid, printed on pink paper, composed mainly of shots from the picture and screen heads also helped to attract notice and further comment was occasioned by a window display, the background of which was composed of newspaper accounts of recent kidnapings, the rest of the display being devoted to gun bullet-proof vests and other properties used in actual cases.

Nowitsky's Ace Lobby

Nowitsky's lobby (see photo) was another "sensationalizer," the strong senatorial endorsement above mentioned being prominently featured and the picture being given a further plug by an underline in all ads which carried Al's recommendation.

Dallas' "Bunkless" Ad

Railroad Tieup Plugs Chicago "Nana" Date

A tiein with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in connection with their special round trips to Chicago was one of the ideas put over by Eddie Levin, of Bill Hollander's staff, on the Chicago "Nana" date at the United Artists theatre. Special Anna Sten cards were posted in all stations as far east as Akron, the picture being used as an ad to stimulate railroad travel to Chicago, this being further put over in ads selling special round trip tickets.

Extensive book tieups also were made with many of the leading downtown department stores, prominent windows being decorated with scene stills and the special Rockwell Kent cards, over 200 of the latter being planted in all Modern Library branches. The above photo shows typical display in the book department of Marshall Field.

Eddie Levin's Book Tieup

An arrangement was made with Old Gold cigarettes whereby 500 cards were distributed upon each of which was pasted a still of Anna Sten smoking, and while this was not a direct endorsement it served well in publicizing the opening.

Radio tieups were also included and a number of women's shops cooperated with dress displays; cosmetic shops plugged the picture through a Max Factor tieup, and extra attention was given the lobby display, which was featured with three-foot letters spelling out the title.

Bunkless Campaign On "As Earth Turns"

Two different test campaigns in widely separated cities, Dallas, Texas and Danbury, Conn., were put over by Warner Brothers on "As the Earth Turns," Dallas playing up the "hokumless" angle and Danbury, the romantic. Here is what was done in both spots.

Melba, Dallas, Texas:

On the "bunkless" campaign determined for this date, Sid Davidson working with Manager Vinton Sholl advertised the picture (see photo) from this angle, with the local Film Guild backing up the idea by sending out thousands of endorsement letters.

The newspapers got behind this "no bunk" theme and generously publicized the local appearances of the author of the book, Gladys Hasty Carroll, who came to Dallas especially for the opening, and also autographed copies of her book at leading stores, which was well advertised by the book people.

Not the least of the newspaper breaks was an illustrated feature story "by-lined" by Davidson, which carried an eight-column streamer head, stressing the "hokumless" idea. This was further carried out with the aid of a group of prominent society women organized as telephone teams, which for two days phoned local residents about the date.

Other angles that clicked were a phone interview between a local critic and Jean Muir in Hollywood, this broadcast and also publicized. A ten-page condensation of the novel was planted as a special newspaper supplement and further interest was aroused with a preview before an invited audience to whom were distributed blanks which requested opinions on whether or not they wanted more realism in pictures.

Palace, Danbury, Conn.

Here the romantic angle was plugged, this engagement having the personal attention of Charlie Einfeld and Mort Blumenstock. The advertising played up the love interest and sold the picture as colorfully as possible from this point.

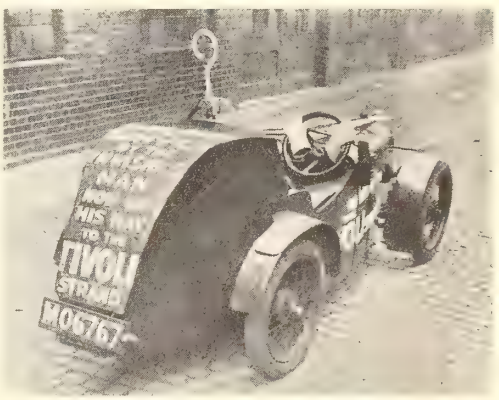
The lobby displays stressed this slant (see photo), and to tie in the book more closely a giant reproduction of the novel was placed in the lobby with a girl turning the pages. One sheet "snowbirds" were spotted all over town and a number of other ideas were put over, all, however, deliberately selling the romance appeal in the picture to determine the draw of this angle as against the build-up on the Dallas date.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Fast Advance Work

A very smart piece of newspaper exploitation was engineered by Hal Horne's United Artists' staff with the planting of a serialization on "The House of Rothschild" in the Mirror immediately in advance of the New York opening at the Astor.

The opening shot was a full-page house ad in the paper, plugging the start of the serialization which was followed by the regular theatre advertising on the Arliss production up to the premiere, thus building up an out of the ordinary interest on the date. In addition, the paper went for tack cards displayed by news dealers in every part of the city and also carried by their large fleet of delivery trucks.



Danbury's "Romantic" Lobby

Williams and Cooper Put on Ace "Invisible Man" Campaign

We are indebted to Bernard Charman, Motion Picture Herald London correspondent, for an interesting account and photos of the London campaign on "Invisible Man" put over by Universal's J. Leslie Williams, publicity director and Fred Cooper, exploitation chief, for the date at the Tivoli Theatre in that city.

The campaign broke ahead with a series of teaser ads, with more definite copy breaking a day before the opening. Four days in advance, a bannered roadster was put on the streets and by an ingenius control device it was made to appear as though an invisible man was driving (see photo), white gloved hands appearing to guide the car with no driver in view.

The gag went over enormously, so much so that the publicists were arrested and fined for breaking the city ordinance against ballyhoos of this nature. However, Charman states that the Universal-ites were not at all cast down as a result of the forthcoming publicity.

London's "Invisible" Bally

A novel sign was erected for the front, depicting the "Invisible Man" outlined in neon tube lighting, with jets of steam completely obliterating the invisible one at intervals. This idea was also carried out as an additional street stunt by "board men."

Serial publication of the Wells' story was planted in a nationally circulated paper and broadcasts were also arranged during which James Whale, director, and R. C. Sherriff, adapter, spoke of the picture. Unusual newspaper publicity was obtained through the appearance of H. G. Wells, the author, at a lunch in advance of the premiere, the rare presence in public of this well known literary figure being good for many publicity breaks.

USING COLOR IN POSTER ART

The Proper Application of Color Is Considered in This, the Last Of Don's Three Articles on Art

by DONALD ANDORFER
Strand, Whitewater, Wis.

The sales value of a theatre poster is greatly affected by its color harmony, the more harmonious the color, the more attractive and eye-arresting the poster becomes.

The purpose of the illustration on a poster is to hold the patrons' attention long enough for them to read the copy and receive the impression intended. Poorly related colors can do more to detract from a poster's advertising value than mediocre drawing or lettering.

When I receive material on a coming picture, I analyze the story and try to develop a color scheme fitting the character or story. If my analysis does not suggest a certain dominant color, I refer to a list I have prepared of color harmonies and choose one of the harmonies listed. My practice has been to paint the head in the suggested color and choose an accordant color for lettering and black for background.

After deciding upon your dominant color for the head, you should choose a consonant color for lettering and minor designs. This is secured by simply using the opposite of the dominant color and a neutral. For instance, if you decide on yellow for the head you must choose its opposite, violet, for proper contrast and a neutral for the lettering, secured by a mixture of these two colors.

Choosing Colors

Most of us are familiar with the primaries and their opposites, but the most beautiful colors are the secondaries, secured by a mixture of two primaries. The same rule applies in choosing opposites for secondaries. Suppose we are painting a poster on a mystery play, of course the head will be in greens, but why pure green? Blue-green is just as effective and more attractive. Following the rule, we will select the opposite of blue and of green, or orange-red. The title will be in the dominant color while minor lettering will be in a neutral, a mixture of the two chosen colors. You will find that by mixing proper tone values that you will have a most effective and pleasing poster.

Remember the background must be deeply shaded for contrast, the lettering may be of a middle tone. Suppose the story is laid in the tropics, we immediately think of brilliant, warm colors. Let us choose green-yellow, truly a tropical color. Our opposite for this is a mixture of red and purple, or red-purple. This makes for an unusually brilliant harmony and is vibrant with tropical atmosphere.

Following are some suggested color harmonies. In "Queen Christina" we have the story of Sweden's queen. My analysis of the synopsis suggested royalty which immediately brought to mind certain colors associated with royalty, namely purple, maroon and gold. I decided to use purple for Garbo's head; yellow, the opposite of purple for the title and star's name. For minor lettering, I used a neutral, a mixture of yellow and purple, or tan.

In "Bolero" we have the story of a dancer and his loves, suggesting passion, emotion. A color suggestive of these is red. I painted the illustration in red, names and title in brilliant green, which, incidentally, suggests exhilaration, the remaining copy in a neutral, brown.

In "Too Much Harmony" I used blue for Crosby's head, inasmuch as blue is suggestive of crooning and fits Crosby's personality to a "T". I used orange for names and title, and a neutral, bluish brown, for minor copy and designs.

There is no phase of art as interesting as the study of color and it has a wide range of possibilities of which, unfortunately, space does not permit a further discussion.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Dutkin Big Draw on Local Broadcast

Known as "Uncle Charlie" on one of his leading radio stations, Charlie Dutkin, who operates the Parkside, Camden, N. J., has built up a great following both on the air and at his box office with his weekly broadcasts, in which participate many of the talented youngsters in that area.

The hour is sponsored by a number of merchants in his city who display window cards regularly to this effect, the copy including mention of the theatre and the time of the broadcast. Beside the regular features consistently advertised by window cards and programs, stage attractions are included in the weekly programs, in which from time to time the radio youngsters participate, this last insuring capacity audiences.

Professional tryouts are also another feature and this member is always putting across something to attract new business, all of which he advertises strongly. The accompanying photo shows Dutkin doing a Santa Claus surrounded by some of his gang.

Uncle Charlie and Gang

Some Comments On Sign Shop Expense

The following opinions on poster display costs are contributed by an artist member who has given the subject a lot of thought. For reasons of his own, he chooses to remain anonymous and asks that the usual "by-line" be omitted. Signmen who agree or disagree are, as usual, invited to give us their thoughts on the subject under discussion for there is much to be said about the important matter.

—

In the operation of the individual theatre, or city circuit, sign and display shops, careful attention ought to be paid to actual, not theoretical costs. Fallacies that seriously impair the value of the work done or the production per man, as well as being highly deceiving on actual financial outlay are common.

The purchase of materials should be gone into most thoroughly. Sometimes the cheaper brand of wall board, for instance, costs more in the long run. Additional time and material utilized in coating cheap, flimsy, pulpy boards will almost invariably more than offset the questionable "saving" in first cost.

Many times the argument is advanced by the theatre manager who is trying to make needed cuts in his budget outlay for boards that the question of additional time required in coating cheap stock need not enter into his figures as "my artist is on a straight salary anyway."

At first glance, this appears to be a sound theory, but it will not stand close analysis. The artist is hired to produce lobby displays and fronts. His salary is largely based on his ability to design and execute business getting material and every hour of his time that is utilized in non-productive work, is taken from the production, say, of another display piece!

Sensible Economy

Certainly no economy is effected by taking figures from one column, adding them into another in a different form and then taking the additional risk of seriously impairing the ticket selling value of the display.

Economy is best effected in the sign shop by the enforcement of a serious campaign against waste. Buy good materials, materials that will permit the devotion of a maximum amount of effort to the part of your display that meets the public eye, then have it understood that they must be fully used, not wasted.

The new precoated wall boards now on the market represent an opportunity to increase production at no higher cost, but if they are wasted by the artist in cutting up a full 4x8 panel, for instance, to get a one sheet from it, and scrapping the balance, they can become costly instead of economical. That scrap can be utilized for cutout letters, valances, applique panels and in many other ways. There is a strong tendency, on the part of many artists to treat scrap contemptuously, especially with cheaper materials.

Cheap scrap also represents an investment and should be utilized down to as near the last inch as possible. Here is where the genuine saving is made, not in hasty purchases of inferior materials because they are sold on a "price" basis.

Watson Puts on Strong Campaign for "Cradle Song"

Much ground was covered in the campaign that Manager Richard Watson, Gladmer, Lansing, Mich, put on for "Cradle Song," his ideas a host of slants that ably sold the picture.

Featured were two newspaper contests, the first a memory idea suggested by the press book which ran for five days ahead and resulted in over 400 answers in exchange for 16 tickets given the winners. The second was a classified page stunt in which single letters that made up the name of the star, title and theatre were planted in various ads with prizes given to those who put them together in one sentence and sent in a complete list of the ads from which they were taken.

Another smart idea that clicked for plenty of newspaper space and window displays was the awarding of a cradle autographed by 28 stars to the Lansing baby born nearest the time that the picture first appeared on the Gladmer screen. The cradle was secured through the Paramount studio at a cost of seven dollars and was displayed at a local department store for three days before opening.

Watson "Water" Stencil

Among other potent selling angles employed were a lobby artist who carved soap statuettes of the star and auto parade of new models carrying theatre banners led by a boys' band. Especially clever was a sidewalk stencil idea, for although a local ordinance prohibited painting the walks, Watson hired a man to take the stencil up and down main street (see photo) laying it flat on the ground and sprinkling it with water. This is a smart way to get around civic restrictions and to sell the picture with a unique twist.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Excellent Lobby Handiwork of Louie Charninsky, on "Havana Windows" at the Capitol, Dallas, Texas

Don't Fool Patrons, Says Mrs. Thomsen

by MRS. GEORGE THOMSEN

Garden Theatre, Arthur, Ill.

An exhibitor of my acquaintance took a fairly good program picture, exploited it, advertised it as a big special, doubled the admission price and filled his house. Smart showmanship? I think not.

The picture was killed in the surrounding community for the news of a "big flop" travels fast. Mr. Exploiteer will now find that the public will doubt his word when he offers them a really good picture, for in spite of one full house, he has lost much more than he has gained.

Do not use adjectives lavishly; be wary of superlatives. If it is the biggest, best, greatest, most marvelous picture of the year, your patrons will know it before you can get a date on it. Do you wish to remind them that all the pictures which you will offer during the current year will be inferior to this, which some of them may not care for?

Extravagant Exploitation

Much damage has been done the theatre by extravagant exploitation. The patrons are led to expect more than they get, and the box office reaction resulting from the disappointment is inevitable.

I have sometimes said to a prospective customer who told me he did not like mystery stories, for instance, "If you don't like mystery stories, you may not care for this one, but I think you will like the show tomorrow night; it is a comedy, and So and So plays in it." The chances are that he is at the show tomorrow night and talks about the good picture he saw there to everyone he sees for a week after.

Another manager advertised, "If you are looking for an ordinary picture, this is different. If you want to see a love story, we show a sweet little love story almost every night in the year. If you want to see your favorite stars, this cast is native. If you expect conversations, remember the natives cannot speak English. If you want exciting adventures, this is not fiction, but truth. But if you are interested in scientific research, if you like an educational picture, you will enjoy this show."

The patrons appreciated the frankness. Those who did not like that kind stayed away, so there were no walkouts, no complaints, no bad results. The public had made their own decision; friendship was not lost.

Bad Advertising

I do not mean, do not advertise. There is a wrong way and there is a right way. But be sure to advertise so your community knows what you have to offer. Let your patrons make their own decisions. They will soon learn that you will not misrepresent.

They will ask you, "Is the picture good?" If it happens to be a weak picture, the best you can do honestly is to point out the good points in it. This may please the questioner. I have said, "I don't care for it myself." Usually the patron will say, "I think I'll go. I want to see what it is like." Whether he likes it or doesn't, he isn't going to blame yet for it, and he will come again.

Buehrig's Cartoon Show Endorsed by Club Women

A smart move to win the approval of the motion picture division chairman of the local Parent Teachers Council was made by Manager A. H. Buehrig, Jr., Loew's Granada, Lakewood, Ohio, of H. M. Addison's division, by putting on a special Saturday morning children's show, consisting of Mickey Mouse, Silly Symphonies, Our Gang and other shorts.

This resulted in an immediate endorsement which was front-paged by Buehrig's local paper, and with this encouragement special heralds were distributed at all schools and the showing stressed in the newspaper advertising.

The resopnse was gratifying both in attendance and the satisfaction expressed by the leading club women who cooperated, and this member is now arranging to make the shows a regular part of his program.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Mae and Mickey Lead

James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio, secured the cooperation of three local schools on "Alice in Wonderland" in this ingenious manner, each child was requested to bring one penny a day for 10 days, the 10 cents being good for admission to the picture and also one vote in a contest to determine the most popular star.

At the end of the contest, each pupil participating is to receive a photo of the star selected, and Partlow reports the curious fact that at the time of his writing the leadership was being disputed by none other than Mae West and Mickey Mouse.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Yours—for Better Box Office Receipts

★ STAGE EQUIPMENT WITH A REPUTATION ★

Not a Miracle— Just Good Judgment

What to do, how to do it—to encourage bigger and better attendance—is your daily problem. A good picture is not the complete answer. Patrons show a decided preference for modern equipment.

How long since you have had your stage equipment overhauled? Now is a good time to bring it up to date. Peter Clark, Inc., offers you a free consulting service. Let us give you our ideas as to what you can do to attract and hold the crowds.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

PETER CLARK, INC.
ESTABLISHED 1905
542 WEST 30th ST., NEW YORK

QUICK SERVICE IDEAS THAT WORKED

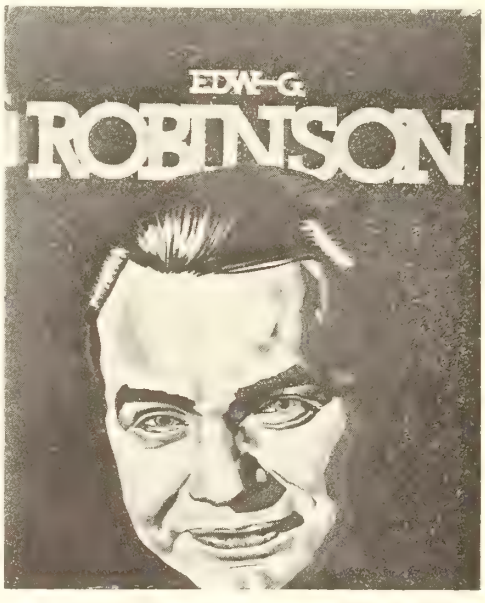
GEORGE SEED, Orpheum, Gardner, Mass. built a fine display on "Footlight Parade," by creating an actual stage, 18 feet wide by 12 feet deep at a cost of $7. The figures were cut out of the 40 by 60 posters and mounted on beaver board, the same material used on the stage, which was lighted by regular foots. George sends along a photo to illustrate, which, unfortunately, is too dark to reproduce. . . .

JULIUS LAMM, Uptown, Cleveland, worked out a clever program in menu form, with the various units under headings such as "appetizer," "soup," etc., etc., the titles of the screen features and snappy copy under each head. A table was set in the lobby in advance, and a girl dressed as a waitress handed out the menus. . . .

L. W. McCUAN, Cameo, Mountain Grove, Mo., distributes a herald directory in different colors, which besides the theatre programs in the center, contains three outside ads, one on each side, with copy at bottom to the effect that certain colored heralds are good for free admission. . . .

H. K. BROWN, and his assistant, W. E. MOCK, Loew's Premier, Broolyn, N. Y., effected a jewelry store tieup on "The Bowery," in which old time watches were put on display. To those who loaned timepieces for the exhibit, courtesy passes were given. A Steeve Brodie coat hanger—a nail—was one of the novelties distributed in imprinted small envelopes. . . .

LEON ROBERTSON, manager, and FRANK DANCER, assistant, Booth, Independence, Kan., hooked in the newspaper stories on some recent lynchings to the showing of "This Day and Age." Headlines of actual happenings were incorporated in ads, and a group of high school boys organized a parade as a protest against the spread of kidnaping, signs carrying title and theatre credits. . . .



SAMUEL E. ROSENBLATT, Bright Spot, Rensselaer, N. Y., went for the "this is no bull gag on "Doctor Bull," promoting the cow from a nearby farmer. Properly bannered, the bovine was paraded around the town, and stops were made at busy corners, where throwaways wer distributed to the curious. . . .

WALTER F. DAVIS, RKO Capitol, Winnipeg, Canada, has been getting a lot of good results from the use of clever novelties. A small imprinted paper plate, used by restaurants as a check receptacle with copy reading "please pay cashier" and followed by theatre credits went over splendidly. Another that did as well was a die cut imprinted paper key on "Bway Thru a Keyhole," placed in hotel key boxes.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE!

Here is another from the pen of Frestle Chenoweth of the Robinson Theatres in Albany, Mo. The background of this Muni poster was done in shades of red, orange and yellow; panel was maroon and the lettering white, blue and pale green. Muni's head was in white, blue, orange and black.

This head is turned out by Will Wills, whose work you have often seen on our pages. Notice the lights in Robinson's face, the best part of it is that it can apparently be used for any picture. Will is at the Stanley, Utica, and is doing some nice work

HAROLD C. LEE got himself a nice break from his local paper on the ninth anniversary of the Babcock, Bath, N. Y., of which Hal has been the manager since the opening day. The story, spread over three columns under a cut that size showing the house front, included a sweet tribute to Lee's ability and his popularity, both local and in the surrounding territory. Congratulations, Harold. . . .

OTTO W. SCHMITT, Hot Springs, So. Dak., must have a mighty standing with his local police chief, for he was able to sell that worthy on using the members of the force to distribute "subpoenas" on "From Headquarters." Plenty of excitement was occasioned by the gag, until the folks discovered that the uniformed forces were aiding on a picture tieup, for the stunt was made stronger by the signature of the chief on the legal papers. Pretty neat stunt, eh what? . . .

KEN HOEL, Harris-Warren, Warren, Ohio, reports with some well done two column newspaper ads. On "My Weakness" and "Bombshell," he sells his stars strongly with halftone heads, and on "Penthouse" uses full length halftone figures of the stars with mortise in center for copy. Ads set as these should have little difficulty in gaining plenty of attention. . . .

LOUIS LAMM, brother of Julius, Capitol, Elyria, Ohio, rounded up a sock coop page on "World Changes," copy in each ad comparing the old with the new. A lobby show containing various models of washing machines, radios and sewing machines was put on to emphasize the evolution of machinery, and Louis also promoted a parade of new and old model autos with the same idea in mind. When Louie gets to work on a campaign, there's very little that he leaves undone. . . .

JOHN W. TREWHELA, Judith, Lewistown, Mont., utilizes plenty of quotes from MOTION PICTURE HERALD in his publicity stories and ads. Comment from a review on "Duck Soup" was prominently spotted in one of John's opening ads on the pictures with proper credits to the HERALD for the source. . . .

L. J. MASON, Palace, McAllen, Texas, is the publisher of a very popular weekly eight page tabloid size paper he calls the "Palacette," printed on the press of his newspaper. It is done in very professional style with outside ads included to bring down the weekly cost to $6. Mason distributes 5,000 weekly, and states that if his carriers miss a home, he gets a quick phone call to send out another copy. Well done, "L. J." We'd like to see more.

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Omaha, Nebraska.

DEAR HERALD:

We got tired of looking at the wallpaper and pictures and decided to run down here for a few days, which was against the doctor's orders. We found Omaha about the same as it always was except that they have built a garage and repaired the boards in some of the sidewalks.

As soon as we registered at the Loyal hotel Jess Merritt, the manager, called up the Chief of Police and notified him that we were in town.

Tom Burke, manager for the Fox organization, and his office help sent us a nice birthday card and Tom refuses to take a cent for it. There are not many of these managers who would do that. Walter Creal and his father, Bert, started down 16th street to the exchanges to get their film and they got lost and wound up at the Kruge brewery. Gus Harms of the Scott-Balentyne Co. tells us that his doctor has put him on a strict diet and that all he is allowed to eat is T-bone steak, French-fried potatoes, dill pickles and corned beef and cabbage, besides mince pie and ice cream. We feel sorry for Gus. Bob Balantyne, of the same company, distributor for the Largen sound equipment and cooling system and the National Theatre Supply products, hasn't been drunk since we came down here; in fact, we are told that Bob never drinks.

Omaha is bounded on the north by the water system, on the east by the Missouri river, on the south by the Union Stock Yards and on the west by the balance of the state. She has a population of 225,000, some Republicans, some Democrats and some who say they are going to change their politics. Outside of that she's all right. If she didn't lay so close to Neligh—only 180 miles—she might develop into quite a town.

▽

We met Bill Patton here. Some of you will remember Bill when he used to play the kerosene circuits with his road shows. Bill used to play our house and he never took any of the furniture that he didn't need. It was a pleasure to meet him. He came here from Oklahoma City and is now with the Universal Film Co., which company is to be congratulated.

▽

Amalgamation Effort

We came down here to attend a meeting of the Allied Association of western Iowa, and the MPTO of Nebraska. The meeting was called to ratify the appointment of the code committee, but it developed into an effort to amalgamate the two organizations, which engendered so much friction that it couldn't be done. A resolution was adopted to appoint a committee to disband both organizations and form a new one. Cal Bard acted as chairman and Lester Martin as secretary. The chairman will appoint the committee who will have authority to call the exhibitors together and to draft a new name and form a new organization. This seems to be a sensible move and we hope it works out all right.

▽

The Fox company invited us to attend the screening of "David Harum" with Will Rogers and Louise Dresser. "David Harum" was written probably about the time, or before, Bill was sucking the bottle, but it nevertheless seems to have been written especially for him, as the character of David Harum seems to fit him like the hide on a badger.

If we were going to advise you with reference to playing this picture we'd advise you to play it, but we are not going to advise you. That's a matter for you to determine yourselves, but if we were running a show we'd play it if we had to pawn our B. V. D.'s and kiss our hired girl. That's what we think of "David Harum."

▽

That's Taken Care Of

J. E. Kirk of the North Star theatre at Omaha, W. V. Toney, equipment dealer of Des Moines, L. Z. Henry of the Empress theatre at Malvern, Iowa, and H. Novitsky, Fox salesman, were milling around like locoed steers. We went to them and said, "Boys, what the matter? Have they foreclosed the mortgages?" and J. N. Kirk replied, "No, worse than that; our subscriptions to the HERALD have expired and we don't know how we can get along without it." And we replied, "Well, you can't." Then we reached for our receipt book and now they are all smiling and telling people what a lovely day it is.

▽

According to the HERALD, one Edgar Selwyn must have had a bad dream, for he is reported to have written the New York Times and, among other things, is said to have said, "And the villain is the exhibitor. The exhibitor is a peculiar tyrant whose commands and general interests are perhaps the complete explanation of the mediocrity and less than mediocrity in motion pictures. He is invariably a man without vision or imagination, a deliberate purveyor of commodities, an adventurous standpatting monarch," etc., etc.

We haven't a diploma as a physician, but if we were to suggest a remedy for his complaint it would be Pluto Water.

Mr. Selwyn has forgotten, or never knew, that this industry is dependent upon the exhibitor, that without him there would be no picture industry. Some other people have forgotten that also, and whether it is good or bad, the exhibitor has nothing to do with it further than to show what is offered him. Sometimes it is good for the industry, and sometimes it is bad, and in any event his responsibility commences, and ceases, when he puts the product on the screen. Whenever they hop on to the exhibitors it makes our hair stand straight up.

▽

Oldfashioned?

Victor Shapiro, who edits the Hollywood department of this magazine, gives us some pretty pithy stuff when he takes his typewriter in hand. In the issue of March 3 of the HERALD he reports B. P. McCormick of Canyon City, Colorado, as asking the producers in Hollywood some very pointed questions, one being why they picturized the story of "Temple Drake." The answer would hardly do credit to a second grade pupil. Might we also arise to inquire why they didn't cut the nastiness out of "Follow Thru?"

We are personally acquainted with B. P. and our guess is that when he puts a question to them they know they have been interrogated. But then we are both of us oldfashioned and are not supposed to know much, and what little we do know we gather from the public, and the public isn't supposed to know much either.

▽

We would be glad to answer the bushel of letters and greeting cards we have received in the past three days, but that's out of the question. Space wouldn't permit, but the good wishes of our friends are none the less appreciated, and it would please us immensely if you will remember that we wish for all of you the best there is, and that won't be any too good.

▽

Clara Bow a Favorite

From some of the reports we have heard on "Hoopla" with Clara Bow, we had formed an opinion that she didn't come back very strong. We are glad to say that when we viewed the picture we were satisfied with her work and with the story. Clara is a favorite of ours; maybe that's why we liked the picture.

▽

The public clamor has been, and is, for cleaner pictures, and in spite of the fact that they still allow nastiness to creep into some of them, our belief is that pictures on the whole are getting better and better all the while, and if we know anything about it, that's a hopeful outlook for the industry, but may be we don't know anything about it, anyhow.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist

FOR SELECTIONS AND INFORMATION

The practicable uses of exhibitors' reports to the department are evidenced in the following note from M. C. Howe of the Erskine theatre at Erskine, Minn.

"What the Picture Did for Me" department is very interesting and is much used by us in selecting pictures for dating from our contracts. All issues are kept handy; and, when we want to check up on a picture, we look over all the reports on it, and thereby get a consensus.

"When one reads ALL the reports, a fair conclusion can be arrived at."

Stanley Chambers Transferred

Stanley Chambers, manager for years in the Fox Midland and Fox West Coast circuits, has been named manager of the first-run Fox Uptown in Kansas City. Barney Joffee is expected to be transferred to Wichita as Fox city manager.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Ben Judell has acquired for Chicago the production, "Scarface," starring Paul Muni and George Raft. The deal for this picture, which heretofore has not been shown in the city, was made with Hughes Industries, Ltd. Judell says it will be presented locally within a month at a large Loop playhouse.

▽

An announcement from Allied Theatres of Illinois states that Arthur C. Cimaglia, who has been purchasing agent for the organization's buying interests, is no longer associated with the association.

▽

Theatre Merchandising Service of Chicago is distributing in cooperation with Warner Bros. more than half a million "Fashions in Foods and Frocks in 1934" books through department stores and merchants throughout the country.

▽

Allied Theatres of Illinois paid honor to its president, Aaron Saperstein, at a testimonial dinner at the Medinah Michigan Club on Tuesday. The local fraternity was well represented and a great time was had.

▽

Phil Goldstone spent a couple of hours talking to Henri Ellman on his way to the West Coast last week.

▽

Local newspapers got wholeheartedly behind Henry Herbel and Universal in defying the Mayor Kelly edict calling for the elimination of riot and mob scenes from newsreels. Local papers were unanimous in editorial opposition to this form of censorship.

▽

Walter Branson of RKO is vacationing at Hot Springs.

▽

Louis Abramson of Allied, who feels plenty of responsibility over the success of the Film Relief Dinner dance at the Medinah Club on March 23, is almost submerged under stacks of tickets and placards concerning the event. Louie says it is certain to be a bigger affair than last year's gala event.

HOLQUIST

General Register Engaged In General Reorganization

Reorganization of the Chicago and Los Angeles offices is taking place in a general expansion of General Register Corporation. The force of mechanics has been tripled and a Boston office has been opened. Arthur Abrams has been named district manager with headquarters in Chicago by W. L. Tenny, general sales manager. Sol Ehrenberg is in charge of theatre sales of ticket registers.

Oscar Hoedecker, New England manager, has been placed in charge of the new Boston office. Mr. Tenny is now supervising the Los Angeles reorganization, and will visit San Diego, San Francisco and Seattle.

Form New Exchange

Herman and Phil Silverman have closed the Independent Film Corporation, Kansas City, and are operating as the Silent Film Exchange.

Radio Signs Comedy Team

Clark and McCollough have been signed by Radio for a series of four shorts. The comedy team will arrive on the Coast May 1.

Business Is Seen Better in South

Local supply houses report difficulty in filling the demand in the Memphis territory, theatres are reopening and re-equiping so rapidly.

Arthur de Stafano of National Theatre Supply Company reports at least 20 new houses opened in recent months in Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee and a like number are installing new equipment. "The past four months have shown up a business more than 60 per cent better than the same months a year ago," he said. "Business is better than it has been in several years." Many old silent houses are among those reopening.

There have been 13 theatres reopened in the Cincinnati territory this year, according to the Film Board of Trade in that city.

Kinematograph Year Book For 1934 Comprehensive

The Kinematograph Year Book for 1934, published annually by Kinematograph Publications, Ltd., London, arrived this week in the United States, in its twenty-first edition, and 596 pages.

Colored tabs for each section, as in last year's edition, are a convenient feature of the reference book of the motion picture industry of Great Britain. All acts governing the film business in the British Isles are either carried in full or condensed form. The main divisions are an Overseas Directory, with company offices and addresses listed from practically every part of the world; trade shown films, renters' offers, a list of all films offered for sale in Great Britain, with the name of the releasing company in each case, films registered, trade organizations, an equipment and technical section, trade and studio personnel, theatre circuits, a list of London theatres and one of provincial theatres. It appears a comprehensive, handy reference, especially for companies and individuals operating in Great Britain.

Smith Joins Levee

Charles Smith, recently with the Schulberg and Feldman agency, has joined the M. C. Levee office as assistant to Mr. Levee.

Jones with Advertising Firm

Beverly Jones, director and editor on specialties and short subjects, formerly associated with Fox, Pathe and Paramount, has joined the plan department of Advertising Film Associates, Inc.

Pinnacle Company Moves

Pinnacle Productions has removed its New York offices to the Paramount Building. J. D. Trop is president of the company.

Canadian Company Bankrupt

Commonwealth Productions, Ltd., Canadian company with headquarters in Vancouver, which has produced two pictures, has gone into bankruptcy. Liabilities are listed at $52,000 and assets are negligible.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 10

CAPITOL
Roping Wild Bears ..... MGM

MAYFAIR
Knife of the Party ..... RKO Radio
Super Snooper ..... Educational

PARAMOUNT
Ha! Ha! Ha! ..... Paramount
Screen Souvenirs—No. 7 ... Paramount
Paramount Pictorial—No. 7. Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks. RKO Radio
Lion Tamer ..... RKO Radio
Outdoing the Daredevils ... Fox

RIALTO
Man on the Flying Trapeze. Paramount
Animal Antics ..... Paramount
New Dealers ..... Paramount
No More Women ..... Paramount

RIVOLI
Knee Deep in Music ..... RKO Radio
Around the Acropolis ..... Fox

ROXY
Expectant Father ..... Educational
Jack and the Beanstalk .... Principal

STRAND
Pettin' in the Park ..... Vitaphone
Wrong, Wrong Trail ..... Vitaphone
Spanish America ..... Vitaphone

New Kansas City Exchange To Handle Independent Films

Consolidated Film Distributors, Inc., of Kansas City, a new state rights exchange, has been organized to distribute Amity, Goldsmith, Chesterfield and other independent product. The new concern also will distribute Master Arts releases, hitherto handled by Russell C. Borg, who has joined the organization as general manager. Mr. Borg formerly was Educational branch manager and more recently was with Columbia.

W. L. Norris is president of Consolidated and W. P. Humston secretary-treasurer. The two own the Kansas City Sound Service Company, with sales rights on Syncrofilm sound equipment, and also operate the suburban State theatre. The new exchange has taken quarters at 130 West 18th Street, where Kansas City Sound Service Company also has offices.

Fox Shifts Sales Staff

Changes in the Fox sales staff include Herman Biersdorf, former Washington salesman, to manage the Charlotte branch; W. C. Gehring, former Cincinnati manager, named sales manager in Chicago under C. W. Eckhardt; J. J. Grady, former Charlotte manager, named Cincinnati manager. Other changes moved Moe Levy, formerly Chicago, to Minneapolis as manager, succeeding Jack Lorentz, who was switched to Milwaukee in place of A. J. Davis, understood set for another city.

Marquis Busby Dead

Marquis Busby, film critic, died early this week in Los Angeles of scarlet fever. He was 31.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22,'34	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73	Feb. 17,'34
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5,'34	65
Rainbow Over Broadway	Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15,'34
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25,'34	62

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Together Again	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67	Jan. 20,'34
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63	Jan. 20,'34
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17,'34
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23,'34	105	Mar. 3,'34
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Let's Fall In Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26	64	Jan. 13,'34
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17,'34	65
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31,'34	69	Mar. 10,'34
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 18
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65	Mar. 3,'34
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10,'34	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Feb. 5,'34	62
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60	Jan. 27,'34
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58	Nov. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Black Moon	Jack Holt
Don't Fall In Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lilian Bond
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Ceeilia Parker
Most Precious Thing in Life	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell
Murder in the Studio	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 10,'34.)
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore-Carole Lombard
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15	62
Fantomas	Jean Gallard	Feb. 15,'34	59
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15,'34	60
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5,'34	65

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Colletta Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1,'34	84	May 27,'33
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15,'34	58	Feb. 24,'34

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64	Feb. 17,'34
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	74	Sept. 2
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34	72	Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34	78	Jan. 13,'34
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	66	June 17
Havana Widows	Jean Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	90	Sept. 16
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10,'34	65
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34	65	Feb. 24,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69	Jan. 27,'34
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	Frankie Darro-Dorothy Coonan	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown
Dark Tower	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez
Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William
Modern Hero, A	Richard Barthelmess
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)
Woman in Her Thirties, A	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crosman	Feb. 2,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9,'34	80	Jan. 27,'34
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34	80	Mar. 3,'34
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16,'34	60	Feb. 17,'34
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34	72
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	66	Feb. 10,'34
George White's Scandals	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16,'34	80
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34	65
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85	Jan. 27,'34
I Believed in You	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34	65	Feb. 17,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy-Claire Trevor	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lilian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72	Mar. 10,'34
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 10,'34.)
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne
Merry Andrew	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Preston Foster
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel
Stand Up and Cheer	(All-Star Musical)
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)
Too Many Women	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27,'34	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22	80
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang		69
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15,'34	85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls		88
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo
Love In Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Mademoiselle Zaza (Reviewed under the title, "Aunt Sally.")	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82	Mar. 3,'34
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Night of the Party, The	Leslie Banks		62	Mar. 10,'34
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Mar. 15,'34	88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
No Ransom	Phillips Holmes-Leila Hyams
School for Girls
Take the Stand	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74	Feb. 17,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65	Dec. 30
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier		67

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	70	Mar. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Badge of Honor		Apr. 1,'34

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 8
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19,'34	117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16,'34	77	Mar. 10,'34
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Mystery of Mr. X	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23,'34	85	Mar. 3,'34
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert	Feb. 9,'34	103	Dec. 30
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Show-off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9,'34	80	Mar. 3,'34
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68	Jan. 26,'34
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2,'34	76	Jan. 27,'34
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76	Feb. 3,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26,'34	85	Feb. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	Apr. 13,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr. 20,'34
Men in White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy		75	Feb. 17,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 23,'34
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Mar. 30,'34
Treasure Island	Wallace Beery - Otto Kruger - Jackie Cooper
Viva Villa! (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray	Apr. 6,'34

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars In Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb. 22,'34	72	Feb. 24,'34
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22,'34	56	Jan. 27,'34
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar. 15,'34
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58	Jan. 27,'34
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30	70
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57	Feb. 10,'34
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb. 15,'34	55	Jan. 20,'34
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 7,'34	64	Jan. 27,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blue Steel	John Wayne
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	Apr. 15,'34
Derby Day
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	Mar. 30,'34
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	Apr. 30,'34
Money Means Nothing
Numbers of Monte Carlo	Mary Brian-John Darrow
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22	75	Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19,'34	71	Jan. 13,'34
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23,'34	80	Feb. 17,'34
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29	88	Nov. 25
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell	Dec. 8	75	Dec. 9
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1	68	Nov. 25
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23,'34	72	Feb. 17,'34
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2,'34	75	Jan. 20,'34
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24	80	Dec. 2
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9,'34	65	Jan. 27,'34
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½	Nov. 18
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
Wharf Angel (See "Man Who Broke His Heart," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16,'34	62½
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert-Henry Wilcoxin-Warren William
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23,'34	68	Mar. 10,'34
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30,'34	78	Jan. 20,'34
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell
Melody In Spring (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Mar. 30,'34
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson-Victor McLaglen	Apr. 20,'34
Scarlet Empress, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft-Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13,'34
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Ethel Merman - Carole Lombard - Leon Errol	Apr. 27,'34
Witching Hour, The	Judith Allen
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6,'34

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan	Feb. 2,'34	55
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8	42	Oct. 28
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Desperate Trails	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannen - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd - Mae Clarke - Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29	53
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29	80	Dec. 1
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	67½
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2,'34	68	Jan. 27,'34
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1	66	Dec. 23
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2,'34	69½	Feb. 10,'34
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19,'34	63	Feb. 24,'34
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb. 16,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb. 9,'34	92	Jan. 20,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	82	Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34	68	Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas	Mar. 19,'34	80	Mar. 3,'34
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34	78
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34	77	Jan 27,'34
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Horse Play	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34	68
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar. 12,'34	64
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 8,'34	70	Jan. 6,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan. 29,'34	80
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale -Donna Damerell-Ted Healy	Dec. 4	68	Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105	Nov. 25
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60	Feb. 24,'34
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb. 19,'34	64

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners
Doomed to Die	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas
Honor of the West	Ken Maynard
Humbug, The	Nils Asther
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery
Uncertain Lady	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75	Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	88	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 13,'34	61	Jan. 20,'34
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	101	Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2	63	Dec. 2
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	98	May 27
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Glenda Farrell-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar. 3,'34	63
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan. 20,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23	68	Dec. 9
I've Got Your Number	Jean Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb. 24,'34	68	Feb. 10,'34
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar. 17,'34	67
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9	76	Dec. 2

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Dames	Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Friends of Mr. Sweeney	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck
Happy Family	Aline MacMahon
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods
One Man Woman	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor-Ginger Rogers
Without Honor	James Cagney-Joan Blondell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin George Robey ...	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov. 18	90	Dec. 2
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Mc-Laglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconneti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr - Sammy Friedmann	Scandinavian Talking Picts	Jan 1,'34	148	Mar. 10,'34
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb. 8,'34	90	Feb. 17,'34
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Dereon - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb. 6,'34	92	Feb. 24,'34
Volga Volga	H. A. Shiletton	Kinematrade	Dec. 14	76	Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
Meth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15,'34	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62	Feb. 10,'34
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Mar. 15,'34
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Golden Head
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Time Or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov. 10	62	Mar. 10,'34
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Hollywood	Dec. 15	69	Feb. 17,'34
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods	Jan. 15,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp		77	Feb. 3,'34
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan. 15,'34	80	Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Picts	Nov. 24	66	Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Picts	Jan. 12,'34	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb. 10,'34	56	Feb. 24,'34
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov. 29	65	Dec. 9
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Picts	Jan. 27,'34	70	Feb. 10,'34
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts		77	July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal		73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Picts		55	Jan. 20,'34
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts	July 19	70	July 29
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods	Mar. 7,'34	60
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas		70	Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec. 1	70	Dec. 16
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick		70	Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9,'34	80	Feb. 3,'34
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2,'34	85	Jan. 13,'34
Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Feb. 16,'34	83	Jan. 27,'34
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner
Firebrand, The	Fredric March - Constance Bennett-Fay Wray
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz in A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Banker Buckeroos		2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
Elmer Steps Out		2 rls.
Walter Catlett
Hold Your Temper	Dec. 15	2 rls.
Leon Errol
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Radio-dough	Feb. 5,'34
Sidney and Murray
Ten Baby Fingers	Jan. 15,'34
Sidney and Murray
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5,'34	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Tom Thumb		1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20,'34	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Case	Oct. 20	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—School for Romance	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Lou Holtz
No. 4—Love Detectives	Feb. 28,'34	2 rls.
Frank Albertson
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
WORLD OF SPORT
It's Sport In Any Language	Dec. 30	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4,'34	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1,'34	26
Dawn to Dawn	Dec. 25	35
Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness
Lot in Sodom	Dec. 25	26
Frederic Haak
No Woman's Land	Apr. 15,'34	34
(Travelogue)

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17	20
Hello, Prosperity	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13	2 rls.
Super Snooper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16,'34	1 rl.
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3	2 rls.
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8	19
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34	2rls.
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6	2 rls.
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
What's To Do	Nov. 24	17
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8	2 rls.
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	20
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27	2 rls.
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15	24
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Helen Morgan
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
Trav'lling the Road	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16,'34
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17	2 rls.
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Just a Clown	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8	1 rl.
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30	2 rls.
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11	2 rls.
Static	Sept. 29	20
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15	16
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Pagliacci	Apr. 6,'34	2 rls.
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22	16
Your Life Is In Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
Outdoing the Daredevils	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
On Western Trails	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9,'34

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family In America		1 rl.
2. A Visit to West Point		1 rl.
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		1 rl.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Melodies of Love
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody in Black		1 rl.
Gary-Rawlinson-White
Wine, Woman and Song		1 rl.
Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Eili Eili		1 rl.
Charles Carlile-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer		2 rls.
Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Caretaker's Daughter	May 26,'34	20
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17,'34	19
Next Week-End	Apr. 7,'34	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	19
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Four Parts	Mar. 31,'34	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call	Dec. 23	9
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	9
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	20
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Feb. 17,'34	9
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
Perils of Arsenic Annie	Oct. 7	1 rl.
Heel of a Nation, The		2 rls.
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13,'34	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Jail Birds In Paradise	Feb. 24,'34	2 rls.
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody In Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony in Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	17
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	9
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Roping Wild Bears	Jan. 13,'34	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 3,'34	8
Vital Victuals	Feb. 10,'34	10
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses	Oct. 28	19

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10,'34	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	16
Hi, Neighbor	Dec. 16	18
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31,'34	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker (Cinecolor)	Dec. 9	7
Hell's Fire	Jan. 6,'34	7
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Robin Hood, Jr.	Feb. 3,'34	8
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1	1 rl.
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1,'34	1 rl.
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1,'34	1 rl.
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1,'34	1 rl.
6. Jungle Bound	May 1,'34	1 rl.
7. The Last Resort	June 1,'34	1 rl.
8. Mother Ganges	July 1,'34	1 rl.
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1,'34	1 rl.
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1,'34	1 rl.
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1,'34	1 rl.
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1,'34	1 rl.
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1,'34	1 rl.

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
Betty in Blunderland	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
I Heard	Sept. 1	7
Don Redmond
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6	7
Rubinoff
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	7
HEADLINERS
Broadway Knights	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Yacht Club Boys
Bundle of Blues, A	Sept. 1	10
Duke Ellington
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27	11
Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24	11
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Rumba Rhythm	Sept. 29	6
Vincent Lopez
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	10
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	10
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	11
No. 8	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
No. 10	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	11
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — What Next, Ladies?—Song Makers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
Can You Take It	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	6
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	6
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10	10
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12,'34	10
Gertrude Niesen
Lazy Bones	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	8
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15	9
Baby Rose Marie
Tune Up and Sing	Mar 9,'34	1 rl.
Lanny Ross
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba	Sept. 16	7
Mills Bros.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 8	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16,'34	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23,'34	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo (Harry Langdon)	Feb. 16,'34	21
Cold Turkey (Joseph Cawthorn)	Dec. 1	19
Ducky Dear (Sidney Toler)	Sept. 1	19
Gold Nuggets (Walter Catlett)	Feb. 2,'34	18
Just an Echo (Bing Crosby)	Jan. 19,'34	20
New Dealers, The (Pallette-Catlett)	Apr. 6,'34	2 rls.
No More Bridge (Leon Errol)	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Old Bugler, The (Chic Sale)	Jan. 5,'34	20
On Ice (Harry Langdon)	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night (Pallette-Catlett)	Oct. 20	21
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27,'34	2 rls.
Please (Bing Crosby)	Dec. 15	22
Roaming Romeo, A (Harry Langdon)	Dec. 29	21
Sailors, Beware (Catlett-Pallette)	Sept. 15	18
Three Little Swigs (Leon Errol)	Nov. 10	21
Up and Down (Franklin Pangborn)	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34	7
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	8
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20	9
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9,'34	21
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissue)
The Count	Nov. 17	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19,'34	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2,'34	21
Odor in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	7
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl.
Good Knight	Feb. 23,'34	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
No. 8—Autobyography	Mar. 16,'34	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Love on a Ladder	Mar. 2,'34	18
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over (Ethel Waters)	Jan. 5,'34	20
Henry the Ape (Bert Lahr)	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
Hizzoner (Bert Lahr)	Nov. 17	21½
Knife of the Party (Lillian Miles)	Feb. 16,'34	2 rls.
Sea Sore	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy (Cliff Edwards)	Dec. 8	21½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Derby Decade		22
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
Torch Tango	Feb. 23,'34	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29	21
What Not to Do In Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34	7
Jolly Good Fellows	Feb. 16,'34	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8	10½
Cuba	Nov. 10	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean
Holy Land	Feb. 16,'34	10
Madeira, Land of Wine
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		18
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAPITAL
Dance Parade		17
CELEBRITY
Jack and the Beanstalk		6
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story (David L. Hutton)	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVINCIBLE
Snowman		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34	7
3. Playful Pluto	Mar. 1,'34	7
4. Camping Out	Feb. 16,'34	7
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 15,'34	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	10
No. 4	Jan. 29,'34	8
No. 5	Mar. 5,'34	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 19,'34	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5,'34	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16,'34	1 rl.
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12,'34	1 rl.
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19,'34	1 rl.
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2,'34	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Peeping Tom (Louis Sobol—No. 4)	Sept. 20	17
Boswell Sisters, The (Nick Kenny—No. 4)	Dec. 6	21
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26,'34	10
No. 38—Novelty	Mar. 26,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Born April First (Sterling Holloway)	Mar. 14,'34	2 rls.
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls.
Ceiling Whacks (Henry Armetta)	Mar. 28,'34	2 rls.
Full Coverage (Henry Armetta)	Feb. 28,'34	21
Meeting Mazie (Sterling Holloway)	Dec. 20	20
Mountain Music (Louise Fazenda)	Jan. 3,'34	18
Not the Marrying Kind (Sterling Holloway)	Nov. 22	20
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame (Henry Armetta)	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas (Louise Fazenda)	Nov. 8	21
Palsie Walsie (Henry Armetta)	Jan. 31,'34	20
Pie for Two (James Gleason)	Dec. 13	21
Stung Again (Louise Fazenda)	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A (Vince Barnett)	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21,'34	21
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Where's Elmer? (Vince Barnett)	Feb. 7,'34	20

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy (Jack Haley)	Sept. 16	21
No. 2—Close Relations (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle)	Sept. 30	20
No. 3—Gobs of Fun (George Givot-Charles Judels)	Oct. 21	21
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw (Gus Shy)	Nov. 4	21
No. 5—In the Dough (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle)	Nov. 25	22
No. 6—Here Comes Flossie (Ben Blue)	Dec. 9	18
No. 7—Tomalio (Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle)	Dec. 30	21
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That? (George Givot-Charles Judels)	Jan. 13,'34	18
No. 9—Nervous Hands (Ben Blue)	Feb. 3,'34	21
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses (Charles Judels)	Feb. 17,'34	21
No. 11—Mushrooms (Harry Gribbon)	Feb. 14,'34	20
No. 12—Foiled Again (Ben Blue)	Mar. 24,'34	20
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34	20
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34	20
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34	20
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 1—Use Your Imagination (Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair)	Sept. 2	18
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President (Ethel Waters)	Sept. 9	20
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings (Lita Grey Chaplin)	Sept. 23	20
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr. (Gus Shy-Janet Reade)	Oct. 7	21
No. 5—Operator's Opera (Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys)	Oct. 14	21
No. 6—'Tis Spring (Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins (Technicolor))	Oct. 28	19
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast (Tom Patricola)	Nov. 11	20
No. 8—The Mild West (Janet Reade-Olive Borden)	Nov. 18	23
No. 9—Girl Trouble (Mitchell and Durante)	Dec. 2	23
No. 10—Around the Clock (Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys)	Dec. 16	29
No. 11—Plane Crazy (Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel)	Dec. 23	22
No. 12—Kissing Time (Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa)	Dec. 16	22
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas (Molly Picon)	Jan. 20,'34	29
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine (Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor))	Jan. 27,'34	21
No. 15—Picture Palace (Dorothy Stone)	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner (Hal LeRoy)	Feb. 24,'34	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure (Jean Sargent)	Mar. 3,'34	17
No. 18—Silver Living (Lillian Roth)	Mar. 17,'34	30
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office (Jean Sargent)	Mar. 31,'34	21
No. 20—Story Conference (Lillian Roth)	Apr. 7,'34	20
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21,'34	18
No. 22—Private Lessons (Hal LeRoy)	May 5,'34	22
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	8
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	May 12,'34	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24,'34	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage		7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles		7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes		7
MELODY MASTERS
Hot from Petrograd (Dave Apollon and Orchestra)	Sept. 2	10
Barber Shop Blues (Claude Hopkins and Band)	Sept. 30	9
Rubinoff and Orchestra	Oct. 28	10
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20,'34	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17,'34	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17,'34	10
Phil Spitalny	Apr. 14,'34	1 rl.
Isham Jones	May 12,'34	10
Tin Hat Harmony (Abe Lyman)		1 rl.
B. A. Wolfe		1 rl.
D. Mendoza and Vitaphone Band		1 rl.
MERRY MELODIES
I've Got to Sing a Torch Song	Sept. 23	7
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16	7
Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27,'34	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17,'34	7
Beauty and the Beast		1 rl.
Those Were Wonderful Days		1 rl.
Going to Heaven on a Mule		1 rl.
PEPPER POT
Walter Donaldson	Sept. 9	10
Admission 5c	Sept. 23	10
Rock-a-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell	Oct. 7	11
Laughs in the Law	Oct. 21	8
Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4	8
Harry Warren	Nov. 18	10
Easy Aces	Dec. 2	10
Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6	10
Movie Memories	Dec. 30	9
The Tune Detective (Sigmund Spaeth)	Jan. 13,'34	9
Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27,'34	9
The Wrong Wrong Trail (Block and Sully)	Feb. 10,'34	10
Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24,'34	11
Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10,'34	10
Pure Feud	Apr. 21,'34	10
Radio Ramblers	Apr. 27,'34	10
Those Were the Days	May 5,'34	10
Radio Reels (Jessel-Van Lulu McConnell)	May 19,'34	10
Charles Ahearn		1 rl.
Hollywood Newsreel		1 rl.
Radio Reel No. 2		1 rl.
Dad Minds the Baby		1 rl.
Bergen in At the Races		1 rl.
The Stolen Melody		1 rl.
Camera Speaks		1 rl.
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Exploring the Pacific	Sept. 16	10
Samoan Memories	Oct. 14	10
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9	1
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6,'34	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3,'34	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3,'34	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31,'34	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28,'34	10
East Indies	May 26,'34	10
Central America		1 rl.
Dark Africa		1 rl.
South Sea Islands		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson (Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery)	July 6	20 (each)
Lost Jungle, The (Clyde Beatty)	Apr. 1,'34	20 (each)
Mystery Squadron, The (Bob Steele)	Dec. 23	20 (each)
Wolf Dog, The (Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory)	Sept. 30	(each)
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Lost World		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless (Buster Crabbe)	Aug. 11	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City (Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy)	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline (Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen)	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Phantom of the Air (Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea)	May 22	20 (each)
Pirate Treasure (Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund)	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)
Vanishing Shadow, The (Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince)	Apr. 23,'34	20 (each)

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FOR SALE—CHEAP ONE PACENT SOUND AND film equipment complete. E. C. EVANS, New Plaza Theatre, Milford, Dela.

BARGAIN: COMPLETE REBUILT SIMPLEX projectors and low intensity lamps. Also 75 to 150 ampere Hertner generator, good as new. JOE GOLDBERG, Inc., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

600 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS CHEAP. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

PATRONIZE MONARCH'S SPECIAL BARGAIN counter: Rebuilt projectors, generators, rectifiers, reflector arc lamps, Mazda lamphouses, screens, chairs, lenses, portables, amplifiers, sound heads. All theatre equipment. Satisfactory trades completed. Expert projector repairing and service. Established 25 years. Free list. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

BARGAINS! RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers, noiseless drives. Write for prices. SOUTHERN FAN COMPANY, Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

OUTSTANDING BARGAINS FOR CASH ON complete rebuilt portable 35 mm. sound-on-film projector outfits made by one of the most reliable manufacturers. BOX 375, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

REAL BUYS! REBUILT SIMPLEX MECHANisms, $135.00, complete machine $175.00; Morelite de luxe rebuilt lamps, $125.00; Peerless, $175.00; Mazda lamps and transformers, $90 pair. Machine parts at lowest prices. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

CAMERAMAN, NON-UNION, AMERICAN, Christian, 32, educated, traveled. BOX 379, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

UNION PROJECTIONIST EIGHTEEN YEARS' experience — 5 years' sound — married — references. GEORGE GODLEY, Pollock St., New Bern, N. C.

PROJECTIONIST—CAN FURNISH A-1 REFERences—operate any equipment. CHARLES REDDING, 2419 Cottage Grove, Des Moines, Iowa.

AVAILABLE — THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED theatre and publicity manager; high-powered ad-writer, poster artist. P. O. BOX 180, Butler, Pa.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONISTS FURNISHED. H. S. I., P. O. Box 88, Station C, Los Angeles.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"MIEHLINGS SOUND PROJECTION" FORMERly $6.00, now $1.49. All fundamentals of sound, profusely illustrated, wiring blue prints, charts. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

PRINTING SERVICE

NEARGRAVURE—250 2-COLOR LETTERHEADS, 250 envelopes, $2.99 prepaid. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Ind.

NEW EQUIPMENT

TRADE WITH "OLD RELIABLE MONARCH." Established 25 years. Most complete stock theatre equipment. sound accessories, supplies. Money saving prices. Our central location assures snappy service. Catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

INFRINGING SOUND HEADS CAN BE CONverted to the Tri-Phonic sound system. Entirely new absolutely different. Territories open. TRI-PHONIC SOUND SYSTEM, 19 Winchester St., Boston, Mass.

COMPLETE LINE OF BABY AND STANDARD spotlights, floodlights, electric stage effects at attractive prices. NEWTON, Inc., 253 West 14th St., New York.

HOW ABOUT CHANGING YOUR LAMP TO A.C. type? Transformers—rectifiers, $250.00 pair. A slight additional charge for necessary lamp changes. Write us details. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

COMPETITION SPURS US ON — SOUND screens, 39c ft.; stereopticons, $19.95; tickets, misprints, rolls of 2,000, 15c; porthole optical glass, 15c square inch; acoustical felt, 33c yard. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WANTED TO BUY

WILL BUY USED THEATRE CHAIRS, PARTS, accessories, all kinds. Write GESCO 2035 Charleston St., Chicago.

WANTED: USED SIMPLEX PROJECTORS FOR cash. State price wanted and serial number. BOX 378, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTION AND BOOTH EQUIPMENT, parts and accessories. Simplex mechanisms, arc lamps, rectifiers, generators, etc. Give full particulars. Spot cash. BOX 374, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"YOUR SOUND IS PERFECT!" GRATEFULLY writes Monsieur Pacaud, Quebec, Can. You are paying for S. O. S. Wide Fidelity whether you have it or not, $179.70 up, complete. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

HAVE YOU HIDDEN TREASURE? WE PAY "spot" for used equipment — trades taken, bargains galore. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

THEATRE MANAGERS! SAVE 10 TO 50 PER cent on brushes, cardboard, colors and other sign and poster needs. Simply cut out this ad, pin it to your letterhead and our big 80-page book will be mailed free of charge. DICK BLICK CO., Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

THEATRES WANTED

LEASE OR BUY THEATRE, MINIMUM POPUlation 15,000, in the East or Middle West. BOX 370, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO LEASE THEATRE ANY SIZE in any of the western states. BOX 373, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WILL RENT 600-SEAT THEATRE WITH privilege to lease or buy. R. MUELLER, 1623 Bruce Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

WANTED TO BUY OR LEASE THEATRES IN towns of 5,000 or more. Towns with two houses not considered. FRED M. GORMAN, Lenoir City, Tenn.

WANTED: ONLY MOVIE IN CALIFORNIA, Oregon, Washington, town over 1,000. RATLIFF, Lake, Mich.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

SMASH THE LEGALIZED RACKETS—INSTALL famous S. O. S. Wide Fidelity sound complete $179.70 up; soundheads, $49.50 up; portable sound film, complete, $195.00; amplifiers, $55.00 up. Trades taken. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

BARGAINS — NEW AND USED EQUIPMENT supplies. Expert projector overhauling—What do you need? Ask us. MIDWEST THEATRE SUPPLY CO., 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

DRAPERY FABRICS, VELOURS, SATEENS, ETC. ASSOCIATED FABRICS, 723 Seventh Ave., New York.

COMPLETE BOOTH AND SOUND EQUIPMENT. New and rebuilt. Accessories and Supplies. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THEATRES

WILL SELL FIVE-YEAR LEASE ON PAYING theatre for $1,000.00 cash. BOX 372, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN THEATRE POSTER PAINTING. NATIONAL ACADEMY OF LETTERING, Box 102, Aurora, Ill.

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

Used in 7 out of 8

American Pictures in

"1933's TEN BEST"

OF THE Ten Best Pictures of 1933 chosen in the Film Daily's poll, eight were American productions. Of those eight, seven were photographed on Eastman "Gray-Back." This is outstanding evidence of the acceptance enjoyed by Eastman Super-Sensitive Panchromatic Negative among cameramen and producers . . . and a signal tribute to the versatility and unfailingly high quality of the film itself. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive

Panchromatic Negative (Gray-Backed)

GEORGE RAFT

in "The TRUMPET BLOWS"

with ADOLPHE MENJOU

and FRANCES DRAKE

Directed by Stephen Roberts • A Paramount Picture

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

"If the present Federal criminal law was enforced against a few bad boys making the few pictures which have smart-aleck, sophisticated smut, there would be greater results than from all the censorship bills in the world."

—Charles Pettijohn, General Counsel, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, at hearing on Patman bill in Washington.

Vol. 114, No. 13 Entered as second-class matter January 17, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a Year. Single Copies

March 24, 1934

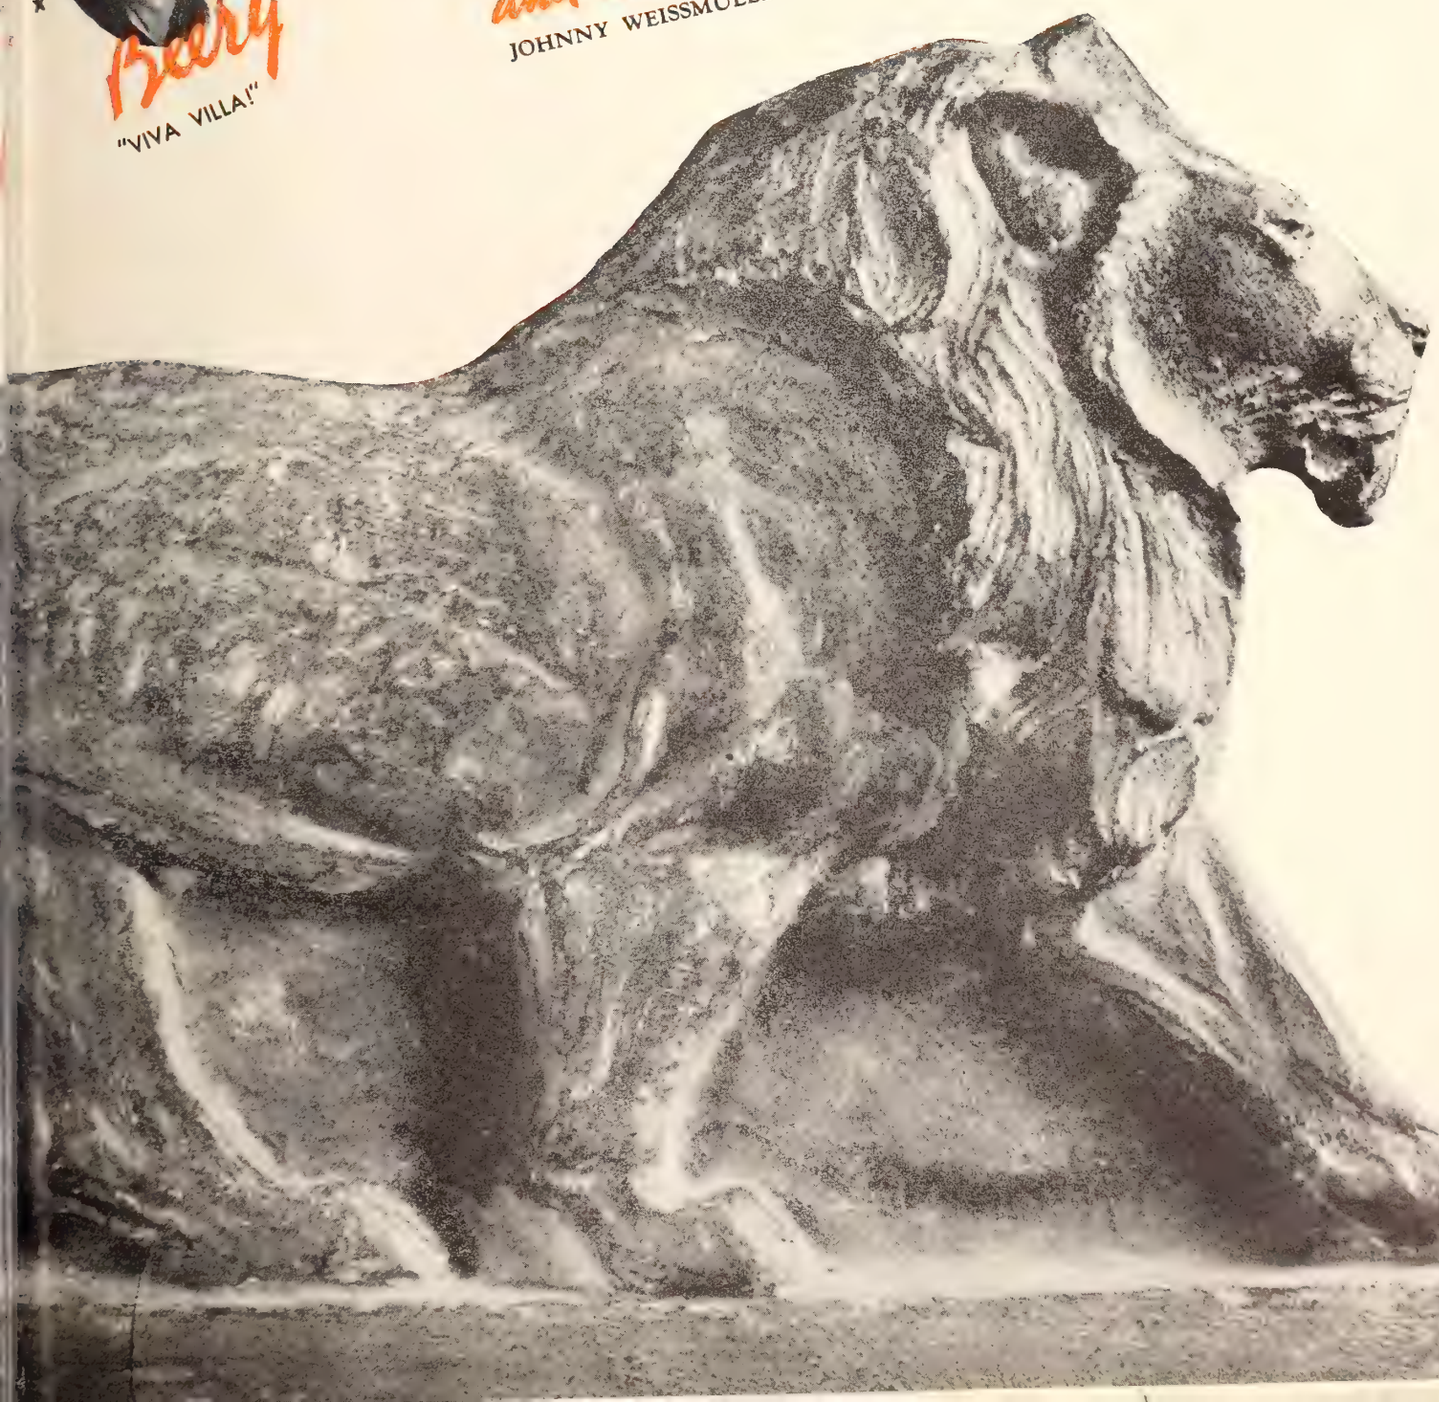
Leo MARCHES ON!

This industry long accustomed to great achievements of M-G-M will now see an even greater page in the history of this company. Sweeping everything before them come these giant attractions: NORMA SHEARER, ROBERT MONTGOMERY in "Riptide"—"TARZAN AND HIS MATE" starring Johnny Weissmuller. "VIVA VILLA!" starring WALLACE BEERY. "HOLLYWOOD PARTY" grandest of all musical comedies of the screen. CLARK GABLE in "Men in White". MARION DAVIES in "Operator 13" JOAN CRAWFORD in "Sadie McKee". And other Big Ones to follow. Leo marches on!

Beery

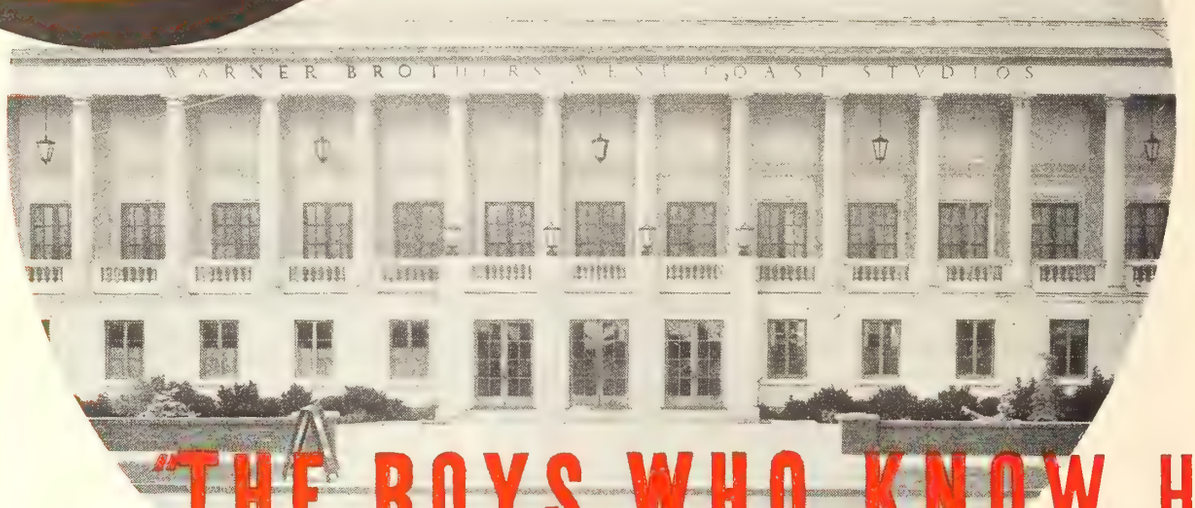
"VIVA VILLA!"

Tarzan and his Mate



JOHNNY WEISSMULLER

Shearer



MONTGOMERY

"RIPTIDE"

"GUEST AD WRITERS" PRODUCE FIRST CO-OPERATIVE TRADE AD!

Six different publications collaborated on this trade advertisement for Warner Bros. Every single word from headline to signature is quoted from recent issues of these papers!

"THE BOYS WHO KNOW HOW TO MAKE THEM ARE STILL TURNING THEM OUT! . . ."

—Jay Emanuel Publications, Mar. 5

"Minneapolis Goes to Town for 'As The Earth Turns'"

—Variety, Mar. 20

"The Warners have again demonstrated their courageousness in producing 'As The Earth Turns,' a motion picture which is...different from anything you have ever seen...It has power and drama like nature itself...Jean Muir reveals...poignant acting ability."

—Lawrence Reid, Editor of "M.P. Magazine" and "Classic"

°A First National Picture Vitagraph, Inc, Distributors

"Barbara Stanwyck in Gambling Lady is swell drama . . . Has plenty of twists to maintain steady interest . . . Intriguing entertainment." —Film Daily, Mar. 7

"Ace product . . . Gives Barbara Stanwyck the richest opportunity she has yet had . . . Smart direction and superb performances."
—Variety Daily, Mar. 2

"James Cagney in Jimmy The Gent gives something new and original . . . Novel situations evolve a bang-up, fast-moving comedy, general in appeal to evoke laughter from almost any type of audience."

—Motion Picture Daily, Mar. 2

"Harold Teen—featuring Hal LeRoy is played, directed, and presented in all its elements to capture the charm of adolescence . . . Holds to the universal appeal of the comic strip . . . It appeals to the eye, touches the heart and evokes laughs in well balance proportions."—Variety Daily, Feb. 15

"Joe E. Brown in A Very Honorable Guy is a swell comedy idea . . . Grand slam entertainment . . . Situations and gags are made to order for Brown and he handles them at his top notch. A fine piece of theatre merchandise."

—Variety Daily, Mar. 17

"WARNERS LEAD FILM MANUFACTURERS in sure fire but artless wares...They have the secret...Careful selection of ingredients turns the trick . . . Increasingly frequent success of the Warner Brothers . . . makes inevitable multiplied imitation."

—Buffalo Times, Feb. 18

Dashing

HUGH WILLIAMS

Appealing to women... respected by men... this accomplished and versatile actor has won dramatic renown in such successful plays as "Journey's End," "The Green Bay Tree," " Grand Hotel" and "The Firebrand." American screen audiences saw him in "Rome Express" and "Bitter Sweet." His powerful, yet sensitive, performance in "All Men Are Enemies"... forthcoming from FOX . . . will undoubtedly establish him here as a top-rank marquee name.

★ ★ ★ ★ FOX ★ PERSONALITIES ★ PARADE

MAR 23 1934 ©C1B 220333

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 114, No. 13 March 24, 1934

NAMES

THE casting office of the Motion Picture Research Council has announced Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, as an honorary vice-president of the council. The Reverend William Harrison Short, the executive operator of the council, thus adds another luminous name and association to the list now including Mrs. August Belmont and Mrs. Grace Calvin Coolidge.

Mrs. Roosevelt has given to the public press a statement which reminds us that the literary style of these ladies is remarkably similar and their exhaustive studies of the art and the industry of the motion picture had brought them to conclusions also remarkably identical and also, by astonishing coincidence, identical with what may be called the "Short Interpretation" of the reports of the research scientists who conducted the tests now made the handbook of the uplifters.

All of these ladies are convinced that the motion picture is a grand instrument for education, that the great evil of the industry is that blockbooking forces the exhibitor to play naughty pictures, and that pictures should be made for infants. So there.

△ △ △

HURRAH FOR THE AS IS

CONSIDERABLE merit and repose of soul is to be had from the occasional reflection that there are on the whole abundant reasons for the current state of the world, its mores, fastes and arts, and that not a great deal is going to be done about them in any great haste.

In tune with our passing mood of tolerence is a recent outpouring from the youthful sagacity of Mr. Eric M. Knight, who writes in the Philadelphia Public Ledger about movies, every day, and who says:

> I can tell you that I don't get tired of movies. It's the arguments about them that I get tired of. We have one bunch arguing for movies with "better social content" and another that wants higher moral standard. . . . I want to hear some one root for poor old movie for its own sake.
>
> It is fair to suppose that in time we shall get the kind of motion pictures that critics and cinema enthusiasts call for and laud. But it is foolish to believe that the movie-mass will be any more interested in them than it is now interested in Debussy, Archipenko, James Joyce or Jasper Deeter.

The situation would be helped somewhat, too, if the professional apologists and defenders of the movies would come to an end of their eternal piffle about "educational values" and "service" and cooperation with "causes." If the movies will take care of the problem of being worth in the vicinity of forty cents a seat they will have done their job.

BETTER ADVERTISING

THE most casual excursion through the pages of Motion Picture Herald and its contemporaries reveals to the competent observer a marked improvement in the quality of picture advertising in the past few months.

The improvement is to be noted in every aspect of the work, the copy content, the display and the attention given to a more effective use of color.

All this comes, most interestingly, as by-product of an effort to clean up the advertising copy of the industry with respect to smut and the dirty exploitation of sex. The movement began at the office of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., with the appointment by Mr. Will Hays of Mr. J. J. McCarthy, showman, to sit in council with the picture advertisers.

The cleaning-up has been proved simple enough by the removal of the impulse to rivalry in the race for "red hot" lines. But meanwhile the writers of advertising have been given encouragement in the processes by which good advertising is put together and have been made conscious that their copy is perhaps getting more than the routine attention of other executive desks. So it appears that publicity can help even advertising.

Good taste and good typography never hurt an advertisement, and bad manners on the printed page are quite as unproductive as in the conduct of a salesman.

△ △ △

COMPETENT BUT COMPLACENT

"HOLLYWOOD, the land of the cloud walkers, has been indifferent to constructive criticism for the simple reason that it has run along for years without the competition necessary to awaken it," observed Miss Irene Kuhn, speaking over the radio the other night. There are indications that things are going to be different. The years of the sunshine dynasty near the end. "Hollywood" divided and transported, with the widening of the production map, will provide the competition of its awakening. As Miss Kuhn infers, the problem is created by too much complacency among the competent.

△ △ △

MISS MARY AUSTIN'S new book under the title "One Smoke Stories" reminds us of the ancient custom of the southwestern Indians who limited the fireside tales of their raconteurs to the time it took to smoke one cigarette, rolled in the husk of the maize. And what a help it would be if some such time limit could be imposed on the now active legion of short producers who are making full releases out of material that should be cut into newsreel subjects.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Cable address "Quigpubco, New York." Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago Bureau, 407 South Dearborn Street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Postal Union Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London Bureau, 6 Brookland Close, Hampstead Garden Suburb, London, England, Bernard Charman, representative, Manchar, London; Berlin Bureau, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, Joachim K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Bureau, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autre, representative, cable, Autre-Lacifral-20 Paris; Rome Bureau, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio, Malpassuti, representative, Italcable, Malpassuti, Rome; Sydney Bureau, 102 Sussex Street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City Bureau, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico, James Lockhart, representative. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1934 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and The Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK----

SUIT DISMISSED

Of some significance is the decision, rendered last week by the South Carolina supreme court, upholding a lower court verdict that a theatre is not an insurer of its patrons' safety. Against the Carolina theatre, Columbia, a patron brought a damage suit, claiming injury when she tripped, fell, escaping the fumes of a stench bomb. No proof of negligence or wilfulness, was the basis of both decisions. . . .

FILM COUNCIL

For the purpose of opening a theatre where only approved films will be shown, various church, parent-teacher and women's groups in Portland, Ore., have formed a motion picture council. Need of films for juveniles is cited by the group.. . .

MARYLAND MPTO ELECTS

The MPTO of Maryland, at Baltimore, last week installed these officers: president, Frank A. Hornig; vice president, Arthur B. Price; treasurer, J. Harry Gruver; secretary, Helen Connelly; directors, Louis Gaertner, Walter Pacy, Herman A. Blum, Sam Soltz, Thomas D. Goldberg, J. Louis Rome; county directors, Philip Miller, Annapolis; Earle Burkins, Belair. . . .

LOS ANGELES LEVIES

Alarmed and aroused to opposition, film interests in Los Angeles are going to bat over a proposed local tax, called permit and fire protection charges, which would add considerable to the approximate $15,000,000 increase in production, distribution and exhibition cost facing the industry as a result of NRA. In Los Angeles local taxation hits hard at production. . . .

SOUND MEN GATHER

With 75 men as nucleus, topnotch sound technicians on the Coast are organizing their own society, along lines of the American Society of Cinematographers, to avoid entering any new union deals, particularly with the IBEW. When organized they will attempt negotiation of their own studio deals. Several major producers are reported in favor. . . .

NEW LICENSE FEE

Bringing sharp protest from managers of four theatres the Logan, Utah, city commission has passed an ordinance requiring a city examination, $5 license fee for projectionists. The union backed the measure. A great hardship on theatre owners, say the protestants. "We feel we are the best judges of who is capable of serving us as operators." . . .

KANSAS CITY OVERSEATING

Reviving in Kansas City is a plan, sponsored for a second time by W. H. Fulton, leading neighborhood exhibitor, for taking over suburban houses now dark or operating at a loss, dismantling them or turning them to other uses. The reason; overseating has brought about the present condition of cut-throat competition in the area. . . .

BUDDING CRITICS

Oakland, Cal., school children (400) are studying film appreciation, a state board of education experiment. Designed to develop critical standards of evaluation, technically and with respect to social aims, the course is an adjunct to the study of English. . . .

CONTROL AMUSEMENTS

A board of three will control amusements in Gary, Ind., in accordance with an ordinance passed by the city council. In addition to ordinance enforcement, the board will inspect all films not approved by the National Board of Review. "Walkathons" and marathons are said to be the chief targets of the board. . . .

In This Issue

Reformers rage; Pettijohn warns; Myers in tilt; Patman bill sleeps — Page 9
Fox Net of $853,668 for 1933, reflects result of financial reorganization — Page 13
Broadcasters rebel against "cold" bulletins supplied them by newspapers — Page 21
New York is wrong 70 per cent of the time in circuit rule, says David J. Chatkin — Page 26
Box Office Champions for February — Page 38

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 11
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 67
The Hollywood Scene — Page 19
DeCasseres on Broadway Plays — Page 68
Asides and Interludes — Page 27

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 59
Showmen's Reviews — Page 45
Managers' Round Table — Page 75
Technological — Page 73
Short Feature News — Page 84
Chicago — Page 84
The Release Chart — Page 85
Box Office Receipts — Page 52
Voice of the Industry — Page 74
Classified Advertising — Page 90

EMPLOYMENT

From California state labor commissioner Frank C. McDonald last week came a report that pay rolls of state industries in February showed a gain of 29.7 per cent over February, 1933. Outstanding was film's gain of 82.3 per cent. . . .

BILL BEATEN

A decisive vote in the Massachusetts House of Representatives (59 to 17) last week scotched a measure of Representative Dorgan of Boston which would prohibit children under 14 from attending any but educational or religious pictures. The persistent legislator declared he would file his bill again. . . .

EDUCATION'S LABORATORY

The potentiality of the neighborhood film theatre as an educational laboratory last week engaged the attention of the motion picture committee of the Wilmington, Del., Federation of Women's Clubs. The aim: greater appreciation for the better class of films. . . .

GULF STATES MEETS

On April 3 and 4, in New Orleans, will be held the first territorial convention of the recently organized Gulf States Theatre Owners' Association. Carl Laemmle, Universal president, is expected to attend. A film fair will feature the event at which approximately 200 are expected. . . .

STONE CASTER

Taking it out on Hollywood, as has been done often and often before, Louis Weitzenkorn, erstwhile Bernarr Macfadden writer, MGM scenarist and author of "Five Star Final," in a recent issue of Vincent Astor's "Today," vents considerable spleen on Coast executives. The title: "In Two Words, Im possible." The victims (compositely called Silverfish): Emanuel Cohen, Irving Thalberg, Louis B. Mayer, Samuel Goldwyn, Carl Laemmle, Winfield Sheehan. . . .

BETTER MATINEES

A welcome tendency toward greater attendance during matinee performances is indicated in a survey of the Midwest. From Oklahoma City comes report that numerous houses show greater grosses during the afternoon than the evening. Estimated cause: five-day week, shorter hours, more leisure. . . .

TRAILERS

Warner, to raise the entertainment value of its trailers, in future will release them as actual short subjects, 300 feet in length. George Bilson will produce. . . .

REFORMERS RAGE; PETTIJOHN WARNS; MYERS IN TILT; PATMAN BILL SLEEPS

Women Hiss and Boo Representative Connery for Opposing Censor Bill That Would Cost Film Business 8 Millions Yearly

The motion picture industry again was called upon this week to defend itself in the legislative halls at Washington against public charges that federal censorship is necessary.

The reform element, many of them "professionals," stormed Capitol Hill early Monday morning to demand that the 73rd Congress enforce strict governmental supervision over the morals of the motion picture. Although the eventual outcome at this session probably will not change the status quo, a warning was sounded by Charles Clyde Pettijohn, of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, to a "few wise-cracking 'smutheads'" that unless they cease "dragging the industry into partial disrepute" by catering to the "wise-crackers of Broadway and Hollywood Boulevard," they cannot avoid federal prosecution under the United States criminal code.

Reformers' Field Day

The scene Monday was a public hearing before the House committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The immediate subject was Congressman Wright Patman's two bills, H. R. 6097 and H. R. 8686, which, respectively would create federal film censorship and abolish block booking.

It was a typical reformers' field day, and, as usual, Canon William Sheafe Chase, gray-haired, "four-minute-man" of the International Reform Federation, was the grand marshal of the anti-industry forces.

An uproar was precipitated when Abram Fern Myers, general counsel of Allied States Exhibitors' Association, charged Congressman Chapman with being "unfair" in "insinuating" that certain activities in connection with his career as a Federal Trade Commissioner and as Allied's chief might be questioned.

The hearing was enlivened further, when Representative Connery, of Massachusetts, was hissed and booed loudly by some women of the reform element for opposing Patman's censorship bill.

Industry estimates place the cost of a federal censorship commission under the bill at $8,400,000, while predictions of the cost of revolutionizing the system of merchandising, if block booking were abolished, run into untold millions.

Mr. Pettijohn, of the MPPDA, attacked many of the arguments set up by proponents of the censorship bill, pointing out at the hearing that there has existed since 1919 a federal criminal statute which provides heavy penalties (fines and jail terms) for transporting or showing objectionable motion pictures, and that if the law were enforced against a few "bad boys" . . . "you would get more results than from all the censorship bills in the world."

The Code of Ethics for the production of motion pictures, established on April 1, 1930, by the Hays organization, is a definite part of the Patman bill.

Immediate enactment of the Patman bill as a panacea for all the ills of the industry was demanded at the hearing by Canon William Sheafe Chase, who, among other positions in the reform movement, is secretary of the Federal Motion Picture Council in America.

Less than two hours was available for the hearing, at the end of which time neither side had presented all its arguments. The industry, in fact, had but a brief ten minutes.

No indication was given that a further hearing will be held soon. It was generally admitted that there is little likelihood of further serious consideration of the proposed Act at this session.

Not All Committed to Bill

"We do not want to do anything to hurt or retard the industry," Congressman Patman assured the committee in explaining his bill at the hearing. "But the people generally have a right to make suggestions as to what should be done in order that the business be improved. Need of the bill is indicated by the fact that six states for many years have had censorship."

Canon Chase took the floor. The minister evidently was in complete charge of parceling the time allotted among supporters of the bill. He declared the Motion Picture Code does not provide for a moral code, explaining that "we would simply make law out of what the motion picture industry promised to enforce themselves," obviously referring to the production Code of Ethics.

"All three great religions—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—are unanimous in their demands for reform," Canon Chase said, admitting, however, that these three religions were not all committed to the Patman bill.

The Chase forces indicated they would be in favor of extending the Patman bill to include supervision of literature and the press. Mr. Chase said that there are times when he thinks "we may have to" sponsor such an extension of censorship "when we find we cannot have the freedom of the press."

A lengthy dissertation by another Chase affiliate, Mrs. Robins Gilman, of Minneapolis, president of the Federal Motion Picture Council and head of the motion picture committee of the National Parents and Teachers Association, on the effect of present day pictures on children, moved Congressman Merritt, of Connecticut, to ask how the federal government could keep children out of the theatres. His query elicited from Mrs. Gilman only the vague response that the approval labels on films under the Patman censorship would tell parents which were acceptable pictures.

Calls Juvenile Films Profitable Field

Pictures for children, Mrs. Gilman asserted, offer a very profitable field for the producers, but all efforts to have them made have been "thwarted by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors." The industry in this country, she complained, is not interested in culture and education. Love, sex and crime appear in 80 per cent of the films. "We are asking that pictures made for children be made with other things or with treatment of those things more in accord with national ideals," she said, citing that in 115 films studied, 406 crimes were committed, 21 per cent by the hero and 46 per cent by the villain.

Asked by Congressman Mapes, of Michigan, what improvement in films the Hays organization has made, Mrs. Gilman declared: "I do not believe they have been responsible for any improvement, other than an improvement in technique which has also made more lurid the treatment of material."

Congressman Pettingill, of Indiana, also asked about keeping children out of theatres, Mrs. Gilman answering that she was seeking to have pictures controlled at the source.

"I wonder what Hays has done to warrant the high salary he has received," Congressman Pettingill said.

"The prevention of this legislation," retorted Mrs. Gilman.

At this point Canon Chase interrupted with the observation: "We need protection, our boys and girls do, from greedy men who are willing to make money out of demoralizing the youth of our land."

Opposition to the Patman bill was advanced by the Civil Liberties Union on the ground that "experience has shown that the best control of obscene matter lies in the hands of juries under criminal law."

Objection also was presented by the National Council of Freedom From Censorship, to Chairman Rayburn of the committee.

The Council's opposition to "bureaucratic censorship in any form" was expressed over

FROM COTTON FARMING TO CAPITOL HILL

Congressman Wright Patman—sponsor of House of Representative bills 6097 and 8686, which, respectively, would create federal censorship of films and abolish block booking—has been at Washington representing the first Congressional district of Texas since 1929.

A Democrat and Baptist, Mr. Patman was born in the rural place of Hughes Springs, Texas, August 6, 1893. In the summer of 1912, he was graduated from the local high school. The next two years were spent in cotton farming, the while he studied extension courses provided by Cumberland University, of Lebanon, Tenn. Two years of assorted studies and two more concentrated on law, and, in 1916, Wright Patman was admitted to the Texas bar, with an LL.B. from Cumberland.

Mr. Patman scarcely had finished tacking his shingle to a small place at Hughes Springs when he was appointed assistant district attorney of his native Cass County. That beginning of a political career was interrupted in 1917 for some machine gun sniping with the AEF in France. In 1919 he returned to law in Texas. Two years later he was in the state legislature, serving three years. From 1924 until 1929 he was district attorney for the Fifth Judicial District.

Election to Congress to represent the First Congressional District came in 1929. He has been there ever since.

Congressman Patman's home is on Olive street in Texarkana, a place of some 16,000. He has four sons.

MPPDA Counsel Declares "Few Wise-Cracking 'Smut-Heads'" Must Cease Tactics or Face Criminal Code Prosecution

PETTIJOHN WARNS THE "BAD BOYS"

the signatures of Hatcher Hughes, chairman, Elmer Rice and Barret H. Clark, vice-chairmen, and presented by Leroy Bowman of the Child Study Association, who acted as spokesman of a number of groups, including the National Council, in opposition to the bill.

Calls Prosecution Sufficient Control

"Juries reflect public standards on morals," the National Council's brief declared, "far better than professional censors. Prosecutions are now sufficient control of obscene and indecent matter in print, paintings, or on the stage. Motion pictures should be no exception."

The Council declared that state motion picture censorship had not been extended since 1922 and cited the defeat in that year in a referendum vote in Massachusetts of a proposal for censorship by the vote of 547,000 to 207,000. The popular verdict would be similar anywhere in the country, said the National Council.

The plaintiffs rested, and Mr. Pettijohn arose in defense, meeting the charge voiced at the hearing by Rabbi Israel, of Baltimore, that there were many pictures unfit for children. Mr. Pettijohn pointed out that Maryland has censorship and could prevent such a condition. At the same time, he commented that Chicago for years has had "the most vigorous censorship in the world" but that the result in that "peaceful armed village" speaks for itself.

As to good and bad pictures, Mr. Pettijohn pointed out that "what these groups call good pictures the exhibitor calls bad because they do not bring money into the box-office." For years, the industry has been producing these "good" pictures, he explained; at first they all failed, then they began to break even and now they make a little money, but only because these public groups get behind them and push them.

Mr. Pettijohn called Canon Chase a "professional reformer" and sat down.

Cites Improvement

"I am absolutely opposed to this bill or any other bill of its kind," Representative Connery said amid manifestations of displeasure from the audience. "Several years ago, when I operated a theatre, I told the producers if they did not want to get into trouble with the government they must clean up their pictures; since that time I have seen a tremendous improvement.

"We are getting back to the Eighteenth Amendment situation again, telling people what they can see and what they cannot see."

Representative Connery, a Democrat of Massachusetts, and chairman of the House Labor Committee, was hissed and booed by women of the reform element when he said he saw no reason why Shakespeare's plays should be cut out in a picture "because some old maid out in Oshkosh doesn't like it."

A brief opposing a requirement in the Patman bill that newsreel producers be bonded was filed for the five newsreels by Jack Connolly, of Pathe. The brief also charged the measure ignores the Constitution in providing for regulation covering "films which aim to or do assist in the election or defeat of any political candidate."

Congressman Patman's censorship bill would set up a federal commission of nine persons, four to be women, who would receive $9,000 a year. They would inspect and label all films, prohibit objectionable pictures and advertising.

Mr. Pettijohn vigorously denounced those in the industry who, he said, are responsible for the "trouble" over federal censorship. He said:

"Nothing happened in Washington to indicate that the Congressmen did not believe that a considerable amount of 'smart-aleck sophisticated smut' is appearing in a few films. Those double-meaning 'wise-cracks' that are causing trouble and are dragging the industry into partial disrepute seem to be injected into a few films to please the small handful of sophisticated 'wise-crackers' along Broadway and Hollywood Boulevard. They are an unimportant and small percentage of the American motion picture audience, and most of them use passes anyhow."

A Few "Bad Boys"

"There are a few bad boys in this business," he continued, "who might profit by reading a federal statute that was read into the record at the Patman bill hearings at Washington."

"I do not believe that either the Interstate Commerce Committee of the House, or Congress, itself, is, or has ever been impressed with the idea that censorship per se is a desirable thing or will curb anything," he said, adding, "I do believe, however, that they feel that we have a few people in Hollywood who had better begin to take seriously the principles of self-discipline in motion picture production."

Little Block Booking Discussion

In a last minute effort to pave the way for introduction into the hearings of a discussion of block booking, Representative Patman, on March 16, introduced a bill in the House prohibiting block booking, requiring the furnishing of accurate synopses of all pictures offered to exhibitors before they are released, and amending the Clayton act to make it apply to license agreements and leases. Although there was some discussion of block booking, the hearing on Monday was mostly given over to the censorship proposition.

Canon Chase expressed the opinion that "every exhibitor ought to have the right to pick out just what picture he wants to show."

Taking up the defense of block booking for the distributors, Mr. Pettijohn charged that, despite the allegations of the bill's proponents, block booking is not the basis of all the evils of the industry. He declared that less than 20 per cent of all sales contracts call for the entire output of any one distributor. Block booking, he said, originated with the exhibitors themselves, in an effort to assure a steady supply of product.

It was Mr. Pettijohn who brought Abram Myers, Allied counsel, into the picture with an explanation of the Allied-Tiffany franchise of a few years ago. Declaring how Mr. Myers now is fighting block booking, he told how the Tiffany Pictures franchise was to be sold for a period of five years, in a tieup with Allied, exhibitors being required to take the entire Tiffany output without knowing what would be produced or even how much they would have to pay for it.

Turning to Mr. Myers, Mr. Pettijohn said: "If you want to cite to this Committee a case of real block booking, tell them about your Tiffany franchise."

Congressman Questions Myers

Rushing to the floor with a request that he be permitted to answer, Mr. Myers was greeted by Congressman Chapman with questions as to his activities in the organization of Allied while he was a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

Mr. Myers said that he was present at the hearing in behalf of the block booking bill only, but inasmuch as lack of time prevented him from speaking on the floor, he filed a brief for the record. Allied, he explained, is "a national organization composed entirely of independent exhibitors; that is, of theatres that are not controlled by Mr. Pettijohn's clients, and we are interested in the subject of block booking."

The Myers-Chapman blow-up came when the Congressman asked Mr. Myers: "Are you the same Mr. Myers that was one time member of the Federal Trade Commission?"

Mr. Myers: "That is true."

Mr. Chapman: "While you were a member of that Commission, did you preside over a Federal Trade Commission hearing in New York?"

Mr. Myers: "In 1927, yes."

Blames Producers for Criticism

Mr. Chapman: "And following that practice hearing, and while still a member of the Commission, did you meet with a group of motion picture producers in Chicago and New York and assist in organizing that group with the understanding that if you were not reappointed to the Federal Trade Commission you would become president and general counsel of the group?"

Mr. Myers: "Mr. Chairman, the Congressman asked me my name. May I ask his name?"

Mr. Chapman: "Certainly. Chapman."

Mr. Myers: "All right. I will tell you. That is a criticism apparently that has been suggested here from the Producers' Association, and if you would like to go into that here I can tell you. The facts are these: That I did not. I tendered my resignation as a member of the Federal Trade Commission early in November, I think it was, in 1928.

"Now, there was nothing pending before the Commission at that time, so far as I know, which involved the matter we have here.

"There were some questions that came up before the Commission for consideration, and I as a member of that Commission, as a court would probably do under the circumstances, did not participate in them.

"It is true, of course, that having resigned I had under consideration a number of proposals."

Mr. Chapman: "One was that you would be made president or general counsel for this

(Continued on page 32, column 1)

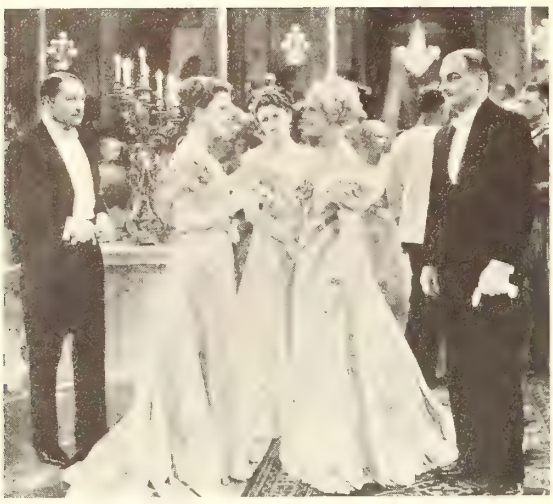
MPPDA BANS DILLINGER FILM

No motion picture, based on the life of John Dillinger, notorious gunman, will be produced, distributed or exhibited by any member company of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Will H. Hays announced this week. Action was taken by the board of directors following reports that a film was contemplated. The decision of the association was based on the belief that "such a picture would be detrimental to the best public interest."

THE CAMERA REPORTS

SIGNS ANEW. (Below) Harry Rapf, associate producer of MGM since its organization in 1924, who has signed a new three-year contract.

RETURNING. (Left) Gloria Swanson discussing production plans with Irving Thalberg, under whose banner she is to return to the screen for MGM.



REUNITED. (Right) Lanny Ross welcomed by Mary Lou, his radio co-worker, on returning to New York after completing his first Paramount film, "Melody in Spring."

ALL HERE: Managers and executives of Jefferson Amusement and East Texas Theatres, in Beaumont, Tex. Starting at rear, left to right: F. P. Ahysen, Mack Jarrett, Harold F. Smith, W. H. Dunbar, Charles Brewer, Herbert Mueller, J. C. Clemmons, H. H. Starcke, Sol E. Gordon, M. Schulman, Tom R. Clemmons, H. E. Brunson, L. B. Payne, L. N. Crim, W. E. Lanoue, B. E. Lannom, Holland Smith, S. L. Oakley, R. H. Clemmons, D. F. Luckie, Bee Cowan, Non Binion, E. W. Wilburn, F. G. Hervey, Hoyt Simmons, E. M. McDaniel, Fred Putnam, M. C. Clemmons, Fred Minton, R. J. Potter, E. D. Hayle, Dan Fagan, L. C. Kyburz, C. C. Porter, M. L. Wertheim, James E. King, Knox Lamb, W. L. Gelling, D. H. Suitt, C. L. McDonald, W. A. Lanagan, G. H. Mercer, Victor B. Lowrey.

Academy AWARDS

SCENE FROM "CAVALCADE"

SARAH Y. MASON AND VICTOR HEERMAN

CHARLES LAUGHTON

FRANK LLOYD

CHARLES LANGE

WILLIAM DARLING

"FAREWELL TO ARMS"

"ONE WAY PASSAGE" ROBERT LORD

"THREE LITTLE PIGS"

"SO THIS IS HARRIS"

Best Performance, Actress
Katharine Hepburn for "Morning Glory"

Best Performance, Actor
Charles Laughton for "Private Life of Henry VIII"

Best Direction
Frank Lloyd for "Cavalcade"

SCENE FROM "KRAKATOA"

Best adaptation: "Little Women," by Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman

Best novelty: Educational's "Krakatoa"

Best cartoon: Disney-United Artists' "Three Little Pigs"

Best art direction: William Darling for "Cavalcade"

Best short comedy: RKO Radio's "So This Is Harris"

Best production: "Cavalcade"

Best cinematography: Charles Lange for "Farewell to Arms"

Best sound: "Farewell to Arms" (Paramount)

Technical achievement: Erpi and RCA-Victor

Best original story: "One Way Passage," by Robert Lord

FOX FILM'S $853,668 NET REFLECTS RESULT OF FINANCIAL REORGANIZING

52-Week Report to December 30, 1933, Shows an Operating Profit Against $8,401,448 Loss for the Previous Year

With current assets totaling $18,264,086, against current liabilities aggregating $3,910,292, Fox Film Corporation last week issued its annual report for the 52 weeks ended December 30, 1933. A net operating profit for the entire year amounted to $853,668, as compared with an operating loss of $8,401,448 for 1932, thus indicating that the major reorganization of the company's financial affairs, which went into actual operation April 1, 1933, had placed the company in a position of substantial improvement.

Even stronger significance as to the effects of the reorganization plan is seen in the statement of a profit for the 39 weeks from April 1, amounting to $1,410,793.

To the improvement in the Fox situation may be credited a reduction of $7,312,895 in amortization of production cost; reductions in interest expenses amounting to $1,187,852; reductions in amortization of discounts and expense on the funded debt, totaling $411,571, and a profit on foreign exchange, which approximated $500,000. Through these four items alone a saving in 1933 of approximately $9,412,318 over 1932 was effected.

The reduction of $7,312,895 in amortization of production costs, from $24,482,323 in 1932 to $17,169,428 in 1933, is attributed by Fox officials to a "general reduction in the cost of production of pictures." On April 1, 1933, Fox had an inventory of pictures aggregating $10,240,522, and during the 39 weeks to December 30, there was spent on production $13,754,426. The amortization charged to profit and loss during this period amounted to $12,871,407, leaving an inventory of $11,123,541. The increase in the inventory is mainly accounted for by increased requirements to fill the demands in foreign countries and to a greater number of pictures completed on December 30, as compared with April 1. The basis of amortization of picture costs was maintained throughout 1933 in accordance with the table of amortization and the method of application of such table as outlined in the annual report for the 53 weeks ended December 30, 1932, presented herewith:

"The accumulated percentages of negative cost written off at the end of quarterly periods are as follows:

No. Weeks Since Release Date	Cumulative% Written Off
13	53
26	75.5
39	88
52	94.5
65	100

"In addition to the application of the above table, the corporation maintains a close scrutiny of the bookings and exhibition results of each picture for a period of weeks after its release and should it appear that the revenue of any particular picture will fall short of normal or average revenue, a further suitable provision is thereupon made for additional amortization."

The Fox Film official annual report does not treat of the 52 weeks of 1933 but compares 39 weeks of 1933 with 53 weeks of 1932. MOTION PICTURE HERALD, for purposes of a yearly comparison, consolidated the financial figures for the 13 weeks of 1933 prior to the reorganization with those of the 39 weeks.

Comparative figures appear in tabular form on the following page.

The $1,187,852 reduction in interest expenses from $2,018,370 in 1932 to $830,518 in 1933 was due almost entirely to the retirement of all but $1,746,600 of a $30,000,000 bond issue under the plan of reorganization. Also this retirement could not help but have a favorable effect upon the reduction in amortization of discounts and expenses on the funded debt, which was reduced from $614,714 in 1932 to $203,143 in 1933. The $30,000,000 bond issue was converted into stock in Fox Film and, at the rate of 6 per cent, the saving here alone would be approximately $1,765,406, representing interest charges on the $28,253,400 in bonds retired.

The profit on foreign exchange during 1933 amounted to exactly $449,137, as compared with no profits in 1932. The gross profit was $669,137, less amortization reserve for the fluctuation of dollar value of working assets in foreign countries.

Large Financial Writedowns

Total assets of the corporation as of December 30, 1933, amounted to $45,903,663, as compared with $119,162,248 at December 31, 1932, but current assets, as of December 30, 1933, totaled $18,264,085 as compared with $13,300,976 on December 31, 1932. On the liabilities side of the ledger, notes payable on December 30, 1933, totaled $727,333, comparable with $8,448,203 for the same charges on December 31, 1932. The portion of the funded debt maturing in one year from December 30, 1933, amounts to $142,650, compared with $174,330 for the same period as of December, 1932.

The balance sheet and the consolidated income account give effect to the huge financial writedowns, which were made directly as a result of the financial rehabilitation and reorganization plan.

The corporation's investment in Wesco Corporation, operators of all Fox theatre properties in the country, has been written down to $1, although Fox still lists advances to Wesco of some $8,511,525. Investments and advances to Wesco were listed at $16,291,000 on December 31, 1932. In the balance sheet the accounts of Wesco and its subsidiaries have not been consolidated with those of Fox Film. Important subsidiaries of Wesco are still in bankruptcy and the books and records are in possession of court officials and were not available for the usual annual audit.

Probably the most important writedown reported in the Fox statement gave effect to the writedown of a $46,173,712 investment in Film Securities Corporation.

39-Week Net of $1,410,793 Recorded Since April 1, Effective Date of Overhauling of Company's Financial Structure

The statement of reserve for revaluation of investments as of December 30, 1933, including wholly-owned subsidiaries, excepting Wesco and its subsidiaries, shows a balance on January 1, 1933, of $37,247,386. Of this, reduction in book value of investments incident to the reorganization, totaled $46,173,712 in Film Securities Corp.; Wesco, $9,421,642; Fox Realty Corp. of California, $3,761,532; Fox Film Realty Corp., $584,243, the whole totaling $59,941,130, less amount charged to paid-in surplus, amounting to $22,693,743. The amount provided, April 1, 1933, from paid-in surplus was $14,500,000, representing the balance, as of December 30, carried to balance sheet. Appropriation from paid-in surplus amounted, in 1933, to $37,797,429, less the amount applied against possible loss on advance to Fox Theatres Corp., $550,043.

The statement of reserve for indeterminate liabilities and contingencies as of December 30, 1933, shows a balance on January 1, 1933, of $1,717,176, and a balance on April 1 of $1,625,007. The balance on December 26, 1931, amounted to $2,233,095. This included all wholly-owned subsidiaries, which the December 30, 1933 statement did not. Without Wesco, the balance on December 26, 1931, was $2,022,633, and the balance, December 31, 1932, applied to balance sheet, was $1,717,176.

The statement of paid-in surplus, including wholly-owned subsidiaries, but without Wesco, as of December 30, 1933, shows that on January 1, 1933, there was a balance of $36,062,396. Changes incident to reorganization as of April 1, 1933, included additions totaling $41,963,378, chiefly through the reductions of outstanding stock by exchange of one new share for each six shares of old stock; issuance of 2,015,482 1/3 shares of new common stock at $18.90 and carried to balance sheet at stated value of $5 per share; transfer of balance of reserve for indeterminate liabilities and contingencies as of April 1, 1933, and transfer of unearned income April 1.

Deductions Were $56,696,604

Deductions amounted to $56,696,604, including reductions in book value of investments; provisions for revaluations of investments and advances and for contingencies; deficit from operation prior to April 1, 1933, consisting of balance as at December 31, 1932 of $15,010,395, and loss of $535,569 for the 13 weeks ended April 1, 1933, and sundry adjustments of $87,450; interest and amortization of discount and expenses on obligations retired in the reorganization; transfer of unamortized discount and expenses in respect of securities retired in reorganization, and legal fees, taxes and other expenses in connection with reorganization. Net deductions incident to reorganization amounted to $14,733,226; the balance on April 1, 1933, was $21,329,170 and the balance, December 30, 1933, carried to balance sheet, was $21,329,170.

Including all wholly-owned subsidiaries, the surplus created during the year by the revaluation of capital stock to $5 per share, as authorized by the stockholders on April 19, 1932, amounted to $78,152,200, less charges during the year amounting to $42,089,396, leaving a balance on December 30, 1933, to balance sheet, of $36,062,396.

FOX FILM PROFIT AND LOSS, 1933-32

In the accompanying table of comparisons of profit and loss of Fox Film Corporation for 1933 and the previous year, several classifications of time periods are presented. The two first columns are for the 13 weeks ended April 1, 1933. The third and fourth columns are for the 39 weeks ended December 30, 1933. Columns Five and Six present the figures for 52 weeks ended December 30, 1933, while the two final columns of figures show the totals for 53 weeks ended December 31, 1932.

OPERATING PROFIT:	13 Weeks Ended April 1, 1933		39 Weeks Ended December 30, 1933		*52 Weeks Ended December 30, 1933		53 Weeks Ended December 31, 1932
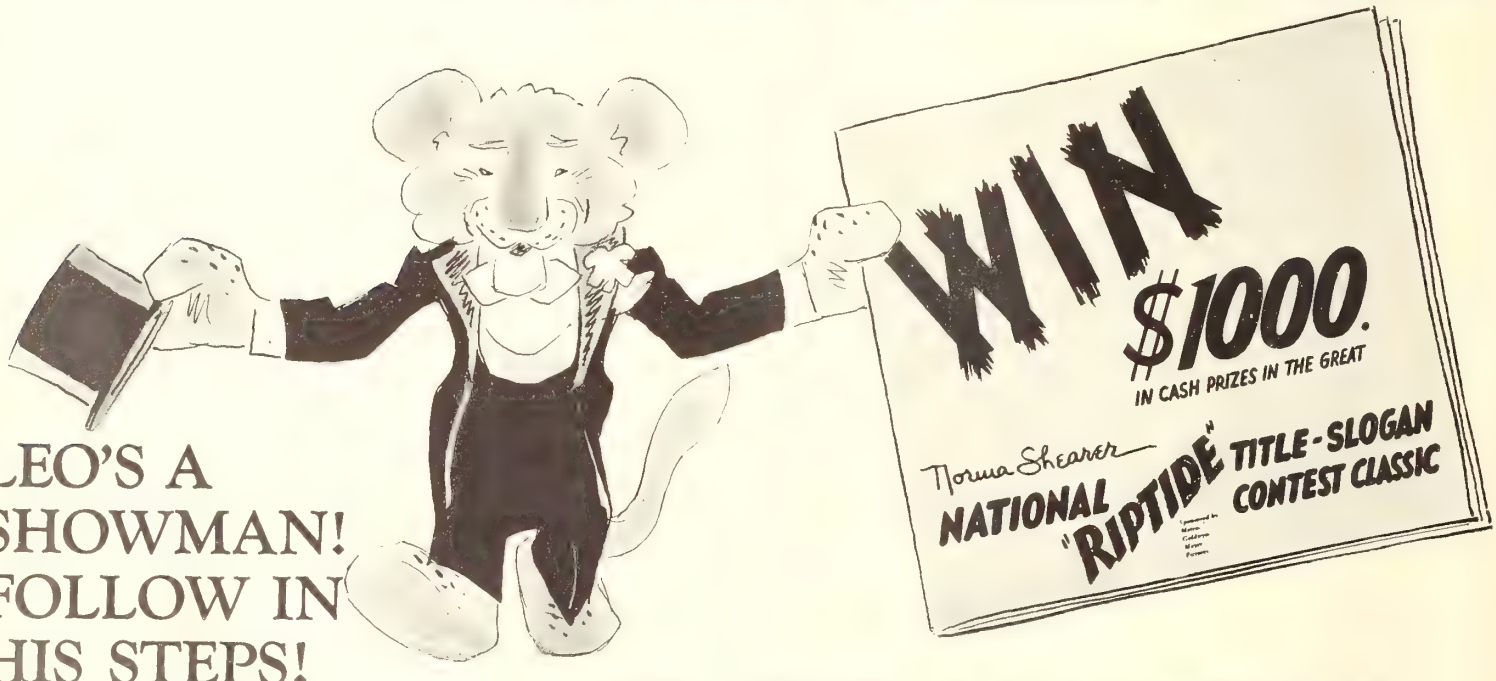
Income:
Gross income from sales and rentals of film and literature		$7,690,074.49		$24,288,823.81		$31,978,898.30		$29,712,415.56
Dividends		.....		259,225.84		259,225.84		.....
Other Income		317,002.60		730,641.34		1,047,643.94		1,366,247.14
		$8,007,077.09		$25,278,690.99		$33,285.768.08		$31,078,662.70
Expenses:
Operating exp. of exchanges, head office and administrative expenses	$2,187,500.42		$6,615,996.03		$8,803,486.45		$8,542,691.23
Amortization of production cost	4,298.021.32		12,871,406.83		17,169,428.15		24,482,323.47
Participation in film rentals	1,268,479.15		3,870,894.31		5,139,373.46		3,571,232.32
		$7,754.000.89		$23,358,297.17		31,112,298.06		36,596,247.02
Net profit before interest and depreciation		$253,076.20		$1,920,393.82		$2,173,469.86		†$5,517,584.32
Deduct:
Interest Expense	$592,724.92		$237,793.64		$830,518.56		$2,018,370.27
Amortization of discounts and expense on funded debt	153,684.92		49,458.46		203,143.38		614,714.81
Depreciation of fixed assets, not including dpreciation of studio buildings and equipment absorbed in production cost	63,788.85		222,348.59		286,137.44		‡250,778.64
		$810,198.69		$509,600.69
Net operating profit		†$557,122.49		$1,410,793.13		$853,668.58		†$8,401,448.04
OTHER CREDITS:
Profit on foreign exchange	$29,576.85		$669,560.81		$699,137.66		.....
Less Amortization reserve for fluctuation of dollar value of working assets in foreign countries	.....		250,000.00		250,000.00		$183,577.76
Loss on sale or disposition of capital assets	.....		.....		.....		9,717.49
	$29,576.85		$419,560.81		449,137.66		†$193,295.25
Less settlement of contracts entered into in prior years	8,024.26		156,000.00		164,024.26		†620,688.00
		$21,552.59		$263,560.81		$285,113.40		†813,983.25
Net loss, carried to paid-in surplus		$535,569.90
Balance Dec. 30, 1933, carried to balance sheet				$1,674,353.94		1,188,781.98		.....
Net operating loss of Wesco Corp. and subsidiaries						.....		7,749,067.04
Surplus, Dec. 31, 1932						.....		1,954,102.64
Deficit, Dec. 31, 1932, to balance sheet						.....		$15,010,395.69

* This statement is a combination of a report for the thirteen weeks ended April 1, 1933, and one for the 39 weeks ended Dec. 30, 1933, with earned surplus since April 1, 1933.
† Loss.
‡ Depreciation of fixed assets, not including depreciation of studio buildings and equipment of $832,660 absorbed in production costs.

VIVA WILK!

Shout it from the house tops!



And your profits will MULTIPLY too!

SHEARER and MONTGOMERY in "RIPTIDE" is the talk of every theatre lobby!

Another advance promotion idea on the next page—

$1000 for your patrons in the SHEARER "RIPTIDE" SLOGAN CONTEST

LEO'S A SHOWMAN! FOLLOW IN HIS STEPS!

GET THIS BOOK FROM YOUR M-G-M EXCHANGE!

Free 1-Sheets! Free Mats!

A marvelous contest idea that will get you six days of newspaper publicity. The Contest Campaign Book explains everything. This contest is easy to conduct and it's a clean-up! Just ONE of the MANY M-G-M SHOWMANSHIP STUNTS FOR NORMA SHEARER'S GREATEST!

DETAILS OF CONTEST:

PRIZES: 1st—$500; 2nd—$250; 3rd—$150; 4th—$100. Contest for best "Riptide" slogans closes July 4th. All entries for National Prizes must be at M-G-M Studios by July 11th. In case of ties, each tying contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

The Hollywood Scene

ACADEMY BANQUET A GLORIOUS COMEBACK
LAUGHTON, HEPBURN TAKE ACTING HONORS
SHOWMEN OF COUNTRY TREK TO HOLLYWOOD
AVIATOR BROWN VISITS THE EXHIBITOR

by VICTOR M. SHAPIRO

[Pictures in Pictorial Section]

Staging a glorious comeback last Friday night, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences had its sixth annual Awards Banquet in the Fiesta Room at the Ambassador hotel. Seven hundred and fifty leaders, artists and scientific experts gathered to witness the presentation of statuettes awarded for outstanding achievements. Several hundred others were too late to get reservations.

Some folks who abandoned the Academy when their loyalty was most needed, attended the banquet, and not out of curiosity.

This party established a precedent for glamour, gaiety, revelry and dancing. The only time it became serious was in the short half hour pause required to announce and present the statuettes. Aside from this ceremony there were only three speeches. The president, J. T. Reed, delivered the welcoming address, short and sweet, and introduced Howard J. Green, vice president, who explained what the Academy stood for. Frank Lloyd, past treasurer of the Academy, followed with a brief talk. The party was then turned over to the entertainment committee, which kept the guests occupied until 11:15, when Will Rogers stepped to the speakers stand and in his inimitable manner made the presentations.

The Winners

The best actress performance was adjudged that of KATHARINE HEPBURN in "Morning Glory." Second: MAY ROBSON in "Lady for a Day"; third, DIANA WYNYARD in "Cavalcade."

Best actor performance: CHARLES LAUGHTON in "Henry the Eighth." Second: PAUL MUNI in "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang"; third, LESLIE HOWARD in "Berkeley Square."

Best production: Fox's "CAVALCADE," which carried a large majority of votes. Second: "FAREWELL TO ARMS," PARAMOUNT; third "LITTLE WOMEN," RADIO.

Best direction: FRANK LLOYD, "Cavalcade." Second: FRANK CAPRA for "Lady for a Day," and GEORGE CUKOR third for "Little Women."

Best original story: ROBERT LORD, for "One Way Passage." Second, FRANCES MARION, "Prizefighter and the Lady"; third, CHARLES MACARTHUR, "Rasputin and the Empress."

Best adaptation: won jointly by SARAH Y. MASON and VICTOR HEERMAN for adapting "Little Women." Second: ROBERT RISKIN, "Lady for a Day"; third, SONYA LEVIEN and PAUL GREEN jointly for "State Fair."

Best cinematography: CHARLES LANG, for "Farewell to Arms." Second: GEORGE FOLSEY, JR., "Reunion in Vienna"; third, KARL STRUSS, "Sign of the Cross."

Best art direction: WILLIAM DARLING, for "Cavalcade." Second: HANS DREHER, for "Farewell to Arms"; third, CEDRIC GIBBONS, "When Ladies Meet."

Best sound reproduction: PARAMOUNT studios for "FAREWELL TO ARMS." Second and third, WARNER-FIRST NATIONAL for "I AM A FUGITIVE FROM A CHAIN GANG" and "GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933."

Greatest scientific and technical achievement: shared equally by ELECTRICAL RESEARCH PRODUCTS, for its wide range recording and reproducing system, and by RCA-VICTOR company for its high fidelity recording and reproducing system. Honorable mention to Fox Film, Fred Jackman and Warner Brothers, and Sidney Sanders of RKO-Radio for development and use of the translucent cellulose screen in composite photography.

Winners of certificates of award in the short subject division split up into three sections, namely, cartoons, comedies and novelties, were as follows:

Cartoons: First place to WALT DISNEY for "Three Little Pigs," also second place for "Building a Building"; third, UNIVERSAL for "Merry Old Soul."

Best short comedy: RADIO, for "So This Is Harris," also second for "Preferred List"; third, WARREN DOANE, Universal's "Mister Mugg."

Best novelty: EDUCATIONAL, for "Krakatoa." Second and third: tied between MGM's "Menu" and EDUCATIONAL's "The Sea."

The Academy made a new departure this year in awarding Certificates of Merit to assistant directors with one selected from each of the major studios. Winners of this division were: WILLIAM TUMMEL, Fox: CHARLES DORIAN, MGM; DEWEY STARKEY, RKO-Radio; FRED FOX, United Artists; CHARLES BARTON, Paramount; SCOTT BEAL, Universal; GORDON HOLLINGSHEAD, Warner-First National.

▽

Cracking Cocoanuts

Inasmuch as the mountain wouldn't come to Mahomet, the exhibitors are coming to Hollywood. For the first time in eight years, showmen who run the nation's theatres are trekking to meet the producers, face to face, in the gathering of the MPTOA which opens officially April 10, and follows through for three days.

On the more solemn side of the pow-wow, it seems a few cocoanuts, imported for the occasion, are destined to be cracked open. Hollywood does not grow cocoanuts.

Already comment is rife that a group of exhibitors are determined, by sustained barrage from the floor, to make Hollywood "Box-office Conscious." That, it seems, will be the milk of the cocoanut.

As for the meat, a spokesman said that "Hollywood, for too long a time, has been making pictures to satisfy themselves."

Being constructive, it was further stated that live and continuous contact must be maintained between Hollywood and exhibitors through a sort of clearing house of facts so producers could sense the ever shifting public taste.

These discussions on the floor of the convention are to be complemented with arguments that pictures are never sold direct to the public, but sold first to the exhibitor who books them and then resells them to patrons.

Exhibitors, our informant contends, still believe they pay increased rentals for film because of Hollywood's wastes and extravagances, and believe their information can be of invaluable service to producers.

Furthermore, suggestions along these lines are to be welcome from stars, directors and producers in Hollywood, as well as from visiting delegates.

There, in the wellknown cocoanut shell, is the meat and milk that will be dished out as the palms sway and crooners croon, hard

(Continued on following page)

WILL ROGERSISMS FROM THE BANQUET

"Well, I'm glad to come to this dinner. I've been going to so many Louie B. Mayer parties, that it's good to come to one that isn't an L. B. Mayer banquet. This one is on the house. . . ."

"Remember those pictures of Louie going up to the White House with his overnight bag. Now Jack Warner goes in with his trunk."

"I got my courage to come here and talk to the highbrows and brains of the industry after I read that Samuel Goldwyn had lectured at Harvard, and in person, too. Yeah, and the voice wasn't dubbed in, either. I understand now that Harvard is writing back, 'Will you send us the English version?'

"Well, Sam may not be able to hand out Arts and Sciences language but he sure can make pictures—and some of us would be proud to talk the way he does if we got credit for the pictures he makes."

To Walt Disney: "If you raised six pigs, Walt, we'd 'a given you a statuette."

To Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman: "Sorry I haven't got two statues for you two adaptors. In case there is a squabble later on, I suggest, lady, that you reach for the statue instead of a rolling pin."

THE HOLLYWOOD SCENE

by the Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove, and this time, according to the spokesman, monkeys won't be dropping the cocoanuts either.

▽

Brown of MGM

If Hollywood executives are assailed by exhibitors as being cold and distant to showman's problems, at least one shining example in Hollywood stands out as keeping close to the exhibitor. In fact, this gentleman, sportsman, aviator, director, keeps his finger right on the exhibitor's pulse.

This summer, adventurous Clarence Brown will oil and grease his plane and on eager wings soar away for a five weeks' flight all over the country, visiting every key city of the MGM exchange system, to talk personally to showmen again.

With Howard Dietz's able cooperation, the jaunt should be as profitable for MGM publicity as it will be to Brown and his subsequent productions.

Brown's pioneering avidness in seeking the real lowdown from showmen may have some relation with his consistent record as a director for over fifteen years.

Currently, he is directing Joan Crawford in "Sadie McKee."

▽

Flim-Flams

Rackets of all kinds have been daringly dramatized and entertainingly exposed by the screen.

Known are the concerted campaigns, pushed to the limit by studio and local gendarmerie, to rid the community of blackmailers, pseudo-kidnapers and the shakedown artists of every ilk. But little attention seems to have been paid to the racket boys inside the picture business.

The racket among some socalled writers, who would rather sue than write, comes in for withering fire.

Publications which resort to the slug method to secure their ends are cussed, but the power of the screen seldom is invoked to lay the culprits, or allay the evils.

From time to time, this pillar will endeavor to expose some of Hollywood's musclers and sharp-shooters, and any producer may have the screen rights.

▽

Production Activity

Much activity in Hollywood the past week was evidenced as twelve new pictures went in and fourteen came off the stages. In number starting, Paramount topped the list with four. Columbia pulled the barrier for two, and with one each at Fox, Universal, Warners, MGM and Monogram, Bryan Foy's production rounded out the even dozen.

Honors for completed pictures go to Warner, where finis was rung on five productions. Universal wrapped up two as did Radio, while singletons moved into the cutting rooms at Fox, Columbia, Monogram, Paramount and MGM.

As the current program embraces a wide range of entertainment qualities, Paramount's starting four are the most diversified. "It Ain't No Sin" is Mae West. It's her story and Leo McCarey will direct. Music and lyrics are by Johnston and Coslow and the supporting cast includes Roger Pryor, John Miljan, Katherine DeMille, John Mack Brown and Duke Ellington and his orchestra. "Cleopatra," a Cecil De Mille spectacle, to be produced in the "Ten Commandments"-"Sign of the Cross" scope, has Claudette Colbert in the lead with Warren William, Ian Keith, Charles Middleton, Irving Pichel, Gertrude Michel and C. Aubrey Smith in the principal supporting parts. "Often a Bridegroom," a modern, music-tinted farce comedy, will feature Joan Marsh, Joe Morrison, Burns and Allen and George Barbier under Norman McLeod's direction. "Thirty Day Princess," a Schulberg production, Marion Gering directing, is a business-world racket-romance drama featuring Sylvia Sidney and Cary Grant with Vince Barnett, Edward Arnold, Ray Walker, Henry Stephenson, Lucien Littlefield and Robert McQuade the principal supports.

▽

Romance Columbia Keynote

Romance is the keynote at Columbia where Grace Moore and Tullio Carminatti are co-starred in "One Night of Love" (tentative title). The picture will be highlighted by several operatic selections to establish novelty apart from current backstage musicals. The love story motif applies also to "Most Precious Thing in Life," in which Jean Arthur, Donald Cook, Richard Cromwell and Anita Louise are the principal players.

At Fox, "Merry Andrew" is a typical Will Rogers show in which that luminary is supported by Peggy Wood, noted stage actress, Mary Carlisle, Paul Harvey and Roger Imhof under David Butler's direction.

The Bryan Foy opus, "Life Ends," is a dramatic study in sterilization in which Donald Douglass and Diane Sinclair have the leads.

As the title indicates Universal's "The Practical Joker" is a comedy romance drama in which Chester Morris and Marian Nixon will be starred. The Warner starting feature is a Damon Runyon story, "Old Doll's House," directed by Alan Crosland, in which Richard Barthelmess will be starred.

Comedy drama is the tone of Monogram's "Money Means Everything" which presents Wallace Ford, Gloria Shea, Edgar Kennedy and Betty Blythe under Christy Cabanne's direction.

The Selznick contribution to the MGM program is "Manhattan Melodrama," which W. S. VanDyke is directing, with a cast including Clark Gable, William Powell, Myrna Loy, Nat Pendleton, Muriel Evans, Isabel Jewell and Tommy Jackson.

Varied Subjects Completed

The completed pictures similarly embrace a widely varied entertainment range. From Warner come five. "Return of the Terror," suggested by a story by the late Edgar Wallace, has a lengthy cast of familiar names, with Mary Astor, Lyle Talbot, Robert Barrat, Frank McHugh and John Halliday among the most prominent. "The Key," dealing with the Irish revolution and the Black and Tans, features William Powell, Edna Best and Colin Clive. "Dr. Monica," adapted from an European stage play, brings together Kay Francis, Verree Teasdale, Jean Muir and Warren William. Aline MacMahon is starred in "The Happy Family," and Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Hugh Herbert, Frankie Darro, Gordon Wescott and Harry Beresford are in the cast. "Without Honor" teams Jimmy Cagney and Joan Blondell again.

Universal's pair of finished pictures includes the Ken Maynard "Doomed To Die," in which he is supported by Gloria Shea, and "Uncertain Lady," which co-stars Genevieve Tobin and Edward Everett Horton.

The completed Radio features are "Strictly Dynamite," featuring Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Norman Foster, Marian Nixon, William Gargan and Eugene Pallette, and "Dover Road," in which Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard are the principals.

Columbia's "Murder In The Studio" has Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Grey, Ward Bond, Gail Patrick and a host of lesser lights in the cast. Mary Astor is starred in "Numbers Of Monte Carlo," a Monogram. Keeping up the crime trend, Paramount checked in "Murder at the Vanities," built around the Earl Carroll stage show in which Carl Brisson makes his American debut in a cast that includes Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, several bevies of Carroll New York and Hollywood beauties and a long list of familiar picture names. "Sequoia," an MGM, is a California backgrounded romance featuring Jean Parker, while "Free Gold," Fox, has its cast headed by Claire Trevor, John Boles, Harry Green and Monroe Owlsey.

PASTE IN YOUR HAT

Here is a ready Guide for Epicures visiting Hollywood during the MPTOA Convention next month:

Best Steak—PACIFIC DINING CAR—Sixth and Widmer.

Chicken—FERNCROFT—Wilshire and Sweetzer.

Fish—BERNSTEIN's—Sixth and Broadway.

Ritzy Food—VICTOR HUGO's—Sixth and Hill.

Jewish Dishes—KATIE KATZ—Seventh near Spring.

All Round Good Food—
LEVY's—Vine near Hollywood.
SARDI's—Hollywood near Vine.
BROWN DERBY—Vine near Hollywood.

Hungarian—GYPSY CAMP—Wilshire near Westlake.

Russian—EAGLE—Vine near Hollywood.

Italian—MARCHETTI's—Wilshire near Beverly Drive.

BROADCASTERS REBEL AGAINST NEWSPAPERS' "COLD" BULLETINS

Boston Executive of Yankee Network Organizes Own News Gatherers; Operators Meet in Chicago on Independent Plan

John Shepard, department store magnate of Boston, and president of the Yankee Network, comprising a dozen radio stations throughout the New England territory, has "slapped the face" of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and asks what they're to do about it. Contrary to the expressed wishes of the publishers' group, that radio interests must not broadcast news until it is "cold," Mr. Shepard this week continued formation of an extensive news gathering organization to serve his radio stations exclusively in order that New Englanders may not have to rely entirely on their Boston Heralds and Transcripts for the latest developments in the world scene.

His move, designed to give patrons "news while it is news," was said to be the result of listeners' protests against any attempt to deprive them of such a news service. Then things began to happen.

Police Interference Fails

The Boston Police Department sought to prevent development of the Yankee News Service by putting new locks on police station press-room doors and issuing new keys only to bona fide newspaper reporters. Mr. Shepard served notice on both the Police Department and the newspapers sponsoring their tactics that he would not tolerate further interference with his plans. Accordingly, he put his own editor, Richard Grant, on station WNAC, the Shepard Stores, on three successive nights, and a more or less "intimate" exposé of the press-room situation was given listeners throughout New England.

Next, Boston newspapermen took matters into their own hands. After the Yankee Network finally had received assurances that its reporters would be admitted to police press-rooms, and other privileges granted by the police, newspaper reporters conceived the idea of leaving typewritten copies of "fake" news stories around the press-rooms for the Yankee men to rewrite and send to the key stations for the news broadcasts.

To what extent the Yankee News Service men were taken in by this ruse has not been made known. However, Mr. Grant now has a complete staff of desk men, with reporters stationed at the principal news sources of Boston and a teletype system covering the nation and foreign developments.

Shepard's Action Defended

Commenting upon the Boston situation, C. R. Tighe, editor and publisher of Radio Art, a non-partisan publication devoted to all branches of the radio industry, defended the action of Mr. Shepard as being the only correct one to take under the circumstances.

"All power to John Shepard, who has had the courage to organize his own news service, and who, when his reporters were refused press facilities at Boston police headquarters, gave the word to Dick Grant to tell the story to the voters," Mr. Tighe said this week.

"So fearful were the politicians who masquerade as servants of the public that they refused to cooperate. Even the Governor of the State became 'panicky' and would have nothing to do with a situation that indicates clearly who controls politics in Massachusetts.

"It is time for radio stations to show their power. It is time for them to rise in their might and smite the Newspaper Samson. It is time for them to use the same weapons that 'dog-in-the-manger' publishers are using. It is time for them to fight back. It is time for them to do as the Yankee Network did, and tell their story to the public. The public are the voters and they can make even a fearful governor come to time."

"Fighting for Survival"

"In facing facts," Mr. Tighe said, "it is time to realize, too, that newspapers are business institutions dominated in many instances by political affiliations, and in some cases subsidized by public utilities. Newspapers are by no means altruistic. Publishing is a cold-blooded business proposition, and the astute publishers know they are fighting for survival."

Under the present Yankee Network operating schedule, the first news broadcast takes place at 7:15 A. M., for station WNAC, with network broadcasts at 8 A. M., 1:30 P. M., 6 P. M. and 11 P. M. Under the regulations set up by the publishers through their newly created Press Radio Bureau of the Publishers' National Radio Committee, no subscribing station to the bureau may broadcast more than two news reports daily, exclusive of "commentators," whose remarks are supposed to be confined to already printed news. Neither of these two broadcasts may be sent out prior to morning and evening deadlines—the morning broadcasts not earlier than 9:30 and the evening broadcast not earlier than 9 P. M.

Direct from Correspondent

Every Yankee Network news broadcast must come direct from a staff correspondent in order to avoid the possibility of disputes with the publishers, according to Mr. Shepard. Every broadcast carries the preliminary statement that "all news used in this broadcast has been gathered and edited by the staff of the Yankee Network News Service, and its own correspondents throughout the nation and in foreign countries. Reproduction in whole or in part is forbidden to newspapers unless due credit is given to the Yankee Network News Service."

On March 1, the Press Radio Bureau began actual operation from New York as an editor of all spot news to be broadcast. The two major networks, NBC and CBS, in addition to a few independent stations, have subscribed to the bureau, with all material carefully sifted and doled out after having been already printed in morning and evening editions.

Others Following Lead

The bureau, functioning under the editorship of James W. Barrett, former city editor on the New York World, has not made known how many stations in addition to the two major networks have subscribed to the plan, but it is known fact that radio stations throughout the country are following the lead of the Yankee Network in organizing their own news gathering facilities.

As an incentive, a general meeting of radio station operators, advertising agency representatives and station representatives met in Chicago last week to spread the idea of an independent radio news service organization to serve all radio interests not subscribing to the Press Radio Bureau. Several stations, especially in the Midwestern sector, already are organizing such services for themselves.

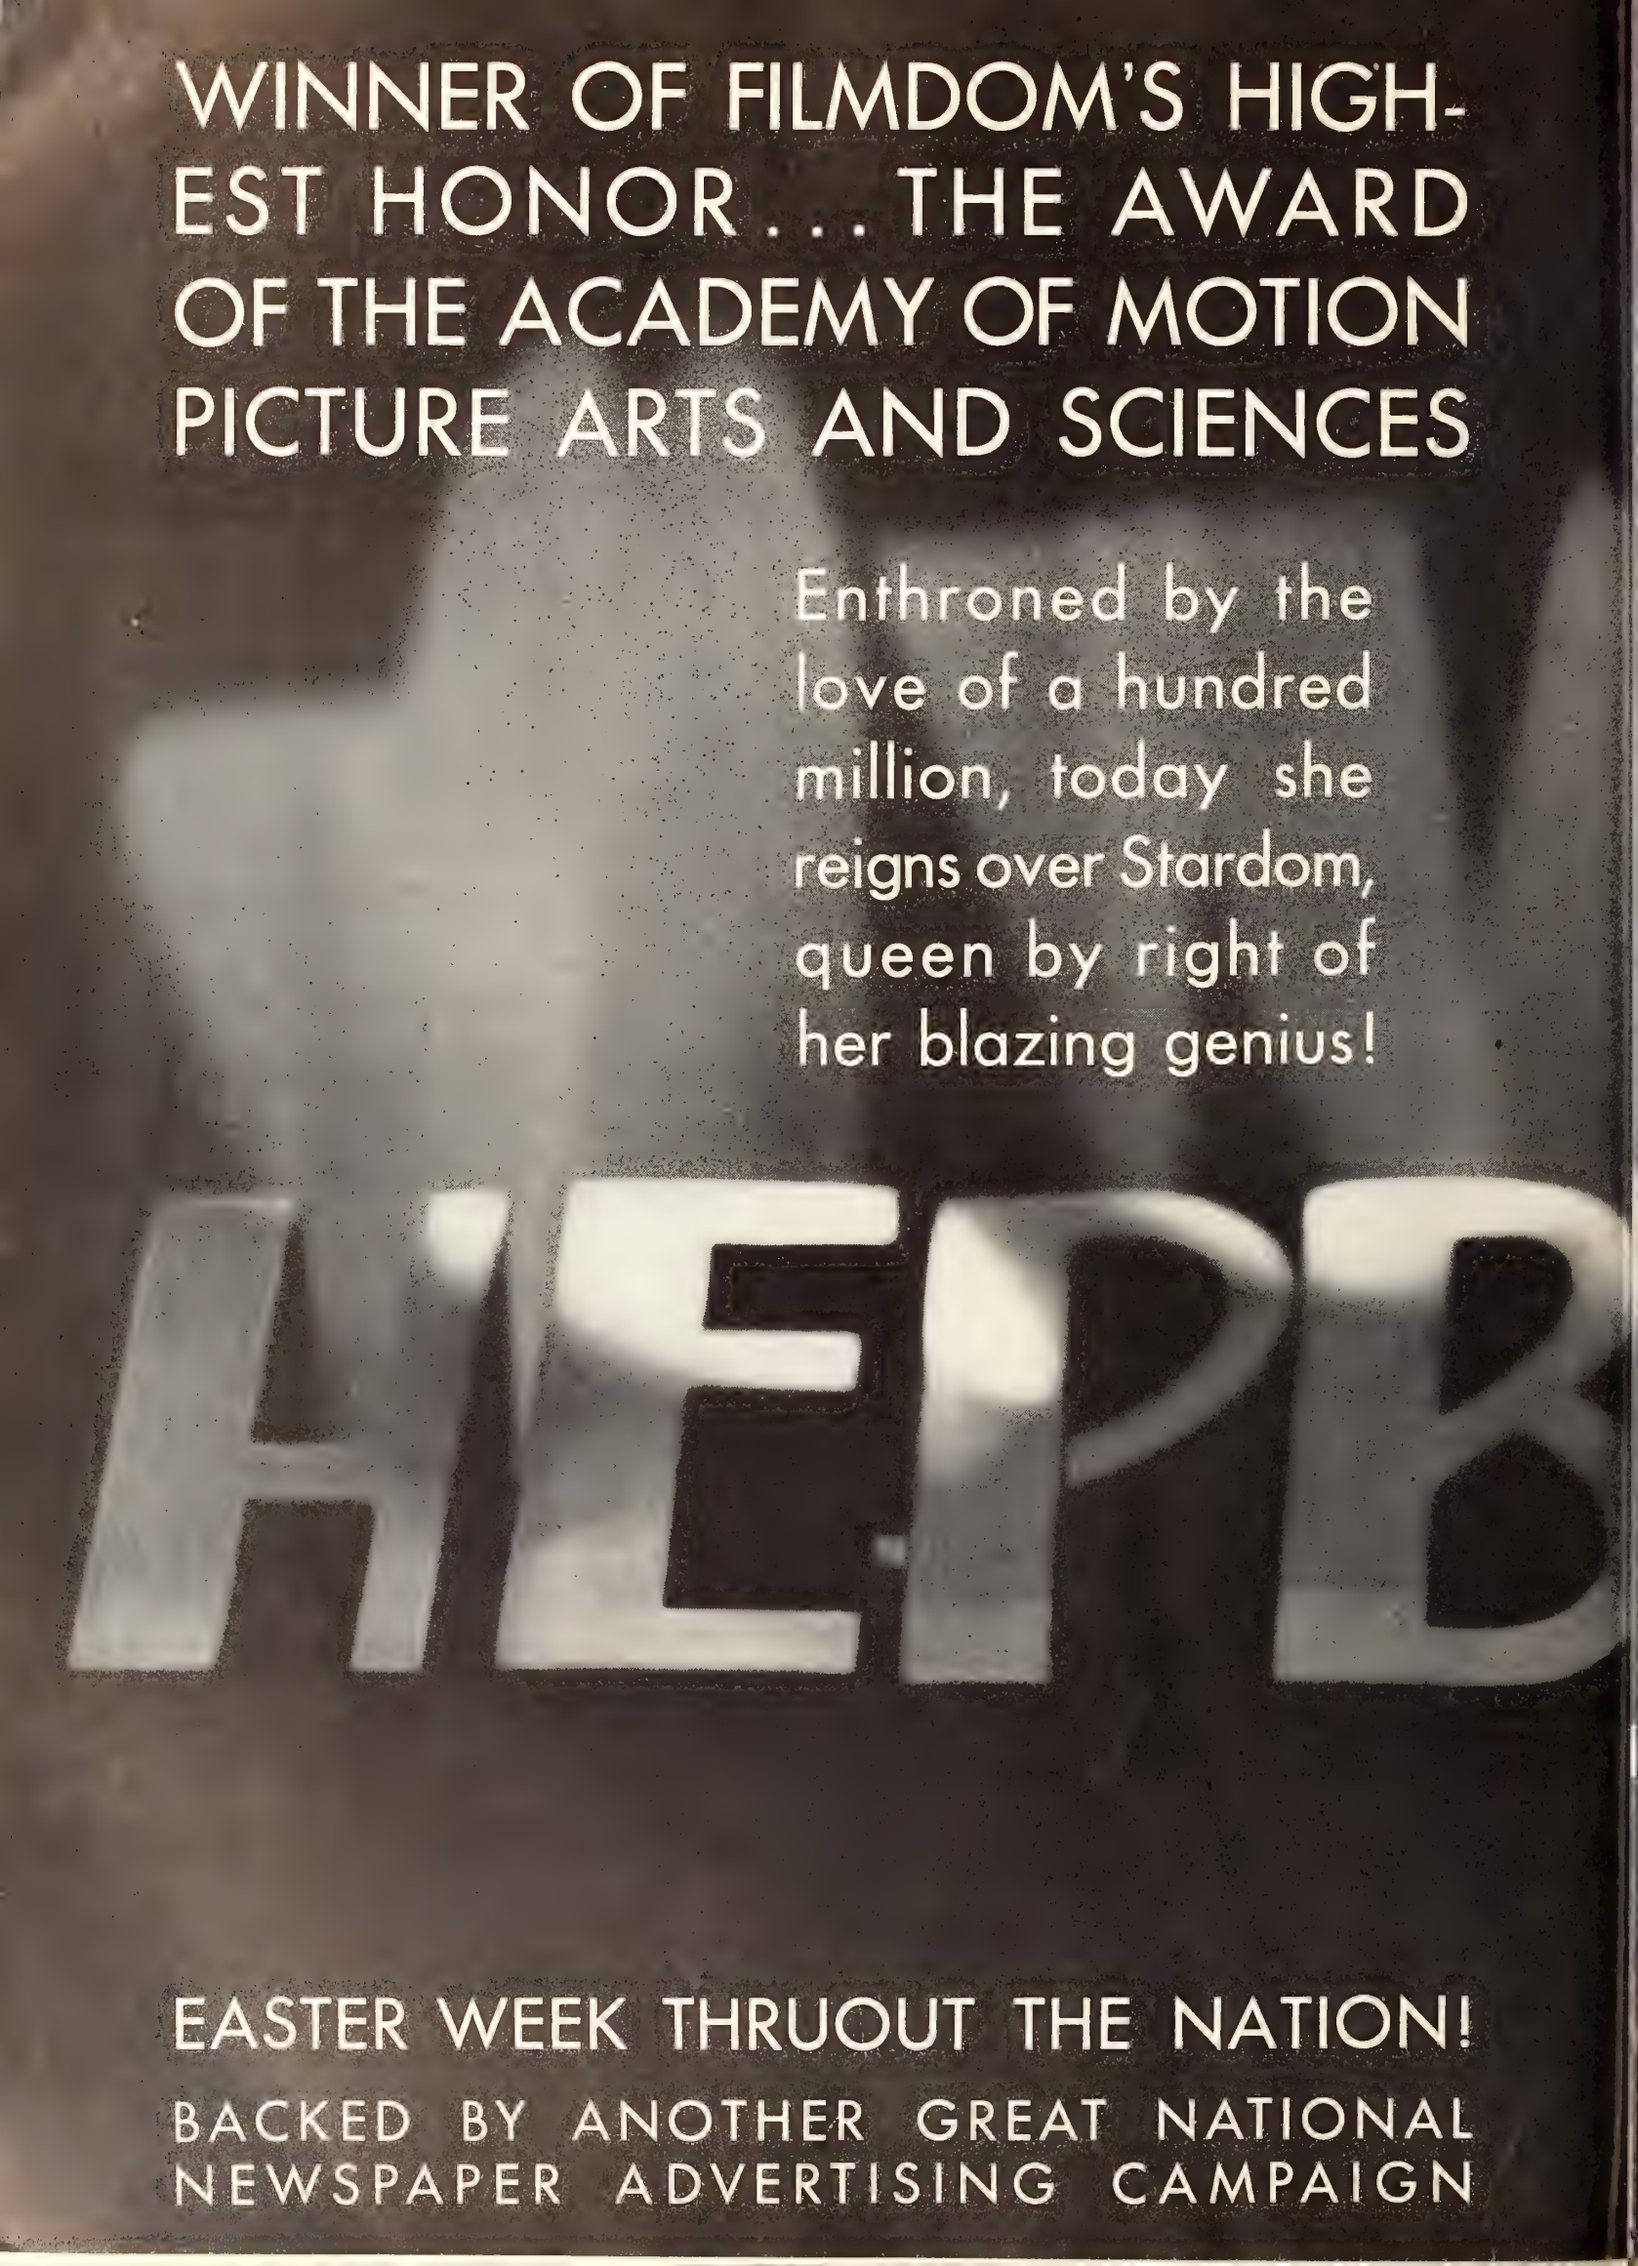
Among the radio stations utilizing their own newsgathering forces are, in addition to the Yankee Network, the North American Broadcasting System, a regional chain comprising eight stations in Wisconsin and one, WRHM, in Minneapolis; the Radio News Association, Inc., which has as its nucleus stations KSTP of St. Paul and KFI and KNX of Los Angeles. In addition, nearly 100 newspapers are said to be operating their own broadcasting units.

In Washington, former employees of the Columbia News System have organized a commercial radio news service for independent and minor chains. Covering only news in Federal and Congressional circles, the service supplies frequent 30-word bulletins, designed to provide sufficient material for three broadcasts daily.

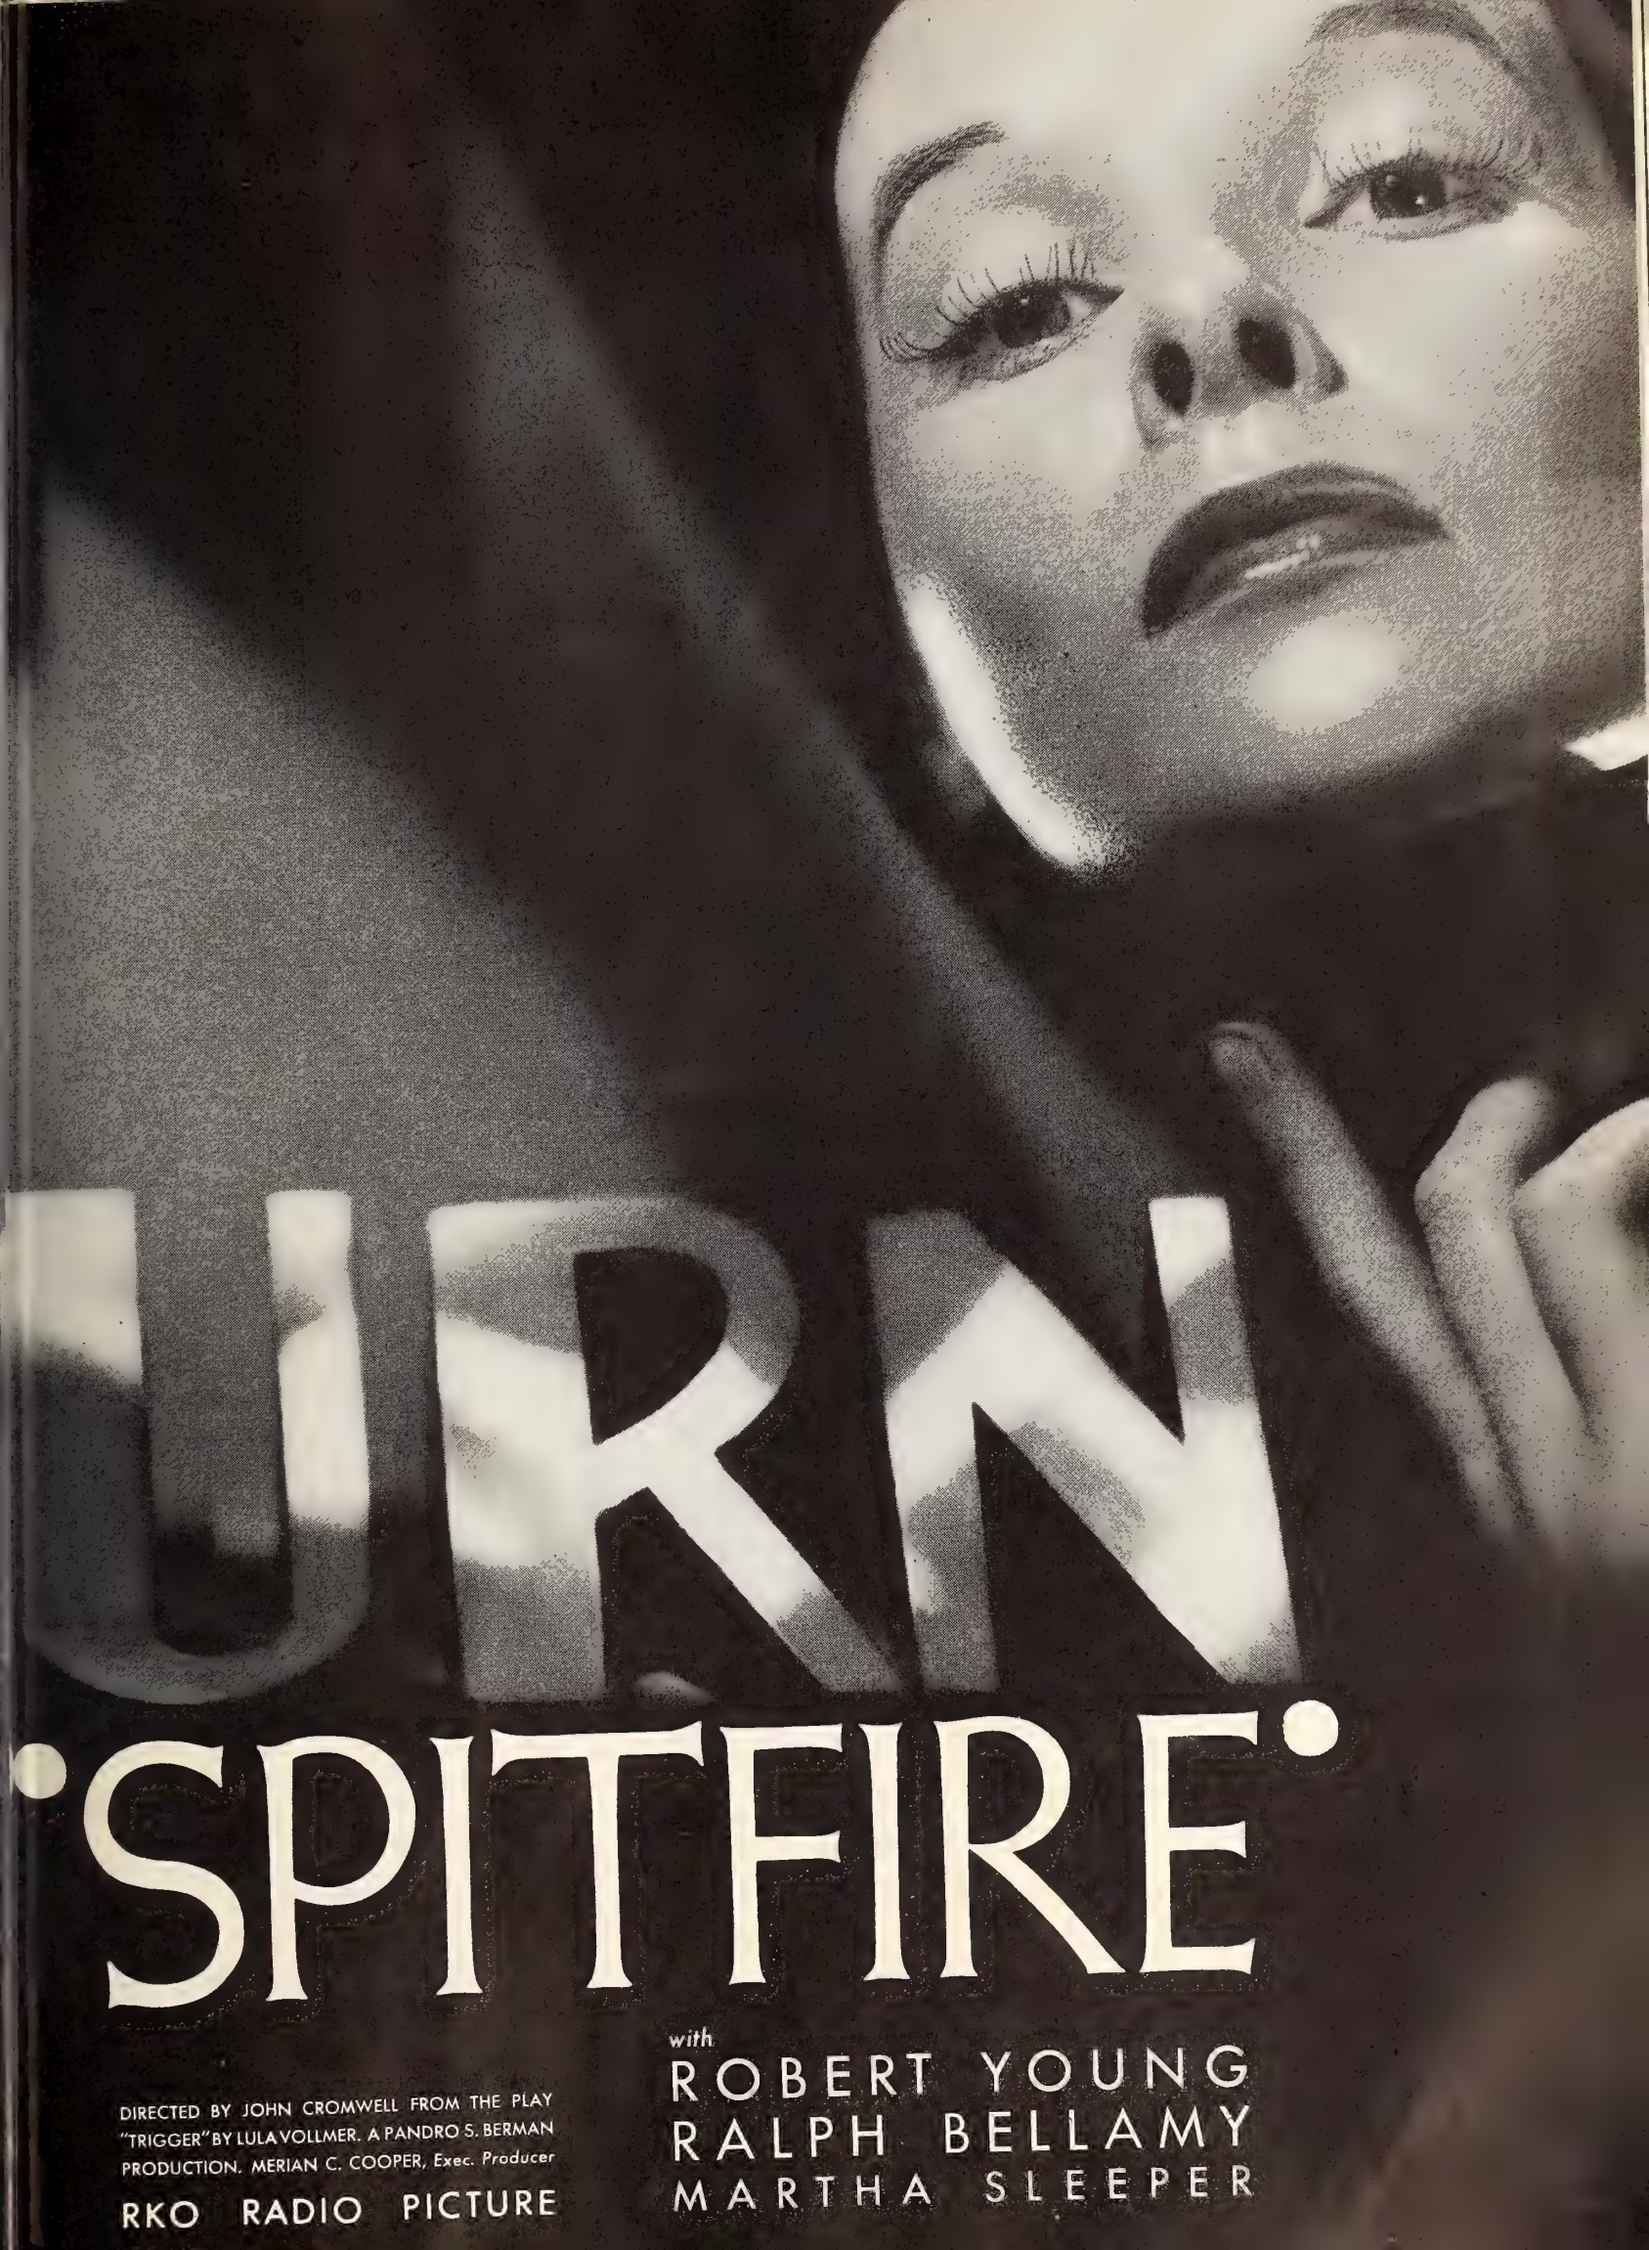
OPERATING OWN NEWS SERVICES

Among the radio broadcasting units operating their own newspathering services, in opposition to the Press Radio Bureau of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, are:

Yankee Network, comprising a dozen stations in New England.



North American Broadcasting System, with eight stations in Wisconsin and one, WRHM, in Minneapolis.



Radio News Association, with these nucleus stations: KSTP, St. Paul, KFI and KNX in Los Angeles.

100 newspapers operating own broadcasting units.

Commercial Radio news service formed in Washington by former employees of Columbia News System.

Boston Police Place New Locks on Press-Rooms and Reporters Leave "Fake" Stories Around But Their Ruses Fail To Work

WINNER OF FILMDOM'S HIGH-EST HONOR . . . THE AWARD OF THE ACADEMY OF MOTION PICTURE ARTS AND SCIENCES
Enthroned by the love of a hundred million, today she reigns over Stardom, queen by right of her blazing genius!
HEPB
EASTER WEEK THRUOUT THE NATION!
BACKED BY ANOTHER GREAT NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

with
ROBERT YOUNG
RALPH BELLAMY
MARTHA SLEEPER

DIRECTED BY JOHN CROMWELL FROM THE PLAY "TRIGGER" BY LULA VOLLMER. A PANDRO S. BERMAN PRODUCTION. MERIAN C. COOPER, Exec. Producer

RKO RADIO PICTURE

NEW YORK GASPS AT THE STRANGEST BUCK'S "WILD CARGO" BALLYHOO

Frank Buck christens the SS RKO-Van Beuren as thousands look on at the launching of the gigantic campaign inaugurated by RKO Theatres for the exploitation of the Radio City opening of "Wild Cargo". The 'sea-going' ballyhoo float is more than fifty feet in length and is alive with life-size moving, roaring, growling and trumpeting mechanical animals.

●

SHOWMEN'S HEARTS POUND FASTER! PULSES QUICKEN!

THE BIG SHOW IS HERE!

FRANK BUCK IS BACK, ALIVE! . . . BACK FROM THE LAND OF A THOUSAND DEATHS TO SHARE HIS THRILLS WITH YOU!

FRANK BUCK'S

OPENS RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL

SHIP SINCE NOAH'S ARK . . . AS FRANK BOAT STEAMS DOWN BROADWAY!

GET THE MONEY, SHOWMEN!

THE CIRCUS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR!

Nature saves her biggest thrills for Frank Buck . . . and Frank Buck saves the biggest box-office thrill for showmen who know how to sell a circus!

GET YOUR COPY OF THE SENSATIONAL CAMPAIGN BOOK . . . . NOW READY!

See the stunts you can pull! The smashing Ads to run! The feature publicity that papers will print!

See the paper! Two styles of everything! See the fronts! See the displays! See the ballyhoo stunts! See the heralds, the window cards, the novelties!

AND ON TOP OF ALL A GREAT NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN THAT WILL COVER THE NATION LIKE A CIRCUS TENT!

VAN BEUREN PRODUCTION

RKO RADIO PICTURE

"WILD CARGO"

THURSDAY, MARCH 29TH

NEW YORK "WRONG 70 PERCENT OF TIME IN CIRCUIT RULE": CHATKIN

Former Executive of Paramount Charges Mistakes of Centralized Operation Sum Up in One Word: "Unsoundness"

Declares Independent More Astute Showman Than Circuit Manager, Permitted to Make Only Unimportant Decisions

Striking at what he termed the "unsoundness" of centralized theatre operation, David J. Chatkin, who was Paramount theatre executive in the days when that company's interests embraced some 1,200 theatres in the United States and Canada, this week denounced "operation by remote control." In a signed article, appearing in Motion Picture Daily, Mr. Chatkin, who now is operating Monarch Theatres' small group of houses in Indianapolis, Youngstown, Steubenville and Akron, confesses that after some 20 years of experience in every phase of the motion picture industry, he at one time had felt he was qualified "to sit behind a big desk in a big building on Broadway and, with the aid of countless managers, district managers, division managers, and so on, operate this business."

Discovers "Startling Facts"

"With all this experience in operating a big circuit from New York, and with a full realization as to its unsoundness, I went into the field to personally operate, independently, a few theatres," he said. "I have spent now nearly eight months at this, including visiting theatres, meeting exhibitors, seeing circuit theatres operated in the field, and I have discovered some very startling facts—things I never even believed to be true when I was in New York. Many I shall not mention, but, summed up, the answer is unsoundness."

It is Mr. Chatkin's contention that centralized theatre operation, as such, cannot possibly function much longer, observing that it is slowly but surely becoming apparent that theatres are only rising and falling with the tide of general conditions and, under the present setups, can never return anything regularly on their investments.

Declaring that at the present time, almost as much as in the past, New York "is wrong 70 per cent of the time," the former Paramount executive charged that the home offices still labor under the delusion that they "are allowing the boys in the field to make their own decisions as fits their particular community." Mr. Chatkin declared that the "boys in the field" are allowed to make decisions only when they are considered unimportant by the executives, and to "keep a lot of detail from coming into the home office."

Never Admit Mistake

"The funny thing about this is that I have never heard anyone admit a mistake was made," he said. "Only a circuit-owned theatre can withstand, or has up to this point apparently withstood, the tremendous losses due to mistakes that have been made and are being made. By this I do not mean the original mistake of impossible rentals or fixed charges, but errors in judgment of operating policy."

Mr. Chatkin struck a moot point when he said that one of the most startling deductions from his observations of the past eight months is the fact that circuit-operated theatres are entirely out of step with any other theatre in the same town. The circuit theatre, he pointed out, has little, if any, interest in community affairs or community interests with other theatres, and maintains the more or less aloof manner of the would-be superior being "who runs his business alone."

The circuit theatre, Mr. Chatkin charged, knows nothing about his competitor's business and relies upon guesswork as to his grosses. This condition is charged to home office responsibility, or lack of it, in the theatreman's opinion.

"Even if the manager had a desire for constructive cooperation, he is in no position to carry it out," Mr. Chatkin said. "This is harmful not alone to the theatre business in that town, but it definitely hinders getting the greatest results at the box office."

As to admission price cutting, the theatre executive pointed out that while it is the common belief in major theatre circuit home offices that the independent exhibitor is guilty of the most flagrant cuts in admission price scales, when one gets close to the field he discovers that the first-run circuit operator undoubtedly is the most ruthless in cutting and changing admissions.

"Without regard for any other theatre in town, without consideration for existing conditions, without any thought in any direction, prices are changed overnight," he charged. "I know of instances where the boys in the field have fought as hard as they dared with the home office to avoid a price change, but to no avail, and then a few weeks later the prices were changed back to meet their recommendations."

New York, he said, never will understand and is in no position to make speedy decisions of this kind. This condition, he found, leaves no room for wonder at the price-cutting extremes to which the small, independent theatre operator resorts when he sees circuit theatre operators ruthlessly cutting prices as "a child would do with a toy just to see what makes it run."

Mr. Chatkin also found fault with the method of handling pictures in circuit houses, and said that anything short of a "knockout" is not considered deserving of much effort.

Independents Better Showmen

To the independent operator, Mr. Chatkin said, each picture has something good to sell, and for this reason Mr. Chatkin considered the independent a far more astute showman than the circuit manager.

Circuit advertising standards, too, came in for their share of criticism from the former Paramount executive. On the whole, he said, circuit theatre advertising is weak, the reason being that New York originates most of the copy with little regard to possible local application of picture or stars. Very seldom do the circuit managers take the trouble to change such copy to better advantage, he said.

"That is why you see the same stereotyped advertising from one end of the country to the other on any given picture," Mr. Chatkin said. "It happens quite often that a picture is ruined nationally by the wrong kind of advertising which every exhibitor makes use of. I honestly believe we would have much finer advertising as well as better business if no mats of any kind were furnished exhibitors and they were forced to be original and say the things they would like to say about the picture."

Mr. Chatkin said he believed the entire structure of circuit theatre operation will have to be changed.

"Each group of theatres in a given territory will have to be organized as a separate and distinct company with a real business man at the head of it as president and general manager, together with a regular set of officers, to be a separate and distinct corporation with such officers owning a substantial interest in the business," he said.

"This local corporation must have the sole right to manage its business, including the purchasing of pictures other than the company's own pictures for which they will, no doubt, have a long-term franchise.

"New York will then furnish only such service as the local corporation will from time to time request. It must be a locally owned and operated business where every bit of enthusiasm is put into the job and every local problem worked out to the best interests of every one concerned."

CHATKIN TALKS FROM 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

David J. Chatkin, now operating Monarch Theatres, in Indiana and Ohio, formerly was operating head of the far-flung Paramount circuit, which, in 1931, had a capital investment of theatres owned or operated by Paramount amounting to about $250,000,000.

At one time he was general sales manager for Educational, and has spent more than 20 years in various branches of the motion picture industry. In 1931 he was operating head of Paramount Publix's vast theatre structure, under Sam Katz, then nominal czar of that domain. Prior to that, Mr. Chatkin had been a ranking Paramount theatre executive for six years.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

The NRA had its counterpart 900 years ago in China. The administrator was finally banished from the country.

Senator Thomas P. Gore, blind Oklahoman and frequently an advocate of Roosevelt policies, was delving into the Library of Congress for New Deal antecedents. Not happily he found the Chinese NRA setup of the 11th Century.

Few points of today's alphabetical adjunct of the New Deal were not included in the Chinese program. Like ours, it was formulated in time of dire depression and widespread unemployment.

For a time it was successful, we are told by Karl Kahn. Maybe there was not enough "cracking down" by the Chinese "General Johnson" of those days. Anyway, eventually failure overtook the plan and a wroth people drove the administrator into exile.

▽

New York newspapers reported the other morning, quite inconspicuously, the case of a young lady who walloped the jaw of a desk lieutenant in a police station because the wheels of justice in a complaint she had made against another were not moving with the rapidity she desired. The lady was dark-eyed forty-year-old Miriam Cooper, little Southern girl for whose honor the Ku Klux Klan rode frantically in their night shirts and fought hard in David Wark Griffith's "Birth of a Nation."

▽

The paleface Indians—such as Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Jimmy Walker, Ramon Novarro, Jackie Cooper, Lupe Velez, Tom Mix—have been expelled from the honorary membership roster of the Navajo tribe at New Mexico. Every time a movie star stops in Gallup and is adopted by the tribe he claims at Hollywood or on Broadway that he is a Navajo. The Indians no like, and so they have banned from the tribe anyone not a Navajo by birth.

▽

Shortest review of a double feature program on record: Jack Moffitt's in the Kansas City Star, to wit: "Bolero" is a story in which the girl gets the boy; "By Candlelight" is a story in which the boy gets the girl.

▽

The favorite small town story of the old actor, Wilton Lackaye, which was resurrected the other day by Odd McIntyre, concerned the sod buster who arrived in the city for the first time, and passed a sign reading: "Soda and Billiards." In his burg they had only pool halls, such as "Joe's—2½ Cents a Cue." So he stopped in at the soda fountain and said: "Mix me up a billiard!" The jerker nudged his fellow worker: "Get this one! He wants us to mix him a billiard." They then went to work on a concoction of stale dish water, floor scrapings and a strand of sour mop and passed it out. When the hick finished, the clerk asked how he liked it. Smacking his lips and drawing his hand across his sleeve he said: "Fine, but if I wasn't such an old billiard drinker I'd thought it was something else."

▽

The motion picture and the theatre are quite indignant about spectators being admitted free to radio broadcasts and denounce it as unfair competition. Suggestions for correcting the situation have been advanced variously for many weeks. Ted Cook's solution is a "cook-coo." He says that the motion picture people and the stage might eliminate the radio rivalry by producing pictures and plays that are a lot more fun to attend than broadcasts.

NINETEEN YEARS AGO last week, some 200 Universal executives, exchangemen and exhibitors arrived in Los Angeles from the East to participate in the ceremonies attending the opening of the first large producing plant in California, at Universal City.

At the hour of noon on March 15th, 1915, Mr. Carl Laemmle unlocked the main gates to the studio. It was an expensive opening, too. The gold key he used cost $285. Later, because he left the key in the studio gate he was arrested and had to pay a fine. Laura Oakley, chief of police at Universal City, brought about his arrest as she had been cautioned by I. Bernstein, first general manager of the studio, to see that the key was carefully guarded. Mr. Laemmle's fine, the first ever paid in Universal City, went to buy votes for the motion picture industry's candidate for the "Queen of the Southland" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The manager of that show, H. O. Davis, later became one of the long line of Universal City general managers, which included Irving Grant Thalberg, now of Metro. Mr. Thalberg had been Carl Laemmle's private secretary.

▽

Charles Sherman Ruggles IV had huge signs erected in his California chicken coop reading: "Lay for Ruggles! Don't let Hollywood's directors put you to shame. Every one of them has laid an egg this year."

▽

The Williamsburg Gazette of August 21, 1752, contained an announcement by one Lewis Hallam to the effect that "Ladies engaging seats in the boxes are advised to send their servants early on the day of the performance to hold them and prevent trouble and disappointment." A theatrical performance started at six p. m. in those days and theatres opened at four. It was a matter of every man for himself, and so during the intervening two hours, the seats in the boxes were usually occupied by colored servants awaiting the arrival of their masters and mistresses.

▽

When United States District Attorney Joseph Hurley dropped into a Boston theatre the other night and saw Charles Bickford star, in the feature, it reminded him that Mr. Bickford was still alleged to owe the government $1,100 in income taxes, but since 1923 when he conducted a theatre at Lynn, Mass.

▽

A 46-year-old resident of Blytheville in the Arkansas Ozarks celebrated his divorce and second marriage by taking to a picture show both his 18-year-old bride and his former wife, who had obtained a divorce from him the same week.

Which might suggest a new field of revenue to hard-hit exhibitors, to be ballyhoo-ed something like this: "Save the Expense of a Trip to Niagara Falls—See It on Our Screen."

▽

During her recent short stay in Hollywood, Sally Rand acquired an orange orchard, a secretary and a Japanese maid. The secretary and the maid are Sally's escort on her current tour of picture theatres, while the orange grove is blossoming out as a new business for Sally. The Japanese maid wears her odd native costume. Reports have it that Sally hired her because she carries a fan.

When Sally arrived in Brooklyn to appear at the Paramount theatre, she confided that while on the west coast a California nudist colony offered her a large sum to indorse the cult. "The offer shocked me," she added. "All the nudists I saw had scratches all over their rear ends where they had been sitting on thorns."

The Morning Tribune in New Orleans is campaigning for a code for motion picture theatre patrons. They would make it mandatory upon exhibitors to compel the peanut crushers, the candy unwrappers and the popcorn sniffers to sit in an isolated section of the house with a curtain around them. All gum chewers would be forced to spread their spearmint thinly over carpeted surfaces. That would make more work for the sweeperuppers. They would also codify all crying babies and chaps who slip into seats and press knees with the girls they don't know.

▽

A confidence man operating on the Paramount Hollywood lot took W. C. Fields for $15 the other day. He had promised to get the comedian a deputy sheriff's badge and failed to return. Many years ago, while on the stage in "Poppy," Mr. Fields repeated hundreds of times the line, "Never give a sucker an even break."

▽

Fame in the movies is the goal in the mind of John Johnson, assistant chief of the Oklahoma crime bureau. Mr. Johnson expects to use the missing desperado, Charles ("Pretty Boy") Floyd as the means for accomplishing the end, provided he can catch up with Floyd, and provided the bandit doesn't get the drop on Johnson and end his accomplishment first.

The crime chief asserted that the notoriety attached to the capture of the Southwest's most elusive desperado will bring a flood of movie contracts, and he's going to be on the receiving end "if luck" comes his way—or if he doesn't get killed trying to effect the capture. In anticipation of the event, Johnson is sporting an ivory-handled "thumb-buster" six-shooter which looks more like a stovepipe than a revolver.

▽

Otto Schmit, managing the Hot Springs theatre, in the South Dakota town of that name, sold the police department a bill of goods which resulted in every man on the force being assigned to serve the entire populace with "subpenas" which commanded them to attend Schmit's theatre. There were many who shook in their boots when they answered their doorbell and found an officer with a legal document in hand captioned: "Summons."

▽

The demonstration of unrestrained mass emotion such as that which occurred at Kansas City's Union Station, about a week ago, on the arrival of Clark Gable, en route to Hollywood, nearly resulted fatally when several spectators came within an ace of being pushed beneath the wheels of the incoming train. As a result, railroad officials of the terminal have under consideration the construction of a safety barrier along the sidings, not only to protect famed visitors from their admirers, but also for the protection of the admirers from each other.

A frenzied crowd of worshippers, estimated at 3,000, mostly young Amazons intent on breaking through the police barrier, went into hysterics as Metro's "greatest lover of the age" appeared in the station lobby. Those who somehow got near enough to touch Clark's blue overcoat squealed with delight. Shrill cries of "Clarkie" and rapturous "Oh-h's" added to the tumult. A wan feminine admirer, exhausted by the battle, emitted a weak, resigned "Good-by, Clarkie dear," and sank to the ground in a faint, a willing victim to the powerful high pressure publicity buildup which every week helps to send some 70 or 80 millions of the faithful hurrying to the country's movie cathedrals for a couple of hours of hero worship.

75 PER CENT OF FRENCH BUSINESS DECLARED CERTAIN FOR U. S. FILMS

Supervisor for French Companies Points to Weakness of Home Industry and Popularity of American Product There

By RANDOLPH BARTLETT

Two elements combine to assure for American motion picture producers and distributors probably not less than 75 per cent of the business in France during the next 12 months.

The first of these elements is the condition of the French industry itself. In recent weeks several important distributing companies have been forced into bankruptcy, among them being Osso, Haik, and Hakim. There have been also persistent rumors that another company is in difficulties, having to do with the problem of financing an ambitious program of productions announced late last fall, few of which have as yet been started. The one important French company from which a regular series of releases is to be expected is Pathé-Nathan. A few smaller concerns are engaged in production, but their output is so small as not to affect the general condition greatly. Among these are the Associated Authors, under the guidance of Marcel Pagnol, author of "Topaze," and Forrester-Parant, which is satisfied to operate with extreme conservatism with two or three pictures a year.

The second element favorable to American companies is the popularity of their product with the French people. It is a curious and significant fact that while at the moment there is no great love for America in France, and little more for England, the films which have drawn the largest houses in Paris and have enjoyed the longest runs in the last year have been made in the English language, and either dubbed or presented with superimposed subtitles and the original sound.

I cannot recall one French picture which has run more than two weeks initially.

American Stars Most Popular

To say that this preponderant popularity is due to the superiority of the American pictures would be blatant egotism, for it is out of all proportion to the respective virtues of the productions. Strangely enough, the American stars, especially the women, are more popular with the French than their own. There is in France today only one young woman whose name in neon assures box office results. This is Annabella, very young, very clever, very exquisite, and very expensive—100,000 francs a week, they say. But while such attractive young women as Gaby Morlay, Florelle, and half a dozen others of their class, are popular to a certain extent, they have not a fraction of a horsepower of draw.

Among the men, Fernand Gravey has a big following, but no bigger than half a dozen of Hollywood's leading juveniles enjoy. Such artists as Bach, Raimu, Noel-Noel, Pierre Blanchar, break about even with the Barrymores, Walter Huston and George Bancroft, while the Englishman, Charles Laughton, by his Nero and Henry, has established himself as a great favorite also.

In the comedy field the American jesters have no French competition, though their gags are often badly mangled in translation. The Marx Brothers, Laurel and Hardy, and Eddie Cantor sweep French audiences into gales of mirth, and Mickey Mouse is honored with electrics by scores of theatres.

Reverting to the subject of the internal difficulties of the French picture industry, these are more easily explained than the preference for imported entertainment. First of all, with the advent of sound, many French companies launched enterprises which entailed huge expenditures, without sufficient study of the problems involved. It should not have been difficult to calculate that the average picture should not cost more than a million francs—$40,000 at that time. If the cost went beyond that figure, the picture had to be exceptionally good or profits were impossible. Studio management being almost without exception lacking in anything like efficiency, the average costs for the first period of sound production were nearer two millions of francs than one, and the quality was mediocre except for a few brilliant achievements by René Clair and one or two others.

The natural result was the exhaustion of capital, without results which would attract new investors or inspire the confidence of bankers. After this blaze of expensive glory, the distributors arrived at the not unfamiliar expedient of persuading independents to make the pictures on a guarantee of 75 per cent of negative cost on delivery, and the balance if, as, and when. These producers also soon found themselves exceeding their budgets, getting small returns, and very few of them remain active.

Then Money Becomes Coy

Then America abandoned the gold standard, financial scandals and political disturbances arose, and money became extremely coy. To these factors, so productive of timidity in capital, already headed for the coal cellar, must be added, of course, the inevitable war talk.

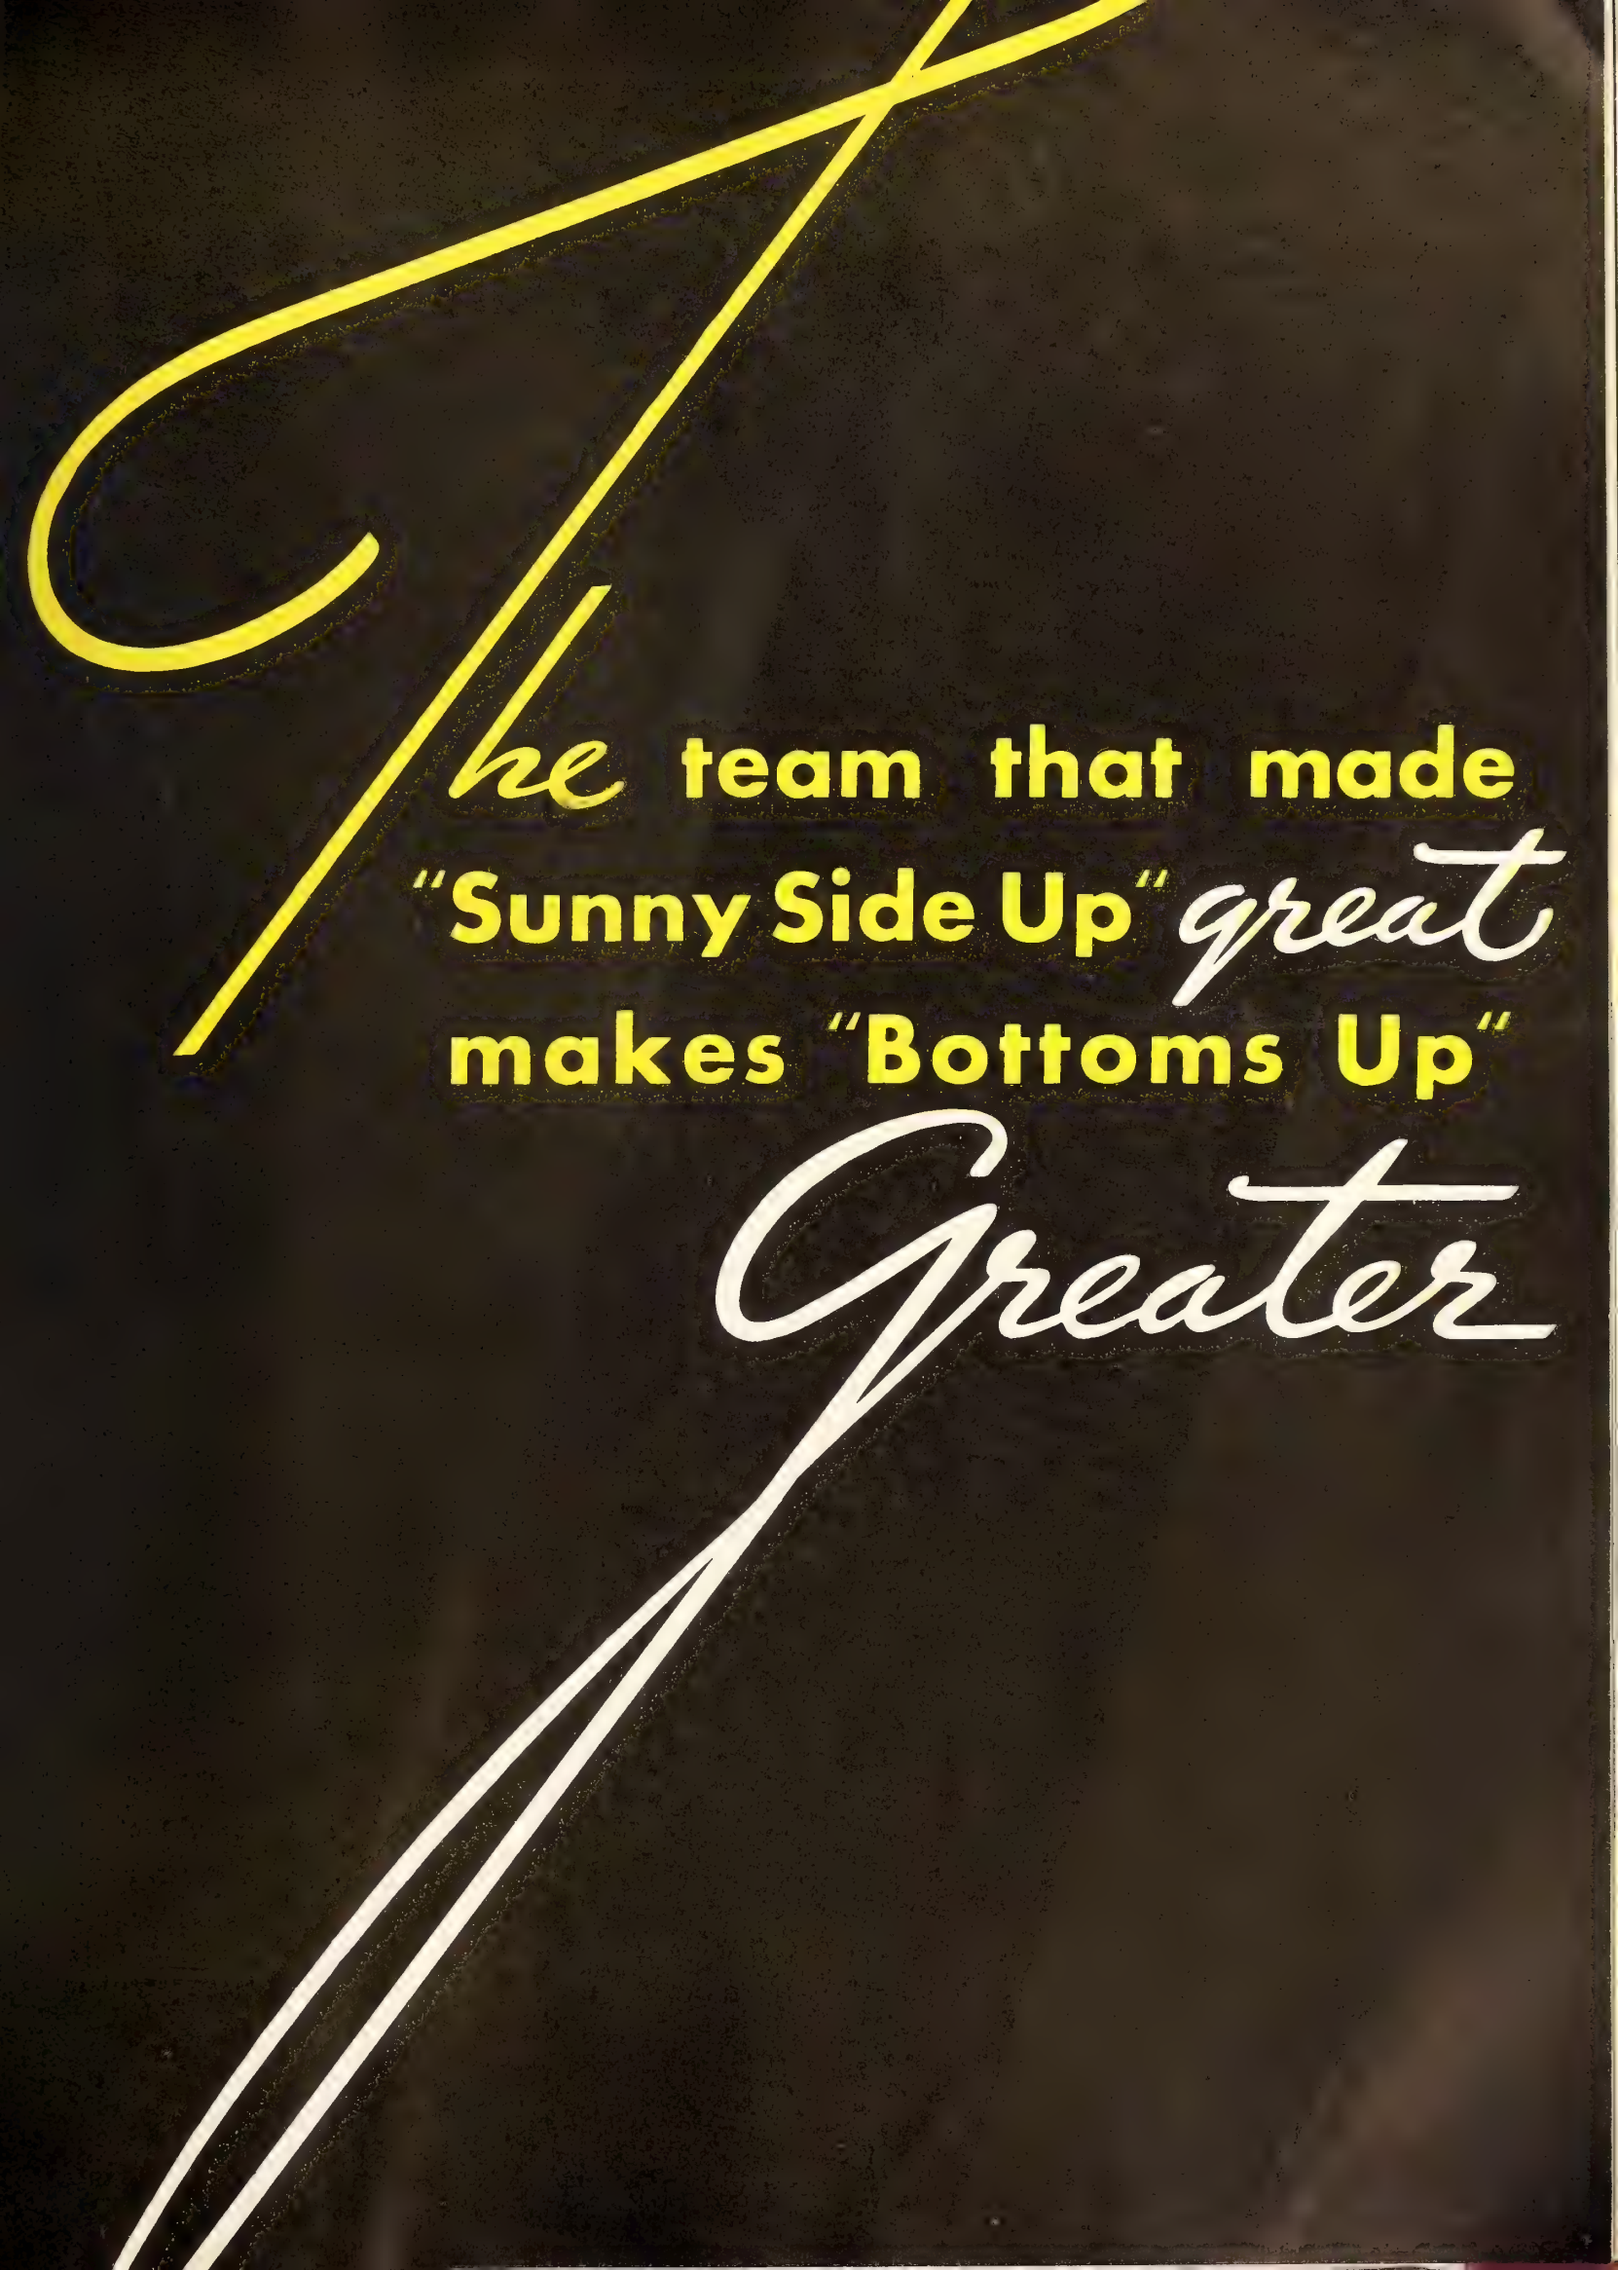
These being the circumstances, it is today practically impossible to interest French capital in any proposition that is not virtually a mathematical certainty. As for picture projects, it is thumbs down absolutely. Since not one important French picture company showed a profit last year, it is difficult to imagine from what benevolent source they will be able to raise the millions of francs necessary for their operations in the near future.

It is not known, as yet, to what extent the failures of the distributing companies, previously mentioned, will affect theatres. It is predicted that many will be forced to close because of a curious French business custom. When an exhibitor books a picture, he gives a note for his guarantee, even though most houses play on a percentage basis. This note is discounted by the distributor, whose bank in turn rediscounts it with the Bank of France. When the note is due it must be paid or the exhibitor is practically out of business, as he is blacklisted by the Bank of France and his notes can no longer be rediscounted there, and a very large proportion of French business is transacted with notes. Now the picture he has booked and for which he has given this note may not have been made, and the question arises as to how many pictures have been sold in advance in this way and will not be made on account of the bankruptcies. Theatre owners who have paper outstanding for these releases will have to pay for films they will never get. As I have said, it is not yet known to what extent this will affect theatres, or whether it will result in many closing down.

This is all grist to the American mill. In the first place, the American companies dis-

(Continued on page 32, column 3)

The ornate and costly technique of Hollywood, supported by the vast American home market, all through the evolution of the motion picture, has given our screen merchandise a world advantage, against which indigenous production in the foreign areas has struggled mightily and noisily but never with any complete success.



Yet there was a day, a pre-Hollywood day, when the world market was dominated by French films, Melies, Pathe Eclair and Gaumont. That condition waned as production costs rose while and because American buying power developed American wares.

Today, despite all of the endeavors of French politicians and patriots, American domination of the French screen continues, in the opinion of Mr. Randolph Bartlett, author of the accompanying article.

Mr. Bartlett has been connected with motion picture production for many years, variously in Hollywood and New York and more recently in France. Early in the sound era he went to Paramount's Joinville studios and later supervised productions for French concerns. He has just returned to New York, and has written his measure of the current situation in France from the American point of view.

—TERRY RAMSAYE

American Companies Have Advantage; in Fact, It's Only Secondary Market, Says Bartlett; England, Germany Compete

The team that made
"Sunny Side Up" great makes "Bottoms Up"
Greater

Bottoms Up

B. G. De Sylva production for Fox release. Story and screen play by B. G. De Sylva, David Butler, Sid Silvers. Directed by David Butler. Art director, Gordon Wiles. Cameraman, Art Miller. Music and lyrics, Berton Lane, Harold Adamson, Richard Whiting Gus Kahn. Dance director, Harold Hecht. Costumes and dance sets, Russell Patterson. Cast: Spencer Tracy, John Boles, Pat Patterson, Herbert Mundin, Sid Silvers, Harry Green. Previewed at Grand Lake Theatre, Oakland, Calif., Feb. 19. Running time, 96 mins.

Oakland, Feb 19.— Bottoms Up' is smart comedy and production plus, revealing a comer in Pat Patterson, who clicks classily in her first American pic. Film is a triple doubling job, being written by David Butler, who directed cannily, Buddy De Sylva, who penned several swell tunes, and Sid Silvers, who stands out in a comedy role. Its another of those behind-scenes stories, but lavish production is minimized. Line routines are not lavish but neatly done with the pic depending mostly on a frothy story and excellent songs.

Miss Patterson is bright and pert She looks cute and sings two numbers, 'I'm Throwin' My Love Away,' and 'Bottoms Up.' Former is a song clicker.

John Boles does romantic lead impressingly in 'Little Did I Dream,' and his first comedy song, 'Waiting at the Gate'

Spencer Tracy is a standout with his fast talking promoter role. Silvers gets most of the laughs with the brightest gags, many obviously his, and a few dated from vaude Harry Green, as a picture producer, is a sure-fire laugh-getter as is Herbert Mundin, in his usual cockney role Thelma Todd's work as the femme heavy is standout

Story is that of four down-and-outers, namely, Tracy, Miss Patterson, Mundin and Silvers, with Tracy building up front for the group as members of English aristocracy. They take to Hollywood and by general fakery, Tracy sells everyone for a pic contract Girl falls for Boles Fake nobility is exposed, so Tracy does the polly ana walkout in favor of Boles

Picture running 96 mins is dragy in spots on first cut preview, particularly in the opening and closing sequences which can easily be tightened for fast entertainment Photography good Picture generally stacks up as a smart production with Miss Patterson and Silvers commanding greatest attention It is cleverly produced with inverted camera stuff in several sequences that lend novelty and tie in with the title

Review from "Variety Daily" says Variety Daily "SMART

A FOX PICTURE

COMEDY...PRODUCTION PLUS...SWELL TUNES ...FAST ENTERTAINMENT...'PAT' PATERSON CLICKS CLASSILY...SPENCER TRACY A STANDOUT!"

Even without a single song..."Bottoms Up" would be grand entertainment. A story loaded with emotional punch ...a million laughs . . . a picture that will make every patron your friend. A cast bright with appealing personalities...and watch "Pat" Paterson! The tunes are extra...and extra catchy. B. G. DeSylva and David Butler add another hit to their long list!

BOTTOMS UP

SPENCER TRACY
"PAT" PATERSON
JOHN BOLES

HERBERT MUNDIN · SID SILVERS
HARRY GREEN · THELMA TODD

Story and screen play: B. G. DeSylva, David Butler and Sid Silvers. Songs by Harold Adamson and Burton Lane, also Richard A. Whiting and Gus Kahn

Made by the makers of "Sunny Side Up"

Directed by David Butler

Produced by B. G. DeSylva

Myers in Tilt At U. S. Hearing organization if you were not reappointed to the Commission?"

(Continued from page 10)

Mr. Myers: "I beg your pardon?"

Mr. Chapman: "That you would be made president or general counsel of this organization if you failed to be reappointed to the Federal Trade Commission?"

Mr. Myers: "As I said, I had submitted my resignation to President Coolidge in November. Now, you say 'failed to be reappointed.' I was then a member of the Commission. I had just received the appointment for seven years. Let's keep the record straight. And afterwards I became president of this same association, on January 15, 1929."

Mr. Chapman: "Did you write a letter to the legislative group of picture operators advising them against complying with the NRA code?"

Mr. Myers: "I never did. And I have all of the papers in regard to that and will be glad to show them to you. I have all the correspondence.

"Now, Mr. Congressman, I do not know what kind of a duck you are, but you have asked me a lot of questions with insinuations, and I would like for you to ask this committee to set a time and place when I may answer those questions, not only with reference to this bill, but answer the insinuations which you have brought out here. I think I have that right since you have tried to prejudice my position here——"

The Chairman: "Just a moment. We are not going to let this hearing be dragged into anything like that. You will have opportunity to reply."

Refusing to go further with the matter, Chairman Rayburn brought the hearing to a conclusion, permitting Mr. Myers and others who had not been heard to file briefs.

That Allied is behind Congressman Patman's block booking bill for the purpose of putting the industry under the control of the Federal Trade Commission is apparent from the late Allied bulletin, issued on Tuesday at Allied headquarters at Washington.

Its passage, some hold, would scrap the whole NRA setup for the industry under the Code Authority.

Myers holds the bill is in "a strategic position and should be passed." In the Allied bulletin he said:

"I should have preferred to wait until next session to press the measure, but Charlie Pettijohn has turned the dogs loose, and unless the exhibitors and organizations opposed to block booking get busy, the Hays propaganda will greatly handicap future efforts in the direction of abolishing block booking."

Ferguson Slated for Presidency of AMPA

William R. (Billy) Ferguson, exploitation director of MGM, is expected to be elected president of the AMPA in New York, succeeding John C. Flinn, who will not seek re-election chiefly because of the press of duties involved in his post as secretary of the Code Authority. The nominating committee comprises Marvin Kirsch, Louis Goldberg, Ray Gallagher, Edward Finney, Monroe Greenthal, Paul Gulick and Edward MacNamee.

The AMPA dinner, April 21, at the Astor, will be a return to the "Naked Truth Dinner," which for some years was the annual social highlight of the organization. Proceeds will be divided equally between the Film Daily Relief Fund and the Motion Picture Charity Fund.

Muchnic Assistant Secretary Of RKO Distributing Company

Ned E. Depinet, president of RKO Distributing Corporation, announced this week that George Muchnic has been appointed assistant secretary of the company, to succeed Joseph Nolan, who has left for the Coast to assume his new duties as assistant to B. B. Kahane, president of RKO Radio Studios, Inc.

Mr. Muchnic, who has been in the company's audit control department for more than a year, and was previously associated with the RKO theatre organization, will assume most of Mr. Nolan's duties. Other appointments include: Thomas Quinn, as head of the claim department, to be established as a separate unit; E. J. Smith, former assistant to Mr. Muchnic, succeeding him in charge of the audit control department; Frank Alford, to the statistical office of the RKO theatre department as Mr. Smith's assistant; Joseph Skelly, manager of branch operations, also handling exchange leases.

Research Council Launches Program

New York men and women, under the auspices of the Motion Picture Research Council, on Wednesday launched what they intend to make a nationwide movement for "better movies," when the organization held its first national luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Mrs. August Belmont presided and Mrs. James Roosevelt, an honorary vice-president, mother of President Roosevelt, was guest of honor.

"We are starting a movement here which will spread from coast to coast," said Mrs. Belmont. "There are literally thousands of little groups interested in better movies, and we are bringing them into this one movement.

"Already the motion picture has made great technical advances," Mrs. Belmont concluded. "Many of the productions are perfectly lovely, but the producers are not going ahead fast enough in eliminating the unworthy. They don't know enough about the needs of the public and we can tell them that."

Dr. Frederick Peterson, former president of the New York Neurological Society and State Commission on Lunacy, said: "Children see week in and week out a very sensational type of picture."

Herbert S. Houston, former publisher of World's Work, and chairman of the council's committee on information, declared that for years the motion picture industry has professed a desire to purge films of their undesirabilities, but "as yet has accomplished little."

William H. Short, director of the council, said that "the facts are now known and the time for action has come."

The council's immediate "program" for "better movies" was made known. The group wishes to eliminate the definitely objectionable "pictures from the movies"; to aid in the development of films designed especially for children, and to produce new types of educational film which would utilize the dramatic as well as the teaching element.

Most French Film Business for U. S.

(Continued from page 28)

tributing in France have the automatic advantage that this is only a secondary market. They know they will have films to distribute, from Hollywood. They can release these, either dubbed or with titles superimposed, and make money. They will take on French independent productions for distribution, if they are at all meritorious, but can live without them. Of the American companies only one, Fox, is producing in France, and the others are satisfied to live on their own product and what independent offerings come their way. The French producer, on the contrary, has no such secondary market. There have been half a dozen French pictures which have enjoyed popularity in England and America, and to a lesser degree in Germany, but the volume of business is so small as to be negligible. Embarking upon production the French company cannot assign a quota to his estimated gross for foreign distribution. If he turns out a hit and gets a foreign release it is velvet, but it cannot be placed in the preliminary budget.

Little Restriction on Imports

Now, if it were not for the fact that the French public is so completely satisfied to see American films, this situation would automatically force the American companies to produce in France. An effort in this direction was made by the government, by authorizing the department under which these imports are controlled, to decide how many foreign films to admit into the country. But the theatre owners very promptly let it be understood that their interests must first be considered, and as they were backed by satisfied audiences there has been virtually no restriction upon importations.

From all these facts it will be recognized that the situation is made to order for American producers, whose only important competition comes from England and Germany and not from France itself. The English factor is growing in importance daily, though the German is decreasing almost as rapidly.

Few British Players Popular

England's principal disability in this contest lies in the fact that few of her screen personalities are popular in Paris. This may only be a temporary condition, as the talents of the British actors are well known. The quality of English productions has improved so rapidly in the last year that it would be a grave mistake to overlook the importance of this competition.

Still the American companies have the advantage of a long lead, and from present indications the coming year should be extremely profitable. The darkest cloud on the horizon is not that of competition, but of economic and political conditions in the country itself.

Such are the reasons for believing that American producers and distributors should be able to control at least 75 per cent of French business during the coming year, or longer, the extent of prospective profits being limited only by a certain degree of competition, and the economic welfare of France itself.

BRAND NEW CONVENTION FEATURES PROVIDED FOR MPTOA GATHERING

Series of Forums with Productunity to "Tell Hollywood" at Exhibitors Will Have Oppors at April 10 to 12 Sessions

The first tentative program for the annual convention of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, to be held April 10, 11 and 12, in Los Angeles, was made public this week.

For the first time in nearly 10 years representative exhibitors will be offered an opportunity to tell Hollywood "to its face" exactly what the American public desires as motion picture fare, through a series of round table conferences with executives directly in charge of production matters. "Main Street" reactions will be given a comprehensive airing. The plan is provocative and, it is felt, should make a definite impression on those who, while actively in control of production, are not always familiar with the exhibitors' problems.

Banquet Set for April 12

The convention program calls for business sessions in the forenoons of the three days, with trips through the studios in the afternoon, and social affairs and entertainment in the evenings. The convention banquet is planned for April 12 at the Ambassador hotel.

The first day's sessions will be devoted to organization affairs, with the annual reports of MPTOA officers and a discussion of improved methods in theatre management, construction and equipment. Exhibitors who are just beginning to feel the upturn after four years of depression will be particularly interested in learning about new ideas in theatre construction, equipment and lighting from a disinterested expert in close touch with all such developments.

The second day's session is to be devoted to round table discussion among the production executives and craftsmen and exhibitors operating representative theatres. Problems of both exhibition and production will be discussed by leaders in both fields.

The third day will be devoted principally to the Motion Picture Code, how it can be used to improve trade practices and what exhibitors can expect from the code's operation on their own business.

The tentative program subject to changes as additional features are added, follows:

MONDAY, APRIL 9
10:00 A.M.

Registration of members, delegates and guests. Registration and information office on mezzanine, The Ambassador hotel. No convention sessions or affairs this date, to afford arriving exhibitors an opportunity to register, get acquainted and see the city. The committee advises it is important that all exhibitors and guests register, receive the official convention badge, which identifies those attending the convention for admission to the studios on studio trips, admits bearer to local theatres, convention sessions, luncheons, parties and all convention affairs.

4:00 P.M.

Annual meeting of the board of directors for the election of officers and other business. This is an executive session for directors and officers only and is the day's only business.

TUESDAY, APRIL 10
Forenoon
10:00 A.M.

Registration of members, delegates and guests.

10:30 A.M. Sharp

Convention called to order by B. N. Berenstein, chairman of the convention committee and president of the Independent Theatre Owners of California. Opening address by Mr. Berenstein (who will introduce President E. L. Kuykendall to preside, then introduce the mayor or other city official who will give the address of welcome.)

Address of Welcome to the City of Los Angeles by the mayor.

Response on behalf of the MPTOA by Walter J. Vincent, treasurer.

Annual report of the president—E. L. Kuykendall.

Annual report of the secretary—Fred S. Meyer.

Report of the convention committee—B. N. Berenstein, chairman.

Announcement of standing committees for the convention, where and when they will meet. These will include:

Committees on:

(1) Public Relations and Community Affairs. Chairman: Fred Wehrenberg, St. Louis, Mo.
(2) Resolutions. Chairman: Edward G. Levy, New Haven Conn.
(3) Grievances. Chairman: Lewen Pizor, Philadelphia, Pa.
(4) NRA Code—Trade Practices. Chairman: Fred S. Meyer, Milwaukee, Wis.
(5) NRA Code—Labor Provisions. Chairman: Jack Miller, Chicago, Ill.
(6) Legislation and Taxes. Chairman: M. A. Lightman, Memphis, Tenn.
(7) Credentials and Rules. Chairman: M. E. Comerford, Scranton, Pa.

"Modern Theatre Construction," by George Schutz, Quigley Publications.

12:30 P.M.

Adjourn business session until 10:30 A. M. Wednesday.

Luncheon.

Afternoon
2:00 P.M.

Trips through the studios. Convention badge identifies one for transportation and admission to the studios, at the time of the scheduled trip through each studio only. Chartered buses will leave The Ambassador promptly as announced.

Evening

Entertainment arranged by the committee on arrangements.

▽

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11
Forenoon
10:30 A.M. Sharp

Session called to order by President Kuykendall.

"The Theatre's Liability to Its Patrons"—By Edward G. Levy, New Haven, Conn.

"What's the Matter with Production, from the Point of View of an Exhibitor"—By a prominent exhibitor of long experience.

"What's the Matter with Exhibition, from the Point of View of a Producer"—By a representative production executive.

"Why Pictures Are Improving"—By a representative from a nationally organized group.

Theatre Management, Construction and Equipment Will Be Discussed on First Day; Code Application at Final Session

"How Pictures Are Put Together"—By a prominent production executive.

"Self-Regulation in Advertising Motion Pictures."

Open forum on motion pictures; production, distribution and exhibition.

1:00 P.M.

Adjourn until 10:30 Thursday.

Luncheon.

Afternoon
2:30 P.M.

Trips through the studios. Buses will leave on schedule.

Evening

Entertainment or studios parties as arranged by local committees.

▽

THURSDAY, APRIL 12
Forenoon
10:30 A.M. Sharp

Session called to order by President Kuykendall.

"What the Code Means to the Country Town Exhibitor"—By a small-town exhibitor.

"What the Code Means to the Metropolitan Exhibitor"—By a representative unaffiliated exhibitor from a large city.

Open forum on code matters relating to trade practices—Ed. Kuykendall presiding. Cut rate competition, zoning and clearance, premiums, overbuying, rejection privileges, double features, and so on, will be discussed from the floor.

Open forum on labor matters—Jack Miller presiding. Two projectionists in the booth, minimum wage scales, maximum hours and conditions of employment, racketeering and intimidation by labor organizers, and other problems will be discussed.

Report of resolutions committee.

Reports of other convention committees.

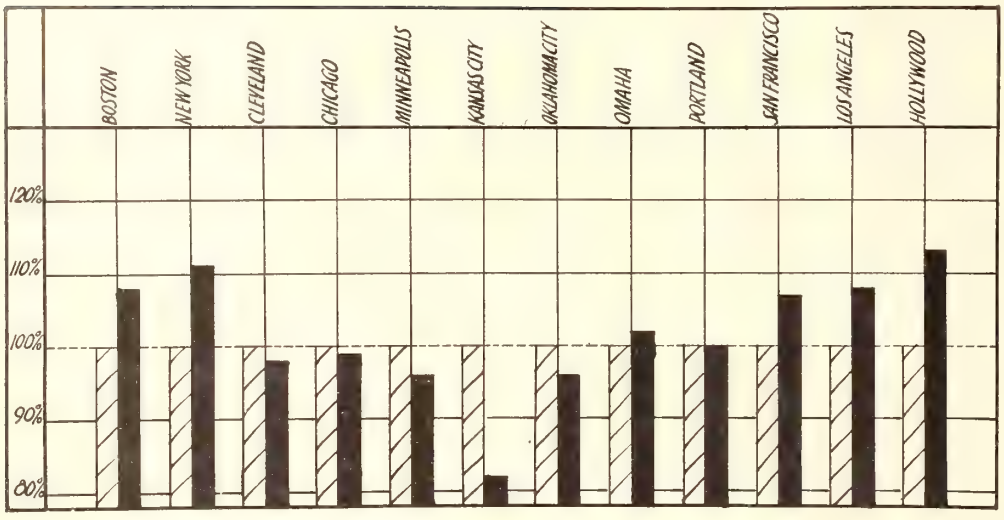
Installation of officers.

Business sessions adjourn sine die.

Afternoon
2:00 P.M.

Final trips through the studios. Buses leave on schedule.

Evening
7:30 P.M.



Convention banquet at The Ambassador hotel.

Invitations have been extended to all members of the Code Authority.

Special rates for convention travel were made official. The round trip rate from New York is $123.46; from Chicago, $88.75; New Orleans, $78.45, with corresponding low rates from all sections of the country. The official special trains will run out of Chicago over the Rock Island Lines and from New Orleans via Southern Pacific.

Exhibitors are specifically requested to file applications with the MPTOA in New York for railroad identification certificates, failure of possession of which will require payment of full fares. These applications should be in the hands of the MPTOA in sufficient time to allow for return of certificates by mail.

A feature of the trip on the two special trains will be a three-hour stop at El Paso, where exhibitors will be given an opportunity to visit Old Mexico in Juarez across the Rio Grande.

The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's tabulation of box office receipts, compares the business done in each of twelve key cities during the three weeks from February 3 to February 17, 1934, with the gross for the same cities in the following three-weeks period, from February 24 to March 10, 1934. In each city, the total for the earlier period is taken as 100 per cent.

CODE AUTHORITY SETS MACHINERY OF BOARDS

Issues Manual for Operation of Local Boards in Field; Impartial Members May Vote in Tie; Will Meet at Once

[Additional pictures of board members will appear in the next issue.]

The motion picture Code Authority over the weekend finally set up the machinery by which the 31 local grievance boards and 31 local clearance and zoning boards will operate the industry's code in the field, in relations between exchanges and exhibitors, and among both groups in so far as fair and equitable trade practices and zoning schedules are involved.

The full texts of official rules and regulations under which both sets of boards are to organize and operate appear on page 69.

Local autonomy in operation constitutes the highlight of the rules and regulations for both grievance and clearance and zoning boards. Another interesting fact, as made public in the manual on Monday, is that Government appointees, sitting as impartial members of the boards, will be given the power to vote in the event votes of the boards are evenly divided. Meetings are to be determined by the members themselves, who are allowed railroad fares and up to $5 a day for hotel expenses.

No Alternates Permitted

Notice of meetings must be sent to board members three days in advance. No permanent or temporary alternates are allowed. The chairman, elected at each meeting, will designate for any absentee a member of similar standing from the other board. In the event he is not available, the board unanimously will appoint a substitute of the same general class. If no unanimity can be obtained, the Authority will wire a selection.

Each member of the boards will be given an opportunity to serve as chairman. All decisions of boards should be unanimous and may be publicized, the manuals state.

Secretaries for the boards will be recommended by the boards themselves and the Code Authority will make the appointments. Salaries of secretaries will be gauged by prevailing scales in each territory and will be governed by salaries of employees doing similar work in each area. The boards are expected to start actual function by April 1, following announcement of secretaries.

To Call Meetings Immediately

John C. Flinn, executive secretary of the Code Authority, this week asked affiliated distributors on the grievance boards and independent first run exhibitors on clearance and zoning boards to call joint meetings immediately of both boards in each territory, the purpose being to acquaint the members of all boards with the contents of the manuals and to review the code generally.

Figures on the estimated operating expense of local boards on a monthly basis also will be compiled, in addition to possible salaries for secretaries. At the meeting of the Code Authority on March 22, a short budget is to be approved, and the personnel of the New York and Philadelphia clearance and zoning boards will probably be announced.

Samuelson Names Four Allied Regional Vice-Presidents

Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied States Association, has selected four regional vice-presidents: Walter B. Littlefield, Boston, for the eastern region; Ray Branch, Hastings, Mich., for the Midwest; Aaron Saperstein, Chicago, for the central region; Harry A. Cole, Dallas, for the south.

Two vacancies for the northwest and the Pacific Coast will be filled on completion of a survey of the situation, it was announced.

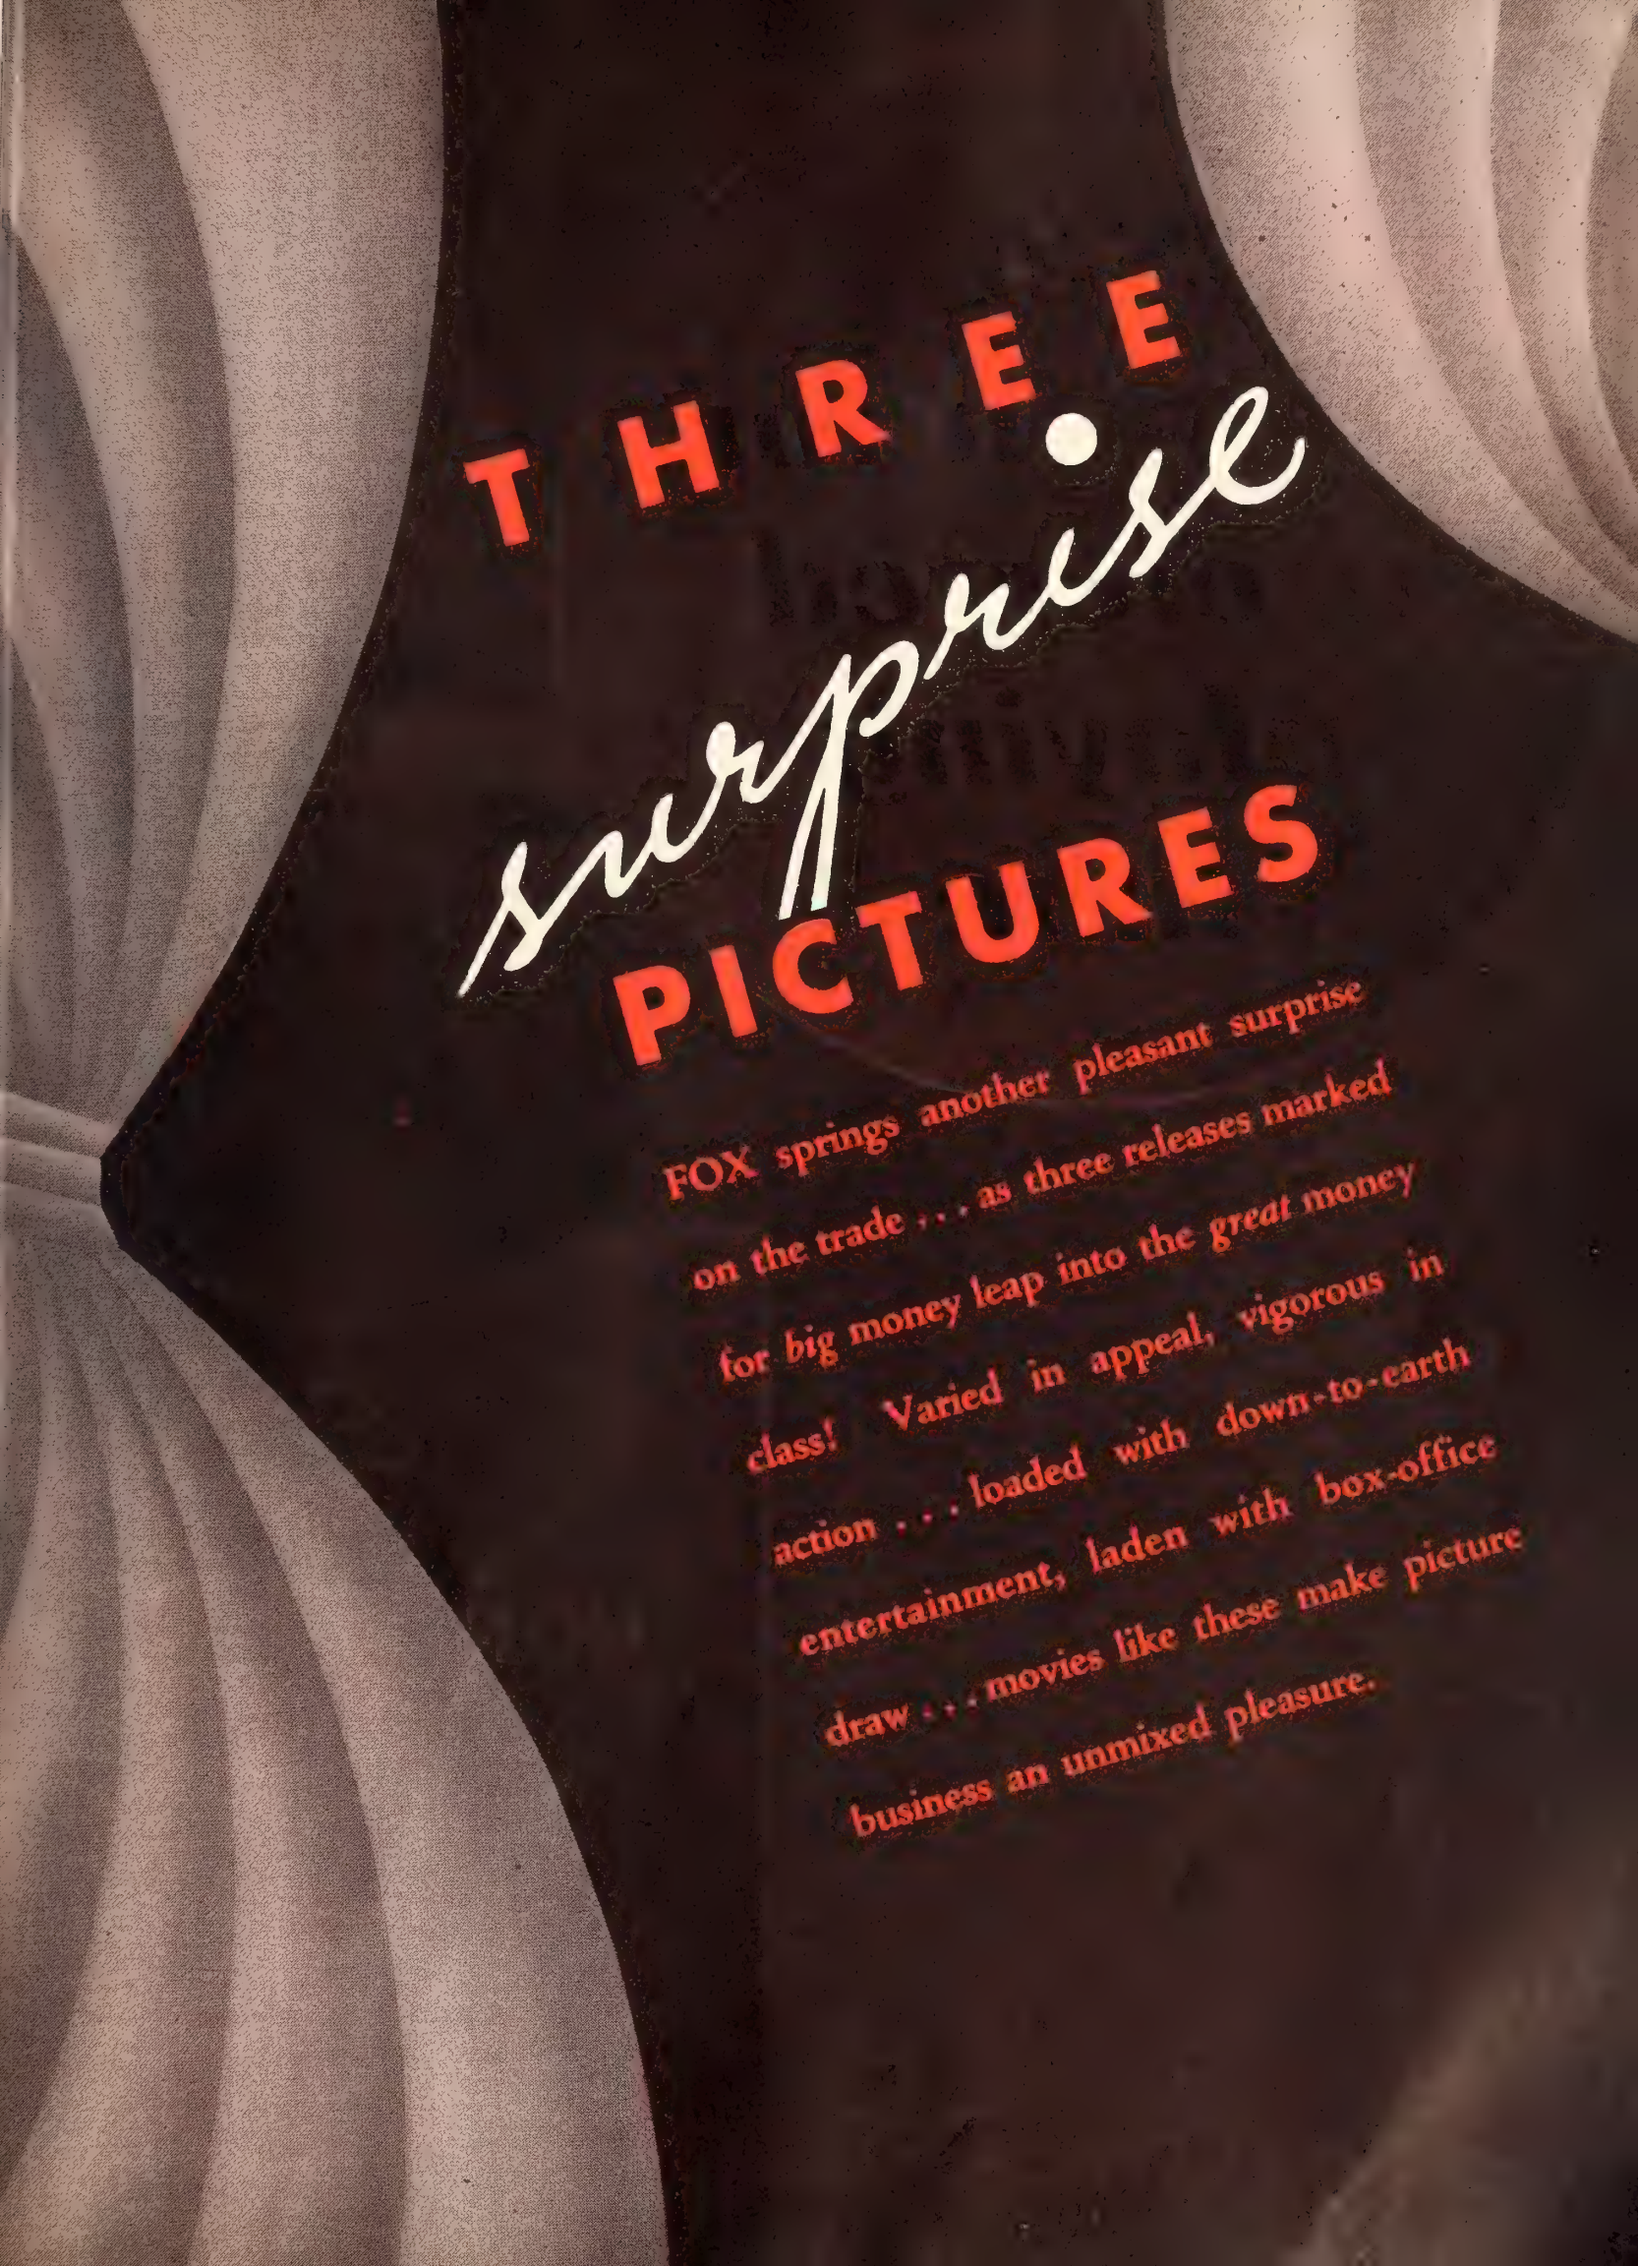
Hugh Weir, Head Of Tower Papers, Dies in New York

Hugh C. Weir, 49, author and editorial director of the Tower Magazines, Inc., New York, died last week at the Presbyterian Medical Center, as a result of complications, following a long illness.

Mr. Weir founded the notably successful Tower Magazines with Catherine McNelis after a career as journalist, author, motion picture scenarist and advertising man. The magazines were an innovation in publishing, based on an idea of mass production and mass sales. F. W. Woolworth was obtained as an outlet, and through that company's five-and-ten-cent stores, with four magazines published, a circulation of approximately 1,000,000 was attained before the end of the first year of publication. Last year the company went into the higher class field, acquiring "The American Spectator."

Mr. Weir, born in Virginia, Ill., received his education in public and private schools, and entered newspaper work, continuing that until 1908. The following eight years were devoted to contributing to magazines. With the development of the motion picture, Mr. Weir entered that field, writing more than 300 scenarios in a prolific career as a screen writer. In 1928, with Catherine McNelis, he founded an advertising agency, out of which grew the Tower Magazines.

His most recent published work appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, an article on motion pictures written in collaboration with Irving Thalberg, and a serial, "Wild Money." Surviving are his wife, one son and a grandchild.



Nazis Prohibit Two U. S. Films

Continuing to exercise strict control over the type of entertainment passed out to the German populace, the Nazis in Berlin late last week ruled that Marlene Dietrich's "Song of Songs," Paramount, and one of the "Tarzan the Ape" stories could not be shown on the grounds that both American films are perilous to Nazi theories.

Barring of Miss Dietrich's feature, a July, 1933, release, followed almost immediately the publication of a Berlin dispatch that Miss Dietrich had subscribed $500 to the Nazis, and her subsequent denial. She said in Hollywood that her donation was intended for the winter fund of the German poor, and not for the Nazi party.

The Berlin dispatches did not mention the reason for the "Song of Songs" ban, but an Associated Press story from Hollywood said that Paramount had received notice of the German government's action, and that the reason given was supposedly that Miss Dietrich plays "an immoral character" in the production.

The Nazis were continuing to banish from domestic entertainment work players and others of Jewish or German-Jewish origin.

THREE surprise
PICTURES
FOX springs another pleasant surprise on the trade . . . as three releases marked for big money leap into the great money class! Varied in appeal, vigorous in action . . . loaded with down-to-earth entertainment, laden with box-office draw . . . movies like these make picture business an unmixed pleasure.

Set them in for preferred playing time

• Rafter-shaking laughter and high-tension thrills . . . when a newlywed wife who has buried her past discovers she forgot to burn those letters.

3 ON A HONEYMOON

SALLY EILERS
ZASU PITTS
HENRIETTA CROSMAN
CHARLES STARRETT
IRENE HERVEY

From the novel "Promenade Deck" by Ishbel Ross.
Screen play: Edward T. Lowe and Raymond Van Sickle

Directed by James Tinling

• Deserted mining towns boom again . . . beautiful chorines turn gold-diggers, the pick-and-shovel way . . . in the ruthless scramble, the frenzied gamble of the 1934 gold stampede.

WILD GOLD

JOHN BOLES
CLAIRE TREVOR
HARRY GREEN
ROGER IMHOF
RUTH GILLETTE
MONROE OWSLEY

Story by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti. Screen play: Lester Cole and Henry Johnson.

Directed by George Marshall

ADVENTURE

SUSPENSE

• Scotland Yard follows a trail of blood into the sinister shadows of Trinidad's Caroni swamp . . . where few dare venture . . . and none return.

MURDER IN TRINIDAD

NIGEL BRUCE
HEATHER ANGEL
VICTOR JORY

From the novel by John W. Vandercook
Screen play by Seton I. Miller

Directed by Louis King

FOX

BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS: February

CAROLINA — Fox

(1) Produced by Winfield Sheehan. Directed by Henry King. Screen play by Reginald Berkeley. From "The House of Connelly" by Paul Green. Photographed by Hal Mohr. Sound engineer, Joseph Aiken. Settings by Jack Otterson. Costumes by Rita Kaufman. Musical director, Louis DeFrancesco. Cast: Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Young, Henrietta Crosman, Richard Cromwell, Mona Barrie, Stepin Fetchit, Russell Simpson, Ronnie Cosbey, Jackie Cosbey, Almeda Fowler, Alden Chase, Roy Watson, John Elliott, John Webb Dillion, J. C. Fowler, Andre Cheron. Released February 2, 1934.

QUEEN CHRISTINA — M G M

(2) Directed by Rouben Mamoulian. Produced by Walter Wanger. Story by Salka Viertel and Margaret P. Levino. Screen play by H. M. Harwood. Dialogue by S. N. Behrman. Musical score by Herbert Stothart. Art director, Alexander Toluboff. Photographed by William Daniels. Film editor, Blanche Sewell. Cast: Greta Garbo, John Gilbert, Ian Keith, Lewis Stone, Elizabeth Young, C. Aubrey Smith, Reginald Owen, Georges Renevent, David Torrence, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Ferdinand Munier. Released February 9, 1934.

MOULIN ROUGE — United Artists

(3) Directed by Sidney Lanfield. Adaptation by Nunnally Johnson and Henry Lehrman. Photographed by Charles Rosher. Film editor, Lloyd Nosler. Art directors, Richard Day and Joseph Wright. Music by Al Dubin and Harry Warren. Musical director, Alfrew Newman. Cast: Constance Bennett, Franchot Tone, Tullio Carminati, Helen Westley, Andrew Tombes, Russ Brown, Robert Cavanaugh, Georges Renevent, Fuzzy Knight, Ivan Lebedeff. Released January 19, 1934.

Drama, light and heavy, dominates the group of productions selected by the nation's key theatre box offices as February's Champions. Only two substantially vary the choice—they to be definitely identified as musicals and sharing their ranking with each other, forming the only tie in the group.

(4) Directed by Frank Capra. From the Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Samuel Hopkins Adams. Screen play by Robert Riskin. Assistant director, C. C. Coleman. Photographed by Joseph Walker. Sound engineer, E. L. Bernds. Film editor, Gene Havlick. Cast: Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert, Walter Connolly, Roscoe Karns, Jameson Thomas, Alan Hale, Ward Bond, Eddie Chandler, Wallis Clark, Harry Bradley, Charlie Brown, Harry Holman, Maidel Turner, Arthur Hoyt, Blanche Friderici, Irving Bacon, Charles C. Wilson, Harry Todd. Released February 23, 1934.

IT HAPPENED ONE NIGHT — Columbia

(5) Directed by William K. Howard. Screen play by Bella and Samuel Spewack. From the play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Musical director, Herbert Stothart. Recording director, Douglas Shearer. Art director, Alexander Toluboff. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Gowns by Adrian. Photographed by Harold Rosson and Charles Clarke. Film editor, Frank Hull. Cast: Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald, Frank Morgan, Charles Butterworth, Jean Hersholt, Vivienne Segal, Frank Conroy, Henry Armetta, Adrienne D'Ambricourt, Joseph Cawthorn.

THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE — M G M

(5) Directed by William Dieterle. Screen play by F. Hugh Herbert and Carl Erickson. Adaptation by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola. Story by Harry Collins and Warren Duff. Numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley. Music and lyrics by Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal. Dialogue director, Stanley Logan. Photographed by William Rees. Gowns by Orry-Kelly. Art directors, Jack Okey and Willy Pogany. Film editor, Jack Killifer. Musical director, Leo Forbstein. Cast: William Powell, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh, Verree Teasdale, Reginald Owen, Henry O'Neill, Phillip Reed, Hugh Herbert, Gordon Westcott, Dorothy Burgess, Etienne Girardot, William Burress, Nella Walker, Spencer Charters, George Humbert, Frank Darien, Harry Beresford, Helen Freeman. Released February 17, 1934.

FASHIONS OF 1934 — First National

DE CASSERES CALLS "ROTHSCHILD" FIRST FULL-SIZED WORLD PICTURE

Declares Arliss' Latest 20th Century Production Is Controversial, Not Propaganda, and Is His Greatest Performance

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

The world premiere at the Astor Theatre, New York, of the 20th Century picture, "The House of Rothschild," with George Arliss playing the roles of Mayer Rothschild and Nathan, his son, was a "world premiere" in a sense entirely different from that used by the producers.

For "The House of Rothschild" is a world picture—the first full-sized world picture to be produced. It is "The Cavalcade" of a race.

It is more nearly universal than any picture that I can recall because its scope is universal in its historical appeal and the delineation of those characteristics in all human beings that are unchangeable.

I believe that "The House of Rothschild" will still be showing when any other picture you can name will be but a memory.

It is the sort of picture after leaving which you go home and sit down and think over for hours. For you have in this picture—aside from its other angles—two Napoleons, one matched against the other: the Napoleon of Elba and Waterloo and a Napoleon of Money, Nathan Rothschild. And you have seen Mammon topple Mars into the dust.

Controversial, Not Propaganda

Knowing the mechanics and the tricks of the trade in Hollywood, I am slow to salute the makers of pictures. So much hooey, so little that is inspiring and dignified! But here and now unreservedly I throw up my hat and shout my congratulations to the whole 20th Century outfit on this, its first anniversary—to Joseph M. Schenck, to Darryl F. Zanuck, to the incisive, dynamic direction of Alfred Werker, to the wonderful simplicity displayed in the arrangement of the story by Nunnally Johnson—and to George Arliss, who has added in "The House of Rothschild" two more portraits to his famous collection, and these—Mayer and Nathan Rothschild—by far the greatest of them all!

The 20th Century executives are also to be applauded almightily for selecting for their fourth production a theme that is controversial, that always has been controversial and that always will be controversial: the Jew and the Gentile.

And let me say right here that "The House of Rothschild" is not propaganda. Controversial and propaganda are two different things. The dictionary defines propaganda as "any institution or systematic scheme for propagating a doctrine or a system." This is as entirely absent from "The House of Rothschild" as it is from "Cavalcade," "I Am a Fugitive" or "All Quiet on the Western Front."

"The House of Rothschild" is, first of all, 100 per cent breathless and magnificent entertainment. Secondly, it is a tremendous thrust against lawless prejudice, against mob and official intolerance.

GEORGE ARLISS IN "THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD"

If that is "propaganda," then all the arts may as well shut up shop—and the human race book itself for a return engagement with breechclout and club. For all that is great in this world strikes at something rotten.

The first night was a complete sell-out long before the doors opened. The audience—made up of almost everybody you could mention in the motion picture and literary worlds—sat for 86 minutes through this picture without registering a cough or a squirm—a tremendous compliment from a sophisticated, backstage Broadway crowd.

The mood of the audience was tense and receptive, punctuated at certain high-spots by explosions of spontaneous applause. They were aware that the producers of this picture had made the great renunciation. For here were the Napoleonic wars without a battle scene! Here was Waterloo being fought out in the London Stock Exchange with Nathan Rothschild, his back against the wall and a flower stuck in his buttonhole, staking the whole fortune of the House of Rothschild on the triumph of Wellington and the British Empire! This is one of the few great master-scenes of picture history.

"The House of Rothschild" starts with

(Continued on page 44, column 1)

PARAMOUNT

LANNY ROSS—Singing star of Maxwell House Showboat Hour and one of radio's two most popular male voices; Ross's first Paramount picture will be "Melody in Spring", released April 20th.

DOROTHY DELL—"Miss Universe of 1930" and featured player in Ziegfeld's "Follies of 1931"; Miss Dell exhibited so much beauty and talent in "Wharf Angel", her first Paramount Picture, that she has been cast for the lead in "Little Miss Marker".

CARL BRISSON — England's reigning musical comedy favorite; Brisson's screen tests were so good that he was immediately cast by Paramount for the lead in Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities," KITTY CARLISLE—Miss Carlisle is Broadway's newest singing star, who will be heard and seen as she plays opposite Carl Brisson in Earl Carroll's "Murder at the Vanities".

IDA LUPINO—This beautiful daughter of the famous Lupino family has already created excitement in film circles by her attractive portrayals in "Search for Beauty" and "Come On, Marines".

FRANCES DRAKE—As George Raft's dancing partner in "Bolero", Miss Drake's fiery performance gave such great promise of future stardom that she will next be seen as George Raft's leading woman in "The Trumpet Blows", released April 13th.

HENRY WILCOXON—Cecil B. DeMille's search for a "Marc Antony" ended when he saw the screen test of Henry Wilcoxon, who was at once chosen to play opposite Claudette Colbert in "Cleopatra."

HELEN MACK—This talented young actress gave such a splendid performance in Paramount's "All of Me" that she was immediately signed to a long term contract, as a featured player.

EVELYN VENABLE—On the stage as Walter Hampden's leading woman, her charm and acting ability in Paramount's "Cradle Song" and "Death Takes A Holiday" mark her as a coming star.

ELIZABETH YOUNG—Star of the sensational stage play "The Firebird", Miss Young was picked by Greta Garbo for a leading role in "Queen Christina".

"STARS OF TOMORROW", an interesting trailer which will serve to introduce these new PARAMOUNT PERSONALITIES to your patrons is now available at your nearest Paramount Exchange. There is no charge for the use of this trailer.

Calls 'Rothschild' All-World Film

(Continued from page 40)

suspense, drama, action. In Jew Street, Frankfort, the iron nets are being put up and the Jews herded for the night in the Ghetto. Audience contact is here immediate, gripping.

Crescendo of Interest

Thence onward the interest never flags for a moment, but rises in a steady crescendo. There is a rare mixture of comedy and drama in the tax collector's visit to the house of Mayer Rothschild, the founder of the business. Then follows the death of old Mayer and his admonition to his five sons to found a world banking-house in five different capitals, to stick together and to know that with money they can whip the world.

But this is only a prologue. The story sweeps swiftly to Nathan Rothschild, in London, and the Napoleonic wars. And here the character of Nathan and the mighty power of this man and his family facing a hostile world are treated epically—indeed, it is Balzacian in its remorseless grandeur.

That there are deviations, here and there, from historical fact is of no consequence, for a story is a story, and, after all, no one can lie like an historian. The story-writers are, in fact, the only truth-tellers, for they make the spirit manifest and leave the details for lesser minds to scrap over.

Great Fairy-Story

In a word, there is no better woven story on the screen than "The House of Rothschild." It is a great fairy-story of the magic of money and the house that Mayer built.

But it is Arliss that is the big draw in this picture. In action, gait, speech, dress, both as old Mayer and as Nathan, this great actor has created a vital, fascinating portrait of the eternal Jew—his earthiness, his subtlety, his mysticism, his will-to-suffer, his hidden hope of vengeance and his love of peace, of family.

Coming from an actor not of that race, it is simply uncanny, just as his Shylock, on the stage, is the greatest and most penetrating I have ever seen.

This Rothschild of Arliss outranges his Disraeli, his Voltaire, his Hamilton and his Marquis of Steyne. It should have tremendous box office value, for where in pictures—or anywhere else—can you find an actor who can so beautifully unite the demoniac and the human? And it is a very human creation, too—this Nathan Rothschild—as witness the sequences with his old mother, with his daughter and his wife. He can terrify and melt almost simultaneously.

Other fine bits are the acting of Helen Westley as the mother of the House of Rothschild; the bluff Wellington of C. Aubrey Smith; the fierce Ledrantz of Boris Karloff, the Prussian Big Bad Wolf; the Baring of Arthur Byron and the sweetly-nice Julie Rothschild of Loretta Young.

The last sequence in technicolor I did not like personally. But technicolor pulls, I believe, at the box office, so who am I in front of b. o.?

I will wager that that first-night audience thought of nothing else but "The House of Rothschild" and Arliss after leaving the theatre, and talked of little else the next day. That ought to mean crashing the public for a record.

Boston Man Charged With Larceny in "Voice" Swindle

Benjamin Leiberman, alias James A. Lee, 50, of 51 St. James street, Newton, Mass., has been arrested by Boston police, charged with being a moving spirit in an alleged scheme to defraud various people, exacting money from them on the assumption that their voices, or faces, or both, were to be used in talking pictures.

Two specific instances are charged to Lee, both of them involving women. Mrs. Blanche C. Martin, retired educator, of Roxbury, declared that she had given Lee $1,000 and signed a note for $750, and Mrs. Mary A. Jewell, 75, a widow of Boston, claimed she had paid Lee $90. Mrs. Jewell informed police she was told by Lee that if tests of her voice were successful, her voice would be used to accompany travelogues and animated cartoons. The police reported still another person, a man, had invested $400 in the hope of achieving screen success via his voice. A search for others who may have dealt with Lee is being conducted.

David I. Poucher Killed in Crash

David I. Poucher, 53, a motion picture accountant, was killed last week in an automobile accident, while driving to his home in Queens, New York. His car skidded, ran up on an embankment, struck a post and overturned. The car was demolished and he was instantly killed.

Mr. Poucher had recently been associated with Duke Ellington and Freuler Film Associates, Inc. He entered the film industry in 1917 with Mutual Film, of which he later became treasurer. He also was treasurer of F. B. O. in later years.

He is survived by his widow, three children and two brothers, one of whom, Ralph Poucher, is with Consolidated Film Industries.

Universal Cuts Losses In 1933

Universal Picture Corporation and subsidiaries, for the year ended October 28, 1933, showed a net loss of $1,016,893, according to the financial statement just issued. This compares with a net loss for the preceding year, ended October 29, 1932, of $1,250,283. The 1933 figure includes taxes and deduction of $583,614 for amortization and depreciation.

Schenck Confirms Loew's Control of Poli Circuit

Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's and MGM, declared on his return from the Coast late last week that Loew's has had control of the Poli New England circuit of 18 theatres since the beginning of this season. The statement was made in reply to a question concerning the authenticity of numerous reports that Loew's might acquire the circuit.

Lilyan Tashman Dies in N. Y.

Lilyan Tashman, motion picture actress and wife of Edmund Lowe, actor, died in Doctors' hospital, New York, at 2:15 p. m. Wednesday. Five days earlier she had been operated upon for an advanced tumorous condition.

She was 35 years of age. Mr. Lowe, to whom she had been married 15 years, was at her bedside.

Lilyan Tashman was born in Brooklyn, October 23, 1899. Her professional career began with the Ziegfeld Follies, and this was followed by appearances in "The Garden of the Weeds," "Gold Diggers" and other stage musicals.

Among her best known screen appearances were "The Trial of Mary Dugan," "Bulldog Drummond," "Puttin' on the Ritz," "The Matrimonial Bed," "Girls About Town."

Miss Tashman recently had completed a role in Chester Erskin's "Frankie and Johnnie," produced at the Biograph Studios in New York.

Film A Refuge, Declares Hays

"In the dark days of depression, the motion picture has been a great refuge for humanity," declared Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, in a radio address over a nationwide NBC-WEAF network last Thursday evening. The broadcast was heard in England, and was for the benefit of the Cinematograph Trade Benevolent Fund of London. A London broadcast to this country preceded Mr. Hays' address.

"Motion pictures have made their contribution to the courage and sanity of nations," Mr. Hays declared, urging all who heard him to contribute to the English industry's charitable fund. He stressed the fact that the public knows only the brighter side of the actor's life, is unaware of the hours of drudgery which go into production.

"When we ask help for the ill and the unfortunate, we call it charity," he said, "but the public owes something to motion pictures and to the motion picture actor. Civilization owes them something. Not only has the cinema brought entertainment and education to thousands, but it has brought nations into better and closer understanding. It has shown us how other peoples look and live and has given us their point of view."

Finance Committee Refuses To Eliminate Admission Tax

The Senate finance committee on Wednesday at Washington refused to make any changes in the admission tax, killing the plan of Senator Pat Harrison to eliminate several "nuisance" levies. The committee accepted his proposal to retain the capital stock and excess profit taxes, but considered it unwise to stop any revenue until returns of the stock and profit taxes begin to come in after July 1, 1935.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

A Very Honorable Guy

(First National)

Comedy

There's plenty of comedy in this one; roisterous and farcical in both action and dialogue. It differs very noticeably from any previous Joe E. Brown picture. Modern in idea and story telling technique, this change of Brown character may be a little disappointing to his army of kid fans, but the grown-ups, particularly the 1934 minded, should enjoy the exciting fun it provides.

Aiming at straight amusement, the film endows its basic story with plenty of theatre values. Comedy, of course, is the big feature, and the several twists that have been given this element in ringing in the other assets, romance, drama, thrill, menace and suspense, make for fast moving, exciting and sometimes surprising situation entertainment.

Dealing with familiar characters, the story has Feets, a two-bit gambler of the Honest John type, who gets into a traffic jam and needs $500 to square the case. Borrowing the money from Brain, big shot racketeer, he must repay within 30 days or else. Making a deal with a doctor, Snitzer, to sell his carcass for $1,000, he immediately runs into a phenomenal run of luck; he cashes in on every bet he makes and is soon in the big money class. Trying to buy off his deal with Snitzer, the medico demands the body and spurns a big cash bonus. Desperate, very much in love with gold-digging Hortense, he throws a big party in Lindy's to announce his marriage. But between finding out that his thirty days are up and that Snitzer has been chiseling with Hortense, he decided to take it on the lam. With Hortense he jumps into a car, to find it is being driven by a pair of the Brain's killers, who have been instructed to put him on the spot. In the meantime, the Brain has got the real lowdown on Snitzer, has learned that he is a madman, and a roaring chase follows, winding up in a grand crash, in which Feets and Hortense are the only ones uninjured. Inasmuch as the accident happens right in front of a chicken ranch, the two love birds decide that it's the ideal spot for them to settle down.

In title, story idea and the characters which interpret it, there are some nifty showmanship ideas that can be uniquely used in stirring up a different interest in Joe E. Brown. Selling it to the men folks should be easy as pie. Yet because romance is subordinate to every other element, it will be necessary to do a little smart thinking in order to whip up feminine curiosity. Consequently a colorful advance campaign accentuating the atmosphere of the picture appears to be the medium.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Story by Damon Runyon. Screen play by Earl Baldwin. Photographed by Ira Morgan. Running time, 62 minutes. Release date, May 5, 1934.

CAST

Feet	Joe E. Brown
Hortense	Alice White
Dr. Snitzer	Robert Barrat
Benny	Hobart Cavanaugh
The Brain	Alan Dinehart
Joe	Harold Huber
Moon	Arthur Vinton
Mrs. Fieblebaur	Irene Franklin
Red	G. Pat Collins
O'Toole	James Donlan
Al	Al Dubin
Harry	Harry Warren

Melody in Spring

(Paramount)

Comedy with Music

This is light, airy comedy into which a series of Lanny Ross vocal numbers are interpolated. Family type entertainment in character, it majors in an unusual brand of laugh provocation. Never serious, it balances dialogue, action and situations nicely so that interest is stimulated and maintained. Supplementing the predominating comedy in which the Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland combination holds the pace established in "Six of a Kind," there is a clean and pleasing romantic angle. In every phase of the picture, advantage is taken of the Lanny Ross radio broadcast popularity, an element that has a natural showmanship value.

Attempting no pretentiousness, yet at the same time introducing definite novelty, the picture develops amusement for both men and women of the more mature ages. Similarly it has a spirit of youthfulness for the modernes, and there's general wholesomeness for others.

Here's a quick synopsis. It's love at first sight for the singing Lanny Ross and Ann Sothern. Lanny, seeking a spot on the Blodgett (Ruggles) Dog Biscuit radio hour, finds that worthy to be Miss Sothern's father, an inveterate souvenir collector. Comedy Ruggles-Boland sequences intervening, Ross gets himself in Dutch with Ruggles as he queers his attempt to collect a bed post for his collection. To break up the Ross-Sothern affair, the picture moves to Switzerland, where Ruggles sets his heart on purloining a jealously guarded cowbell. A little mountain climbing fol-de-rol intervening, the picture reaches its musical high spot as the mountaineers join in the chorus of one of Ross' songs. Ruggles gets his bell, but he also gets thrown into the locale bastile, from which he is delivered in an extraordinary manner by Ross. Jugged himself, it looks as though Mrs. Blodgett (Mary Boland) has succeeded in breaking up the love affair only to have Ann Sothern upset her apple cart by getting herself in jail along with her heart-throb.

Showmanship exploitation is evident. The debut of the former Yale athlete, radio broadcasting Ross should be played up for all it's worth in every way. The souvenir hunting atmosphere of the film suggests some unusual lobby and foyer displays as well as newspaper and personal hobby contacts. The growing box office popularity of the Ruggles-Mary Boland team should be capitalized and considerable attention should be devoted to accentuating the clean, wholesome amusing romantic atmosphere of the whole show in bidding for general support.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Norman McLeod. Story by Frank Leon Smith. Screen play, Benn W. Levy. Continuity, Jane Storm. Sound, Harry Lindgren. Music by Lewis E. Gensler. Lyrics by Harlan Thompson. Photographed by Henry Sharp. Running time, 76 minutes. Release date, April 20, 1934.

CAST

John Craddock	Lanny Ross
Warren Blodgett	Charlie Ruggles
Mrs. Blodgett	Mary Boland
Jane Blodgett	Ann Sothern
Wesley Prebble	George Meeker
Wirt	Herman Bing
Mrs. Shorter	Norma Mitchell
Suzan	Joan Gale
Suzanna	Jane Gale
Suzette	June Gale
The Blonde	Helen Lynd

The Quitter

(Chesterfield)

Drama

An independent production, this drama of the small-town newspaper and a family complication, is definitely well done, in story, development and in performances. It is distinctly comparable to the material offered by many of the larger studios, in selling and entertainment values, though lacking strong box office selling names in the matter of cast.

Dealing with the efforts of an elderly woman, whose husband, it is understood, abandoned her and their two sons many years before, to maintain a small town newspaper, and the difficulties which result from the "modern" ideas of a snobbish, college-bred son, the story offers good dramatic selling opportunity. The title is strong and arresting, and may be easily and interestingly tied in with the story elements in selling.

Perhaps the strongest or most familiar name in the cast is that of Emma Dunn, as the mother. The other cast leaders, Charley Grapewin, William Bakewell, Barbara Weeks, are at least known. Glen Boles, as the younger brother, handles his exacting role in the manner of a veteran, despite his obvious immaturity. Billing him would be worthwhile for possible future appearances.

Miss Dunn, respected member of the small community, publishes her newspaper with the complete support of her townsfolk. Of her two sons, who believe their father was killed in the war, Bakewell is the college graduate with ideas for modernizing and advancing the paper, and an arrogant, overbearing attitude which particularly annoys his younger brother, Boles. The youngster is continuously railing against his brother and the fact that he is being treated as a child. The father, Grapewin, suddenly puts in an appearance, and is befriended by the old employee of the paper, Lafe McKee, with whom he lives. Boles meets him, the boy knowing him only as a friend of McKee. Miss Dunn refuses to permit him to disturb the fiction she has built up about him for her children.

Bakewell, engaged to Miss Weeks, wealthy daughter of a utility magnate, gives every evidence of being ashamed of his mother and family to the point of never permitting the two women to see each other. Bakewell persuades his mother to advance him a large sum, mortgaging her home, to enable him to "improve" the paper. His attempts at the big executive activity, and his espousal of a water project opposed by the leading men of the town, lead to the collapse of the paper. Grapewin, who had been left money by McKee when the latter died, saves the home, arranging that his assistance should be kept quiet.

Bakewell attends a party at the home of his fiancee on the night of his mother's birthday, and Boles, coming home from school, finds her dining with Grapewin. The youngster, returning, stops off at Miss Weeks' home to flay Bakewell as a quitter and a snob. The girl breaks their engagement. Back at the small print shop, Grapewin and Miss Dunn attempt to get out the paper. Bakewell walks in, is told the truth by his father, and pitches in to help. Miss Weeks comes in, sees him grease-covered and working, and a general reconciliation follows.

It is entertainment that should fit well almost any time in the week. While adult material, it

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

A FOX PICTURE

RUDY VALLEE • JIMMY DURANTE
ALICE FAYE • ADRIENNE AMES
GREGORY RATOFF • CLIFF EDWARDS
DIXIE DUNBAR • GERTRUDE MICHAEL
RICHARD CARLE • WARREN HYMER

and

GEORGE WHITE

Entire Production Conceived, Created and Directed by GEORGE WHITE · Musical Numbers direction of HARRY LACHMAN · Story direction by THORNTON FREELAND Music and Lyrics: RAY HENDERSON, JACK YELLEN and IRVING CAESAR · Executive Producer: ROBERT T KANE SMASH!!!

The Spring drive is on...

In BOSTON: Out-grossing every Fox picture this season at the Metropolitan . . . almost twice as big as "Carolina" and "Mr. Skitch."

In BALTIMORE: Sensational opening at New Theatre classed with "David Harum" and "Carolina." Hold-over regarded as sure thing.

In ALBANY: Tremendous opening with patrons applauding. R-K-O Palace manager considers it "one of the biggest musical box office successes of the year."

In CINCINNATI: Opened bigger than "David Harum" which held over at the Palace. Already planning second week on basis of present tremendous business.

In NEW BEDFORD: Marvelous comment and biggest business in weeks for the State Theatre.

In CLEVELAND: Terrific opening topped "Carolina" for both gross and attendance at the Hippodrome.

In SYRACUSE: S. R. O. at Eckel opening show. Enthusiastic audience reaction indicates easy hold-over.

In NEW HAVEN: "Took the city by storm" reports manager of the Poli Palace.

In HARTFORD: Over with a bang . . . opening tops "David Harum" . . . audience applause. Looks like sure-fire S. R. O. week.

contains nothing in the least objectionable for juveniles.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Chesterfield. Directed by Richard Thorpe. Story by Robert Ellis. Photographed by M. A. Anderson. Recorded by Pete Clark. Release date, February 5, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Ed Tilford ..... Charley Grapewin
Cordelia Tilford ..... Emma Dunn
Russell Tilford ..... William Bakewell
Diana Winthrop ..... Barbara Weeks
Winthrop ..... Hale Hamilton
Eddie Tilford ..... Glen Boles
Annabelle Hibbs ..... Mary Kornman
Zack ..... Lafe McKee
Hannah ..... Aggie Herring
Sister Hooten ..... Jane Keckley

Turkey Time

(Gaumont-British)

Frolic

Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn, with assistance from Robertson Hare, provide the fun in this Christmas frolic which brings to the screen another of those successful West End farces in which the two stars made themselves so famous. It's rather English in its atmosphere, but where the mixture has been tried before and liked, it should be readily accepted. Of all the productions in which the two players have teamed before, this one approaches nearest to "Rookery Nook" ("One Embarrassing Night," I believe it was titled in the United States) for slick comedy and a quick succession of laughs.

It's all about a Christmas party at a seaside town, with snow yards deep, lying around all over the place, a couple of sprightly lads and a stranded fit-up show girl, an acidulated hostess and her henpecked spouse. Lots of complications ensue because the girl can't pay her room rent and because the boy friends adopt peculiar methods to lay hands on the "ready." However, after oodles of farcical developments it all works out, the rent is paid, one of the boy friends gets the first prize and the other contrives to explain things to the satisfaction of his suspicious bride-to-be.

For exploitation there's the devil-may-care atmosphere of the story, a sequence of laughs, a number of fetching stills, and opportunities, chiefly on the strength of the title, to work out any amount of imaginative ballyhoo.

The picture is acted in the rollicking style customary to farce productions, moves slickly. —CHARMAN, London.

Produced by Gaumont-British. Directed by Tom Walls. Screen play and dialogue by Ben Travers. Unit production manager, Alec Saville. Photographed by Charles van Enger. Art direction by A. Junge. Edited by Helen Lewis. Recorded by H. Hand. Costumes by Gordon Conway. Running time, 71 minutes.

CAST

Max ..... Tom Walls
David ..... Ralph Lynn
Edwin ..... Robertson Hare
Mrs. Gather ..... Mary Brough
Rose ..... Dorothy Hyson
Ernestine ..... Norma Varden
Louise ..... Veronica Rose
Westbourne ..... D. A. Clarke-Smith
Florence ..... Marjorie Corbett
Jane ..... Daphne Scorer
Cook ..... Gwen Clifford

Rhythm in the Air

(First National)

Musical Comedy Drama

Entertainment that entertains is the showmanship of this picture. It's fast moving, novel, clean, clever and easy to understand. It effectively combines the elements usually appealing to the regular run-o'-the-mill fans with those peculiar qualities demanded by the sophisticates and the hard-to-please class of patrons. As such it's a show of more than ordinary value to the neighborhood and small town theatre operator, at the same time plenty strong in the essentials necessary for deluxe first-run presentation.

Here are the amusement as well as salesmanship assets of "Rhythm in the Air." Always it's light and refreshing, moving with pleasing speed that occasionally becomes hectic and exciting. Both dialogue and action are crisp, yet continually natural. Music—and all the numbers vocal and instrumental, are of hit proportions—is the motivating factor. Embellishing this quality first is romance, contrasted by the necessary light drama that assumes an importance in selling the show that pars the musical values. Next is comedy, an integral part of the whole yet a show in itself.

Welding these theatre assets into screen actuality is a cast, headed by Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers and Pat O'Brien, which sparkles with youthful zest and takes full advantage of the talents of the supporting players. Monotony is avoided as, in turn, the supporting players grab the spotlight and in logical fashion such radio broadcast favorites as The Radio Rogues, Four Mills Brothers and Ted Fioreto are worked into the picture.

Situations, rather than straight story trend, make the picture. The plot concerns the hectic antics of a fast-talking, erratic, radio talent scout, Rush. True to O'Brien type, he picks Clayton up in a Hollywood beer garden, rushes him to New York, frazzles Sharpe's (chain head) already frayed nerves all the more. He fizzles Clayton's audition, promotes a romance between him and Peggy; gets him a job that makes him the crooning sensation of the air. Then busting up the romance, he loses his meal ticket, but still ingenious he frames a gag that restores Clayton to favor with Sharpe and Brockman, and as it is revealed that Clayton's affair with the falling film star was only a figment of his wild imagination, sets the stage for a romantic lover's reconciliation.

Both an audience and showman's picture, "Rhythm in the Air" effectively combines amusement with the wherewithal with which to sell it. Name values should meet all requirements. For exploitation purposes, it is wide open for the adaptation of all the old and plenty new stunts. There is salable music, romance, comedy, drama, to which always must be added the exciting atmosphere of the picture.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Warner-First National. Story by Paul Finder Moss and Jerry Wald. Screen play by Warren Duff and Harry Sauber. Numbers created and directed by Busby Berkeley. Music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin. Supervisor, Sam Bischoff. Director, Ray Enright. Assistant director, Gordon Hollingshead. Photography by Sid Hickox. Art director, Esdras Hartley. Film editor, Clarence Koster. Dialogue director, Stanley Logan. Unit manager, Al Alborn. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, May 26, 1934.

CAST

Clayton ..... Dick Powell
Rush ..... Pat O'Brien
Peggy ..... Ginger Rogers
Tappan ..... Henry O'Neill
Pete ..... Allen Jenkins
Brockman ..... Joe Cawthorne
Marge ..... Joan Wheeler
Sharpe ..... Grant Mitchell
Secretary ..... Johnny Arthur
Mrs. Brockman ..... Grace Hayle

He Couldn't Take It

(Monogram)

Comedy Drama

There is entertainment value of the milder variety in this film, offering for the most part engaging performances, good dialogue and comedy, and a yarn which, though hardly new, makes for lively and often amusing situations.

Names of good marquee salability are somewhat lacking, those which will strike a familiar note with the patronage being George E. Stone, Virginia Cherrill and to an extent Ray Walker, who in the leading role is an engaging performer who handles his work pleasantly and capably.

The yarn of the ne'er-do-well young man who cannot hold a job any longer than it takes to be fired, who nearly loses his girl because of that failing but proves he has the stuff to do a good job if the incentive is there, offers some little opportunity for interesting copy lines in the selling of the film.

Walker has done most of his best and most productive work in the neighborhood pool room, with Stone as his best friend, most constant companion in the game and most willing loser with the cue. Walker's mother, Jane Darwell, and his sweetheart, Miss Cherrill, are dismayed and annoyed when he loses his week-old job as bus driver for punching an annoyed passenger. Miss Cherrill is angered to the point of returning her engagement ring. Fired with enthusiasm after he is haled into court and fined for the fighting spirit, he enters the ring as a prizefighter, and loses his enthusiasm when he acquires a swollen jaw and a knockout. Next the law excites his interest, and through Miss Cherrill's employer, a noted lawyer, Mr. Oakley, played by Donald Douglas, he decides to become an attorney. When he thinks the teacher is making fun of him, he responds via his fist, and the law career concludes before it begins. Miss Cherrill, then, is definitely finished.

He goes to work with Stone, who in his spare time from the pool table is a process server. His ready fists serve him in good stead at least in this job, and he is recognized as a capable employee. When the district attorney plans a cleanup of big racketeers, he calls for two good servers to hand subpenas to the two biggest racketeers in the city, who are designated as Sweet Sue and Number Seven. Sweet Sue turns out to be a tough, two-fister, gun-toting roughneck, and an amusing sequence develops when Walker is left alone with the gangster. When Stone appears, they are in a tight spot, until they corner him, leave the summons in his hand, and leave rapidly. They learn that Oakley is Number Seven, and Walker remembers that Miss Cherrill is leaving with Oakley to handle his secretarial work on a "business" trip. As the train is about to pull out, they nab Oakley, hand him a summons, and take Miss Cherrill, now in a forgiving mood, from the clutches of the villain.

With little opportunity for unusual selling, it should be offered as regular run material.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Monogram. Directed by William Nigh. Story and screen play by Dore Schary. Additional dialogue by George Waggner. Photographed by Jack McKenzie. Recorded by John A. Stransky, Jr. Release date, December 15, 1933. Running time, 63 minutes.

CAST

Jimmy Case ..... Ray Walker
Eleanor Rogers ..... Virginia Cherrill
Sammy Kohn ..... George E. Stone
Sweet Sue ..... Stanley Fields
Grace Clarice ..... Dorothy Granger
Mrs. Case ..... Jane Darwell
Nick ..... Paul Porcasi
Oakley ..... Donald Douglas
Blonde ..... Astrid Allwyn
Radio Announcer ..... Franklin Parker
Driscoll ..... Jack Kennedy

Hired Wife

(Pinnacle)

Drama

A triangular drama of the marital variety, the counterpart of which has been made for the screen before, times without number, "Hired Wife," independently produced in St. Petersburg, Fla., is average screen material.

Greta Nissen, accented blonde, strives valiantly with her role of the ignored wife, but can do little with the story. The others in the cast probably will mean little on the marquee, including Weldon Heyburn, James Kirkwood and Molly O'Day in the principal roles.

The exhibitor should not promise too much, and he will be under the necessity of selling the film along rather conventional lines, bearing in mind the marital situation, and aiming his copy at the feminine portion of the patronage.

Miss Nissen's love for Heyburn is not reciprocated, but when the girl he had wanted married a title in Europe, he offers Miss Nissen marriage on a contract basis for a year, at the end of which time he will settle a sum of money on her, and obtain a divorce. His marriage is a requisite for the receipt of a large sum of money, according to the terms of his grandfather's will. Urged by her friend, Miss O'Day, Miss Nissen accepts, is married to Heyburn, and is completely ignored by her husband from that moment, though he gives her everything to make her comfortable. She meets Kirkwood, artist friend of Heyburn, and the artist first desires to have her pose for him, then teaches her to fly, and finally falls in love with her. Heyburn begins to appear in the company of the former sweetheart, who has returned without her newly acquired title. When Heyburn realizes his wife is seeing a good deal of Kirkwood, he becomes jealous, and finally appreciates the fact that, after all, he does love his wife.

When he orders her to cease seeing Kirkwood, and Kirkwood frames a scene with the ex-sweetheart, Miss Nissen takes a plane up alone for the first time. Heyburn rushes to the flying field, frightened, watches his wife descend to a good landing, and that is that.

The "hired wife" idea may be a thought around which to build selling copy. The film is, of course, an adult attraction exclusively, and is perhaps best played in a midweek position.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Sunhaven Studios, St. Petersburg, Fla. Distributed through State Rights by Pinnacle Productions. Directed by George Melford. Story and screen play by Alma Sioux Scarberry. Photographed by Mark Stengler. Recording engineers, Percy Green and T. C. Parker. Film editor, Helene Turner. Release date, March 1, 1934. Running time, 65 minutes.

CAST

Vivian Matthews ..... Greta Nissen
Kent Johns ..... Weldon Heyburn
Philip Marlowe ..... James Kirkwood
Pat Sullivan ..... Molly O'Day
Dovie Jansen ..... Jane Winton
Mrs. Jansen ..... Blanche Taylor
Aunt Martha ..... Carolyn Gales
Celeste ..... Evelyn Bennett

Le Serment
The Pledge
(Protex)
Drama

Entirely in French, this production is adaptable for showing in those theatres in metropolitan areas which count upon a certain proportion of French patrons, or those definitely familiar with the language. Other than the brief program synopsis in English, the patron not understanding the language is given no assistance in an understanding of the story. Even the now familiar superimposed subtitle translation of important dialogue passages have been dispensed with in this case.

The story is heavily, tragically dramatic. Though among French audiences such extreme and prolonged display of emotion as is expressed in this film, especially by the feminine lead, may be wholly understandable and appreciated, American audiences face the reaction that the distressed player is indulging in self-torture at unusual and unnecessary length. Buildup sequences, in the same sense, are far too long in numerous instances, the entire film running more than one hour and one-half, being too lengthy for the average American audience.

The cast is wholly French and the exhibitor will have to rely on the story to sell the film. There might be the possibility of selling the picture to school children as a means of the study of French, but for the fact that the story is exclusively adult screen material.

The story in brief concerns the young wife of a child specialist, whose taciturn manner makes him less than demonstrative where his attractive wife is concerned. She forms a distinct attachment for the doctor's dramatist brother. About to have a child, she finds her love divided between the two brothers and attempts to kill herself in the dramatist's apartment. The ensuing struggle results in the death of the brother. The child is born, and the family is happy until the husband finds a note written by his wife to an unknown, and couched in endearing terms. He storms and rants, and takes the child to a country house, fearing she is not his own. When the child is ill, he forces her mother to promise to reveal who the man was, or he will let the child die. She consents. They go to the farm, find the girl recovered, and just as she is about to reveal her illicit affection for her husband's brother, another letter is brought to light, which establishes the child as the doctor's and makes it unnecessary for her to reveal the shameful chapter in her life.

Only where an audience which understands French can be assured, is the picture adaptable for exhibition in this country.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced in Paris by Arci Films. Distributed by Protex Pictures Corporation. Story and direction by Abel Gance. Release date, March 13, 1934. Running time, 96 minutes.

CAST

Marthe Berliac ..... Line Noro
Gilles Berliac ..... Jean Galland
Claude, his Brother ..... Samson Fainsilber
Claudine ..... Gaby Triquet
Jean ..... Gaston Dubosc
D'Hornis ..... Antonin Artaud

Girl Trouble
(Astor)
Western Comedy

The comedy phase is given predominance in "Girl Trouble," first of a new series of three-reel Westerns by R. M. Savini and Al O. Bondy, and the result is a quite actionful production, though the comedy complications are drawn out a bit thin. There's a surprise opening, with Jack Perrin tiptoing into his own ranch and opening the safe—to extract a stiff hat and frock coat. He's to meet his bride-to-be, but the boys think he's gone loco. He gets to town and finds two girls there, both saying he promised to marry them. It develops later that Ben Corbett used Perrin's photo in Corbett's application to a matrimonial agency. Perrin is jailed, but Corbett and Perrin's sweetheart, Doris Hill, get him out by various donnings of the girls' dresses, just in time for him to save the ranch from his crooked partner.—Running time, 29 minutes.

Around the Acropolis
(Fox)
Good

Pictorially and in subject matter, this number of the Fox Magic Carpet of Movietone series is effectively executed, and interesting. The camera, with a comparatively small amount of accompanying dialogue explanation, darts here and there about the strangely cosmopolitan city of Athens, indicating something of the unusual contrasts obtaining as among the various types of people and between the modern city and the still-standing ruins of ancient Greece.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Love on a Ladder
(RKO Radio)
Amusing

There are laughs here for the devotee of the browbeaten husband kind of comedy, in which the experienced combination of Edgar Kennedy and Florence Lake are at it again. Kennedy agrees to serenade his wife, via a ladder, on their anniversary, but en route uses the ladder to help a young girl in distress, who can't quite make up her mind. Dot Farley, mother-in-law, sees him and takes Florence to see the duplicity. Florence leaves, and Edgar, volunteer fireman, finds brother-in-law at the house. A fire breaks out in a hotel, and Edgar goes up to save his wife, only to find he has saved his mother-in-law by "mistake." It is fairly entertaining comedy.—Running time, 18 minutes.

Canyon of Romance
(Educational)
Scenic

Here is a scenic of the almost awe-inspiring Painted Desert of the American Southwest, with its pinnacles, spires and strange rock formations in beautiful natural coloring. The subject is definitely enhanced by the use of color. Introduction is by way of an interview, as Claude Fleming, commentator, visits the studio of Montagu Love, painter of horses. Fleming launches into a description of the Painted Desert, as an accompaniment to scenes of his own trek through the natural wonder. The subject is scenically interesting.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Playful Pluto
(United Artists)
Amusing

Mickey Mouse's lop-eared pooch, Pluto, engages in a bit of playful investigation, and the result is a highly amusing animated cartoon. He becomes wrapped in the hose with which Mickey is watering the lawn, gets into more difficulty when a hole in the screen door lets in an avalanche of mosquitoes, and finally is considerably tangled in flypaper Mickey carefully spreads. The short is highlighted in cartoon comedy when the dog tries to extricate himself.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Knee Deep in Music
(RKO Radio)
Entertaining

The popular voice and personality of Ruth Etting, radio singer, makes this subject worth attention. The amusing yarn concerns the hiring of Miss Etting as the star of a new radio attraction, bought by Nate Carr, who sells dried fish. A new theme song is needed, and a call goes out for new material. The studio is inundated in song writers and their brain-children, with the eventual result that Miss Etting's old theme song is retained. She sings several popular numbers effectively.—Running time, 22 minutes.

Hello, Pop!
(MGM) Entertaining

Highly entertaining and highly colorful is this subject in the Colortone Musical series, featuring Ted Healy and his Stooges. Putting on a costume show, Healy is beset by producer worries, aggravated by the undependability of his "pals." The climax comes when they slip onto the stage underneath the enormous hoopskirt of the featured vocalist, ruining the scene and the show. Chorus numbers, done in elaborate fashion, are attractive and enhance the entertainment value of the subject. The number is old, but worth playing.—Running time, 17 minutes.

Goofytone News Reel No. 5
(Universal)
Timely Farcing

Subjects burlesqued in this issue include the heiress and her plans, the authority on love an etiquette, an economist's hints for hubbies, the chorus girl who became general manager of the Paris Symphony Orchestra, and finally Chancellor Moahn of Renegg and the loan he didn't get from Scotland. There should be a place in features for this character.—Running time, 8 minutes.

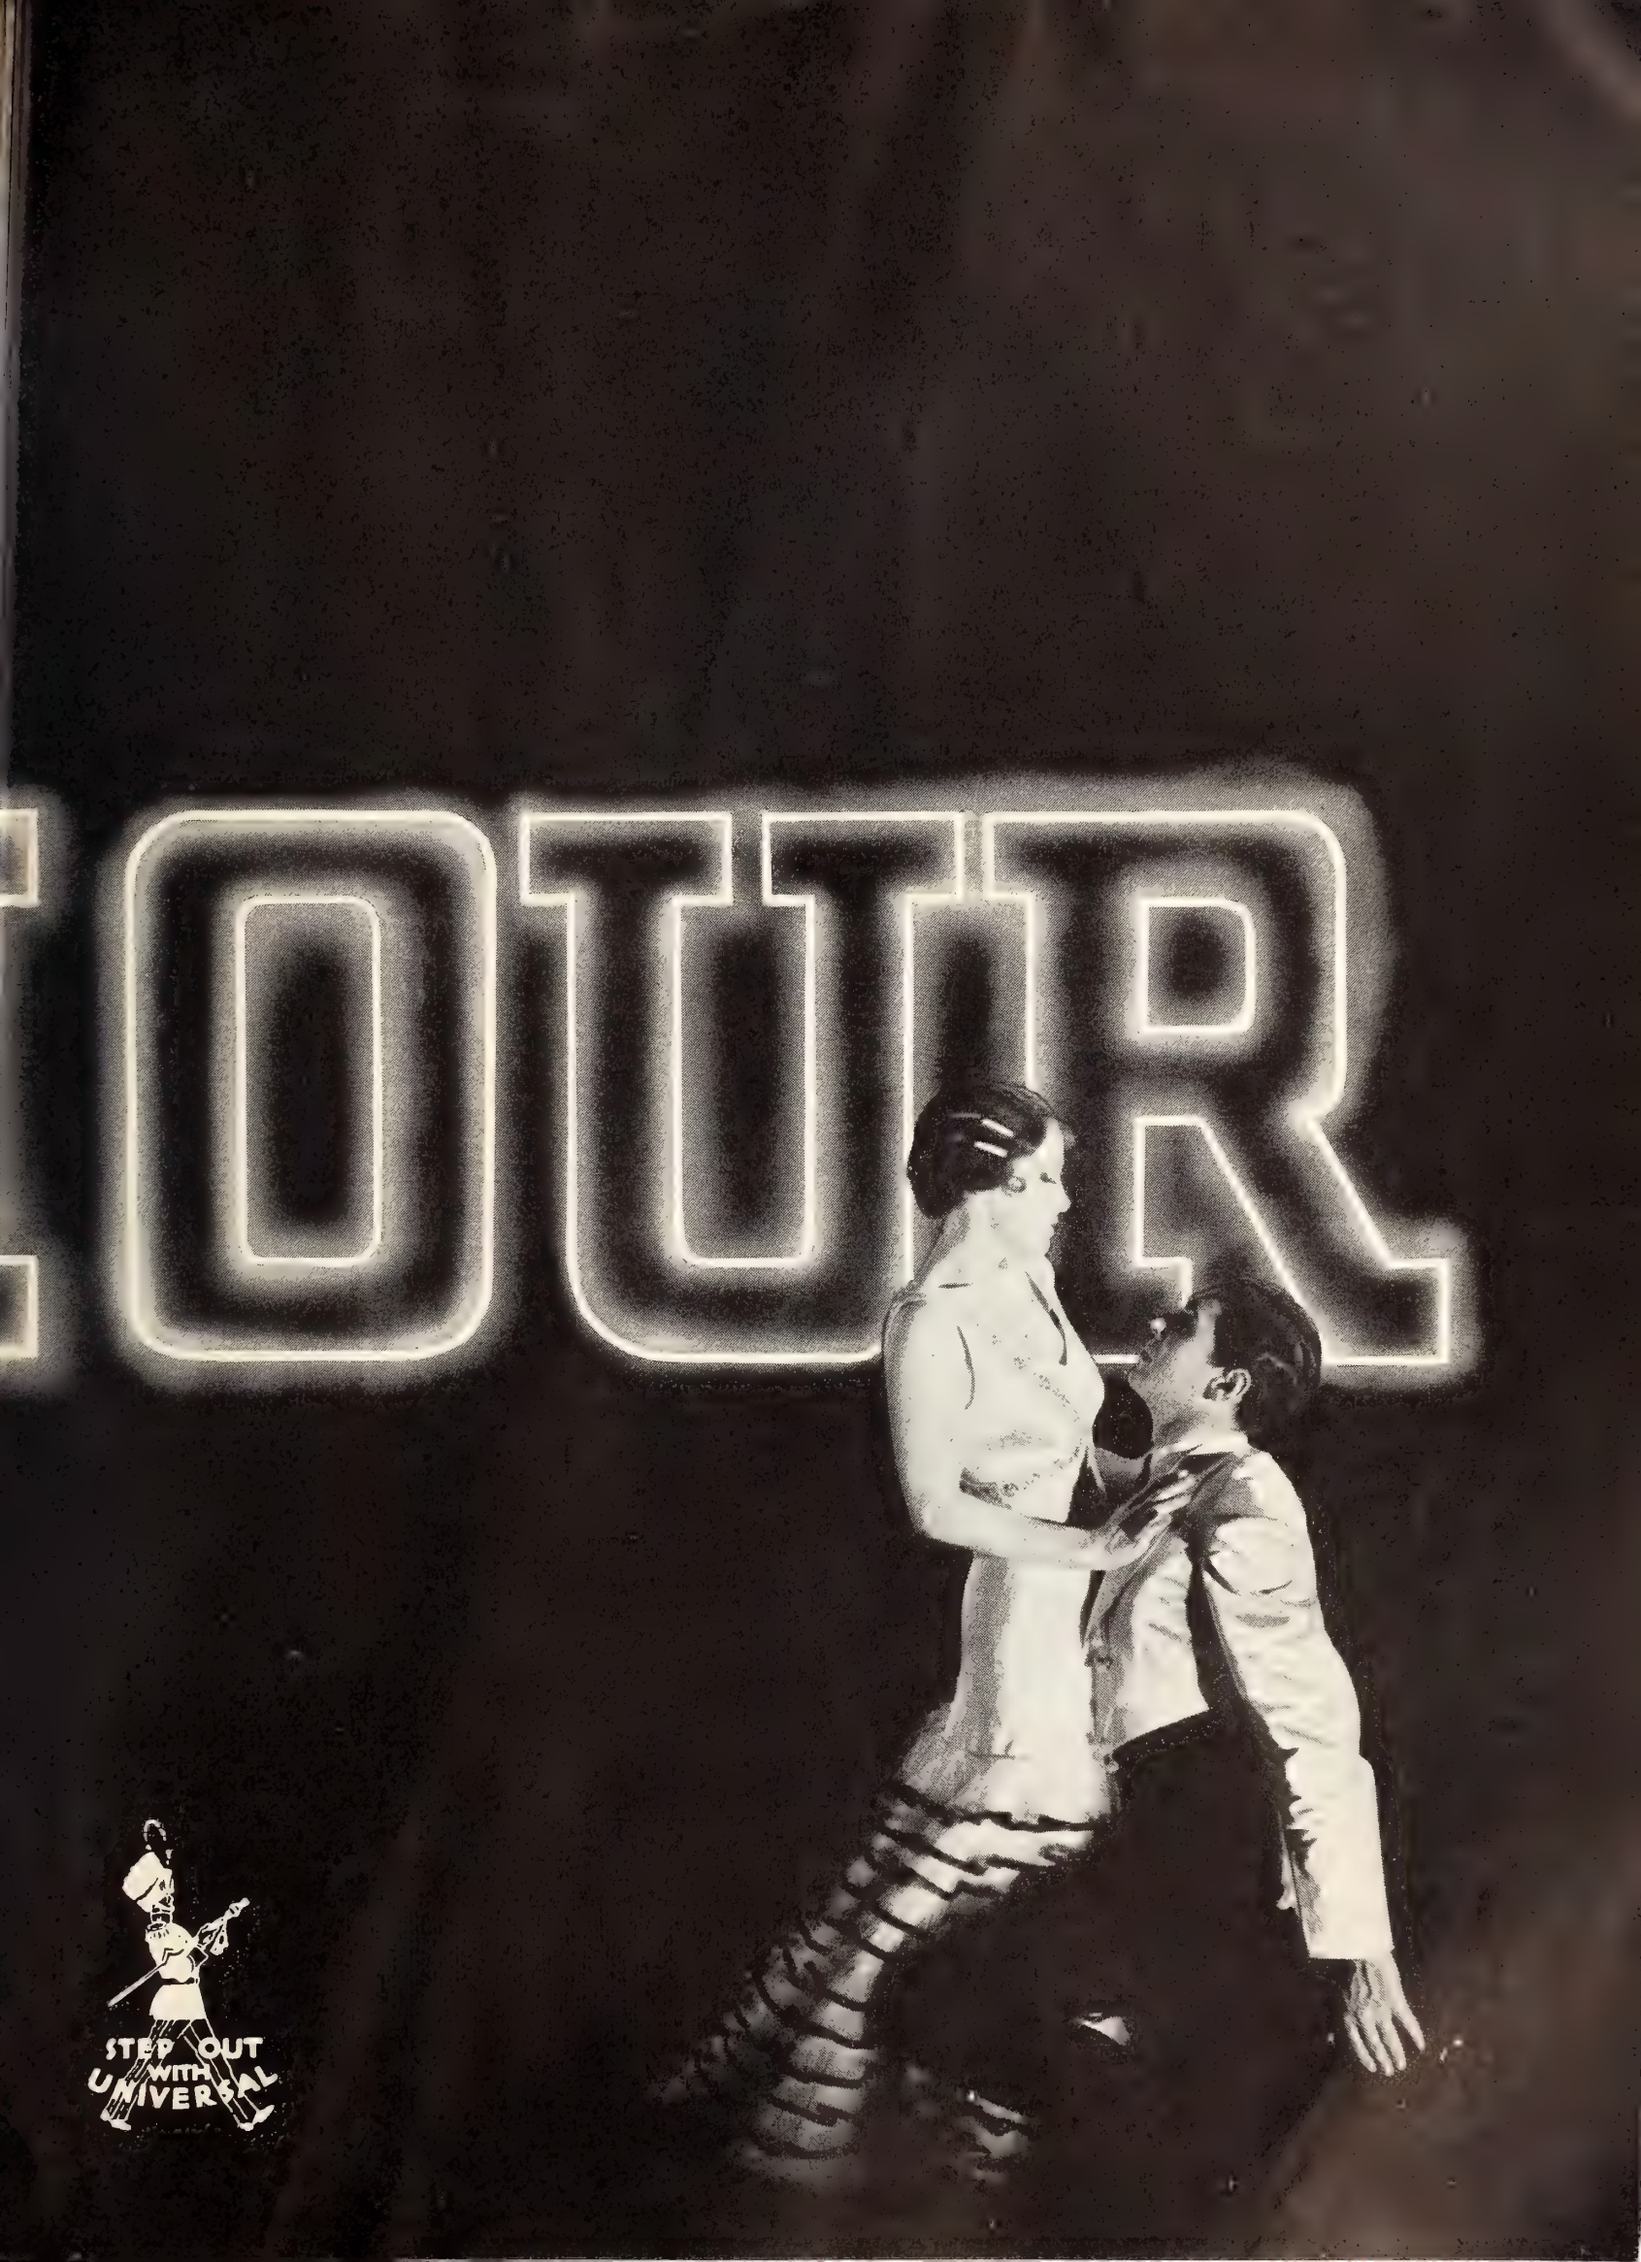
Bride of Samoa
(DuWorld Pictures)
Of Interest

Made more or less to pattern in its subject matter, this lengthy short, produced by Central Film Company, is none the less interesting in its picturization of the preparations and details of the marriage ceremony of Samoa. The preliminary dances, the conference of high chiefs of both parties, the exchange of dowry material, carefully examined by representatives of each family; the ceremonial dress, made of tree bark, all are carefully indicated. Then the ceremony itself, colorful, formal—and noisy—aided and abetted by the strange and reputedly powerful brew which is peculiar to Samoa. The graceful and sensuous dance of native girls has its expected place. An interesting subject.—Running time, 26 minutes.

Universal gives you another great love story by the writer of "Show Boat" and a dozen other successes . . . Prepare for a BIG one in this story of a woman who loved two men—but who loved glamour even more!

Edna Ferber's

GLAM



With CONSTANCE

CUMMINGS

PAUL LUKAS

Philip Reed, Joseph Cawthorn, Doris Lloyd, Alice Lake and many others. Directed by WILLIAM WYLER. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

A B. F. ZEIDMAN PRODUCTION.

OUR
STEP OUT WITH UNIVERSAL

THEATRE RECEIPTS

Theatre receipts for the calendar week ended March 17, 1934, from 111 houses in 19 major cities of the country, totaled $1,144,320, a decrease of $94,945 from the total for the preceding calendar week, ended March 10, when 113 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,239,265.

(Copyright, 1934: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Coming Out Party" (Fox)	20,000	"The Lost Patrol" (Radio)	20,500	High 1-13-34 "Fog"	23,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "She Made Her Bed" (Para.)	8,500	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,000	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (3rd week)	21,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	21,000	High 12-2 "Little Women"	28,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Looking for Trouble" (U. A.)	18,000	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	18,000	Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
							High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	34,000	"Mandalay" (F.N.)	33,000	Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
							High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "She Made Her Bed" (Para.)	9,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "Devil Tiger" (Fox)	10,500	Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
							High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	16,000	"Bolero" (Para.)	14,000	High 12-9 "Dancing Lady"	31,000
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Aces of Aces" (Radio) and "Orient Express" (Fox)	5,000	"Women in His Life" (MGM) and "Hold That Girl" (Fox)	5,200	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 12-16 "Solitaire Man" and "Day of Reckoning"	3,500
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" (Para.) and "Easy to Love" (W. B.)	5,200	"I Am Suzanne!" (Fox) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	6,100	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 3-17-34 "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" and "Easy to Love"	5,200
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-35c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "His Double Life" (Para.)	5,800	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) and "Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio)	6,000	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) and "Before Midnight" (Col.) (2nd week)	12,800	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) and "Before Midnight" (Col.) (1st week)	16,700	High 3-10-34 "It Happened One Night" and "Before Midnight"	16,700
							Low 12-23 "Myrt and Marge"	4,800
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	41,000	"Fashion Frolics of 1934" (F.N.)	40,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"David Harum" (Fox)	14,000	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM)	12,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	25c-40c	"Blood Money" (U. A.)	18,000	"Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.)	23,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 12-16 "A Man's Castle"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Success at Any Price" (Radio)	17,000	"Spitfire" (Radio)	27,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Massacre" (F. N.)	7,500	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	11,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
State-Lake	2,776	20c-35c	"Song You Gave Me" (Col.)	14,000	"Bombay Mail" (U.)	13,000	High 1-13-34 "Goodbye Love"	18,000
							Low 2-18 "Lucky Devils"	4,500
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	18,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	10,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	25c-35c	"The Avenger" (Monogram)	6,600	"Master of Men" (Col.)	6,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	30c-44c	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (6 days)	2,900	"David Harum" (Fox)	8,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Success at Any Price" (Radio)	15,000	"Spitfire" (Radio)	19,000	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	28,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Bolero" (Para.)	7,500	"Nana" (U. A.)	8,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-35c	"She Made Her Bed" (Para.) and "Cross Country Cruise" (U.)	4,100	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "In the Money" (Chesterfield)	4,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 11-18 "Stage Mother" and "Hell and High Water"	2,500
Warner's Lake	800	30c-40c	"Frontier Marshal" (Fox) and "Woman's Man" (Monogram)	2,500	"Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.) and "Above the Clouds" (Col.)	1,900	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) (6 days)	2,750	"Beloved" (U.)	4,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"No More Women" (Para.)	3,500	"Bolero" (Para.)	7,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"David Harum" (Fox)	8,000	"Nana" (U. A.)	8,500	High 1-13-34 "Roman Scandals"	17,500
							Low 12-16 "The World Changes"	3,000
Orpheum	2,600	25c-50c	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	10,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	15,000	High 2-17-34 "Hi, Nellie!"	19,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Massacre" (F. N.) (3 days)	1,350	"Sons of the Desert" (MGM) (3 days)	2,000	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
							Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
			"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) (3 days)	650	"Massacre" (F. N.) (4 days)	1,500
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	15c-40c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	6,100	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	8,100	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	5,600	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM)	5,400	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"I Believed in You" (Fox)	18,300	"David Harum" (Fox)	23,600	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	15c-50c	"Bolero" (Para.)	14,500	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	19,200	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	15c-40c	"Love Birds" (U.) and "Advice to the Lovelorn" (U.A.)	6,200	"No More Women" (Para.) and "Six of a Kind" (Para.)	5,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 2-24-34 "The Last Roundup"	3,200
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	9,400	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week)	11,600	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

"ISN'T IT PRETTY!"

Congratulations to Kenneth A. Grimes for his campaign on "DINNER AT 8" in Morgantown, W. Va. Winner in January.

Congratulations to Howard G. Sweet for his campaign on GARBO in "The Secret Loves of QUEEN CHRISTINA" in East Lansing, Mich. Winner in February.

Congratulations Leo! You're also TOP in M. P. Herald's Box-office Champions with "CHRISTINA" and "CAT&THE FIDDLE."

—it's the Martin Quigley Prize for Showmanship

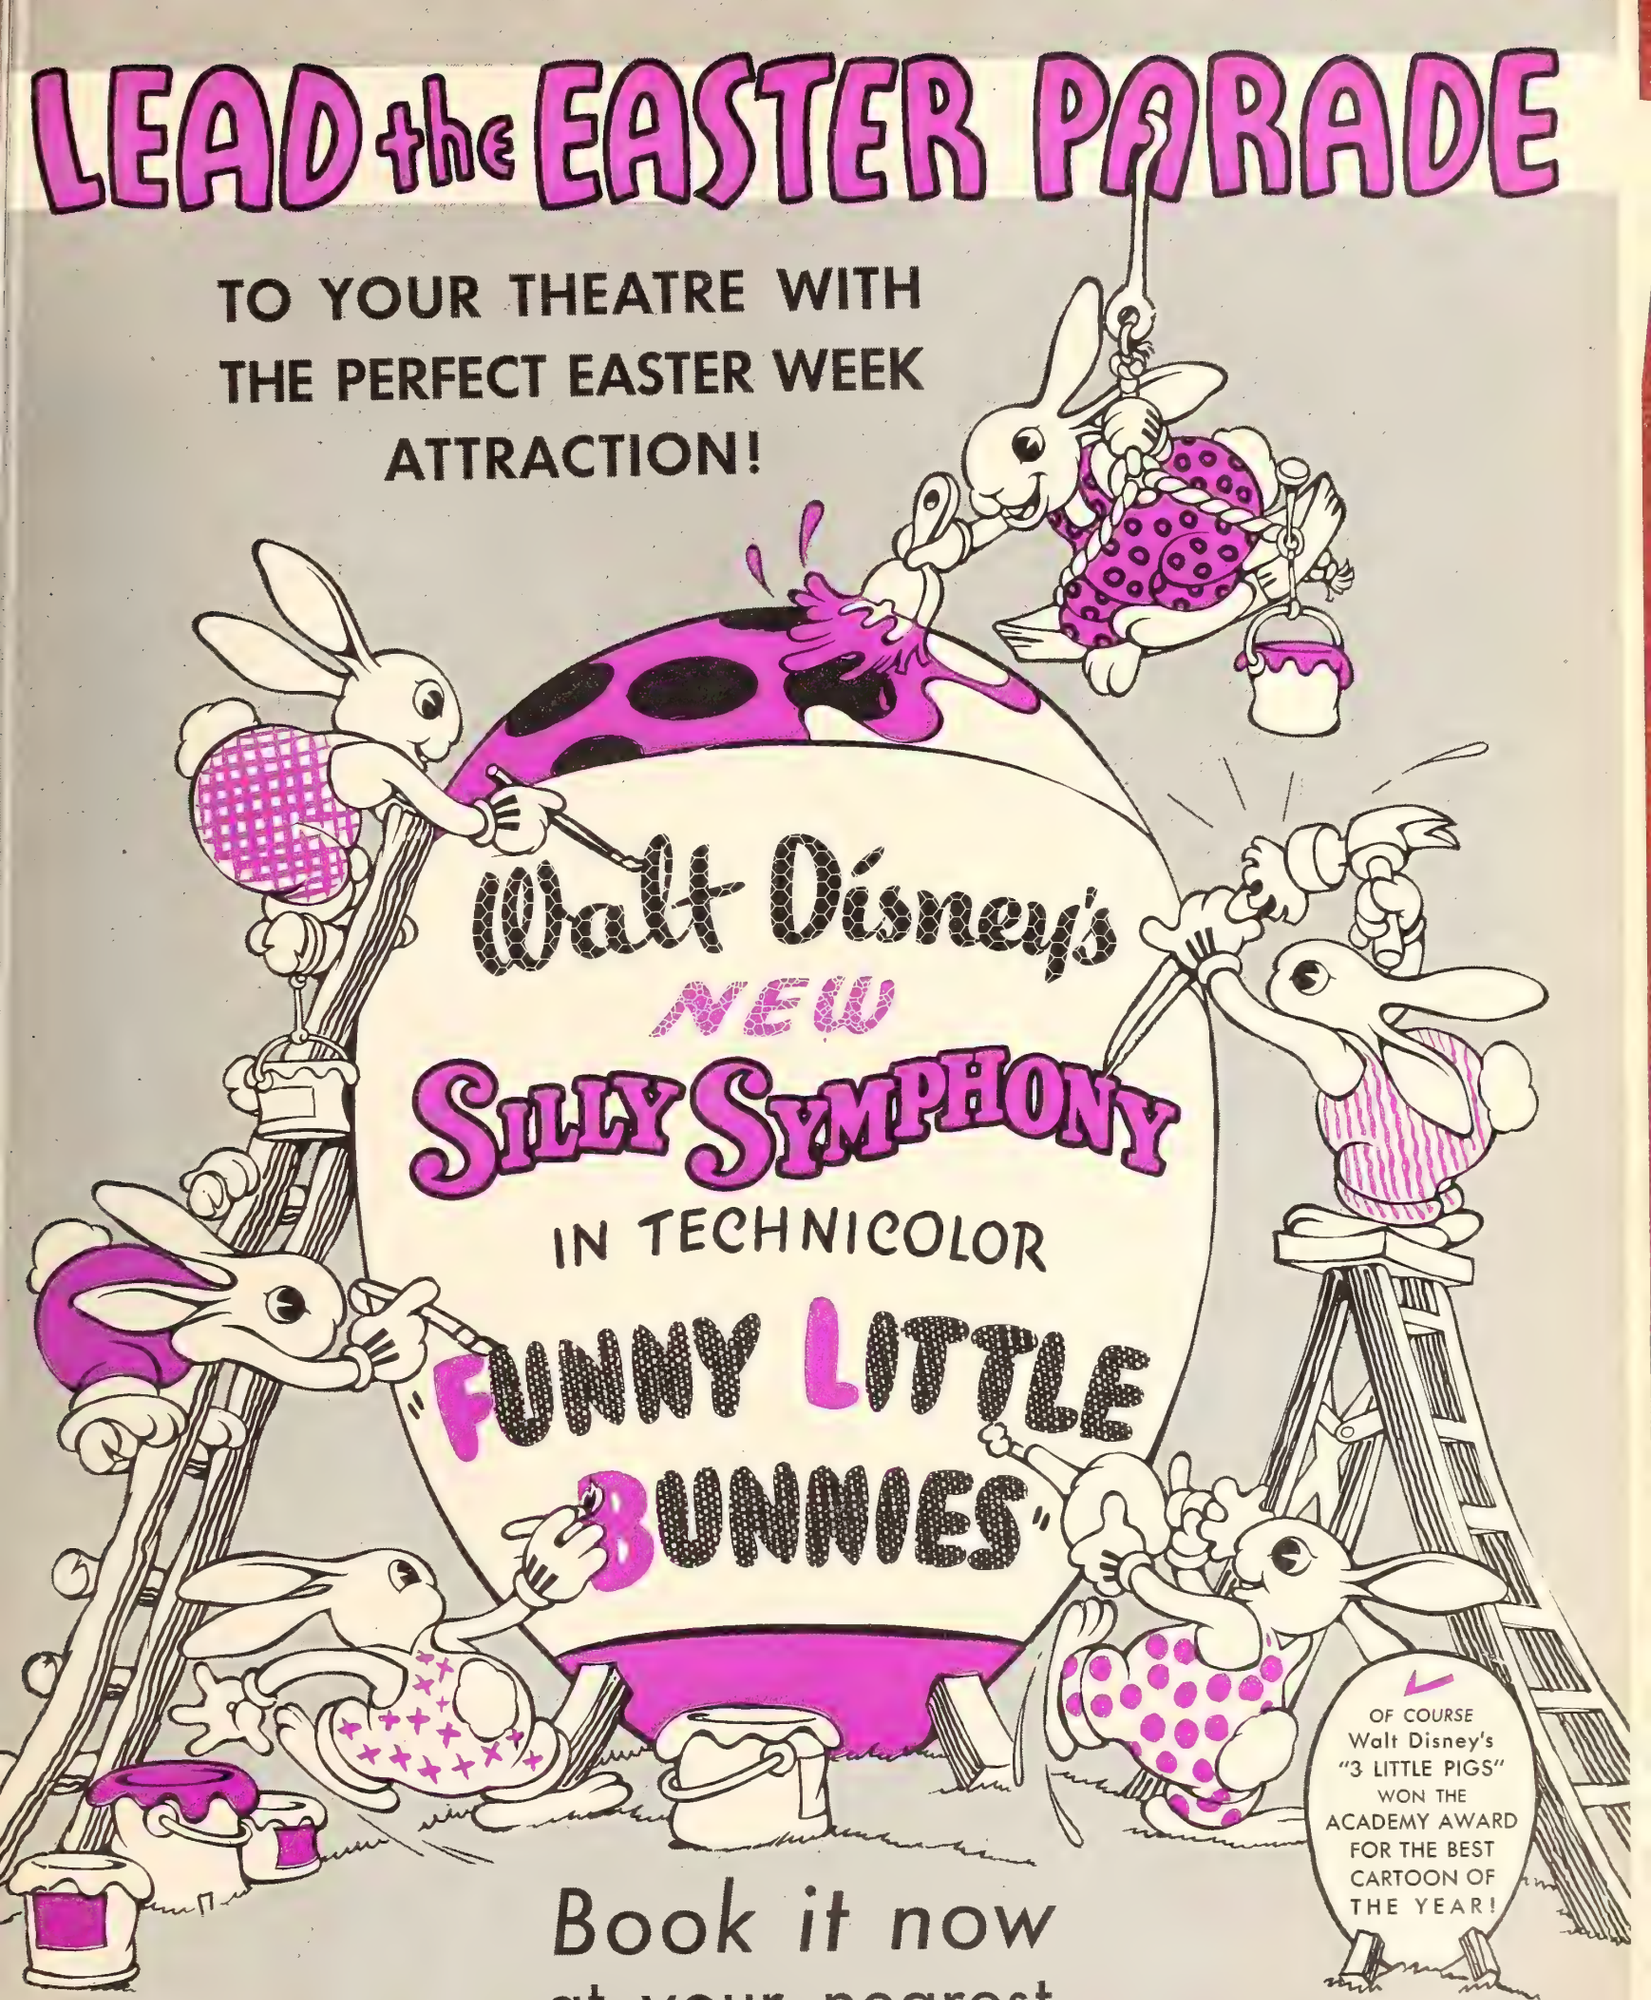
•

—and M-G-M showmen have won it two months in a row in the Managers' Round Table Competition!

•

—and M-G-M showmen will win it in coming months with these great hits:

SHEARER, MONTGOMERY in "Riptide"
CLARK GABLE, MYRNA LOY in "Men in White"
TARZAN and his MATE starring JOHNNY WEISSMULLER
HOLLYWOOD PARTY, Screen's Greatest Musical Comedy
WALLACE BEERY in "Viva Villa!"



LEO MARCHES ON!

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.10	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (5th week)	14,800	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (4th week)	15,450	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)	9,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	10,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 1-27-34 "The Big Shakedown"	7,000
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	20c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox) (2nd week)	5,000	"David Harum" (Fox) (1st week)	6,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 1-20-34 "Frontier Marshal"	2,000
Circle	2,800	20c-40c	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	3,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	5,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,100	20c-40c	"Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio) and "The Ninth Guest" (Col.)	4,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	10,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 3-3-34 "No More Women" and "Search for Beouty"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	20c-40c	"Ever Since Eve" (Fox)	5,500	"The Poor Rich" (U.)	5,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Nana" (U. A.)	4,500	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	4,500	High 2-3-34 "Sons of the Desert"	12,500
							Low 12-16 "Women in His Life"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c-60c)	9,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (8½ days and Sat. lat show)	16,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Nana" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,000	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	11,200	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Madame Spy" (U.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	7,500	"I've Got Your Number" (W.B.) and "His Double Life" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	5,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	20,000
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Royal	900	25c	"Elysia, Valley of the Nude" (Master Arts) (7 days and Sat. late show)	6,500	"Devil Tiger" (Fox)	2,500	High 3-17-34 "Elysia, Valley of the Nude"	6,500
							Low 3-3-34 "The Ghoul"	2,000
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox)	6,800	"I Like It That Way" (U.)	2,500	High 1-6-34 "Mr. Skitch"	8,500
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Filmarte	800	40c-50c	"Love in Morocco" (Gaumont-British) (2nd week)	1,500	"Love in Morocco" (Gaumont-British) (1st week)	1,850	High 11-25 "Emperor Jones"	3,950
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Four Star	900	50c-75c	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (3rd week-4 days)	1,071	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (2nd week)	3,900	High 3-3-34 "Devil Tiger" (6 days)	7,800
							Low 12-30 "I Am Suzanne!" (5 days)	3,500
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	8,200	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	11,800	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 2-24-34 "Coming Out Party"	4,870
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.)	21,875	"No More Women" (Para.)	18,115	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	8,700	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week)	12,700	High 2-24-34 "The Lost Patrol"	13,500
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Nana" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,500	"Nana" (U. A.) (1st week)	10,250	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)	9,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	9,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Easy to Love"	7,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Search for Beauty" (Para.)	1,500	"Fugitive Lovers" (MGM)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox)	7,500	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	8,000	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel"	10,000
							Low 2-3-34 "Eskimo"	7,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.)	6,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.)	6,500	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	6,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	5,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (2nd week)	2,500	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (1st week)	2,500	High 1-27-34 "Waltz Time" (2nd week)	3,500
							Low 11-25 "Vi Som Gar Koksvagen"	1,000
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"Eskimo" (MGM)	8,500	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM)	10,500	High 2-24-34 "Queen Christina"	13,500
							Low 12-23 "Havana Widows" and "Ever in My Heart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"The Ghoul" (Gaumont-British)	10,600	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	10,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "The Girl from Maxim's" (British)	10,000	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 2-10-34 "Sons of the Desert" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi"	8,500
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) and "Shadows of Sing Sing" (Col.)	7,500	"Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) and "East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.)	7,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 12-23 "Sing, Sinner, Sing" and "The Chief"	5,000
New York
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (2nd week)	28,500	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (1st week)	42,500	High 2-24-34 "The Cat and the Fiddle"	60,100
							Low 2-10-34 "You Can't Buy Everything"	15,500
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"The Quitter" (Chesterfield)	6,500	"Bedside" (F. N.)	6,100	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	14,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (1st week)	16,030	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.)	48,100	"Death Takes a Holiday" (Para.) (2nd week)	36,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	25c-65c	"Heat Lightning" (F. N.)	9,500	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) (2nd week-6 days)	9,000	High 2-17-34 "Devil Tiger"	23,000
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Palooka" (U. A.) (2nd week)	27,000	"Palooka" (U. A.) (1st week)	40,850	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	48,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Center	3,700	25c-55c	"Fashion Frolics of 1934" (F. N.) (4 days) "Let's Fall in Love" (Col.) (3 days)	4,800	"Carolina" (Fox) (4 days) "Eight Girls in a Boat" (Para.) (3 days)	6,390	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 3-17-34 "Fashion Frolics of 1934" and "Let's Fall in Love"	4,800
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Spitfire" (Radio)	73,000	"David Harum" (Fox)	60,115	High 11-25 "Little Women"	109,000
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
Roxy	6,200	25c-65c	"Midnight" (U.)	15,570	"The Ninth Guest" (Col.)	18,900	High 11-25 "The Invisible Man"	42,000
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	25c-$1.10	"Wonder Bar" (F. N.) (2nd week)	31,004	"Wonder Bar" (F. N.) (1st week)	43,863	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 12-23 "Sin of Nora Moran"	6,850

LEAD the EASTER PARADE

TO YOUR THEATRE WITH THE PERFECT EASTER WEEK
ATTRACTION!

Book it now at your nearest

UNITED ARTISTS EXCHANGE

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Nana" (U. A.)	2,000	"Mandalay" (F. N.)	2,800	High 1-6-34 "Going Hollywood"	4,100
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Fashions of 1934" (F. N.)	3,600	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.)	3,800	High 11-18 "College Coach"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Love Birds" (U.) (3 days)	900	"She Done Him Wrong" (Para.) (3 days)	1,500	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"The Crosby Case" (U.) (4 days)	900	"I Believed in You" (Fox) (4 days)	800	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Midwest	1,500	10c-56c	"David Harum" (Fox)	7,000	"Good Dame" (Para.)	3,200	High 2-25 "State Fair"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Employees' Entrance"	1,400
Warner	1,900	10c-75c	"Four Frightened People" (Para.)	7,500	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,400	High 2-17-34 "Cross Country Cruise"	9,000
							Low 3-10-34 "I've Got Your Number" (6 days)	6,400
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	25c-35c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (9 days)	6,750	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) and "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	3,750	High 11-18 "One Man's Journey"	10,750
							Low 12-30 "The World Changes" and "Havana Widows"	3,500
Orpheum	3,000	25c-50c	"Beloved" (U.)	8,250	"Easy to Love" (W. B.)	17,250	High 3-10-34 "Easy to Love"	17,250
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-40c	"David Harum" (Fox) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.)	7,500	"The Cat and the Fiddle" (MGM) and "The Poor Rich" (U.)	6,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 2-24-34 "Six of a Kind" and "Good Dame"	5,250
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Cross Country Cruise" (U.) and "Once to Every Woman" (Col.)	4,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and "From Headquarters" (W. B.)	4,250	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 3-17-34 "Cross Country Cruise" and "Once to Every Woman"	4,000
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Nana" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	6,000	"Nana" (U. A.) (1st week-6 days)	12,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	18,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Queen Christina" (MGM) (7 days) (2nd run)	4,200	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (7 days) (2nd run)	3,300	High 1-6-34 "Duck Soup" (7 days)	6,500
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Bolero" (Para.) (7 days)	12,000	"Journal of a Crime" (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	High 1-6-34 "Little Women"	30,000
							Low 12-23 "Right to Romance"	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Six of a Kind" (Para.) (6 days)	14,000	"Hips, Hips, Hooray" (Radio) (6 days)	16,000	High 1-20-34 "Bombay Mail"	33,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	30c-60c	"David Harum" (Fox) (6 days)	23,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) (6 days)	18,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Once to Every Woman" (Col.) (6 days)	3,000	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Ever Since Eve" (Fox) (6 days) (25c-45c)	6,000	"Hold That Girl" (Fox) (6 days)	6,700	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-18 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	4,500
Stanley	3,700	40c-65c	"Wonder Bar" (F. N.) (6 days)	22,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week-5 days)	10,000	High 11-25 "I'm No Angel"	32,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Good Dame" (Para.) (6 days)	7,000	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) (6 days)	7,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,000
Walnut	1,500	25c-50c	"Son of Kong" (Radio) (6 days)	5,000	"Sin of Nora Moran" (Majestic) (6 days)	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"You Can't Buy Everything" (MGM) and "Love Birds" (U.)	6,400	"This Side of Heaven" (MGM) and "Bombay Mail" (U.)	5,900	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio)	2,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	3,800	High 12-9 "Little Women"	14,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"I Like It That Way" (U.) and "Two Alone" (Radio)	2,000			High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 11-18 "College Coach"	1,600
Pantages	1,700	15c-25c	"Oliver Twist" (Monogram) and "Woman's Man" (Monogram)	1,700	"Bitter Sweet" (Gaumont-British) and "Scaling Jong Song" (First Div.)	1,900	High 11-4 "Lady for a Day"	10,200
							Low 3-17-34 "Oliver Twist" and "Woman's Man"	1,700
Paramount	3,008	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) and "Ever Since Eve" (Fox) (8 days)	9,000	"Devil Tiger" (Fox) and "Search for Beauty" (Para.) (6 days)	4,600	High 11-18 "The Way to Love"	12,000
							Low 12-2 "Walls of Gold"	3,500
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Palooka" (U. A.)	4,800	"Nana" (U. A.)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"The Line-Up" (Col.) and "Speed Wings" (Col.)	9,000	"Once to Every Woman" (Col.) and "Murder on the Campus" (Chesterfield)	9,500	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-40c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (3rd week)	11,000	"It Happened One Night" (Col) (2nd week)	16,000	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Cradle Song" (Para.) and "I Like It That Way" (U.)	8,000	"The Song You Gave Me" (Col.) and "The Crosby Case" (Universal)	6,000	High 10-14 "Ladies Must Love"	15,000
							Low 2-10-34 "Search for Beauty" and "From Headquarters"	5,000
Paramount	2,670	15c-65c	"Mandalay" (F. N.) and "Coming Out Party" (Fox)	10,000	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.) and "Good Dame" (Paramount)	9,500	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	40,000
							Low 12-23 "Sitting Pretty"	7,000
St. Francis	1,400	15c-40c	"She Made Her Bed" (Para.) and "The Big Shakedown" (F. N.)	4,500	"Dark Hazard" (F. N.) and "Ever Since Eve" (Fox)	5,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 11-11 "The Mad Game" and "S.O.S. Iceberg"	4,000
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,000	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week)	6,500	High 12-30 "Roman Scandals"	17,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"David Harum" (Fox)	18,000	"Bolero" (Paramount)	20,000	High 1-6-34 "Dancing Lady"	26,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-50c	"I've Got Your Number" (W. B.)	3,500	"Man of Two Worlds" (Radio)	3,250	High 12-9 "Little Women"	8,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"David Harum" (Fox)	7,500	"Queen Christina" (MGM)	7,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-35c	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (3rd week)	4,500	"It Happened One Night" (Col.) (2nd week)	5,500	High 3-3-34 "It Happened One Night"	7,000
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-50c	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (2nd week)	3,250	"Moulin Rouge" (U. A.) (1st week)	4,500	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade"	8,000
							Low 12-23 "If I Were Free"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-50c	"Meanest Gal in Town" (Radio)	4,500	"Long Lost Father" (Radio) and "Devil's Playground" (S. R.)	5,000	High 10-21 "Bureau of Missing Persons" (6 days)	9,000
							Low 3-17-34 "Meanest Gal in Town"	4,500
Paramount	3,050	20c-30c	"Mystery of Mr. X" (MGM)	5,500	"No More Women" (Para.)	5,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 1-13-34 "Dancing Lady" (2nd run)	4,000

Eastman Doubles Earnings in '33; Nets $11,120,000

Net profit of $11,119,044 for the year ending Dec. 30, 1933, was reported this week by Eastman Kodak Company, one of the largest manufacturers of motion picture raw film. Earnings compared with a $6,058,748 net for 1932, and, after 6 per cent preferred dividends, equaled $4.76 a share on 2,255,921 no par common shares outstanding. The 1932 net was equal to $2.52 a share.

Current assets on Dec. 30, 1933, including $29,615,659 cash and marketable securities at market value, totaled $79,884,343, against current liabilities of only $10,926,861, a ratio of about seven to one. The company improved its current asset position by some $14,000,000 over 1932. Current liabilities at the end of 1933 had only increased about $3,000,000.

Income for 1933 included $1,600,000 representing a gain on foreign exchange. Both domestic and foreign business showed a substantial increase during the last half of the year.

A detailed comparison of Eastman's consolidated income account and consolidated balance sheet for the past four years appears elsewhere on this page.

Backs New York Censor Abolition

Declaring that the present motion picture censorship in New York state is capricious and superficial, the National Council on Freedom from Censorship, unit of the American Civil Liberties Union, has submitted a memorandum supporting the bill introduced this week by Herbert Brownell, Jr., of New York City to abolish the censorship of the motion pictures. The bill purposes "to retain the tax on films and increase the revenue of the state from such taxes."

"The censorship of motion pictures in New York State," the National Council declares, "has not accomplished its professed object of protecting the public from indecent, obscene, or salacious films.

"Lurid reels of vice and violence pass the censors provided that the film teaches the lesson that virtue is rewarded and sin punished. Producers have learned thus to get away with anything suggestive or immoral if it has a proper ending."

The real evil in censorship is not that isolated scenes and bits of dialogue are deleted, according to the Council, but that a thoroughly false and sentimental treatment of themes is forced on producers who try to offer what the censors want.

Citing figures from 1922 to 1933, excepting 1931, for which no report is available, the Council declares that censorship cost the state $929,605, which was deducted from the revenue from taxes on films licensed. By eliminating the censors, this money would be saved and the revenue of the state increased. The proposed bill would retain the tax of $3 per thousand feet on an original film, but cut it from $2 to $1.50 on duplicates. Had the new bill been in effect during the 11 years from 1932 to 1933, the state would have taken in $339,207 more than it received under the present rates, the memorandum declares. The total return from taxes during those years is reported as $2,447,699.

Eastman's Income Account And Balance Sheet Compared

CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET, 1931 TO 1933

	Dec. 30, '33	Dec. 31, '32	Dec. 26, '31
ASSETS
‡Land, buildings, etc	$64,809,379	$66,240,724	$69,911,059
Market securities	12,338,873	11,250,123	10,789,568
Materials & Supplies	33,904,121	29,476,997	38,000,000
Accounts and bills receivable	16,364,563	15,821,338	15,951,457
Cash	17,276,786	9,118,177	16,321,217
Investments and advances	§8,689,331	§7,433,037	4,777,777
Deferred charges	771,645	803,282	887,484
..Total	$154,154,698	$140,143,618	$152,175,352
LIABILITIES
Preferred stock	$6,165,700	$6,165,700	$6,165,700
Common stock	*22,559,210	*22,559,210	22,559,650
†Accounts payable	9,146,184	6,097,887	6,644,684
Notes payable	.....	.....	4,000,000
Dividends payable	1,780,676	1,780,678	4,604,416
Contingent reserves, etc.	9,124,386	2,157,942	3,499,029
Paid-in surplus	28,782,600	28,782,600	28,782,600
Earned surplus	76,595,942	72,599,601	75,919,273
Total	$154,154,698	$140,143,618	$152,175,352

*Represented by 2,255,921 no-par shares, excluding treasury shares. †Includes federal taxes. ‡After depreciation. §Includes 5,000 shares of Eastman Kodak Co. common stock.

CONSOLIDATED INCOME ACCOUNT, 1931 TO 1933

	Year end. Dec. 30, '33	Period from Dec. 26, '31 to Dec. 31, '32	Year end. Dec. 26, '31	Year end. Dec. 27, '30
Operating profit	$18,576,984	$12,178,865	$18,442,859	$24,073,525
Other income	1,569,759	1,618,044	2,607,223	3,977,938
Total income	$20,146,743	$13,796,909	$21,050,082	$28,051,463
Depreciation	5,818,051	5,757,626	5,248,792	4,874,326
Prov. for obsolescence of plant	750,000	.....	.....	.....
Other charges (net)	1,313,562	750,065	505,439	190,927
Federal & foreign taxes	2,605,632	1,230,470	1,887,066	2,632,422
Profit	$9,659,498	$6,058,748	$13,408,785	$20,353,788
Foreign exchange gain, etc	‡1,459,546	.....	.....	.....
Net profit	$11,119,044	$6,058,748	$13,408,785	$20,353,788
Preferred dividends	369,942	369,942	369,942	369,942
Common dividends	6,752,763	9,008,478	18,077,900	18,088,980
Surplus	$3,996,339	†$3,319,672	†$5,039,057	$1,894,866
Profit & Loss surplus	76,595,941	72,599,601	*75,919,273	84,675,404

*After deducting $3,717,074 excess of cost over tangible assets at acquisition of subsidiaries, wholly acquired during the year. †Deficit. ‡Other than amounts credited to general and contingent reserves.

To Honor Cohan, Harris

Eddie Cantor, president of the Jewish Theatrical Guild of America, has announced that a testimonial dinner will be tendered George M. Cohan and Sam H. Harris on Sunday evening, April 8, at the Astor hotel, New York.

Takes "Forgotten Men"

First Division has arranged with Sam Cummins for distribution of "Forgotten Men" in 10 territories where it has exchanges. Mr. Cummins is negotiating other independent distribution deals.

All Visitors Banned from Studios in Economy Move

The practice of admitting visitors to the Hollywood studios has been definitely discontinued in the interests of economy. The decision was made by the executive committee of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, of which Louis B. Mayer is chairman. The necessity of retakes and the loss of time occasioned by the presence of visitors in the studios and on the sets was given as the reason for the order.

Glennon to Coast

T. Keith Glennon, vice president of Eastern Service studios, New York, has been temporarily assigned to the Coast, where he will have charge of the General Service studio, and arrange for the production of several pictures. S. E. Hawkins will take Mr. Glennon's post in the east during the latter's absence.

BACK UP YOUR BOX-OFFICE WITH

Boris KARLOFF IN "THE GHOUL"

Book by Mail or Wire Direct from

Gaumont British
Picture Corporation of America
226 WEST 42nd ST., NEW YORK

West of the Rockies
FILMARTE THEATRE BLDG:, 1224 Vine St., Hollywood

Playing to outstanding business for RKO—SKOURAS—FOX—PARAMOUNT PUBLIX and many other live-wire showmen throughout the country.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Allied

FIGHTING PARSON, THE: Hoot Gibson—A good western. Lots of comedy and action. Pleased a Saturday crowd.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

Columbia

ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION: Fay Wray, Gene Raymond—This is a nice little program picture. We think we could do well with this on a return engagement.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

EAST OF FIFTH AVENUE: Wallace Ford, Walter Connolly, Dorothy Tree—This did not draw, and those that did see it said it was just another picture. I call it just a fair program picture. With good short subjects can get by.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FURY OF THE JUNGLE: Donald Cook, Peggy Shannon—A very good program picture. Played on a double bill with a good western on Saturday and satisfied the Saturday bunch.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: Warren William, May Robson—I have a grand idea. Why not all the producing companies make a jackpot and form a directors school with Frank Capra as the major instructor and send all these so called moving picture directors to it and not let them on the shooting lot again until they have absorbed a little of Capra's technique. Capra's "Lady for a Day" and "It Happened One Night" is the entertainment that people are searching for. Running time, 95 minutes.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—One of the best and some said "the very best" picture we have ever shown. May Robson does some of the most wonderful work in this picture ever seen on stage or screen, but for some reason we didn't get film rental. Running time, 100 minutes. Played Feb. 25.—E. E. Warner, Opera House, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Edmund Lowe—Pretty good picture. Suited better for a small community. It's clean. Running time, 68 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE: Ann Sothern—Any picture with Edmund Lowe in the cast will not draw in this small town. Ruined himself here by trying to act like a small towner's idea of a gigolo.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Spencer Tracy—What a shame a fine director is forced to make such a picture even with a fine cast. Certainly not for small towns. These kind of pictures have kept a censor in our neighboring state for many years and will greatly aid in getting one here.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

MAN'S CASTLE, A: Loretta Young, Spencer Tracy—In spite of below zero weather this picture drew a good crowd each day. Wonderful acting by Loretta Young and Spencer Tracy. Columbia delivers what they promise the exhibitors. Have not played one picture from them that has not pleased 100 per cent. Play this picture on any day of the week and advertise. If you get a break on the weather, it will draw as well as any picture that is called a special. Played Feb. 25-26-27.—L. J. Bennet, Rialto Theatre, Pekin, Ill. General patronage.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN: Fay Wray, Ralph Bellamy, Walter Connelly—Even good actors like these failed to make this mediocre story draw in our village. What this one needed was a comedy relief.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

POLICE CAR 17: Tim McCoy—Good action and fast moving program picture. More of these kind of stories will repay the exhibitors for their losses on this star with another company.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

SHADOWS OF SING SING: Bruce Cabot, Mary Brian—Ran this one day. Should have booked for two. A great picture with a fine cast. One that holds attention every minute. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Jan. 17.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SONG YOU GAVE ME, THE: Bebe Daniels—This is only fair entertainment. It is an English picture, and all of the players, except Miss Daniels, are English. It is a light romance with music, and like all English pictures, it is entirely too slow. This was sold to us on a separate contract and if you have not bought it, then don't. Played one day to only fair business and pleased about 50 per cent. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Mar. 7.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SPEED WINGS: Tim McCoy, Evalyn Knapp—Good play. Plenty of action. Any time we have a play like this the fans are loud in their praise. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Feb. 20-21.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

First Division

TEXAS TORNADO: Lane Chandler—A fair western. Some scraps with no black eyes or torn shirts. Looked like boys playing. Some acting was good. If it were not for Lane Chandler's acting it would be a flop right. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 27-28.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

First National

CONVENTION CITY: Joan Blondell, Dick Powell—A fine program picture that pleased one hundred per cent. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondell, Guy Kibee—A nice program picture. A very good comedy. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Jan. 14-15.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HAVANA WIDOWS: Joan Blondel—Nice little picture. A little hot in places, but my patrons like 'em that way. Did little above average business for me. Joan Blondell well liked here and rest of cast was good. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Feb. 18-19.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

MASSACRE: Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak—This is a wonderful picture, dealing with the problems of the American Indians. It is a drama, full of action, a bit of comedy and a good bit of romance. I consider this the best Barthelmess picture in years. This is suitable for the whole family and will prove excellent entertainment, especially for the kids. The Warner trailer will sell the picture. Played two days to good business. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Mar. 5-6.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Brown's best. Did fair business through the nastiest weather we have had in many years. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Feb. 25-26.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—This is Brown's best comedy to date and played to packed houses both days. Play it. Played Jan. 10.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown, Thelma Todd—Here is a side splitting comedy with Joe E. Brown at his best since "Fireman Save My Child." Plenty of comedy, action and a touch of romance. Just the type of picture that will appeal to all classes of people. One of the best comedies of the year and is sure to keep the audience laughing from start to finish. The trailer sold it to our patrons. Played one day to good business. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Mar. 8.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Like all of Brown's pictures, clean and well liked by all, old and young. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Jan. 28-29.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SON OF A SAILOR: Joe E. Brown—Why don't they make some pictures with this fellow? One every year won't keep him going. He's positively too good to lay around. Give us more Joe.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro, Dorothy Coonan—We had more children to see this than any picture in a couple of years. The adults also were more than usual. It is well done and evidently they wanted to see this kind of a picture for a change. The second day was also above the average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro, Dorothy Coonan—A very good picture but we waited too long before playing it. The story is now out of date. The people are no longer interested in such a story of unemployment. Wish more exhibitors would give these needed reports on "What the Picture Is and What It Did." Come on, fellows, do your part. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Feb. 18.—E. E. Warner, Opera House Theatre, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

Fox

BERKELEY SQUARE: Leslie Howard, Heather Angel—This picture was very well done but lacked the box-office appeal to get the picture over. It is different than any other picture except mebbe "Turn Back the Clock." It pleased everyone that saw it but don't give it preferred dates unless your theatre makes money on class pictures. Running time, 89 minutes. Played Feb. 25-26.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

DAVID HARUM: Will Rogers—One of our supposed leading paid critics, in reviewing this picture, starts off by saying "Fox's 'David Harum' a Dud." After the opening of the picture yesterday all I have to say is that this fellow is "crazy as hell." Previous to "David Harum" I believe "State Fair" held the record of any of Will Rogers' screen triumphs but "David Harum" beats State Fair by more than a nose. True, it's hokum but it's just the thing the rank and file of theatre goers want to see and this goes for highbrows as well as so called low-brows. I expected a whole lot of this picture, having tender memories of the famous stage play some thirty-five years ago when I was a stage-brace boy in the opera house, and believe me my expectations were more than filled. The whole picture from start to finish spells satisfaction in capital letters. The story was tailor-made for Rogers and the rest of the cast could not have been improved on. This new girl, Evelyn Venable, is sure a honey and stood out in the cast. Jimmie Cruze in his direction of this has done himself proud. The result of this mighty fine triumph only proves that producers should be more careful in the selection of stories for their stars. Anyone knowing Will Rogers and the character of David Harum could see this was a natural for Rogers, but the story laid dormant all the years. In conclusion, don't pay too much attention to these self-styled all-wise critics. Running time, 83 minutes. Played Mar. 11.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Illinois. General patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—This gave satisfaction at the box-office and no kicks. This kid deserves better material than she has been getting to work with. Running time, 78 minutes.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. General patronage.

HOOPLA: Clara Bow—Interest holding entertainment. Seemed to please the men more than the women. Played Feb. 27-28.—Charles Bern, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

JIMMY AND SALLY: James Dunn, Claire Trevor—We thought this Claire Trevor put it over better than Sally Eilers would have in this particular role. A nice snappy little show. Running time, seven reels. Played Jan. 23-24.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

MAN WHO DARED, THE: Preston Foster—I liked this one, and many of our patrons did. It is really a good picture. Preston Foster does good work. It is, however, the kind that may flop in some places. It is based on incidents in the life of the late Anton Cermak.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—Not as good as "Doctor Bull" and some of his previous ones. However, the Rogers fans were well pleased and business was so-so. Running time, seven reels.—C. V. Hunerberg, Princess Theatre, Parkersburg, Iowa. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—Very good picture, splendid entertainment and excellent drawing card. Some want to see more of Will Rogers in a given subject, others like them a little more diversified, but when all is said and done Rogers' pictures cater to every type of patronage. Played Feb. 18-20.—Charles Born, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—A small town natural that set them talking. Clean—maybe too clean for the big towns, but okay here.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

MR. SKITCH: Will Rogers—If they were all like this we would be forced to enlarge our theatre as this fellow draws them from out of the hills. He's so good, his radio broadcast on Sundays hurts now.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

MY LIPS BETRAY: Lilian Harvey—Not so good. I can't get away with this type of picture. Picture, for its kind, is okay.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—I was disappointed in this picture and so were some of my patrons. The way this picture rated I thought it would be something extra, but it missed the point somewhere. And as one exhibitor said in your reports before, "I can't see how any one could be as dumb as Lilian Harvey was in this picture" and I think he was right. Business not up to average. Running time, 74 minutes.—J. C. Darst, Dante Theatre, Dante, Va. General patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey—A good production that will give satisfaction. Several nice music numbers.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tenn. General patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—One of the best comedies that we have shown at the Green Lantern for many days. There was a riot of laughter throughout the whole performance. It is as good a show as any one could ask for. Played Feb. 24.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT: El Brendel—Just a hokum comedy that got by.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

PADDY THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—This is what your town wants and so seldom gets. Why must we swallow dirt when the people actually want romance and cleanliness more than any other one thing.—Herman J. Brown, Adelaide and Majestic Theatre, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

SMOKY: Will James—Surprisingly good drawing card and very pleasing. Would suggest small places showing two days instead of one, as it seems to draw many who don't care for westerns. Played Jan. 26-27.—Charles Born, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

SMOKY: Victor Jory, Irene Bently—Ah! Here's a business getter! Different from usual western; worth two days anyway. It's a western "Black Beauty," but maybe it's because we are in the heart of the west that it went over extra good. Also, the author is a Wyoming-Montana cowboy-author-artist. Get behind this if a horse means anything on your one sheets. Even if it don't this is something different and great for your weekend. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 23-24.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

MGM

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—Good but failed to draw. However, the picture cannot be condemned on this account as all that saw it were highly pleased.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—I am not going to say this is the worst picture ever made but it is the worst one I ever saw. It has neither plot, acting or anything else to recommend it. This was substituted on a Saturday-Sunday date and if anyone liked it they did not tell me about it. If you have to play this one, book it on your cheapest nights. Just silly, not funny. A lot of gags that are older than Ed Wynn. Played Mar. 3-4.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—This would make a very good kiddie matinee but a shame to sell a grown person a ticket to see this.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Fla. Small town patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Would advise Mr. Wynn to stay out of pictures and stick to his horse. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Feb. 2-3.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

CHIEF, THE: Ed Wynn—Business first night terrible and second worse, so did not run. Glad no one came. Pass it up.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

DINNER AT EIGHT: Marie Dressler, John and Lionel Barrymore, Jean Harlow—Another great picture from Metro but failed to draw extra business. However, it is excellent entertainment and will please the majority of patrons. The direction, acting and settings are perfect and all of the players handle their prominent parts wonderfully. It is good, but not as good as advertised. Played two days to only normal business. Running time, 113 minutes. Played Feb. 27-28.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NEW CONTRIBUTORS FROM WEST, SOUTH

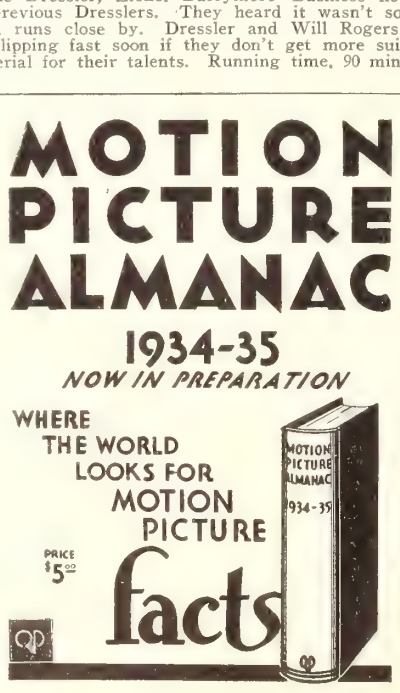
From the Far West and the South come new contributors to "What the Picture Did for Me" this week.

Charles Born has the Elks theatre at Prescott, Arizona. W. J. Bryan operates the Paramount theatre at Geneva, Alabama.

Read their reports in this isue.

DINNER AT EIGHT: Marie Dressler, John and Lionel Barrymore, Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy—Did all right. The mats on this had Astor theatre, New York, Wednesday, on them. This came out in my local paper. Why do the press departments allow the names of New York theatres to remain in mats that are sent to far-way exchanges. Don't they ever get over selling the exhibitor even after he signs the contracts.—Herman J. Brown, Adelaide and Majestic Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

ESKIMO: Native Cast—A different kind of picture to nice business. Business picked up each day of run.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.



GOING HOLLYWOOD: Bing Crosby, Marion Davies—A good musical to nice business. Crosby stole the picture.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

HELL BELOW: Walter Huston, Robert Montgomery, Jimmy Durante—Very good with exception of being just a little gruesome for the ladies. Fair drawing power.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—A great picture but did not gross what it should. I can't tell the reason, unless changing the title. Running time, 92 minutes. Played Feb. 9-10.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler-Lionel Barrymore—A fine picture that took the worst nose-dive in history. Struck the worst storm of the season, snow, wind and below-zero weather, all three days, consequently I did not take in enough to pay film rental and delivery. This is not the fault of the picture but that does not pay the bills. Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore are both good while Beulah Bondi gives a fine performance. Running time, 87 minutes. Played Feb. 17-18-19.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

HER SWEETHEART (CHRISTOPHER BEAN): Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore—Business not up to previous Dresslers. They heard it wasn't so hot from runs close by. Dressler and Will Rogers will be slipping fast soon if they don't get more suitable material for their talents. Running time, 90 minutes.

—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Zasu Pitts, Jimmy Durante—Here is another poor picture from Metro on the 1933 contract. Why should the producers put such pictures as this off on the exhibitors and the paying public. If you didn't have this you were very lucky. Played on bargain day to poor business. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Mar. 9.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Just a fair picture, but we had a nice business with it because of the Baron's radio friends. Played Feb. 3-4.—N. E. Frank, Wayland Theatre, Wayland, Mich. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Undoubtedly this is the very poorest picture that we ever put off on our patrons. We are still afraid to come out to the front door. This may be great radio entertainment but it's a flop on the screen. Pull this one regardless.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

MEET THE BARON: Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante—Just fair. Jack Pearl like Ed Wynn, one is enough. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Lionel Barrymore, Clark Gable, Helen Hayes—This is a nice picture to airminded people or for men. The ladies don't like it.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

NIGHT FLIGHT: Lionel and John Barrymore, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery, Helen Hayes—Can't say much for this one. It drew fair first night and flopped the second. One patron on going out remarked, "Everybody knows the air mail must leave on time and in all kinds of weather."—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—This is good but for some reason failed to draw any business. Can't figure it out unless no stars with drawing power, as Baxter means nothing in this town.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, THE: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—Excellent picture and good entertainment. Not the drawing card expected, since the women did not take to it. Played Jan. 28-30.—Charles Bern, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY: Max Baer, Myrna Loy—This picture is a little lengthy but has good continuity and interest all the way through. Enjoyed by both the ladies and men and brought in a few fight fans who had just listened to the Carnera fight the night before. Business average for week-end. Running time, 100 minutes. Played Mar. 2-3.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town.

SHOULD LADIES BEHAVE?: Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore—Here's a splendid picture. Good story, direction, cast and everything, but not so hot at the box-office.—N. E. Frank, Wayland Theatre, Wayland, Mich. Small town patronage.

SOLITAIRE MAN, THE: Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland—This is a very poor hour's entertainment. It is a detective story, located in Paris. This is an old release and just as poor now as when released. I cannot see why Metro or any other producer should put such pictures off on the exhibitors. Metro gives us many good pictures, but when you get a bad one from them, it is sure to be bad. Played one day to smallest business in months. Running time, 66 minutes. Played Mar. 1.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—Nothing to rave about. Just a program comedy to fair business. Played Feb. 10-11.—N. E. Frank, Wayland Theatre, Wayland, Mich. Small town patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy, Charley Chase, Mae Busch—Well, the boys have done it, and I did not think they could. This latest of theirs is a knockout comedy ably assisted by Mae Busch, who we have not seen for some time. The lady is good in this part, plenty easy on the eyes, and a comedienne. Of course, you will have some that don't care for them, but in this picture you will find them very much in the minority. Good story and plenty of laughs. Better than ordinary business and that is saying something, for there has been a definite recession in towns like this since the Christmas holidays.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SONS OF THE DESERT: Laurel and Hardy—The best feature from this team. It went over big here, as nearly everyone likes that kind of show. Charlie Chase very good in his role. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 28-Mar. 1.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan—A fair picture. One that pleased here 100 per cent and drew slightly above average business. Brady's work in this is flawless.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN: Lionel Barrymore—Wonderful. Lionel's work is superb. Many good comments. Business average.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Wallace Beery, Marie Dressler—This pleased our patrons 100 per cent and was a good picture from every respect, even box-office.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala Small town patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Do not think I can add anything to the praises already heaped on this production. It drew like a plaster. Can't figure out where they all came from. Pleased 100 per cent.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Robert Montgomery, Ann Harding—A grand performance is given by all who take part in this modern problem drama. It is not often that anything more dramatic is shown than the scene in which the two ladies, one the wife, the other the mistress, meet and discuss the man in the triangle, the ladies not knowing what part the other plays in their lives. It will please most of your patrons. Business a fair average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Monogram

GALLOPING ROMEO: Bob Steele—Here is another good western picture from Monogram. Plenty of action, fast riding and gun fighting. Just the type of picture for Saturday patrons. who like action and thrills. A few more like this one and Monogram will be leading the industry in the western field. Here's hoping they continue making good pictures and wishing them success. Played one day to good business. Running time, 54 minutes. Played Mar. 3.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LUCKY LARRIGAN: Rex Bell—Starts out with a glimpse of dude ranch life and an eastern dude's contempt of life in the raw. Why doesn't some one say something about Rex Bell's good work in comedy. This western has a varied story, something more than killing and shooting. My Saturday night ranch cowboys know the real thing in outdoor life. They liked the comedy relief and acquaintance is creating a liking for Rex Bell. They filled the house Saturday night. Westerns are really improving and with a touch of comedy by Bell and music from John Wayne, plus a story a bit above the moron grade, these westerns seem to be aiming for a more nearly universal appeal.—Mary Hayes Davis, La Belle and Naples Theatres, La Belle, Fla. Small town patronage.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI: Buster Crabbe, Mary Carlisle—Here's a good entertaining college picture. It's clean and will satisfy. Fell short of the box-office on account of snow and sleet storm. Good photography and sound. Running time, 75 minutes.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tennesee. General patronage.

Principal

TARZAN THE FEARLESS: Buster Crabbe—They packed the house. All the young of heart, from seven to seventy-five, highbrows and lowbrows, they came to be lifted out of the rut of the commonplace. You never saw such a lot of well behaved children, tense and thrilled. No effort to keep order for the six reels of this show. It now continues serially and they are all coming each week so far. Small town patronage with a sprinkling of sophisticated northern tourists. Book it if you are worried about this month's rent.—Mary Hayes Davis, La Belle and Naples Theatre, La Belle, Fla. Small town patronage.

Paramount

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—It will get the money and please. People liked it here.—Ned Pedigo, De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry, Gary Cooper, Jack Oakie, Edna May Oliver—Good for children. Adults will be bored. Play one day only. Played Feb. 19-20.—W. L. Landers, Landers Theatre, Batesville, Ark. Small town patronage.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND: Charlotte Henry—This is a very faithful reproduction of the old children's classic, with no adult appeal except to those who know and care for the story. With a little extra exploitation I got the children in to see it, and it paid its way on a midweek date. Played Feb. 13-14.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CRADLE SONG: Dorothy Wieck—Big basketball championship against this but the young folks wouldn't go any way. Don't sell the star. Be sure the Catholics know what it's about. Extra good show regardless of your religion but weepy ending. However, good business during Lent, one night only without extra advertising. Had to make a trip or would have doubled the take with Catholic tieup. Get behind this. Your regulars won't be out but you'll get a lot of those who hardly ever come. Be careful of your shorts with this. Running time, 77 minutes. Played Feb. 22.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

DESIGN FOR LIVING: Gary Cooper, Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins—Excellent play. Wonderful cast. Miriam Hopkins, Gary Cooper and Fredric March were superb in this play. It was serious in places, then comic, and entertaining throughout the play. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 24-25.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Good play. Actually comic. What the people on the whole desire. We're glad to receive this kind of play for a change. Running time, 88 minutes. Played Feb. 17-18.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—A fast action comedy of slapstick type, plenty of laughs but no class. They seem to have lost their drawing power with the women entirely. Played Jan. 26-27.—Charles Born, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—A fair program picture sold at a super special price. Sure glad they don't make but one a year. Running time, 68 minutes.—W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tennessee. General patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Failed to gross expenses on a three-day run. Had bad weather and this is a poor picture. Should be played on a double bill as it is only a short comedy drama and will not draw by itself. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 25-26-27.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

DUCK SOUP: Four Marx Brothers—Not so hot. Played Feb. 15-16. W. L. Landers, Landers Theatre, Batesville, Ark. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin—Here's a picture right up to the minute. While very good propaganda, it also serves as excellent entertainment, and it should be more interesting to the farmer. But try and sell it to them, I couldn't.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson—Good light entertainment for the young folks. Got by two nights O. K. The picture is better than the press book for once! Running time, 70 minutes. Plaped Feb. 20-21.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

HIS DOUBLE LIFE: Roland Young—Paramount slipped on this one, and that bad, it was a waste of film in spite of the clever comedian Roland Young. It came out of an eastern studio and they evidently did not know what audiences want at this time, judging from this vehicle.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

I'M NO ANGEL: Mae West—The biggest opening

. . . EXHIBITORS,

Spring in the air!

if you're playing . . .

nite since Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger." Mae West steps right up at the very beginning of this one and never falters a step clear through. She goes through the thing and never lets down not for an instant. She no doubt is the best known personality of the screen as she attracts all classes to the box-office.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

LONE COWBOY: Jackie Cooper, Lila Lee, John Wray—Entertaining western with the clever kid, Cooper, thrown in for good measure. Played Feb. 16-17.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

SITTING PRETTY: Jack Oakie, Jack Haley, Ginger Rogers—I may be wrong, as I have so many times, but this picture meanders along with the trials and tribulations of two song writers until they are a pain in the neck to the audience. There is entirely too much footage with them trying out songs and failing until the big moment comes. Mediocre is the word for it, and with Oakie, that has never been a bet here, to head the cast, is one horrible mistake to make from our angle. There are a lot more actors that would have had more weight at the box-office than Oakie. Our audiences don't like him and they were very vocal about expressing their opinions to that effect. The only thing that saved it was the last dance ensemble, "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking," with the most beautiful effects that we have seen in a picture, fans and girls. And what girls! They were a complete eyeful and curves, too. Jack Haley can sing, but Oakie not so hot as a singer.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SIX OF A KIND: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, Burns and Allen—A two-reel comedy stretched out to a seven-reel feature. A few liked it, but only a few. Some said they never wanted to see Gracie Allen again. This was a percentage picture. Had to use almost as many reels of shorts as feature to make a show and grossed less than in my poorest week night. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 25-26.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

SONG OF THE EAGLE: Richard Arlen—No connection with "N. R. A." It's racketeers muscling in on the legalized beer racket. Good show, but the family crowd won't go for it. One day with this trick title is enough. The title suggests an air picture to most people, probably because we ran "Eagle and Hawk" thirty days previously. However, despite careful explanation of title, business was poor. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Feb. 28—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Played it too old. All left for me was skimmed milk. Everyone already had caught it somewhere else.—Ned Pedigo. De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—A musical show built up to a climax that is most extraordinary. The piece carries you along at a very rapid pace and serves you the best in screen entertainment. Much better than many others that have been released this year. Bing Crosby does the best of his screen experience.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Very good. Claudette Colbert does wonderful acting in this one. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—This was a very good picture. Only objection was the same old story, the stork. However, this fitted in to the story nicely.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—Here Chevalier goes through his paces again and he seems harder to understand than heretofore. I like his mannerisms and he is very good, but I am here to tell you there is something wrong with this one.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

WAY TO LOVE, THE: Maurice Chevalier—Nice business so it must have pleased. Personally didn't get to see this one. Drew better than any previous Chevalier pictures. Running time, 84 minutes. W. F. Roth, Jr., New Palace Theatre, Gallatin, Tennessee. General patronage.

RKO

ACE OF ACES: Richard Dix—This drew surprisingly well. Good title and good picture of its kind. Played Feb. 23-24.—Charles Born, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett—Entertaining story with Constance as Russian spy. Best Bennett for some time. No sex stuff. Played Feb. 25-26.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett—A good program picture. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Feb. 4-5.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

AFTER TONIGHT: Constance Bennett—With so many poor pictures to the credit of this star, this one was a "washout." Played Jan. 24-25.—Charles Born, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne—A wonderful picture. Story great and acting greater. We took an awful licking on the picture as we played it too old. Satisfied them, but did not do much business at box-office. One of our worst flops in years on a good picture. Played Mar. 4-5.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

CHANCE AT HEAVEN: Ginger Rogers—Good little program picture. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

CHEYENNE KID: Tom Keene—A good western picture. Played on double bill Saturday and they all liked it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

DELUGE, THE: Peggy Shannon, Sidney Blackmer—Altogether one of the most unusual pictures ever produced. A distinct novelty. A rare piece of entertainment. Sure to please. With many companies it would be a special. Grab it.—Ned Pedigo, De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

FLAMING GOLD: Bill Boyd, Mae Clarke, George O'Brien—A fine program picture. Different than the rest. Story good and the whole cast real actors. Satisfied them all.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio—The best musical of the past twelve months, or more. Pleased 100 per cent. Excellent music and perfect recording. A good drawing card. Played Feb. 4-6.—Charles Bern, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio—Extra good musical with plenty of novelty. However, the "Carioca" dance and several cracks are a little too hot for family trade. Many of the men came twice to see it. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Feb. 25-27.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Dolores Del Rio, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire—Too much snow to do business but here is a nice picture. This fellow Astaire—they all ask who is he and where has he been and why didn't the producers get him before. Advertise him. You're going to see a lot more of that boy.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

FLYING DOWN TO RIO: Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond—A great picture with sensational dancing in the Carioca. Gilda Grey had never anything like this in her palmiest days. Pulchritude in the chorus and Fred Astaire in the SAMUEL GOLDWYN Production of "NANA"

Anna Sten

with

Lionel Atwill • Richard Bennett
Mae Clarke • Phillips Holmes
Muriel Kirkland
Directed by Dorothy Arzner

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

Boston Happy; 'Nana' 16G's

Orpheum (Loew) (3,000; 30-40-50)—'Nana' (UA) and vaudeville. Film likely to cash in on big ballyhoo weeks ago, which bad spoiled. Looks rosy splendid.

'Nana' $11,500 in Cincy

Albee (RKO) (3,300; 35-44)—'Nana' (UA). General opinion of critics complimentary to Anna Sten. Fast start and extra advertising makes a dandy $11,500 look like a cinch take.

VARIETY

'Nana' Sweet $12,500 Tops in Kansas City

'Nana' is on the Midland's screen and the star has been given a long and carefully planned campaign which did the trick and drew a swell opening.

and Ginger Rogers, and can they both swing their feet. This Fred Astaire has a good voice and steals the show. Dolores Del Rio fits her part in this one, but the high spots of the show are the dance numbers. You can safely say they have never seen anything like this dance. I hesitate to think what they would have done ten years ago with a number as hot as the Carioca. But don't get me wrong, there is nothing offensive in it. It is dressed so well and has swing and rhythm that only the talented dancers could put over. Ginger was the surprise as the girl can dance and got what might be called a big hand from the audience in a stage show. You can lay to it with all you have if you have RKO bought. As usual this season a blizzard and zero weather all three days when a good picture comes along, hence lowered attendance. The music has swing to it all the way.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett—An excellent, good, clean show that did not make expenses. RKO would not book it until it had been shown fourteen miles west, twenty-two miles north and twenty miles east, all on excellent roads, so I can consider I ran it for the prestige it brought my theatre. It is true some came for the first time but my regular patrons stayed away. A number who saw this in adjoining towns reported it sad and a woman's picture. That killed it here. I put out extra advertising, booked it on my best nights and came out in debt. All right if you can afford to run pictures for prestige but I cannot. Took in more on "Son of Kong" at family night prices than on this one. Running time, 107 minutes. Played Feb. 17-18-19.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

LITTLE WOMEN: Katharine Hepburn—What I call a mystery picture—how Hollywood could produce such clean, exquisite, entertainment—and I mean entertainment. Running time, 115 minutes. Played Feb. 11-12-13.—Ivan W. Rowley, Ward Theatre, Pismo Beach, Cal. General patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness—Very good story with Annapolis locale. Recording on our print was poor, however. Played Mar. 2-3.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot—Good enough picture for "gift nights" but no cast to draw business otherwise. Fine for double program. We're getting plenty of pictures that are great for double billing. However, we tried double bills, carefully booked, to get rid of too much product a year ago but our patrons wouldn't go for it, preferring good feature and 4 to 6 shorts. Running time, 65 minutes. Played March 1-2.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot—Excellent production with everything in it to make it a good picture. Action, comedy and good acting; good scenes and a good cast drew good attendance under unfavorable weather conditions. Played Feb. 10.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepbprn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—A splendid picture. Story great and acting fine by stars and all the cast. Gave good satisfaction. Played Feb. 27-28.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—One of the finest pictures we ever played. Story human and as always Barrymore wonderful. We done a very poor business on the picture, but it gave great satisfaction to them that seen it. Played Mar. 9.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—Very good and appeals to the older element. Pick your shorts carefully and you will have a good program. Ran this on Sunday. Rnnniug time, 72 minutes. Played Feb. 18-19.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—This was one of the best all-round family pictures that we ever had the pleasure of showing. We think Barrymore was cut loose on this as he was himself in every respect. It'll draw well on the second night. Play it.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—Nothing much to this picture. Just an ordinary film. Some comedy and action in rather poor taste. Can't say much in favor of it. Played Mar. 3.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

SILVER CORD: Irene Dunn, Joel McCrea—A very good program picture. Gave good satisfaction to them that came, but it was very small business. No fault of the picture.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack—A horror picture that made my auburn hair stand up on my head like an O'Cedar mop but it went over big, especially with the children. Robert Armstrong and Helen Mack good. Scads of such animals as were never on land or sea but I would rather meet prehistoric animals than bill collectors. Not my class of show but what is my opinion against my patrons'. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 14-15.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SON OF KONG: Robert Armstrong—Only fair picture and not up to "King Kong." They failed to spend the money on this one. It would have been a knockout had they put a good comedy man in the cast.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

United Artists

BOWERY, THE: Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper—Here is an outstanding drama of the rough and ready kind. What a trio, Wallace Beery, George Raft and Jackie Cooper. Fay Wray also adds her share to the good work. The length is 94 minutes and not a second wasted. It is all good drama about that colorful street during a colorful era. Fun and excitement from start to finish. Cold weather prevented us doing any extra business.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE: Constance Cummings, Paul Kelly—I can't see what Al Jolson found in this that caused him to slug Walter Winchell. By no stretch of the imagination could anything in this reflect on the romance of Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler. Could it all be a publicity stunt to advertise the picture? I doubt if Al Jolson would lend himself for such a purpose. The picture is a high class musical romance which did only average business.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

EMPEROR JONES: Paul Robeson—Here is one type of Negro story a small town cannot use as they do not like this dressed up Negro. A flop as far as the box-office is concerned and that's what we run pictures for.—A. J. Simmons, Plaza Theatre, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

MASQUERADER: Ronald Coleman, Elissa Landi—A very good program picture. Gave good satisfaction but did not draw film rental. Played Mar. 6-7.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY THE VIII, THE: Charles Laughton—A very hard picture to unload on a farmer town. Some liked it, some didn't. I got by, by forcing it over by main strength.—Herman J. Brown, Adelaide and Majestic Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

Universal

BIG CAGE, THE: Clyde Beatty—A little old but this type of subject will never get old. My people are tired of jungle stuff but this is different and brought good business on a Saturday. Running time, 80 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—This picture was

...and

Looking for Trouble

A DARRYL F. ZANUCK production
STARRING
Spencer TRACY
Jack OAKIE
Presented by JOSEPH M. SCHENCK

'Trouble' $10,500,

Boston, March 12. State (Loew) (3,000; 30-40-50)—'Looking for Trouble' (UA). Delighting patrons, with silver lining to expected $10,500.

First engagement at Boston clicks big! Now watch for reports from St. Louis and Toledo!

20th CENTURY PICTURE

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

only a fair mystery drama and just got by at the box-office. A good one to double up or for one night only. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 21-22.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

BOMBAY MAIL: Edmund Lowe—A train story in India. Hit and miss, here and there. Lowe only interesting part of picture. A weakling.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

COUNSELLOR-AT-LAW: John Barrymore—The worst mess in a picture in a long time. You will not be able to get any kind of patronage that will like this picture. John Barrymore has one of the weakest character parts one could ever see anywhere. Of course, every one does fine performing, but what is done does not entertain. Business less than average.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind General patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres, June Knight—Well directed, well acted picture with most of action on transcontinental bus New York to California, and at stops en route. Pleased Sunday audience. Played Feb. 18-19.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

CROSS COUNTRY CRUISE: Lew Ayres—Just an average program picture that failed to kick up any interest. Business away off on this one. Story weak and box office receipts a little weaker. It takes more than this sort to create any business. Running time, seven reels. Played Feb. 22-23.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard — Satisfactory as an average western with a pretty good story but I wish they would let these he men western stars just knock over a couple of fellows instead of five or six. A litttle restraint in this matter would make them more plausible and make a better western.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

GUN JUSTICE: Ken Maynard, Cecilia Parker—An excellent western. Beautiful photography and good story. Pleased all who saw it. Ran into severe cold snap and did not do average business. Running time, 64 minutes. Played Feb. 23-24.—W. F. Diestelmeier, Lena Theatre, Lena, Ill. Small town patronage.

HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—This one is a riot. Plenty good for any old body's theatre, yea, yea.—Ned Pedigo, De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Now then, here is a pair. They can make more folks laugh right out loud than any one that has appeared on my screen in many a moon. This picture is made from the ground up and is handed to you all ready for the customers. Slim and Andy can do a lot if they put them in pictures as good as this one. Would say Universal could put them in a big western, not a cheap affair, and have them getting out and into a lot of trouble. It would be a scream.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage HORSE PLAY: Slim Summerville, Andy Devine—Rather silly comedy but it seemed to please a fair crowd. Played Feb. 14-15.—N. E. Frank, Wayland Theatre, Wayland, Mich. Small town patronage.

I LIKE IT THAT WAY: Gloria Stuart—Well, well. I expected to see another moonlite with some gorgeous music. Pulled after first nite. Business at low ebb. No star power and picture just so—so. Cafe numbers on a small scale and picture jumpy. Pryor not a femme pull and never will be. Disappointing.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patroage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Raines, Gloria Stuart—A very good week-end picture that should do business any place. Much better than former pictures released by this company. Enough comedy, suspense and thrills for any audience.—A. J. Simmons, Lamar, Mo. Small town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Raines, Gloria Stuart—Here is a swell picture for the small town exhibitor. Not only brought the people to the show but satisfied them before they left. Should do great business in any small town on any nights of the week. We used the heralds from the exchange which really were effective and cheap. Let them know you've got this picture, and you will be surprised at the crowds. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Feb 28-Mar. 1.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town patronage.

INVISIBLE MAN, THE: Claude Raines, Gloria Stuart—This one will make your patrons sit up and take notice. They will like it if you can get them in. Something different. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Feb. 18-19.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris—Chester Morris rises from a small town pugilist to a champion. Takes the blame for his sister and goes to the electric chair. Apart from the story a great moral lesson is taught in this 'picture and the moviegoers are made to feel this. Business fair. A lot of snow and "30 degrees below" weather. Running time, 75 minutes.—Tony Balducci, Avon Theatre, Canastota, N. Y. General patronage.

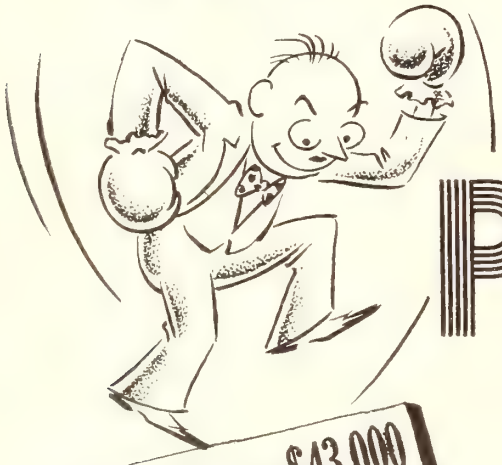
KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris—This was a much better picture than expected. Program grade, but no kicks from the customers.—C. M. Hartman, Liberty Theatre, Carnegie, Okla. Small town patronage.

KING FOR A NIGHT: Chester Morris, Helen Twelvetrees—Outside the sad ending this picture is one hundred per cent. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Jan. 19-20.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!: Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville—This is only fair entertainment of the comedy type. Too slow moving and very disappointing to all who saw it. I had not expected so much of this comedy team, therefore was not disappointed. This is the first of their pictures we have played here and if the others are no better, they should discontinue them. However, this did a good business for one day showing. Running time, 63 minutes. Played Feb. 22.—J. J. Medford, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MADAM SPY: Fay Wray, Nils Asther—A very good spy picture. Story interesting. Acting fine. But anything about war will not draw film rent and this didn't.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MADAM SPY: Fay Wray—I have been enjoying good average business for some time, but this one knocked it into a cocked hat by falling way below average. It is well done and it is the kind of story that the title implies. Therefore, you get what you expect, a very good spy photoplay.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.



MIDNIGHT: Sidney Fox, Henry Hull—Drama. Clean, well produced and acted. Story of reaction of jury foreman with strict sense of duty. Played Feb. 23-24.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

MYRT AND MARGE: Myrtle Dale, Donna Damerell—Pretty good. A little above the average. Wish there were none worse. Got by nicely on Saturday and am sure it would have gone over on any day of the week. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Feb. 24.—E. E. Warner, Opera House, Augusta, Wis. General patronage.

ONLY YESTERDAY: John Boles—And what a swell picture this is. By all means play this one. Get behind it and push and your patrons will thank you. Running time, 108 minutes. Played Feb. 16-17. —J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque—About all the scenes were apparently taken in the north land and the other part in the studios. However, it held the

...and

PALOOKA

by HAM FISHER with

JIMMY DURANTE
LUPE VELEZ
STUART ERWIN

PRODUCED BY EDWARD SMALL
Presented by Reliance Pictures

'Palooka' Heavy $43,000 Only B'way Standout

'Palooka' 7G's
Cincinnati, March 6
Lyric (RKO) (1,394; 35-44)—'Palooka' (UA). Supported by special campaign and wham Joe Palooka cartoon coloring contest in Times-Star, with news and office plugs for six days, getting $7,000, a Durante baymaker.

Palooka, $11,000, Strong in Boston
Keith's (RKO) (4,000; 25-35-50) —'Palooka' (UA). Premiered with a midnight show will be fine. $11,000 attention of our patrons, and was intensely interesting. A wonderful production that everyone should see. Played Feb. 17.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. Small town patronage.

VARIETY

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

S. O. S. ICEBERG: Rod La Rocque—This picture would have been better had it been about 35 minutes long instead of 78. Some liked it and others did not. Personally I thought it was good. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Jan. 12-13.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard, Rex—The best western we have played for a long while. The horse fight is the best I have ever seen. It's just a dandy and it pleased our western fans 100 per cent. It's clean. Running time, 65 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard—An excellent western. Make it a point to sell this extra and box-office will more than reward you. Some exceptional scenic shots and fast action. Your western fans will rave over it. Title is box-office.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

STRAWBERRY ROAN: Ken Maynard—The best western we have played in a long time. This is what the small towns need for Friday and Saturdays. I believe this is the best western Ken Maynard ever starred in. Played Feb. 16-17.—Claud Thorp, Gem Theatre, Ryan, Okla. Small town patronage.

TRAIL DRIVE, THE: Ken Maynard—They must like it for they came through rain to see it and in spite of raining we had average business on Friday and Saturday. We put out the old covered wagon with banners and three-sheets pasted on it, which helped. Played Feb. 16-17.—W. D. Utterback, Lyric Theatre, Wellington, Kan. General patronage.

Warner

COLLEGE COACH: Dick Powell—We found this an appealing picture to the football lovers and was nicely put over.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

FROM HEADQUARTERS: George Brent—You will find this a very good gangster story and one every now and then helps break the monotony.—W. J. Bryan, Paramount Theatre, Geneva, Ala. Small town patronage.

KENNEL MURDER CASE: William Powell—Will draw business and please.—Herman J. Brown, Adelaide and Majestic Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

LADY KILLER: James Cagney, Margaret Lindsay, Mae Clarke—This is a good picture of the comedy type. It has plenty of action and is fast moving. It is a story of gangsters and then goes to the inside workings of a picture studio. Just the type of picture that will appeal to all classes. The Warner trailer sold this well in advance for us and should do the same for you. Played one day to capacity business. Running time, 76 minutes. Played Mar. 3.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MAN FROM MONTEREY, THE: Duke, John Wayne—A dandy western that everyone seemed to like. In the opinion of the kiddies John Wayne and Duke are the world's best actors. Running time, 60 minutes. Played Feb. 21-22.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

WORLD CHANGES, THE: Paul Muni—An attempt was made to make this an epic, but somehow, somewhere, it misses. On the credit side this has many big moments of epic proportions. On the debit side it has scenes that are the opposite of what can be termed entertainment. The insanity scene is about the most repulsive scene that can be put into a picture. If any actor had to die, heart failure would have been much better than that insanity scene. I will mention one more item on the debit side; the death of Paul Muni at the end. At best, it is not entertainment to have death as the ending of a picture. It is okay for the villain to get his just desserts, but not for the leading figure. How much better it would have been to have Paul Muni end his days peacefully on the farm with his mother. But as a whole the picture is worth showing. The big moments in this are worth seeing. With the weather moderating we did a good average business on this.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BEDTIME STORIES: Rather spicy but if spotted right these last year subjects will go fine. Running time, 10 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

MICKEY'S COVERED WAGON: Mickey McGuire—The best Mickey comedy I ever saw. Running time, 20 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

MICKEY'S TENT SHOW: Mickey McGuire—A dandy comedy that got a lot of laughs. On a Sunday showing adults like these two-reel comedies about as well as the children do. You can't go wrong on these comedies. Running time, 18 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

UM-PA: Musicals—Pretty fair musical that will keep the kids in town saying "um-pa" for the next few weeks after running. Good for a heavy feature. Running time, 20 minutes.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town.

WINTER THRILLS: World of Sport—Very good sport reel. Action of several winter sports. Commentator snappy and gives several laughs.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patroage.

Educational

DIVORCE SWEETS: Tom Howard—Tom Howard as good as ever in a real dizzy comedy that you can't help laughing at. Tom Howard and his stooge as divorce detectives and all their subtle humor make it interesting. Running time, 20 minutes.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town.

MANHATTAN LULLABY: Helen Morgan—Not so hot. Helen Morgan closeuped for a song or two that fails to impress. Running time, 11 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

PARDON MY PUPS: Frolics of Youth—Good comedy of flaming youth and barking dogs. Great on a family night program or with feature catering to younger generation. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

TECHNO-CRAZY: Vanity Comedies—A good funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

TRAV'LLING THE ROAD: Alexander Gray—Hobo and Casey Jones stuff by Alexander Gray with railroad scenery clips. Mild entertainment and very dark print of night stuff throughout. Running time, 10 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Col. General patronage.

TRIMMED IN FURS: Mermaid Comedies—Pretty fair slapstick. Nothing exceptional but just another comedy. Running time, 19 minutes.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town.

MGM

AIR FRIGHT: Todd-Kelly—Good comedy. Metro seems to have the only good comedies on the market. —N. E. Frank, Wayland Theatre, Wayland, Mich. Small town patronage.

BEAUTY AND THE BUS: Todd-Kelly—This one is fair.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

...and

'Cath' Fine $7,200

Pittsburgh, March 12.

Fulton (Snea-Hyde) (1,750; 15-25-40)—'Catherine the Great' (UA). Critical raves for this one haven't been topped for years and with continued generous newspaper...

CATHERINE,' $4,200, BIG IN NEW HAVEN

College (Poli) (1,565; 25-40) — 'Catherine the Great' (UA). Opening days equalled 'Henry the Eighth,' which was tops at this house.

Kate' Sees $7,000

Baltimore, March 12.

Keith's (Schanberger) (2,500; 25-30-35-40-50), 'Catherine the Great' (UA). Critical gentry rolled overboard on lauds and opening indications point to engagement being near smash proportions enjoyed by 'Henry Eighth.'

VARIETY

ALEXANDER KORDA'S PRODUCTION OF

CATHERINE THE GREAT

WITH

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr.

AND

ELIZABETH BERGNER

Directed by PAUL CZINNER

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

BEER AND PRETZELS: Musical Revues—Nothing to it but beer.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

BEER AND PRETZELS: Jack Haley and Company—A good rough two-reel subject. Funny, yes. Slapstick in the worst way.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

BUSY BODIES: Laurel and Hardy—This one is very good. Full of laughs.—A. L. Lighter, Orpheum Theatre, Mellen, Wis. Small town patronage.

WILLIE WHOPPER CARTOONS: All this series that we have run so far have proven to be very excellent.—Red Harkins, State Theatre, Tempe, Ariz. Small college town.

Paramount

DETECTIVE HOWARD: Tom Howard—Tom Howard tries to prevent two river suicides with "down payments" and other foolishness. Mildly funny if suicide is a joke with your patrons. Not bad, just poor taste in humor! Running time, 10 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Duke Ellington—Duke Ellington and band presenting their conception of "Stormy Weather." Excellent. Running time, one reel.—James R. Partlow, Ohio Theatre, Tippecanoe City, Ohio. General patronage.

CIRCUS HOODOO: Harry Langdon—Fair.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

GOLD NUGGETS: Walter Catlett—Terrible.—E. E. Holmquist, Broadway Theatre, Centerville, S. D. General patronage.

I YAM WHAT I YAM: Popeye the Sailor—Popeye is about as popular as any of the best cartoons. This one is better than ever.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

PATENTS PENDING: Burns and Allen—It's nutty but there are a lot of good laughs in it. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

PLEASE: Bing Crosby—A good two-reel subject. It will please. Running time, 21 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

RKO

FISH FEATHERS: Edgar Kennedy—A good two-reel short that got a lot of laughs. Running time, two reels.—Gladys McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

HOW COMEDIES ARE BORN: Gribbon-Kennedy Comedies—About 80 per cent of the comedies have lost their birth certificates—this one included. A little birth control, please.—Charles Bern, Elks Theatre, Prescott, Ariz. General patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark and McCullough—A regular C and McC comedy. Lots of laughs. Slapstick comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

SNUG IN A JUG: Clark and McCullough—Clark and McCullough comedies are best with western pictures or action programs. Their stuff is good for laughs but not on programs catering to women. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

United Artists

MAIL PILOT, THE: Mickey Mouse—An excellent cartoon comedy from United Artists. This is absolutely the best cartoon of Mickey Mouse we have seen. Why can't the others be just as good? Here's hoping they will make many more like this one. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

PIED PIPER: Silly Symphonies—Another good number of the Silly Symphony series, all in beautiful color and is one of the best of the entire series. Practically all of these are good and without a doubt they are the best one-reel shorts on the market. Running time, eight minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Universal

BROADWAY VARIETIES: Mentone No. 7—Excellent two-reeler with some great vaudeville acts. A grand subject for any program. Book it.—E. A. Reynolds, Strand Theatre, Princeton, Minn. Small town and country patronage.

GOOD OLD DAYS, THE: Universal Brevities—Scenes from pictures of the silent days and quite far back. Personally, they brought to me fond memories of the old days when I projected some of those same scenes on the screen to enthusiastic audiences. Naturally this subject pleased me more than it did a great share of the audience. This one contains scenes from pictures of Wallace Beery, Dorothy Phillips, John Gilbert, and that great character actor, Lon Chaney. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

GOOFYTONE NEWS (No. 1): Whether this will please or not depends on your patrons. If they do not have a sense of humor, they will say they are foolish. They are. That's just what makes them good. Running time, one reel.—M. C. Howe, Erskine Theatre, Erskine, Minn. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

IN THE DOUGH: Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle—This is just another comedy that will not please. The story is too slow. However, there is some good slapstick in it. The pie throwing that made Arbuckle famous is about the best scene in this two reels of poor entertainment. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MILD WEST, THE: Broadway Brevities—Not up to the standard of Broadway Brevities. Running time, 20 minutes.—Walter Beymer, Lido Theatre, Providence, Ky. Small town patronage.

NOTHING EVER HAPPENS: Broadway Brevity—Pretty slow. Running time, 18 minutes.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

OPERATOR'S OPERA: Broadway Brevities—Another knockout musical novelty by Warner. It's not about your machine operators but about the "hello" operators at the telephone. Here's a tip that won't hurt you either: invite the telephone operators as your guests, they'll like it and appreciate it. Running time two reels.—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill. General patronage.

PAUL REVERE, JR.: Broadway Brevities—Good as all Vitaphone musicals seem to please. Running time, two reels.—E. D. Luna, Cozy Theatre, Wagoner, Okla. Small town patronage.

WASHINGTON, THE MAN AND THE CAPITAL: An excellent two-reel short that was enjoyed by all alike. I ran this on Washington's birthday but it is good for any dates. Running time, two reels.—Gladys McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kans. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy—"Gordon of Ghost City" is a good action serial.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

GORDON OF GHOST CITY: Buck Jones—Business getting better all the time. Our patrons must have a western on Saturday but find I can use up a lot of action features on Saturday by satisfying them with a western serial such as this with a good star. On seventh episode now. Running time, 20 minutes.—M. P. Foster, Granada Theatre, Monte Vista, Colo. General patronage.

PHANTOM OF THE AIR, THE: Tom Tyler—A fair serial that does not seem to hold the interest like Clancy of the Mounted. Very good stunt flying.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

...and, of course!

"THE BIGGEST MONEY MAKER IN TWO YEARS"

Hollywood Reporter

George ARLISS

in

THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD

A DARRYL F. ZANUCK production

Presented by Joseph M. Schenck

20th CENTURY PICTURE

BORIS KARLOFF • LORETTA YOUNG • ROBERT YOUNG

HELEN WESTLEY... and a Distinguished Cast of One Hundred.

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Some people still contend that pictures are getting no better and that the world isn't progressing, and some there are who insist that the earth is flat. Some of you can remember back to the days of John Bunny and Flora Finch, when they used to make one-reel comedies, and a one-sheet of John Bunny out in front of the theatre was a guarantee of all the house would hold.

Then came along Broncho Billy, who had a private graveyard in every community where he operated, and Alkali Ike would jump fences, climb trees and otherwise disport himself for the delight of the audience. The poorest picture of today would have been listed as a feature de luxe in the olden days and would have been roadshowed at $2 top while today some will walk out on it at 20 cents.

Then, too, you probably remember back to a time when a young fellow would take his girl out for an airing on a bicycle built for two and she wore a hat big enough to cover a haystack. Today you can see her riding down the boulevard in a limousine with a hat as big as a tea saucer on her left ear, and yet some people tell us that the world does not progress.

This business is no different from any other business: it must progress or go backward—it can't stand still. We think pictures are much different today from what they used to be as the limousine is different from the ox cart, and yet there is plenty of room for improvement. A whittling out here and there of some of the sex and smut would made a decided stride forward and hasten the day when we were bordering on perfection. We are dropping these few hints, not because we know anything about it, but to call the attention to it of those who do know.

▽

Carrying Him to the End

We heard a good story the other day. A fellow had been dangerously sick and was about to pass out, so he called his wife to his bedside and gave her a list of the pall bearers he wanted her to engage. She looked at the list and then said, "Why Jim, these are all bankers. Why do you select all bankers?" And Jim replied, "Well, they have been carrying me all my life and I don't want them to lay down on the job now."

▽

If they had located the Garden of Eden in New Hampshire the chances are that Adam would have had to live on snowballs instead of apples and Eve would have caught pneumonia, for that's no country for fig leaves, according to a letter we have just received from E. B. Conant of the Lincoln theatre, at Lincoln, N. H. He tells us that they have had the severest winter ever known; that the snow was 12 feet on the level, and that the mercury had been down to 50 below zero. Good gosh, it's no wonder that the Eskimos want to move down there to cool off.

At the top of his letterhead is printed the word "Charkarrohen," but he failed to advise us what that word meant, so we are assuming that it is a universal cuss-word used by the New Hampshire people when they have 12 feet of snow and it is 50 below. Out here, should we have that condition, that word would be entirely too mild to satisfy these western folks. We are inviting Mr. Conant to come out here in the winter to spend his summer vacation, with the understanding that he is to bring nothing but a good appetite and his B. V. Ds.

He winds up his letter with this: "My wife has the radio on, and one of those blankety blank crooners is gasping for breath. This always drives me down two flights to the cellar where I can rest in peace."

We wish to thank Mr. Conant for his good letter and trust he will accept this as an answer. Such letters as his always cheer us up.

▽

Not Responsible

From Valentine, Nebraska, comes a letter from Mrs. Hazel Dunn, wife of Harold Dunn, and a cooperator of the Jewell theatre. She assures us that she was in no way responsible for having put Harold on a diet of baled hay and ensilage to reduce his surplus fat. We know Harold pretty well, and if he would put as much energy into his work as he does at the dinner table Valentine would become one of the thriving cities of the state.

Thanks for your letter, Mrs. Dunn, and tell Harold to drink plenty of buttermilk every day and keep away from those Sioux Squaws.

▽

Joe Fisher is now with the Dressel Bake Shop in Chicago. Joe used to be the powder monkey in the HERALD office, at which time he was known as "Eagle Eye Joe." Joe didn't say whether he was married or not, but if he isn't, Ccihago can't lay that up against him, for he has been like "Barkus" ever since we knew him He writes us a nice letter, for which we extend our thanks.

▽

Hardboiled Director

Ned Sparks, as a hard boiled director, has Darryl Zanuck pushed clear out of the studio. We'll bettcha that he eats dill pickles and railroad spikes for dessert every day, and he has a good appetite.

▽

Marvin Foss of La Porte City, Iowa, writes us a very nice letter and reports that they played "Little Women" recently and it grossed more than any picture they have played in twelve months.

That speaks well for "Little Women," but then why shouldn't it? It is one of the best pictures produced in twelve months. He tells us that his father lives at Ridgeway, Iowa, and is not only an ardent fisherman but follows our colyum religiously. All fiishermen do; that's why they are good fishermen. Thanks for your good letter, Marvin, and tell your father to use frogs for bass.

▽

F. K. Haskell of the Pacific Northwest Trade News, and a news reporter for the HERALD, sends us another letter and says that "Chic" Sale put in a week entertaining Portland, Oregon, people, and went away leaving a satisfied audience in his wake. Of course he did; he always does. Among other things, he sends us one of his poems, which reads:

HERE'S HOPIN'

Year ain't been the very best—
Pretty hard with trouble pressed
But the rough way leads to rest—
Here's Hopin'.

Where we planted roses sweet,
Thorns came up to stick our feet
But, this old world's hard to beat—
Here's Hopin'.

Perhaps the buildin' that we planned
Against the cyclone couldn't stand,
But thank God, we've got the land—
Here's Hopin'.

We will see the mornin' light—
And the very darkest night
Can't hide Heaven from our sight—
Here's Hopin'.

That sounds just like "Chic" and it was very nice of Mr. Haskell to send it to us, for which we thank him most sincerely and for his nice letter. We have concluded that Noah, Mark Anthony, Napoleon, Lydia E. Pinkham and George Washington were not the only good people born. There are others, which reminds us that it is time to quit.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist

"MAGIC-WEATHER"
REG. U. S. PATENT OFFICE
• FANS
• AIR-WASHERS
• COOLING EQUIPMENT
SCOTT BALLANTYNE CO.
TELEPHONE ATLANTIC 3345
219 NORTH 16th ST., OMAHA, NEBR.

Alvin Werbe Dead

Alvin F. Werbe, 74, head of the Werbe Scenic Studio, died at his home in Kansas City, Kan., last week. For many years his firm has conducted a national business on scenery and interior decoration for theatres. Fred A. and Louis A. Werbe, two of four surviving sons, will continue the business.

Wurtzel to Make 30 for Fox

Sol Wurtzel plans to make 30 features, 10 of them Spanish versions, as part of the Fox new season program.

"IT WILL MAKE A MEMORABLE FILM"

Is Benjamin DeCasseres' Comment on "Dodsworth"; "They Shall Not Die" He Calls Perfect Picture Material but Dynamite If Shown in the Southland

By BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

DODSWORTH

Sinclair Lewis' "Dodsworth," with Walter Huston as the famous homespun Sammy Dodsworth of Zenith City, made a smash hit.

Sidney Howard did a capital job with the play. He put it into three acts and fourteen scenes of culminating and absorbing interest.

It will make a memorable picture—a fine saga of current Americana. It is of a larger scope than 'Arrowsmith." Max Gordon produced with a long and impeccable cast, which included Fay Bainter as Fran Dodsworth, Harlan Briggs, Maria Ouspenskaya, Frederic Worlock, Charles Halton and Nan Sunderland (Mrs. Huston).

Robert Sinclair did a fine job at directing. And—let me whisper—it will take some jack to buy this play; but if it doesn't net all the picture-spending loose change in the world, then I lose my high rank as a bald-headed prophet.

But it must be filmed with Walter Huston. His Sam Dodsworth is positively the finest character portrayal of a certain type of American lost in the jungles of European sophistication that I have ever seen. It is a living, palpitating man who unfolds before us in all his simplicity, his quiet pathos, his unconscious humor, his calm acceptance of his wife's infidelities in Europe, his clumsy love-making, and finally his explosion in the last scene where he denounces the huzzy that he has made his wife and deserts her for a woman who will take him at face value.

Huston never overdoes. He is poignant without exaggeration. I cannot conceive the screen version (with the whole Sinclair Lewis book to dig from) without Huston. Here we shall have real feeling—not the blithery pathos of "Little Women"—the comic pathos of a single American, boyish-business nature; a grand man, but a Yahoo in Europe, where human nature is a daily paradox.

Fay Bainter did well with the evolving huzzy-soul of Sam's wife.

"Dodsworth" may easily become the great American picture of today.

Picture value, 100 per cent.

SING AND WHISTLE

Nothing ever happens in Norway. Have you noticed? Did you ever see a picture the action of which is laid in Norway? Off-hand, can you tell me the capital of Norway?

So what? Why, nothing in particular, but I thought this was as good a place as any—reviewing "Sing and Whistle"—to daub in something that's been on my chest for a long time.

"Sing and Whistle" is a four-part drunken sex comedy, featuring that always funny little fellow Ernest Truex. It was written by Milton Herbert Gropper. It is pretty ancient Limburger and might make the screen for one of those fill-ins wherein two married couples get all mixed up in a rather smelly manner. Depends on the cast.

There are the Jillsons and the Dickenses. The latter, from Chicago, come east to meet the Jillsons. Fran Jillson and Carole Dickens had been thataway before Carole married Hugo Dickens.

Frank (Truex) is upset about meeting his former blowse. Where shall they sleep?—and dialogue like that.

While the Dickens fellow and the Jillson wife (Sylvia Field) go out to see the night-club doings, Frank and his former gal get stewed. It's an all-night affair, involving a bed. The night-club trotters return in the morning. The usual "Now, come clean!" stuff on a comic angle.

Again I ask why isn't something done in Hollywood about Norway?

Picture value, 25 per cent.

RATING OF PLAYS AS SCREEN MATERIAL

The following percentages are Mr. DeCasseres' estimate of the potential screen value of the Broadway plays discussed on this page:

"Dodsworth"—100 per cent.

"Sing and Whistle"—25 per cent.

"They Shall Not Die!"—70 per cent.

"When in Rome"—4 per cent.

"Ragged Army"—zero.

THEY SHALL NOT DIE!

For picture product John Wexley's play, "They Shall Not Die!" (a Theatre Guild offering) raises the old question again. How far will the public stand for propaganda on the screen? For in this play Wexley—who gave us "The Last Mile" and "Steel," and who writes with dynamite sticks for a pencil—has written something that might well cause an upheaval as great as "'Uncle Tom's Cabin" if it ever got into celluloid.

And, aside from it being the story of the Scottsboro affair up to date and a damning indictment of "justice" in Alabama, it is perfect picture material—better picture material, in fact, than play material. But it could never be shown in the South without trouble, which is a great tribute to the mighty power of the motion picture.

The whole nasty matter is shown in detail in three acts and six scenes—from the alleged rape of the girls and frame-up of the negroes to the blasting speech of Claude Rains (the New York defense lawyer) in the courtroom, ending in his "They shall not die!"

A love-story has been woven through it with Ruth Gordon in the role of Ruby Bates. Actorially, it is the best of the Guild productions.

Picture value, 70 per cent (with riots).

WHEN IN ROME

After the success of "The Warrior's Husband" and "The Road to Rome" they all want to do it. The vogue really began in Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee"—that is, the art of talking nowadays stuff back in toga and helmet-and-shield days. The anachronism will always get a laugh on screen or stage, as instance the laughs one hears at "Berkeley Square." But there is an art even in slicing baloney.

Austin Major did not slice it properly in "When in Rome." It is one of those things transported to Broadway from somewhere. This title, besides, has intrigued many playwrights, among others Laurence Stallings. But none of them has yet made the Hollywood grade. Maybe Le Grand Schnozzle knows a way. Eddie Cantor might ham it, too.

"When in Rome"—a ringing, clattering flop—purports to be a satire on the alleged misdoings of a Roman Tammany Hall done back in the days of Cicero, Tiberius, Spartacus, Fulvia and all the rest of the jovial gang in shorts and sandals.

Picture value, 4 per cent.

RAGGED ARMY

How many fine ideas have I not seen—both on stage and screen—go foundering in the morass of obfuscated treatment or wrangled to a shadow in incompetent hands!

There is a fine idea, for instance—an idea worthy of a Marc Connelly-George Kaufman-Morris Ryskind try—in the unquestioned fact that the descendants of our Revolutionary forefathers are today the very backbone, not to say the absolute nerts, of current toryism. I know, for instance, a descendant of a soldier who nearly croaked at Valley Forge with cold and lack of his daily noggin of sin-water who discharged one of his secretaries because he wouldn't wear white cuffs.

The stuck-up town of Dunbury is giving a pageant to the American Revolution while the rest of the populace is at the last level of the Depression.

Another revolution is threatening; but those celebrating the starving boys at Valley Forge start to slaughter the strikers. Lloyd Nolan as Geoffrey Carver is the Spirit of '76 who tries to slaughter the Spirit of '34.

I think it is good Marx Brothers material. It might be called "Baloney Consommé."

Picture value, 0.

RULES FOR THE CLEARANCE BOARDS

I—APPOINTMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry approved by President Roosevelt on November 27th, 1933, the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry has appointed the following to act as members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board and the Secretary of such Board for the.....Exchange territory, the duration of each of such appointments to be at the will of the Code Authority.

1. Representative of National Distributors with Theatre Affiliation.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
2. Representative of Distributors without Circuit Theatre Affiliation.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
3. Representative of First Run Exhibitors Affiliated.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
4. Representative of First Run Exhibitor Unaffiliated.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
5. Representative of Subsequent Run Exhibitors Unaffiliated.
   (a) Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
6. (b) Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
7. Impartial Representative of the Code Authority.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
8. Secretary
   Mr.-Miss....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)

The members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall meet promptly after their appointment by the Code Authority at such time and place as shall be fixed by them.

Prior to such first meeting, each member shall subscribe to the oath in the form attached hereto and shall forthwith transmit such oath for filing with the Administrator, to the Executive Secretary, Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry, 23rd floor, RKO Building, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Thereupon the members shall by majority vote, select from their number a Chairman, determine the regular intervals at which meetings shall be held and designate the date of the next meeting.

There shall be transmitted by the Code Authority to the Secretary a complete and certified list of Distributors maintaining exchanges in, and Exhibitors operating theatres served out of the.....Exchange Territory, who have qualified to file protests with the Local Clearance and Zoning Board pursuant to Article VI, Part 2, Section 8.

The jurisdiction and authority of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board and all requirements necessary to properly file any protest to such Board should be carefully studied by the members of the Board and the Secretary thereof with particular attention to Article VI, Part 1, Section 7.

The Secretary of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board should become familiar with the provisions contained in the Code which are to be followed in the case of appeal. (Article VI, Part 1, Section 7). The procedure for an appeal is mandatory and must be strictly followed by the appellant.

The Secretary shall be helpful and sufficiently informed so as to answer correctly questions as to procedure. Constant reference to the printed text and to any instructions issued by the Code Authority will prevent mistakes and duplication of work.

Rules and regulations governing the modus operandi of each of the 31 Local Clearance and Zoning Boards are presented herewith, as announced over the weekend by the Code Authority in New York. The prescribed form provides for appointments to the boards, their organization, procedure, manner of handling protests and of making decisions, a special resolution concerning an effective date and the form of oath for each appointee. The Local Clearance and Zoning Boards will set up, regulate and operate a fair and reasonable schedule of clearance for each territory.

Because the rules and regulations governing Local Clearance and Zoning Boards affect the rights of every exhibitor and exchange in the country, they should be studied carefully.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted unanimously by the Code Authority on February 16th, 1934, a copy of which is annexed hereto, the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall immediately after organization is completed, perform and discharge its duty by receiving any and all protests from members of the industry against any existing clearance and zoning as to their respective theatres alleging that such clearance and zoning is unreasonable in length and/or area, and that the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall decide the issues raised by such protests after notice and hearing to the parties affected.

Provisions of the Code shall govern with respect to the time of making decisions and the procedure thereafter. (Article VI, Part 1, Sec. 7).

The Secretary of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall become familiar with all the provisions contained in the Code which are particularly applicable to the duties and jurisdiction of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board.

II—ORGANIZATION

Sec. 1. Meetings of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be held in the city of .....at such time and place as shall be designated by such Board. Notice of each meeting of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be given to each member by the Secretary at least three (3) days prior to the date thereof. Any notice to be given any member of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be deemed given sufficiently and completely if and when delivered or mailed to such member at his address appearing on the records of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. The members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall not be entitled to nor shall they be paid any compensation for their services. For attendance at meetings, each member of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be paid the amount itemized in writing by such member and approved by the Secretary, as having been expended by him for railroad fare to travel from his place of business or residence, whichever is nearer, if not in the city of ....., and for necessary hotel room expense not to exceed Five Dollars ($5.00) per day.

Sec. 2. In the case of the absence, ineligibility or incapacity of any member of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board to act at any meeting thereof, the Chairman shall appoint as temporary member, a member of the same classification from the Local Grivance Board, provided that such member is available to serve. In the event he is not available, a temporary member shall be selected unanimously by the members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board from the same general class of the absentee member. In the event of failure to obtain a unanimous choice, the temporary member shall be appointed by the Code Authority. The temporary member shall act only for the time during such meeting that such regular member shall be absent, or ineligible or incapacitated. If a vacancy occurs because of death or permanent ineligibility or permanent incapacity, the vacancy shall be filled by the Code Authority.

At all meetings of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board the presence of all of the members shall be necessary to constitute a quorum and on all matters the vote of the majority of all of the members shall be deemed to be the action of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. (Article VI, Part 1, Section 5). The impartial representative of the Code Authority shall vote only in case the vote of the other members is evenly divided.

Sec. 3. At each meeting of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board the members shall select a Chairman from their number with full voting rights, to preside at the meeting of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board and any recess thereof. The Chairmanship of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be rotated among the members and each member shall in turn be selected to act as Chairman.

Sec. 4. The Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry shall appoint and fix the compensation of the Secretary, who shall be a person not a member of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. The services of the Secretary may be terminated at any time by the Code Authority. The Secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of all meetings of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board and of all other matters of which a record shall be required by the Code Authority. The Secretary shall take minutes of all protest hearings in such form and to such extent as the Code Authority shall direct, and such minutes shall be part of the record. The Secretary of each Board shall make application to the proper State or Municipal Authority for appointment to administer oaths and shall at all hearings administer the oath to all witnesses. The Secretary shall issue notices of all meetings and shall perform such other duties as may from time to time be designated by the Code Authority.

Sec. 5. Neither the Local Clearance and Zoning Board nor any member thereof or the secretary shall make any commitment for expenditures other than necessary hotel room expense or railroad fare as provided for in Section I hereof without first obtaining written approval therefor from the Code Authority.

Sec. 6. These rules may be amended and added to at any time by the Code Authority.

Sec. 7. The juristdiction of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board shall be limited as specifically provided (Article VI, Part 1, Section 9) and such Board shall hear no questions retary notifies members of the Local Clearance and zoning matters.

III—PROCEDURE

The Local Clearance and Zoning Board may receive and decide only such matters as are specified in a written protest sworn to by the protestant and filed in triplicate with the Secretary, who shall forthwith deliver a correct copy thereof to each party whose interests may be affected by the decision.

(Continued on following page, column 1)

RULES FOR THE CLEARANCE BOARDS

(Continued from preceding page)

PROTESTS

(Article VI, Part 1, Section 7 of the Code)

SEC. 1. All parties concerned in any protest may appear in person or by attorney. They shall be notified of the time and place of hearing, by the Secretary at the same time the Secretary notifies members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board.

The authority of the members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board to hear protests is derived from and limited by the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry. Members are not bound by the technical rules of evidence but should refuse to admit evidence which is immaterial or irrelevant. Members are without power or authority to make any decisions which shall be at variance with provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry or any interpretation thereof by the Code Authority.

SEC. 2. In arriving at a conclusion, each member should be mindful that his responsibility is as great as that of a judge sitting in a court of law. Each member should be actuated by principles of justice. Members of Local Clearance and Zoning Boards must be impartial. They cannot be impartial if they have any private agreements respecting the subject matter of the protest.

SEC. 3. The members shall so conduct the hearing as not to prejudice the interests of any interested party. If any information is received or in their possession, open disclosure thereof must be made during the hearing of any protest.

SEC. 4. The members shall observe the following rules,

(a) all witnesses must be sworn. The following form of oath shall be used:
"Do you solemnly swear that in the matter of the protest of..... you will tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God?"

SEC. 5. The protestant and all parties concerned or their attorneys shall be given full opportunity to cross-examine all witnesses, and present their own witnesses in rebuttal. The members may during the hearing question the protestant and witnesses and all interested parties if they so desire, without unduly interrupting the orderly conduct of the hearing. The members shall remember to

(a) permit all interested parties or their attorneys to briefly sum up their case.
(b) adjourn the hearing to a future date for good reason. Take all possible steps to avoid unnecessary delays to the end that all hearings be expedited.
(c) confer immediately at the end of the hearing to arrive at a decision based solely upon the evidence submitted.

SEC. 6. Members of Local Clearance and Zoning Boards are cautioned to

(a) refuse to admit evidence which is immaterial or irrelevant.
(b) refuse to consider evidence if no opportunity is afforded for cross-examining of the witness whose evidence is offered.
(c) postpone only for compelling and proper causes a hearing already set.
(d) avoid reaching a decision before the close of the case.

V—DECISION

SEC 1. The decision must clearly reflect the opinion of the majority of the members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. There can only be one decision. Accordingly, the members should never make any decision which

(a) contemplates further action of any kind by the Local Clearance and Zoning Board.
(b) reserves to the members further powers or action.

Decisions of a Local Clearance and Zoning Board wherever possible should be unanimous and may be publicized.

SEC. 2. All decisions must be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry and in accordance with any interpretation thereof by the Code Authority.

SEC. 3. The decision should be certain in its terms and simple in its language. It should state in clear and simple language the decision of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. Each decision should be so phrased as to be possible of performance. Each member shall sign the decision indicating whether he votes in favor thereof or dissents therefrom.

SEC. 4. Members of the Local Clearance and Zoning Boards are not required to state the reasons for the conclusions reached, but may do so if they see fit. The members may incorporate their reasons in an opinion accompanying the decision if they or any of them so desire.

SEC. 5. A protestant desiring a stenographic transcript of the proceedings and testimony may employ a competent stenographer, approved by the Local Clearance and Zoning Board. In the event of appeal, such transcript may be used only when certified to as correct by the Local Clearance and Zoning Board.

SEC. 6. Upon the filing of a notice of appeal from any decision of a Local Clearance and Zoning Board, the Secretary shall notify all affected parties.

VI—RESOLUTION UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED BY THE CODE AUTHORIY ON FEBRUARY 16th, 1934

"Whereas, Article VI, Part 1 of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry contemplated that Local Clearance and Zoning Boards should be established prior to January 1st, of each year to set up fair, just and equitable schedules of clearance and zoning to provide against clearance of unreasonable length and/or area, and

Whereas, for the year 1934, the date of January 1st was indefinitely postponed by reason of unavoidable delay in establishing such Clearance and Zoning Boards and

Whereas, the selling season of the industry is but a short time off and it is necessary to simplify and expedite the functions of such Boards and direct their activities and qualify their procedure, now on motion by Mr. Bareford, seconded by Mr. Yamins, it is unanimously

RESOLVED: That Clearance and Zoning Boards shall perform and discharge their duties by receiving any and all protests from members of the industry against any existing clearance and zoning as to their respective theatres alleging that such clearance and zoning is unreasonable in length and/or area, and that the such Boards shall decide the issues raised by such protests after notice and hearing to the parties affected; and that with respect to the time of making of decisions and the procedure thereafter the provisions of the Code shall govern."

VII—OATH FOR APPOINTEES

The undersigned hereby accepts the appointment of the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry to act as a member of the Local Clearance and Zoning Board for the .....Exchange Territory and hereby swears to fairly and impartially determine whatever issue is presented to such Board.

.....L. S.

STATE OF }
COUNTY OF } SS.:

On this.....day of....., 193 before me personally came and appeared .....to me known and known to me to be the person described in and who subscribed to the foregoing and took oath to the statements by him subscribed.

.....
(Notary Public)

See Tariff Bill As Aid to U. S. Films

Enactment of tariff legislation introduced last week in the House at Washington would give President Roosevelt a weapon with which to break down some of the almost prohibitive barriers erected against American motion pictures by foreign governments. Quota blockades against American films exist in almost very important country and millions are lost annually as a result by American distributors.

Under the bill the President would be authorized to increase or reduce existing duties by not more than 50 per cent as a means of consummating reciprocal trade agreements with other governments.

William McKay Dead

William Rupert McKay, inspector of film exchanges for the Ontario, Canada, government for 14 years, died in Toronto this week as a result of old war wounds. His duties disciplinary, Mr. McKay was nevertheless highly popular throughout the industry in Canada.

Tax Liens Against Three

Government tax liens have been filed in Los Angeles against Jean Harlow, Carmel Myers and Greta Nissen. The government claims Miss Harlow owed $2,654 on her 1932 income; Miss Myers $36.37 for 1932, and Miss Nissen $155 for 1931.

Columbia Suit Delayed

The examination of Jack Cohn, Columbia executive, scheduled to precede trial of a stockholder's suit for an accounting, set for last week, had been postponed to this week. Both Mr. Cohn and his attorney, Nathan Burkan, are out of town.

Universal Reopens Lab

Universal will reopen its Coast laboratory late this week under the name of Universal Laboratories. C. Roy Hunter will be in charge, and King Charney will act as outside contact to solicit independent business.

RULES FOR THE GRIEVANCE BOARDS

Rules and regulations governing the modus operandi of each of the 31 Local Grievance Boards are presented herewith, as announced last weekend by the Code Authority in New York. The prescribed form provides for appointments to the boards, their organization, procedure, manner of conducting hearings and of making determinations and the form of oath for each appointee. The Grievance Boards will control competitive relations between exhibitors and distributors in the field and will hear and adjust complaints of unfair trade practices and/or unfair competitive methods.

Because the rules and regulations governing Local Grievance Boards affect the rights of every exhibitor and exchange in the country, they should be studied carefully.

I—APPOINTMENTS

Pursuant to the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, approved by President Roosevelt on November 27th, 1933, the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry has appointed the following to act as members of the Local Grievance Board and the Secretary of such Board, for the.....Exchange Territory, the duration of each of such appointments to be at the will of the Code Authority.

1. Representative of National Distributors with Theatre Affiliation
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
2. Representative of Distributors without Circuit Theatre Affiliation
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
3. Representative of Exhibitors, Affiliated
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
   Associated with.....
4. Representative of Exhibitors, Unaffiliated
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
5. Impartial Representative of the Code Authority.
   Mr....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)
6. Secretary
   Mr.-Miss....., ..., ...
   (City) (State)

The members of the Local Grievance Board shall meet promptly after their appointment by the Code Authority at such time and place as shall be fixed by them.

Prior to such first meeting, each member shall subscribe to the oath in the form attached hereto and shall forthwith transmit such oath for filing with the Administrator, to the Executive Secretary, Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry, 23rd floor, RKO Building, Rockefeller Center, New York City. Thereupon the members shall by majority vote select from their number a Chairman, determine the regular intervals at which meetings shall be held and designate the date of the next meeting.

There shall be transmitted by the Code Authority to the Secretary a complete and certified list of Distributors maintaining exchanges in, and Exhibitors operating theatres served out of the.....Exchange Territory, who have qualified to file complaints with the Local Grievance Board pursuant to Article VI, Part 2, Section 8.

The jurisdiction and authority of the Local Grievance Board and all requirements necessary to properly make any complaint to such Board should be carefully studied by the members of the Board and the Secretary thereof with particular attention to Article VI, Part 2, Section 4.

The Secretary of the Local Grievance Board should become familiar with the provisions contained in the Code which are to be followed in the case of appeal. (Article VI, Part 2, Section 7). The procedure for an appeal is mandatory and must be strictly followed by the appellant.

The Secretary shall be helpful and sufficiently informed so as to answer correctly questions as to procedure. Constant reference to the printed text and to any instructions issued by the Code Authority will prevent mistakes and duplication of work.

II—ORGANIZATION

Sec. 1. Meetings of the Local Grievance Board shall be held in the city of..... at such time and place as shall be designated by such Board. Notice of each meeting of the Local Grievance Board shall be given to each member by the Secretary at least three (3) days prior to the date thereof, except that for a meeting called as provided in Article V. D, Part 9 (b), forty-eight hours telegraphic notice shall be given. Any notice to be given any member of the Local Grievance Board shall be deemed given sufficiently and completely if and when delivered or mailed to such member at his address appearing on the records of the Local Grievance Board. The members of the Local Grievance Board shall not be entitled to nor shall they be paid any compensation for their services. For attendance at meetings, each member of the Local Grievance Board shall be paid the amount itemized in writing by such member and approved by the Secretary, as having been expended by him for railroad fare to travel from his place of business or residence, whichever is nearer, if not in the city of ....., and for necessary hotel room expense not to exceed Five Dollars ($5.00) per day.

Sec. 2. In the case of the absence, ineligibility or incapacity of any member of the Local Grievance Board to act at any meeting thereof, the Chairman shall appoint as temporary member, a member of the same classification from the Local Clearance and Zoning Board, provided that such member is available to serve. In the event he is not available, a temporary member shall be selected unanimously by the members of the Local Grievance Board from the same general class of the absentee member. In the event of failure to obtain a unanimous choice, the temporary member shall be appointed by the Code Authority. The temporary member shall act only for the time during such meeting that such regular member is absent, incapacitated or ineligible. If a vacancy occurs because of death or permanent ineligibility, or permanent incapacity, the vacancy shall be filled by the Code Authority.

At all meetings of the Local Grievance Board the presence of all of the members shall be necessary to constitute a quorum and on all matters the vote of the majority of all of the members shall be deemed to be the action of the Local Grievance Board. (Article VI, Part 2, Section 6b). The impartial representative of the Code Authority shall vote only in case the vote of the other members is evenly divided. (Article VI, Part 2, Section 6a).

Sec. 3. At each meeting of the Local Grievance Board the members shall select a Chairman from their number with full voting rights, to preside at the meeting of the Local Grievance Board and any recess thereof. The Chairmanship of the Local Grievance Board shall be rotated among the members and each member shall in turn be selected to act as Chairman.

Sec. 4. The Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry shall appoint and fix the compensation of the Secretary, who shall be a person not a member of the Local Grievance Board. The services of the Secretary may be terminated at any time by the Code Authority. The Secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of all meetings of the Local Grievance Board and of all other matters of which a record shall be required by the Code Authority. The Secretary shall take minutes of all hearings in such form and to such extent as the Code Authority shall direct, and such minutes shall be part of the record. The Secretary of each Board shall make application to the proper State or Municipal Authority for appointment to administer oaths, and shall at all hearings administer the oath to all witnesses. The Secretary shall issue notices of all meetings and shall perform such other duties as may from time to time be designated by the Code Authority.

Sec. 5. Neither the Local Grievance Board nor any member thereof or the Secretary shall make any commitment for expenditures other than necessary hotel room expense or railroad fare as provided for in Section I hereof, without first obtaining written approval therefor from the Code Authority.

Sec. 6. These rules may be amended and added to at any time by the Code Authority.

Sec. 7. No member of the Local Grievance Board shall sit on any matter involving his own or his company's interest. (Article VI, Part 2, Section 6a).

III—PROCEDURE

The Local Grievance Board may receive and determine only such matters as are specified in a written complaint, sworn to by the complainant, and filed in triplicate with the Secretary who shall forthwith deliver a correct copy thereof to each party complained of and to each party whose interests may be effected by the determination.

IV—HEARINGS

Sec. 1. All parties concerned in any hearing may appear in person or by attorney. They shall be notified of the time and place of hearing by the secretary at the same time the secretary notifies member of the Local Grievance Board.

The authority of the members of the Local Grievance Board to hear complaints is derived from and limited by the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry. Members are not bound by the technical rules of evidence but should refuse to admit evidence which is immaterial or irrelevant. Members are without power or authority to make any determination which shall be at variance with the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry or any interpretation thereof by the Code Authority.

Sec. 2. In arriving at a conclusion, each member should be mindful that his responsibility is as great as that of a judge sitting in a court of law. Each member should be actuated by principles of justice. Members of Local Grievance Boards must be impartial. They cannot be impartial if

(Continued on following page, column 1)

RULES FOR THE GRIEVANCE BOARDS

(Continued from preceding page)

(a) they have any private agreements with either party respecting the subject matter in controversy.

(b) they have any bias or prejudice in favor of or against any of the parties. It shall be the duty of any member having any bias or prejudice in favor or against any of the parties to announce such bias or prejudice prior to the hearing of the complaint.

If the bias or prejudice of a member is established, such member shall be ineligible to sit upon the Local Grievance Board determining the complaint in question.

SEC. 3. Members of the Local Grievance Board should avoid

(a) acting as conciliators. Their duties are not to seek a compromise, but to reach a fair decision and to make a just disposition based solely upon the evidence.

(b) acting as an advocate or agent of any party. Their duties are not to argue or to defend but to hear and decide solely on the basis of the evidence submitted.

(c) expressing opinions or views concerning the parties or the controversy, except in the written determination thereof.

SEC. 4. The members should so conduct the hearing as not to prejudice the interests of either party. They should not receive and should decline to receive private communications, or other information from any source. If any such information is received or in their possession, open disclosure thereof must be made at the hearing, and/or before determination. Each party should be granted an equal opportunity to present his case.

SEC. 5. The members shall observe the following rules.

(a) all witnesses must be sworn. The following form of oath shall be used:

"Do you solemnly swear that in the matter of the complaint of..... ....against.....you will tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God?"

(b) hear in the presence of all members, first, the witnesses of the complaining party and then the witnesses of the defending parties. The members should permit the parties or their attorneys to cross-examine all witnesses and present their own witnesses in rebuttal. The members may during the hearing question all witnesses if they so desire, without unduly interrupting the orderly conduct of the hearing.

(c) permit the parties or their attorneys to briefly sum up their case.

(d) adjourn the hearing to a future date for good reason. Take all possible steps to avoid unnecessary delays to the end that all hearings be expedited.

(e) confer immediately at the end of the hearing and arrive at a determination based solely upon the evidence submitted.

SEC. 6. Members of Local Grievance Boards are cautioned to

(a) refuse to admit evidence which is immaterial or irrelevant.

(b) refuse to consider evidence if no opportunity is afforded for cross-examination of the party or witness whose evidence is offered.

(c) postpone only for compelling and proper causes a hearing already set.

(d) avoid reaching a decision before the close of the case.

V—DETERMINATION

SEC. 1. The determination must clearly reflect the decision of the majority of the members of the Local Grievance Board. Decisions of a Local Grievance Board wherever possible should be unanimous and may be publicized. There can be only one determination. Accordingly, the members should never make a determination which

(a) contemplates further action of any kind by the Local Grieance Board, except as provided in Article V-E, Part 3, Section 3.

(b) reserves to the members further powers or action.

SEC. 2. The Local Grievance Board shall not have power to award damages.

SEC. 3. Upon a determination directing distributors not to enter into new contracts, and not to deliver further pictures under existing contracts (Article V.E, Part 3, Section 3) the secretary shall forthwith notify all distributors.

SEC. 4. All determinations must be in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry, and in accordance with any interpretation thereof by the Code Authority.

SEC. 5. The determination should be certain in its terms and simple in its language. It should state in clear and simple language the determination of the Local Grievance Board. Each determination should be so phrased as to be possible of performance. Each member shall sign the determination indicating whether he votes in favor thereof or dissents therefrom.

SEC. 6. Members of the Local Grievance Board are not required to state the reasons for the conclusions reached, but may do so if they see fit. The members may incorporate their reasons in an opinion accompanying the determination, if they or any of them so desire.

SEC. 7. Any party to a hearing desiring a stenographic transcript of the proceedings and testimony, may employ a competent stenographer approved by the Local Grievance Board. In the event of appeal, such transcript may be used only when certified to be correct by the Local Grievance Board.

SEC. 8. Upon the filing of a notice of appeal from any determination of a Local Grievance Board, the Secretary shall notify all affected parties.

VI—OATH FOR APPOINTEES

OATH

The undersigned hereby accepts the appointment of the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry to act as a member of the Local Grievance Board for the..... Exchange Territory and hereby swears to fairly and impartially determine whatever issue is presented to such Board.

.....L.S.

STATE OF }
COUNTY OF } SS.:

On this.....day of....., 193 before me personally came and appeared .....to me known and known to me to be the person described in and who subscribed to the foregoing and took oath to the statements by him subscribed.

.....
(Notary Public)

MGM, U. A. in Deal

MGM and United Artists have concluded a deal whereby MGM will distribute all United Artists product in South Africa next season. Walt Disney subjects are included. Arthur Loew for MGM and Arthur W. Kelly, for United Artists, concluded the deal.

Studios May Cut To 34-Hour Week

Observers of the labor situation in Hollywood's studios this week indicated a definite possibility that the production branch may reduce working hours from 40 to 34, as a compromise to General Hugh S. Johnson's plea to industry to cut hours of labor to a 30-hour weekly maximum.

Harold S. Bareford, Charles L. O'Reilly and George J. Schaefer, constituting a committee appointed by the Code Authority to conform with the appeal for shorter hours, this week requested studio officials to cooperate with them and start making an analysis of the employment situation on the Coast.

Another development on the labor front was settlement of the long standing dispute between independent San Francisco theatres and projectionists. Under the compromise operators are to receive an increase of 15 to 18 per cent. The present wage being $54 weekly, the new scale will approximate $63. Operators had asked for $84.60, the wage prior to the depression.

U. A. Salesmen Promoted

Harry Lotz and Fred Rohrs, former United Artists salesmen, have been promoted to branch managerships in Milwaukee and Charlotte, respectively. G. I. Bradford has replaced Mr. Rohrs in Kansas City. Walter Loewe of Washington has gone to Charlotte and George Dillon has moved from Atlanta to Washington.

Hoffberg Has Series

J. H. Hoffberg Company is releasing a series of American and Spanish features and shorts with distribution, except in California, New Mexico and Arizona, handled from New York. Spanish International Pictures has the product in California, and Scott Amusement Company in New Mexico and Arizona.

Southern MPTO Meeting Set

The semi-annual convention of the MPTO of Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi will be held at the Chisca Hotel, Memphis, Tenn., April 1-2. Sol A. Rosenblatt has been invited to address the convention.

Billboard Bill Now Law

Governor Lehman of New York has signed the bill which prohibits the erection of billboards within 500 feet of a state parkway or park without permission from the Regional Park Commission.

Majestic Has 12 in Polish

Majestic is releasing 12 Polish films in 100 towns in this country where Polish speaking people are resident. The first, "The Spy," played a second week at the Caruso in New York.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 216.—(A) Is it safe to use a chamois skin for cleaning lenses? (B) How often, in your judgment, should a projection lens be disassembled and cleaned? (C) Describe, in detail, just how you would yourself do the job. Watch your step in this and don't overlook any point. (D) What care should the interior of a projection lens have?

Answer to Question No. 210

Bluebook School Question No. 210 was: (A) What is the total approximate loss of light in passing through cemented surfaces of flint and crown glass? (B) What may we safely assume to be the loss per single lens, or per two cemented lenses? (C) Is the amount of light passed by all similar lenses the same? (E) Describe the process of image forming by lenses?

B. S. Englander of Philadelphia, has protested that I misunderstood his answer to Question No. 207, Section A. He has pointed out that he said, though in different words, just what Doe said. A careful examination of his answer convinces me he is right. Apologies, Brother Englander.

The following made good on 210: C. Rau and S. Evans; D. Danielson; G. E. Doe; B. S. Englander; H. H. Menefee; T. Van Vaulkenburg; W. Lemke; J. Wentworth; R. DeTotto; R. J. Arnston; D. Ferguson; D. Caladone; H. Edwards; J. Morton; B. Doe; H. C. Lake; P. Jackson and B. Diglah; H. D. Schofield; O. L. Daris and M. Simms; W. and S. F. Love; D. R. Peters and D. Holler; B. L. Stephens; N. Williams and R. S. Allen; L. F. Evans and P. T. Jones; F. T. Thompson and F. Daris; J. N. and T. H. Wilson; H. C. Lake; D. L. Mason and J. T. Ballinger; P. Sanborn and S. L. Jones; D. L. Sinklow; G. A. Artley; G. Tinlin; O. L. Evans; F. F. Griffin and C. Abrams; G. S. Bowers; T. L. Albert, T. Leroy and B. F. Errickson; E. L. Conners; M. Gerst; A. Richardson and L. N. Haynes; C. Cummings and T. Kelley; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; D. L. Howard; B. S. Orchade; R. O. Davis and T. L. Turk; L. Biello and R. K. Hart; H. Pedilla and S. T. Carter; M. Sanbie; T. M. Orichson and Son; D. M. Davis; R. L. Oglesby, H. Danby, R. D. Pudello and W. R. Clark; P. S. Mitchel; H. E. Daniels; C. Greene; S. Fletcher; M. C. Lellinger and H. Pitchkey; S. L. Holmes; H. May, H. and L. H. Anderson; S. Carberry; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; H. Schontz and T. R. Richards; D. H. Samuels; G. L. Emrich; S. Jacobs; L. D. Francis; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; R. S. Conrad; D. L. Smith; R. Suler and R. Wheeler; J. Hemmelstene and R. Marteniz; M. Scully, L. Scully and P. M. Wheeler; D. Forman; P. Conforti and C. F. Davis; P. L. Lathrope; J. E. Smith and R. R. Dorfel; C. D. Carmody; L. Hutchinson.

The answer of P. Jackson and B. Diglah to Section A has been selected for publication. They say, "This question deals only with two cemented surfaces, and since they are cemented, there is no surface at all as far as concerns reflection, except the almost negligible one due to a slight difference in refractive index as between Canadian balsam and flint glass. It is almost exactly the same as that of crown glass. The loss thus set up is only about one-tenth of one per cent.

(B) Our friends, Rau and Evans, says, "The loss of light per single lens, at and between the surfaces, may be considered as follows:

"Double convex lens of 1.51 refractive index: Loss at first surface, 4.2 per cent; loss by absorption, .5 per cent; loss at last surface, 4.0 per cent; total loss, 8.7 per cent (approximately 9 per cent).

"Double convex lens of 1.61 refractive index: Loss at first surface, 5.5 per cent; loss by absorption, .5 per cent; loss at last surface, 5.2 per cent; total loss 11.2 per cent (approximately 11 per cent).

"Cemented lens of positive lens of crown glass cemented to negative lens of flint glass: Loss at first surface of crown glass, 4.2 per cent; loss by absorption of crown glass, .5 per cent; loss between crown glass and cement, zero; loss by absorption of cement, .5 per cent; loss between cement and flint glass, .1 per cent; loss by absorption of flint glass, .5 per cent; loss at last surface of flint glass, 5.2 per cent; total loss, 11.0 per cent."

(C) This question was not stated correctly. J. Wentworth says, "I think you 'slipped a cog' in propounding this question. It is likely you meant: Is the amount of equal incident light passed by lenses of like diameter and form always the same? If that be correct, then the answer is an emphatic no. Many things would cause a difference. Assuming the incident light to be of equal character and power in all cases, and the angles of incidence also to be alike in all cases, then the cleanliness of surface, polish of surface, purity of glass—meaning absence of color, etc., and the character of the glass would make a difference in the amount of incident light transmitted."

Brother Wentworth was correct. I penalized no one on this one. The question was not clear. Wentworth is a good guesser.

(D) Believe you me, this was a hard answer to select. I believe, however, that H. Edwards has somewhat the best of it, everything considered. He says, "Assuming an object placed at one of the points of conjugate foci of a corrected lens, light rays go forward in all directions from every one of the innumerable needle points of its surface. Rays from every portion of every needle point of the object are incident upon every needle point of the lens surface, and the lens surfaces are so made and combined that all the rays from each one of the points will be so refracted that they will meet again in a spot at the other conjugate foci point of the lens corresponding to the point they emanated from in the first conjugate foci point, except that their area will presumably be expanded.

"This being true, it follows that at the second conjugate foci point an image of the object will be formed, and if the object needle points be expanded, the image will be larger than the object.

"Another peculiarity is that the image will be reversed in position, or as we usually express it, up-side-down. Still another is that although rays from thousands of needle points of the object meet each other at all points of surface of the lens, they meet at slightly different angles and pass through each other unobstructed."

Writes Amateur Film Book

William J. Shannon, secretary of Moorefield & Shannon, publishers at Nutley, N. J., has completed a book titled "Movie Making Made Easy," in the 219 pages of which Mr. Shannon details nine years of experience as an amateur motion picture maker.

'NOTHING ACCOMPLISHED BY ANTAGONISM'

J. J. KNIGHT, JR., in charge of Paramount Theatre Maintenance

OPEN LETTER TO RESEARCH COUNCIL

[The following communication is indeed an open one, addressed not to this publication, but to Mr. William H. Short, director of the Motion Picture Research Council, an organization interested in the imperfections of the film as thus far exploited. Mr. Knight, the writer, has been associated with the motion picture theatre for many years, in its management and in the supervision of its physical operation and maintenance. He is in charge of theatre maintenance for Paramount Publix. His remarks below, submitted in copy as an open letter, call for no added comment—except that for the practical purposes of the Council, if any, it were better had Mrs. Belmont thus rejected the opportunity of personally meeting Mr. Knight.—THE EDITOR.]

MY DEAR MR. SHORT:

I want to thank you for your letter of March 12, which included me in the group of individuals to have the opportunity of personally meeting Mrs. August Belmont before the luncheon on Wednesday, March 21.

You have known me for a number of years. During a large number of those years of our acquaintance I have gained my livelihood from the Motion Picture Industry. I know many of its weaknesses, and could list many mistakes that have been made. However, I have never felt that the industry was all wrong. Further, I know many of the problems of the independent and small town exhibitor from first-hand contact with them.

▽

I have expressed to you rather frankly in the past, my ideas about the future program of the Research Council. I have been rather emphatic that, in my opinion, nothing can be accomplished through an attitude of reform, or from an attitude of antagonism, directed toward the present industry.

The only positive approach to the objectives of the Council is to produce and distribute pictures that measure up in story, in beauty and in social, intellectual, psychological and spiritual value, as established by the Council as the result of its five-year research. Any other approach founded upon the influence of prominent persons, publicity, legislation, or reform, are negative and will be ineffectual. Not until the Council is prepared to take the risks and the hazards as always befall the "trail blazer" will anything more be accomplished than the creating of a tempest in a teapot.

▽

When the Council demonstrates that pictures, measuring up to their standards, can be produced and distributed, without the aid of block-booking or blind selling, and still return a fair and reasonable commercial profit, the industry will be quick to follow suit. People generally are very willing to be shown, but seldom like to be told how to do their particular job.

I am rather convinced that the trend of the times is harmony and co-operation, and not billigerent resistance or antagonistic refor. This should be considered in planning or plotting the future of the Research Council. If the Council could cleanse itself of its hate, distrust and opposition to the present industry, which is always denied and yet always so obvious in the reading of any of its reports, and realize that motion pictures are the greatest and most powerful media of expression, art, propaganda education and universal social understanding that exists today, and plan to guide that industry to a higher level so that its influence will always be uplifting and not degrading, then and only then will the Council be fulfilling a useful purpose.

All of this is ably implied and stated in the forepart of the pamphlet, "A New Day for the Movies and for the Children," recently received by me. Why, as on page 3, is the statement made, "It has no wish to censor, condemn or hamper the movies," when every conclusion drawn, and every interpretation of the findings of the researches has been condemnation, spelled with capital letters? Again, the program of the Motion Picture Research Council, as printed on page 13, is, first, to abolish block-booking, abolish blind selling, and require a trade showing; second, to inform the public of the findings of the Council, and of course, impress upon the public the conclusions and special interpretations of the Council. It is positively evident that such objectives have been especially selected to hamper the industry. So why is a statement made to the contrary?

▽

Throughout all of the literature disseminated by the Council so great a number of findings are based upon the reactions of motion pictures upon delinquents and subnormals that one can't help but feel that the industry is being judged by its reactions upon the minds of the moron class of this country. Some intelligent parents of this country will resent that implication directed toward their children. To be specific, statements such as made on page 12 of "A New Day" are improper for general publication, and truly should receive weight only as secondary data.

Basically, for better or worse, the Motion Picture Industry, the Banking system, the Aviation industry and Stock exchanges, as well as child delinquency and all other socially unhealthy conditions, are the direct result of the economic system which has us all enslaved today. Why then attack one of these results and attempt to make people believe that it alone is the cause of social evil or shortcomings.

▽

If the objective of the Council is truly to obtain better pictures, then concentrate on that and forget for the time being, at least, blind-selling, block-booking and other trade practices. For, if all pictures were good in the eyes of the Council, then what difference would block-booking or blind-selling make in the average community?

If sincerity has retained any of its moral tone; then in the light of the expressed program for the Council, state the facts honestly. The Motion Picture Research Council's true platform is:

1. To reform the present trade practices (which are not criticized when applied to other industries) of the business of distributing motion pictures.
2. To organize a nation-wide campaign to marshal ublic opinion in support of the Research Council and its findings.
3. To encourage others to invest their money in the production of pictures which the Council will not attempt in its own behalf.
4. To continue its investigation of the subnormal and moronic minds of the country to determine their reactions to motion pictures.
5. To oppose the present motion picture industry in every possible way.

This is a bluntly stated translation of the program so cleverly written and printed on page 13 of "A New Day, etc." Frankly under such plans of action, I don't believe that the Research Council can possibly be successful.

I regret coming to such a pointed conclusion, but the conduct of its affairs by the Council, tending more and more toward a professional reform movement, has left no other course open to me.

Unless the program of the Council be changed to harmonize more nearly with the spirit of the times, and becomes more positive in its effort to demonstrate and lead, rather than force or drive, then I find it necessary to request that my name be dropped from your lists.—J. T. KNIGHT, JR.

ASK CONCESSIONS ON FILMS BY ITALY

Tariff experts in Rome, Italy, have suggested the lowering of Italian import barriers on American films and cotton in exchange for Italian wine and silk imports by America as a means of increasing trade between the countries. The Italian film industry has been stimulated only slightly by Premier Mussolini's protective measures, it is said.

A considerable increase in import duties was announced late last week by the French government at Paris. Twenty-five American products are affected, but not films.

Chicago Mayor Asks More Money for Censorship Board

Mayor Kelly of Chicago last week hit back at film interests by asking the financial committee of the city council for an additional $40,000 for the censorship budget. The request is seen as a counter move to offset the disclosure recently that while local distributors and theatres paid approximately $70,000 a year in inspection and censor fees, the cost of operating the board amounted to only $37,000 last year.

It is reported the mayor proposes hiring additional inspectors with the additional money he believes the board needs. Such action would automatically destroy all hope of local distributors for censorship relief.

Universal will instigate a test case of Mayor Edward Kelly's standing order in Chicago to his police department censor board ordering elimination of riot scenes, at the first instance of such action, last week declared Henry Herbel, Universal Chicago branch manager.

Mr. Herbel denounced the mayor's order as a "step toward censorship of the press." Universal will refuse to make any cuts ordered by the mayor, he said.

Denig Joins Ferguson

Lynde Denig, pioneer trade paper editor, has been named eastern representative for Helen Ferguson, who maintains publicity bureau headquarters in Hollywood.

MGM Plans New "Goofy" Series

MGM plans production of a third series of two-reel subjects titled "Goofy Movies," with explanatory remarks by Pete Smith. Jack Cunningham will supervise.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

SPRING IS HERE

The gentle season seems to be upon us. The air is balmy, kids are playing ball in the park, the sport pages echo to the crack of horsehide, and the wife is alarmingly engrossed in the Easter style ads.

The business of the motion picture also yields to the magic touch of the growing season as a happier note of optimism is heard o'er the land. Mighty good pictures are being released, box office grosses are mounting and there is even a whisper, faint though it may be, that in various quarters salaries may shortly be lifted.

Good ole Spring!

It marks the budding of Easter shows, of egg hunts and style promenades. It means a general house cleaning, a bit of paint here and there, a dab of varnish where it is needed, an overhauling of seat covers and draperies.

It clarions the start of a new season of hope, of better times, and, we trust, better "crops" for those managers who so diligently sow the seed but seldom are allowed to reap the rewards of their labor.

▽ ▽ ▽

IT MIGHT WORK

From our favorite shoe dealer comes a neat business reminder novelty in the form of a pair of new laces. Accompanying these necessary dress accessories is a letter with copy from which we quote: " . . . we got to thinking that maybe by this time you would need a new pair of laces . . . it is our policy to keep in touch with our customers . . . we trust that you will visit us again. . . ."

Not a bad gag, and no doubt the store ad man took a few bows for his ingenuity. He might have dug up the idea by himself, and then again, a like novelty used by his neighborhood theatreman might have brought it forth.

Be that as it may, the thought strikes us that many of the things put over by showmen can be employed profitably by advertisers in other lines and if this be so, able managers now unemployed might do worse than endeavor to sell their ideas or services temporarily to exploit merchandise in a manner similar to pictures. It has been done and is being done, if not by showmen then by advertisers in other fields capitalizing on these possibilities. And while we do not recommend going after the biggest game, adaptations of national tieups might be worked out in local situations.

Not a few high salaried ad men have come from showbusiness, and if more encouragement were given this source of supply by keen merchandisers, perhaps unemployed theatremen awaiting a break might, while marking time, look into the opportunities of this angle for an immediate source of revenue.

A STIMULANT

Speaking before a recent AMPA meeting, guest of honor Mary Pickford remarked on the lack of needed stimulation in present day picture production, and expressed herself at a loss in knowing where to seek it out.

While possessing no blade sufficiently keen to sever this Gordian knot, we timidly offer to point out a possible source of stimulant that might be useful in reinvigorating the somewhat uncertain production pulse.

Among the many capable theatre managers now unemployed for reasons beyond their control, there are quite a few who because of their long years of actual field experience are fitted to bring to the studios a definite sense of picture value that might prevent costly errors and by all means would aid grosses. The thought hardly is original for transition of theatre-trained showmen to efficient picture makers has already proven possible and successful. Need we mention names?

Should Miss Pickford be further concerned or interested, we should be pleased to lay before her a plan by which these sources of stimulation can be quickly and profitably tapped.

▽ ▽ ▽

CONTEST WINNERS

Without going very far back into the records, we note with interest, and not with a little pride, that the majority of prizes in various producer exploitation and advertising contests are taken down by members of the Managers' Round Table Club, in good standing. By "good standing" we mean those who pay their dues regularly by making frequent meaty reports of their theatre activities in boosting the box office take to Club headquarters.

This is confirmed by the results of the Fox Films promotion contest, announced some weeks back, in which the managers finishing in the money were seven Round Tablers out of nine winners. And more recently, the perfect score in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Fugitive Lovers" contest wherein members copped every prize offered, details of which are set forth on another page.

Of course, we are not so brash as to state that one must be a member of the Managers' Round Table Club to be in the money, but it may be of significance to note that wherever these prizes are offered, Round Tablers are usually to be found way in the lead after the final count-up.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Besides poster arting, Don also goes in for a bit of humorous cartooning.

Montreal Knew That "Carolina" Was There

One of the best all round selling jobs on any picture received recently at Club headquarters is that executed by Manager Gene Curtis and Exploiteer Ken Finlay on "Carolina," at the Palace, Montreal. Much was done, little was spent, and a great deal was accomplished. Here are a few of the spotlight stunts that won these boys First Mention in the February Quigley Award competition:

A chain of beauty shops popularized a Gaynor "Carolina" permanent, and advertised this heavily in quarter page ads. Not deterred by the absence of any suitable style stills, the leading department store executives screened the picture, and selected a collar set which was made up and featured in all ads. Prominent restaurants featured "Carolina" chicken dinners, and gave free tickets in conjunction.

Tobacco growing being a theme of the story, a nice hookin was accomplished with an educational display in two of the best windows of a cigar chain, the smoke people supplying stills, etc., showing the processes of the growing and converting tobacco into cigars. Accompanying photo shows how the picture was tied up.

Laundries gave prizes in a coloring contest, numerous broadcasts were arranged, florists made up special "Gaynor" flower ensembles, and other things were done by these lightning-fast showmen, who thoroughly covered every angle with the smartest kind of a campaign.

Work for a Quigley Award!

"Carolina" Tobacco Exhibit

Libraries Cooperate on Golden's "Catherine" Date

Local public libraries were enlisted in Manager J. Golden's campaign on "Catherine the Great" at the Palace, Rochester, N. Y., wherein half sheet cards were displayed in all branches with bulletin board mention being made of the picture, including a list of historical books dealing with Russia.

Among the window displays was a jewelry shop exhibit of a number of antique clocks with copy to the effect that they were used in the period which the story describes, further tying in the title and theatre. Ninety A & P stores also gave the attraction window showings by a tiein with a brand of coffee.

Walgreen's participated by giving away ten one-pound boxes of candy daily as follows: Each package contained a herald with copy to the effect that many of these carried a star which could be seen when held to the light, and those finding this marking were given the candy and also free tickets.

A radio dramatization was also arranged on the Borden National program, advertised with special window cards by all dealers handling this product. The local news agency also participated by advertising the picture in conjunction with a review carried in the Red Book which this company distributed, dealers displaying the review.

Ace Campaign for "Rothschild" Date

The newspaper serial tieup described in last week's issue on "The House of Rothschild" was reported as more than satisfactory advance publicity in building up the opening at the Astor in New York on which a number of other fruitful ideas were worked by the United Artists' ad crew.

The Daily Mirror, now running the story, not only agreed to use a minimum of 50 full pages on the serialization and in advertising matter plugging the story, but is spreading this out over a period of 30 days with a full page streamer head and stills from the picture illustrating the instalment on the opening day.

Western Union and Postal Telegraph both were tied in, this cooperation being detailed in the press book and thousands of lines of free advertising in the New York papers were obtained through other tieups, title and stars of course being displayed. Department stores plugged the fashion and hairdress angles and among the national tieups put across were those effected with Crosley Refrigerator and Ridgway Tea.

Although the many prominent names in the cast were well publicized in the artistic lobby display, the widespread popularity of George Arliss was counted upon wisely to bring in a lot of business, the accompanying photo indicating how the star was billed in the lights.

Work for a Quigley Award!

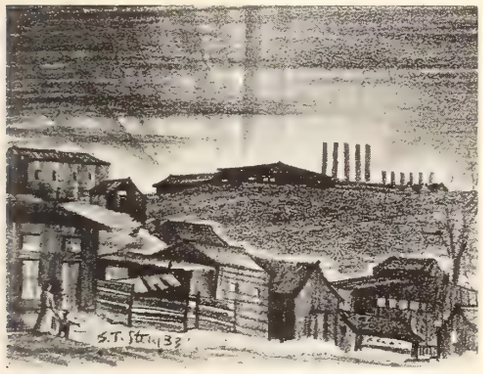
Window Guessing Contests Help Otts' Grosses

C. J. Otts, Palace, Rayse City, Texas, describes an effective idea for what he terms small town advertising and passes it along for the information of showmen in similar situations. Otts secured the use of the windows of a vacant store in which he artistically arranges advertising on coming attractions as far as six weeks ahead.

To insure attention, he conducts a series of guessing contests, changed as often as his programs. The current contest may be on the number of pins in a tray, beans in a jar, pecans in a basket, etc. Blanks and pencils are provided and a box for the guesses.

A few passes are given to those guessing nearest the exact amount and Otts reports that this is sufficient to bring sizeable crowds to these windows regularly, and in many cases results in added business.

Work for a Quigley Award!



Astor Theatre Front

Warner Ad Artist Exhibits Drawings

In their spare time, theatre poster and newspaper ad artists play around with drawings and sketches in one medium or another, and below is a photo of one of the grease pencil drawings entitled "Sun Over Dusk," created by S. Tilden Stern, of Joe Feldman's Pittsburgh Warner ad staff.

Stern is now holding an exhibit of his work, and has received plenty of praise from the local critics for the stuff he has managed to turn out in his spare time. His original contributions to Pittsburgh theatredom, a series of six murals for the Warner lobby, won plenty of bows, which, according to Joe, have only been exceeded by the attention obtained from his more recent efforts, the general theme of which is a journey through spots typical of Pittsburgh industry, such as steel mills, foundries and so forth.

As an example of what the critics had to say, the following is typical—"this man should add a good deal to our art life and one hopes that he takes his pad and pencil wherever he goes."

Stern's "Sun Over Dusk"

Orlove's Institutional Ideas Produce Dividends

There is no doubt but that much of the success of the Uptown Theatre, in Milwaukee, is due to the wholehearted interest taken by Manager Louis W. Orlove in community afairs. Anything that will help his section of the city is campaigned for vigorously by this Round Tabler, one instance of which is a drive now being waged for added transportation facilities with Orlove as the vice-president of the neighborhood's merchants' association being praised editorially for his stand in the local papers, the theatre being mentioned in all stores.

His newspaper standing is good for plenty of publicity on anything appertaining to the theatre, the installation of a wide range sound system, for instance, resulting in a number of half column stories, which included generous mention of coming pictures. And when he books a group of out of the ordinary attractions, Louis does not hesitate to endorse these personally in his advertising. A large mailing list is continually contacted with personal letters, which emphasize the highlights of the various coming shows and detail the interesting angles of the stories. And among other ideas of institutional value is an engraved theatre invitation mailed to neighborhood school graduates of the various scholastic grades, in which the recipient is cordially congratulated.

AWARD PRESENTATION ARRANGED FOR SWEET

Michigan Committee, Headed by G. W. Trendle, Leading Exhibitor, To Honor the February Quigley Winner

At this writing, plans are being culminated for a public presentation of the February Quigley Award to the winner Howard G. Sweet, manager of the State Theatre, East Lansing, Mich. George W. Trendle, president, United Detroit Theatres Corporation, has kindly consented to act as chairman of the arrangements committee and is laying out a program, the details of which will be carried in the next issue.

Every effort will be made to honor the winners of the monthly plaques in some outstanding fashion, and from the number of campaigns already received for the March Award, managers everyhere are going after the big prizes. Entries are getting bigger and better, and plenty of big names in theatre operation are competing.

Deadline for March is Friday, April 6. Judges for March will be announced in next issue. Showmen realize the importance of winning a Quigley Award. Sweet says it is one of the biggest things that ever happened to him, and below is what he did to come out ahead.

Here are some of the highlights of the campaign that copped the honors. East Lansing has a population of 4,000, plus the students attending the State University. It is three miles from Lansing and as Sweet plays pictures before they are shown in the larger city, he is not allowed to advertise in the Lansing newspaper or go into that city with billing of any kind.

Searching for an idea to overcome these handicaps, he discovered an instructor at the college who is a personal friend of Mamoulian, the director of "Queen Christina." Howard called the editor of the college paper and said that there might be a possibility of a visit to the college friend by the famed director, suggesting also that in view of this, Garbo herself might also include East Lansing in her travels. Which, in view of recent newspaper publicity, was deemed more than a faint hope.

The college paper immediately came out with headline stories and Sweet, being besieged by phone calls regarding the supposed visit by the star, merely replied, "We have no information to give out at this time." The Lansing papers picked it up in the same manner and then Sweet increased the excitement by dressing a girl a la Garbo and had her call at the home of the local professor. Not finding him at home, she left word with the housekeeper that she was staying with a friend in East Lansing, which information, of course, immediately spread all over town.

It was all skilfully worked out to the extent that crowds surrounded the theatre in advance and during the run awaiting the visit of the star and Howard built this up further by promoting an 18-inch searchlight from the city airport for use on his roof, the beam of which was seen from as far as

HOWARD G. SWEET

35 miles away and added to the excitement.

Although the stunt featured the campaign, this member put over many other good things, which included profitable tieins with history departments of the college and high schools, wherein the picture was announced in various classes and aid was also given by the local library.

Sweet borrowed 1,000-watt floodlights, which played on the front of the house, decorating his lobby as though he were expecting visitors, covered college basket ball games with herald distribution, obtained many newspaper breaks on the picture as well as the "visit" of the star, putting over all these things at a minimum expense in a campaign that was worthy of situations far exceeding the size of East Lansing.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Frias Centers "Design" Campaign in Newspapers

Over eight full pages of advertising, co-op and otherwise, featured the ace drive put over by Manager Carlos Frias, for "Design for Living," at the Palace, El Paso, Texas, who states that all this did not cost him anything above his regular small budget. Realizing he did not have too much to spend, Carlos went strong for this angle, and by helping the papers round up the advertising, receive a grand publicity break, including a classified contest.

Five separate radio broadcasts were also promoted, the stations themselves going out to buck the newspaper drive by selling these programs to feature "Design" merchandise and to further sell the picture. Some of the best windows in town were rounded up, letters sent to every member of the local women's clubs, gown displays were arranged, and a lobby in keeping with the rest of the campaign helped attract attention.

'ANDORFER WRONG', SAYS HAL

Florida Ad Head Takes Exception To Don's Better Poster Article; States His Views on the Subject

by HAL KOPPLIN

Wometco Theatres, Miami, Fla.

Poster artists as a rule have the unhappy faculty of either thinking they know nothing, or thinking they know a great deal. I have had the good fortune of having been in each category. At this writing, however, I have the misfortune of being in the latter.

As I understand it, the Managers' Round Table pages are an open forum; suitable for discussions pro and con, on any subject dealing with the theatre and its operation. This one, as you may have gathered, deals with the poster artist, a usually temperamental person of whom Mr. Don Andorfer has spoken a great deal.

Mr. Andorfer states that the poster artist is a vital part of an up-to-date theatre and that his artistry should be first, last and always a sales medium. (No argument.) On reading further, we find that all posters should be seventh-eighths illustration and one-eighth copy; that fronts should never have the appearance of a sign shop; that never should a theatre look gaudy; that posters should always look beautiful and never have more than 14 words of copy. That puts me in mind of a poster artist's heaven, but sad as it is, it's not true nor will it sell seats.

I'm afraid that Mr. Andorfer forgets that we're not selling soap, cigarettes or Coca-Cola. We don't have an article that merely needs a beautiful pictorial and a little copy with each new show. In most cases, we're selling an absolutely new article of merchandise probably one hundred times a year. That's something else again. Am I expected to believe that I can sell "Carolina" the same as I sold "Hoopla"—or "What Price Glory" as I did "Little Women"? Am I (or we) expected to believe that a lobby full of beautiful pictorials and just a little copy will just "stand 'em on their ears?" Because if I'm expected to, I don't—and here's why in three words, "I Tried It." Needless to say, the trial was neither successful nor did it last long.

Treats Four Pictures

Just for fun, let's take the four pictures I've mentioned. Some of them aren't new, I know. I just wrote them as I thought of them for comparison. On "Carolina" we might go so far as to let Mr. Andorfer do our lobbies. That's a picture that fits his ideas as far as beauty. But before he gets the job, he's got to understand that it's half picture and half lettering. Don't tell me that Gaynor and Barrymore shouldn't be heavy.

Okay! Let's get to "Hoopla" and real flash. Let's get a lot of red and yellow and green and black, boys. Let's give 'em the works on this. "Hoopla" is a carnival show, so let's give the lobby "guts," and by all means let's let 'em know it's Clara Bow; don't hide her name behind a swell picture. Sure, give 'em swell pictures if they want it, but give 'em big lettering, too.

WHAT HAVE OTHER ARTISTS TO SAY?

Kopplin disagrees with some of the statements Andorfer makes in the poster article on page 70, Feb. 10 issue, and Hal gives us the why of his arguments. What's the reaction to the opinions of these Round Tablers? Articles for or agin' are in order and we will be glad to publish what other poster artists have to say.

Next on the list is "What Price Glory." Sorry, Mr. Andorfer, don't get this assignment, either. We want strong stuff, mostly lettering, even black and white with red flashes, not too much picture. This time we're selling a show that broke the Roxy house record. We don't have to sell this one. All we have to do is let 'em know it's coming. All we have to do on the front is smash 'em with "helluva big lettering." And then we come to "Little Women." Here's one that's triple barreled. It's got Hepburn. It "looped" 'em at the Music Hall and it is from a famous book, besides having a better than middlin' cast.

Here's what we'll do. We'll make some nice pictorials. We'll make lobby setpieces in the shape of books. Our front will probably have a picture of Hepburn on one side, a picture of the book cover on the other side and a heavy Hepburn and a heavy "Little Women" in the middle. We won't go too strong on color, probably browns, yellow greens and creams. Keep it sedate, you know, but still "helluva heavy lettering."

Well, that settles those four pictures I brought up.

Change Is Necessary

As far as some lobbies go, we can do without any pictures at all. Make it look like a sign shop. Just because it does will make 'em stop. After all, instead of beauty, we want business. If we want business we want change. We can't get change with-ous new ideas and just changing colors and star heads won't stand the gaff.

You can talk about layouts if you want to. That's important, believe me. You can talk about pictorials; that's important, too. But do that same style for every picture and a lot of you poster artists will be getting a rain check and won't know why.

As far as I'm concerned, give me a fellow with about 10 per cent art, 10 per cent swearing ability, 10 per cent layout ability, 10 per cent color harmony (or contrast)—oh, I could 10 per cent you to death—so we'll say, give me a boy with some little art, a little bit more lettering, just as long as he is filled with ideas. Ideas and change; that's what I want.

Waugh Cooperates On Screen Course

Although the courses in photoplay appreciation sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English are not at yet being given in many spots, this was successfully conducted by the Central High School of Memphis, Tenn., as reported by Howard Waugh, Warner zone director at that point, who cooperated with the local educators.

Waugh states that this is one of the few high schools to have completed the course satisfactorily and forwards a scrap book gotten up by one of the students which in addition to the representative newspaper and fan magazine publicity carries a number of essays written by the students on their reactions to single pictures and to motion pictures as a whole.

This movement has gained much desirable publicity nationally and as a prestige project should be of interest to other showmen in a position to put it on. Heads of local high school English departments should be in position to supply further information where this cooperation is desired.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Dowling Ties in Auto Show On "Massacre" Contests

Two contests are reported by Manager Ed Dowling, Palace, Pittsfield, Mass., that stimulated interest on his date on "Massacre," both put on at his local auto show where Ed promoted a booth at no cost.

The first contest offered a ten dollar payment nightly on any car in the show to the first one naming correctly all the stars whose pictures were displayed on a large poster (see photo). When the winner announced his preference, this was broadcast over the P. A. system.

Dowling's Auto Show Display

The second contest was a lucky number idea in which paper "feathers" carrying theatre copy and serial numbers were distributed from the booth with free tickets given those who found their numbers posted in the theatre lobby.

One of Ed's newspapers went for an Indian head dress coloring contest, the entries of which were displayed at the theatre and a window display that brought attention was an exhibit of Indian costumes, war drums, tomahawks, etc. An unlooked-for break came about whereby an Indian play put on at the Y. M. C. A. during the run of the picture was promoted for stage showing by Dowling, the characters doing an authentic Indian dance as a prologue.

Members Win All "Fugitive" Prizes

Round Tablers took down all the prizes awarded by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer on the "Fugitive Lovers" exploitation contest, according to announcement of winners by Si Seadler, M-G-M advertising manager.

First prize of $100 has been awarded to Manager J. J. Rosenfield, Orpheum Theatre, Omaha, Neb., for his well rounded campaign embracing a number of angles, the highlights of which are listed below.

Second prize of $50 goes to Manager Morris Rosenthal, Majestic Theatre, Bridgeport, Conn., who featured the radio among other things, a detailed report on his activities for this feature having been publicized in the Round Table, issue of Feb. 17.

Manager Bill Taylor, Loew's State, Houston, Texas cops the $30 third prize for his efforts which covered a number of slants described in this issue, and Manager Ben Cohen, College, New Haven, Conn., did a good enough job to finish fourth, winning $20, his campaign being outlined in issue of March 3.

The contest opened early in January and closed on March 5 and the prizes were offered to theatremen for the best promotion campaigns on the picture.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Rosenfield Promotes Busses On "Fugitive Lovers"

A number of bus tieups were made by Manager J. J. Rosenfield, Orpheum, Omaha, Neb., on his showing of "Fugitive Lovers." Tie-ins with the leading bus companies resulted in the promotion of two bannered buses, one with a P. A. system touring the streets and advertising the picture, and the other planted at various downtown corners offering free rides to the theatre. In both cases the company paid for drivers and gas.

At two of the leading bus terminals, "J. J." had theatre banners attached to the vertical signs over the sidewalk (see photo) and cards were distributed at all stations to incoming passengers. A personal endorsement was secured from the general manager of the bus lines, who also signed letters to all employees requesting that they attend.

Theatre Sign at Bus Depot

A newspaper essay contest was put on with prizes for the best accounts of the most thrilling bus trips and the "reward" cards were placed in many windows and also sniped on corner cans. Theatre cards were planted in all bus depots within 50 miles of the city, and imprinted menu slips were also used in restaurants.

ROUND TABLERS MEET AT NEW HAVEN PARTY

Over 150 Managers and Others Of Film Industry From Many Cities Celebrate Regional Connecticut "Get-Together"

The first "progressive" Managers' Round Table Club "Get-Together," was held by the Connecticut members, on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, in New Haven, this unique event starting at Gregson's Grill at midnight and ending officially at the Paramount Theatre where the guests witnessed an enjoyable vaudeville show and preview screening.

From a score of Connecticut cities and Massachusetts situations, members and their friends including representatives from other branches of the industry gathered at the festive board, some of the guests having driven long distances to join the party.

Arriving at the Grill, the guests were welcomed by Committee Chairman Walter Lloyd, of the Paramount, New Haven, Jack Sanson, entertainment chairman, Morris Rosenthal, Majestic, Bridgeport, Ben Cohen, College, New Haven, and others of the committee. An enjoyable buffet luncheon with all the fixins, including plenty of New Haven-brewed beer was then served during which the theatremen renewed acquaintances as they partied informally.

Eddie Weaver, organist at the Paramount, was the first headline attraction and he kept things going at the piano, with the gang all joining in the good old reliables. Plenty of talent was available among the members, Manager Ben Cohen, and Martin Daniels of his house staff stopping the show with their numbers.

Jack Sanson was on his toes to keep the merriment at a high pitch and was responsible for a flock of laughs with his impromptu gags. By 1:30, the last of the boys arrived in time for a group picture which, incidentally, should have appeared on this page. However, the photographer reports that due to the heat at the party, or some other noble cause, his negatives refused to jell or perhaps did jell and thus the gathering which did so swell a job of remaining motionless while the photo was being "took" will not be rewarded by seeing their smiling countenances as we had planned. Sorry.

All then adjourned to the Paramount Theatre where by the courtesy of Walter Lloyd, Perry Dring, of the Rainbow Inn, presented his floor show from the stage, m. c'd by Jack Sanson who continued his high score of laugh hits. After the show, many of the boys gathered for coffee and cakes and the party continued well into the morning hours.

Though no definite plans have been made, many of those present expressed themselves in favor of another like "get-together" and the committee is expected to convene again at an early period for this purpose.

The committee did a grand job and earned the thanks of the guests for their good work. Especially is Walter Lloyd to be commended for upon his shoulders fell most of the work and he did not miss a bet. Thanks, Walter.

Among those present were:

Walter Aitkensen	F. E. Johnson
S. Aldersman	Adolph Johnson
P. Alonzo	M. Jones
Hal Anderson	Chris Joye
B. Angelo	Morris Joseph
Clyde Barrett	M. Kapland
Bill Barry	Max Kaufman
Wm. Bauch	Morris Kaufman
Hal Bone	S. S. Keller
Felix Bresh	A. Lanboide
Chas. Brennan	George Landers
Geo. Bronson	Hy Levine
Tom Brown	Ed Levy
M. J. Carroll	J. J. Leary
Andrew Casalini	N. Lovietes
P. M. Chula	John Marron
Danny Commings	A. Miller
Ben Cohen	George Miller
Lou Cohen	Arthur Menard
Vincent Connelly	F. S. Morin
Hugh Connors, Jr.	Frank Morris
M. Dailey	Frank Mullen
W. G. Davis	Arthur Murphy
H. M. Daniel	B. Nutile
B. DeLuca	Geo. Oberst
H. Dixson	S. L. Oswald
E. Dolan	R. S. Pasho
Frank Debarbien	John Pavone
Francis Donehy	L. Perrone
Dick Dorman	A. J. Pelrillo
R. Elliano	Al Phillips
H. Eskin	J. Pruckner
Abe Fishman	Joe Reed
Nat First	George Reising
Eddie Fitzgerald	Sam Rosen
E. Fitzpatrick	Morris Rosenthal
Bill Flannagan	A. L. Rucci
Ed French	Jack Sanson
Frank Ferguson	A. A. Sette
R. Gherlone	L. Shafer
Harry Gibb	Jack Shields
M. Gordon	Maurice Shulman
Nathan Greenberg	Floyd Stuart
Barney Grogan	Dave Sugarman
A. T. Hallowell	O. F. Swanson
Moe Hamm	A. Terrazzano
B. Hannon	Max Tobakman
Wm. Hattkoff	Frank Tate
E. J. Harvey	Ed Thompson
Jack Herbst	Chas. Vendetti
W. Hiscock	K. Van Dorn
A. Hillman	N. Villano
Barney Hoffman	Fred Warner
Max Hoffman	Ed Weaver
Bob Hoffman	A. Weir
Hollis Holland	Jimmy Wiest
George Hoover	A. F. Winstrom
Ted Holt	Wm. Worstell
Morris Jacobson	Erle Wright
Mike Jacobson	G. Wright

Work for a Quigley Award!

"Riptide" Contest

The thousand dollars in cash prizes that M-G-M is offering to theatre patrons in a recently announced title-slogan contest on "Riptide" should prove helpful to the gross when used as exploitation on the picture. The idea is rather ingenious as it should stir up a lot of audience interest and curiosity regarding this attraction, the title no doubt having different meanings to different people.

To aid in exploiting this angle, M-G-M has put out a manual containing mats, sample title slogans, synopsis of the story, illustrations of banners and publicity stories, proper use of which should bring returns.

THEATREMEN READYING FOR EASTER WELCOME

Egg Hunts and Rabbit Matinees, Spring Style Shows Are Just Around the Corner; Seasonal Ideas Can Help Tilt Grosses

The end of Lent is upon us and managers who have not as yet completed all their arrangements to stimulate business with Easter and Spring ideas are no doubt planning now to profit on the various box office ideas peculiar to the new season. From our files and from reports already received from the field, we have selected a few different slants for the benefit of those desiring more information.

Spring Style Show

Manager Ralph E. Phillips, Paramount, Mitchell, S. D., reports the first of this season's style shows, entitled "Fads and Fancies of 1934," presented on the stage twice daily for three days. Besides the new Easter clothes, worn in the show by local girls, singing and dancing numbers were also incorporated, the presentation being put on in a thoroughly professional manner.

All styles shown were of course contributed by merchants who also participated in a newspaper double truck, the ads containing pictures of the various local girls in the show. Interest was further stimulated by a contest in which a "Fashion Queen" was selected from among these amateur models.

Fashion show articles and ideas have been published frequently in these pages and will be found in members' files. By cooperating with the advertising managers of local papers, leading women's shops, women's clubs, etc., these can be put over at little expense and when presented properly usually prove mutually profitable to all concerned.

Egg Hunts

With the Easter school vacation, the traditional egg hunt is being planned in many situations to attract the children and by the same token build up prestige among the adults. This idea can be put over in many ways.

Showmen have tied in their Mickey Mouse or other kid clubs, adult lunch organizations, such as Kiwanis, Rotary, etc. One egg hunt was conducted last year by having all the children meet at the theatre and parade to a certain section guarded by the police where eggs were hidden. Many valuable prizes were promoted from cooperating merchants and to insure proper interest everyone participating was given a candy Easter egg free.

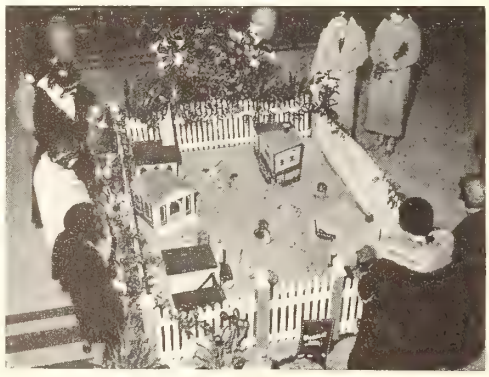
The egg hunt has proven a good business builder and a natural for newspaper publicity. Little difficulty usually is encountered in promoting merchants for the prizes and that this event is a profitable one is indicated by the number of theatre ads which stress these hunts in their copy.

Easter Revue

In situations where sufficient amateur kid talent is available, Easter stage shows have proven more than profitable. The setup entails cooperation only from one newspaper and local dancing schools, the heads of the latter participating in the staging. Arrangements are simplified where managers still conduct their own free dancing school and during the days when Bill Raynor was head man at the Fox, Detroit, he used his theatre dancing school for an Easter stage presentation that usually meant capacity.

Easter Lobby

Besides the regular Easter posters in the form of cutout bunnies, colored eggs, etc., thought might be given to a display using live chicks and bunnies. The accompanying photo shows how an interesting "chicken town" was created by Chris Buckley for the Harmanus Theatre, Albany, N. Y. Note the various toy buildings. The display did not take up much room in the center of the foyer and of course attracted plenty of attention.



In addition to rabbits in the lobby, managers have also used the bunnies as Easter prizes, given away at the kid matinees. Where this is put on, the procedure is to borrow commodious cages and exhibit the rabbits in the lobby in advance. Or if above "chicken town" idea is adapted, cards could be displayed with copy detailing the bunny giveaway. Either way, it's a draw idea and rates consideration.

Florist Tieup

Easter is the season for flowers, which suggests lobby flower shows, florist window displays, perhaps distribution of flowers to patrons at some special show and, if it can be put over, a florist co-op page. Western Union and Postal are going strongly for promotion and should be willing to lend aid, especially from the "flowers by wire" angle.

Members will no doubt use these above ideas and many others to inaugurate the Spring season, reports of which are anticipated and will be publicized upon receipt. Some of them no doubt will be adaptable for use on other occasions, and those of course that are suitable only for Easter will be filed for further reference.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Buckley's Easter "Chicken Town"

Overseas Broadcast For London Opening

An international broadcast was put over by John Armstrong, ad chief of Paramount British theatres, in conjunction with the London showing of "I'm No Angel" by a tieup with the world famed Tussard's Wax Works wherein the first showing of a Mae West wax model was used to promote a transatlantic broadcast.

The Tussard people went for the idea to the extent of making up the wax West free of charge, and a number of leading English stage names and other celebrities also took part in what Armstrong calls the "unveiling," the accompanying photo showing the British comic John Tilley at the microphone with the model of Mae herself.

Not only did John arrange for a cable from the star which broke the papers, but also managed to obtain one of the dresses Mae wore in the picture which was worn by the model at the opening.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Armstrong's Wax-Works Tieup

Sindlinger Uses Press Book Makeup as Tab Idea

The general tabloid press book idea that Paramount used on "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" was adapted by Manager Al Sindlinger, Appleton, Appleton, Wis., in the form of a four page tab.

Al had newsboys cover the entire city shouting "Extra!" and reports that this unusual excitement brought people from their homes to obtain the free papers For a picture of this type, the different makeup of the press book was very much in line and eminently practical as illustrated by Sindlinger's device.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Block Asks Patrons to Select Screen Shows

"Manager's Week" was a designation given a good will builder by Arthur Block, Park, Philadelphia, who featured the idea by distributing a four page folder measuring four inches wide by eleven deep, printed on medium cover stock. The center two pages carried the stars and titles of some fifty picures which patrons were asked to check against, selecting 14 they would like to see during this "week," copy on page one tying this in.

These were distributed at the theatre and also house to house by the staff, which waited until the choices were made and returned them to Block. As a result, he reports that there was a definite pickup.

IMPORTANT

Under the supervision of James P. Cunningham, the Motion Picture Herald is running, in every other issue, a department called the "Code Question Box," in which authoritative and prompt answers are given to all questions on doubtful phases of the Motion Picture Code.

Managers are invited to make full use of this important service. Names and theatres will not be used. This service was inaugurated on page 25, Feb. 24 issue, and appears again on page 29, March 17 issue. Study the questions and their answers.

Remember that many code violations concern the manager as well as the exhibitor. It is the duty of every theatreman to familiarize himself with the correct interpretation of the code clauses relating to theatre exhibition, for his own protection.

When in doubt, write Cunningham.

House P. A. System Used As Vocal Trailer

Manager Charles J. Oliver, Sharum, Walnut Ridge, Ark., recently installed a house P. A. system and manages to stir up a bit of extra excitement every now and then with announcements from the projection booth where the microphone is installed.

The idea was recently used on "Doctor Bull" and some time later on "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen," the announcements being made while the trailers of these pictures are shown. The blast that Oliver put on for the Rogers picture went something like this: "Flash! We offer you the latest news! America's foremost doctor is coming to Walnut Ridge. If you are troubled with the blues, grouch, nervousness, don't forget to consult Doctor Bull, nationally known as Will Rogers, etc., etc."

On "Miss Fane's Baby" he wisely stayed away from the kidnap angle by tying in Exhibitor Jim Sharum, who was supposed to have last seen the baby in nearby Memphis and also used the names of local policemen hurorously, by stressing the laugh angles in the picture.

Oliver says that as the P. A. idea is new in his situation, the novelty has attracted plenty of attraction, but he is not using it too frequently so as not to impair its effectiveness. He shows his savvy in using what might be routine in a big town as a click stunt in his situation.

Work for a Quigley Award!

THRONE STUFF. Manager Irving Dashkin, Savoy, Jamaica, L. I., created the above interesting lobby idea, using a throne and an "emperor" in costume to develop more interest in his attraction. A snappy idea.

Telegrams As Free Tickets Effective on "Alice"

A telegram on holiday greeting blanks to all school principals, P. T. A. heads and other educators played a prominent part in the "Alice in Wonderland" campaign at the Uptown, Pueblo, Col.

Manager H. C. McGarvey and Ad Director Jerry Zigmond used the following effective copy in the wires that sold the picture in a dignified manner, and at the same time utilizing them as guest tickets.

"With 'Alice in Wonderland' motion pictures have entered an experimental field.

"Dinner" in Pueblo

We are happy to present it but we need your support and that of every student to prove there is a definite demand for this calibre entertainment. Will you help us by announcing to students 'Alice in Wonderland' starts Saturday, Dec. 23, Uptown Theatre. Please see the picture yourself as our guest. Present this telegram at door for your admittance."

Jerry also reports on other things done in the past few weeks at the other theatres he publicizes, and accompanying photo shows the front of the Rialto Theatre where a very nice job of selling was done on "Dinner at Eight."

Work for a Quigley Award!

Corcoran Announces Steel Pier Display

Of interest to showmen is the Hollywood Motion Picture Exhibit at the Steel Pier, Atlantic City inaugurated six years ago by Eddie Corcoran, Paramount exploiteer, who informs us that the display will be enlarged considerably this season with several thousand additional square feet of space being allotted to the attraction.

Composed of gowns worn by stars, studio props actually used in production, wax figures, photographs, etc., this exhibit has been viewed by millions of visitors. Space is provided free of course to the major producing organizations, all of which have been again invited to participate this year.

Work for a Quigley Award!

A Clever Idea

"Spinach Show" is the name given to certain of his attractions by Manager Herman Starr of the Cove, Glen Cove, L. I., describing it as the kind of a show "the kids will yell for. Try promising them this show if they eat their spinach. It's a natural."

Herman uses this to plug "Devil Tiger" in his well gotten up four page program which, besides the features of the week, includes some pithy comments on coming attractions written by himself. It's very well done and receives attention.

Club Calendar

FOR APRIL

1st	Easter Sunday
	All Fool's Day
	Wallace Beery's Birthday
	Harry Greene's Birthday
2nd	Sam'l. Morse Died 1872 (Perfected Radio)
	U. S. Mint Established 1792
3rd	Washington Irving Born 1783
	Leslie Howard's Birthday
5th	Elihu Yale Born 1649
	Bette Davis' Birthday
	Spencer Tracy's Birthday
6th	War Declared with Germany 1917
	Army Day
	Peary Discovered North Pole 1909
	7th to 14th National Baseball Week
8th	Battle of Appomattox 1865
	Louisiana admitted to Union 1812
	Mary Pickford's Birthday
	Ponce de Leon landed in Fla. 1513
9th	Surrender of General Lee 1865
10th	George Arliss' Birthday
	Wm. Booth Born 1829 (Founder Salvation Army)
11th	Charles Evans Hughes Born 1862
12th	Henry Clay Born 1777
	Virginia Cherrill's Birthday
13th	Thomas Jefferson Born 1743
14th	Assassination of Lincoln 1865
	Lee Tracy's Birthday
	1st Edition Webster's Dictionary pub. 1828
15th	De Diego's Birthday (Porto Rico)
	Fifi D'Orsay's Birthday
16th	Charlie Chaplin's Birthday
18th	Paul Revere's Ride 1775
19th	May Robson's Birthday
	Patriot's Day (Maine & Mass.)
21st	Rome Founded 753 B.C.
22nd	Cuban Blockade Declared 1898
	Oklahoma opened to white settlement 1889
	Queen Isabelle Born 1451
	J. Sterling Morton's Birthday (Founder Arbor Day)
23rd	Shakespeare Born 1564
	James Buchanan (15th Pres.) Born 1791
24th	1st newspaper issued in America 1704
	Russia-Turkish War 1877
	War Between U. S. & Mexico 1846
25th	War declared with Spain 1898
26th	Confederate Memorial Day
	Slavery Abolished in U. S. 1865
	1st shot of War 1917 between U. S. & Germany
27th	Gen. Grant Born 1822 (18th Pres.)
	Saml. Morse, telegrapher, born 1791
28th	James Monroe Born 1758 (5th Pres.)
	Lionel Barrymore's Birthday
29th	Daylight Saving Time starts
30th	Washington Became 1st Pres. 1789
	Boston settled by Winthrop 1630
	Rhode Island settled 1636

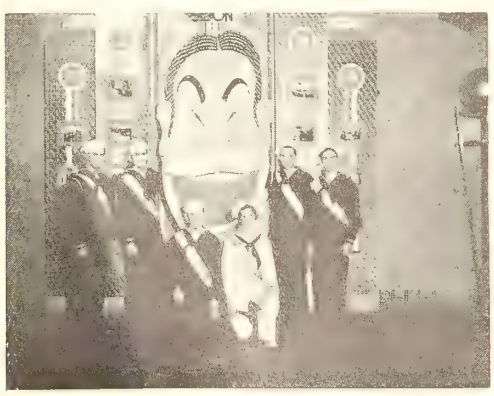
Taylor's Campaigns Make Houston Loew-conscious

"Fugitive Lovers" down in Houston, Texas, created lots of excitement according to the campaign at Loew's State in that spot put over by Bill Taylor of Lionel Keene's division, who reports a number of ideas that kept the town on its toes.

Leading off with a sound truck street gag, Bill switched the usual procedure by sending the bally out into the residential districts at night, broadcasting a reward for the supposed fugitives, the theatre phone number given in the announcement, the stunt bringing numerous inquiries.

A further street stunt was a young couple carrying suit cases with title imprint who appeared in various sections of the city acting as mysteriously as possible to convey the idea that they were "fugitiving." Still a third street stunt was a Sherlock Holmes gag in which a man dressed in costume with all the necessary accessories worked the streets, carrying a sign on his back reading, "I am searching for the Fugitive Lovers." And going even further, Taylor planted a good looking gal dressed in black with a veil over her eyes in various stores, who silently distributed photos of Robert Montgomery.

This member also whipped across a splendid campaign on "Eskimo" without the aid, as he humorously reports, of dog sleds or penguins. A complete collection of Alaskan skins, tusks and Eskimo equipment was secured from a former coast guard member, now a local resident who had witnessed the filming of the actual picture sequences, this being good for a newspaper feature story.



Girls in Eskimo costume distributed heralds, names on school and club lists were phoned in advance, a serial story was planted in one of the papers for five days ahead and numerous other ideas and tieups were put across for satisfactory results.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Regan Spends Little for Many Slants on "Sailor"

That the Huntington Park Theatre in a Californian town of the same name is a subsequent run does not deter Manager F. A. Regan from utilizing every possible angle to put over his programs and his campaign on "Son of a Sailor" is offered as an example of the work this showman and his staff are doing.

As the community is virtually a suburb of Los Angeles, Regan's advance publicity rarely runs more than two days, but on this attraction stepped this up to five days and a tieup with his local paper on a gag line contest which netted a daily two column cut and story. 400 replies were received on this at a cost of ten pairs of tickets each day.

House Staff in Character

In keeping with the theme of the story, Regan had his ushers and cashiers wear sailor costumes (see photo), and also arranged to have a 30-foot banner hung alongside the theatre vertical sign, which was quite an accomplishment, as a local ordinance forbids bannaring of this sort.

A stilt walker street bally attracted lots of attention due to this gag not having been used for several years, and another slant that helped was the promotion of Life-Saver mints which were put into imprinted envelopes and distributed in the business section and at the theatre.

Regan reports that the cost of the entire campaign did not exceed $30, which for what he received in return is an extremely commendable figure.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Annual Boy Scout Party Good Prestige Builder

A good builder that has proven its value is an annual boy scout parade and theatre party at the Hollywood, Detroit (see photo), the most recent held a short time ago by Manager Merrill F. Hanna, who reports much citywide publicity as a result.

The parade was over a mile long and included five bands, further cooperation being obtained from the local Greyhound Lines, which used the busses to gather the musicians and also included these cars in the parade

The route of the march was two miles, ending at the theatre, where, during the course of the program, a prominent local judge addressed the scouts, which Merrill used for publicity breaks in the downtown papers, the Hollywood being a "nabe" house.

Hanna's Boy Scout Parade

Hanna sends along one of his newspaper ads in which the copy emphasizes the necessity of perfect sound and projection in picture entertainment and stresses the modern equipment at the Hollywood. This is a copy slant that should be encouraged wherever sound and projection are good enough to be featured in newspaper advertising.

Work for a Quigley Award!

Uses Herald Review

For the fourth anniversary of the Plaza Theatre, New York's swank neighborhood house, Manager Milton Chamberlin put out an attractive program calling attention to this event. Enclosed in each copy was a review from MOTION PICTURE HERALD on the current attraction "I Was a Spy," in which this publication is fully credited in a box at the head of the review.

Sonny Cracks Editorial On "Roman Scandals"

The goodwill that Sonny Shepherd has built up among his newspaper contacts stood him in very good stead on "Roman Scandals" at the Mayfair, Miami, for in advance of the date, one of the dailies came out with a lead editorial on Cantor and the picture, in a manner claiming the star as a local boy, due to his many visits at the Southern resort.

This, however, was only one of the hits that Shepherd scored, as he tied up with a flock of stores on the music, and also used the coffee tiein in every section of town. Standing out was a Flager Street hookin with a leading store which donated the valuable space in the store lobby to plug their new style "roman sandals." As this is the main street in town, with thousands passing up and down daily, it got the desired attention.

All the better class apartment houses were supplied with heralds, door hangers were also used, and a number of the busier markets went for thousands of imprinted bags and a number of other well executed ideas also helped to bring in the nice business that was reported.

Work for a Quigley Award!

British Member Clicks With Smart Windows

We are pleased to again hear from Round Tabler J. Hobbs, manager of the Empire Theatre, Coventry, England, whose contributions have previously been publicized.

He reports a number of well done window displays on various productions, the accompanying photo illustrating a furniture exhibit on "Farewell to Arms," the idea representing a returned soldier casting off his equipment and coming back to his wife and the comforts of home. In the background is a painted canvas showing battlefields and as the display was put on during Armistice week, it was surrounded with red poppies.

On "The Blue Light," Hobbs created a nice display representing a mountain scene taken from a travel handbook, and so well was it done that it was used in the agency's window. The background showed a range of mountains in front of which was a cutout village, the whole brilliantly lighted.

A "cocktail week" put on to plug "Cocktail Hour" was also successfully executed with haberdashery tieups and in cooperation with various wine merchants who made reductions on certain brands of cocktails during that time.

Brother Hobbs is also a clever artist and proves it with a cartoon which is a take-off on Mickey and Minnie Mouse, who are shown at a dinner table ready to feast on various and many tempting dishes upon which are lettered the coming features.

Hobbs' "Farewell" Window

personalities

GEORGE ELLIS
formerly of Uniontown, Pa., has been made city manager of the American and State Theatres, East Liverpool, Ohio. FRED E. WILSON, his former assistant, has joined him in Ohio.

▽

MERLYN ELLSWORTH
for the past nine years managing the Tivoli in Los Angeles has joined Fox West Coast where he will handle the Gateway at Glendale, Cal.

▽

C. P. SCATES
replaced E. C. O'KEEFE as manager of the Fox at Billings, Mont. E. C. DIAMOND is managing the Orpheum, Salt Lake City.

▽

FRANK M. MURPHY
appointed manager at the Stadium, Woonsocket, R. I., and THOMAS KELLEY, manager of the Strand, Brockton, Mass.

▽

BEN WESHNER
succeeds Cohn at the Capitol, Belleville, N. J., and more Warner Jersey changes include RAY COHN from the Capitol, Belleville, to WILLIAM GOLDMAN'S place as manager of the Cameo, South Orange. JULES FIELDS succeeds WILLIAM MICHAELSON at the De Witt, Bayonne.

▽

JACK GROSS
is the new manager of the RKO Hillstreet Theatre in Los Angeles, Cal.

▽

W. L. WADLOW
has purchased the Sun Theatre at Walthill, Neb.

▽

HARRY G. GRIFFIN
has been named manager of the Ritz, St. Petersburg, Fla.

▽

ROY FULLER
is opening the New Theatre at Cleburne, Tex.

▽

P. M. RECHERD has purchased the Playhouse Theatre at Louisville, Neb.

▽

C. L. PECKHAM
has taken over the management of the Strand, Blue Springs, Neb.

▽

FOREST COKER
has been appointed manager of the Rialto Theatre, Lucas & Jenkins house, at Macon, Ga. Congratulation, Forest!

▽

JOSEPH KNOX
formerly manager of the E. M. Loew Music Hall, Pawtucket, R. I., is now handling the Strand, Peabody, Mass.

▽

FLOYD BELL
is doing the publicity for the new Collidge Corner in Brookline, Mass.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE!

Here's another of Andy Beiter's, artist at the Tampa, Tampa, Fla. The moon in this display was suspended by wire and lighted. He used a cloud effect machine on the back, giving the impression that the girl was moving through the sky.

MAURY FOLADARE
recently manager of the Evergreen State Theatres at Wenatchee, Wash., has been transferred to Portland as manager of the Evergreen Liberty Theatre here.

▽

R. A. GILL
has acquired the Victory Theatre, Carthage, Tex., from W. R. Holcombe. Gill formerly managed the Rita at Nacogoches.

▽

DEL PADGETT
has taken over the management of the Ritz Theatre at Clearwater, Fla.

▽

A. L. MULL and DAN MATHEWS have purchased the Pastime Theatre at Easley, S. C.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB OF MOTION PICTURE HERALD

CLUB PIN

Managers' Round Table Club, Motion Picture Herald, 1790 Broadway, New York. • Send postpaid the number of pins noted below, for which payment is enclosed at $1.00 each (Actual pin is 3/8 of an inch in diameter.)

MEMBER _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

J. W. STRICKLAND and L. DANIELS have opened their new theatre at Cooledge, Tex.

▽

EARL DRAPER
is skippering the Nira Theatre at Tipton, Okla., and Mrs. Draper is at the helm of the Rialto, Crowell, Tex.

▽

H. W. SCHWAB
operator of the Third Avenue Theatre announces that R. D. Moore, formerly of Oregon City, has been named manager of the well-known Burnside Street house.

▽

W. H. BURT
former manager of the Isis, at Greenriver, Utah, has taken over the Gem, at Montpelier, Idaho.

▽

MITCHELL CONERY
has replaced Tom Olsen in Bellefontaine, Ohio, where he manages the Schine's houses. Tom has been promoted to district manager with headquarters in Lima.

▽

RICHARD HILSHER
assistant manager of the Stanley in Chester, Pa., has been transferred to the Queen in Wilmington, Del., which house he will manage.

▽

RAY HENDRY
manager of the Capitol, Salt Lake, promoted to theatres supervisor of all the Marcus houses in Utah and Idaho. Ray replaced by CLAIRE WOODS, resigned manager of the Colorado, in Pueblo.

▽

BEN BLOOMFIELD
has left the Oriental in Chicago to the McVickers and CHARLES COTTLE will handle the Oriental.

▽

BILL SCHELL
manager of Warners' Kenyon in Pittsburgh, has left to manage the Ambridge in Ambridge, Pa.

▽

FRANK HOLLER
has replaced GEORGE ALLISON as manager of the Roosevelt in Union City, N. J.

▽

STANLEY CHAMBERS
has been named manager of the Fox Uptown in Kansas City, Mo.

▽

CLYDE STROCK
is the new house manager at the Metropolitan Theatre in Boston, Mass. TOM WAHL is his assistant.

▽

E. GARY RAMSEY
is managing the Denmark Theatre in Denmark, Wis. House is a 300-seater with four changes a week.

▽

S. S. STEVENSON
has reopened the Hillsboro Theatre, in Hillsboro, N. C.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

The spirit of cooperation and whole hearted enthusiasm evinced by some 500 representatives from all branches of the industry at the testimonial dinner tendered Aaron Saperstein at the Medinah—Michigan Club last Tuesday necessarily eclipses in importance the usual chatter of this column. It was easily one of the grandest and at the same time one of the most beneficial parties held in recent years.

▽

This was to be Mr. Saperstein's party and it was—until he was called to the floor to make a few remarks. Then Mr. Saperstein turned it into a great rally for the relief of local unemployed and before the evening was over the local citizenry had done itself proud to the nth degree by raising in voluntary contributions more than $1,500 toward the fund that is to carry the industry through its relief work during the next year.

▽

This move becomes especially significant when it is realized that the sum raised at the Saperstein party is just so much "gravy," coming ahead of the second annual Theatre and Film Relief Dinner Dance, Friday.

▽

After Mr. Saperstein started the ball rolling it was given further impetus by Jack Miller in typical Miller fashion. Then the spirit caught Clyde Eckhardt and he got right down to cases with an initial contribution of $50.

▽

From this point, with Mr. Eckhardt as chief ballyhooer, the spirit engendered is probably best described in the following partial list of donors and amounts that literally rolled in:

▽

Essaness Theatres, $200. From the following, $50: Lou Harrison, Joseph Stern, Jack Rose, Van Nomikos, Ludwig Sussman, Kooler Aire Corporation, Tom Flannery, Aaron Saperstein, Moe Lasker, Ben Lasker. From the following, $25: H. Goldberg, George Evans, Guercio & Barthel, H. S. Lorch, Saul Meltzer, Edward Trinz, Johnny Mednikow, Earl Silverman, United Artists Exchange, Max Gumbiner, Al Simons, Irving Mack, Nate Gumbiner, Film Carriers' Union, Photoplay Advertising Company, Edward Grossman, Lester Retchin, Charles Golin, Wolf & Choyinski, Bland Brothers, Abe Feder, Joseph Sandman, Harry Tague, Henri Ellman.

▽

Among those contributing $10 were Harold Abbott, M. Reingold, Max Levin, Walter Babitz, Haferkamp & Hill, Midwest Ticket Company, Harry Lessman, M. O. Wells, Dave Goldman, Gollos Bros. Contributions of $5 were forthcoming from Louis Rudolph, Joseph Pastor, Hirschberg Bros., Rube Lowenthal, Jerry Abrams, Herb Washburn, Jack McPherson, Abe Auerback, Jacob Gross. If there were other contributors, this column begs indulgence for the omission.

▽

As this is written, tickets are going like hot cakes for the big event March 23 which will be history when this column is gleaned locally. But that the local industry will have come through in a way to challenge the attention of the entire industry in its local relief work is easily a safe prediction.

HOLQUIST

Jolson Writing Autobiography

Al Jolson, star of Warner's "Wonder Bar," is writing his autobiography. The material is being gathered by Al Sherman, film critic of the New York Morning Telegraph, who will collaborate with Mr. Jolson.

United Air Lines Report Increase of Air Service

United Air Lines is maintaining its three coast-to-coast passenger-express planes daily, despite the cancellation of airmail contracts, the company has announced. K. A. Kennedy, general traffic manager, reports that motion picture companies, during the past year, have substantially increased their use of air express, the company's service having increased 176 per cent in 1933 over the previous year. United Air Lines uses the Railway Express Agency as the pickup and delivery system.

SHORT PRODUCT PLAYING BROADWAY

Week of March 17

ASTOR
- Playful Pluto ..... United Artists

MAYFAIR
- Rip Van Winkle ..... Educational
- Gold Diggers of 1943 ..... Capital
- Autobuyography ..... RKO Radio

PARAMOUNT
- Man on the Flying Trapeze ..... Paramount
- Petting Preferred ..... Paramount

RKO MUSIC HALL
- Derby Decade ..... RKO Radio
- Candy House ..... Universal
- Outdoing the Daredevils ..... Fox
- Mediterranean Blues ..... Educational

RIALTO
- Lazy Bones ..... Paramount
- Dirty Work ..... MGM
- Screen Souvenirs—No. 9 ..... Paramount

RIVOLI
- Music Memory ..... FitzPatrick
- Camping Out ..... United Artists

ROXY
- Just Dogs ..... United Artists
- Strange As It Seems—No. 36 ..... Universal
- Goofytone News—No. 5 ..... Universal

STRAND
- Pettin' in the Park ..... Vitaphone
- Wrong, Wrong Trail ..... Vitaphone
- Spanish America ..... Vitaphone

American Airways Has New Service for Shipper

A new air express service, enabling film shippers and consignees to check the progress of transcontinental shipments in transit, has been announced by American Airways. Key cities along the route are required to report to the company's New York and Los Angeles offices the exact time a shipment has cleared through that point. Both the shipper and consignee are informed of the progress of the shipment by telephone. Film leaving Los Angeles at 9:30 a.m. is delivered in New York the following evening, according to the company.

Prepare Stavisky Script

Moe Wax and Ronald Bank are preparing a screen play based on the Stavisky scandal in France. It will be titled "The Boulevard Swindler." The two have established a screen writing service in New York

TRAVELERS

Grover Jones, Paramount writer-director, sailed for England.

Miriam Hopkins returns to Hollywood Friday, from New York, to resume at Paramount.

Jean Hersholt, MGM player, arrived in New York.

Howard Cullman, Roxy theatre receiver, was in Washington.

Bertram Millhauser arrived at Burbank, from Broadway, to resume writing for Warners.

Joseph Bernhard, Warner circuit head, returned to New York from Coast.

Sol Wurtzel, Fox production official, arrived in New York to buy stories. He will return March 30 with Hamilton MacFadden, director.

Helen Kane arived in New York from Coast.

Jimmy Durante and Polly Moran, Metro players, arrived in New York for Capitol theatre appearances.

Richard Arlen, Paramount player, sailed for Europe.

Agnes De Mille left New York for Paramount stoudio on coast.

Katharine Hepburn, Radio star, sailed for Europe.

Rupert Hughes sailed from New York for California.

Evelyn Laye, Gaumont-British star, returned to London.

Gregory Ratoff sailed for Europe.

David Chatkin, of Monarch Theatres circuit, was in New York from Cleveland.

Milton Beecher, MGM home office publicist, left for studio conferences at Culver City, accompanied by Fred Wilcox, assistant director.

Joseph Seidelman, Paramount foreign head, sails from London for New York next week.

E. W. Hammons, Educational president; Jack Skirball, sales manager, and Harvey Day, Paul Terry's representative in Educational, returned from tour of Fox exchanges.

Ramon Novarro is due in New York next week to start South American trip.

Jack L. Warner, coast production chief for Warners, was in New York to confer with Harry M. Warner, president, before he sailed for Europe. Sam Sax, Vitaphone production executive, accompanied Harry Warner.

Harold B. Franklin arrived on Coast from New York to discuss independent production plans.

Sam Krellberg, of Amusement Securities, returned to New York from coast.

Samuel Goldwyn arrived on Coast from New York.

Lanny Ross returned to radio broadcasting in New York, from Paramount's Hollywood studio.

Dr. Julius Klein, reorganization advisor to Paramount Publix bondholders' committee, returned to New York from Florida.

Lou Metzger arrived in New York from Coast to sail for Europe to sell "Elysia."

Nicholas M. Schenck, MGM president, accompanied by E. B. Hatrick, Hearst newsreel representative, returned to New York from Coast.

Charles C. Pettijohn returned to New York from Patman bill hearing at Washington.

Richard Rowland arrived on Coast from New York for production conferences.

Bill Danziger arrived in New York from Hollywood.

Betty Furness left New York for Monogram studio on Coast.

Robert Sherwood arrived in New York from Hollywood.

Jules Levy arrived in Hollywood from New York.

Arthur Loew sailed for Europe.

Arthur Kelly, foreign head for United Artists, left New York for Coast, en route to Australia.

Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied States, left New York for southern cruise.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey	Nov. 1	68	Oct. 14

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cross Streets	John Mack Brown - Claire Windsor - Anita Louise - Kenneth Thomson	Jan. 22,'34	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evelyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher - Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62	Jan. 13,'34
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Murder on the Campus	Charles Starrett-Shirley Grey	Dec. 27	73	Feb. 17,'34
Quitter, The	Emma Dunn-Charley Grapewin-Barbara Weeks - Wm. Bakewell	Feb. 5,'34	65
Rainbow Over Broadway	Jean Marsh-Frank Albertson	Dec. 1	70
Stolen Sweets	Sally Blane-Charles Starrett	Mar. 15,'34	75
Twin Husbands	John Miljan - Shirley Grey - Monroe Owsley	Feb. 25,'34	62

Coming Feature Attractions

Together Again	Onslow Stevens-Lila Lee-Dickie Moore	Apr. 1,'34

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67	Jan. 20,'34
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18	63	Jan. 20,'34
East of Fifth Avenue	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76	Dec. 30
Fighting Code, The	Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair	Dec. 30	65
Fighting Ranger, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Mar. 17,'34	62
Fog	Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny	Nov. 22	69	Jan. 13,'34
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 28	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
It Happened One Night	Clark Gable-Claudette Colbert	Feb. 23,'34	105	Mar. 3,'34
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10	66
Let's Fall in Love	Ann Sothern-Edmund Lowe	Dec. 26	64	Jan. 13,'34
Line-Up, The	William Gargan-Marian Nixon	Mar. 17,'34	65
Man Trailer, The	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	Mar. 24,'34
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4	75	Jan. 6,'34
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28	68	Dec. 9
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Ninth Guest, The	Donald Cook-Genevieve Tobin	Jan. 31,'34	69	Mar. 10,'34
Once to Every Woman	Fay Wray - Walter Connolly - Ralph Bellamy	Jan. 15,'34	70
Shadows of Sing Sing	Bruce Cabot - Mary Brian	Dec. 3	65	Mar. 3,'34
Social Register	Colleen Moore-Alexander Kirkland	Mar. 10,'34	74
Speed Wings	Tim McCoy-Evelyn Knapp	Feb. 5,'34	62
Straightaway	Tim McCoy-Sue Carol	Dec. 22	60	Jan. 27,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Moon	Jack Holt
Hell Bent for Love	Tim McCoy-Lillian Bond
Lady Is Willing, The	Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes		76	Feb. 10,'34
Most Precious Thing in Life	Jean Arthur - Donald Cook - Richard Cromwell
Murder in the Studio	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey
No Greater Glory	Frankie Darro - Lois Wilson - George Breakston		70	Mar. 10,'34
One Is Guilty	Ralph Bellamy-Shirley Grey	Mar. 31,'34
One Night of Love	Grace Moore-Tullio Carminati
Party's Over, The	Stuart Erwin-Ann Sothern
Sisters Under the Skin	Elissa Landi-Joseph Schildkraut-Frank Morgan
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 10,'34.)
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi		84	Oct. 21
Twentieth Century	John Barrymore-Carole Lombard
Voice in the Night	Tim McCoy-Billie Seward
Whirlpool	Jack Holt-Lila Lee-Jean Arthur

DU WORLD PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Death Over Shanghai	Else Elster-Ralf Osterman	Dec. 15	62
Fantomas	Jean Galland	Feb. 15,'34	59
Girl in the Case	Jimmy Savo - Eddie Lambert - Dorothy Darling	Mar. 15,'34	60
Queen of the Underworld	Hans Albers - Charlotte Susa - Wera Engels	Jan. 5,'34	65

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dassan		Dec. 22	36	Dec. 30
Eat 'Em Alive		Nov. 3	56	Nov. 18
He, King of Virtue	Fernandel-Colette Darfeuil	Dec. 26	58
Throne of the Gods		Dec. 22	55	Dec. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Forgotten Men	War Film	Apr. 1,'34	84	May 27,'33
Road to Ruin	Helen Foster-Paul Page	May 15,'34	58	Feb. 24,'34

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bedside	Warren William	Jan. 27,'34	65	Mar. 17,'34
Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez	Jan. 6,'34	64	Feb. 17,'34
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor	Dec. 30	69	Dec. 9
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson	Feb. 3,'34	72	Nov. 25
Fashions of 1934	William Powell-Bette Davis	Feb. 17,'34	78	Jan. 13,'34
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Havana Widows	Jean Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18	62	Dec. 2
Journal of a Crime	Ruth Chatterton	Mar. 10,'34	65
Mandalay	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez	Feb. 10,'34	66	Feb. 24,'34
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak	Jan. 20,'34	69	Jan. 27,'34
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23	73	Dec. 9
Wild Boys of the Road	Frankie Darro-Dorothy Coonan	Oct. 7	68	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Circus Clown, The	Joe E. Brown
Dark Tower	Edward G. Robinson - Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez
Dr. Monica	Kay Francis-Warren William
Registered Nurse	Bebe Daniels-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 7,'34	62
Rhythm in the Air	Dick Powell - Ginger Rogers - Pat O'Brien	May 26,'34	80
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17,'34.)
Very Honorable Guy, A	Joe E. Brown-Alice White	May 5,'34	62
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 24,'34.)
Woman in Her Thirties, A	Aline MacMahon - Paul Kelly - Ann Dvorak	May 19,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17,'34.)
Wonder Bar	Al Jolson-Dick Powell-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Kay Francis	Mar. 31,'34	84	Feb. 17,'34

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
As Husbands Go	Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson	Dec. 29	78	Nov. 18
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Carolina	Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Henrietta Crossman	Feb. 2,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Coming Out Party	Frances Dee-Gene Raymond	Mar. 9,'34	60	Jan. 27,'34
Constant Nymph, The	Victoria Hopper-Brian Aherne	Mar. 23,'34	84
David Harum	Will Rogers-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 2,'34	88	Mar. 3,'34
Devil Tiger	Kane Richmond-Marion Burns	Feb. 16,'34	60	Feb. 17,'34
Ever Since Eve	George O'Brien-Mary Brian	Feb. 9,'34	72
Frontier Marshal	George O'Brien-Irene Bentley	Jan. 19,'34	68	Feb. 10,'34
George White's Scandals	Rudy Vallee - George White - Alice Faye-Jimmy Durante	Mar. 16,'34	80	Mar. 17,'34
Hold That Girl	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Feb. 16,'34	65
Hoopla	Clara Bow-Preston Foster	Nov. 30	78	Dec. 9
I Am Suzanne!	Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond	Jan. 5,'34	85	Jan. 27,'34
I Believed in You	Victor Jory - John Boles - Rosemary Ames	Feb. 23,'34	65	Feb. 17,'34
I Was a Spy	Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll - Conrad Veidt	Dec. 15	75	Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally	James Dunn-Claire Trevor	Nov. 24	68	Dec. 23
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy-Claire Trevor	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Mr. Skitch	Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts	Dec. 22	70	Dec. 16
My Lips Betray	Lillian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17	66	Oct. 28
Orient Express	Heather Angel-Norman Foster	Jan. 12,'34	72	Mar. 10,'34
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Sleepers East	Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster	Jan. 26,'34	69
(See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)
Smoky	Victor Jory-Irene Bentley	Dec. 8	69	Dec. 9
Three on a Honeymoon	Sally Eilers-Johnny Mack Brown	Mar. 23,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

All Men Are Enemies	Hugh Williams - Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 27,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 10,'34.)
Bottoms Up	Pat Paterson - Spencer Tracy - John Boles	Apr. 13,'34	85	Mar. 10,'34
Cats-Paw, The	Harold Lloyd-Una Merkel
Change of Heart	Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell-Ginger Rogers-James Dunn
Charlie Chan's Courage	Walter Connolly
Merry Andrew	Will Rogers-Peggy Wood
Murder in Trinidad	Heather Angel - Victor Jory - Preston Foster	Apr. 8,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)
Now I'll Tell	Spencer Tracy-Alice Faye-Helen Twelvetrees
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Charles Boyer		95	Aug. 12
Springtime for Henry	Otto Kruger - Nancy Carroll - Heather Angel
Stand Up and Cheer	(All-Star Musical)	Mar. 30,'34
Too Many Women	Warner Baxter-Rosemary Ames	May 18,'34
Wild Gold	John Boles-Claire Trevor
World Moves On, The	Madeleine Carroll - Franchot Tone

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love Past Thirty	Aileen Pringle - Theodore Von Eltz	Jan. 27,'34	73
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 22	78	Mar. 17,'34
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22	60

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		78	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang		71
Dick Turpin	Victor McLaglen	May 15,'34	70
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		70	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Friday the 13th	Jessie Matthews
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert	Dec. 1	71	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff	Feb. 15,'34	75	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo		88
Love In Morocco	Rex Ingram	Dec. 1	73	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker		91
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Mademoiselle Zaza (Reviewed under the title, "Aunt Sally.")	Cicely Courtneidge-Sam Hardy		82	Mar. 3,'34
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr		77
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	Dec. 1	77	June 10
Night of the Party, The	Leslie Banks		62	Mar. 10,'34
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason	Apr. 15,'34	87	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Matthews	Dec. 1	79	Mar. 11
Turkey Time	Tom Walls-Ralph Lynn		71
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	81	Aug. 12
Woman in Command, The	Cicely Courtneidge - Edward Everett Horton		80

GOLDSMITH PRODUCTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Carnival Lady	Boots Mallory-Allen Vincent	Sept. 15	69	Feb. 17,'34
Woman Unafraid	Lucille Gleason - Richard "Skeets" Gallagher	Feb. 15,'34	68

Coming Feature Attractions

Born to Hang	All Star Cast	June 15,'34
I Hate Women	Wallace Ford-June Clyde	Apr. 15,'34

LIBERTY PICTURES

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheaters	"Bill" Boyd-Dorothy Mackaill-June Collyer
Mad Honeymoon, The
No Ransom	Phillips Holmes-Lelia Hyams
School for Girls
Take the Stand..	Jack LaRue-Thelma Todd
Two Heads on a Pillow
When Strangers Meet	Richard Cromwell-Arline Judge
Without Children

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title, "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Dec. 8	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74	Feb. 17,'34
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title, "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Jan. 1,'34	63	Oct. 28
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec. 13	65	Dec. 30
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 24	74	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Unknown Blonde	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Barbara Barondess - Dorothy Revier		67

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70
What's Your Racket?	Regis Toomey-Noel Francis	Dec. 1	70	Mar. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Badge of Honor		Apr. 1,'34

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Feb. 16,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	66	Dec. 9
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24	94	Nov. 25
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt	Jan. 12,'34	113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast	Jan. 19,'34	117	Nov. 18
Fugitive Lovers	Robt. Montgomery-Madge Evans	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby	Dec. 22	79	Dec. 16
Her Sweetheart (Reviewed under the title, "Christopher Bean")	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87	Nov. 18
Lazy River	Jean Parker-Robert Young	Mar. 16,'34	77	Mar. 10,'34
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Mystery of Mr. X	Robt. Montgomery - Elizabeth Allan	Feb. 23,'34	85	Mar. 3,'34
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 18
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert	Feb. 9,'34	103	Dec. 30
Should Ladies Behave? (Reviewed under the title, "The Vinegar Tree")	Alice Brady-Lionel Barrymore-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1	78	Nov. 11
Show-off, The	Spencer Tracy-Madge Evans	Mar. 9,'34	80	Mar. 3,'34
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy	Dec. 29	68	Jan. 20,'34
This Side of Heaven	Lionel Barrymore-Fay Bainter	Feb. 2,'34	75	Jan. 27,'34
Women in His Life, The	Otto Kruger-Isabel Jewell-Ben Lyon	Dec. 8	76	Feb. 3,'34
You Can't Buy Everything	May Robson-Jean Parker	Jan. 26,'34	85	Feb. 10,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Hollywood Party	(All Star Musical)	Apr. 20,'34
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez	Apr. 13,'34
Manhattan Melodrama	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy-William Powell
Men In White	Clark Gable-Myrna Loy		75	Feb. 17,'34
Operator Thirteen	Marion Davies-Gary Cooper
Riptide	Norma Shearer - Robert Montgomery - Herbert Marshall	Mar. 30,'34	93
(See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17,'34.)
Sadie McKee	Joan Crawford-Franchot Tone
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan	Apr. 6,'34
Viva Villa! (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Wallace Beery-Fay Wray

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beggars in Ermine	Lionel Atwill	Feb. 22,'34	72	Feb. 24,'34
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68	Nov. 4
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill	Dec. 15	63
Lucky Texan, The	John Wayne	Jan. 22,'34	56	Jan. 27,'34
Mystery Liner	Noah Beery - Astrid Allyn - Cornelius Keith	Mar. 15,'34	62
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	58	Jan. 27,'34
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne	Dec. 15	58	Dec. 23
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neil-Creighton Chaney	Jan. 1,'34	57	Feb. 10,'34
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14
West of the Divide	John Wayne-Virginia B. Faire	Feb. 15,'34	55	Jan. 20,'34
Woman's Man	John Halliday-Marguerite de la Motte-Wallace Ford	Feb. 7,'34	64	Jan. 27,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Blue Steel	John Wayne
City Limits	Ray Walker-Sally Blane-Frank Craven	Apr. 15,'34
Derby Day
House of Mystery, The	Verna Hillie-Ed Lowry	Mar. 30,'34	62
Jane Eyre
Loudspeaker, The	Ray Walker-Jacqueline Wells
Man from Utah, The	John Wayne
Manhattan Love Song	Dixie Lee-Robt. Armstrong	Apr. 30,'34
Money Means Nothing	Wallace Ford-Gloria Shea
Numbers of Monte Carlo	Mary Brian-John Darrow
Star Packer, The	John Wayne

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry	Dec. 22	75	Dec. 16
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Jan. 19,'34	71	Jan. 13,'34
Bolero	George Raft-Carole Lombard	Feb. 23,'34	80	Feb. 17,'34
Come On, Marines	Richard Arlen-Ida Lupino	Mar. 23,'34	68	Mar. 10,'34
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Dec. 29	88	Nov. 25
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Jan. 5,'34	78	Dec. 30
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland	Jan. 26,'34	95	Feb. 3,'34
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell	Dec. 8	75	Dec. 9
Good Dame	Sylvia Sidney-Fredric March	Feb. 16,'34	72	Feb. 10,'34
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
His Double Life	Roland Young-Lillian Gish	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 30
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
Last Round-Up, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Fritchie	Jan. 26,'34	65	Jan. 6,'34
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1	68	Nov. 25
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy	Jan. 12,'34	68	Dec. 23
No More Women	Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen	Feb. 23,'34	72	Feb. 17,'34
Search for Beauty	Larry ("Buster") Crabbe - Ida Lupino	Feb. 2,'34	75	Jan. 20,'34
She Made Her Bed	Sally Eilers-Richard Arlen	Mar. 9,'34	78	Feb. 24,'34
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24	80	Dec. 2
Six of a Kind	C. Ruggles - M. Boland - W. C. Fields - A. Skipworth - Burns and Allen	Feb. 9,'34	65	Jan. 27,'34
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24	58½
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½	Nov. 18
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
Wharf Angel	Victor McLaglen-Dorothy Dell-Preston Foster	Mar. 16,'34	62½
(See "Man Who Broke His Heart," "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Cleopatra	Claudette Colbert-Henry Wilcoxin-Warren William
Death Takes a Holiday (Reviewed under the title, "Strange Holiday")	Fredric March-Evelyn Venable	Mar. 30,'34	78	Jan. 20,'34
Double Door	Evelyn Venable-Kent Taylor
It Ain't No Sin	Mae West
Little Miss Marker	Adolphe Menjou-Dorothy Dell
Melody in Spring	Charlie Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lanny Ross-Ann Sothern	Apr. 20,'34
(See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 17,'34.)
Murder at the Vanities	Carl Brisson-Victor McLaglen	Apr. 20,'34
Private Scandal	Helen Mack-Phillips Holmes
Scarlet Empress, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Feb. 10,'34.)	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Thirty Day Princess	Sylvia Sidney-Cary Grant
Trumpet Blows, The	George Raft-Adolphe Menjou-Frances Drake	Apr. 13,'34
We're Not Dressing	Bing Crosby - Ethel Merman - Carole Lombard - Leon Errol	Apr. 27,'34
Witching Hour, The	Judith Allen-Tom Brown
You're Telling Me	W. C. Fields-Joan Marsh-Larry ("Buster") Crabbe	Apr. 6,'34

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The	Kazan	Feb. 2,'34	55
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Dec. 4	58
Russia Today		Nov. 8	42	Oct. 28
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Desperate Trails	Kazan
King of the North	Kazan
Little Damozel	Anna Neagle-James Rennie
Lone Avenger, The	Kazan
Peck's Bad Boy	Jackie Cooper
Teeth of Steel	Kazan

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan - Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond - Raul Roulien	Dec. 29	80	Dec. 1
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	67½
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey	Feb. 2,'34	68	Jan. 27,'34
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook	Dec. 1	66	Dec. 23
Keep 'Em Rolling	Walter Huston-Frances Dee	Mar. 2,'34	69½	Feb. 10,'34

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Jean Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler	Jan. 19,'34	63	Feb. 24,'34
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff	Feb. 16,'34	75	Feb. 3,'34
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi	Feb. 9,'34	92	Jan. 20,'34
Meanest Gal in Town, The	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel - James Gleason - 'Skeets" Gallagher	Jan. 12,'34	62	Mar. 10,'34
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17	70	Nov. 25
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack	Dec. 22	69½	Jan. 6,'34
Success at Any Price	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.-Colleen Moore-Genevieve Tobin	Mar. 16,'34	77
Two Alone	Jean Parker-Tom Brown	Jan. 26,'34	74	Jan. 20,'34

Coming Feature Attractions

Alien Corn	Ann Harding - John Boles - Ben Lyon	May	25,'34
Crime Doctor	Otto Kruger-Karen Morley	Apr. 27,'34	74	Mar. 17,'34
Dover Road	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	May	11,'34
Finishing School (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 3,'34.)	Ginger Rogers - Frances Dee - Bruce Cabot	Apr.	27,'34
Green Mansions	Dolores Del Rio-Joel McCrea
Of Human Bondage	Leslie Howard-Bette Davis	June	1,'34
Sing and Like It	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - Edward Everett Horton	Apr. 20,'34	72
Spitfire	Katharine Hepburn	Mar. 30,'34	88	Feb. 24,'34
Stingaree	Irene Dunne-Richard Dix	May	18,'34
Strictly Dynamite	Jimmy Durante - Lupe Velez - Norman Foster-Wm. Gargan-Marian Nixon	May	4,'34
This Man Is Mine	Irene Dunne-Ralph Bellamy	Apr.	13,'34	76
Wild Cargo	Frank Buck	Apr.	6,'34

SHOWMENS PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1	71
Moth, The	Sally O'Neil-Paul Page	Jan. 15,'34	63
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62	Feb. 10,'34
St. Louis Woman	John Mack Brown-Jeanette Loff	Mar. 15,'34
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Golden Head
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ariane	Elizabeth Bergner - Percy Marmont	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Mar	6,'34	69
Big Time Or Bust	Regis Toomey-Gloria Shea	Tower	Nov.	10	62 Mar. 10,'34
Criminal at Large	Emlyn Williams - Cathleen Nesbitt	Helber Prods	Jan.	15,'34	65 Jan. 6,'34
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov.	1	60
Death Parade, The	(War Film)	Henry Zapp			77 Feb. 3,'34
Enlighten Thy Daughter	Beth Barton-Miriam Battista	Exploitation Picts	Jan.	15,'34	80 Dec. 30
Farewell to Love	Jan Kiepura-Heather Angel	Madison Plcts	Nov.	24	66 Dec. 2
Film Parade		General Plcts	Jan.	12,'34	55
Found Alive	Barbara Bedford	Ideal	Feb.	10,'34	56 Feb. 24,'34
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Plcts
Gow		Film Exchange	Nov.	29	65 Dec. 9
Hell on Earth	All Star	Aeolian Plcts	Jan.	27,'34	70 Feb. 10,'34
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Plcts			77 July 22
Her Secret	Sari Maritza - Wm. Collier, Jr.	Ideal			73
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond - T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct.	7	59 Nov. 4
Hired Wife	Greta Nissen-Weldon Heyburn	Pinnacle Prods	Mar.	1,'34	65
Le Gong (Dance of the Virgins)		Bennett Plcts			55 Jan. 20,'34
Lost Jungle, The	Clyde Beatty	Mascot	May	1,'34	7 rls
Mad Age, The		Resolute Picts	July	19	70 July 29
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood			59 Sept. 23
No Funny Business	Gertrude Lawrence - Laurence Olivier	Ferrone Prods	Mar.	7,'34	60
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt			70 June 3
Playthings of Desire	Linda Watkins-James Kirkwood	Pinnacle Prods	Mar.	15,'34
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott			58 Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug.	7	60 Aug. 19
Sweden, Land of the Vikings		Associated Cinemas			70 Jan. 13,'34
Through the Centuries		Beacon Films	Dec.	1	70 Dec. 16
Wine, Women and Song	Lilyan Tashman-Lew Cody	I. E. Chadwick			70 Dec. 23

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1	63	Dec. 9
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	65	Nov. 18
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo - Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook	Jan. 5,'34	86	Dec. 9
Looking for Trouble	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings	Mar. 9,'34	80	Feb. 3,'34
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone - T. Carminati	Jan. 19,'34	71	Dec. 23
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes	Mar. 2,'34	85	Jan. 13,'34
Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez	Feb. 16,'34	83	Jan. 27,'34
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting	Dec. 29	85	Dec. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back	Ronald Colman-Loretta Young
Catherine the Great	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Elizabeth Bergner	Apr.	13,'34	91 Feb. 10,'34
Firebrand, The	Fredric March - Constance Bennett-Fay Wray
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss	Apr.	6,'34	86 Mar. 10,'34
Last Gentleman, The	George Arliss
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Serrell and Son	H. B. Warner	Apr.	20,'34	99 Jan. 6,'34

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart	Jan. 22,'34	82	Dec. 23
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Shirley Grey	Jan. 1,'34	68	Jan. 13,'34
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 18	70	Dec. 23
Countess of Monte Cristo	Fay Wray - Paul Lukas	Mar. 19,'34	80	Mar. 3,'34
Crosby Case, The	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart	Mar. 5,'34	78
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres - Alice White - June Knight	Jan. 15,'34	77	Jan 27,'34
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 25	78	Nov. 25
Gun Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Dec. 11	65
Horse Play	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27	70	Mar. 17,'34
I Like It That Way (See "In the Cutting Room," Dec. 30.)	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor	Feb. 12,'34	68
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	78	Dec. 2
Let's Be Ritzy	Lew Ayres-Patricia Ellis	Mar. 26,'34	68	Mar. 17,'34
Love Birds, The	Summerville-Pitts	Mar.	12,'34	64
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct.	16	63 Nov. 11
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan.	8,'34	70 Jan. 6,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox	Jan.	29,'34	80 Mar. 17,'34
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale -Donna Damerell-Ted Healy	Dec.	4	68 Sept. 9
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov.	6	105 Nov. 25
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton	Feb.	26,'34	65 Jan. 6,'34
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Rocque-Gibson Gowland	Oct.	23	70 Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct.	9	72 Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct.	28	60 Sept. 30
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard	Feb.	19,'34	64

Coming Feature Attractions

Affairs of a Gentleman	Paul Lukas
Alias the Deacon	Joel McCrea-Sally Blane
Black Cat, The	Boris Karloff-Bela Lugosi-David Manners	Apr.	30,'34
Doomed to Die	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea
Glamour	Constance Cummings - Paul Lukas	Apr.	9,'34
Honor of the Range	Ken Maynard	Apr.	16,'34
Humbug, The	Nils Asther-Gloria Stuart
I Give My Love	Wynne Gibson
I'll Tell the World	Lee Tracy-Gloria Stuart	Apr.	16,'34
Little Man, What Now?	Margaret Sullavan - Douglass Montgomery	May	14,'34
Practical Joker, The	Chester Morris-Marian Nixon
Uncertain Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17,'34.)	Genevieve Tobin-Edward Everett Horton	Apr.	23,'34

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak - Lyle Talbot	Nov.	4	75 Nov. 18
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec.	16	88 Dec. 14,'28
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin	Jan.	13,'34	61 Jan. 20,'34
Ever in My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct.	28	68 Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct.	21	101 Oct. 7
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec.	2	63 Dec. 2
Heat Lightning	Aline MacMahon-Preston Foster-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Mar.	3,'34	63 Mar. 17,'34
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni	Jan.	20,'34	75 Feb. 3,'34
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec.	23	68 Dec. 9
I've Got Your Number	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien	Feb.	24,'34	68 Feb. 10,'34
Jimmy the Gent	James Cagney-Bette Davis	Mar.	17,'34	67
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct.	28	73 Nov. 4
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec.	9	76 Dec. 2

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods	Apr.	14,'34	73 Feb. 10,'34
Dames	Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Joan Blondell
Dragon Murder Case, The	William Powell
Fog Over Frisco	Donald Woods-Bette Davis-Lyle Talbot-Margaret Lindsay
Friends of Mr. Sweeney	Charlie Ruggles-Ann Dvorak
Gambling Lady	Barbara Stanwyck	Mar.	31,'34	66 Mar. 10,'34
Happy Family	Aline MacMahon
Harold Teen	Hal LeRoy - Rochelle Hudson - Patricia Ellis	Apr.	7,'34	65 Feb. 24,'34
Key, The	Edna Best - William Powell - Colin Clive
Merry Wives of Reno	Glenda Farrell-Margaret Lindsay-Donald Woods	May	12,'34	64
Modern Hero, A (See "In the Cutting Room," Mar. 17,'34.)	Richard Barthelmess	Apr.	21,'34	71
One Man Woman	Pat O'Brien-Glenda Farrell
Return of the Terror	Lyle Talbot-Mary Astor
Smarty	Joan Blondell-Warren William	May	26,'34	64
Upper World	Warren William - Mary Astor-Ginger Rogers	Apr.	28,'34	72
Without Honor	James Cagney-Joan Blondell

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don Quixote	Feodor Challapin George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Mam'zelle Nitouche	Janie Marese-Raimu	Protex	Nov.	18	90 Dec. 2
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril McLaglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept.	7	57 Sept. 16
Petterson and Bendel	Adolf Jahr - Sammy Friedmann	Scandinavian Talking Picts	Jan	1,'34	148 Mar. 10,'34
Pledge, The	Line Noro - Jean Galland	Protex	Mar.	13,34	96
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Red Wagon	Charles Bickford - Raquel Torres - Greta Nissen	British Int'l
Saint Anthony of Padua	Carlo Pinzauti	Integrity Film	Feb.	8,'34	90 Feb. 17,'34
This Week of Grace	Gracie Fields	Radio		92	Oct. 28
Two Orphans, The	Yvette Guilbert - Rosine Derean - Renee Saint-Cyr	Blue Ribbon Photoplays	Feb.	6,'34	92 Feb. 24,'34
Volga Volga	H. A. Shiletton	Kinematrade	Dec.	14	76 Jan. 6,'34
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct.	20	90 Oct. 28

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

AUDIO PRODUCTIONS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
MUSICAL MOODS
1—Dance of the Hours		9
Hans Lange and Orchestra
2—Ave Maria		7
Dion Kennedy at the Organ
3—Waters of Minnetonka		6
Gus Haenschen and Orchestra
4—Hula Moon		7
Native Hawaiian Troupe
5—Waltz In A Flat Major		4
Hans Lange and Orchestra

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BROADWAY COMEDIES
Banker Buckeroes		2 rls.
Sidney and Murray
Elmer Steps Out		2 rls.
Walter Catlett
Hold Your Temper	Dec. 15	20
Leon Errol
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Smith and Dale
Radio-dough	Feb. 5,'34
Sidney and Murray
Ten Baby Fingers	Jan. 15,'34
Sidney and Murray
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Autograph Hunter	Jan. 5,'34	1 rl.
Bill Poster, The	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Bowery Daze		1 rl.
Cinder Alley	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Curio Shop, The	Dec. 15	7
Krazy Spooks	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Southern Exposure	Feb. 5,'34	1 rl.
Stage Krazy	Nov. 13	1 rl.
Tom Thumb		1 rl.
Whack's Museum	Sept. 29	1 rl.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient	Oct. 25	10
3—In South America	Dec. 22	1 rl.
4—Among the Nordics	Feb. 20,'34	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2—	Oct. 6	1 rl.
No. 3—Famous Crippen Case	Oct. 20	10
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Nov. 3	11
No. 5—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
No. 6—	Jan. 24,'34	1 rl.
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show	Oct. 27	18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon	Nov. 30	18
4—Mickey's Minstrels	Jan. 11,'34	18
5—Mickey's Rescue		2 rls.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1—Death Attends a Party	Oct. 6	9
No. 2—Fast Fangs	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 3—The Clown Dies	Dec. 14	1 rl.
No. 4—When the Lights Went Out	Dec. 15	1 rl.
No. 5—The Missing Clue	Jan. 22,'34	1 rl.
MUSICALS
No. 1 — Roamin' Through the Roses	Nov. 16	2 rls.
Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa	Nov. 24	2 rls.
Jack Osterman
No. 3—School for Romance	Jan. 31,'34	2 rls.
Lou Holtz
No. 4—Love Detectives	Feb. 28,'34	2 rls.
Frank Albertson
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Auto Show	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Aw, Nurse	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Hollywood Babes	Nov. 10	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Scrappy's Art Gallery	Jan. 12,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Television	Jan. 29,'34	1 rl.
Scrappy's Toy Shop		1 rl.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million?	Sept. 13	17
Ken Murray
Entertainer, The	Oct. 4	20
Will Mahoney
WORLD OF SPORT
It's Sport in Any Language	Dec. 30	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9
Winter Thrills	Feb. 4,'34	1 rl.

DU WORLD PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
SEMI-FEATURES AND SHORTS
Bride of Samoa	Mar. 1,'34	26
Dawn to Dawn	Dec. 25	35
Julie Hayden-O. M. Ness
Lot in Sodom	Dec. 25	26
Frederic Haak
No Woman's Land	Apr. 15,'34	34
(Travelogue)

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
An Old Gypsy Custom	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17	20
Hello, Prosperity	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13	2 rls.
Super Sneeper, The	Feb. 9,'34	2 rls.
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Gimme My Quarterback	Jan. 26,'34
Kid 'N Africa	Oct. 6
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Born to Die	Mar. 16,'34	1 rl.
City of Wax	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wife	Nov. 3	2 rls.
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 8	19
Inventors, The	Feb. 2,'34	20
North of Zero	Jan. 19,'34	2rls.
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Managed Money	Feb. 23,'34	2 rls.
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6	2 rls.
Pardon My Pups	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
What's To Do	Nov. 24	17
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20	2 rls.
No Sleep on the Deep	Mar. 23,'34	2 rls.
Pop's Pal	Dec. 29	2 rls.
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8	2 rls.
Trimmed in Furs	Jan. 5,'34	20
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Freeze-Out, The	Dec. 22	19
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Going Spanish	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27	2 rls.
Poppin' the Cork	Dec. 15	24
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20	11
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8	1 rl.
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Lost Race, The	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Mediterranean Blues	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
SONG HIT STORIES
Doctor, The	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17	10
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24	1 rl.
Helen Morgan
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
Trav'lling the Road	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Alexander Gray
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Expectant Father, The	Feb. 16,'34
Gold Ghost, The	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17	2 rls.
TERRY-TOONS
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
Joe's Lunchwagon	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
Just a Clown	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
Last Straw, The	Feb. 23,'34	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Mad House, A	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
Owl and the Pussycat, The	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
Pick-necking	Sept. 8	1 rl.
Rip Van Winkle	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Big Meow, The	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 30	2 rls.
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11	2 rls.
Statie	Sept. 29	20
TREASURE CHEST
Air Maniacs	Dec. 15	16
Bosom Friends	Mar. 30,'34	2 rls.
Day Dreams	Dec. 8
Hula Honeymoon	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Pagliacci	Apr. 6,'34	2 rls.
Shorts	Nov. 10
Song of Vienna	Nov. 3
What Does 1934 Hold?	Dec. 22	16
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1	9
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29	9
Conquest of the Air!	Nov. 30	9
Scouring the Seven Seas!	Oct. 20	9
Answering the Riot Call!	Dec. 22	9
Filming the Fashions	Nov. 10	9
Outdoing the Daredevils	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
With the Navies of the World	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
On Western Trails	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15	9
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
The Island of Malta	Nov. 3	10
A Day in Tokyo	Nov. 10	9
Byways in Bangkok	Nov. 24
Around the Acropolis	Nov. 30
Gem of the Sea	Dec. 15	9
Rural England	Dec. 22
London Medley	Dec. 29
Flemish Folk	Jan. 5,'34
Tunisian Travels	Jan. 19,'34
Sentinels of the Sea	Jan. 26,'34
Roaming the Netherlands	Feb. 9,'34
Under Moroccan Skies	Feb. 16,'34	1 rl.
A Journey in Flanders	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Sept. 22
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 6
The Great Train Robbery	Oct. 27
A Moment of Madness	Nov. 4
Helen of the Chorus	Dec. 10
The Extravagant Wife	Jan. 5,'34
The Girl from the Country	Jan. 19,'34
Emma's Dilemma	Feb. 2,'34
Love's Old Sweet Song	Feb. 16,'34
The Heart of Valeska	Mar. 9,'34

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date (Variable)	Min.
HUMAN SIDE OF THE NEWS (EDWIN C. HILL)
1. Roosevelt Family In America		1 rl.
2. A Visit to West Point		1 rl.
3. Carrie Jacobs Bond		1 rl.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlile, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
Carrie Jacobs Bond—With Edwin C. Hill, Ralph Kirbery and Lew White
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
Melodies of Love
Carlile-Rawlinson-White
Songs of the Range
Art Dickinson-Lew White
Rhapsody In Black		1 rl.
Gary-Rawlinson-White
Wine, Woman and Song		1 rl.
Tommy McLaughlin-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Elli Elli		1 rl.
Charles Carlile-Lew White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-Geo. Lewis-J. Carrol Naish
SPECIAL
She Whoops to Conquer		2 rls.
Zasu Pitts-Billy Bevan-Daphne Pollard

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Caretaker's Daughter	May 26,'34	20
Crook's Tour	Sept. 23	19
Mixed Nuts	Feb. 17,'34	18
Next Week-End	Apr. 7,'34	16
Twin Screws	Dec. 30	19
Yeast Is West	Nov. 11	19
CHARLEY CHASE
Cracked Iceman	Jan. 27,'34	19
Four Parts	Mar. 31,'34	18
I'll Take Vanilla	May 5,'34	19
Luncheon at Twelve	Dec. 9	21
Midsummer Mush	Oct. 21	21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
British Guiana	Dec. 23	9
Colorful Ports of Call	Dec. 23	9
Day in Venice	Oct. 28	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka	Sept. 2	10
Italy, Land of Inspiration	Nov. 25	9
New Zealand		9
Scotland the Bonnie	Sept. 30	9
Tibet, Land of Isolation	Feb. 17,'34	9
GOOFY MOVIES
A Whole Show in One Reel	Sept. 9	9
Perils of Arsenic Annie	Oct. 7	1 rl.
Heel of a Nation, The		2 rls.
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies	Oct. 7	20
Dirty Work	Nov. 25	20
Oliver the Eighth	Jan. 13,'34	28
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Jail Birds of Paradise	Feb. 24,'34	2 rls.
Keg O' My Heart	Nov. 11	2 rls.
Rhapsody In Brew	Sept. 30	20
Symphony In Suds	Jan. 6,'34	2 rls.
MUSICAL REVUES
Plane Nuts	Oct. 14	20
Roast Beef and Movies	Dec. 2	17
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers	Nov. 18	8
Happy Warriors	Oct. 21	9
Roping Wild Bears	Jan. 13,'34	9
Trick Golf	Mar. 3,'34	8
Vital Victuals	Feb. 10,'34	10
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Wild Poses	Oct. 28	19
TODD-KELLY
Air Fright	Dec. 23	19
Babes in the Goods	Feb. 10,'34	19
Backs to Nature	Nov. 14	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16	18
Hi, Neighbor	Dec. 16	18
Soup and Fish	Mar. 31,'34	18
WILLIE WHOPPER
Davy Jones' Locker (Cinecolor)	Dec. 9	7
Hell's Fire	Jan. 6,'34	7
Play Ball	Sept. 16	7
Robin Hood, Jr.	Feb. 3,'34	8
Spite Flight	Oct. 14	8
Stratos-Fear	Nov. 11	8

MONOGRAM

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
PORT O' CALL SERIES
1. The Seventh Wonder	Dec. 1	1 rl.
2. City of the Sun	Jan. 1,'34	1 rl.
3. Love's Memorial	Feb. 1,'34	1 rl.
4. Children of the Nile	Mar. 1,'34	1 rl.
5. The Peacock Throne	Apr. 1,'34	1 rl.
6. Jungle Bound	May 1,'34	1 rl.
7. The Last Resort	June 1,'34	1 rl.
8. Mother Ganges	July 1,'34	1 rl.
9. The First Paradise	Aug. 1,'34	1 rl.
10. Dravidian Glamor	Sept. 1,'34	1 rl.
11. Adventure Isle	Oct. 1,'34	1 rl.
12. Queen of the Indies	Nov. 1,'34	1 rl.
13. A Mediterranean Mecca	Dec. 1,'34	1 rl.

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BETTY BOOP CARTOONS
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7
Betty in Blunderland	Mar. 2,'34	7
Ha! Ha! Ha!	Mar. 2,'34	7
I Heard	Sept. 1	7
Don Redmond
Morning, Noon and Night	Oct. 6	7
Rubinoff
Parade of Wooden Soldiers	Dec. 1	9
Red Hot Mamma	Feb. 2,'34	8
She Wronged Him Right	Jan. 5,'34	7
HEADLINERS
Broadway Knights	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
Yacht Club Boys
Bundle of Blues, A	Sept. 1	10
Duke Ellington
Little Broadcast, The	Oct. 27	11
Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwell
Radio Roundup, A	Nov. 24	11
Molasses 'n' January - Mary Small - The Poet Prince-Vaughn De Leath-Three X Sisters
Rumba Rhythm	Sept. 29	6
Vincent Lopez
Station T.O.T.	Jan. 19,'34	10
Where's That Tiger?	Dec. 22	10
Borrah Minnevitch
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4	Nov. 10	11
No. 5	Dec. 8	11
No. 6	Jan. 5,'34	11
No. 7	Feb. 2,'34	11
No. 8	Mar. 2,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
No. 10	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 1—Just a Little Dressing—The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Rey Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne — Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	11
No. 5 — The Old Mill — Jack Frost, Master Decorator — Song Makers of the Nation	Dec. 1	11
No. 6— Southward Ho — Trees — Gilda Gray	Dec. 29	10
No. 7—Queer Fish—Liquid Air—Lanny Ross	Jan. 26,'34	10
No. 8—Sponging on Old Nassau — What Next, Ladies?—Song Makers of the Nation, Gordon and Revel	Feb. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 9—	Mar. 23,'34	1 rl.
No. 10—	Apr. 20,'34	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
Can You Take It	Apr. 27,'34	1 rl.
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Let's You and Him Fight	Feb. 16,'34	8
Man on the Flying Trapeze, The	Mar. 30,'34	1 rl.
Seasin's Greetinks	Dec. 8	6
Sock-A-Bye, Baby	Jan. 19,'34	7
Wild Elephinks	Dec. 29	7
SCREEN SONGS
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	7
I Like Mountain Music	Nov. 10	10
Eton Boys
Keeps Rainin' All the Time	Jan. 12,'34	10
Gertrude Niesen
Lazybones	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
Borrah Minnevitch
Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing	Feb. 9,'34	8
Sing, Babies, Sing	Dec. 15	9
Baby Rose Marie
Tune Up and Sing	Mar 9,'34	1 rl.
Lanny Ross
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba	Sept. 16	7
Mills Bros.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 1	Aug. 25	10
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
No. 4	Nov. 17	10

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
No. 5	Dec. 15	10
No. 6	Jan. 12,'34	10
No. 7	Feb. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 8	Mar. 9,'34	1 rl.
No. 9	Apr. 6,'34	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Twe Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
No. 3—Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
No. 4—The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
No. 5—Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	10
No. 6—Around the Calendar	Dec. 22	10
No. 7—Jumping Giants	Jan. 26,'34	11
No. 8—Horsepower	Feb. 16,'34	11
No. 9—Flying Bodies	Mar. 23,'34	10
No. 10—Animal Antics	Apr. 13,'34	1 rl.
TWO REEL COMEDIES
Circus Hoodoo	Feb. 16,'34	21
Harry Langdon
Cold Turkey	Dec. 1	19
Joseph Cawthorn
Ducky Dear	Sept. 1	19
Sidney Toler
Gold Nuggets	Feb. 2,'34	18
Walter Catlett
Just an Echo	Jan. 19,'34	20
Bing Crosby
New Dealers, The	Apr. 6,'34	2 rls.
Pallette-Catlett
No More Bridge	Mar. 16,'34	2 rls.
Leon Errol
Old Bugler, The	Jan. 5,'34	20
Chic Sale
On Ice	Oct. 6	21
Harry Langdon
One Awful Night	Oct. 20	21
Pallette-Catlett
Petting Preferred	Apr. 27,'34	2 rls.
Please	Dec. 15	22
Bing Crosby
Roaming Romeo, A	Dec. 29	21
Harry Langdon
Sailors, Beware	Sept. 15	18
Catlett-Pallette
Three Little Swigs	Nov. 10	21
Leon Errol
Up and Down	Mar. 2,'34	2 rls.
Franklin Pangborn

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
City of Contrasts	Nov. 22	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Great Raccoon Hunt, The	Sept. 1	20
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Newslaugh—No. 2	Dec. 20	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32
CONFLICTS OF NATURE SERIES
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 14,'34	7
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 10,'34	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Queen of the Underworld	Dec. 6	7

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMOS 'N' ANDY CARTOONS
Lion Tamer, The	Feb. 2,'34	1 rl.
Rasslin' Match, The	Jan. 5,'34	11
BLONDE and RED HEAD SERIES
Bridal Bail	Feb. 9,'34	21
Walking Back Home	Dec. 8	19
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Reissue)
The Count	Nov. 17	21
The Immigrant	Jan. 19,'34	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Hey Nanny, Nanny	Jan. 12,'34	2 rls.
In the Devil Dog House	Feb. 2,'34	21
Oder in the Court		2 rls.
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Croon Crazy	Dec. 29	7
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
Galloping Fanny	Dec. 1	1 rl.
Gay Gaucho, The	Nov. 3	1 rl.
Good Knight	Feb. 23,'34	7½
Sinister Stuff	Jan. 26,'34	1 rl.
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Suits to Nuts	Dec. 1	19
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
No. 6—Air Tonic	Dec. 22	21
No. 7—On Approval	Jan. 5,'34	2 rls.
No. 8—Autobuyography	Mar. 16,'34	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Grin and Bear It	Dec. 29	20½
Love on a Ladder	Mar. 2,'34	18
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICALS
Bubbling Over	Jan. 5,'34	20
Ethel Waters
Henry the Ape	Jan. 26,'34	2 rls.
Bert Lahr
Hizzoner	Nov. 17	21½
Bert Lahr
Knife of the Party	Feb. 16,'34	20
Lillian Miles
Sea Sore	Mar. 9,'34	2 rls.
Strange Case of Hennessy	Dec. 8	21½
Cliff Edwards
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
California Weather	Dec. 15	20½
Derby Decade		22
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
Torch Tango	Feb. 23,'34	21
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29	21
What Not to Do In Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10	20
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
Fatal Note, The	Sept. 29	7
Jest of Honor	Jan. 19,'34	7
Jolly Good Felons	Feb. 16,'34	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	7
On the Pan	Nov. 24	7
Pals		1 rl.
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
VAGABOND ADVENTURE SERIES
Antwerp	Sept. 8	10½
Cuba	Nov. 10	10½
Gibraltar, Guardian of the Mediterranean
Holy Land	Feb. 16,'34	10
Madeira, Land of Wine
Moorish Spain	Jan. 12,'34	10

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		18
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Cocoeo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAPITAL
Dance Parade		17
CELEBRITY
Jack and the Beanstalk		8
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi	Nov. 15	10
My Side of the Story	Sept. 22	10
David L. Hutton
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	25
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Mystic East, The		10
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVINCIBLE
Snowman		10

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22	8
(NEW SERIES)
1. Giant Land	Nov. 15	7
2. Mickey Shanghaied	Jan. 15,'34	7
3. Playful Pluto	Mar. 1,'34	7
4. Camping Out	Feb. 16,'34	7
SILLY SYMPHONIES
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The Night Before Christmas	Dec. 15	8
2. The China Shop	Jan. 15,'34	8
3. Grasshopper and the Ant, The	Feb. 15,'34	8

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Dec. 25	10
No. 4	Jan. 29,'34	9
No. 5	Mar. 5,'34	1 rl.
No. 6	Mar. 19,'34	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Candy House, The	Jan. 15,'34	9
Chicken Reel	Jan. 1,'34	8½
County Fair	Feb. 5,'34	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Gingerbread Boy	Apr. 16,'34	1 rl.
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	7
Kings Up	Mar. 12,'34	1 rl.
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	8
Parking Space	Dec. 18	7
Toy Shoppe, The	Feb. 19,'34	7
Wolf, Wolf	Apr. 2,'34	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Peeping Tom	Sept. 20	17
Louis Sobol—No. 4
Boswell Sisters, The	Dec. 8	21
Nick Kenny—No. 4
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	9
No. 35—Novelty	Dec. 18	10
No. 36—Novelty	Jan. 22,'34	11
No. 37—Novelty	Feb. 26,'34	10
No. 38—Novelty	Mar. 26,'34	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 18	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	21
Born April First	Mar. 14,'34	21
Sterling Holloway
Broadway Varieties (Mentone No. 7)	Feb. 14,'34	2 rls
Ceiling Whacks	Mar. 28,'34	2 rls.
Henry Armetta
Ed Sullivan's Headliners (Mentone No. 9)	Apr. 18,'34	2 rls.
Full Coverage	Feb. 28,'34	21
Henry Armetta
Meeting Mazie	Dec. 20	20
Sterling Holloway
Mountain Music	Jan. 3,'34	18
Louise Fazenda
Not the Marrying Kind	Nov. 22	20
Sterling Holloway
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame	Oct. 25	20
Henry Armetta
Out of Gas	Nov. 8	21
Louise Fazenda
Paisie Waisie	Jan. 31,'34	20
Henry Armetta
Pie for Two	Dec. 13	21
James Gleason
Stung Again	Oct. 18	18
Louise Fazenda
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 5)	Dec. 27	18
Trifle Backward, A	Jan. 17,'34	19½
Vince Barnett
Vaudeville Days (Mentone No. 8)	Mar. 21,'34	21
Vaudeville on Parade (Mentone No. 6)	Jan. 24,'34	2 rls.
Where's Elmer?	Feb. 7,'34	20
Vince Barnett

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 1—Salt Water Daffy	Sept. 16	21
Jack Haley
No. 2—Close Relations	Sept. 30	20
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 3—Gobs of Fun	Oct. 21	21
George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw	Nov. 4	21
Gus Shy
No. 5—In the Dough	Nov. 25	22
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—Here Comes Flessie	Dec. 9	18
Ben Blue
No. 7—Tomalie	Dec. 30	21
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 8—How D'Ya Like That?	Jan. 13,'34	18
George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 9—Nervous Hands	Feb. 3,'34	21
Ben Blue
No. 10—Pugs and Kisses	Feb. 17,'34	21
Charles Judels
No. 11—Mushrooms	Feb. 14,'34	20
Harry Gribbon
No. 12—Foiled Again	Mar. 24,'34	20
Ben Blue
No. 13—Ben Blue (untitled)	Apr. 14,'34	20
No. 14—Corn on the Cop	Apr. 28,'34	20
No. 15—I Scream	May 19,'34	20
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 1—Use Your Imagination	Sept. 2	18
Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair
No. 2—Rufus Jones for President	Sept. 9	20
Ethel Waters
No. 3—Seasoned Greetings	Sept. 23	20
Lita Grey Chaplin
No. 4—Paul Revere, Jr.	Oct. 7	21
Gus Shy-Janet Reade
No. 5—Operator's Opera	Oct. 14	21
Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys
No. 6—'Tis Spring	Oct. 28	19
Patricia Ellis-Allen Jenkins (Technicolor)
No. 7—Yeast Is Yeast	Nov. 11	20
Tom Patricola
No. 8—The Mild West	Nov. 18	23
Janet Reade-Olive Borden
No. 9—Girl Trouble	Dec. 2	23
Mitchell and Durante
No. 10—Around the Clock	Dec. 16	20
Norma Terris-Four Eton Boys
No. 11—Plane Crazy	Dec. 23	22
Dorothy Lee-Arthur and Morton Havel
No. 12—Kissing Time	Dec. 16	22
Jane Froman-Georges Metaxa
No. 13—A Little Girl with Big Ideas	Jan. 20,'34	29
Molly Picon
No. 14—Not Tonight, Josephine	Jan. 27,'34	21
Frank McHugh-Kitty Kelly (Technicolor)
No. 15—Picture Palace	Feb. 10,'34	21
No. 16—Come to Dinner	Feb. 24,'34	21
No. 17—Business Is a Pleasure	Mar. 3,'34	17
No. 18—Silver Living	Mar. 17,'34	30
Dorothy Stone
No. 19—Let's Play Post Office	Mar. 31,'34	21
Jean Sargent
No. 20—Story Conference	Apr. 7,'34	20
Lillian Roth
No. 21—Morocco Nights (Technicolor)	Apr. 21,'34	18
No. 22—Private Lessons	May 5,'34	22
Hal LeRoy
No. 23—Come Out of the Past	May 12,'34	30
Lillian Roth
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out	Sept. 9	8
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden	Oct. 21	7
No. 3—Buddy's Show Boat	May 12,'34	7
No. 4—Buddy the Gob	Jan. 13,'34	7
No. 5—Buddy and Towser	Feb. 24,'34	7
No. 6—Buddy's Garage		7
No. 7—Buddy's Trolley Troubles		7
No. 8—Buddy of the Apes		7
MELODY MASTERS
Hot from Petrograd	Sept. 2	10
Dave Apollon and Orchestra
Barber Shop Blues	Sept. 30	9
Claude Hopkins and Band
Rubinoff and Orchestra	Oct. 28	10
Eddie Duchin and Band	Nov. 25	10
Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals	Dec. 23	10
Jack Denny and Band	Jan. 20,'34	10
Mills Blue Rhythm Band	Feb. 17,'34	10
Vincent Lopez	Mar. 17,'34	10
A Big City Fantasy	Apr. 14,'34	1 rl.
Phil Spitalny
Isham Jones	May 12,'34	10
Tin Hat Harmony		1 rl.
Abe Lyman
B. A. Wolfe		1 rl.
D. Mendoza and Vitaphone Band		1 rl.
MERRIE MELODIES
I've Got to Sing a Torch Song	Sept. 23	7
Sitting on a Back Yard Fence	Dec. 16	7
Pettin' in the Park	Jan. 27,'34	7
Honeymoon Hotel (Cinecolor)	Feb. 17,'34	7
Beauty and the Beast (Cinecolor)		1 rl.
Those Were Wonderful Days		1 rl.
Going to Heaven on a Mule		1 rl.
PEPPER POT
Walter Donaldson	Sept. 9	10
Admission 5c	Sept. 23	10
Rock-a-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell	Oct. 7	11
Laughs in the Law	Oct. 21	8
Notre Dame Glee Club	Nov. 4	8
Harry Warren	Nov. 18	10
Easy Aces	Dec. 2	10
Little Miss Mischief	Dec. 6	10
Movie Memories	Dec. 30	9
The Tune Detective	Jan. 13,'34	9
Sigmund Spaeth
Mississippi Suite	Jan. 27,'34	9
The Wrong Wrong Trail	Feb. 10,'34	10
Block and Sully
Song Hits, with Roy Turk	Feb. 24,'34	11
Easy Aces, No. 2	Mar. 10,'34	10
Pure Feud	Apr. 21,'34	10
A Cabinet Meeting	Apr. 27,'34	10
Radio Ramblers
Those Were the Days	May 5,'34	10
Radio Reels	May 19,'34	10
Jessel-Van
Lulu McConnell		10
Charles Ahearn		1 rl.
Little Jack Little		9
Hollywood Newsreel		1 rl.
Radio Reel No. 2		1 rl.
Dad Minds the Baby		1 rl.
Bergen in At the Races		1 rl.
The Stolen Melody		1 rl.
Camera Speaks		1 rl.
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
Exploring the Pacific	Sept. 16	10
Samoan Memories	Oct. 14	10
Heart of Paris	Nov. 11	9
Italy, the Old and the New	Dec. 9	1
Cannibal Islands	Jan. 6,'34	10
Spanish America	Feb. 3,'34	10
Jerusalem, the Holy City	Mar. 3,'34	10
Picturesque Siam	Mar. 31,'34	10
Slackers of the Jungle	Apr. 28,'34	10
East Indies	May 26,'34	10
Central America		1 rl.
Dark Africa		1 rl.
South Sea Islands		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
FIRST DIVISION
Young Eagles
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson	July 6	20 (each)
Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery
Lost Jungle, The	Apr. 1,'34	20 (each)
Clyde Beatty
Mystery Squadron, The	Dec. 23	20 (each)
Bob Steele
Wolf Dog, The	Sept. 30
Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory
PRINCIPAL
Chandu		2 rls. (each)
Lost World		2 rls. (each)
Tarzan, the Fearless	Aug. 11	20 (each)
Buster Crabbe
UNIVERSAL
Gordon of Ghost City	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy
Perils of Pauline	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen
Phantom of the Air	May 22	20 (each)
Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea
Pirate Treasure	Jan. 29,'34	20 (each)
Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund
Vanishing Shadow, The	Apr. 23,'34	20 (each)
Onslow Stevens-Ada Ince

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Catalogue H free. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, Ltd., 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

FOR SALE—CHEAP ONE PACENT SOUND AND film equipment complete. E. C. EVANS, New Plaza Theatre, Milford, Dela.

FOR SALE, 300 VENEERED OPERA CHAIRS, 50c. each. VICTOR THEATRE, 1112 Harrison Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

PROGRESS THROUGH DEPRESSION IS OUR record—Why? Write for lowdown on Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio. Sacrifice prices. Lists mailed. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

USED THEATRE CHAIRS, LOWEST PRICES, largest stock, all kinds, parts for all chairs. GENERAL SEATING COMPANY, 2035 Charleston St., Chicago.

PATRONIZE MONARCH'S SPECIAL BARGAIN counter: Rebuilt projectors, generators, rectifiers, reflector arc lamps, Mazda lamphouses, screens, chairs, lenses, portables, amplifiers, sound heads. All theatre equipment. Satisfactory trades completed. Expert projector repairing and service. Established 25 years. Free list. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

MOTIOGRAPH, DELUXE, POWERS, ACME. SVE DeVry. Zenith projectors. Roadshows equipped. 300 reels, silent film. Bargain lists. NATIONAL EQUIPMENT CO., Duluth, Minn.

BARGAINS! RECONDITIONED ARCTIC NU-AIR blowers, noiseless drives. Write for prices. SOUTHERN FAN COMPANY, Box 440, Atlanta, Ga.

OUTSTANDING BARGAINS FOR CASH ON complete rebuilt portable 35 mm. sound-on-film projector outfits made by one of the most reliable manufacturers. BOX 375, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

REAL BUYS! REBUILT SIMPLEX MECHANisms, $135.00, complete machine $175.00; Morelite de luxe rebuilt lamps, $125.00; Peerless, $175.00; Mazda lamps and transformers, $90 pair. Machine parts at lowest prices. CROWN, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

AVAILABLE — THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED theatre and publicity manager. High-powered adwriter. Poster-lobby artist. Exploitation stunts. Chain experience. P. O. BOX 180, Butler, Pa.

PROJECTIONIST — 10 years' experience. Prefer steady position, married, sober and reliable. Good references, go anywhere. BOX 381, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED PROJECTIONISTS FURNISHED. H. S. I., P. O. Box 88, Station C, Los Angeles.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST, UNION, 15 YEARS' experience, wishes steady position preferably East. Good reference. BOX 382, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

NEW EQUIPMENT

TRADE WITH "OLD RELIABLE MONARCH." Established 25 years. Most complete stock theatre equipment. sound accessories, supplies. Money saving prices. Our central location assures snappy service. Catalog free. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

PATENT LITIGATION CAN BE AVOIDED BY adapting the Tri-Phonic sound system to any sound head. Guarantees higher fidelity, wider range. TRIPHONIC SYSTEM, 19 Winchester St., Boston, Mass.

COMPLETE LINE OF BABY AND STANDARD spotlights, floodlights, electric stage effects at attractive prices. NEWTON, Inc., 253 West 14th St., New York.

WANTED TO BUY

WANTED: USED SIMPLEX PROJECTORS FOR cash. State price wanted and serial number. BOX 378, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTION AND BOOTH EQUIPMENT, parts and accessories. Simplex mechanisms, arc lamps, rectifiers, generators, etc. Give full particulars. Spot cash. BOX 374, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SOUND EQUIPMENT

"VERY MUCH PLEASED WITH OPERATION"—writes Covey, Laverne Theatre, Laverne, Okla. S. O. S. Wide Fidelity is within anyone's reach, $179.70 up complete. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WIDE RANGE OPTICAL SYSTEMS—FIT ANY make soundhead. Lenses by Bausch & Lomb, 9,000 cycle frequency response, slit image .0008 high. Specially priced, $19.75. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRE BROKERS

PROFITABLE SALES AND PURCHASES OF theatres quickly arranged. ALBERT GOLDMAN, 5 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

REPRESENTATIVES

WANT LIVE-WIRE AGENTS ANYWHERE TO sell nationally advertised sound projection equipment, portable and permanent supplies, parts, etc. BOX 383, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"MIEHLINGS SOUND PROJECTION" FORMERly $6.00, now $1.49. All fundamentals of sound, profusely illustrated, wiring blue prints, charts. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

BRUSHES AND SUPPLIES

THEATRE MANAGERS! SAVE 10 TO 50 PER cent on brushes, cardboard, colors and other sign and poster needs. Simply cut out this ad, pin it to your letterhead and our big 80-page book will be mailed free of charge. DICK BLICK CO., Box 43, Galesburg, Ill.

THEATRES WANTED

WILL PAY UP TO $3,000.00 FOR THEATRE lease, Middlewest, under favorable conditions. BOX 380, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

WANTED TO RENT SUBURBAN THEATRE with privilege to lease or buy. R. MUELLER, 1623 Bruce Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

WANTED TO LEASE THEATRE ANY SIZE in any of the western states. BOX 373, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

NEW AND USED CHAIRS. ALL ACCESSORIES. Slip covers. Servastone for concrete floors. ALLIED SEATING CO., 358 W. 44th St., New York.

BARGAINS — NEW AND USED EQUIPMENT supplies. Expert projector overhauling—What do you need? Ask us. MIDWEST THEATRE SUPPLY CO., 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

DRAPERY FABRICS, VELOURS, SATEENS, ETC. ASSOCIATED FABRICS, 723 Seventh Ave., New York.

COMPLETE BOOTH AND SOUND EQUIPMENT. New and rebuilt. Accessories and Supplies. Expert repair and servicing. Guaranteed quality. Unusual prices. Trades considered. EMPIRE THEATRE SUPPLY CORP., 334 W. 44th St., New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THEATRES

1,000 SEAT, LARGE OHIO CITY. COLORED PAtronage. Western Electric sound. Long, cheap lease. Big money maker. Sickness reason for selling. $12,000 cash required. ALBERT GOLDMAN, Mallers Building, Chicago.

WILL SELL FIVE-YEAR LEASE ON PAYING theatre for $1,000.00 cash. BOX 372, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN THEATRE POSTER PAINTING. NATIONAL ACADEMY OF LETTERING, Box 102, Aurora, Ill.

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT and theatre advertising. Big opportunities for trained men. Catalog free. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, N. Y.

PRINTING SERVICE

NEARGRAVURE—250 2-COLOR LETTERHEADS, 250 envelopes, $2.99 prepaid. SOLLIDAYS, Knox, Ind.

Used in 7 out of 8

American Pictures in

"1933's TEN BEST"

OF THE Ten Best Pictures of 1933 chosen in the Film Daily's poll, eight were American productions. Of those eight, seven were photographed on Eastman "Gray-Back." This is outstanding evidence of the acceptance enjoyed by Eastman Super-Sensitive Panchromatic Negative among cameramen and producers . . . and a signal tribute to the versatility and unfailingly high quality of the film itself. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN Super-Sensitive

Panchromatic Negative (Gray-Backed)

RAFT

George Raft in "THE TRUMPET BLOWS" with Adolphe Menjou

Frances Drake . . . A Paramount Picture . . . Directed by Stephen Roberts

Paramount Pictures

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS
0 007 551 726 9